NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

MORTON WILL ACCEPT

If Nominated for Governor of New York.

Statement of the Ex-Vice President—Not Seeking the Nomination, But Still Wants It Known That He Is a Soldier in the Ranks of the Republicans—In His Friends' Hands.

Rhinebeck, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The Hon. Levi P. Morton gave the following letter last night to the representative of the United Press, whom he had invited to visit "Ellerslie" for the purpose. In doing so, he explained that in view of the numerous appeals in many of the papers in the state, he felt it would be more just to all interested if the formal expression of his determination were made public through the general news channel, so that all should share it alike.

When asked if he would say anything to a half dozen reporters, who were present, Mr. Morton said he had nothing to add to the expressions in the letter.

The document is as follows:

"In response to the very large number of suggestions made to me that I should declare my attitude with reference to the republican state convention I address myself to the republicans of the state of New York, and beg to say that, while the suggestions are in themselves unusual I venture to express the hope that the urgency in the public journals for the announcement of my decision was not occasioned by any undue hesitation on my part.

"I am certainly not seeking any nomination from the convention. I have been absent from the country so long and so far, that no one can refer to the slightest movement, on my part, to cause a discussion in which my name has been used with the names of other republicans, who are deservedly honored throughout the state for their services and character. I have put myself in nobody's way; nor have I suffered anyone to do that for me, which I disclaim for myself. And now having been five days on American soil, after twelve months' absence, and having examined the situation as well as possible in that brief period, I beg to say that in the approaching councils of the party in convention assembled I desire to be regarded as a soldier in the republican army ready to receive the commands of my fellow-citizens of like persuasion in public policy with myself, whether those commands involve leadership or services in the ranks.

"When I left the vice-president's chair, and since, I have had no thought, much less desire, to re-enter public life. Manifold considerations regarding my family, which I have no right to obtrude upon the public, led me to desire to spend the remaindr of my days in retirement. By the kindness of my countrymen, having held high official positions at home and abroad, I was profoundly content to let the record stand. But do not understand me to imply that I look lightly upon the office of governor of the state of New York.

"I know something of the resources, the capacities and the needs of th Empire state, and I appreciate the importance, the usefulness, and the honor of the great office of its chief executive. Should I be called to fill it, I shall strive earnestly to serve the people with steadfastness of purpose and to faithfully administer a public trust.

"Finally I aver in the sincerest terms, that if the convention shall prefer to see any other name than mine upon the republican banner, I shall accept the result without regret, or sense of injury, and will give to the successful candidate my hearty and unwavering support.

"Trusting that the action of the convention will be harmonious and redound to the best interest of the party and state, I remain with great respect. Your obedient servant.

"LEVI P. MORTON."

OPINIONS OF THE DELEGATES.

What They Think of Mr. Morton's Statement.

Albany, Sept. 1.—United States Senator David B. Hill when asked for his opinion regarding Mr. Morton's announcement on his candidacy for the governorship would say nothing.

When the republican delegates to the constitutional convention learned of the contents of Vice-President Morton's letter on the question of his acceptance of the republican gubernatorial nomination, little sensation was created, many of them saying they expected it and expressed themselves according to their personal preferences.

President Choate, who has been mentioned as a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, simply said: "That means that he is a candidate."

Tracy Becker, a delegate from Buffalo, and president of the State Bar association, said he did not think it good policy to name the candidate from New York city on account of the political conditions now existing there. He favored the candidacy of State Comptroller James A. Roberts.

Commodore P. Vedder, of Cattaraugus, said: "While there may be other candidates, Mr. Morton's nomination means his election."

Selon Lewis, of Syracuse, said Onondaga's delegation would favor Morton.

Henry J. Cookinham, of Utica, said: "I am very glad to hear that Mr. Morton has accepted."

Secretary of State Palmer, of Albany, said: "Mr. Morton will be nominated and elected."

Mr. Lauterbach, of the New York city committee of thirty, said: "I favor Vice-President Morton's nomination. The republican party made a mistake in not renominating him at Minneapolis, and I would be pleased to see the mistake remedied by his nomination for governor and his election."

Col. Morton, of Brooklyn, said: "Brooklyn will be for Mr. Morton."

Elihu Root, of New York city, said: "I am too busy with convention work to express any opinion."

CORBETT INTERVIEWED

The Champion Talks of the Proposed Battle.

Says the Checks Forwarded by the Sioux City Club Binds No One—Will Be in New York Prepared To Sign Articles To Fight Jackson the Coming Week.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 1.—James J. Corbett was interviewed relative to the deposit of certified checks from the Sioux City club with a New York newspaper.

"Will I meet Jackson? Of course I will," he said, and added: "The fact that the two certified checks were on the way from the Sioux City club has been known to Brady and myself for nearly a week. All that we were waiting for was to learn in what shape the offer was to come—that is, whether there was anything besides the checks. The presence in the east of the checks forwarded by the Sioux City club does not mean anything that is binding on either the club, Jackson, or myself. The club could withdraw the checks, and there would be nothing left but our words (Jackson's and my own) that we would accept the club's offer.

"What is wanted is the tangible articles of agreement. If they are ever signed, then we can make some headway. Until that is done, we are still at odds.

"I would suggest that the Sioux City club send a man east at once with such articles as the club may wish to have signed, and, whatever they may be, I will accept.

"I shall go from this city to New York next week, when I will be prepared to sign articles to fight Jackson, and I now pledge my word that I will sign the articles just as soon as they are placed before me, so that, if the Sioux City club wishes to do so, it may telegraph instructions to a reputable agent or representative in New York and have that person draw up the articles, and have them ready for Jackson and myself to sign within the next six or eight days. I make this unequivocal statement for the reason that I am more than anxious to meet Jackson.

"You can tell Jackson's representatives that I will not only accept the terms and conditions of the Sioux City club, but that I will make side bets to any amount with Jackson that I will whip him. Neither he nor they need worry about the size of the side bet. Any money they may offer will be promptly covered and covered again.

"Do I expect that this will nail Jackson down to a fight?

"Not much. I do not believe that he will accept and sign the Sioux City club articles.

"If he should accept and sign, I do not believe he will ever face me in the ring. He will have another excuse to offer. There will be some kind of a string attached to his acceptance, and he will be fighting the air again rather than getting inside the ropes, and demonstrating his vaunted abilities as a fighter.

"Once for all I will positively go to New York next week prepared to sign, and without a moment's hesitation, the articles that may be drawn up for a fight between Jackson and myself before the Sioux City club."

Looks Like a Fight.

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 1.—It looks very much like a fight between Corbett and Jackson. The impression is that the Sioux Athletic association means business and has the money to back it up. The officials of the club say they will make whatever showing is demanded by the principals in the fight. It is expected that representatives of the club and the two principals will meet in Chicago to sign the articles.

New Ocean Record.

New York, Sept. 1.—Again the big Cunard ocean greyhound Lucania holds the westward record between Queenstown and New York. The Lucania arrived at the Sandy Hook lightship at 4:58 p. m. yesterday, after a passage of five days, eight hours and thirty-eight minutes. The Lucania wrests the supremacy from her sister ship, the Campania, beating the record made by the latter two weeks ago by fifty-one minutes.

Count of Paris Still Conscious.

Paris, Sept. 1.—At an early hour this morning the Count of Paris was conscious and able to converse with his family. He was very weak, however, and the physicians state that the end is rapidly drawing near.

WOMAN OUTLAW ARRESTED.

A Leavenworth Belle Turns Horse Thief and Adopts Male Attire.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 1.—Deputy marshals from the Osage country have brought to this place and lodged in jail a good-looking girl who was in male attire. They had arrested her on a charge of horse stealing. There was something mysterious about the girl, who refused absolutely to talk of herself, and the officers began an investigation. They found that she had been for two years a leader of the most daring band of horse thieves in the territory and has long baffled the officers, who have been on the track of a supposed woman. She has stolen several score of valuable animals.

She is Mary Hopkins, the daughter of a well-to-do Kansas farmer, and was at one time the belle in Leavenworth society. She left her home to become an outlaw because her parents opposed her marriage to the man of her choice.

TWO LABOR DAYS.

Many Postmasters Who Will Observe September 1 to September 3.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The conflict of the date of the observance of Labor Day in several instances will result in a double holiday for postmasters in those states where the state proclamation prescribes Sept. 1. A large number of telegrams have been received at the postoffice department from postoffices inquiring whether to observe that date or Sept. 3, as provided in the act of congress, setting apart the first Monday of the month. Acting First Assistant Postmaster General Lanar has given notice that holiday hours are to be observed on the date assigned by the act, and, under the postal laws and regulations, all days set apart by state authorities as legal holidays may be observed.

PLUCKY MRS. SHERWOOD.

She Will Endeavor To Ride a Wheel to San Francisco.

New York, Sept. 1.—Mrs. E. J. Sherwood, of 117 West One Hundred and Eighteenth street, is preparing to make a trip to San Francisco on a bicycle.

"I think it can be successfully accomplished," she said to a reporter. "I understand a wheel thoroughly, and am in perfect health. The League of American Wheelmen like the idea, and will render me all the assistance in their power.

Mrs. Sherwood expects to start in the early fall.

Cuba and Our New Tariff Law.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The state department has received two despatches from Minister Hannis Taylor at Madrid, confirming the United Press cablegrams announcing that the Spanish government had by royal decree abrogated the reciprocity arrangements with this country by which special rates were accorded on American imports to Cuba and Port Rico, and no doubt is entertained that such action has been taken and that all exports from America will hereafter have to pay the same duty in Cuban and Porto Rican ports that has been exacted on articles from other countries.

Peoples Party Meets.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Steps were taken yesterday in this city to form a central branch of the peoples party. About forty voters were present. Committees were appointed and clubs will be formed in every ward in the city.

Will Strike Again.

Dunbar, Pa., Sept. 1.—The miners and coke drawers in this section of the coke region have unanimously decided to go on strike again Monday. The men returned to work about three weeks ago after their long strike.

Trimmers and Adge Setters Strike.

Lyons, Mass., Sept. 1.—The trimmers and adge setters employed in the shoe factory of Leary and Luddy in Lynn are out on a strike to resist a cut-down in their wages. The firm announced that they would have to cut down their salaries, which would go into effect last Thursday. The men tried to settle the question without going out, but the firm refused to arbitrate the matter.

Gymnasium Instructor Drowned.

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 1.—While bathing in Silver Lake yesterday Prof. E. D. Conant, instructor in the gymnasium of the Chicago University was attacked with cramps and sank. He was rescued while still alive but all efforts to resuscitate him failed and he died an hour later.

Chinese Depredations.

Paris, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Ha-Moi, capital of Tonquin, says that last Monday night Chinese attacked the house of M. Chaillet, collector of customs at Monkai, killed him and kidnapped his wife and daughter. Troops were sent out in pursuit of the Chinese but failed to overtake them.

Murdered His Cousin.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Van Rensselaer Hotaling shot and killed his cousin, Albert Hotaling, at Hufftail Hollow, about four miles from Jamesville, Onondaga county, last night. The murder is the outcome of a family feud of long standing.

New York Asylum Inquiry.

Albany, Sept. 1.—The state committee in lunacy will meet next Tuesday morning at the Park Avenue hotel in New York city at 10 a. m., to continue the investigation of New York city asylums.

Distributing Playing Card Stamps.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The commissioner of internal revenue is now sending out stamps for playing cards at the rate of half a million a day.

BUSINESS INCREASING

Improvement Attributed to the Tariff Settlement.

New England Woolen Mills Reporting Orders—Sugar Advancing on Speculative Demand — Healthful Gain in the Leaf Tobacco Industry —Activity in the Extreme West.

New York, Sept. 1.—At all but a few of the cities from which special telegrams have been received by Bradstreet favorable influences are shown to have been at work, resulting in still further improvement in the business situation since the settlement of the tariff question. New England woolen mills are now reporting orders for heavy woolens. Prints and dress woolens are selling freely, and there has been and is an increased demand for funds at larger eastern centers, not only for withdrawals of goods from bond, but to meet increased offerings of commercial paper. Thus far funds to move crops have not gone west as freely as anticipated. An exception to the improvement in demand in staple lines in eastern and middle states is reported from Providence. All western centers covered, except Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit and Omaha report distinct gains in the volume of business this week. The relatively favorable condition of trade in the region tributary to the three larger Minnesota cities during August is based on a better wheat crop than predicted and practical depletion of country storekeepers' stocks. In the south Atlanta and Birmingham alone do not report a larger volume of business, but the character of cotton shipments in the near future will determine the volume of purchases. It is noteworthy that the financial condition of Texas merchants is said to be better than for years. One of the most interesting trade features consequent on the new tariff is reported from Galveston, that an export order to the West Indies of 10,000 barrels of flour has been canceled by reason of the Spanish retaliatory duty. Galveston's Cuba trade expects to be hurt also, owing to lack of return cargoes for fruit steamers.

The public has not come into the speculative stock market on the adoption of the new tariff, and trading has been dull and exclusively in the hands of professional operators. The latter took advantage of the tendency to realize profits, and have depressed prices in spite of the increased short interest. Investment demand is confined to bonds, which are regarded as relatively lower in price than stocks. The bad prospect for traffic on the granger roads, especially those dependent on the corn crop, have made that group especially weak. Sugar stock is under the influence of bearish manipulation. Southern railroad shares are firmer than any part of the market on the favorable prospects of that section. Silver is dull and quiet, the speculation in London on the eastern war having died out. Foreign exchange is weak on slack demand. Sight sterling, 4.86½@4.86¾.

At Boston a fair fall business is doing in dry goods, firmness characterizing cotton fabrics prices, owing to the New Bedford and Fall River strikes. The free wool clause of the new tariff resulted in heavy withdrawals of that staple and renewed activity among manufacturers. Next most conspicuous withdrawals from bond are dry goods, crockery and glassware. At Philadelphia, as at New York, sugar is advancing on speculative demand, and it is declared grocers will carry heavier stocks. Tobacco manufacturers at both cities are busier on improved demand since settlement of the tariff question. At Pittsburg improvement in demand is noted, chiefly in dry goods and groceries, with the outlook for further gains, although collections are unsatisfactory. The outlook for iron and steel is not for an early advance in prices, due to increasing output. Glass manufacturers say lower wages are necessitated by the new tariff. General trade at Baltimore is quite encouraging, owing to the somewhat unexpectedly large number of buyers in all lines from the south and west, whose purchases have resulted in quite an improvement over last week. Buffalo, too, has experienced a better feeling in all merchandise lines, though actual gains are reported in only a few. Collections there, as at Pittsburg, are said to be quite unsatisfactory.

At Cleveland previous gains in the business situation are retained, notably firmness in lake freights and in the demand for money. Cincinnati manufacturers are quiet, and there is only a moderate demand for groceries and dry goods. Louisville has felt the stimulus more, reporting a healthful gain this week, notably in leaf tobacco. Detroit's interior trade is less active than it would have been except for the drouth. Chicago reports gains in demand in all lines, particularly in dry goods, clothing and shoes, and in iron and steel. St. Louis' volume of business continues to increase, Texas buyers exerting a noteworthy influence this week. Jobbers in hardware, shoes, hats, clothing, millinery and dry goods have all felt the gain. The surprisingly favorable news is received that Kansas City merchants, notwithstanding the effects of the drouth, have been having a larger trade and making better collections. At Omaha no material change is noted, except that country merchants, being obliged to buy nearer home, help Omaha's jobbers. A large volume of business in staples has been transacted at Milwaukee. At St. Paul and Minneapolis the improved business of the month of August is continued, while at Duluth heavy wheat arrivals and firmer lake freights have still further increased the volume of general trade and brightened the outlook. Portland, Ore., has kept New York exchange at par, with heavy eastern shipments of salmon, and expects a further stimulus to trade soon in heavy receipts of wheat. Activity characterizes trade at San Francisco in all lines; grain vessels are in demand, with wheat and bags lower and freights higher.

Local Weather Forecast.

Fair; northwesterly winds becoming variable.

SATOLLI MAY REMAIN

Likely To Be the Permanent Representative.

His Secretary Says That Whether the Apostolic Delegate Is Recalled or Not, Someone Will Be Retained, and a Pernament Legation Established in This Country.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Statements have been published from time to time in the United States and abroad in relation to the establishment in this country of a permanent legation representing the church of Rome in matters ecclesiastic, but official confirmation of them up to this time has never been obtained. Some days ago Pope Leo notified Archbishop Satolli, the apostolic delegate here, that it was deemed best for the interests of the church that an ambassador of the Holy Father should permanently reside in the United States, and Mgr. Satolli was given to understand that he would be kept as resident apostolic delegate. Up to the present time no information to the contrary has been sent to him from the vatican.

A reporter for the United Press called at the legation to inquire concerning the report from Rome that at the end of this year Mgr. Satolli would return to the vatican at the request of the pope. After a short consultation with Mgr. Satolli, Dr. Papi, his secretary, made the statement that the delegate had not yet been advised by the pope as to the matter, and in view of that fact did not believe the report was true. Said Dr. Papi:

"Whether Mgr. Satolli be recalled or not some one will be maintained here in the office he occupies. This is now a permanent legation which represents Pope Leo in church affairs, the same as the embassy of Italy here represents the political government in diplomatic matters."

After making this important declaration Dr. Papi refused to discuss the matter further. In view of the satisfactory manner in which the differences in the Catholic church in this country have been settled by Mgr. Satolli, and of the good feeling that generally prevails within the church, it is the opinion here that Mgr. Satolli will not be recalled.

Accuses a Missing Agent.

Pittsburg, Sept. 1.—The probable explanation of the sudden disappearance ten days ago of the well-known insurance agent, John E. McCrickart, is found in the discovery of a warrant issued for his arrest, on the day of his flight, by Mrs. Mary Montgomery, a wealthy widow of the east end. She says that prior to taking a trip to Europe she placed her property in the hands of McCrickart with power of attorney to collect rents and control her estate. Her claim is that her agent has swindled her out of $7,800.

Suicide of an Old Woman.

Athol, Mass., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Fanny Ecurger, about 50 years old, visiting friends in Royalstown, Mass., committed suicide by taking arsenic. She came to Royalstown three months ago and visited Mrs. Louisa Hunt. She was born in Switzerland and had no relatives in this country. She had traveled nearly all over the world, lately returning from Mexico, and has been very despondent of late. Two savings bank books were found calling for $1,200. Her relatives all live in Switzerland.

Famous Ocean Derelict.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The naval hydrographic office has just issued its pilot chart of the north Atlantic ocean for September. Among its special features it shows the track of the famous derelict Fannie E. Wolston. Since the derelict was abandoned, Oct. 15, 1891, she has ben reported forty-four times. She has been a derelict 1,025 days, during which she has drifted 8,575 miles and she is supposed to be afloat yet. Her track will probably be still further extended.

Remarkable Swimming Feat.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 1.—P. J. Lynch, a reporter, accomplished a remarkable feat of long distance swimming in the Merrimac river yesterday by swimming from Tyngs island to Stevens' wharf, in this city, a distance of five miles. Lynch was in the water just two hours and forty-five minutes and did not appear to be fatigued as a result of his efforts. The feat was witnessed by several hundred admirers of the natator.

Determined To Keep the Lead.

Baltimore, Sept. 1.—President Hanlon, of the Orioles, is determined to maintain Baltimore's lead in the championship race if money will accomplish it. He has just consummated a deal with Manager Barnie, of Louisville, whereby Pitcher Hemming comes to Baltimore in exchange for Inks, and a cash bonus, the amount of which is for the present withheld.

Helen Gould's Purchase.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Miss Helen Gould has purchased a large tract of land in the rear of her summer place, Kirkside, at Roxbury, and also a portion of the east branch of the Neversink, where she has arranged for the formation of an artificial lake to be used for fishing, bathing and boating.

CARLISLE'S PRIVATE SECRETARY.

His Health at Once Improved by Paine's Celery Compound.

Paine's celery compound makes people well!

From the wilds of Maine to the land of golden sunsets, from Canada to the Florida reefs, rich and poor, men and women in high places, and those who serve their country equally as well by being simply good husbands and good wives—all manner of people are being benefited by Paine's celery compound.

Many in high positions, knowing that their example is likely to be followed, and wishing that their experience may help others, have given their testimonials to the value of this great remedy.

Mr. H. W. VanSenden, the private secretary of Hon. John G. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury, says:

"I have used several bottles of Paine's celery compound, and its beneficial effects were manifested in a very much improved condition of the system. Those who are overworked will find it a splendid tonic and nerve invigorator."

Mr. James A. Bryan, the city editor of Paducah, Ky, Standard, one of the most influential newspapers in that part of the country, writing about a month previous, said:

"I have used several bottles of Paine's celery compound for nervousness and general debility, and the benefits have been marked. I consider it an invaluable remedy for nervousness and exhaustion, the result of confinement, sedentary habits and long sustained mental and physical exertion. I take pleasure in recommending it to anybody who may be thus afflicted. This statement is made without solicitation and with no other object than to add my testimony to that of others as to the efficacy of what I believe is a meritorious renovator of the human system."

And N. J. Dilday, one of the publishers of the same paper, says: "I was troubled with nervous attacks, coupled with sleeplessness, and tried Paine's celery compound. Two or three bottles convinced me that it is not without merit. I am well pleased with it and consider it a valuable remedy for nervousness caused by overwork and sedentary habits. I am never without it."

Thousands of testimonials come unasked-for to the proprietors of this remedy, the discovery of which by Dartmouth's greatest professor, Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., is one of the ablest achievements of recent times.

Paine's celery compound furnishes ready, sufficient, appropriate food for the nervous tissues all over the body. Its ingredients represent the most fruitful years of Prof. Phelps' practical study of the nervous system in disease.

After taking Paine's celery compound the blood no longer creeps in a thin, sluggish stream, but the arteries gradually become filled with a rich, strong tide of vigorous red blood that reaches and bathes every tiny nerve and muscle fiber in the body.

Headache, neuralgia and loss of appetite and strength cannot continue when such healthy arterial blood, full of ruddy, life-giving corpuscles, and capable of quickly repairing the waste of the hard-worked nerve and brain tissues, replaces the thin, pale fluid, full of bad humors and lacking in nutritive value.

Thousands of men and women whose daily life is making severe draughts on their vitality need Paine's celery compound.

None are too old to be helped by it; none are too young to be at once benefitted. It permanently cures every kind of nervous disease. It quickly brings new material to the worn out nerve centres, and removes the one cause of the many forms that nervous diseases take: Dyspepsia, sleeplessness, heart disease, rheumatism, melancholy, kidney and liver troubles. As a relief for the debilitating effects of this hot season, nothing can do so much.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Oysters are prime at Rogers's Market.

—The Daily Press will not be published Labor Day.

—The drug stores will be closed from 1 to 6 Monday afternoon.

—A sociable will be given in the parlors of the Arlington Hotel tonight.

—Putnam & DeGraw have just received a lot of infants' silk caps. They are beauties.

—Edsall's Commercial Palace will remain closed all day Monday, it being a legal holiday.

—Shut out the approaching cold by getting Marsh, Ayres & Co., to replace those broken panes.

—Edward Jacot of Somerset street has raised a sunflower plant which bears 26 flowers on a single stalk.

—A full line of fine stationery and school supplies can always be found at Harper's, 411 Park avenue.

—Justice Nash today issued a summons in the landlord and tenant case of Cline against Lewis, returnable Sept. 6.

—The lost watch for which a liberal reward is offered through the cent-a-word column of The Press today was the gift of a husband to his wife.

—The framework being erected on North avenue between J. E. Mosher's store and Roberts's livery stables is not a grand-stand by the Mosher-Weaver cycle track. It is simply a scaffold for the painting of a Watchung Park sign.

—"Put money in thy purse" is good advice always. Put money in our wall-paper, paints, glass, varnish, etc., is better advice now. Paper-hanging, kalsomining and tinting done at short notice. Edward Love, North and Watchung avenues.

—Just as the eagle is the king of birds, so the Eagle Bakery is the king of local bakeshops. Its location is 206 Liberty street, and there you may obtain not only the finest bread and pastry but baked beans and Saratoga chips cooked to the queen's taste. Send in a trial order.

The Company Must Comply.

Street Commissioner Meeker went to New York this morning to call the attention of the Central Railroad officials to the fact that the railroad embankment has not yet been sodded or stoned up in accordance with the council's request so as to prevent the washing away of soil upon the streets of the city. If the matter is not attended to the authorities will take steps to make the company do the necessary work.

Success of The Albion.

The management of the Hotel Albion announces that guests are being received for the Winter season. The hotel is filling up rapidly.

Clam Bake in Boynton.

The grocerymen will have 4 500 clams awaiting baking next Monday when the crowd of Plainfield excursionists becomes hungry in Boynton Beach.

A LOAD of misery is taken from women, by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Weaknesses that distress your womanhood can be relieved and cured by it, safely and certainly. It has done this for thousands of suffering women—and the makers are willing to guarantee, if it doesn't benefit or cure you, they'll return the money.

Bearing-down pains, internal inflammation and ulceration, organic displacements, weak backs, and all kindred ailments are cured by the "Favorite Prescription."

Nye, Putnam Co., W. Va.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—Miss B is a case of eleven years' standing, which baffled the skill of the best medical aid procurable. I obtained no good effect, until I began the use of the "Favorite Prescription," which lifted the burden which was making my life.

My gratitude I owe to the "Prescription." I hope that all suffering humanity (as in my case) may profit by the result of my experience.

INSURED 35 YEARS.

But the Payment of the Loss on Mrs. Shay's Old Home May Be Disputed.

The old building on the city side of Terrell road formerly used as a dwelling by Mrs. Mary Shay, but now as a storehouse, burned early this morning. Nothing could be done to save the structure.

The fire started in the corner of the store-house opposite the house. Mrs. Shay noticed it when she awoke at daybreak. She sent a telegram to Chief Doane from the Fanwood station asking him to come to her place with the apparatus.

The Chief received the message shortly after 5 and went to the North avenue station, believing that the place was in Fanwood, outside of the city limits. He telegraphed to the operator in Fanwood and was told that it was useless for him to go down. Had he understood that the house was in the city he would have sent out the firemen.

The Scotch Plains fire department went to headquarters but the men decided they could do nothing at the fire. The Fanwood Hose Company went out, however, and viewed the burning building.

The store-house burned down while Mrs. Shay looked on with expressions of grief. She was sure the place had been set on fire as it had started in the opposite corner. She told Sheriff Kyte when he drove over a few hours later that her enemies were at work again. An old man who lives near said he saw someone running down the road before the flames were discovered, but the time of the occurence and the fact that an incendiary would be sure to escape by way of the woods in the rear seem to offset his evidence. An incendiary would have operated earlier.

Mrs. Shay built the house in 1839 when she arrived on the road. After living in it many years she erected a new dwelling nearly in front of the old one. She had always carried insurance on the burned building, but as the place was not used as a home as the policy called for, the insurance will very probably not be paid.

The property destroyed may have been worth $100 to Mrs. Shay but it was certainly not worth that to any one else. In the building was the accumulation of years in useless household and farming implements. A large heap of coal is still burning. The size of the lumps shows that the fuel came from the Central Railroad.

GEN. BANKS DEAD.

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 1—General Nathaniel P. Banks died at his home here this morning aged 68. He was a famous politician of Massachusetts, having held before the war the offices of speaker of the State assembly, chairman of the constitutional convention, congressman and governor. He had a brilliant war record.

MURDERED FOR $6.

New York, Sept. 1—Carl Feigenbohn, who boarded with Mrs. Julianna Hoffman at 544 East Sixth street, murdered his landlady at 1 this morning.

He entered her room and cut her throat with a carving knife to secure $6 which the woman had put in a bureau drawer. The act was discovered at once. The murderer was pursued and arrested.

—The weather was hazy off Dartmouth this afternoon, and late cables indicate that the Vigilant-Satanita race may be a failure because of the calm.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Harry Lister has just received a new 19-pound track racer.

E. Delehanty has purchased a Union from F. L. O. Martin.

Nate Titsworth rides this afternoon at a race meet in Philadelphia.

A number of the Victor Wheelmen will go on a run to Boynton Beach Labor Day.

J. VanEps, the jeweler, has joined the brigade of Plainfield cyclers. He is now the possessor of a fine new wheel.

James D. Anderson of North Plainfield started on his wheel this afternoon for Flemington. He will return Monday.

Labor Day will be a great day for the bicycle dealers. All of Rogers's wheels are engaged and many late applications have been refused.

A discussion of events that happened August 30 in Florida Grove will occupy the greater part of the meeting of the Victor Wheelmen next Thursday evening.

Besides his record breaking in Asbury Park yesterday, Monte Scott won a second prize in the one-third-mile State Class A race. H. B. Martin of the Park was first in 44 4-5.

A party of eight Crescent Cyclers of Long Island City, on their way to Philadelphia, took lunch in the Central Cafe on East Front street at noon today. They will remain in Philadelphia over Sunday and return on Labor Day.

The entries and handicaps for the 25 mile road race Labor Day include from the Crescents the following: A. H. Barnett, scratch; I. N. Line, 3½ minutes; S. C. Crane, 4½; Ernest F. Hand, 5; C. N. Rydell, 6; J. G. Voorhies, 6½; Thomas A Cumming and E. H. Smith, 8

Charles Lade, an employe of the City Mills, was on his wheel at the corner of Park avenue and Second street yesterday afternoon when he was run into by I. L. McVoy's wagon. The bicycle was damaged to the extent of $25. Mr. Lade says he was on the right side of the street next to the sidewalk and that Mr. McVoy must pay or be sued. The young driver claims he did not see the rider in time.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The officials of the First Church of Christ will meet again next Tuesday evening, no definite action having been taken at their meeting last night.

The celebrated Y. M. C. A. choir will sing at the praise service to be held at the Third Street Mission tomorrow night. Plainfield's favorite, Will Runyon, late of Yale College, will also sing.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 2. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Worldliness in the church. The church in the world.—John ii, 13-17; xvii, 11-17.

This is a very practical, important and timely topic. It resolves itself into the question, What should be the relation of the church to the world and the world to the church? No more burning question today faces the Christian church and especially the young people of the church than the question of the relation of the church and the world. Too often the principles and motives of the world have place in the house of God that are not by any means in harmony and accord with the principles and motives emphasized by Jesus Christ.

1. Worldliness in the church (John ii, 13-17). It is a very vivid picture of worldliness in the church that presents itself to our view in these verses. Merchants are plying their business in the very courts of God. Money changers are becoming rich by taking advantage of foreigners who come to pay their vows and their tributes to the living God. The temple had become the house of merchandise. It is not unusual to see the same picture in the house of God today. The Lord's house is often turned into a place of business, and instead of songs of prayers or worship, which should be the habitation of His temple, festivals, bazaars and even games of chance hold full sway. We may notice two things about this fact in the illustration before us: 1. It was greed that brought the world into the church. It was simply greed that caused the priests to let the dove sellers and money changers in the temple. Greed is the sole cause of the same fact today. Christian people must learn to consecrate their wealth to Christ, and there will be no need for such things. 2. It was Christ who drove them out. It is still Christ—Christ's spirit in our hearts—and that alone that will drive the world in any form out of the church today. Christ and the world cannot occupy the same house. Let Christ in, and the world must go.

2. The church in the world. (John xvii, 11-17). These blessed words concerning Christians in the world are a part of that last prayer of Christ for His disciples and for His church. He declares that they are in the world, but not of the world, and prays God to keep them from the evil of the world. The church today is in the world, but not of it. It should be kept separate and distinct from it, and to that end we should all pray that God will keep the church from the world and should follow Christ's example in throwing our influence at all times to keep the world out of the church and the church out of the world.

Bible Readings—Eccl. ii, 1, [illegible]; Isa. xxxii, 10; Amos vi, 3-7; Matt. xvi, 26; Luke xxi, 34; Rom. v, 12; viii, 22; xii, 2; I Cor. vii, 29, 30; Gal. vi, 14; Jas. i, 27; iv, 4; I John ii, 15.

The Kind Word.

A large class of excellent people altogether fail to appreciate the value and importance of kind words and looks. And in consequence the opportunity to promote the happiness or well-being of others passes unimproved. It is too often assumed that the needy and distressed can be relieved and comforted only by the use of money, and those who are unable to exercise benevolence in that direction conclude that they have no duty in regard to the poor and the suffering. But to a large class a kindly word and benevolent smile are worth more than a little money doled out by a cold and unfeeling hand. When the money is needed and we have the ability to bestow it, we may not withhold it. But whether we are able to give aid in this direction or not let us never forget the importance of a kind word and of a kind look.—Selected.

England Takes the Greatest Gain Banner.

At St. Louis four years ago it was also decided that another badge banner should be made and given on the next field day to the state, territory or province that should show the greatest absolute gain in one year. Pennsylvania captured that banner. She, too, two years ago relinquished her possession and started the banner upon its international pilgrimage, turning it over to Ontario. Ontario, after holding the banner a year, had the great privilege of returning it last year to the Keystone State, and it was received within Pennsylvania's borders with song and rejoicing. This year that banner, continuing its international travels, is flung to the breezes by England's brigade in their great advance.—Secretary Baer's Report.

An Emblem.

Men are properly said to be clothed with authority, clothed with beauty, with curses and the like. Nay, if you consider it, what is man himself and his whole terrestrial life but an emblem—a clothing or visible garment for the divine me of his, cast hither, like a light particle, down from heaven? Thus is he said also to be clothed with a body.—Carlyle.

Friendship.

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes, and let him know
That you love him ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?

If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them, and by kindly sharing
Own your kinship with the skies.
Why should any one be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?

If your work is made more easy
By a friendly, helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly
Ere the darkness veil the land.
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness,
All enriching, as you go,
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver.
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until its happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

—Alice Cary.

Court Coddington.

The case of Mrs. Canary against Mrs. Pickett for using abusive language was adjourned one week in the City Court this morning. Mrs. Pickett's counsel failed to appear.

The hearing of the charges of Mrs. Charles McCann against her husband was adjourned for the same time on account of the nonappearance of Mrs. McCann.

The Rumor Discredited.

New York, Sept. 1.—In regard to the report from Appleton, Wis., that an English syndicate had purchased all the paper and pulp mills in Wisconsin, prominent and well-informed members of the paper trade in this city declared that they had not heard of any negotiations having been entered into by agents of any syndicate of British capitalists looking for the purchase of these mills, and expressed their belief that no negotiations on a scale so extensive as indicated in the dispatch could be carried on without their knowledge.

Mrs. Howard's Condition Serious.

Southhampton, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Hubert L. Howard, wife of Roundsman Howard, of the New York park police, who was seriously injured by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Joseph Donnelly, is still in a precarious condition. Yesterday's report of the affair erroneously stated that the gun was discharged in the hands of her husband, Mr. Howard was in New York city when the accident occurred.

Unable To Meet Their Obligations.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 1.—Woodward & Co., one of the largest retail grocery houses in this city, have called a meeting of their creditors for next Tuesday evening, being unable to meet their financial obligations. The house was established by Seyms & Co. in 1815 and has always met promptly every obligation.

GRAND ARMY ENCAMPMENT.

To Revive Memories of the War at Pittsburg.

REUNION OF A NATION'S HEROES.

A Peculiarly Fitting Place For the Meeting of the Veterans—Glance Into the Future—From Beardless Boyhood to Mature Age—Gossip About the Encampment.

[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

The parade of the Grand Army of the Republic at Pittsburg on Sept. 11 may possibly be less imposing in point of numbers than some which have taken place in the past, especially those at Boston, Washington and Indianapolis, although Pittsburg lies in the center of a stretch of territory which furnished more than one-third of the soldiers of the war—the states of Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio. But whether the gathering be large or small the event is great in significance and in the suggestions for new ideas or the rearrangement of former ones which it brings with it. The anniversary is held upon soil peculiarly sacred to the cause represented at this gathering. Pennsylvania gave more sons according to her quota as a sacrifice to the god of battles than any other state in the Union. She stood on the border in 1861. She sent the first volunteer defenders to the imperiled capital in the crisis following Sumter. Her genius ruled in the national camps and councils, and within her limits, fair set among the charming hills of the Cumberland, lies the battlefield of Gettysburg. Cold must be the heart that will not respond befitting the occasion and give the hour to gratitude and congratulation.

There remains little to be said of the sacrifices of the armies whose remnants shall march along Fifth avenue on Sept. 12. Four hundred thousand dead and a long procession of the stricken and maimed is the story the nation knows, alas, too well. But there is another side to the patriotism of the Union soldier that might be recalled today, a less grewsome one to dwell upon and a more noble one because it furnished the inspiration for those deeds of courage whose glory brightens as the years roll on. It would be an easy task to prove that the Grand Army, itself a body unique in the world's experience, is not due to military clanship nor to the protective union principle which is so active in this era. The genius of the Grand Army lived in the breasts of the soldiery in the war days, and the mind is almost startled to come upon such witnesses to the fact as this poem of Miles O'Reilly's, "The Song of the Soldiers," written in camp in 1862:

> Comrades known in marches many,
> Comrades tried in dangers many,
> Comrades bound by memories many,
> Brothers ever let us be.
> Wounds or sickness may divide us,
> Marching orders may divide us,
> But whatever fate betide us,
> Brothers of the heart are we.
> Comrades known by faith the clearest,
> Tried when death was near and nearest,
> Bound we are by ties the dearest,
> Brothers evermore to be.
> And if spared and growing older,
> Shoulder still in line with shoulder,
> And with hearts no thrill the colder,
> Brothers ever we shall be.
> By communion of the banner,
> Crimson, white and starry banner,
> By the baptism of the banner
> Children of one church are we.
> Creed nor faction can divide us,
> Race nor language can divide us,
> Still, whatever fate betide us,
> Children of the flag are we.

There is nothing of sordid selfishness nor of caste or guild exclusiveness breathing through those lines. No more were there to be found in the hearts of Stephenson and his colleagues, who in their bivouac in the southwest in 1864 dreamed out their magnificent scheme for perpetuating in peace the spirit of fraternity, charity and loyalty which characterized the soldiers in the field. The veterans' estimates of themselves are far too modest when they rest satisfied with eulogies upon their battlefield prowess and their heroic bearing under severest hardship, and if proximity to scenes so rich in war associations shall unloose the tongues of Commander in Chief Adams and his staff of orators at the encampment they may give to the careless yet responsive throngs of outsiders new cause to doff their hats to the Grand Army. They will tell us how the soldier set the pace for Union savers in 1861 and how, by the guiding and shaping amid the storm and stress of civil war of these same men, the yeomanry, who filled the ranks as volunteers 30 years ago, this vast nation sprang into existence from an aggregation of states whose watchword until then both north and south had been state supremacy. They might give voice to the claim that the beardless boys, who, as far as time and Confederate bullets have spared them, will appear in the marching lines at Pittsburg, alone made the war possible, alone made possible those victories and results which the encampment, standing out as the exponent of the military spirit of the nation, celebrates with due civic and military eclat. The war—that is, the war now held in memory, that which announces itself by cannon peal and the "clash of resounding arms"—would not have been commenced nor maintained but for their Spartan vim, their virile, aggressive, unsordid and unfaltering attitude when statesmen hesitated and civic leaders trembled; that the war was right and everlastingly right and must go on and that they would stand surety for its success.

Had there been no volunteer army with its blood up, no martyred Ellsworths and Bakers and Lyons and Winthrops appealing from their crimson shrouds with "lifeblood warm and wet," no Cushings and Ellets and Wordens and Morrises and Farraguts to tread the decks, and no Hancocks, no Warrens, no Uptons, no Custers and no Sheridans, with their firm battalions standing sword in hand, the war would have fizzled out in six months for lack of enthusiasm. This is history, and because the veteran when all was accomplished glided quietly back to his commonplace groove as a man and a neighbor, showing many of the weaknesses and foibles of the common mold, is no reason for losing sight of the grander part of him. A slice of Napoleon's high minded philosophy would suit the occasion.

"I remember nothing but Austerlitz," he said when people complained to him truthfully that his old marshal, Soult, who had made Napoleon and France by his wonderful genius and valor on that field, was becoming ambitious and self important. "As he fought then think of him," and there will be no room for too familiar trifles to break the spell of distance.

THE G. A. R. IN THE FUTURE.

The veterans passed the half century point some years ago. How long will they remain upon the stage in sufficient numbers to give spirit to ceremonies commemorating the civil war? Twenty years from now we shall be celebrating the centennial of the victories at Lundy's Lane, Lake Champlain and Baltimore; also that of Jackson over Pakenham at New Orleans, and about that time the semicentennial of the closing battles of the civil war. Is it a daring assumption to presume that there will then be living twice as many Union veterans as there were boys in blue on any of the battlefields of 1861-5? There are good grounds for believing that such will be the case.

There were about 2,000,000 individuals recruited for the Union armies, of which number 360,000 (official figures) died in service, and at least 40,000 died after discharge during the war who are not included in the government statistics. At the close of the war, then, in 1865, there were living about 1,600,000 veterans averaging about 26 years of age. At the average rate for men in health the number would decrease in 30 years about 480,000, leaving 1,120,000 survivors in 1894. About four years ago the pension and Grand Army roles and the rosters of veteran associations showed 1,350,000 survivors, but part of the figures were not trustworthy, and a revision of them, together with the deaths of the past five years, has brought the number down to 1,000,000. In other words, there have been 600,000 deaths in 30 years, an increase of the usual mortuary rate. But if there are only a million left, these being of advanced, age and the mortuary rate has been excessive thus far, does that argue against marshaling an army of them 20 years hence? Their average ages now are about 56. The death report of the departments of Michigan and New York for 1893 and of the national encampment for the whole United States for 1892 shows that the mortuary rate is less than the average recognized by insurance actuaries.

The Michigan report for 20,000 veterans, averaging 55 years, showed a mortality of 15 to 1,000, that of New York a rate of 20 in 1,000 among 41,000, and the national report for 400,000 men, including inmates of soldiers' homes, presumably the least healthy of the survivors, a rate of 17 to 1,000. The average age of the veterans in 1894 is usually fixed at 55 by experts, and the rate of mortality for average men at that age is about 22 in 1,000. That the loss since the war has been excessive no one will dispute, but that naturally would occur in the decade following the soldiers' discharge. Men were discharged for wounds and diseases by the hundreds of thousands, and no doubt death claimed them within a few years at a rate three or four times greater than the average for civilians. Over 200,000 men died from diseases in the army, and it must be supposed that the seeds of death were brought out of the army by tens of thousands of those discharged out of hospitals or prison parole camps.

As has been stated, the death rate is now much under the average for civilians, and the veteran at 55 or 56, or even at 57—which is probably the proper age to consider—all things being equal, has one chance in three of reaching 76 and of taking part in the double celebration of 1915, and each of the 200,000 or 300,000 alive at that date will have one chance in five of reaching the age of 86 as one of the 40,000 or 60,000 survivors.

At the present time there is about one veteran in every 60 inhabitants, old and young, or in every 12 adult men, and at that date, if the population increases normally, there will be one to every 1,700 people or every 350 adult men—that is to say that in the average gathering of 350 men at a patriotic meeting or on election there will be one tottering veteran of 86 years. Not much chance for G. A. R. gatherings then, surely, except in the great cities. The record of longevity among the veterans of the war of 1812 and of the Mexican war sustains these calculations, and this thought has been carried still further by a writer in the Washington Post, who sees the dramatic and interesting climax a generation beyond that I have hinted at, or at the middle of the next century, with the centennial days of the Mexican war, the discovery of gold and the conquest of California. He says:

> Herein are we admonished by unseen lips and innumerable voices that the day will some time dawn when of all the Grand Army of the Republic, now year by year closing in thinner ranks around the graves of their departed comrades, there shall be but one survivor to stand lone watch at the portals of the "eternal camping ground."

It is an impressive if not bewildering thought. It carries us to a period when the millions of today shall be doubled, and when among the teeming hosts busied with their own ambitions, confronted with new responsibilities, radiant in the light of new revelations, strangers, except through history, to the mighty events out of which so glorious a destiny was wrought, this solitary soldier shall be the sole reminder and incarnation, as it were, of the heroic age of the Union.

The war of the American Revolution closed in 1783. At that time a soldier belonging to the regiment of New York militia commanded by Colonel Marinus Willett, who had been four years in the army, was a young man of 23. Eighty-six years later, April 5, 1869, having reached the great age of 109, he was gathered to his heroic fathers at the town of Freedom (not inaptly named), Cattaraugus county, N. Y. His name was Daniel F. Bakeman, and he was the last of the Revolutionary pensioners under special act of congress.

The last of the Revolutionary pensioners on the regular roll was Samuel Downing of Saratoga county, N. Y., who enlisted as a private in 1780, when only 14, and died in 1867 at 101.

Only 21 years ago there walked among us one who bore a musket at the surrender of Cornwallis, yet lived to hear the tidings of the surrender at Appomattox!

These incidents furnish no data, of course, on which to base exact foreknowledge of the time when there shall remain in the land of the living only a single soldier of the great armies that were disbanded in 1865, but it is not unreasonable to suppose that, even if none of the veterans of the war is spared to the extraordinary age of Daniel Bakeman, it will be reserved to some of them to turn the century point. If there is a soldier who, like Samuel Downing, was but 17 when discharged from the service, and lives to Downing's age, he will die in 1949. If 23 at the time of his discharge, and he lives to the fivescore and nine of Daniel Bakeman, he will die in 1951. The chances are that the man who is destined to bear the proud but melancholy distinction of being the last survivor will not be living later than 1950.

And what a retrospect will be his as, standing upon this remote and isolated acclivity, he peoples the hazy distances of the past with armies and banners; with the great captains long since called to their reward; with the charge and countercharge of legions melting in the smoke of the conflict; with the sheeted dead that haunt vast battlefields; with the final blending into skies of blue the vanishing clouds of gray, the aftermath of glory, the grand review, the grateful incense of peace and the line of march toward immortality, of which uncounted headstones are then the only traces, save his worn and weary self, waiting for the signal of welcome from the shining ramparts just above him!

Sixty years from today it may be, in some great cemetery of the nation's dead, or haply within some quiet churchyard, will be reared a mound of flowers over the grave of the last survivor, for, though he be a stranger among strangers, a waif upon the shore left by the receding tide, with not a comrade to bear him company, he will not be unbefriended. There will be sons of veterans, grandsons of veterans, daughters and granddaughters of veterans to guard his declining footsteps, to smooth his dying moments, sublimer far than those of Napoleon at St. Helena, to write his wondrous epitaph and over his ashes build a fitting monument.

Many and momentous may be the changes that our country in the evolution of its progress shall meanwhile witness. The flag that floats above us this morning in all its constellated splendor may gleam with other stars, transplanted to its azure field from both the northern and southern firmaments. New conditions may be developed to challenge the profoundest philosophy and bravest statesmanship of the age in their adjustment to an advancing civilization. Dangers that we wot not of may arise in the solution of social and economic problems to further tax the stability of our institutions. But in God's good providence the covenant of union, sealed with the blood of opulent self sacrifice, the fragrance of which ascends today from a hundred thousand altars, shall remain unbroken and immutable, like the bow of promise in its beauty, but like the overarching heavens themselves in its bending majesty and perennial duration.

The citizens of Pittsburg are to make an unusually lavish display of Old Glory during encampment week.

Louisville and Atlanta are striving after the encampment in 1895, in order, as they say, to "bridge the bloody chasm."

The Sons of Veterans and the national guardsmen, in full uniform, will act as guides to the visiting comrades in their travels about the city.

No tents at Pittsburg, says Commander in Chief Adams. The veterans average 55 years of age, and the older boys are just the ones who do not wish to miss an encampment nor come away with aches and pains. So the quarters will be in substantial barracks or in hotels, halls and private houses.

G. K. LENNOX.

ENGLISH CRUSADER.

LADY SOMERSET THE COUNTERPART OF MISS WILLARD.

Her Hobby is the Temperance Cause, But Incidentally She Pronounces Theatrical Living Pictures Crude and Vulgar.

Lady Henry Somerset, the famous temperance advocate of England, is now in America.

There is nothing of the regular agitator about Lady Somerset. She is a simple, unaffected woman, who dresses quietly, and in the best of taste. In an interview with a representative of the New York Herald, she said:

"This is my fourth visit. I suppose there have been some questions asked as to why I rest here and not in England. I like the United States, its people and its social freedom. Every one over here that I have met has been more than kind to me, and my friends in this land are many and sincere.

"Oh, no," she added, in answer to a question, "there is nothing wrong with my health except a little too much strain that it has to endure, and a few weeks' idleness will cure that.

"For that reason I have taken a cottage close to Miss Willard's, at Twilight Park, on the Hudson, and there for two months I am going to live in seclusion, taking no part in any public movements, but just to enjoy a long, quiet vacation."

Then Lady Somerset smiled as she added, "It is hard for me not to do what my friends propose, and perhaps I may get out of my self-constructed jail once in a while."

LADY SOMERSET.

Then coming to her recent manifesto on the subject of living pictures, Lady Somerset said: "I am not setting up any opposition to the nude in art when artistically treated, for then the nude becomes a glory, not a degradation of sex; but the living pictures, when they imitate that phase of art, are at best but the rawest, most crude form of imitation and work to the demoralization of womanhood.

"It is preposterous to imagine for a moment that it is the emotion of an artist's soul that draws on the women to make exhibitions of themselves; it is a clear cut commercial situation which they appreciate.

"They pose as living pictures for so many dollars; their work bears no hallmark of genius, and as a rule, the subjects are chosen to suit the fancy of the managers, as they interpret the public fancy, to swell their own coffers. Not to educate the public taste for art, but to pander to vitiated tastes.

"I do not consider the question from the point of view of demoralization to the spectators, for they are present of their own wish, and, if they did not care to visit places where these pictures are on exhibition, they need not go. Their act is purely voluntary. But it is on account of the demoralization to the sex that I object to them. No woman would take part in these representations were it not a matter of bread and butter to her, and if she should, why then, for the sake of the sex, it should be made an impossibility for her to do so."

The effect of her manifesto she firmly believes will be the withdrawal of the London living pictures before next November, for she has attempted to put the matter before the County Council in such a way that each candidate must declare himself either for or against a continuance of the performances, and she relies on the Englishman's well recognized antipathy to the open support of anything not orthodox.

Although her plans are not fully matured Lady Somerset expects to spend the year in Boston, to be near her son, who intends to take a course of study at Harvard.

PEOPLE YOU HAVE HEARD OF.

Notes of an Emperor, an Actress, and Other Famous People.

The German Emperor is said to have a very accurate knowledge of French literature. He especially admires Ohnet, but cherishes a violent dislike for Zola. If the French, he said, preferred such books as Zola's, they gave foreigners a right to judge their moral standard severely.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward, in refusing an invitation to dinner from a club of "woman writers," said she condemned sex distinction in literature. She did not wish to see sex emphasized in literature, but rather she desired to see "the neutrality of the pen—the sexlessness of intelligence."

The earliest known photograph of Sarah Bernhardt was taken in 1867, when she was playing at the Odeon. Her dress had a crinoline, and her face is innocent and childish. Since then one photographer alone has taken her in 1,007 different attitudes.

According to the Westminster Gazette, the visit of young Josef Hofmann to America some five or six years ago was the occasion of one of the most strikingly original pieces of musical criticism that has ever been produced, even on that side of the Atlantic. "This curly-headed wonder-child," observed one journal, "whipped off the chords with the energy of a belated car driver, while his diminutive digits skipped over the Steinway keyboard as surely and swiftly as a bank manager off to Canada, yet as softly and lightly as the gentle flapping of the wings of seraphim."

Recent Fads in Photography.

There is a concern down town in New York that undertakes to put your photograph on anything, and the display of all sorts of articles adorned with photographs is a convincing evidence of the firm's good faith; but it remained for a Broadway photographer to undertake the substitution of the owner's photograph for the initial on the pocket handkerchief, and to exhibit samples of the same in his showcase.

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.
"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.
"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

LABOR'S GREAT CELEBRATION.

A General Holiday For the Sons of Toil.

HOW AND WHERE IT ORIGINATED.

The First Monday In September More Generally Observed Than Was Thanksgiving Thirty Years Ago—Order In Which the States Came In—Its Significance—Movement For Consolidation.

[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

It was 12 years ago and in New York that Labor day was first celebrated. The general assembly of the Knights of Labor was held in the big city at the Hudson's mouth in 1882, and it was proposed by P. J. McGuire, now first vice president of the American Federation, then a member of the New York Central Labor union, that some time during the assembly's session that year all the labor organizations of New York should turn out in a big parade. This proposition was adopted, and the procession was the feature of Sept. 5, which fell on the first Monday of the month. Workingmen of almost every trade took part, and this of course stopped many business establishments and virtually made the day a holiday. The big parade was reviewed by Richard Griffiths, worthy foreman of the Knights, and he as well as all who were on the reviewing stand was greatly impressed. One who was present—Robert Price of Maryland—placing his hand affectionately upon Mr. Griffiths' shoulder, said:

"This is Labor day in earnest, Uncle Dick."

Thus the observance of what is now legally a national holiday began, and thus it was named. On every first Monday in September since that first parade Labor day has been celebrated in New York, and the size of the procession, the enthusiasm of the participants and the more or less general cessation of the people from gainful pursuits have been evidence that the new holiday was justified by the best of reasons—a demand from the highest authority in a republic—the people.

It was not long that the establishment of the day in New York before the idea was taken up elsewhere, and Labor day observances were soon an established fact in nearly every city of consequence. To the parade, which has ever remained the chief of these observances, have been added addresses on economic topics and the organization of labor, and every year the movement has grown until now Labor day is far more generally observed than was Thanksgiving day 30 years ago. In only two cases, to be hereinafter mentioned, has the date of Labor day been fixed for any day other than the first Monday in September.

Making Labor Day a Legal Holiday.

It was not until 1887 that the holiday was legalized in New York, the state of its birth. The legislatures of several other states set the day apart the same year, and by the close of 1893 this had been done in 25 states.

Oregon was the first state to pass a bill legalizing the holiday. Such a bill was first introduced, however, in the legislature of New York state.

In several other states legislation has been set on foot for the establishment of Labor day, but has failed so far of accomplishment for one reason and another. Whether it will now be thought necessary to secure such legislation in the remaining states is not decided, so far as the writer's knowledge goes.

On Sept. 6, 1893, Hon. Amos J. Cummings introduced a bill in the house of representatives at Washington making the day a national holiday. This bill was identical in wording with one introduced on Aug. 28, 1893, by the Hon. Mr. Kyle of South Dakota in the senate. The bill was finally passed by congress June 26, 1894, and two days later received the president's signature and became law. The pen with which Mr. Cleveland affixed his signature was sent to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation, and is carefully preserved by him. This bill reads as follows:

"A bill making Labor day a legal holiday:

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the first Monday of September in each year, being the day celebrated and known as labor's holiday, is hereby made a legal holiday, to all intents and purposes in the same manner as Christmas, the 1st day of January, the 22d day of February, the 30th day of May and the 4th day of July are now by law made public holidays."

The Significance of the Day.

The American Labor day has no exact counterpart in Europe. There, it is true, demonstrations of workingmen are often made on May 1, the object being, of course, to produce an impression of strength in numbers and directness of purpose, and so make it easier to win proposed demands as to wages, hours, etc. The May day demonstration is not altogether unknown on this side the ocean, but in many essentials it differs from Labor day. The real distinction of the American holiday lies in the fact that on that day no legal question or contention or dispute is supposed to be intended or allowed to interfere with the day's observance. The workers for one day lay aside their implements of toil and meet to parade and to listen to addresses made by thinkers who have long pondered the labor problem, by all odds the most important one of this day and generation. This was what its founders had in mind at the beginning, and this idea has been pretty generally maintained. Games and other festivities are permissible, of course, and have, in fact, in some localities become important features, but the discussion of the great question that interests those who observe most the day remains and should remain the chief feature.

The assemblies of workingmen on Labor day have been likened to "open courts," before which all sides talk upon the problem of production. This characterization of the day has been truer of late years than in the past, particularly in some localities, where not only thinkers from the ranks of organized labor, but employers as well, have been invited to address the assembled multitudes. The educational value of the day cannot, therefore, be overestimated, and one near whose heart the day has been ever since its first celebration in 1882 has spoken of it as "a day of education, rest and recreation."

Beginnings of the Labor Movement.

Labor day is of course a child of the labor organizations of America. The first society formed for mutual benefit by workingmen in this country was organized by the tailors in 1806. Prior to that time tailors coming to America retained membership in the journeyman tailors' unions of the old country. The hatters of America organized in 1819. The Columbia Charitable Association of Shipwrights and Calkers was formed some time between 1825 and 1830. The printers' first organization, so far as authentic records show, was in 1831. The true formative period of America's labor organizations extends over the 26 years from 1825 to 1851. The chief movement was for higher wages and shorter hours of work, and there were also many experiments in co-operation. New Harmony, Ind., was the scene of the first experiment of this sort. It was backed by Mr. Owen with $1,000,000 in cash, 28,000 acres of land and two libraries costing $30,000 each, and 800 persons joined in the scheme. It lived but two years, however, and, though it has been followed by many other experiments somewhat similar, none has as yet made a lasting success.

Labor legislation began as early as 1777, when it was voted in Newburyport, Mass., that "maximum wages" should be as follows:

Carpenters, 5 shillings 4 pence a day; calkers, 6 shillings a day; day laborers, not found, 4 shillings a day; day laborers, found, 3 shillings a day; joiners, 4 shillings 8 pence a day; masons, 6 shillings a day.

It will be observed that this legislation was all in favor of the employer, inasmuch as the paying of higher wages than those named was prohibited, while there was no minimum scale adopted. Strikes began to occur in 1803, the first one recorded being among the sailors in New York city. It seems to have been settled by the jailing of the leader. There were divers small strikes, and some of some magnitude in the years immediately following, but there seems to have been no really systematic action until 1825, the year already mentioned as the beginning of the formation period of the organizations. In 1826 a Boston newspaper printed a protest against some of the methods of the manufacturers in New England and made demands for the adoption of measures to decrease the dangers of factory operatives and the furnishing them with suitable rooms, lodgings, etc. The Yankee girl operatives were foremost all through this formation period in getting up organization.

Meanwhile in New York city and all along the Atlantic coast the ship carpenters and calkers were agitating for a 10 hour day, and the question of labor legislation was also brought up. In New York in 1828 a bill for a mechanic's lien law was favorably presented to the legislature, but not acted upon. The next year a workingman's ticket was put in the field—the first on record—but every nominee was defeated but one. It seems that at that time the elections extended over several days, and at the close of the first day it was seen that the workingmen were ahead, and so the other tickets were hastily combined to defeat the workingmen's nominees. There were many workingmen's papers then, as now, judging from the allusions to them in the files of such publications as have been preserved, though no copies of the workingmen's papers themselves are known to be extant. Robert Dale Owen was prominent in the movement, and so was Edward Everett, who addressed a meeting of "farmers, mechanics and other workingmen" held in Boston, Feb. 16, 1831. At this meeting arrangements were made for the holding of a convention on Sept. 6, 1832, and at this convention, which, from the old records, appears to have been very well attended and was presided over by Charles Douglas of New London, Conn., ten points were submitted for consideration, as follows: 1. Organization of a central committee for each state. 2. The institution of lyceums or institutes. 3. Reform in the militia system. 4. The expediency of calling a national convention of workingmen. 5. The 10 hour system. 6. The effect of banking institutions and other monopolies upon the condition of the laboring classes. 7. The improvement of the system of education, including the recommendation of such legislative enactments in relation to the internal economy of factories as should assure to the operatives therein a competent degree of instruction. 8. The abolition of imprisonment for debt and the adoption of a national bankrupt law. 9. The extension of the right of suffrage in states where the people were then denied its privileges. 10. The lien laws in favor of journeymen and mechanics. Landed interests, taxation and co-operative trading were also discussed.

It would be interesting and profitable to follow the development of the movement from this date perhaps, but the limits of this article will not permit it. Enough has been given to show that sixty odd years ago the working people of the United States had already begun the agitation that has been in progress ever since, and which, year by year, is taking up more and more of the attention of the entire public and the lawmaking branches of the national and state governments.

The Organizations of Today.

During the six decades that have elapsed since the period of which I have written great strides have been made.

The old days of 12 and 14 hours have given place in the majority of occupations to the 10 hour day, and the agitation is now for the day of eight hours. In every state laws have been enacted for the protection of workingmen such as were only dreamed of then. Imprisonment for debt has practically ceased, great strides have been made in the direction of the abolition of contract convict labor, and in many states boards of arbitration have been created, and in many ways the law now takes cognizance of matters that are of vital interest to workingmen. No matter how individual opinions may differ as to the value of labor organizations, there is no doubt that without their aid the men would never have won the victories which they prize so highly, and despite their defeats, which have been many and sometimes believed to be crushing, the organization idea is gaining ground every day.

There are two great divisions among the labor organizations of the United States. In the first may be classed the great railroad brotherhoods, the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the international and national trades unions. In the second may be classed the assemblies of the Knights of Labor and the American Railway union. The basic difference between the two types may be summed up in the statement that each union of the first class possesses autonomy as to its own local affairs. It orders its own strikes and directs its own local policy, whereas the assemblies of the Knights of Labor are to a much greater extent governed by the general officers of the order, as are the local unions of the A. R. U. by the general officers of that order. The unions affiliated with the Federation of Labor, for instance, bear about the same relation to that organization that the states of the republic bear to the federal government, all local laws and rules being made by each union, while the K. of L. assemblies are governed by rules laid down by the general assembly.

Many efforts have been made looking to closer unity between the different organizations, and three "harmony conferences" of national scope have been held within the last year. Samuel Gompers, head of the federation; General Master Sovereign of the Knights of Labor; P. M. Arthur, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Frank Sargent, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen; Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway union; John McBride of the United Mine Workers and most of the other leaders are all in favor of unity, but for some reason it has so far failed to materialize. Possibly the national recognition of Labor day as a holiday may tend to hasten its accomplishment.

The early printers very often omitted to print the initial letter of a chapter or section, leaving it to be painted in by hand.

NEW YORK IS LARGE.

AND MANY VILLAGE REPUTATIONS ARE WRECKED HERE.

But the Country Also Furnishes the Brains of New York. Farmer McCarten's Wife Hunt and Various Newsy Matters.

The epigram uttered by John S. Wise, "New York is the graveyard of village reputations," does not lack illustrations of its truth. There is a little old gentleman often seen about upper Broadway, walking with difficulty and leaning heavily upon his stick, speaking to no one and unmarked by the crowd of passers-by, who, thirty years ago was the idol of the chivalry of the South. The son of a famous Confederate general, intrusted with a cavalry command in the Army of Northern Virginia, no seat so sure and graceful, no onslaught so brilliant and daring as his. Gifted with a handsome person, a versatile mind, a splendid ancestry and a distinction of bearing even then unusual, he acted a conspicuous part on the world's stage. And now, his light almost snuffed out, he lives in a poor room in a side street and dines at a cheap table d'hote. He is lost in New York with thousands of others. But, on the other hand, most of the men who lead in trade and the professions came here from the country.

John Mc Carten, a Nebraska farmer, who came to New York and spent seven dollars advertising for a wife was induced by some one to try for a partner at the Young Women's Christian Association on Fifteenth street and Fifth avenue. What happened is thus recounted in one of the evening papers:

"Have the girls a good character?" he asked of a severe looking, elderly woman, who was seated at a desk.

"Sir!" said the severe looking one, looking even more severe, "this is not an employment bureau."

"Well, ahem. I know," persisted Mc Carten, "but it is not after a servant that I am, ma'am. It's a wife I'm looking for, ma'am."

"Well, I never!" fairly shrieked the woman. "Do you take this for a matrimonial bureau?"

"No, not exactly," replied the imperturbable McCarten. Then, he added "She must have $100 or her character won't count."

This was more than the elderly woman could stand, and she ordered McCarten out, and he went.

There is a rumor to the effect that a strong pressure is being brought to bear on the district messenger companies to admit girls to their service. The argument is advanced that messenger boys are slow, inattentive and frivolous, and that girls would do the work more quickly and conscientiously. It is possible that the uniformed bouquet girls may have suggested the proposed innovation to somebody who realized how futile it would be to attempt to make uniformed boys sell boutonnieres in a city like New York.

There is a firm of florists in Twenty-seventh street who once had the honor of sending a magnificent bouquet of roses to some friends here of the Prince of Wales. The letter from his secretary directing the transmission of the gift has no place on the wall of the establishment, but a note from Corbett, the theatrical pugilist, thanking them for a floral offering has been carefully framed and hung near the door. Corbett in their estimation is a bigger man than the Prince of Wales.

The incongruity of association is startling sometimes. For example, there is a notion store just below the Fifth Avenue Hotel. In the window are samples of silver pocket whiskey flasks, and near them some dainty specimens of leather-bound prayer books and hymnals.

A great deal has been said about the walk of Ward McAllister, which is a cross between a trot and a lope. It is said that he has gone to Europe to get rid of his peculiar gait by taking the waters at Aix-les-Bains.

A great many poor people who buy "L" road tickets daily are ignorant of the fact that on each ticket is stamped the name of the station where purchased and the number of the agent making the sale. The company is thus able to trace any cancelled ticket and ascertain at a glance where and when it was sold and by whom.

A Chinaman in Columbus avenue has several Scriptural texts framed in his laundry. An old customer asked him how he had been converted. "Me no Clistian," he replied. "Sunday-school no good. But signs bling business."

Speaking of queer names in the City Directory, one of the queerest is that of Mr. Westminster Abbey, who is a chandler in Front street and lives in Brooklyn.

A saloon in Third avenue, between Fourteenth and Twenty-third streets, bears the singular and seemingly inappropriate name of "The Aquarium."

ROGER LEWIS.

Leave Him His Sweet Temper.

"The sweetest temper in the world can be ruined, and, therefore," says the Duchess, "I would have you take heed to your ways. If you have the luck to chance on a good-tempered man, and gain him for your husband, see that you prize the gift, and that you do not abuse it. Give him smile for smile, and bear with him as he is sure to bear with you. I have seen one or two cases where a fretful girl, relying too much upon the sweetness of her husband's temper, has ended at last by turning that sweetness into gall. Therefore, if God gives into your keeping a bright and kindly spirit, take care that you do it no injury."

MAGIC
For Nerve, Brain and Blood.

MAGIC IRON-TONE is an ideal summer drink. Served at fountains with soda it is incomparable. It must be remembered that the average summer drink is just so much syrup and water, having no medicinal properties, and which only serves to provoke instead of to assuage thirst. But MAGIC IRON-TONE not only quenches thirst, it gratifies the longing for "something that will go to the spot;" it sparkles and bubbles along the palate and the throat; it gratifies the parched stomach and immediately clears the films from the brain. It dispels the despondent, depressed feeling inseparable from weariness and overwork; it lightens the load the system seems to be carrying, causes the eye to flash, the mind to spring into activity, and the nerves and muscles to jump from a flaccid to an elastic condition.

MAGIC IRON-TONE EXTRACT FOR HOME USE.
25 CTS. A BOTTLE.
One bottle makes thirty-five Delicious Drinks when prepared as per directions, and served with Ice Water or Ice Cold Carbonic Water.

PEACHES AND CREAM.

The Colors of These Dainties Reflected in the Faces of the Fair Dispensers.

The raising of funds for the Winter's campaign is the object of the peach festival which the W. C. T. U. women opened last night and will continue this afternoon and evening. Admission is free.

The affair is being held in the newly-finished store in the Babcock Building next to the corner occupied by Van Emburgh & Son. The Babcock Estate contributes the use of the place, which is admirably fitted for the purpose. Van Emburgh & Son won the gratitude of the women by loaning tables and draperies. Others who are helping in the same way are Seeley Edsall and Garret Q. Packer.

The store was brightly lighted last night with incandescent and piano lamps. The large front window was filled with foliage plants and flowers tastefully arranged on a large American flag. Flowers were all about the rooms with screens and curtains dividing up the different departments. The work of decorating gave evidence of the artist's handicraft of Mrs. William H. Griffin.

The committee chairman and general manager of the festival is Mrs. E. A. Parse. The cakes are handled by Mrs. J. W. Yates and Mrs. McNaughton. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins and Mrs. John H. French manage the ice-cream department together. Peaches are served under the care of Mrs. S. B. Joseph and Mrs. Winter. The waitresses are the Misses Cahoone, Miss Joseph, Miss Arnold, the Misses Anderson, Miss Dodge and Miss Schenck.

The Fate of a Fountain.

The public drinking fountain at Westfield, which was presented to the people of the town with appropriate ceremonies July 3, was nearly ruined yesterday. A man whose name is not known, driving a team to a heavy load of peaches, turned into Broad street at a pretty lively pace and drew his horses toward the fountain, evidently intending to give the animals a drink. He did not guide his team right, and the heavy wagon pole hit the upper part of the fountain like a battering ram, and the side was crushed in and the statue on the top was sent flying. The man backed his team away from the wreck he had caused, and, not stopping for his horses to drink, drove rapidly away. Dr. Cooper, by whose efforts the fountain was erected, learned of the damage that had been done and immediately started after the man, who had driven in the direction of Rahway.

Birthday Party for a Bright Little Man

A birthday party was given to Master Charles Debele, five-year-old son of Chas. Debele, at Pine Grove Farm, Evona. The collation was served on the lawn, which was handsomely decorated. Among those present were: Mrs. Kupp and daughter, Miss Carrie Debele, Miss Carrie Swope, Harry Price, William Sauer of Philadelphia, Misses Mamie and Florence Ohl, Howell Thatcher of Newark, Miss Eva Terrill of Rahway, Mr. and Mrs. Dertinger and family, William Debele and family, Miss Carrie Mehl and Miss Minnie Zeisz of Plainfield, and many others.

His Foot Taken Off.

The friends of Prof. Francis of the Westfield schools are surprised to learn through his application to the Board of Education for an extension of his vacation that he has lately undergone an operation and had his foot taken off. It is owing to the operation that the Professor asks for the extension. He had his foot and ankle injured several years ago in a railroad accident, and the joint did not set entirely well. Lately necrosis set in, which made it necessary to have the foot taken off.

Barber Shops to Close.

I. M. Morres, E. B. Maynard, C. S. Kasding, B. E. Johnson, Kenney & Fiering, P. J. Kreitling, David Miedounik, Theo. Kurtzhals, Brown & Hill, Charles Suhr, G. Kesselring, Fred G. Huf and G. Richter, boss barbers, have agreed to close their respective places of business Labor Day, Sept. 3, and keep them closed the entire day. The work of securing the signers was accomplished by energetic Mr. Morres.

Much for Little.

"It is much goods for little money", says Mr. White, the Front street merchant. His policy of selling goods on a close margin has been the means of increasing his August business 25 per cent. over August last year, and to judge from the prices that are named on articles that you want every day in the year the same low-price policy will rule throughout September.

Variety the Spice of Life.

After all, it is the variety of attractions that tells, and nowhere is the variety greater than at Asbury Park. The last excursion of the season to that delightful resort takes place next Monday, Labor Day, when the Odd Fellows give everyone an opportunity to enjoy a long day at the shore and to revel in the great field-day display. Better go along.

They Do.

"The night wind murmurs in the poplar tree,
The white moon sails in deeps of cloudless sky,"
And those who've headaches and do plainly see
That such do come from weakness of the eye,
Straightway to Colliers go and there do learn
How quick relief from suffering they may earn.

Keeping Out of Jail.

Four delinquent taxpayers have finally settled their difficulty with Collector V. W. Nash after having been threatened with imprisonment in Elizabeth. Some of the city's debtors came very near being taken down, but they managed to raise the money at the last moment.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else. It is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

PLAINFIELD'S MONTE SCOTT.

The Crescent Favorite Breaks Two World's Records on His Way to the District Championship—One of Them Was Barnett's Best.

Three world's records were the only remarkable features of the good roads tournament in Asbury Park yesterday, and the men who made them were Crescents. To be sure one record was broken again by the second man, but it remained high-water mark for a few minutes at any rate. Barnett broke the four mile competition, and Monte Scott followed with the four and five mile records of the same kind.

Barnett made his mark in the 5-mile open, Class B. He rode four miles of the race in 10:10, beating the previous record of C. T. Kinsley, 10:12 1-5, made in Chicago in July, 1893. In the bunch were Johnson, Titus, Callahan and Kennedy, who finished in the order named, Barnett having fallen back after leading at the fourth mile.

The Irvington-Milburn man left the track a record holder. He had scarcely finished dressing before Monte Scott in competition had taken 18 2-5 seconds from Barnett's four-mile time and then gone on and made a five-mile record of 12:11. Monte did the four miles in 9:51 3-5. The best previous five-mile time was that of B. B. Bird, 12:15, established in Denver Aug. 17.

Monte gained his glory in the five-mile championship race for riders of the metropolitan district, which includes those living within 50 miles of New York. The starters were F. E. Doup, G. B. Cobb, Jr., W. L. Darmer, F. Shafto, W. H. Blake and W. C. Boome. Monte was in for quick work and all the riders tired before half the race was run except Scott, Doup and Cobb. They finished in that order, Doup being but a length behind. But Monte had cut his pace and everybody realized his greatness.

TENNIS TALK.

The club championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club, which occurs on Labor Day, will be well worth witnessing. In addition to the attraction of the tournament, the women of the club will serve tea on the lawn from 4 to 6. Play commences in the morning at 9:30.

Thomas Smith of Westervelt avenue and Albert P. Simmonds of Watchung avenue will enter the Labor Day tournament of the Dunellen Tennis Club.

Henry and Dean Rider will go to Philadelphia to play in a tennis tournament Labor Day.

OBITUARY.

George W. Runk.

The death of George W. Runk occurred in Oneonta Tuesday in his 79th year, after an illness of about four weeks. Mr. Bunk moved away from Plainfield last April to live with his son, who has an excellent position in Oneonta.

Mr. Runk was well known in this vicinity, having lived here 17 years. During seven years of that time he conducted a prosperous coal business.

One son, Charles, survives him. The interment was made in the Bound Brook Cemetery yesterday.

Death of an Indefatigable Engineer.

Captain G. P. Armstrong of Hotel Albion has received news of the death of his wife's brother-in-law, Charles Liddell, of whom a leading English paper says:

In Charles Liddell, who has just died at the age of eighty-one, the engineering profession has lost one of its ablest members. Mr. Liddell was the son of Rev. H. G. Liddell, rector of Ensington, Durham, and a brother of the great Greek scholar, who was till lately the Dean of Christ Church. Early in life Mr. Liddell became a pupil of George Stephenson. Under him he was employed in the construction of the Birmingham and Derby Railway, the Grand Junction and the line from Rugby to London. In conjunction with Robert Stevenson he assisted at the making of the Leicester and Swannington, the Syston and Peterborough, and other lines. Together with L. Gordon, who was then his partner, he was engineer-in-chief of the Newport and Abergavenny, and more than a dozen other railways. He assisted in the same capacity in the construction of the Danube and Black Sea Railway in the Dobrudja—now part of Roumania—and the making of the Novara and Lake Orta Railway in Italy. He was an enthusiast in his profession and spared neither time nor energy in perfecting his works. His latest works have been the prolongation of the Metropolitan Railway to Aylesbury, and the Manchester, Sheffield, Lincolnshire Railway to Nottingham. This latter has been open but a few weeks. As a partner in the firm of R. S. Newall & Co., Mr. Liddell at one time took an active part in the laying of telegraph cables. He it was, the Daily News recalls, that, during the war in the Crimea, laid the cable between Varna and Balaclava, and thus enabled a considerate minister by an early message to exhort the commanders of the forces acting against Sebastopol to "take care of Dowb".

An Attack Anticipated.

The coachman employed by Eugene A. Gross at his residence 722 West Seventh street, became very abusive yesterday and threatened violence.

In consequence he was discharged. To prevent any further trouble or disturbance a policeman is on duty at the house today, guarding the property.

Work Begins Monday.

A meeting of the borough street committee with Street Commissioner Stout, was held last night. The macadamizing of Duer street between Emily street and Linden avenue, was ordered to be commenced next Monday morning.

The Fall Trade.

U. B. Crane, hatter, says that Fall trade in derby hats is better than last year this time, and he believes the reason is because his stock is the largest he has ever had and the prices way below last season.

WORK OF THE UNION.

County Convention to Be Held in Plainfield Sept. 18.

September will be a month of activity for the members of the W. C. T. U. The Fall begins with the peach festival now being held and during the season much will be done in lines not yet decided upon.

The annual meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 10. Important matters in regard to the work will then be considered and settled. The Union County convention will be held in this city Tuesday, Sept. 18. The Union is fortunate in having secured the loan of the new Seventh Day Baptist Church for the sessions, which will last all day. The visitors will be entertained in the parlors and rooms attached.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen and New Market.

A. W. Beekman is the guest of George Richardson.

Mrs. John Tingley is confined to her home by illness.

Albert C. Carman moved into the Ryder property yesterday.

Mrs. Rogers is being entertained by Mrs. I. D. Titsworth.

Gilbert Apgar of Plainfield has returned from a visit with Dunellen friends.

Miss Ella Bellis of Elizabeth was entertained yesterday by friends in Dunellen.

Rev. Augustus Todd will preach in the M. E. Church tomorrow, morning and evening.

Most of the stores will be closed all day Monday, and many people are planning to go to Boynton Beach.

Miss Lena Beavers returned to her home in New York today after a pleasant visit with her cousin, Mrs. Winfield Hetfield.

Mr. Clawson and family returned to their New York home yesterday after spending the Summer at New Market Heights.

Wesley Blaine, a farmer who resides near the Greenbrook tanks, reports the production of 89½ bushels of rye on four acres of his farm.

A meeting of the Law and Order League will be held tomorrow evening in the Presbyterian Church. Several excellent speakers are promised.

The special school election will be held next Tuesday afternoon in the New Market public school. The hours for voting for or against the $1,300 asked for by the commissioners will be 3 to 8.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

"Doctor" Charles Layton is again suffering from rheumatism.

Mr. Burt and family of Brooklyn are spending two weeks at the Bosinger House.

In the posted list of township dogs Douglass Darby ranks first with a score of nine.

Mrs. Thomas Paff, Jr., has returned from a week in Atlantic City and Washington.

School starts again Monday, September 10, with Principal Cull of New York State in charge

Horace Hand is enjoying a few days of vacation from his duties in a New York broker's office.

Henry DeMott has made no change in time or vehicles, since buying the Plainfield stage line from Jacob Kilner.

Ex-Principal L. A. Goodenough paid a short visit the first of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Nicholl.

The Fanwood Township Committee will meet next Tuesday evening to receive bills for damages done by dogs.

Mrs. William E. Collins and her daughter are expected home Monday from a stay of two weeks in Ocean Grove.

A gang of Italians has taken possession of the old Flynn homestead on East Front street. The house is rapidly going to ruin.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Parke is widening the piazza on his residence on Park avenue, opposite the Baptist Church. John Bornman is the carpenter.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church will meet with the Young People's Christian Association of the Baptist Church tomorrow evening.

Young George Randolph is out of danger now, having almost recovered under the care of Dr. F. W. Westcott from the effects of his fall from the Fanwood stage.

Sixteen prospective Sons of Temperance will meet Wednesday evening to elect officers and apply for a charter. The name of the division has not yet been settled upon.

The Misses Hayes are engaged in moving from Mrs. West's cottage to their new house on Park avenue, Fanwood, which has just been completed by John Bornman.

The first meeting of the Choral Union will be held next Monday evening in the Baptist Church. A committee will be appointed to select a leader. About 70 names are on the list and ten more will probably join at the last moment.

Mrs. Hoffman is making many improvements about her already handsome residence-property on Terrell road. Among the most noticeable from the road will be the large fountain in the centre of the lawn in front, which Carney Brothers are putting in.

Benjamin Tuzo, having finished improving his tenant house on the Terrell road, is now turning his attention to his dwelling opposite. He is having another story added to the piazza and repairs made about the barns. Pearson & Gale are doing the job.

Residents of the Plains and Fanwood are beginning to comply with the township committee's ordinance on tree-trimming. There are still some who neglect the matter and who will allow the 15 days to elapse and have the work done by the authorities.

Westfield's nine will not come to the Plains Monday morning, having arranged a game elsewhere. Instead the Scotch Plains players will meet here the Lenox Athletic Association of Brooklyn, the club that was defeated 10 to 1 last Saturday. The Brooklynites come on the condition that George Johnson is kept out of the box. Edward L. Hand will probably pitch. Johnson will play as usual Monday afternoon against the Rahway team. He helps defeat the St. Pauls of Brooklyn this afternoon.

Composed By An Ex-Plainfielder.

C. Firman Smith, formerly organist of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, has forwarded to friends here a patriotic song with chorus, entitled "Our Country". It displays great merit. The words and music are both original, and are a credit to the composer.

Mr. Smith is the organist in one of the first churches of Newark, and is a teacher of marked ability. His many friends in Plainfield will be pleased to learn of his success as a composer.

—If you never have been, spend 50 cents and go to Boynton Beach Labor Day.

A DELIGHTFUL TRIP

Mid-September Excursion up the Hudson via Pennsylvania Railroad and Steamer "Sirius".

No other eastern river holds the historic association of the palisaded Hudson. From the busy mart of the metropolis to the quiet waters washing the Newburgh shore a constant panorama is unrolled, where almost every rock has its story. One grand advantage of making this tour is in having a tourist agent to indicate and describe the various historic points, and this will be done on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Mid-September Excursion September 13, tickets for which will be sold from the following points at rates quoted below:

Plainsboro	$1.75
Princeton Junction	1.90
Princeton	2.00
Monmouth Junction	1.50
Deans	1.40
New Brunswick	1.00
Stelton	1.00
Metuchen	1.00
Menlo Park	.90
Iselin	.90
Woodbridge	1.00
Perth Amboy	1.00
Rahway	.80
Linden	.80
Elizabeth	.75
Waverly	.65
Newark (Market Street)	.50
Harrison	.50
Marion	.50
Jersey City	.50

Children between the ages of five and twelve years, half rate.

Tickets will be good going on regular trains connecting with the "Sirius" leaving Jersey City at 9:30 a. m. and returning after the arrival in the evening at the dock.

Vacation Nearly Ended.

Preparations are already under way in the High School for the opening of the session, Tuesday, Sept. 4. Stationary washstands have been placed in the first and second floor halls, and a new cabinet for chemicals is now located in the science room. For the last week a corps of workers has been unpacking and arranging the new school books.

Ready for the Work.

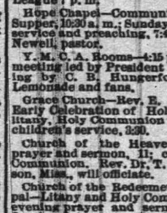
The committee having in charge the peach, ice-cream and melon festival to be given Thursday, Sept. 13, by the Women's Relief Corps, met at the home of Miss Mary Graves, Liberty street, last evening. The plans for the affair assumed a more definite shape.

TERRIBLE WEIGHT.

THAT BEARING DOWN FEELING.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

The recovery of Lucretia Osborne Putnam of Forristdale, Mass., was really wonderful. She had been sick for years.



She was utterly prostrated, and seemed beyond a hope of cure.

Her spine, heart, liver, and brain were all seriously affected.

The weight of her body upon her feet would cause dizziness, faintness, and terrible pains in her back, and it was sometimes several hours before she could dress.

This woman's trouble was in her womb, effecting her whole constitution.

She was crushed with that indescribable feeling of bearing down, and suffered agonies that would appal a man.

She found new life in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She says: "I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick so long I thought I never could get well.

"The suffocating, gasping attacks and awful bearing down feeling left me, my appetite returned, and my friends wondered at my improved looks. I believe Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure for the misery of our sex."

For Factories and Homes.

Grand opportunities exist in West Virginia, Maryland and the famous Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, a section possessing all the requisites for health, comfort and prosperity.

No region in the United States is attracting greater attention; people from the North and West are looking that way with a view of locating. Improved farm lands are to be obtained at from $8 per acre and upwards, unimproved timber lands at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Rich mineral lands are cheap; excellent water powers, manufacturing sites, business locations, etc., are numerous. The people are hospitable and extend a warm welcome to newcomers. The climate is unequalled, no severe storms or cyclones, no contagious diseases.

IT WAS VIGILANT'S RACE.

Unfair Conduct of the Royal Dart Club Sailing Committee.

Dartmouth, Sept. 1.—After handsomely vanquishing the biggest of England's crack cutters, the Satanita, over half the course of the Royal Dart Yacht club, the Vigilant lost the prize through the decision of the regatta committee. It was certainly a race in the British acceptation of the term, as there is no time limit on yachting contests on this side of the ocean.

It was Vigilant's weather in the opinion of the English experts. There were throngs from all over England to see the Vigilant's first duel with Mr. Clarke's yacht.

It is surmised that the decision of the committee to call the race off was somewhat influenced by the fact that the Satanita had no chance to win. In regard to the conflict of 40-raters the committee had a different opinion. It decided that the 40-rater that was ahead at the end of the first round should be declared the winner.

The Royal Dart club has the reputation of being the most unfair yachting organization in England. The decision of their committee caused the Times' and Field's representatives here to indulge in very unfavorable comment in regard to Dart club methods.

THE JOB TOO DIFFICULT.

Civil Service Investigation at Lancaster Postoffice Abandoned.

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 1.—First Assistant Postmaster General Jones and Civil Service Commissioner Roosevelt, who have been investigating the alleged violations of the civil service law at the Lancaster postoffice, ended their inquiry last evening. They found a great conflict of testimony which they were unable to reconcile and they therefore reached the conclusion to accept the situation in the office as it is at present, withdrawing all charges and taking a new start. No employes in the future will be distributed on account of their political affiliations and the postal and civil service laws will be strictly enforced.

Mrs. Schubert's Flight.

New York, Sept. 1.—Superintendent Byrnes investigated the circumstances attending the flight of Mrs. Katie Schubert, who was the principle witness in the police trials and who sailed in the Normannia for Europe. The superintendent said he ascertained that she and her husband bought tickets under their right names, Max Adler and Katie Adler. The tickets were purchased at the main office of the steamship line in this city. It was also learned that they bought tickets four days ago and returned them within one hour after they were issued. Less than two hours before the steamer sailed the tickets were purchased again. Mr. Byrnes ascertained the numers of the tickets and the state rooms which the couple occupied. Regarding their flight the superintendent had nothing to say.

An American Eucharistic Congress.

Depere, Wis., Sept. 1.—A petition has been circulated by the members of the Archcion Fraternity of St. Joseph from Northern America, established in this city, requesting Cardinal Gibbons to convoke an American eucharistic congress, similar to the one held in Jerusalem last year. The initiative for the project was taken by the Rev. J. P. Durin, director of the Archcion Fraternity. The petition is signed by 80,000 Catholics and was presented to Cardinal Gibbons on the 29th inst. Cardinal Gibbons promised to support the movement with all his efforts. The matter will be laid before the archbishops at their meeting in October next.

DON'T LET BABY CRY.

The Fretful, Piteous Cry Shows Something Wrong With Food—Babies Relish Lactated Food—They Grow Fat on It.

If baby kept a diary it would be full of nothing but eating, sleeping and growing. These three things make up baby's existence.

Plenty of rich, nourishing food, taken with a relish, brings sound sleep; and babies grow most rapidly during sleep.

When a child cries piteously, as if some terrible pain were convulsing his whole tender little form; when the mother fails to soothe it either by lullaby or plaything, when perfectly distracted she runs to the doctor she is generally astonished by the simple statement which the doctor makes to her, that the sole cause of this either in the bad food the baby had received or in the want of nourishment, which is rapidly impairing his constitution.

Then she feeds the infant with the good lactated food, and her fears disappear in the happy smiles of the baby.

Thousands of mothers know by experience that lactated food surely prevents cholera infantum and other summer disorders of a like character, and in hundreds of cases it has cured the severest attacks of these diseases. It is not safe to be without lactated food in the house.

Babies that are not gaining in weight, as their mothers wish, and who show too little animation and interest in things about them soon gain a liveliness and zest for living when fed with this splendid nutriment. They gradually cry less and less; their sleep becomes sound by night, and by day they are bright and noisy and happy.

Such is the great difference between babies that are nourished by lactated food and those that are poorly, because improperly, fed.

There is no parent in the land but can read the following letter with profit. It is from L. D. Yager, a well-known lawyer in Alton, Ill., and tells how his brother's child became the stout, sturdy youngster whose portrait is shown above. He says:

"My baby nephew, Henry Hewitt Yager was born Jan. 17, 1892. Of that event he might quote Richard III by saying, 'Sent before my time into this breathing world, scarce half made up.' At birth he weighed three pounds and there were few who thought he could live. The mother was unable to nurse him and this made the case all the more complicated. Sterilized milk was used, likewise goat's milk, and three or four kinds of baby food, but all to no advantage.

"In July it seemed a hopeless case, but luckily on the thirteenth of that month a package of lactated food was procured which acted like a charm and he picked up right away. Before using the food the skin was wrinkled in his hands and he was a frail, sickly little body. The picture I send you was taken in October, 1892, when the baby was about 8½ months old. He had used lactated food for something like 10 weeks, and there is no need to comment on his condition. The picture will show for itself. He still uses the food, and there is one thing certain—lactated food saved his life."

Will of the Late James Booth.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 1.—The will of the late James Booth, a millionaire silk manufacturer, has been admitted to probate. After disposing of his estate and interest in the silk firm of Hamil & Booth among his relatives and friends, he bequeaths $5,000 to the Paterson General hospital; $5,000 to the Paterson Orphan asylum; $5,000 to the Old Ladies' home, and $1,000 to St. Joseph's hospital. One-ninth of the estate of Mr. Booth's second wife, which amounts to about $60,000, is to be divided equally among the same institutions. Adam Morrison, an old family coachman, gets $1,000.

Gen. Banks Dying.

Boston, Sept. 1.—Gen. N. B. Banks is dying at his home in Waltham. The brain trouble which has caused him two years' suffering seems destined to result in his death within a very short time, in fact, it is expected that he will not live through the day. Dr. E. R. Cutler is in constant attendance and will not leave him until the end comes, or, as is hardly probable, he shows signs of improvement. Mrs. Banks and Miss Maud Banks are with him and his son, Joseph Banks, of New York, has been telegraphed.

Lucky Youths.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 1.—The examination of the September candidates who reported for admission to the military academy, which began Wednesday, has been completed. The following passed successfully: Herbert Edmund Bradley, of Minnesota; Harold Hammond, of Illinois; Aurelius A. Lyon, of Louisiana; Victor Michael Selter, of Illinois, and Clinton Wilborn, of Mississippi.

Willing to Reduce the Amount.

London, Sept. 1.—Paddy Slavin, who has challenged Corbett and Jackson, or the winner of the fight between them, to meet him for £3,000 a side and a purse, says now that if £3,000 seem too much, he is willing to reduce the amount to £2,000 in order to facilitate arrangements for a fight.

Nomination After Many Ballots.

Milford, Pa., Sept. 1.—After three days balloting the Eighth Congressional Democratic convention nominated Joseph J. Hart, of Pike county, by acclamation. Mr. Hart's principal opponent for the nomination was Howard Mutchler, the present representative from the district.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

THE TIMID HEART.

Lizzie Goldstraw's brother looked up into her face, her pitiful young brother, swinging on crutches.

"This time a year gone," he was saying in thin, broken tones. "I min' I could walk straight-like, wi' jes a leetle heft to one side. Them days I min' I didn't need no Tom an' Ned, w'ats my two wooden brothers, noways. Do ye min', Lizzie?"

"I min' it well, Jamie. I min' I war thet glad the day you furst made out to try. I 'low I cried fit to break my heart. Manny's the time I cried like, bein' ez I war sorrerful; but thet time I war thet proud an' glad. It war a mighty diff'rent kin' o' cry, 'pears like," said Lizzie Goldstraw.

"But, these days," the strained, harsh tones persisted, "seems like ol' Tom an' Ned ain't never goin' to le' me no more; but I says to myse'f a while gone, Lizzie, they're good brothers, Tom an' Ned, they air; they helps a little lad along over the fine kentry. W'y ef they war took away, I'd hev to set in the kitchen all the days long wi' Aunt Sar' Ann! Thar wouldn't be no more green grass to play I war a-runnin' over, an' no more long road a-stretching a long ways fur me to walk up an' no more comin' to this pooty green place an' seein' of the water a-jumpin' over the stones; Lizzie, ain't it better to go hippety-hop, hippety-hop, up the road an' down the road, thin not to go noways at all, but jes be a-settin' in the kitchen wi' Aunt Sar' Ann—"

"Hist, Jamie lad, the sister said, as they turned and left the little hollow among the rocks, where the baby cataract slipped and stumbled from bowlder to bowlder. "Be not too free with your talkin', Jamie, lad, an' see you make out to try an' keep in min' thet Aunt Sar' Ann ever boils your good porridge an' knits your warm socks, faithful and willin'."

"But she don't love me like you do, Lizzie; she says she 'ain't got no call fur to love me; she says I 'min's her of her Johnny, wat war drownded at the sea, but he were a streppin' lad, she says, an' couldn't be spared neither; an' she looks at me, Lizzie, an' she 'lows I ain't—ye know she do, Lizzie—thet I ain't no use to nobody—"

A little sob reach Lizzie's heart just here, touched it, and left a wound.

"Don't ye go fur to cry, don't ye now," said Jamie, sorrowfully. "I reckon I'd lay down on them rocks an' never git up no more, ef ye weren't now'er's round—I reckon I would, Lizzie."

"It was like a dream to Lizzie to remember Ben Larcom's words: "I love you, my girl, an' I will take my bonny moun't'in bird home to the city weth me; an' be glad an' proud ez them green hills air to-day holdin' ye."

He had met Lizzie Goldstraw about the roads, amid the tangled fields, at the door of the small chapel surmounted by a cross at the foot of one of the near hills. He fell in love with the beautiful shy creature, in her limp pink calico gown and brown cotton handkerchief, and vowed not to return without her.

Jamie saw, and understood. He had come to love Ben Larcom. He formed the third in the walks up the road and through the sparse woods always. Ben was kind to him, lifting him in his strong arms over the rough places, telling him wonderful tales of the great cities, of the rushing tide of humanity upon the city streets that never stops; of the never ceasing noise and tumult.

Lizzie and Jamie went up the road a bit one evening when the time really appointed at last was very near. Ben Larcom came smiling to meet them, with a hearty welcoming speech.

"An' how goes the finery, eh, my girl?" he asked as they stood in the rich eventide, all three together.

Lizzie hung her head a little. "E'ena'-most done, I'm thinkin'. 'Pears like even Jamie's most ready, too."

"W'y, w'er's Jamie goin', I'd like to be hearin'," said Ben, scarce thinking of the matter, his eyes on Lizzie's face, touched with the sun.

"W'ere but with us?" she asked, and she smiled up at him. How she had warmed and grown.

"W'y, lass, Jamie's not goin' weth us; w'y, this yer's the best place fur Jamie, right yer weth Aunt Sar' Ann—"

There came a trembling fright over her as she listened; into her eyes the alert look of a hunted creature, poised quivering for flight.

"Go wi' him, Lizzie," came in queer, strained tones from Jamie. "I kin shuffle along—" His voice broke here, and his chin quivered and dropped upon his breast, but upward the child-eyes lifted, brave and bright.

"W'y, Jamie'll git along fust-rate, that he will," said Ben. "He'd never git used to no city doin's noways; he ain't half chipper 'nough fur the city, not Jamie—"

"No, Lizzie, ye see I ain't fit," the trembling lips of Jamie essayed.

"My cough's some better; ye 'lowed it yerse'f, Lizzie; but now w'il it ull be lonesome like of nights, w'en I hev my spells, Lizzie, not to see ye annow'eres round—" He limped nearer to her, and taking both crutches in his left hand, clung to her arm with his right.

"I hev no thought of goin' Jamie," she said.

"Sho, Lizzie!" the man cried, his temper ruffled a bit, "w'at's all this yer about, annyway? 'Pears like my girl ain't glad to see me at all. Look up, Lizzie—look at me—"

Obediently she looked into his face, then turned, and gently helping Jamie, started down the road.

"He kin go 'long too, leastways fur a bit," Ben called to to her. "I didn't know ez yer heart was sot upon it; he kin go 'long ez well ez not—"

He did not hear the low plained murmur of Lizzie to the coming night as the two went down the road: "Jamie an' me 'll heve no call to be leavin', 'pears like. There'll be no marryin' fur us, I'm thinkin'."

He would let her go to-night, as she seemed so bent upon it. "Things will straighten out right an' pluzand to-morrer," he said to himself.

But may one ever find again one's lost illusions; reweave the fairy fabric of a vision dissipated; pick up a timid trembling love which has been once struck down with such a blow as this? Not Lizzie Goldstraw, whose only refuge seemed the little farmhouse ahead, set softly in its nest of fine night gloom, its sloping roof and chimney pots alone outlined against the latest sombre red of the sky.

Moral Suasion.

Old Gentleman—Do you mean to say that your teachers never thrash you?

Little Boy—Never. We have moral suasion at our school.

What's that?

Oh, we get kept in, and stood up in corners, and locked out and locked in, and made to write one word a thousand times, and scowled at, and jawed at, and—that's all.

NATURE'S LESSON.

How like a prodigal doth Nature seem,
Where thou, for all thy gold, so common art!
Thou teachest me to deem
More sacredly of every human heart,
Since each reflects in joy its scanty gleam
Of Heaven, and could some wondrous secret show.
Did we but pay the love we owe,
And with a child's undoubting wisdom look
On all these living pages of God's Book.

WHAT A DECEIVER.

Scene—Mrs. Bertram's boudoir.

Mrs. Bertram. Enter Miss Ayton.

Mrs. Bertram—Good morning, dear.

Miss Ayton—(kissing her)—I am so glad you are alone; I want you to advise me. I am in a terrible fix.

Mrs. Bertram (cheerfully)—Yes, dear; what is it?

Miss Ayton—I——

Mrs. Bertram—Come, Ethel, out with it; it can't be very dreadful.

Miss Ayton—Captain D'Arcy—(pauses).

Mrs. Bertram—Proposed to you last night. I saw him——

Miss Ayton (blushing furiously)—Oh; how could you? How horrid of you!

Mrs. Bertram (unabashed)—Leading you toward the conservatory with a sort of death or glory on his face.

Miss Ayton (relieved)—Oh, was that all?

Mrs. Bertram—I don't know; was it?

Miss Ayton—He did propose.

Mrs. Bertram—Well, there is nothing very terrible in that. He is quite eligible; your father won't object; in fact, I congratulate——

Miss Ayton—Don't, it isn't that!

Mrs. Bertram—Oh, then, I know; you said "No," and now you want to say "Yes."

Miss Ayton—That would be quite easy; it is much worse than that.

Mrs. Bertram—Then what on earth is it?

Miss Ayton—Mr. Monteagle—(pauses).

Mrs. Bertram—Took you down to supper; well?

Miss Ayton—He proposed, too.

Mrs. Bertram—They both proposed, and you accepted the wrong one?

Miss Ayton—No! I accepted them both; at least, I didn't say "No" to either of them.

Mrs. Bertram—Then you must say "No" to one or both of them now; it is very simple.

Miss Ayton—It isn't at all simple; it is very difficult.

Mrs. Bertram—Very difficult. What is difficult?

Miss Ayton—To refuse one of them.

Mrs. Bertram—Goodness gracious, dear! You can't marry both.

Miss Ayton—Of course not. I don't want to.

Mrs. Bertram—Then the question is, which?

Miss Ayton—Yes.

Mrs. Bertram—You are quite sure you don't like one of them better than the other.

Miss Ayton—I don't know. That is where the trouble is.

Mrs. Bertram—I am afraid I can't help you much, for to me they seem very much alike.

Miss Ayton—Oh, how can you say so! They are quite, quite different.

Mrs. Bertram—Ah, yes, I forgot; one parts his hair in the middle and the other doesn't.

Miss Ayton—I do wish you wouldn't go on like that; it's very unkind when I want you to help me. If you knew them as well as I do you would see at once that no two men ever were more unlike. They are of quite distinct types.

Mrs. Bertram—Well, that ought to simplify matters considerably. Surely you know which type you prefer.

Miss Ayton—Yes, yes, I do—in the abstract, of course—(pause). But somehow, in a husband, there are so many other things to consider. I want to take a practical view of the matter. Do help me!

Mrs. Bertram—Well, dear, by all means let us be practical. Let me see; Mr. Monteagle must have quite £1,000 a year, and expectations; while Captain D'Arcy can only have four or five hundred besides his pay, till his—

Miss Ayton—Don't be so horrid. As if that mattered. What I want to know is, which of their temperaments is best suited to mine? Now, Captain D'Arcy is very devoted to me, and all that, and I rather like him, but I am not sure that he is quite serious enough about things in general. He strikes me as being a little too easy going; he never seems in earnest about anything.

Mrs. Bertram—Yet he looked very much in earnest last night.

Miss Ayton—Mr. Monteagle has more depth of character, I think. And he has such high idals about women—life and, ah—things (vaguely).

Mrs. Bertram—Yes. Then accept him by all means.

Miss Ayton—Oh, but I'm not sure that he isn't too serious. Besides, I'm afraid he is rather a Radical in some ways, and you know we have always been so Conservative.

Mrs. Bertram—If you are going to take politics into consideration, I should advise you to marry Captain D'Arcy. I should think that he would adopt your views, whatever they are.

Miss Ayton—But I like a man to have some opinion of his own.

Mrs. Bertram (yawning)—Then, as I said before, marry Mr. Monteagle.

Miss Ayton (after a pause)—I really can't make up my mind. I wish you would advise me.

Mrs. Bertram—But, Ethel, if you don't like my suggestions, what can I do?

Miss Ayton—I don't know, but you must help me; I insist.

Mrs. Bertram—If you are really as absolutely indifferent as you say, I think you had better toss up; heads Captain D'Arcy, tails Mr. Monteagle.

Miss Ayton—Oh, no, that would be wrong, it would be gambling.

Mrs. Bertram—Not a bit, my dear; desperate difficulties require desperate remedies. But, as you object to tossing, let us raffle them.

Miss Ayton (after a pause)—Very well, I'll write the names and you shall draw.

(Miss Ayton writes on two slips of paper and Mrs. Bertram draws one of them.)

Mrs. Bertram—Captain D'Arcy. I congratulate him.

Miss Ayton—Captain D'Arcy, very well. Thank you so much, dear. I don't know what I should have done without you. Good-by, dear. (Miss Ayton drops the other slip into the waste paper basket and goes out.)

Mrs. Bertram (to herself)—I hope they will be happy. It seems rather a risk, but what could I do? I wonder if she really didn't care which? I almost wish it had been the other one. (Reflectively picks the other slip out of the basket and reads it.) Captain D'Arcy! Both Captain D'Arcy! Minx!—N.Y. Advertiser.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

SUGGESTIONS THAT ARE ALWAYS PLEASING AND UP TO DATE

Fashions for the Promenade and the Carriage Also. New Ideas in Jackets. Small Turbans Are Much Worn. Costumes for Girls for Summer Outings.

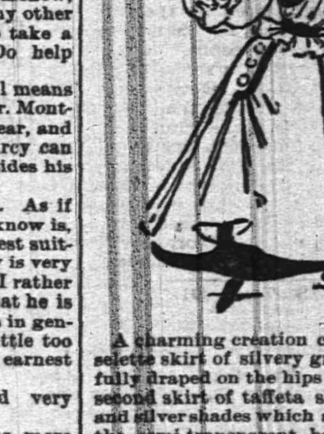
The belief in caprice as a distinctly feminine characteristic originated at the beginning of the world and has been perpetuated with the utmost care entirely on account of its undoubted usefulness as a convenient masculine jest or reproach, as the case may be. Any woman can tell you that.

The colorings this year are so dainty and light that the women on the promenade and in their carriages look like delicate blossoms. Yellow is predominant, and has as many shades and names as one has wishes. Among the prettiest shades are butterfly yellow, primrose, periwinkle and amber. The softest shades in the last are dotted and striped with white. White is worn on all occasions, at church, at home, and on the most festive functions. Black and white, too, holds as firm a place as last summer in people's fancy, and the combinations are so artistic and have such an air of refinement that both old and young can wear them. Checks are, by the way, the very latest chic material. The familiar old variety, known as shepherd's plaid, is particularly fashionable, and very stylish dresses are made of it.

Small turbans are much worn. Some of them are so small as to be scarcely more than a crown and are most convenient for boating and bowling. The trimming is a soft roll around the crown, with high loops and wings on the left side. In fact, round hats are worn almost altogether this summer, except to church, for young matrons and elderly ladies.

Belts made of elastic ribbon, and thickly sewn with beads or spangles, are worn with muslin gowns, for they fit themselves to the figure, and do away with the wrinkled look a belt so soon gains when drawn closely about the waist.

Sleeves are larger and droop more than formerly, making one groan at the extra amount of material they necessitate. It takes three widths of silk for one sleeve. Sleeves reaching to the elbow are the thing for dress, and of course the long suede glove to the elbow finishes the toilet.



A charming creation consists of a corselette skirt of silvery gray barege gracefully draped on the hips and made over a second skirt of taffeta shot in buttercup and silver shades which shimmer through the semi-transparent barege. A blouse bodice of the taffeta has a slashed turned-down collar. The full sleeves are plaited into bands richly embroidered with steel beads. The same trimming is carried up the sides of the sleeves. A separate shoulder cape of barege in three graduated leaves arranged in festoon plaits to the shoulder and is edged with fine cache point. The fine embroidery used for the sleeves is also placed around the shoulder cape.

A very chic yet dainty blouse is fashioned of white silk and crepe. The close-fitting white silk bodice has fine graduated lines of pearl passementerie running up and down. The crepe is arranged so as to form a square yoke and is carried back to the hips and falls in loops and ends below the waist.

A very smart blouse is made with a Spanish bodice of black satin, with sleeves of striped black, gray, and white surah, embroidered with blue flowers. The accordion-plaited collarette and chemisette are of white tulle, finished with a very original cravat of pale-blue satin, caught with a black ring. A white tulle hat and black gloves are worn. A little Figaro jacket is made of either white wool or heavy white silk, embroidered with gold. —New York Sun.

FOILED AGAIN.

Praise For the Pies Like His Mother's, Failed to Draw.

The voluntary exile from honest toil had been busy in his mind for several hours concocting a new scheme by which he might secure a meal without subjecting his person to the risk of dogs or other dangerous weapons, and when he had what he thought was just the thing, he sallied forth. At the first kitchen door he banged up against he was met by the mistress of the mansion.

"Excuse me, lady," he said courteously, "but I see you do not recognize me."

"No," was the surprised reply, "why should I?"

"Because, lady, I was here two weeks ago, and at that time you gave me a piece of pie that reminded me of the pie that my mother used to make," and here he drew his hand across his eyes pathetically.

"Indeed?" she said, in some doubt.

"Yes, lady, and though since that time I have been working for enough to maintain me comfortably and leave me a small balance, the memory of that pie has been so strong that I could not resist the temptation to come again and get some more."

At this junction he almost sobbed.

"Well, replied the lady in a tone that chilled him, "that pie came from the bake shop just around the corner, and I have no doubt that if you will go around there the 'small balance' you spoke of will procure you enough to keep your memory green for a month."

The door closed abruptly in his face and the lady was shut off from his view.

"Foiled," he hissed between his set teeth, and he went back to his thought work gloomily.—Detroit Free Press.

RUSSELL SAGE INDIGNANT.

He Denies Two Stories Impugning His Generosity.

Two recent stories reflecting upon his generosity have, the Sun says, aroused the indignation of Russell Sage the multi-millionaire. One of these stories was that his Long Island neighbors were raising a subscription to cut his unkempt lawn, and the other that he had tried to beat down a clothier on a twelve-dollar ready-made suit. This is what the Sun says:

Russell Sage read the other day in a newspaper that the front yard of his country place at Cedarhurst, Long Island, was sadly in need of mowing, and that the unkempt appearance of the lawn had become such an eyesore to his neighbors that a committee had been appointed to wait upon Mr. Sage and tell him that his lawn was a disgrace, and if he could not afford to have the grass cut a collection would be taken up to cover the expense. Mr. Sage is reported as having said to one of his neighbors that the lawn was his and that he was growing the grass for feed for his cattle.

"A lie, an infernal lie. The whole thing's a lie," exclaimed Mr. Sage, as he pounded the top of his desk with his cane. "If the lying nigger who said that came on my place I'd like to put him off on the toe of my boot. Why do they say those things about me? Why do they single me out? Tell me, why? Deny the whole thing for me.

"To begin with, I have no near neighbors, and besides my nearest neighbors are gentlemen. The nearest house to me is unfinished. No one lives in it. On the other side is my friend, Mr. Lawrence. In a large field he keeps a lot of fine cows. Perhaps the infernal liar means that those cows want the grass. The cows are my nearest neighbors. The ignorant person who said all this trash says I live at Lawrence. I don't. I live at Cedarhurst. My grass has been cut. My grass is always cut, and the man who says it is not tells a falsehood.

"Here, here, come back. I want to tell you something else. I was thinking a moment ago that the dealer in clothing hasn't sold two suits of clothes since he told that infernal lie about the suit he tried to sell me. You remember that? Well, please deny that also. I didn't want to buy a suit of clothes. I didn't need a suit. I only wanted a coat to wear in my office.

"Yes, yes, I went into the clothing shop. I said I wanted an office coat. The man said he didn't have many office coats, but he had some bargains in suits of clothes. I told him I did not want a suit, but an office coat. Then that fellow went and told everybody that I had tried to beat him down on a suit of clothes. He thought he would boom his business, but, I tell you, sir, he's ruined his business. He hasn't sold two suits of clothes since then. I don't understand why they tell such lies about me."

Prejudice and Bicycles.

There is nothing in nature, not even the ice of the arctic seas, so hard to overcome as that mysterious something in the human mind called prejudice. It has tripped up every inventor and discoverer who has ever lived and stands in the way of every one to-day. Most people are more afraid of it than they are of the wild beasts of the jungle. Prejudice now is exercised over the question of priests riding bicycles. In Germany so much excitement was made about it that an appeal was even made to Rome. The Pope in his reply, reminded the prejudiced people who appealed to him that it was a priest himself, who, in 1845, invented and rode on a bicycle. The Pope also said that Roman Catholic priests might ride bicycles in the services of the church, especially when called to the bedside of the sick or dying. This little trouble then is settled, but no one can tell what the next one may be that prejudice excites.

Red-Blossomed Sumac is Harmless.

Many people regard the "red-blossomed" sumac as poisonous to the touch. This is a mistake, as all sumacs having crimson plumes are perfectly harmless. The sumac family contains but six members, and only two are harmful. These constitute a subtribe by themselves and are commonly known as poison ivy and poison dogwood.

WATER GAP HOUSE,
DELAWARE WATER GAP, PA.
The location of this house, on a spur of the Kittatinny Mountain, is the Finest in the Whole Range
of the Blue Ridge. From its elevation are compassed views of great extent and beauty, embracing the gorge through which the river winds, the Upper Delaware Valley to the north, and Cherry Valley westward. From the Pioneer Walks, through hundreds of acres of forest, charming vistas are opened, affording frequent surprises for the alert pedestrian. The quiet and lake-like repose of the Delaware is very attractive to oarsmen and from the boat fine views of the great pass are obtained. NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N.J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

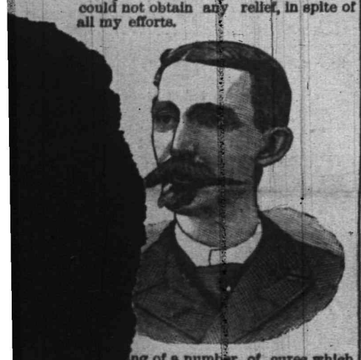
A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.



ing of a number of cures which ghthill effected in similar cases, I myself under his care, and I to say he effected a complete my case and gave me new life g so, for I am sure that I could ve endured my misery much . And it will be a matter of im- ce to those who are suffering this disease to learn the happy hat Dr. Lighthill effected my cure ut giving me pain or detaining me work.

W. E. DILTS.

Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

HUNDREDS ARE DEAD

Loss of Life by Forest Fires in the West Appalling.

First Reports Not Exaggerated—The Number of Victims Will Probably Exceed Four Hundred, and One Estimate Says That Between 800 and 1,500 Have Perished—Hinckley Wiped from the Face of the Earth—Two Hundred Dead There Alone—Several Michigan Towns in Danger—Reports from Rutledge Say Rain Is Falling and That the Worst Is Believed To Be Over—Fires in Western New York and Pennsylvania.

Minneapolis, Sept. 4.—At the present writing it is impossible to make any accurate estimate of the loss of life from the forest fires that have been raging in Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin for the past few days.

The latest news from Duluth, Minn., states that probably between 800 and 1,500 lives have been lost. This is probably exaggerated, as estimates carefully prepared from reports from the different villages destroyed indicate that the number will exceed 400, but may not reach 500. From the reports already received several towns have been wiped completely out of existence, and others known to be in danger have yet to be heard from.

In the town of Hinckley, Minn., it is known that at least 200 persons perished in the flames, and the list may be swelled a score larger.

It will be at least a week before the full and definite information of the damage and loss of life from the flames will be fully known.

The loss to property is something enormous, and it is impossible to make anything like a conservative estimate at the present time.

DESTRUCTION OF HINCKLEY.

Description of the Scenes by a Reporter on the Spot.

Hinckley, Minn., Sept. 4.—A United Press reporter boarded the first train out of Pine City for Hinckley after the great fire. It was a work train, but carried many members of the different committees appointed at Pine City. As the train neared Mission Creek the first evidences of the great fire became apparent. The whole country was singed. The telegraph wires were down and the scene was one of desolation. At Mission Creek a small shanty was the only house left standing. The depot buildings and the mill were a mass of smoking ruins. The train proceeded slowly three miles further to Hinckley. The round house and coal sheds of the Eastern Minnesota road only remained. West on this was a long line of smoking ruins of freight cars. At Hinckley the gaunt skeleton of the public shool alone remained standing in the center of the village itself. Alongside the railroad track were two score of boxes filled with the disfigured remains of victims of the fire.

"If you want to see a pitiful sight," a resident of the village said, "go out to the cemetery."

The reporter picked his way through the deserted avenues of the village encountering the charred remains of horses, cows, cats, chickens and dogs. He overtook Hans Paulson, an employe in the Brennan mill. "I am going out to the cemetery to see if I can find my wife and four children," he said. "I lost them all."

The rain was pouring down in sheets. At the cemetery, a mile and a half from town, a half dozen men were digging a trench. A heap of bodies lay on a knoll in the middle of the cemetery. There were ninety-six naked bodies, men, women and children, scorched, blackened, distorted, bowels and brains protruding, hands clutched in their final agonies, hair singed from heads. Old, young, middle-aged, male and female, all in a promiscuous heap.

In another corner of the cemetery were forty-five more bodies covered with quilts. All were interred late in the afternoon. Hans Paulson, the man who had accompanied the reporter, delved among the horrid pile of bodies, five feet high, and finally pulled out the remains of a little female child, only slight shreds of white clothing remaining on her body. He scanned the face, examined the clothing and then broke out in lamentations. He kept up the quest for the others in the driving storm, a silhouette of human agony outlined against the horizon.

Among the ruins of Hinckley a beautiful girl was making a vain search for her trunk. She was dressed in a light colored calico dress which some good Samaritan in Pine City had given her.

Her experience was a dramatic one. "My name is Mollie McNeill," she said, "and I lived with my mother and sister in Hinckley the past sixteen years. I noticed the fire coming at half past three Saturday afternoon and rushed out of the house and started up the railroad track; on both sides and in front of me was a wall of fire and smoke. How I ever got through I do not know for people were falling on every side of me. Twice my dress caught fire. A mile north of Hinckley I saw an engine. The engineer helped me on and a news agent carried me back to the baggage car. All the cars got on fire and I saw men crazy with fear jump right through the windows into the flames. The train backed up to Skunk creek where I remained in the swamp all night. I put my face in the mud to cool it and some one plastered mud all over my hair. Of course I thought my mother and sister were lost and you may imagine my joy when I found them safe and sound in Pine City."

The neighborhood is full of people who escaped looking for missing relatives or friends.

Reports continue to come in from the vicinity of Skunk creek of added discoveries of burned victims. Most of the homeless people of Skunk creek proper have been taken to Duluth. Fifty-eight dead were found lying in the streets and in the immediate vicinity of this village. The total in the vicinity will reach fully 400 dead when all the returns are in. Identification is an exceedingly difficult matter and most of the so-called identifications of a body are mere guesses.

BETWEEN 800 AND 1,500 DEAD.

Latest Estimates from Reports at Duluth—Heavy Rain Now Falling.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 4.—At 7:30 a. m. the relief train returned with about 250 refugees, who tramped across the country from Sandstone. At 10:30 a train consisting of three coaches, a baggage car and two box cars went out with a large amount of provisions for settlers in the vicinity of Rutledge. At 9:30 the cheering news came from Rutledge, which is as far as the wire works, that rain was falling. All the stations between here and Rutledge report fires dying out and that no further trouble need be feared, provided a strong wind does not spring up. Only one life was lost at Baronette on Saturday, but nothing was left of the town. Some of the people were taken to Cumberland, some to Spooner. Two hundred and sixty people in Shell Lake are homeless, and the dwellings burned number 52. It is estimated that 700 people of Baronette are homeless. On the line between Spooner and Bayfield the Omaha road suffered most severely. Four or five bridges were burned and all wires are down. There is no chance of sending any trains over it for several days. People at Grand Rapids, on the Mississippi end of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, were ready to move out last night, but the fires were checked. During the night there was a bad fire at Comstock, a small settlement 20 miles south of Spooner.

At a late hour it was estimated that between 800 and 1,500 people had been burned to death or suffocated and the wide discrepancy in these figures is but proof of the utter impossibility of getting reliable information.

MICHIGAN TOWNS THREATENED

The Gravity of the Situation from Forest Fires Hourly Increasing.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 4.—The gravity of the situation from the forest fires continues to increase every hour. The long-continued drouth displays no signs of abatement while every morass adjacent to the city is aglow with flame. A dense cloud of smoke envelopes the country for many miles obstructing business and offering constant menace to travel. Dust and ashes are falling in showers. The volunteer fire brigade is divided into convenient squads which are doing effective work. The district lying between the Bradford farm and the Dead river to the north is a vast underbrush and is now a lake of fire. The same is true of the course of the Caro river. Consternation prevails at the Salisbury location to the south. The force on special duty there is offering a stubborn resistance and may yet save part of the suburb from total destruction. Sagota and Floodwood on the Milwaukee & Northern are being hourly threatened, also Ewen and neighboring towns on the Duluth extension of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway.

Much credit is due to the railroad for its service to the suffering. Box cars are furnished and into them the household goods of the homeless are being taken. No one is yet reported missing from Ishpeming, but the rapid approach of the destructive element and the inflammable condition of vegetation covering the immediate surroundings together with a vitiated atmosphere and a temperature registering at blood heat causes the most profound solicitude.

FIRES IN NEW YORK STATE.

Unless Rain Falls Soon Damage in the Adirondacks Will Be Great.

Dolgeville, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The sun has not been seen here for nearly a week so dense is the smoke over head from forest fires, both north and south. There is so much smoke, however, that many people believe a large proportion of it comes from the great fires in the west. The United Press correspondent drove twenty miles north of here to investigate and found not less than a dozen fires burning in the woods. Most of them were north of the Canadian lakes in the neighborhood of Caroga, but they have not yet reached the valuable spruce timber tracts lying south of Caroga. The fires are being fought stubbornly by the farmers and it is believed their spread into the spruce belt can be prevented. Two fires are burning in Oak mountain, near Devereux, with a prospect of taking off most of the timber. There is no telegraphic communication north of here and no details as to the damage can be obtained. Reports have been received, however, of extremely disastrous fires in Lewis and Ulster counties. There has been no rain in this section, with the exception of one light shower, for many weeks and the soil is exceedingly dry. Unless rain falls soon the damage in the Adirondacks will be enormous.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania.

Kane, Pa., Sept. 4.—A stiff gale from the southeast has freshened up the many forest fires burning in this section and the bright glare of destructive fires is visible in all directions. Fire along the line of the Pittsburg & Western between Mount Jewett and Ormsby prevented trains from coming through to-day. The roaring of the fire can be heard for a mile. Much valuable timber is being destroyed. Any change in the wind and the north end of the Kane oil field will get a scorching. The fire also threatening the south end of the Kane field on Martin run a week ago has broken out anew and now covers a large area of territory, extending from Martin run to Kane run.

Arkansas Election.

Little Rock, Sept. 4.—Chairman Carroll Armstrong, of the democratic state central committee, made the following estimate this morning of the results of yesterday's election. Total vote cast in the state, 120,000; democratic vote, 75,000; combined opposition, 45,000; democratic majority, 30,000.

Winner of a 25-Mile Cycle Race.

Rahway, N. J., Sept. 4.—In the 25-mile Elizabeth-Rahway bicycle road race A. S. Swartwout, of the Newark wheelmen, won in 1 hour, 17 minutes and 47 seconds.

GEN. EZETA IS CONFIDENT.

Believes the United States Will Not Surrender Him to Salvador.

San Francisco, Sept. 4.—The case of Antonio Ezeta, of San Salvador, comes up for hearing before Judge Morrow in the United States district court to-day. It is probable that Carlos Urrutia, formerly private secretary of Carlos Ezeta, the deposed president of the republic, will be one of the chief witnesses for Antonio during those proceedings. He has arrived from New York and has paid a visit to Gen. Ezeta at the latter's hotel. The general received Urrutia cordially, knowing that he brought word from Carlos, who is now in Europe.

In an interview the ex-secretary stated that Carlos left New York about the middle of July for Paris, where he will remain a short time, and then he will reside permanently in Madrid, Spain. Urrutia said that one of the immediate incentives of the late revolution was President Ezeta's law prohibiting the introduction of silver into the republic. The Salvadoreans, who are mostly of the Catholic religion, also made a vigorous fight against a law granting absolute divorce.

Speaking of Gen. Antonio Ezeta and his staff, Senor Urrutia stated that they are quite confident that the United States government will not return them to San Salvador.

GEN. HARRISON INTERVIEWED.

Will Take No Active Part in the Campaign This Fall.

New York, Sept. 4.—Ex-President Harrison, who has been stopping at the Fifth Avenue hotel with Mrs McKee and her little son for the past three days, had a brief interview with a reporter and said that he would start for home by way of West Virginia this afternoon. Mrs. McKee is going to visit the family of Stephen B. Elkins, ex-secretary of war, at their home in the West Virginia town named after Mr. Elkins, and from there the party will proceed to Indianapolis.

"Shall you make any speeches in West Virginia, general?"

"No," replied Gen. Harrison. "I am not making campaign speeches. I promised my friends out in Indiana to make one or two speeches for them this fall, and that is the extent of the speaking I expect to do. I have been asked to speak in several states, but have uniformly declined."

"Shall we hear from you on the stump here in New York if Mr. Morton is the candidate for governor?"

"I do not expect to speak in New York."

Grand Parade of Odd Fellows.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 4.—The annual parade of the First regiment Patriarchs Militant I. O. O. F., of New Jersey, took place here and at Ocean Grove yesterday. The parade was made up of all the subordinate encampments and lodges in the state. Canton numbers 11, 25, 29, 24 and 23, of New York state, and canton numbers 1, 21 and 26, of Pennsylvania, participated. The local Odd Fellows entertained 5,000 members of the great secret order. At the Auditorium Dr. Stokes delivered an adress of welcome to the visitors. Music and speaking concluded the ceremonies.

To Succeed the Late Prof. Tuttle.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Prof. H. Morse Stephens, M. A., of Cambridge, England, has been chosen to succeed the late Herbert Tuttle as professor of modern European history at Cornell university. Prof. Stephens is a graduate of Oxford and is in the foremost rank of younger historians now carrying on the traditions of the Oxford school headed by Bishop Stubbs, Goldwin Smith and the late Prof. Freeman. The apointment grew out of President Schurman's visit to England.

Quarantine Against Oklahoma Cattle

Denver, Sept. 4.—Gov. Waite has issued a quarantine proclamation against Oklahoma on the discovery that New Mexican herders, who were debarred from driving their cattle into Colorado under the quarantine established a month ago, were driving them into the strip with the intention of entering Colorado from that territory. New Mexico will probably retaliate with a quarantine against Colorado sheep.

Welch Outshoots Davis.

Riverton, N. J., Sept. 4.—The ninth match for the Riverton challenge plate on the grounds of the Riverton Gun club was won by Robert A. Welch, the holder, against J. H. Davis, the challenger. Welch killed 87 of his 100 live birds. Davis missing 15 of his quota. The birds were a strong lot, many being screaming right-quarters, which somewhat accounted for the low score.

Sousa's Band Goes to St. Louis.

Manhattan Beach, Coney Island, Sept. 4.—The Sousa concert season at Manhattan Beach closed last night, the band taking its departure for St. Louis, where to-morrow it will begin its seven weeks' season at the exposition. From a financial point of view the season at the beach has been the most successful on record.

MURDERED FOR A KISS

A Young Alabama Man Brutally Slain.

Held by a Brother of the Girl While Her Father Fired Bullet After Bullet Into His Body—Posse in Pursuit of the Murderers and a Lynching Is Probable.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 4.—Near Newsite, Tallapoosa county, yesterday, James Ashley and his son Robert went into a field where Robert Cross, a young farmer, was harvesting. Robert Ashley held Cross while his father fired seven bullets into his body. Ashley fired as long as Cross breathed, remarking: "I am going to shoot as long as there is breath in the rascal's body."

Cross went to church with Ashley's daughter Sunday and kissed her. She reported the matter to her father and the murder resulted. A posse is in pursuit of the Ashleys, and if captured it is likely they will be lynched.

PAIGE IN SOUTH AMERICA.

A Letter Received from the Accused Ex-Congressman.

Cleveland, Sept. 4.—A letter from David R. Paige, the former representative in congress, who is accused of having forged the name of the late John Huntington to hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of paper, has been received in Cleveland. In it Paige says that he made a liberal offer to banks holding Paige, Carey & Co.'s paper to redeem all held by them, which offer has been accepted by nearly all such banks, and that the Huntington attorneys are, by agreement with its attorneys remaining passive, to give him an opportunity to effect a settlement. Paige also wrote that he took no money, books or papers with him to South America, and for corroboration refers to F. H Hirde, a New York detective, who, he says, was sent to see him by the Huntington estate attorneys. Paige's letter is dated San Isaido.

CUBA AND THE UNITED STATES.

Spain's Decree Cancelling the Arbitration Treaty Published.

Madrid, Sept. 4.—The decree cancelling the reciprocity treaty between Spain and the United States in regard to Cuba is published in the Gazette. The decree says the cancellation of the treaty shall go into effect "the moment that the United States government applies the new customs tariff." The customs authorities of the Spanish colonies have been instructed that cargoes which cleared from the United States before the new tariff went into effect are to pay the old rate of duty.

A new commercial treaty betwen the United States and the colonies of Spain is now being negotiated.

Fears for the Fate of Sportsmen.

St. Paul, Sept 4.—It is feared that many well-known residents of St. Paul have perished in the forest fires of Hinckley and vicinity. Large numbers of sportsmen have left St. Paul within the last ten days to hunt prairie chickens near Hinckley, Mora, Sandstone, and other points in that vicinity, and few of these places have escaped the flames. The fire covers a wide stretch of territory, and if these sportsmen were in the forest nothing could save them, unless they were close to some large body of water.

New England Railroad Statement.

Albany, Sept. 4.—The report for the year ending June 30, last, just filed with the state railroad commissioner by the receivers of the New York & New England Railroad company shows: Gross earnings from operations, $5,393,895; operating expenses, $4,085,153; net earnings, $1,308,741; other income, $2,880; gross income, $1,311,622; fixed charges, $1,863,246; deficit for the year, $571,624; profit and loss—deficiency—$2,094,111. The net income for the preceding year was $47,796.

Dowe's Bullet-proof Coat No Good.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—The Reichsanzeiger publishes the report of the military experts who tested the Dowe bullet-proof cuirass in Spandau. The experts say that, with the service rifles, model of '88, they pierced two cuirasses—one in May and one in June. They concluded that the cuirass would not answer the purposes for which it was made.

Labor's National Holiday.

New York, Sept. 4.—Labor's national holiday was generally observed in this city and Brooklyn by parades and other demonstrations. Business was practically suspended, the city presenting a genuine holiday appearance. Reports from the principal cities throughout the country indicate a general observance of the day.

Single Tax Conference.

New York, Sept. 4.—At the single tax meeting yesterday a resolution was passed authorizing the appointment of a committee of nine to canvass the field and see if a state organization was needed, and, if so, to call another conference to be held in New York or Brooklyn not later than Feb. 22 next. The conference then adjourned.

Woolen Mills Start Up.

Rockville, Conn., Sept. 4—The Minard Springs Woolen company, of Stafford Springs, started up a portion of its mill this morning. The Riverside Woolen company, of Stafford, has started up a number of departments of its mill and expects to have the entire mill running soon.

ON TOP OF LIBERTY CAP

Daring Feat of Two Steeple Jacks in Washington.

A Gigantic Wreath Placed on the Brow of the Goddess of Liberty Surmounting the Capitol Building and an Invocation to Freedom Read from Her Shoulders.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The most novel celebration of Labor Day in this city took place on the top of the capitol building. The chief participants were Albert Ports and James Grace, riggers employed by the architect of the capitol. Last week Ports distinguished himself by climbing up the gigantic figure of the Goddess of Liberty, surmounting the dome, and placing there a circle of electric lights which were used for illuminating the dome during the encampment of the knights. It was the first time a man had stood there since the goddess was put in position.

Yesterday Ports started in to remove the electric lights and connecting wires with the assistance of Grace. They mounted the goddess by means of a ladder held by the capitol employes from the topmost window of the dome. It took three hours to complete the risky work, and a big crowd collected in the capitol grounds watching the two riggers, who loked like flies crawling about the great bronze figure. Grace straddled the broad shoulders of the goddess, and with the help of Ports placed a gigantic wreath on her brow. The wreath was nearly four feet in diameter and was composed of palm leaves, asparagus, roses and carnations. Then Grace read an invocation to freedom written by a Washington woman, Mrs. Louise Bailey.

The people, nearly 400 feet below, could not hear him, of course, but they understood what he was doing. They saw him fold the manuscript and then, to the horror of many, Ports began climbing to the top of Liberty's cap. When he reached the pinnacle he hesitated a moment and then slowly and carefully raised himself to an erect position. For a minute he stood there in the presence of the crowd below, with Grace still astraddle of Liberty's neck. Ports made the descent as slowly and carefully as he had made the ascent and both he and Grace reached the landing in safety.

The wreath was allowed to remain about the brow of the goddess for several hours when Ports and Grace repeated their dangerous journey and removed it.

Another quite notable feature of the day was the first production here of Innes' new cantata, "War and Peace," a spectacular musical production, at the National Baseball park, in the hearing of an appreciative audience of nearly 10,000 persons. The catchy use made of the war songs of north and south, and the realistic effects of artillery and military movements under the direction of Captain Domer, who commands the crack prize drill company in the District of Columbia National guard, supplemented by Innes' great band and drum corps, made the presentation a marked success.

K. OF P. ENCAMPMENT.

No Report Yet on the German Ritual and Liquor Question.

Washington, Sept 4.—At the meeting of the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias yesterday a number of reports were submitted, but they did not include those on the German ritual or liquor question, as was expected. The report on the code of statutes was taken up and occupied nearly the entire session. A printed copy of the new constitution adopted on Saturday by a vote of 90 to 1 was given to each representative. Memorial services were held over the late Congressman Geo. B. Shaw, of Wisconsin, chairman of the constitutional commission. Addresses were delivered by a dozen or fifteen representatives and by Maj.-Gen. Carnahan on behalf of the uniform rank.

Low Water Causing Shut-Downs.

Winsted, Conn., Sept. 4.—Greenwood's cotton mills at New Hartford, and the Smith cotton mills at Pine Meadow will, beginning next Monday, run but three days a week, owing to low water in the Farrington river. Collinsville, Roverton, Windsor and Poquonock manufacturing concerns are effected, and the earnings of 25,000 employes will be decreased.

Odd Fellows Home Dedicated.

Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The new Odd Fellows' home here was dedicated with imposing ceremonies. One hundred lodges, cantons and encampments took part in the procession which preceded the dedication. There were present about 4,000 Odd Fellows, Knights and Patriarchs Militant. They came from all parts of western New York.

French Forces at Timbuctoo Safe.

Paris, Sept. 4.—M. Delcasse, minister of colonies, has received a dispatch from M. Grodet, governor of the French Soudan, concerning recent reports of French reverses at Timbuctoo. M. Grodet says the latest official information from Timbuctoo showed that the French force was secure and had not suffered defeat.

Increase in Freight Shipments.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Steady gains are now being made by the roads east from Chicago in regard to freight shipments. Last week these aggregated 43,059 tons, as compared with 47,161 tons for the previous week and 50,149 tons for the corresponding week last year.

Eloped With a Hired Man.

Bath, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Mrs. Charles Shults, the pretty 28-year-old wife of a well-off farmer, living six miles from here, eloped Saturday night with their young hired man. No trace further than that they came to this place and took a train, has been discovered.

Twenty Persons Drowned.

London, Sept. 4.—A report has been received here from Morecambe, county of Lancaster, that an accident occurred to a boating party on Morecambe bay yesterday by which twenty persons were drowned.

SCIENTISTS IN SESSION

Interesting Meeting Convenes at Saratoga.

Dr. Kingsbury Delivers the Opening Address and Talks on "The Reign of the Law"—Do Those in Great Battles Know Anything of the Fight as a Whole?

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The general meeting of the American Social Science association convened at eight o'clock last evening in the Town Hall courtroom. The opening address was made by the president, H. J. Kingsbury, LL.D., of Waterbury, Conn. The subject was "The Reign of Law." Dr. Kingsbury's paper opened with a description of a battle in Tolstoi's novel, "War and Peace," where is pointed out graphically that the most of those engaged in a great battle, even commanders of regiments, batteries, brigades and army corps, know nothing of the battle as a whole. They see only what is being enacted in their presence.

"It is theirs not to reason why. "Theirs but to do and die."

To hold a position, assault a line, or stay where they are until assailed or ordered elsewhere. In the end they are surprised to learn that a little thing, apparently of no moment at the time, was the turning point, and they find themselves heroes without knowing it. This key to the whole was in the mind of the general whose orders they had obeyed. To a fair extent, this has been our conception of the battle of life. It was the Hebrew ethics that came to us with our religion, but generally a reign of law has been interposed between us and Providence. The rationalism of the west has superseded the fatalism of the east, and man has been made to feel that his destiny is in his own hands—that he must work out his own salvation; that he has all the responsibilities of Omniscience without the power. The myth of the Sphinx, one of the oldest in literary history, contains the lesson that no divine power interferes to save men from the consequences of their own follies, even in ignorantly violating nature's laws, but a "reign of law" inexorably condemns them to pay the penalty.

Further on, Dr. Kingsbury alluded to the great cities of the ancient orient—Babylon, Nineveh, Baalbec, Jerusalem and even Rome—and drew from their history, decadence and ruin the inference that they perished largely from the ignorance or neglect by their rulers and populace of the laws of health by which they were environed and from the fact that they had no internal redemption agencies to recuperate them when assailed by foreign enemies. Unlike the Paris of this century, they had no enlightened citizens who could rebuild and relavigorate their city after having been three times held by a foreign conqueror.

"Take," said Dr. Kingsbury, "the case of our own civil war. Can anybody to-day tell how it might have been averted. We can see the mighty stretch by which our nation has advanced since peace resumed her sway. Yet, we are as much in the dark as ever as to how we may avert future internecine troubles. Finally, is our system of the conduct of life radically wrong, or do we come back from whence we started, working out the divine purposes which are best for us, under the declarations of the poet—'There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we may.' No proper institution will make a decent government, without a law-abiding, law-fearing people back of it."

The annual report of General Secretary Frank B. Sanborn, of Concord, Mass., was then read.

Colorado Populist Covention.

Pueblo, Col., Sept. 4.—All the hotels in this city are crowded with delegates to the populist state convention which opens to-day. Gov. Waite is here and has headquarters at the Grand hotel, where he received his friends and admirers. Although nearly all delegates have been instructed to support the governor, the nomination of Mr. Waite is by no means a certainty as his opponents are making a vigorous fight. Congressman Pence will endeavor to capture the convention and get the nomination.

Effect of the Drouth in Connecticut.

Rockville, Conn., Sept. 4.—Reports from parts of Tolland county show great loss on crops from the long continued drouth. Many wells and springs are entirely dry. Farmers in some places are obliged to drive stock from two to five miles for water. Roaring brook in Union and Stafford is entirely dry, which never happened before. The reservoir and the village secures a partial supply of drinking water by forcing water from the mill pond into the water mains.

Dead and Missing at Broad Park.

Mora, Minn., Sept. 4.—Broad Park, Pokegama station, a new town on the St. Cloud & Hinckley branch of the Great Northern, was totally destroyed. The flames burned 300,000 feet of lumber, a saw mill, hotel, stores, post-office, school house and section house. Twenty-five families in the immediate vicinity are homeless. The total loss of property is estimated at $30,000. Five people are known to be dead, fourteen are missing and half a dozen are injured.

Senators Will Oppose Tillman.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 4.—It is generally talked in political circles here that Bourke Cockran, of New York, Senator Gorman and Speaker Crisp, of Georgia, will come to this state and make speeches in favor of Senator Butler's candidacy against Tillman for the United States senatorship.

Smoke Makes Navigation Perilous.

Mackinaw City, Mich., Sept. 4.—Navigation through the straits is so dangerous on account of he dense pall of smoke from the forest fires which hangs over the lake that vessels cannot proceed through St. Mary's river, except at great risk.

The President Spends a Day Fishing.

Buzzards Bay, Sept. 4.—The president and Dr. Bryant spent all day fishing on Cleveland's ledge, off North Falmouth, returning after 6 o'clock.

BASEBALL.

The Plainfield Crescents played two games in Washington, Warren County, yesterday. The first they lost, 23 to 5; the second they won, 5 to 1.

The Crescent nine of this city defeated the Berkley Heights team in a seven-inning game on the Plainfield Latin School grounds Saturday afternoon. The score was 26 to 5. Winn, the pitcher for the Crescents, is doing good work of late.

'T will Be One of the Finest in Town.

White & Stelle, owners of the building at the corner of Park avenue and East Front street, are about to make improvements on the store that will give Leggett's Central Pharmacy one of the handsomest fronts in the city. Architect Charles H. Smith has prepared plans and specifications, Pearson & Gayle are the lowest bidders, and the work is expected to begin soon.

According to the plans, the arrangement of the entrances will be entirely changed. Instead of doors opening from both the street and the avenue there will be one main entrance with doors opening across the corner. The wide, raised platform which is now on both sides of the store will probably be lowered, an improvement which will make sidewalks of a more convenient width. Altogether, great improvements are promised at this popular pharmacy.

Plainfield to See The Elephant.

"Wang", the popular comic opera, with its wholesome merriment, bright melodies, and pretty girls, comes to Music Hall, Friday, Sept. 7, with all new scenery, including the famous elephant. The well remembered role of Mataya, the crown prince of Siam, is assumed by Miss Virginia Earl, a dainty, petite and pretty soubrette, who made such a prominent and instantaneous success last season. The part of the widow is in the hands of Miss Marion Singer, who was the original widow in the first production.

Their First a Success.

The first excursion of the Odd Fellows to Asbury Park yesterday gave the members and their friends a day of pleasure on the shore and more than cleared expenses for the management. Seven cars made up the train that took the excursionists to the ocean.

Grocers Picnic a Huge Success.

The grocers were again highly successful in taking a big crowd to the shore Labor Day. The excursionists that went with them to Boynton Beach numbered 985, and all had a glorious big time.

Justice Mosher Weds.

Michael Reclard and Marie Vance, from the Italian colony in Fanwood, went to Justice Mosher's Court at 11 this morning and were married. Calvin Rugg and Thomas J. Young were the witnesses.

Prize Fruit.

John VanNest of Martinsville is the raiser of prize apples. The Press today saw samples of his famous 20-oz pippins, weighing 18 ounces apiece, and measuring 14 inches in girth.

Music Hall Tonight.

The costumes worn by the ladies in "A Wild Duck" are all new and strikingly original in conception and perfect in design. Nothing prettier or more attractive will be seen on the stage this season.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Monte Scott went to Bridgeport yesterday and raced at the Rambling Wheelmen's meet. He was third in both the half-mile open and the five-mile handicap.

Two bicycle riders collided on Park avenue near the Cedar Brook bridge at 10:20 yesterday morning. Bent handlebars and dusty clothing were the results.

The share of success that Barnett obtained in Asbury Park last week led him to believe that he would do better by sticking to the track than by going to work on the road again.

The cup won by Monte Scott for the Crescent Wheelmen will be officially presented to the club, with appropriate ceremonies, at the annual meeting tomorrow night. All members should attend.

Thirty-two Century cyclers from Morristown rode to Princeton and back yesterday. They reached Plainfield at 7 in the morning and at 4:30 in the afternoon. Stops at McVey's restaurant were made on both trips.

The spectacle of a West Fifth street young man towing an East Fifth street young woman by means of a clothes line connecting their bicycles, amused people on the road between Fanwood and Boynton Beach yesterday.

Young Bert Moore of Grove street who started for Newburgh on his wheel last Thursday writes to Horace J. Martin that he reached there after covering 100 miles in nine hours and 17 minutes. The roads were bad, he lost his way twice and stopped for rest and lunch.

In Asbury Park Saturday afternoon Barnett made the Class B one-mile handicap a fast one although he was not prominent in the finish. He made the fastest time in the unpaced mile contest, 2:23 4-5, but did not win the $50 diamond prize as he had to allow 5 seconds to Sims of Class A, who rode in 2:26 1-5. Monte Scott won the New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Class A mile in 2:43 1-3.

Two young men named Train and Thomas rode through Plainfield on their way to Philadelphia this morning. They started on their wheels from Steubenville, Ohio, and went to Niagara Falls, to Lewiston, Canada, to Toronto, to Kingston, by steamer to Montreal, to Rouse's Point, to Port Kent, by train to Albany. Thence they came down the Hudson. They had covered in all 770 miles when they reached town, having been six and one-half days in the saddle at noon today. They rode Ramblers and had not been delayed but by two punctures one of the tires suffered.

The Crescents finished six men in the Association twenty-five mile road race yesterday and won the large hat-rack offered for the club with the largest number of survivors. I. N. Line, 3½ minutes, rode in 1:11:43 and got ninth place and the second time prize, a gold watch. Thomas A. Cuming, 8 minutes, covered the course in 1:16:24, reaching tenth place. S. C. Crane, 2½ minutes, finished fifteenth in 1:13:39 2-5. E. T. Hand, with 5 minutes, was twenty-third in 1:15:24. J. G. Voorhies had 6½ minutes start and ended thirty-ninth, time 1:19:01. Cuming and Line did not understand where the course was to end and spurted to finish half a mile too soon. Hand ran into a dog on the back trip and lost two minutes straightening out his machine. The Netherwood racer has been riding only three months.

AN EPITAPH.

I gladly lay me down to sleep
Within the grave so quiet,
For if 'tis calmer than my life
I would be fain to try it.
The earthly goal I sought for—rest—
I found ('tis not surprising),
For I engaged in business and
Eschewed all advertising.

MAGIC WORK OF SCIENCE

A Newspaper Man Sees a Strange and Interesting Experiment—Meat Completely Digested in an Open Dish—Views of Col. J. R. Fellows and Other New Yorkers.

(New York Exchange.)

It is not often that science makes a discovery that demands special investigation on the part of the newspapers. Once in while it does, however, such as occurred in New York recently.

It had been stated positively that a process has been found whereby food, mixed with a certain ferment became digested before it had even entered the mouth. Certainly if this were true it would mark an era in the history of civilization, and the writer was delegated to thoroughly investigate and report upon the same.

The first call was made at the office of the company which is now manufacturing the food in question, and I was permitted to inspect the process of manufacture. I found it exceedingly elaborate and scientific, and after inspecting it thoroughly I was shown the way in which it actually worked.

A piece of fresh meat was placed in an open dish and some of the pre-digested food mixed with it, when the temperature was raised to that of the stomach. Almost immediately there was a change in the color of the meat, next its fibers seemed to separate, and soon it assumed a liquid form, the same as it does in the human stomach after being eaten. The effect, the change, the entire process, was most wonderful and speedy.

"This, as you see, is a demonstration of what can be done," said the manager, "but we prefer that you ascertain just what this food accomplishes with the people who use it. Here is a list of names and you are at liberty to see them and ascertain just what their opinions may be."

Armed with this list the writer began a tour of investigation, with the following result:

Sergeant Elias B. Dunn, chief of the Weather Bureau, was found in his office, looking exceedingly well. In response to my inquiry he said: "I have used the pre-digested food Paskola myself and in my family, and I must say that I have found it just what is claimed for it. In fact, I have been chanting the praises of it very steadily ever since I first began to use it. Why shouldn't I? It has built me up and made a new man of me. You see how fresh and rosy I am, and I intend to keep so."

Colonel John B. Fellows, the eloquent District Attorney of New York, in response to my question said:

"If I am called upon to deliver an address or make a speech upon which much depends, I first look out for my stomach. When that is healthy my brain is clear, my thoughts are logical, and it is a comparatively easy matter to clothe them in proper language. When I am not feeling well I take Paskola, the pre-digested food, which sets the stomach right, clears the cobwebs from the brain and sets the machinery of thought and eloquence in motion. There is nothing like Paskola for such a purpose and I believe it has won more cases before a jury than you would imagine."

Both Messrs. Howe and Hummel, the well-known lawyers, fully confirmed what I had already heard. Mr. Howe said:

"Look at me! Feel how firm my arm is! You can see I am in perfect health, and yet I was, not long ago, advised by my doctor to go away for my health. My present condition is the result of the use of Paskola. It is a labor-saving discovery—saves your stomach the labor of digesting food. Try it as I did, and grow fat and jolly."

His partner, Mr. Hummel, said:

"I have seen a number of people try Paskola whose stomachs were so weak that they could digest nothing else, but who were able to assimilate this pre-digested food without the slightest difficulty. I have known an adult man wasted to a shadow by indigestion, who gained 40 pounds in three months by its use."

Wherever I went the reports were the same, and I was forced to the inevitable conclusion that a great discovery had certainly been made for building up the system, increasing the strength and prolonging the life without any drain or strain upon the digestive organs, which has been the great bane of our American life. Certainly the results of the research prove so.

Anyone who desires further information upon the subject should send for a free pamphlet to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New York.

Chalk Found in this Country.

The great chalk deposits which have recently been discovered in Nebraska, in the section known as the Niobrara region, will afford an absorbing theme of discussion to students of geology and mineralogy. Until very recently it was not supposed that there were any extensive chalk beds in this country. This country was dependent for chalk on importations, and everyone looked to foreign countries, as a matter of course, for the supply. It was known that one-seventh of the area of Europe was covered with chalk formations, but in this country it was believed that the conditions were entirely different. The recently discovered Niobrara beds, however, are said to contain as perfect deposits of chalk as can be found in the magnificent downs on both sides of the English Channel.

Germany's Fine Pigeon Service.

Germany has for years possessed the most efficient pigeon service in Europe. At Strasburg there are 600 birds, at Metz 600, at Thorn 1,000, and they are kept by the hundreds at other centres, such as Mainz, Cologne, Kiel, and Danzig. The whole frontier is connected by pigeon post with the military headquarters and with towns in the interior. The service is supported by an appropriation of about $9,000 a year. The practical use of the pigeon post was fully demonstrated at the siege of Paris in 1870. Since then it has become a recognized part of the military organization of all European countries except Great Britain. Russia has now on her Polish frontier alone, 3,000 birds, and appropriates yearly $10,000 for pigeons; the French appropriation is twice as large.

THE UPPER SOUTH
For Factories and Homes.

Grand opportunities exist in West Virginia, Maryland and the famous Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, a section possessing all the requisites for health, comfort and prosperity.

No region in the United States is attracting greater attention; people from the North and West are looking that way with a view of locating. Improved farm lands are to be obtained at from $8 per acre and upwards, unimproved timber lands at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Rich mineral lands are cheap; excellent water powers, manufacturing sites, business locations, etc., are numerous. The people are hospitable and extend a warm welcome to newcomers. The climate is unequalled, no severe storms or cyclones, no contagious diseases.

FOOD AS A CURE FOR MOODS.
Even Fits of Temper will Yield to a Well-Chosen Dinner.

There are few sorrows that a salad cannot solace, and the woes are not many which will not vanish, at least temporarily, before a carefully chosen dessert. The "food cure" is the best in the world for moods.

Every one observes that men retain their youth longer than women. At fifty men are erect, active—gray-haired to be sure, but fresh-colored and bright-eyed. At fifty women are gray-haired, dull-eyed, wrinkled and colorless. Why is the difference? Because for twenty-five years or so men have been eating good, substantial, epicurean luncheons in the society of their fellow-men downtown, while women have been having toast and tea and cold sliced meat with the children at home. It is no base, material doctrine to preach, that of the intimate connection between good food on the one hand and good temper and good looks on the other. Even the apostle of temperance in all directions, Miss Willard, comes home from beef-loving England and chants the praise of five good meals a day.

Have you a fit of bad temper? Eat your luncheon in cheerful society and make it a delicious one with a bit of crisp lettuce, a taste of cheese, some toasted crackers and a cup of black coffee. You will leave the table at peace with all the world. The jostling crowd which you longed to throttle before eating will arouse only emotions of good-natured interest now. Are you depressed? Dine well and the world will bear a rosy aspect after dinner. Forswear, once and forever, the feminine ascetic notion which has prevailed through the centuries, and you will be a healthier, happier mortal than you ever have been before.

Only remember that to dine well means to dine with daintiness, not to overeat, and that luncheons to be truly successful must have due regard for hygiene. Suppers may not be a cure for unrequited love and luncheons may not minister to a mind deceased, but for the "trifling" worries that sap away vitality there is no remedy so potent as well-chosen food.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

INCREASING THE SUPPLY.

Operations Begun on the Water Company's New Wells.

Work on the four new wells of the Plainfield Water Supply Company is being pushed rapidly by Contractor Conlin of Newark. The boring for one of the wells has been finished and the sinking of the pipe, which has not yet arrived, is all that remains to be done on this first well. Supt. Amos Andrews started a force of 20 men yesterday at digging trenches for the pipes which will connect the wells and the pumping house.

The 20 wells which the company is now using were constructed when the system was established three years ago. They are 60 feet deep and are arranged in line along the Central Railroad track. In sinking them a six-inch pipe was driven down with the screen attached and a 4½ inch suction pipe was placed inside of that. No trouble has been experienced from the way in which the wells were sunk.

In sinking the new wells, which are of the same depth but of larger diameter, an improved method is used. After the boring has been finished a ten-inch pipe is driven. Inside of this is lowered the permanent pipe with a screen cylinder of the usual form at the bottom. This is eight inches in diameter. The suction pipe, which measures six inches across, is placed inside of this and then the ten-inch pipe is withdrawn. This plan of putting down the temporary ten-inch pipe prevents any damage to the screen by breakage or by being clogged with fragments of stone.

The new wells are being placed in a string of land 20x300 feet extending along North avenue. The men who are doing the works are experienced, the last labor having been the boring of a well 1,100 feet deep for an office building in New York. When the four wells are completed connections will be made and a trial will follow. The wells will then go into service with the other 20.

The addition to the water supply is not being made to meet any immediate demand. The drought seems to have no noticeable effect on the pumping capacity of the works. The extra supply will, however, reduce the friction in the pipes connected with the pumps. For the last two months about 2,300,000 gallons have been pumped every 24 hours with the exception of Sunday when about 500,000 gallons less are drawn. Plainfield and Elizabeth take a million gallons each and the rest goes to the towns on the way to Elizabeth. The heavy decrease in the demand Sundays shows how much water is required for motors and lawn and street sprinkling. The sewers will bring out a large increase in the number of users and the quantity of water

Saturday he discovered in the cow's lungs four tubercules, each of them measuring half an inch across. Other parts of the lungs showed that the disease was developing throughout the organ.

At School Again.

The public schools reopened this morning after the Summer vacation. The attendance in the lower classes of the High School was especially large and there were visitors from the alumni. The morning was spent in enrolling the pupils and distributing the school books. The High School was dismissed shortly after 10 and will commence at 9 tomorrow to allow the students to get used to school; after tomorrow the High School will commence at 8:20 and be dismissed at 1.

$65 By a Carnival.

A flag and flower carnival and promenade concert brought a crowd of people to Central Hall last evening to help Rev. J. W. Mitchell and his congregation pay for the new Emmanuel Baptist Church.

About $65 was taken in during the evening. Miss Minnie Mitchell received a watch for selling the greatest number of tickets for the evening. Miss Josephine Harris obtained the second prize, a ring. Fifty children participated in the flag and flower drill.

Court Newcorn.

The case of W. B. Conover against S. Morris will be tried by Justice Newcorn Thursday morning at 11. Conover sues to have a $100 fine collected from the clothiers who recently opened a store on West Front street. He brings the action under the new law that requires traveling merchants to take out State and city licenses and deposit $500 in the State treasury.

The goods of the firm were today packed up and shipped by freight to Sandusky, O. The management left town.

THE ROOF BURNED.

A Bucket Brigade Put Out the Flames, No Hydrant Being Near.

A bucket brigade saved a small house in Bullfrog City from destruction yesterday morning. The alarm box was found to be at hand and in working order but there is no hydrant in the neighborhood.

Mrs. John Barry was in the kitchen of her home on Harrison street, shortly before 11 yesterday morning, when she heard the crackling and snapping of fire. She concluded that the noise came from the kitchen stove where old lath were burning. Soon afterward she stepped to the front door and saw smoke outside. She stepped outside and asked a boy in the street whence it came. He said the smoke was from her own house and she thought it must be from the chimney. Accordingly, she returned to her work.

Flames began to appear about the roof, however, and the neighbors soon saw that a fire had started between the ceiling and the roof of the one-story structure. Box 156 was pulled. The furniture was soon carried from the three rooms of the house. Then men reached the flat roof with a ladder, cut holes in the boards with axes and started a line of bucket passers from a neighbor's pump. Among those who work hardest were E. E. Pope, D. C. Allen and Augustus Feiring.

The signals of the fire gong were not given so loudly as usual as the steam pressure at the station was low. The east wind carried the sounds away and many in the city did not hear the blows. The hose cart made a quick trip with the steamer not far behind.

The cart began to unreel hose at the brook. The supply gave out 950 feet up Harrison avenue about half way to the fire. Word was sent to Plainfield by telephone and Engine Company 2's hose wagon went over. They coupled on 800 feet of hose and pulled up in the crowd in time to be told that the fire was out. The engine had steam up at the brook. The hose was not wet.

The house was fully insured. The loss is estimated at $100. The roof is cut and charred and the plastering inside shows damage. The fire must have started from the overheated chimney. The North Plainfield firemen are very grateful to Chief Doane and his assistants for responding so promptly to the call for more hose.

SAVED THE HOUSE.

But the Barn and All Its Contents Were Destroyed.

A large barn in South Plainfield owned by M. H. Higgins was burned to the ground last night. The contents could not be saved, and the house in front was saved only after much work.

The flames had gained considerable headway at 10:45 when several neighbors discovered the fire at once. The alarm was given by shouting and the villagers, many of whom were just returning from Boynton Beach, turned out in force.

Mr. Higgins moved from the house by the barn a short time ago and rented the house to Thomas Stewart. He kept the barn for his own use as a store-house. The house was quite close to the barn and the roof caught fire several times.

A long ladder was raised and each time the fire was extinguished. If the Stewart house had caught another across the street would have followed. The danger was so apparent that the furniture from the nearer house was all removed, but the wind fortunately changed and both dwellings were safe. The barn burned rapidly and nothing but glowing timbers remained at 11:15. Water had to be carried quite a distance as the pump was in the barn.

Mr. Higgins, a contracting grader, is working in Bergen Point and had his horses there. He left South Plainfield for Bayonne at 7:41 last evening. He left in the barn five dirt-carts, three stone-trucks, a buck-board, a spring-wagon, a box-wagon, plows and other implements and a small quantity of hay. A pig was the only animal burned.

Mrs. Higgins was aroused after the flames had gone down. She was much affected by the loss. She said the insurance might cover half of it. No one could offer any explanation of the cause of the fire.

Court Coddington.

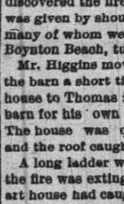
Mrs. Ellen Coates of Netherwood spent Sunday night in the lockup and was released by City Judge Coddington under suspended sentence yesterday morning. She had been arrested by Chief Grant Sunday afternoon for being drunk at the North Avenue station.

Macadamizing Started.

Street Commissioner Stout began the macadamming of Duer street between Emily street and Linden avenue with a large gang of men this morning. Quite a number of the residents will macadamize between the curb and the central strip at their own expense.

Plainfield Jurors.

The Plainfielders drawn this morning on the panel of petit jurors for the October term of court are William E. Aipaugh, Hector C. Smith, Augustus M. Frazee, John B. Higgins, John Dixon and Richard York.



CHILLINESS, when other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furred or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness, and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver that's at fault. You want to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the kind, these tiny little things act like a miracle.

You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflammations, with them. They'll give you a permanent cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. They're the smallest, the pleasantest to take, and the most thoroughly natural remedy.

You ought to be warned against the maltreatment of Catarrh in the Head, with poisonous, irritating nostrums. They can't cure it. They simply remove it—drive it to the throat and lungs. For a thorough and complete cure of Catarrh, take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

CHAMPION NOT DECIDED.

Hillside Tennis Tourney to Be Completed Saturday.

The annual championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club was held yesterday on the club courts on Watchung avenue. It was a model tennis day, with no sun and very little wind, while the courts were in the best of condition. In spite of the chilly weather the attendance was quite large, a gaily dressed throng of both old and young turning out to cheer the players on to victory.

As many of the club members were out of town, there were but eight entries, Fred K. Fish, Jr., G. H. Squires, Sherwood West, J. P. Murray, F. W. Goddard, Carl Walz, J. H. P. Wharton, and H. D. West.

Play commenced soon after 9:30 with the first match in the first round, F. K. Fish, Jr., and G. H. Squires. The first games were very close but Fish's high laps and hard drives down the side lines proved too much for Squires, and Fish won his first set 6-4. In the second set Squires did not play so well and was defeated the second time by Fish 6-3, giving Fish the match.

The second match was between J. P. Murray and Sherwood West and proved a very exciting one. After brilliant playing by both sides West succeeded in winning by his superior side line play, 7-5. The last set, and with it match, West won very easily by the score of 6-0.

Carl Walz and F. W. Goddard were the contestants in the next match, which Walz easily won 6-1, 6-0, although Goddard played excellently for his first appearance in a tournament.

The last match of the morning was between H. D. West and J. H. P. Wharton. After a hotly contested set, West secured the victory 8-6, through his hard low drives to the back of the court. The completion of the match was postponed until afternoon when West again outplayed Wharton and after a close contest won 6-4.

The semi-final round commenced with a match between Fish and Sherwood West. West seemed out of form and constantly drove the ball out of court or into the net, while Fish played very well and won 6-0, 6-1.

The next match in the semi-finals had for contestants H. D. West and Walz. West did well in the first set and played his hard drives to good advantage but the strain was too much for him and Walz won the necessary two sets 6-4, 6-0.

After giving the players a long rest the final match was started by Fish and Walz. This was by far the most exciting tennis of the day, the players being very evenly matched. Neither could seem to obtain any advantage over the other, but kept the ball going and waited for the other to make a mistake. Such playing required much time and when Walz had at last secured the first set 8-6 it was decided that it was too dark to continue. The completion of the match was postponed until next Saturday afternoon.

The summary is as follows:

First round—F. K. Fish, Jr., defeated G. H. Squires 6-4, 6-3. Sherwood West defeated J. P. Murray 7-5, 6-0. Carl Walz defeated F. W. Goddard 6-1, 6-0. H. D. West defeated J. H. P. Wharton 8-6, 6-4.

Semi-final round—Fish defeated S. West 6-0, 6-1. Walz defeated H. West 6-4, 6-0.

Final round—Walz defeated Fish 8-6. (To be completed Saturday afternoon.)

Following is a summary of the first set in the finals:

Fish.			Walz
12	Aces by	placed balls	13
20	" "	outs	20
11	" "	nets	10
1	" "	double faults	1
44	Total aces won		44

The summary shows the most even playing, the only difference being one more placed ball by Walz, and one more net for Fish.

Owing to the chilly atmosphere, tea was served in the cosy club-house instead of on the lawn. The rooms were tastefully decorated with golden-rod and hydrangeas, and were greatly admired by those present. Mrs. E. L. Walz received the guests, assisted by Miss Walz, Miss Evans, Miss K. Yates and Miss M. Yates.

Among those present during the day were: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Anthony, Wesley Abbott, Miss Bogart, Mrs. Bowen, Miss Bowen, Miss Bowers, Miss Bass, Miss S. Lena Bass, Mrs. Bogart, Major and Mrs. R. L. Burnett, Mrs. F. A. Barnaby, Miss Helen Burr, George Bull, Llewellyn Bull, Miss Cooley, Miss Cook, Miss Annie Cook, Miss Coe, the Misses Davis, Miss E. V. Fish, Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Goes With a Rush.

Joseph M. Gaite's scenic farce comedy company, "A Wild Duck", will be seen in Music Hall tonight. The organization is large and strong, and the play is of the modern up to date, light and breezy eccentricities that goes with a rush and roar from the first act to the last.

No Damage.

Milkman Randolph's horse ran away on East Fourth street at 10 this morning. Harry Huff stopped the rig at the corner of Fourth street and Park avenue.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen and New Market.

Miss Emma Apgar is visiting friends in Readington.

Mrs. Charles Carpenter has been visiting friends in Plainfield.

Miss Lizzie Struble of High Bridge is visiting Miss Della Fritts.

Miss Helen Foster of Poughkeepsie is visiting Mrs James Craig.

Pierce Hallet of New York is visiting his father in New Market.

Mrs. Kinsey and children have gone to Morristown to visit friends.

Miss Ethel Gray of Glen Gardner is visiting her cousin, Miss Sally Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. George Aller of South Bound Brook are visiting their son, Daniel Aller.

Mrs. L. Wieckenmager and daughter, Miss Millie, of Brooklyn, are guests of the Misses Trust.

Miss Ethel Adams after a pleasant visit at the Pines, New Market, has returned to her home in Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. James Harned of Craig place, North Plainfield, spent Sunday and Labor Day with friends near Dunellen.

Joseph Eder and family and Miss Julia Eder of New York spent Sunday and Monday at the Park Hotel, the guests of Mr. Eder's aunt, Mrs. Maier.

Another new phase of the water works question has developed. This is a most important improvement for Dunellen and the subject is being discussed pro and con with considerable energy. That something will result advantageously to the town there seems to be no reasonable doubt. The latest scheme is to erect a large wind-mill as a force for pumping and a large tank, the latter to hold about 25,000 or 30,000 gallons of water. This would be a sufficient supply for any fire the town might have, and the cost would be nominal in comparison with the other proposed plans. The men having the matter in charge are thoughtful, conscientious citizens, and it is safe to say that when they submit their plan to the citizens of Dunellen, it will be the best and most feasible one.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

School will open Monday, September 10.

Robert Walpole visited the Passaic river yesterday and returned with a four-pound bass.

Mr. Ackerman has just received two trained donkeys. They were out for the first time this morning.

Miss Amy Cook has left the delights of the ocean by Ocean Grove and returned to her home in Scotch Plains.

Scotch Plains has a great battery with George Johnston, late of the New York State League, in the box, and George Ball, formerly of the Crescents, behind the bat. Pitcher Johnston struck out 17 men in the Scotch Plains-Rahway game, Labor Day. Catcher Ball batted in the the winning run for Scotch Plains.

The Homestead, that delightful Summer and Winter resort conducted by the Misses Boucher, was thronged last night with guests in reception to Editor Spring and bride, who had just returned from their wedding trip. Carpenter and Frazee of Plainfield supplied music, and the event was enjoyed by all, including a delegation of Plainfielders.

The Scotch Plains base-ball nine have been playing great ball on the local diamond. Saturday afternoon they defeated the St. Pauls of Brooklyn by the score of 30 to 7. Labor Day morning they were victorious over the Lenox Athletic Club of New York, 9 to 7. In the afternoon they defeated the Rahways, 5 to 4 after a very exciting game. Fully 500 people witnessed the game yesterday afternoon.

Frank Herbst of Terrill road has given out the contract for the erection of a barn to replace the one struck by lightning and destroyed a short time ago. The building will be L-shaped, the main part 75 x 24 feet, the wing 35 x 24. Two cupolas will add to its appearance. The successful bidder of a number of Plainfield and Elizabeth builders is George Studer of Arlington avenue, Plainfield, a most capable and thorough artisan. Work will be begun at once.

Plainfield Well Represented.

Kitty Pilot, of the Avon Park stud, gave some fast horses an argument for the money, the first day of the Waverly Fair, Monday, September 3.

Not having any class for her, she was put in one of the faster ones, and did herself and her driver, C. C. Brower, great credit.

A Diseased Eye Removed.

Trackwalker Thomas Loughlin of Cottage place had one of his eyes removed by Dr. F. C. Ard Saturday. He went to Muhlenberg Hospital after the operation, but returned to his home Sunday.

Opened Auspiciously.

Music Hall contained an appreciative audience Saturday night, when "Incog" was enjoyed. The public was highly pleased with Manager Varian's improvements.

TO LOOK NICE.

ALL WOMEN DESIRE IT.

Some Points About How to Accomplish the Desired End.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

It is the most natural wish in life with women — to feel well and look nice.

It is born with them.

It makes a world of difference to the wee little girl whether or no there is a bit of pretty lace or bright ribbon about her dress or on her hat.

Yes! All women like to look nice. All watch for the least signs of fading.

You have seen beautiful ladies, and been amazed to know that they have lived fifty or sixty years of life.

Have you ever stopped to ask why the few look so lovely while the many around you are so haggard?

Look into it, and you will soon find them blessed with a perfect and healthy organism.

Above all, you will find that no female complaints have seared their lives; no dreadful backache, no irregular periods, no bearing down, or any kind of uterus, ovarian, or womb trouble.

You are not like them now, but you may reach their high level if you will.

You suffer, but there is a remedy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the grandest remedy ever discovered for women. It restores the womb and all irregularities to their natural healthy condition, and makes possible a lovely old age. It cures every form of female complaint, from leucorrhœa to tumors in the womb.

Corporation Notice.

Proposals for Sewers

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a special meeting duly called for the purpose held August 20, 1894, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1894, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 109 Park avenue, in the city of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials in the construction of such portion of the sewer contemplated in the ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage," approved July 25, 1894, as provided for in the plans and specifications now on file in the office of the City Clerk, No. 109 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $1,000, payable to the Treasurer of the city of Plainfield.

The Engineer's estimate of the quantities of material required and the work to be done is approximately as follows:

10 feet 24 inch pipe sewer.
2,780 feet 18 inch pipe sewer.
6,130 feet 15 inch pipe sewer.
2,570 feet 12 inch pipe sewer.
1,095 feet 10 inch pipe sewer.
9,910 feet 8 inch pipe sewer.
980 Y branches.
91 manholes.
36 drop connections at manholes.
25 lamp holes.
Two 150 gallon flush tanks.
One 1,000 gallon flush tank.
200 extension connections on Y branches.
5,000 feet tile under drains.

Duplicate plans may be examined and forms of proposal, specifications, contract, bond, etc., may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, 109 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Sewers."

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh; which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

550 BODIES RECOVERED

Result of the Work Thus Far in the Fire-Swept Regions.

Fourteen Towns and One County Totally Destroyed and a Score of Villages Damaged—Horrible Scenes Around Sandstone—Charred and Blackened Bodies of Humans and Animals Scattered in All Directions—Wells and Cisterns Full of Corpses — People Escape Close to Spots Where Others Perished.

Milwaukee, Sept. 5.—From revised returns from the burned regions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan following are the total and partially burned towns and counties:

Minnesota towns, totally destroyed—Hinckley, Pokegama, Sandstone Junction or Miller, Partridge, Cromwell, Curts, Cushing, Mission Creek. Partially destroyed—Finlayson, Mansfield, Rutledge, Milaca. Counties totally destroyed—Pine. Partialy destroyed—Kanabec, Carlton, Benton, Aitken, Mille Lacs, Morrison.

Wisconsin, towns totally destroyed—Comstock, Benoit, Barronnett, Poplar, Marengo, Granite Lake. Partly burned—Spencer, High Bridge, Ashland Junction, Fifield, Washburne, Cartwright, Grantsburg, Turtle Lake, Rice Lake, Muscoda, Bashaw, Shell Lake, South Range. Counties, partly burned—Barron, Washburn, Florence, Ashland, Taylor, Chippewa, Burnett, Marinette, Price, Grant, Douglas, Marathon, Bayfield.

Michigan towns partly burned—Trout Creek, Ewen, Sidnaw. Counties partly burned—Houghton, Ontonagon, (almost total except in towns) Huron, Macomb.

The general executive committee in charge of the relief work at Pine City has made a report of the dead bodies recovered thus far, as follows:

Hinckley, 271; Sandstone, 77; Miller, (often called Sandstone Junction) 15; between Skunk lake and Miller, 12; Pokegama, 25; in lumber camps, 50. Total, 450.

Everything at Sandstone has burned, the only thing left standing being the school house walls and big bank safe. The only living thing to be seen there when the relief party arrived was a horse and pig. Sixty-two bodies have been buried thus far in town, not counting the numbers which have been found in the outlying country and buried where found.

Ghouls are at work in that vicinity. A party from Duluth under James Bailey came down to help bury the dead and while searching around came upon a gang who had broken open and rifled some safes, and when Bailey and party met them they had just found a cistern from which they had hauled fifteen dead bodies and had robbed them of jewelry—rings, trinkets, etc., and were throwing the bodies back into the well. Bailey and party were unarmed and the ghouls took to their heels and escaped. A frame powder magazine at Sandstone, a portion of which was left standing and which was empty, was torn down for material for coffins.

The fire was seen by the Sandstone people four hours before it struck the town and everything was packed up in readiness to move to Kettle river, east of the village. Before anyone was aware of the real danger the fire came upon the town from the north, east and west and firing the whole town inside of five minutes. Many were unable to reach the river and died in the streets. A blacksmith burned to a crisp in his shop where he was shoeing a horse. So sudden was the fire, not a thing was saved, and in 30 minutes the whole town was swept off the earth. Those who reached the river remained most of the night. The survivors are entirely destitute and have not even clothing to their backs, except such as provided by the relief committees. Whole families are wiped out. President Sam Hill, of the Eastern Minnesota branch of the Great Northern, came up from Hinckley this morning and took a Great Northern train over the St. Paul & Duluth road. Mr. Hill took the Duluth road to within nine miles of Sandstone and walked over. The big Eastern Minnesota bridge over the Kettle river has a steel arch in the middle 180 feet long and is still intact, though wooden approaches are burned.

"The scene of death and ruin along the road is a terrible one," says Mr. Hill, "not a sign of life is anywhere to be seen, all is a blackened, charred mass of ruins. Dead animals and human beings are everywhere, and they are burned wherever found. In one old well was found 25 snakes and 40 or 50 field mice all in together alive. There were many peculiar features of the fire. In one place, where all else was burned and blackened all around, we found a wagon with the hay in the box intact, while the horses were dead. I noticed in one place some freight car wheels which were melted, while not 300 feet away was a car untouched. We fed a little fellow twelve years old at Sandstone; the rest of the family were burned."

Judge Nethaway, of Stillwater, has been one of the most active in relief work and has been all over the surrounding country. He found the family of Jack Robinson—man, wife and seven children, all dead and hardly recognizable, and also found J. O. Rowley, passenger agent of the Duluth & Winnipeg. Seven miles northwest of Hinckley he came to a spot where a farm house had stood.

In front was a well and over to the left could be seen five human bodies and bodies of several animals. Judge Nethaway went at once to the well to see if anyone was there and found down in the bottom a little 12-year-old boy, in eight inches of water, who had lived there since Saturday with nothing to eat. The little fellow was pulled up and said he had been put down there when the fire was seen and an "awful bad smoke had passed over him and it was awful hot." He asked the judge if he knew where his father and mother were and his dog. Judge Nethaway took him on his back to where he could be fed, while other parties went back after the five bodies.

At Hinckley the full realization of the awful calamity is just beginning to be felt. The work of rescuing dead bodies continues. Many of the survivors are returning and are living in tents. Yesterday a large number of bodies were recovered. Coroner Cowan sent out fifty-seven, while sixty-eight were buried in the grave yard and more were being brought in all the time. At noon the body of old Jerry Cowlet, with head burned almost beyond recognition, was found across the river in the gravel pit. Another body, supposed to be Olaf Olstedt, identified by a photograph, was also found there and it is thought that many more will be found later on.

At the gravel pit there are dozens of dead horses and cows, burned wagons, and the smell which goes up from Hinckley is a terrible one. A heavy cloud of smoke from the immense fires hangs over the remains of the town, through which is seen a small red ball. This is the sun.

Where the depot stood was a burned, charred hand; farther down the tracks lay a woman's limb, while out in the surrounding country one finds human trunks, heads and bones.

This morning the body of a man with intestines exposed and body black as coal, was brought into town along with a child's fearfully burned body and a man's leg and shoe. All were thrown into one pine coffin and buried. A few miles out in the woods on the Eastern Minnesota was found the body of a man, and a few feet away a rifle; in another place a woman's trunk, legs and arms having been burned off.

Hinckley survivors say if everyone had gone to the big gravel pit all would have been saved. Many went to the swamp across the river from which as many as 100 corpses have been taken. One farmer, whose name cannot be learned, who lived about half way between Miller and Sandstone, killed himself when he saw his wife and three children and his son-in-law, wife and child all burned to death before his very eyes and his home, stock and savings of a lifetime swept away.

Forty Lumbermen Missing.

Rush City, Minn., Sept. 5.—Ed St. John arrived in town and reported that great fires have destroyed the lumber camps belonging to him near here. Forty men who worked for him are missing.

Tobacco Manufacturers Disturbed.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 5.—The tobacco manufacturers of this city are greatly disturbed over the latest ruling of Secretary Carlisle on the Wilson bill provisions. They say that if the ruling is not modified they cannot sell leaf or other tobacco to small manufacturers and that they will be compelled to discontinue that business. The ruling requires that all tobacco sold in small quantities shall be regarded as manufactured tobacco and stamped at the rate of six cents per pound. This they regard as unjust to their patrons.

Gen. Banks' Funeral.

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 5.—Gen. N. P. Banks was laid to rest amid all the pomp and ceremony of the military life in which he had been such a distinguished participant, and the sorrow of his fellow-citizens, whose love and veneration he had earned by a life of steadfast devotion to principle. Every walk in life was represented, from the occupant of the governor's chair to the humblest citizen of Waltham, who knew him as a life-long friend of the poor and lowly.

Robbed of $1,230 in a Store.

Boston, Sept. 5.—Mrs. H. Crowley, of East Newton street, was the victim yesterday of a daring robbery in a dry goods store on Tremont street. She had $1,230 in a common hand bag. She had just drawn the money from a savings bank and was going about the store when an unknown thief cut open the side of the bag and took the contents. Mrs. Crowley did not notice the theft for some little time after it had been committed.

THE LATE DR. WELLING.

Sketch of His Distinguished Career in the Literary Field.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Dr. James Clark Welling, president of the Columbian university, of Washington, D. C., who died yesterday of heart failure at his summer home at Hartford, Conn., had occupied distinguished positions in literature and institutions of learning for many years. He was born in Trenton, N. J., July 14, 1825, and was graduated from Princeton college in 1844. He studied law, and in 1848 became associated with a New York collegiate school. Soon afterwards he removed to Washington, and became the literary editor of the old and powerful National Intelligencer, in the days of Gale and Seaton. He afterwards took charge, in part, of the political department of the national capital organ, and was an enthusiastic whig till that party passed out of existence with the defeat of Bell and Everett in 1860 and the outbreak of the civil war in the years following. He subsequently filled various chairs in different colleges, including that of belles lettres at Princeton, in 1870. The next year he became associated with the institution of which he was still president when he died, although his resignation had been tendered, on acount of failing health, and was to have taken effect on the first of next month.

ALTENBERGER BREAKS DOWN.

The Condemned Murderer Weakens as His Doom Approaches.

Jersey City, Sept. 5.—Bernard Altenberger, the murderer of Katie Rupp, is breaking down. He no longer laughs, plays cards with the keepers, or jokes with Bull, the other murderer. All yesterday he cried and moped in his cell. Last night he sobbed as if his heart would break, and he did not sleep well. The assurances of his keepers that Lawyer Pechall will yet save him do not comfort him, as they did a few days ago. This morning he turned away from his breakfast, but he was finally persuaded to eat. Yesterday he wrote a letter to his mother in Germany, asking her to forgive him. The chaplain was with him all the morning trying to cheer him, but with little success. Altenberger says he is prepared to die spiritually, and believes God has forgiven him.

Hangman Van Hise will be here today to erect the gallows. He will use four 100-pound weights for the drop, and the gallows will be thoroughly tested with a bag of sand of the same weight as the condemned man. The execution will take place to-morrow.

ANXIETY FOR A STEAMER.

The Miranda With the Cook Arctic Party Aboard Overdue.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 5.—Considerable apprehension is felt here for the steamer Miranda, which should have reached Sydney last week. She left here with the Cook Arctic expedition for Greenland on July 14. She returned two days later for repairs, having struck an iceberg and stove in her bow. She left again on July 27, and has not been heard from since. It is feared that she has met with some accident, as iron steamers like the Miranda are entirely unsuitable for Arctic navigation. The Miranda had about fifty excursionists aboard, besides a crew of nearly forty.

Social Science Convention.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 5.—In the department of education and sociology of the Social Science association Prof. A. C. Warner, of Leland Stanford, jr., university, read a paper on "Instruction in Methods of Administering Charity," and Prof. Daniel Quinn, of the Catholic University of America, read a paper on "The Highest Education in Greece." Prof. J. Irving Monott, of Brown university, secretary of the department, then read his annual report, included in a paper on "The Coligation of Culture in Modern Life."

FOREST FIRE RAVAGES

Estimate of Losses Sustained in 1893.

Millions of Acres of Wood and Prairie Land Laid Waste — The Fires Mainly Caused by Carelessness of Farmers and Hunters—Destruction of Timber a Serious Matter.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The national calamity involved in the recent forest fires gives interest to the reports of the forestry division of the agricultural department on the subject of previous ravages of similar character. The department sent out, early in the present year, circulars of inquiry to all parts of the country as to previous fires, but replies to about two fifths only were received. The estimates compiled from these partial replies show the following devastation during the year 1893:

Prairie fires—Acreage of grass land burned over, 13,478,627; damage to buildings, crops, etc., $1,663,525.

Forest fires—Acres of wood land burned, 12,819,295; feet of log timber killed, 473,387,000; valuable forest growth killed (acres), 222,466; acres of log timber killed, 62,000; damage to other property, $600,000.

A total reported loss of property amounting to $2,233,000, besides the accompanying loss of time killed and not estimated, and as replies were received from about only two-fifths of the circulars of inquiry, this estimate should probably be doubled.

The reports show that these destructive fires were mainly due to carelessness. Very largely they are due to the negligence of persons who are clearing land either for the purpose of agriculture or to secure a fresh growth of pasturage. In other cases they are started by passing locomotives and by hunters and campers, who neglect to extinguish their camp fires.

The following are extracts from a circular issued by the agricultural department discussing the question: We use in the United States over twenty-two billion cubic feet of wood annually. The area covered with wood growth is less than 500,000 acres. We know that the annual growth of wood per acre any year does not average more than 55 cubic feet, though under favorable conditions it may rise to double that amount with some species. Our present acreage, therefore, even if it were well stocked and well managed, could not produce our annual consumption. But we know that much of it is badly stocked, occupied with poor timber and not cared for. We are, therefore, consuming much more than the area produces, probably double this amount, and with ever year the disproportion grows. Most of the timber we are now cutting is over 200 years old. Hence the need of attention to more careful and more thorough utilization of our timber products, and especially to prevent unnecessary waste. The most harmful avoidable waste comes from losses by fire. Not only are enormous quantities of timber killed or deteriorated in valleys by the annual conflagrations, but by the burning of leaf mould and seedlings the ground is made barren and given over to inferior vegetation and scrubs, and desirable reforestation is prevented. It would be in the interest both of lumbermen and of communities to stop this waste. The draft of an elaborate bill drawn from the law enacted for the state of Maine in 1891 and then successfully applied was recommended to congress by the department as an effectual means of reducing the number of these fires.

MONEY AND POPULATION.

The Increase of Both from the Year 1800 to 1859.

Washington, Sept. 5.—An interesting statement has been prepared at the treasury department giving the amount of specie and bank note paper in circulation of the United States in years from 1800 to 1859. From this latter year the figures have formed a part of the report of the secretary of the treasury. At the beginning of the century the estimated specie was but $17,500,000 and the total of all kinds of money was but $28,000,000. The population was then only 5,308,483. In 1835 the specie had increased to $51,000,000 and all kinds of money to $154,692,495, and the population to 14,786,000.

Cranberry Crop Damaged.

Middleboro, Mass., Sept 5.—The cranberry crop will be exceedingly short, probably not one quarter as large as last year. Late frosts in the spring killed most of the blossoms, and dry weather has greatly hindered the growth of what was left by the frost The frost last month greatly injured the new shoots on bogs in this vicinity, so that the bearing wood for next year will not be as thrifty as usual.

Female Scullers To Meet.

Hartford, Sept. 5.—E. N. Atherton, manager of Tillie Ashley, who claims to be the champion female sculler, says she will accept the challenge of the St. Louis woman who wants to row. She received word from New Haven parties who want the race rowed there, saying they would offer a suitable prize. It is probable that the match will come off at St. Louis.

Fire in a State Game Preserve.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 5.—A large fire started on the Cairo roundtop, back of Catskill, on Monday, and it is reported that the game state preserve in the Catskills has suffered from forest fires, and that the fences, in places, have been burned, allowing some of the deer which were confined there to escape.

IT STARTLES US.

When We Read of Some of These Wonderful Things.

Miss Bessie L. Putnam, a well-known and popular young lady residing on the Lowell Road, Lawrence, Mass., has just had a very narrow escape from death.

"Two years ago," she says, "I found I found I was beginning to be very nervous and that the least excitement would bring on a fit of hysteria from which it took me two or three hours to recover. My nerves got in such a bad condition that some days I would cry for hours and then have a laughing spell.

"I was completely unstrung and could do nothing about our place. My stomach began to trouble me and I could not keep anything on it. From a woman weighing 162 pounds I found myself reduced to a shadow and was so feeble that I could hardly dress myself.

"I tried several physicians but they did not seem to be able to do anything to relieve me. I really thought my days were numbered and in fact made every preparation for my death as I fully expected to die within a short time.

MISS BESSIE L. PUTNAM.

"One of our neighbors calling wanted to know if I had ever used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and spoke so strongly in favor of it that I thought I would try it. When I had finished the first bottle and started on the second I felt that instead of a doomed woman I was going to be cured and enjoy life.

"My nervousness grew less and I ate without my food distressing me in the least, something I had not done for two years, and I began to gain flesh. I took six bottles and am now a well, strong woman, and hope to live to a good old age. My faith in Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is so strong that I gladly tell everyone what it has done for me, and I cannot too highly express my thanks for what Dr. Greene has done for me."

It is a fact that this wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will cure when others fail, that it will save life after all hope is gone. Take it and you will regain health and vigor, for it is the medicine that cures. Dr. Greene, its discoverer, is our most successful specialist in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted at his office, 35 West 14th street, New York, free, personally or by letter.

GRANGER LIVED HIGH.

His Defalcation Not a Surprise to Those Who Knew Him.

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—The defalcation of W. M. Granger, local manager of the Guaranty company, of North America, was not a surprise to those acquainted with the missing man's mode of living. On an income of less than $5,000 per year he is said to have lived at the rate of $15,000. Granger lived in grand style at his beautiful home. Mr. Monroe, general secretary of the Guaranty company, is in Pittsburg. At the conclusion of a conference with the local board of directors, Mr. Monroe announced that the company would assume responsibility for the bonds illegitimately disposed of by Granger; that they will substitute good bonds for the bogus papers and assume all of the loss and risk. However, they will try to recover from Granger's bondsmen and will prosecute Granger to the law's limit if he can be apprehended.

SENATOR JONES, POPULIST.

The Nevadan To Publish His Change in Political Faith To-day.

Washington, Sept. 4.—The Evening Star says:

"To-day furnished a genuine sensation in political circles, in the statement that Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada, who has represented his state in the United States senate for over twenty-one years as a republican, has formally renounced his allegiance to that party and cast his lot with the populists.

"Senator Jones has written a letter to his constituency, which will be published in Nevada to-day, and will be the first intimation to the people of that state that he has doffed the political garment which he has worn with such distinction for so many years and will don the garb of the third party."

HENRY IRVING SENDS $500.

Asks That It Be Used for a Forest Fire Relief Fund.

New York, Sept. 5.—Acting Mayor McClellan has received the following cablegram dated at London:

To the Mayor of New York:

I beg that you will use $500 cabled herewith for a forest fire relief fund. With my deepest regrets,

HENRY IRVING.

Col. McClellan had decided before he received the English actor's contribution to appoint a committee to receive funds for the sufferers in the devastated district.

Steamship Aground.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—The British steamship Elmville, from Hueiva, Spain, for Philadelphia, is aground on the west side of the Browne shoals, Delaware bay, in a dangerous position. The haze which has been so thick for several days was the primary cause of the accident.

IT HITS HAVANA HARD

Effect of Our New Tariff on the Cubans.

The Tariff of 1892 Now in Force and as a Result Leading Articles of Consumption Have Advanced 50 Per Cent. in Price—Relief Measures Denied the People.

Havana, Sept. 5.—During the week just closed the sugar export market has been extremely quiet, owing to lack of stock. On the other hand, the market for imports from the United States has been very much excited, owing to the abrogation of the reciprocity treaty, as a result of the new tariff law. The tariff of 1892 is now in force here, and the cost of most of the leading articles of consumption, such as lard, flour, ham and bacon, is largely increased, in some cases more than 50 per cent. In view of the present depressed condition of the sugar and tobacco markets this increase in the cost of the most necessary articles of food will be seriously felt by the laboring people. Importers here are much annoyed at the quite unexpected change of tariff on products of the United States, and in consequence the chamber of commerce has held several meetings and has petitioned the colonial minister to permit all vessels that sailed from American ports prior to Aug. 28 to be entered under the reciprocity treaty The minister has cabled for information to the Cuban authorities, whose reply is unfavorable to the importers' petition

There has been very little change in the condition of the tobacco trade since the new tariff went into effect in the United States. It is difficult to make predictions, but there is observable a better feeling among traders here, in spite of the great change introduced in the tobacco schedule by the United States senate.

The Explorer Remembered in Mrs. Maria L. Daly's Will.

New York, Sept. 5.—The will of the late Mrs. Maria L. Daly, wife of ex-Judge Charles P. Daly, has been filed for probate. In the first clause of the will the deceased leaves to her maid, Annie Waukari, $4,000, and to each servant that may be in her employ at her death $200. Judge Daly is given the residence at 52 Clinton place, and all the stocks, bonds and investment securities of which the testatrix died possessed. She leaves to the Sag Harbor Literary society $20,000, and creates a trust fund of $20,000 for her sister, Rosalie Staples, which is to go at her death to the New York Botanical gardens. Paul du Chaillu, the African explorer, is to get $20,000 of the remainder of the estate, the New York Geographical society is to get one-sixth and the New York Botanical gardens one-twelfth. The remainder is divided between the brothers, sisters, nephews and nieces of the deceased.

KOCCIS ESCAPES THE ROPE.

His Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Trenton, N. J. Sept. 5.—The court of pardons, by a unanimous vote, commuted to imprisonment for life the sentence of John Koccis, who was condemned to be hanged to-morrow for killing his mistress, Mary Magolis.

Koccis left a wife and three children in Hungary, came here and lived with the wife of his boyhood friend. She was Mary Magolis, middle-aged and good-looking. Her husband was out west. When he returned the woman wanted to leave Koccis and return to her husband. This made Koccis insanely jealous, and on Aug 5, 1892, he shot the woman in the heart without a word of warning. By hard work Koccis' lawyers obtained many signatures to a petition for the commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life. Koccis has been very religious.

This leaves only two murderers to be hanged in New Jersey to-morrow. They are Bernard Altenberger, who killed his sweetheart, Katie Rupp, of Rome, N. Y., and Wesley Warren, who is to hang for the murder of Lizzie Peak.

Potter Murder Mystery.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 5.—The mystery about the murder of Mrs. Susan A. Potter, of Rice city, was deepened when her husband returned and learned of the crime. There were some who suspected Potter, but his grief was so apparently genuine that it caused a revulsion in the feeling and there are few who now believe him guilty. The bullet was taken from the woman's head and though it is somewhat battered, it is apparently of 32-calibre. Potter had a revolver of that size which he gave up upon his return home.

Fresh Search for Robinson and Logan

City of Mexico, Sept. 5.—The Mexican government has informed United States Minister Gray that it has issued fresh orders to the governor of the state of Sonora for the continuation of the search for Robinson and Logan, two Americans, supposed to have been killed and eaten by Indians at Tiburon island some time ago.

Alien Labor Law Not Violated.

Albany, Sept. 5.—Frank H. Lown, vice-president of the Hudson River State hospital at Poughkeepsie, writes Gov. Flower that there are no violations at that institution of the law providing for the employment of men who are citizens of the United States only.

Cloudburst and Fatal Lightning.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 5.—The lower portion of this town was inundated yesterday by a cloud burst. The lightning, which was incessant, killed the little son of Thomas Herman, fatally burned a nine-year-old daughter and tore the house to pieces.

Death Mask of Gen. Banks.

Boston, Sept. 5.—A death mask of Gen. Banks was taken at his home by William Ordway Partridge, the sculptor, assisted by an Italian workman, who performed a like service for Victor Hugo.

The Ohio cyclers who came to Plainfield by way of Canada yesterday said that the best road they found in the whole journey was the strip between Elizabeth and Plainfield. They were told of the delights of cycling on the way to New Brunswick and went on to Metuchen.

Vincent Rockwell still feels the effects of his accident in Rahway Monday. His escape from death is considered marvelous by those who saw it. He was racing with another Plainfielder who was 30 yards ahead of him when Rockwell, who was spurting in the middle of the street-car track, met a car coming in an opposite direction. He was riding with his head lowered and ran between the two horses and struck the dash-board before he noticed anything wrong. The car was on an up-grade and moved so slowly that the driver stopped it very quickly. Rockwell was pulled from beneath the car. A front wheel had cut through his clothes and pinched his waist. Had the car been moving faster he would have been killed.

Court Coddington.

A special session of the City Court was held yesterday afternoon for a hearing in the case of Mollie Stevens who was arrested yesterday morning for having been drunk and disorderly on West Fourth street near Park avenue, August 23. She was found guilty and fined $5.

While court was in session Special Officer William Robinson brought in a crowd of colored residents of Cottage place. One of their number, Sarah Hardaway, was accused of fighting and drawing a knife on Spencer Carr. As the charge could not be proved and all seemed to have been in the wrong, sentence was suspended.

A farm hand was sent to jail for 15 days this morning for being drunk on Liberty street last night.

Speeding the Electric Road.

A representative of the Central New Jersey Traction Company was in Plainfield today seeking consents for the passage of the electric railway through Second street, to run from the Peace street tracks to Richmond. He said that the list of consents for the Mountain avenue line was complete, and that consents were secured for the North avenue route from Plainfield to Elizabeth. The road will be built from New York to Philadelphia just as fast as the franchises can be secured.

Success of the Latin School.

The changing of the name and management of the Harned Academy to the Plainfield Latin School seems to have been very successful. Already all of the rooms have been engaged by a nice class of boarding students, and the list of day pupils grows steadily. Students from other places are arriving, in preparation for the term beginning Monday, Sept. 17. The Latin School is in charge of George C. Harrison, LL. B., who has selected a corps of competent assistants.

LEFT HIS SON AND HORSE.

Neglect and Cruelty Attributed to a North Plainfield Man.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

A man, who appeared to be a stranger, drove into this city early yesterday morning in an old wornout rig. He was accompanied b a little boy, and the few persons who noticed them thought that they came to town to see the sights.

He drove down Broad street as far as P. J. Ryan's office, where he tied the horse to a post. He then told the boy that he was going to New York on business and would be back at noon. The little fellow, supposing that he would arrive at the specified time, waited until late in the afternoon, when he went across the street and related his story to Mr. Rogers, the cigar manufacturer, and several others, who gave him his dinner. He was found later in the day in the same place.

Officer Maynes was then notified, and going to the scene had the poor horse, which had been standing there all day, taken to a watering-trough, where it was given a drink. The little fellow told the officer that his name was Joseph Olmsteadt, 10 years old, and that the man who drove him to town was his father, a painter living in North Plainfield.

About 7 in the evening the father was seen to unhitch the horse and drive away. People who saw the affair say that he was drunk.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Continued Drouth Playing Havoc Throughout the East.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The weather bureau furnishes the following reports of crop conditions for the week ended yesterday:

New England—Too dry for plowing or seeding; crops maturing rapidly and being harvested; potatoes variable, but, on the whole, fair crop; little decay reported.

New York—Drouth unrelieved; vegetation drying up; water scarce and much inconvenience occasioned; soil too hard to plow; stock being fed from winter store.

New Jersey—Another week without rain, intensifying drouth conditions; streams and wells drying up; farmers carrying water for household and stock; orchard fruits forcing and dropping badly; many crops beyond help.

Pennsylvania—Drouth unbroken and effects very damaging to all crops; corn drying up; light yield of potatoes; buckwheat below average; pasturage very short and stock being fed; most tobacco being housed in good condition.

Maryland—Rain insufficient everywhere; tomatoes improved and canneries worked to fullest capacity; corn good in some sections, but poor in others; tobacco cutting and fodder saving progressing; buckwheat very promising; grapes falling; apples poor

Not a Candidate for Congress.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 5.—Senator Harvey J. Donalison, of Ballston Spa, says that he is not a candidate for the republican nomination to congress in this district, to succeed Gen. N. M. THE UPPER SOUTH

For Factories and Homes.

Grand opportunities exist in West Virginia, Maryland and the famous Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, a section possessing all the requisites for health, comfort and prosperity.

No region in the United States is attracting greater attention; people from the North and West are looking that way with a view of locating. Improved farm lands are to be obtained at from $8 per acre and upwards, unimproved timber lands at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Rich mineral lands are cheap; excellent water powers, manufacturing sites, business locations, etc., are numerous. The people are hospitable and extend a warm welcome to newcomers. The climate is unequalled, no severe storms or cyclones, no contagious diseases.

IN MEMORY OF HIS FATHER.

Captain Winslow's Son Gets a Cane From the Old Kearsage.

Lieutenant Herbert Winslow, on duty at the Washington Navy Yard, has received a beautiful oak cane from Secretary Herbert, accompanied by a letter, in which the Secretary says:

"I herewith present to you a cane turned from one of the timbers of the Kearsage, made so famous by the gallantry of your distinguished father and the sailors, under his command. I take especial pleasure in conveying to your keeping this memento, because I feel assured from the character you bear in the navy that should occasion offer, you will prove yourself worthy of this token and of the honored name you bear." In accepting the cane Lieutenant Winslow said:

"I am extremely grateful to you for the beautiful cane made from one of the timbers of the old Kearsage. Your kind words which accompanied the gift will increase my chief ambition, which is to serve my country, and always be an honor to my father's name."

An Expensive Taste.

Father—Yes, I admit that your lover has a good income, but he has very expensive tastes, very.

Daughter—You amaze me; what does he ever want that is so very expensive?

Father—Well, you for one thing.—Tid Bits.

Possibly a Libel.

Mrs. Liteheart—My husband gave me some money this morning.

Mrs. Spendit—Are you going shopping to-day?

Mrs. L.—No, indeed; no shopping for me to-day. I'm going downtown to buy something.—N. Y. Press.

Colors Told by the Sense of Touch.

Helen Kellar has added to her accomplishments the ability to distinguish colors. She has a drawer full of hair ribbons of various colors, and she can select any desired ribbon by touch. There have been other blind persons who could do this, but they are exceedingly rare.—Boston Evening Record.

DAYS GONE BY.

Oh, the days gone by! Oh, the days gone by!
The apple in the orchard, and the pathway through the rye;
The chirrup of the robin, and the whistle of the quail,
As he piped across the meadows sweet as any nightingale;
When the bloom was on the clover and the blue was in the sky,
And my happy heart brimmed over, in the days gone by.

In the days gone by, when my naked feet were tripped,
By the honeysuckle's tangles, where the water lilies dipped,
And the ripple of the river lipped the moss along the brink,
Where the placid-eyed and lazy-footed cattle came to drink,
And the tilting snipe stood fearless of the truant's wayward cry,
And the splashing of the swimmer, in the days gone by.

Oh, the days gone by! Oh, the days gone by!
The music of the laughing lips, the lustre of the eye;
The childish faith in fairies, and Aladdin's magic ring,
The simple, soul-reposing, glad belief in everything,
When life was like a story, holding neither sob nor sigh,
In the olden, golden glory of the days gone by.

THE VERMONT ELECTION.

Republican Gains Nearly 17 Per Cent. and Democratic Loss 26.

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 5.—Returns from 13 of the 16 towns in this county give Woodbury (rep.), for governor, 2,764; Smith (dem.), 461; McGinnis (pop.), 118. Of the 15 representatives elected all but one are republicans.

The republican candidates for state offices and congressmen elected yesterday are as follows:

Governor, Urban A. Woodbury, of Burlington; lieutenant-governor, Zephar M. Mansur, of Brighton; state treasurer, Henry F. Field, of Rutland; secretary of state, Chauncey W. Brownell, of Burlington; state auditor, Franklin D. Hale, of Lunenburg. Members of congres—First district, H. Henry Powers, of Morristown; second district, William W. Grout, of Barton.

The republican gain is nearly 17 per cent. and the democratic loss nearly 26 per cent.

Starving Fishermen Picked Up.

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 5.—Captain Parsons, of ship Emily F. Whitney, just arrived from Trapani, reports that on Aug. 17, in lat. 44:53, N., lon. 50:40, W., picked up four men in a small boat, in a starving condition. They could not speak English, but it is learned that they belonged to the French fishing schooner Maria, of St. Pierre, Miq., which sprung a leak on Grand Banks and foundered Aug. 13. The crew, eighteen in number, took to their dories, sixteen of them being picked up by different vessels, the other two dying from fatigue and hunger.

Wants an Order To Pay Employes.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—Application was made by Francis I. Gowen, receiver of the South Jersey Railroad company to Judge Dallas, in the United States circuit court, for an order to provide for the payment of wages of employes. It was related that the men were not paid during June, July and August and that there is coming to them about $39,000 for which they hold time checks. The judge took the application under consideration.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail

PROPPING UP THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Plainfield's Educational Board Begins Its Work for the Term.

The September meeting of the Board of Education was held in the High School Building last evening. The routine business of the month was transacted, extra supports were ordered placed beneath the first-floor beams of the High School to relieve doubts as to the building's safety, and vacancies in the roll of teachers were filled.

The report from the city collector was received after the minutes had been read and approved. It showed that he had collected $365 65 for the board during the month of August. A communication was received from Mrs. Emma Waldorf of La-Grande avenue, who requested permission to use the assembly hall for the teaching of elocution. On motion Mrs. Waldorf was granted the privilege, subject to the same conditions made last year. The Board reserves the right to repeal this action at any time during the year.

The Committee on Teachers made a report in which they recommended the appointment of the following teachers: Lyman D. Allen, science teacher in the High School; Miss Anna D. Sime, first year in Washington School; Miss Julia A. Butler, third year in Bryant School; and Miss Mary W. Marshall, assistant in the Bryant School. The appointments were sanctioned by the Board. These teachers are chosen to fill the places of those who have not sent in acceptances of their reappointments to teach this term.

Dr. Probasco reported to the Buildings Committee that complaint had been made to Chief Doane that the High School was in danger of falling. The Chief had inspected the building thoroughly, and reported to the Committee that there was no danger whatever. The Committee thought it best, however, to have posts placed on the cellar floor level to furnish additional support for the first floor beams. On motion the Committee was authorized to have the necessary work done.

Mr. Lovell and Dr. Jenkins were appointed an Auditing Committee to examine the financial account of the past year. The clerk was authorized to purchase a copy of F. A. Dunham's new atlas of the city and North Plainfield.

The fact that there is no hydrant near the Irving School was brought up for action. The Buildings Committee was told to ask the Common Council to have a hydrant placed near the building. The water company's nearest customer now is the street railway company. A number of bills were paid, and the meeting was adjourned till Monday, October 1.

HIS HONOR, THE BABY.

His Absorbing Love and Loyalty For Mamma During the First Year—Two Hearts That Beat as One.

A pretty, healthy child,
With cheeks like an apple,
Who babbles, chatters, prattles,
Who laughs beneath your kisses.

Perhaps it is well that but few mothers know that more than one-third of all the babies born die before they have lived a year, and that two-thirds of them die in the summer months.

Where the food is absolutely pure and sufficiently nourishing, though the mercury runs high, children get along as a rule perfectly well.

When, for any reason the mother cannot nurse her child, or when her milk is insufficient or poor in quality, the best trained nurses use lactated food at once. It is known to invariably make firm flesh, a clear skin, bright eyes and to strengthen the body so that diarrhea, cholera infantum and exhausting summer sickness do not easily gain a footing. Lactated food babies are rosy specimens of genuine fun loving, noisy children that develop strong physiques with large bones and muscles.

His Eloquence Worth Paying For.

The Waterbury Daily American of Aug. 30 tells of a Plainfield preacher's success in fishing:

"Rev. J. W. Richardson and family will end their six-weeks outing at Quassapaug Lake tomorrow. The parson was a novice at the sport of fishing when he first began his summering at the lake, but he is now recognized generally as the most expert bass fisherman in the vicinity. Tuesday he hooked in about two hours six bass which weighed over 12 pounds. One of them weighed 3¾ pounds on 'Uncle Eben' Richardson's accurate steelyards. It was a very exciting event in the parson's life and well worth half a dollar to hear him describe the event."

Your Vision.

Many people are in doubt as to what their eyes should do for them. A test will set you right. If you have headache or your eyes are causing you anxiety or discomfort, consult Leech, Stiles & Co.'s eye specialist, who will be at 107 East Front street every Thursday from 10 a.m. to 5 p m. No charge to examine your eyes. Glasses are prescribed only when needed, and are guaranteed to relieve the trouble for which the are prescribed.

THIS ELECTION A TIE.

Free School Book Question in New Market Still Undecided.

Yesterday was school election day in New Market, and it was expected that a large number of voters would turn out to carry or defeat the question of having free school books provided by the trustees of the district. Only 91 of the 800 persons eligible to vote went to the polls, however, and when the voting closed it was found that they had not been able to decide the question.

The polls were opened in the New Market school at 3 in the afternoon. A. S. Coriell and C. E. Kelley were the tellers. The trustees put the question in the form of a request for an appropriation of $1,000 for the purchase of free books and $300 for incidental expenses. The "incidentals" were explained as having been made necessary by the consolidation of the districts under the new law, it having been discovered that the different amounts appropriated by the small districts for the annual expenses were not enough when all were added together for the use of the one large district.

It was noticed that the attendance was not very large, and that the farmers from the lower districts were inclined to talk against the appropriations rather strongly, and near the end, at 8 in the evening, it was expressed as an opinion that the voting would turn out close. Still there was considerable surprise when the result of the voting was announced. Of the 91 voters 45 had voted for the appropriations, 45 against, and one man who evidently believed in a compromise between the two extreme views on the question, had placed on his ballot simply the figures "300". This last vote was thrown out, and the election was called a tie.

The question is thus left open for discussion, and the "campaign" has commenced again. The Board of Trustees, strongly in favor of having the free book system introduced, met after the result of the ballot was known and agreed to meet in the Whittier School Building, Dunellen, at 2:30 this afternoon to decide upon some action in the matter. The calling of another election seems to be the only way out of the difficulty.

NO DOG DAMAGE.

So the Town Committee Has No Canine Bills to Pay.

The Fanwood Township Committee met in their rooms last evening and awaited the presentation of claims for damages done by dogs. None came and there was but little other business to be transacted.

Clerk Hand read the minutes of the previous meeting after the committeemen had assembled. After they were approved Treasurer Miller reported as follows:

Balance reported last month	$548.50
Paid out	286.78
Balance remaining	$261.72

Progress was reported by committees. The electric lighting company had complied with the order of the committee to change the location of the lights on North and South avenues near the Fanwood station.

Clerk Hand reported that no bills for damages by dogs had been presented. Treasurer Miller asking for $500 he was authorized to negotiate a loan for that amount for three months.

Mr. Downer said that there were 237 dogs on the township list. The next meeting, the first Monday in October, would be the time to assess the tax. A number of bills were ordered paid. Blacksmith Trainor's skill in repairing the road scraper was complimented and the committee adjourned.

WEST END NOTES.

Miss Jennie Smalley and Miss Myra Runyon of Lafayette place are spending a few weeks in Trenton.

Mrs. Albert Marsh and Mrs. Fred Haberle of West Front street are making great progress on the wheel and in learning the ordinance on sidewalk riding.

The Socialists of this end of town are quietly booming their party's part in the next election. They hope to have a representative in the Common Council.

He's a Mighty Good One.

John C. Staats, Director of the Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders, is a Democrat, and comes from Franklin, one of the strongest Republican townships in the county. Mr. Staats was director for two years some time ago, and was elected last May to fill again the chair. He has served six years as Freeholder, and previous to that was Assessor of the township alongside the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

Squiers Can Shoot Well.

George W. Squiers of Harmeny street broke forty-five out of fifty blue rocks and killed seven out of eight live birds at the Climax Gun Club grounds recently, using the new Troisdorf smokeless powder. This was the first practice Mr. Squiers has had since Decoration Day, and it is conceded to be very fair shooting.

—Charles Wakefield has erected a neat cottage on the lot he recently purchased on Somerset place.

THE ONWARD MARCH

of Consumption is stopped short by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If you haven't waited beyond reason, there's complete recovery and cure. In those scrofulous conditions of the blood which invite Consumption; in severe, lingering Coughs, and Weak Lungs, this medicine is a proved remedy.

MISS M. H. SNEED.

MRS. SARAH S. SNEED, of Clio, Iredell Co., N. C., writes: "My daughter was first attacked with pneumonia and pleurisy in very bad form and was then taken with a very bad cough, which kept growing worse and worse, until finally it seemed as though she had consumption very bad. The physicians prescribed Cod liver oil, but to no benefit. I procured two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she grew better. She hasn't felt any return of lung disease in over twelve months. She was nothing but a skeleton when she took the first dose, and to-day she weighs 135 pounds."

—Weakfish are biting at Boynton Beach.

HIS STYLE OF DEMOCRACY.

Capt. Parker Says He Isn't a Republican Yet By Any Means.

Captain James Parker, formerly of Plainfield and now of Perth Amboy, the candidate for District Attorney in this State whose name was withdrawn by President Cleveland, and John Kean, Jr., one time Republican candidate for Governor, were fellow-passengers recently on a ferryboat while returning from New York to New Jersey. It was the most natural thing in the world for them to fall into political talk, and when they had become thoroughly interested they had a little good-natured banter. Said Mr Kean:

"I guess you 're not so good a Democrat now as you were a while ago."

"I don't know why you should say that"—replied Captain Parker—"as I have often made it clear to you that my politics is of the dyed-in-the wool sort".

"That 's so"—said Kean—"you did say once that you'd vote the Democratic ticket if the party put the devil at its head, even as against an angel at the head of the Republican ticket".

"Yes, yes"—said Captain Parker—"but that is n't all I said. Do n't you remember the rest? I meant it then, and I'll stand by it now".

Mr. Kean acknowledged that his memory was at fault if there had been anything more said on that subject on the occasion referred to, so the jolly Democratic war horse of Perth Amboy proceeded to jog his memory in this manner:

"What I said was this: 'I would vote for the devil on the Democratic ticket rather than for an angel on the Republican ticket, but I am sure the Democratic party is too smart to put his Satanic majesty or even one of his representatives at the head of the ticket, and I am equally sure that no self-respecting angel would come down and consent to serve as a candidate at the head of the Republican party.' I have n't yet had occasion to alter my opinion, Mr. Kean."

Abundant Beauty and Melody.

The company which is to present "Wang", the successful comic opera, in Music Hall, Friday night, numbers sixty people, and carries not only its own special orchestra but also all of the necessary gorgeous spectacular scenery on a scale bewilderingly beautiful.

Among its leading artists is six-foot Albert Hart, of commanding presence and handsome face, and possessing a strong voice that makes him a favorite. Charles Burrows retains his old part. John A. Parks gives a bright character portrayal. Frank Casey, keeper of the royal elephant and one of the best comedians in his line, still has charge of the noble animal. Camm Mauvel's stage management is perfect. Miss Virginia Earl, the Crown Prince, is pretty, and her carriage is extremely graceful. Her voice is sweet, and every part assigned to her is given in a most delightful way. Marion Singer, who created the well-known part of the widow in the first production of "Wang" in the Broadway Theatre, has been reengaged for this season. Florence Drake makes a charming Marie. Josephine Stanton has a fine contralto voice. There are other clever and beautiful women in the cast.

Game and Fish Laws.

The following synopsis of the game laws as amended this year will be found convenient for reference. The dates are the open season in which the game and fish may be killed or caught:

Ruffed Grouse (Partridge), from October 31 to December 16. Quail, from November 10 to December 16. Woodcock, September 30 to December 16, and month of July. Upland Plover, July 31 to December 16. English Snipe, August 25 to December 16, also March and April. Prairie Chicken, October 31 to December 16. Reed Bird, August 25 to December 16. Rail Bird, August 25 to December 16. Marsh Hen, August 25 to December 16. Duck and Geese, August 31 to May 1. Gray Squirrel, September 14 to December 16. Black Squirrel, October 31 to December 16. Fox Squirrel, October 31 to December 16. Rabbit, November 10 to December 16. Brook Trout, April 1 to July 15. Black Bass, May 29 to December 1. Hen European Partridge, not within five years after passage of act. Male English Pheasant, between October 31 and December 16.

The nighthawk, whippoorwill, thrush, meadow lark, finch, martin, barn swallow, woodpecker, robin, oriole, red bird, cedar bird, tanger and all other insectivorous birds, are protected at all times; and to rob or destroy the nest or eggs of any wild bird is prohibited.

Traps, snares, etc., for the capture of game are prohibited.

Taking fish from rivers and lakes stocked by the Game Commissioners, within three years from the time such fish are introduced therein, is punishable by a fine of $20. Hunting and fishing on Sunday are prohibited. Hunting with ferrets is prohibited.

Bass less than nine and trout less than six inches in length must not be destroyed, taken by hook or line or in any way whatever.

The law prohibits set lines, gill, drift, fyke or other nets, eel pots or baskets, the shooting of game fish, or the use of any device whatever except hook and line, or any device whatever that will interfere or deter said fish from ascending the streams, in any river or stream above tidewater, inhabited by bass, trout or other game fish, under a penalty of not less than $20 nor more than $250.

Drawing off the water of any pond, stream or lake, for the purpose of taking, capturing or killing the fish therein, is prohibited. Penalty from $25 to $250.

The penalty for placing medicated bait, drug, or any substance whatever that will kill or destroy fish in any of the rivers of this State, is not less than $100 nor more than $500.

Non-residents not complying with the by-laws of the Game Protective Societies of this State are prohibited from shooting within its limits under a penalty of $50, or imprisonment until the fine is paid.

—Gardner, the enterprising and hustling Somerset Street baker, has given a very pretty and attractive color to his show windows by covering his electric lights with a delicate tint of tissue paper.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

There is an inclination among local sports to bet on the ball games.

The Sons of Temperance will hold an organization meeting this evening.

Driving over the plank bridge by the stone crusher is rendered dangerous by a hole in the flooring.

Miss Reilly and Miss Dobbins of Newark spent Sunday and Labor Day with Miss Nellie Flannery of Park avenue.

Joseph Clark and Louis Tuzo are the citizens of Fanwood Township who will serve as petit jurors in the October term of court.

The Scotch Plains nine will play the Westfields on the local diamond Saturday afternoon. The battery will be Hand and Ball. Johnson, who acted as umpire Labor Day, will probably play second base.

The profits of the stereopticon lecture which the Messrs. Hall will give in the Baptist Church tomorrow night will go to aid the new Choral Union. The views will be of scenes in London and the West Indies.

The residents of the twin villages have finally become enthusiastic over baseball. The feeling of interest in the boys is welcomed by them, late in the season as it has been aroused. The last three games are still important subjects for discussion. It is proposed that if the grounds can be hired next year a fence and a small grandstand be erected. The smoothing of the outfield is a work that will probably be done soon.

The Board of Trustees met in the school last evening and investigated the breaking of one front window and two in the rear. Three boys were implicated in the affair. One of them owned a revolver and practised shooting with two others with whom he shared his pleasure. The three broken windows resulted. Then the revolver owner told of the affair and the attention of the Board was called to the trio. The boys families will pay the damages.

The Choral Union organized Monday evening in the chapel of the Baptist Church. About thirty attended. Rev. J. S. Braker presided. The following officers were elected: President—Pastor Braker; Vice-president—Supt. Colgate; Secretary—George L. Dunn; Treasurer—William R. Buckley. To select a leader for the Union, the following were chosen a committee: President Braker, Miss Hannah Hayes, Miss Rhinehart, William Banks, W. R. Buckley and two others, one each to be selected from the Methodist and Episcopal churches by President Braker. The meeting was adjourned subject to the call of the Chair. It is expected that the next meeting will be held the third week in September.

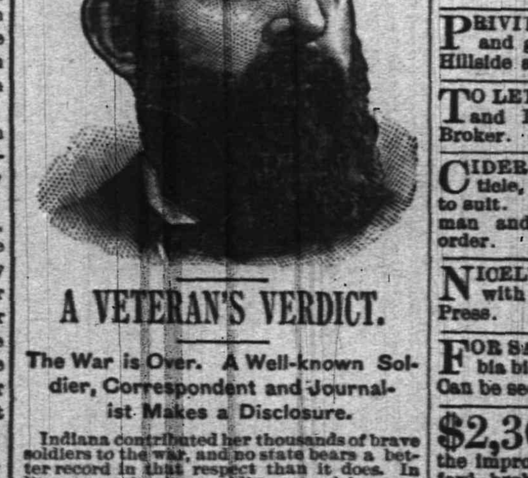
Mr. Evans and family of The Pines, New Market, moved yesterday to their home in Brooklyn for the Winter.

Death of an Old Citizen.

George Mager, a retired farmer from Union Village who for the past three years had lived at 58 Manning avenue, died last evening at 6, in his eighty-fourth year. He was an Odd Fellow, and his order will have charge of the funeral Friday afternoon at 2:30.

A Dual Session.

The Plainfield Common Council will hold two sessions tonight—the first a special meeting called for sewer bids, the second to take the place of the regular September meeting postponed by Monday being a holiday.



A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

Sold by A. D. Ballinger, 205 North Avenue, opp station.

ONLY A MUTUAL FRIEND

Uncle Sam's Position Toward China and Japan.

Our Diplomatic Representatives Instructed To Use Their Friendly Offices in the Protection of Citizens of One Nation Living in the Other—Right of Asylum Not Guaranteed.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The acquiescence of the United States in the request of both combatants in the eastern struggle to stand by as a mutual friend to each, which was mentioned in these dispatches at the outbreak of hostilities, has now assumed definite official shape. The state department has directed all diplomatic and consular officers in those countries to use their friendly offices in the protection of Chinese subjects in Japan and Japanese subjects in China. Instructions giving the scope of the protection to be afforded have been sent to these officers. The term "good offices" is not to be construed to mean the granting of the right of asylum in the United States legations and consulates, and officers in the American foreign service are not to have the functions of consular officers of either China or Japan. All the Chinese consuls in Japan and the Japanese consuls in China have gone back to their respective countries and their interests are now practically in the hands of the American officials.

A report that two Japanese subjects had been given asylum in the consulate general of the United States at Shanghai is contradicted by the consul general. He cabled the state department that he had not harbored the Japanese in question and it is probable that he merely tendered his good offices in their behalf.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

LOSS OF THE MIRANDA

Hardships and Perils of the Cook Explorers.

Fortunate That the Passengers Were Aboard the Fishing Schooner When the Steamer Began To Settle—Nothing Saved Except the Clothing on the Shipwrecked People's Backs.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 6.—The crew and passengers of the lost steamer Miranda, which left New York on July 7 with Dr. F. A. Cook's Arctic expedition, and who arrived here yesterday on the schooner Rigel, of Gloucester, Mass., are as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

Some of the party will leave here today overland and the balance will take passage on the Rigel to Gloucester. In speaking of their experience they tell of many hardships and perils.

On August 9 the Miranda struck a rock near Sukkertoppen, West Greenland, and was abandoned in a sinking condition August 23, in Davis Strait, latitude about 61.15, longitude 58.40.

The particulars of the expedition and its disastrous termination are as follows: After repairing the damage sustained by the iceberg collision of July 17, the Miranda left St. John's, N. F., on July 29, and proceeded directly to Greenland. Much ice and fog were unexpectedly encountered off Cape Farewell. At one time the vessel came near being nipped in the floes, the rising of a fog disclosing ice all around.

The southwest coast of Greenland was so blocked with ice that no landing could be made until August 7, when the expedition reached Sukkertoppen, in latitude 65.25. Leaving this port on the morning of the 9th for Disco, the vessel had proceeded about seven miles at full speed when she struck with tremendous force on a hidden reef. Everything loose went flying forward. The steward, Joseph Farrell, was struck by a trunk and slightly injured. A party at breakfast found themselves piled up with dishes and viands at the end of the cabin.

Three times the high waves lifted the ship and let her down with a crash that shook her from end to end. When she floated off, great excitement prevailed, as the vessel was soon seen to be settling. The boats were swung off and everything made ready to abandon the steamer. It was found, however, that the main injury was beneath the ballast tank, which filled so rapidly that the pumps could not control the inflow. But the watertight bulkhead protected the other compartments, and Eskimo pilots having at length come off in their kayaks, the steamer was gotten safely into harbor.

As it was considered unsafe to proceed further with the damaged vessel, the situation of so large a body of excursionists on this inhospitable coast was not encouraging, especially when it was found that the Danish steamer, which regularly visits the settlement, had been stove in by ice and would not arrive this year. It began to look as if the expedition would have to winter in Greenland, and short rations were served in anticipation of such a catastrophe.

It was learned, however, through the Danish governor, that several American fishing schooners were on the halibut banks near Holsteinborg, 120 miles north. To secure one of these vessels Dr. Cook, with Messrs. Rogers, Porter and Dunning and four Eskimos, started for the banks in an open boat. After a stormy voyage, lasting ten days, they found the Rigel and brought her to the assistance of the people on the disabled steamship. The passengers were transferred to the Rigel. The Miranda then took the Rigel in tow and left Sukkertoppen on August 21, intending to proceed directly to St. John's, N. F. All went well for two days, but a heavy sea the second night weakened the top of the ballast tank, on which an enormous hydrostatic pressure was exerted, and it gave way at 12:30 a. m., August 23. Three blasts of the whistle gave warning to the Rigel to stand by. The night was cold, dark and foggy, and the vessels bounded like balls on the billows.

On board the Miranda all was confusion. The firemen leaving the boiler-room without orders, cut loose the best lifeboat (which was immediately dashed to pieces against the ship's side) and were only kept in submission at the point of the captain's revolver. The carpenters tried in vain to stop the leak with blankets and mattresses, and at daylight, as water was invading the coal bunker and a storm was threatening, the steamer was abandoned. The crew were taken up by the schooner.

It was fortunate that the passengers were already on the Rigel, as a transfer could hardly have been effected under the trying conditions without loss of life. Nothing except the sailors' bags was saved from the Miranda. The passengers lost all their baggage except the clothing worn on board the relief vessel at Sukkertoppen. Many of them lose expensive scientific instruments and hunting equipments. All the botanical, geological and ethnological collections, and all the photographs, probably the finest ever taken in Greenland, went down with the Miranda.

Prof. Dyke, of Kansas university, lost a fine lot of Labrador and Greenland birds. Prof. Wright, of Oberlin college, was able to make interesting studies of the glaciers near Sukkertoppen, but otherwise the expedition was a failure, from a scientists' standpoint, as it was also from that of the sportsman. The journey home was without other incidents than adverse winds, the inconvenience of close quarters and insufficient provisions, only ten days' supplies for forty men having been placed on the Rigel, and the addition of the Miranda's crew made ninety-one persons on board this little craft of 107 tons. The passengers slept in the hold, on top of the salt and fish. Gulls and other sea birds constituted the only fresh meat of the party for the last ten days. Too great credit cannot be given to Captain Dixon and the crew of the Rigel for their efforts in behalf of those whom they had rescued. The party will have a banquet at South Sydney before dispersing, at which time a handsome testimonial will be presented to Captain Dixon.

A. R. U. DIRECTORS' TRIAL.

The Day Spent in Discussing Legal Points and Reading Telegrams.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Scant progress was made yesterday in the trial of the nine directors of the American Railway union who are charged with violating the injunction issued by Judges Grosscup and Woods of the United States court during the recent railroad strike. The defendants include the four officers of the union which are directors ex-officio. All were in court early except President Eugene V. Debs, who, it was announced, was ill, but later he appeared, looking pale and worn.

Edwin M. Mulford, the principal witness, took with him to the stand a bulky bundle containing telegrams alleged to have been sent by the American Railway union during a period of three weeks, most of them signed "E. V. Debs." These telegrams had in many cases been sent to many distant points from Chicago and would have cost at the commercial rates $6,000. Only half that sum was charged the union for them by special arrangement with the Western Union Telegraph company, of which Mr. Mulford is the Chicago manager. The morning was spent in the discussion of legal points and the afternoon in reading telegrams. The telegrams were of much the same purport. In most cases they called on the strikers to stand firm, asked them to organize or gave them authority to strike.

The witness said he was familiar with Debs' handwriting and believed only two of the messages were signed by the president.

DIDN'T PAY HIS RENT.

Another Accusation Against Breckinridge Used by His Opponents.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 6.—The Breckinridge stump speakers opened their campaign here last night at a ward meeting at which Hon. Preston Kimball, Senator John O. Hodges and W. J. Sherry addressed a crowd of about 200 people.

Richard T. Gibson, son of the late Senator Randall Lee Gibson, of Louisiana, told here yesterday of how Breckinridge rented a Washington residence from him during and immediately after the trial at Washington, taking a sublease, and, after occupying the house six months, vacated without paying his rent.

He also had employed Gibson's butler, who claims not to have received any pay. The fact is being used by the Owens people as campaign capital, especially since they claim that young Gibson says Breckinridge could not get shelter in one Washington hotel. Gibson refuses to talk of the affair, but does not deny the story.

BRITANNIA THE FASTEST.

Views of the London Post on the Yachts.

London, Sept. 6.—The Morning Post will say: "It must be universally admitted that Britannia is faster than Vigilant, having defeated her in every kind of weather. All true sportsmen agree that the contests were fought honestly and squarely, despite some American press comments, which are likely to injure the cause of international racing. Mr. Gould and the New York Yacht club will not endorse these comments. Mr. Gould has gained many friends here and all regard him as a first-class sportsman, whilst the manner of leading yachtsmen on the other side, when they dealt with the last challenge for the America's cup, showed it was their aim to bring the yachtsmen of both countries closer together and promote international racing. We trust that American yachtsmen will continue their annual visits, thereby improving the sport of yachting."

AGAINST LIQUOR DEALERS.

Pythians Will Adopt a Rule To Exclude Them.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The report of the committee of the Pythian supreme lodge on the state of the order to which was referred the future eligibility for membership of those engaged in the liquor business recommended that such persons hereafter be excluded from membership. A vote was taken on this question, and while not final, was in favor of the adoption of the recommendation of the committee. The matter will come up for consideration this afternoon, and it is said that it will be formally adopted. The reports of the other committees presented were ordered printed and placed on the journal for consideration.

Dempsey-McCarthy Fight a Draw.

New Orleans, Sept. 6.—The fight between Dempsey and McCarthy was declared a draw at the end of the twentieth round. It was a good battle.

BROCKWAY'S DEFENSE.

The Gymnasium Inspector His Best Witness So Far.

New York, Sept. 6.—John L. Berthold, instructor in the gymnasium at the Elmira reformatory, was a good witness for Brockway in the investigation now being conducted by the commission appointed by Governor Flower. He described the treatment in his department for building up men who were physically weak. He declared that the statements of Littman, Cox, Jacobs and Cohen about his striking and kicking them and other inmates were untrue. He said he saw about eighty inmates in bathing each day and never saw any cuts or abrasions on them that could be caused by punishments. He had seen discolorations, but no cases where the skin was broken. He made a general denial of the charges of brutality made against him, and said he had never heard Superintendent Brockway use profane language to an inmate.

On cross-examination Berthold said he entered the reformatory as an inmate in January, 1887. He was convicted of larceny in the second degree in this city. When paroled fifteen months later he was engaged as instructor in the physical culture class and still holds the position. He denied warning inmate Cohen against testifying at the first investigation.

Wilbur H. Seymour, M. D., the pathologist of the Long Island College hospital, who performed the autopsy in the case of Patrick McGowan, who died in Brooklyn last July, and whose death was alleged by a New York newspaper to have been due to punishments received at Elmira, said that in his opinion the death of McGowan was due to pulmonary consumption.

STOCKED WITH ORDERS.

The Bristol Mill at New Bedford Will Start Up Monday Next.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 6.—Quite a sensation was caused among the strikers when it was announced that the Bristol mill would start on Monday next at the old schedule of wages.

From a general view of the situation it seems that the management of the different corporations have grown tired of waiting for somebody to take the initiative in starting up, and that the Bristol mill at last has decided to take the bull by the horns and act from the standpoint of business rather than out of consideration of what the other mill men may think. This mill has a stack of orders on hand which it will take until next February to fill, and the directors are confident that if the mill is started up now it can make some money, as the Fall River print mills are idle.

Something is in the wind, for the directors of the mill held a meeting and discussed the situation. It was stated that no definite action was taken, but it is an assured fact that the mill will resume operations next week and probably on Monday.

An official of the Pierce mill intimated to-day that it would certainly start up inside of a week. The Grinnell mill will next fall in line, and before the public is aware of the fact every mill in the city will be running again.

CHINESE SPECIALLY ACTIVE.

Preparing for an Attack from Japs by Land and Water.

London, Sept. 6.—The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says that the Chinese fleet is about to concentrate at Wei-Hai-Wei. The enterprise of the Japanese in reconnoitering and the reports of a plan to attack the fortifications by sea and land have caused the Chinese to strengthen the position with panicky haste. The whole promontory has been inspected by the military authorities, and their orders to extend the fortifications have been placed in execution. Earthworks are rising rapidly at the weak points along the coast. Heavy guns have been sent forward from the Tien-Tsin and Nankin arsenals, and the necessary ammunition for them will be transported to the coast shortly.

Canalboats Stalled.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Several hundred boats, the majority of them loaded with coal, are stalled on the Delaware and Hudson canal between Rosendale, Ulster county, and Honesdale, Pa., because of low water. The last coal boat was locked through to tidewater at Eddyville on August 28. The only place where a boat can be moved is along the seventeen-mile level at Phillipsport. There is a great scarcity of pea and buckwheat coal here, and the supply for the cement companies and steamboats is brought up the river from Weehawken.

Death of Nelson Morse.

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Nelson Morse, father of M. P. Morse, publisher of the Ballston Spa Daily News and Democrat, died suddenly last evening at the latter's residence, of heart disease, aged 71 years. He was a great grandson of Michael McDonald, the pioneer settler of the town of Ballston, in which town the deceased was born, and resided on a farm until two years ago, when he came to this village and made his home with his only child.

Big Reward for Lynchers.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 6.—Governor Turney has offered a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of the parties engaged in the lynching of the six negroes near Millington, Shelby county, last Friday night. The governor has expressed a determination to do all in his power to bring the murderers to justice. He says that lynchings in Tennessee must be stopped.

Nominated for Congress.

Tunkhannock, Pa., Sept. 6.—R. M. Stocker, of Honesdale, was nominated by the democrats of the Fifteenth district for congress.

MORE FIRES STARTING

Several Western Towns in Danger Again.

If the Strong Winds Continue Fires Will Break Out Again in All the Burned Districts—Organized Men Fighting Back the Flames—The Destruction Crosses Into Canada.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 6.—This place is all right, but it has been a hard fight. The town is full of refugees from the surrounding settlements. The majority of those people had to run for their lives and only saved the clothing they had ont. There were about twelve or fifteen homesteaders between Sanborn and Bibon that were burned out and lost all they had. There have been no mail trains through since Saturday and none are expected before next Saturday. James Morgan, who walked in from Shore's Crossing last night, reports that palce in a precarious condition again. Fires were burned up to within a few feet of the town last night, but the absence of wind gave the people a good fighting chance to and Cleavedau.

The Brule correspondent telegraphs the following: "News just received of burning homesteads and logging camps along the lake shore north of Brule. A fearful smoke. The citizens are constantly on the outlook for the fires."

This is in the vicinity of Port Wing and Cleavedan.

Information from Port Wing is that nearly one-third of that place has been destroyed by the fires, but the fire, advancing on other sides, the place is not yet out of danger.

Iron River, a thriving town midway between Ashland and Duluth, on the Northern Pacific, has anticipated the march of the fire and has out a small regiment of volunteer firemen to cut off the flames by building back-fires. Iron River was completely wiped out by fire two years ago and the citizens are alert. Cleavedau, however, is the object of anxiety to-day. The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad has a force of men laying new track where the long trestle was burned last Saturday, near Marengo. The foreman of the crew was called upon for assistance last night and took an engine a few miles down the line to Shiloh, where he rescued some section men who became surrounded by flames. It is not known how Shiloh has fared since.

Fire Chief Scott, of the Ashland fire department, has been out all night supervising the work of providing better protection against the advancement of fires upon Ashland. A brisk wind set in last night, causing considerable excitement and apprehension from fires. The path of the fires has thoroughly destroyed the remaining vegetation. Fires can be seen blazing from Ashland very plainly. It is almost impossible to extinguish them, as the very roots of the trees burn and coals become imbedded beneath the trunks of the trees.

It is dangerous to leave Ashland for over three miles. The most critical position of the day was between 11 and 4 o'clock, when the wind was strongest. If the strong winds of to-day continue fires will break out again in all of the burned districts. Once burning over does not seem to prove effective in stopping fires. Owing to the large amount of destitution to look after there has been no organization for looking after settlers and families that are placed among the missing. It will probably be several days before any organized effort along that line can be put forth. At Shore's Crossing, which was burned at the same time Phillips went up in smoke, determined efforts were necessary to prevent a second burning last night. Three hundred men thoroughly organized are keeping back the flames from the newly constructed houses. The flames were within 300 feet of the town at one time. This illustrates the fact that one or even two burnings of the forests does not prevent another fire.

Aitken, Minn., Sept. 6.—Fires are around three sides of this town and the fire department is hard at work. One boy is reported burned to death from the township of Nordland.

There is not one foot of unburned land from Aitken to Mille Lacs lake, a distance of twenty miles south, while the burned district north and south through the pine woods is unknown, but settlers for fifty miles reported fire even beyond them and burning fiercely.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 6.—Fisher Meadow, near Estella, a small settlement, was wiped out yesterday. The fire is said to be running towards Murray, where danger is apprehended.

Manistique, Mich., Sept. 6.—The villages of South Manistique and Thompson are in danger from the prevalence of fierce forest fires in this vicinity. The conditions are favorable for a fire throughout Schoolcraft county. The flames have crossed the Soo railway, two miles east of here. Manistique is almost without fire protection.

Forests Near West Point Burning.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The forest fires back of Fort Putnam and north and south of here have been burning briskly for the past few days, and, at times, the sun has been almost obscured by the dense smoke. People living on the west side of the Hudson river who engage in lumbering and wood hauling are greatly annoyed on account of the near approach of the destructive element. The inhabitants of Mountville, Queensboro and a section north of Stony Point have been the greatest sufferers.

Canadian Forests Burning.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.—Fire is burning on both sides of Rainy lake and along Rainy river. Large tracts of timber have been burned on the Canadian side. Mrs. Gamsbie and four children were burned to death. The fires jumped the Rainy river from the Minnesota to the Canadian side. All settlers back from Rainy river have been burned out, losing everything, and several lives have been lost.

Gold Reserve Swelling.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The gold reserve partakes of the general advance in government revenues and since September 1 has increased $462,000, standing to-day at $55,678,000. The increase yesterday was over $200,000.

OF PUBLIC INTEREST.

A MATTER WHICH IS EXCITING MUCH TALK.

It Concerns a Well-Known and Prominent Family—The Wife of an Honored and Respected Public Man Writes a Letter.

G. A. Williamson, Esq., has for thirty-five years been City Recorder of Deeds, of Providence, R. I. During all this time and he and his family have occupied a very prominent position in Providence, where they are held in the utmost regard and esteem by everybody. They reside at 8 Bradford street.

Mrs. Williamson has for a long time been a great sufferer. She has lately been cured of her complaints by a most remarkable remedy, and her love for her fellow-beings is such that she writes the following letter telling them just what to do to be well and strong:

"For some time I had been troubled with numbness of my hands and arms. It was very distressing and a constant annoyance to me. My nervous system was badly affected. I was unable to sleep, getting but very little rest at night. I suffered from indigestion and my appetite was very poor. I learned of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and hearing it most highly spoken of, determined to use it. It had helped so many despairing sufferers I believed it would help me. After taking the second bottle I noticed a marked improvement and I continued to steadily gain in all respects. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all sufferers."

No wonder everybody is taking this remarkable medicine, for it is a known fact that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy always cures. If you have any such troubles, if your health is not exactly what it should be, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will make you well. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Don't neglect your health but take his wonderful medicine now.

Republican League Convention.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—A fitting conclusion of the Republican State league convention was a great mass meeting last night at which General D. H. Hastings, the candidate for governor, made the opening speech of the campaign in Pennsylvania. Previous to the meeting there was a short parade, in which all the local and visiting clubs and delegates to the league convention took part. The state candidates and prominent speakers rode in carriages and were cheered by the great multitudes on the streets.

Cleveland League.

Albany, Sept. 6.—Pursuant to the call of James C. Matthews, president of the New York state Cleveland league, the executive committee of the league completed their business in this city yesterday. Organization was perfected by the selection of Gerrit S. Loguen, of Syracuse, chairman; William H. Johnson, of Albany, and J. A. Cromwell, of Montgomery, as secretaries, and William E. Gross, treasurer. There were representatives present from twenty-two senatorial districts of the state.

Wild Scenes at a Convention.

Baltimore, Sept. 6.—The proceedings of the Fifth district democratic convention were marked by scenes of the wildest confusion; at one time a free-for-all fight seemed imminent. There were contesting delegations form Calvert and Anne Arundel counties. The credentials committee reported in favor of the regular or Gorman delegates. State Senator John G. Rogers, of Howard county, was unanimously nominated for the Fifty-fourth congress.

For Playing Golf on Sunday.

Boston, Sept. 6.—Two well known Boston club men, Sumner Paine and E. A. Wilkie, will appear before Judge Luce, at Waltham, today, to answer to the charge of breaking the Sabbath. This was done by playing the game of golf, a game harmless enough in itself, but which the authorities of the town of Weston, where the offense occurred, think should not be played on Sunday.

No Indian Outbreak.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 6.—There is no truth in the report of an Indian outbreak near Battleford, in the Northwest territory. The trouble was reported to the mounted police, who dispatched a troop to the supposed scene of strife. They could find no foundation for the reports.

Death of Henry A. Cooley.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 6.—Henry A. Cooley, of this city, is dead at Westbrook, aged 68 years. He was for fourteen years assistant superintendent of the state capitol and as such was well known to members of the general assembly and politicians all over the state.

The President a Lucky Fisherman.

Buzzard's Bay, Sept. 6.—The president was the only occupant of the Ruth, besides Skipper Wright, on the fishing trip yesterday down the bay. Thus far the president is having very good luck. Rock bass, scup and tautog seem to be the prevailing catch.

801 Cholera Deaths in One Week.

Vienna, Sept. 6.—In the week from August 27 to September 3 there were 801 deaths from cholera in Galicia and Bukowina. Since the disease became epidemic there have been 6,958 cases of cholera and 3,000 deaths in these provinces.

Foresters Incorporated.

Albany, Sept. 6.—The Ancient Order of Foresters of the United States of America, with principal office in New York city, has been incorporated, with objects to assist its members in sickness and to bury them and their wives.

Mr. Elkins Much Improved.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Richard C. Kerens has received word that ex-Secretary Elkins, who was reported by the Associated Press to be dying at his home in Elkins, W. Va., was much improved. He is in no danger.

EXPECT GREAT THINGS

Senator Jones' Flop Delights the Populists.

They Claim That Important Results Will Follow in the Western States. Sure They Will Hold the Balance of Power in the United States Senate in the Future.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Populists are claiming that great results will follow in the western states from Senator Jones' defection from the republican party. They claim that Idaho will go for the populists, but Senator Dubois, who left for the west last night, denies this, and also asserts that neither himself nor any other western senator will follow Mr. Jones' example. The other states which will elect senators this fall, and which, it is claimed, will be more or less affected by the action of Senator Jones, are Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. It is within the range of possibilities that all of these states may have legislatures controlled by populists, and instead of sending back republicans will elect populist senators. Colorado has already been carried by the populists. The members of the house of representatives from Colorado belong to that party. In Wyoming the legislature chosen two years ago failed to elect a successor to Senator Warren because the populists held the balance of power and a combination could not be formed between either of the parties, none having a majority of the legislature. The same was true of Montana, where a successor to Senator Sanders could not be chosen.

It is asserted by the republican senators that when congress reassembles a motion will be carried in the republican caucus to remove Jones from the finance committee and to replace him by a republican silver free coinage advocate.

When Mr. Jones' colleague, Senator Stewart, some time ago announced his withdrawal from the republican party he held a place on the committee on appropriations. He was removed and Senator Teller was put on in his place. The populists claim that with the election of Tillman from South Carolina and such accessions to their ranks as seem to them now absolutely certain they will hold the balance of power in the senate in future.

GOV. WAITE RENOMINATED.

Lafe Pence Got But Few Convention Votes from Him.

Pueblo, Col., Sept. 6.—Governor Waite was renominated on the first ballot at the populist state convention, receiving all but half a dozen votes, which were given to Congressman Pence. The nomination was later made unanimous. When introduced to the convention Governor Waite was greeted with tremendous cheers. After he had expressed his thanks a recess was taken.

The convention opened like a pandemonium. Anti-Waite speeches were howled down.

After the nomination of Governor Waite the sixty lady delegates asked the privilege of escorting him to the convention. When they arrived pandemonium reigned for several minutes. He was introduced to the convention by Miss Phoebe Cousins. In his speech he stated that he did not consider the nomination as an endorsement of all he had done. After the governor had retired from the platform Mrs. Waite was called for and received an ovation when she appeared. Lafe Pence was called for and made a short speech, in which he predicted that the governor would be re-elected by a large majority.

UNCLE SAM'S ARMY.

The Enlisted Strength Now Near the Prescribed Limit.

Washington, Sept. 6.—The enlisted strength of the army has reached 24,860, within 140 of the limit prescribed by law. In view of this small number of vacancies and the consequent restrictions upon recruiting it has been decided that no person under the age of 21 years will be enlisted until further orders, boys as musicians or to learn music excepted.

The decision will prevent the enlistment of boys between the years of 18 and 21, who are taken into the army with the consent of their parents.

Pension Decision.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Assistant Secretary of the Interior Reynolds has rendered a decision to the effect that the terms of section 4,702, revised statutes, apply to pensioners under the act of June 27, 1890, and the $2 per month for each child of a deceased soldier, under 16 years of age, by a former wife, will be paid to the widow where the step-children are being educated in whole or part at the expense of a state or to the public in any educational institution, or in any institution organized for the care of soldiers' orphans.

Resignations Called For.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Secretary Carlisle has called for the resignations of Peter S. Garretson, of New Jersey, James P. Lowe, of Massachusetts, and Frank Milliken, of Maine, all chiefs of divisions in the architect's office, treasury department. Messrs. Learer, Harrington, Latham and Beatty, also chiefs of divisions in the treasury department, who resigned by request some months ago, but who have been continued, have been notified that their services would be no longer required after October 1, next.

Destructive Rain Storm to the West.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 6.—The first heavy rain in fifteen weeks fell here last night. North of here it was a veritable waterspout, and much damage was done. At one place near Orlando two children are reported washed away and drowned. East of Perry many buildings were demolished and several people killed. At Crescent City one large two-story building was completely wrecked.

Again Threatened by Forest Fires.

Grand Rapids, Wis., Sept. 6.—Pittsville is again threatened by forest fires. Telephone connections are shut off. Strong winds prevail and the danger is imminent.

IS IT ASIATIC CHOLERA?

An Immigrant Dies at Cumberland, Md.

Taken Ill on a Train from New York and Soon Expired—Physicians Pronounce It a Genuine Case of Cholera—His Nine Companions Quarantined in a Car.

Pittsburg, Sept. 6.—Pittsburg had a narrow escape from having half a dozen cholera suspects unloaded within her limits last night. Through the efforts of the health authorities the suspected persons were sidetracked at Shaner, a way station, twenty-five miles outside of Pittsburg, and the suspects are being kept there under quarantine. None of the suspects have developed any symptoms of the disease and all are in apparent good health.

All of them are European immigrants and were bound for Pittsburg. They had arrived in New York on the steamer Elbe from Hamburg. From the best accounts to be had, there were nine in the original party. John P. Walther, from Wockenstein, Bavaria, one of the party, took sick shortly before reaching New York. He passed inspection at Ellis island by being well provided with medicine given him by the ship's surgeon. The party came west over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. Shortly before reaching Martinsburg, W. Va., Walther was again taken very ill. He fell into a state of complete collapse and died at 9:50 last night at Cumberland, Md., where he had been removed from the train.

Dr. C. H. Ohr, a physician who waited on him and who has gone through two epidemics, pronounced Walther's death as being due to Asiatic cholera.

The rest of the immigrants were placed in a special car and isolated from the other passengers and brought west to Shaner, where the car is now sidetracked.

Neither the health authorities nor the Baltimore & Ohio people believe Walther had anything worse than cholera morbus, but the other eight suspects will be prevented from holding communication with the outside world, and this is all that can be done at present.

Brave Newspaper Man.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Thomas C. Noyes, one of the most popular young newspaper men in Washington, was married at noon to Miss Dorothy Byrde Rogers. Dr. Stakely, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated. The bride has a large number of friends in the musical circle of Washington and possesses a rich soprano voice.

Drouth at Ithaca Broken.

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Heavy showers prevailed here last evening, breaking a drouth of five weeks' duration. Vegetation and late crops have been burned beyond resurrection, but some fruit may be saved. No forest fires have occurred in this vicinity.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

PLAINFIELD WILLS UNBROKEN, AND MUHLENBERG BENEFITS.

Property of James Brand and Henry Stites to Be Divided as They Bequeathed—The Winning Lawyers Walter Hetfield, William Stillman and Craig A. Marsh.

In the Court of Special Sessions in Elizabeth, yesterday, Judge McCormick admitted to probate two Plainfield wills, against which applications had been made to have them set aside.

Concerning the contest against the will of James Brand of Plainfield, Judge McCormick said the testator was 85 years of age, and it was time that he was weak in body and troubled by disease; but the testimony had shown that he was a determined man, with a mind sufficiently sound to know what he was doing. He knew who he desired should become the recipients of his bequests, and there should have been no contest of the will. The Court considered the conduct of the proctor for the cavetor reprehensible, and gave an opinion that the will should be probated.

The attempt to break the will of Henry Stites of Scotch Plains was defeated by the Court giving a similar opinion that it should be probated. Judge McCormick said the testimony showed the testator was ready to make a will, but realized his weakness, and was willing to defer the execution. The influence used was not such as destroyed the free agency of the testator, and, therefore, as the man was evidently possessed of all his faculties when the will was executed, it should be admitted to probate.

In the matter of the accounting of Walter L. Hetfield, the Court announced that it had concluded the case and would file an opinion with the Surrogate.

In the Stites case, W. L. Hetfield and Craig A. Marsh were counsel for the will; and Judge W. A. Coddington, ex Judge W. B. Codington and W. S. Angleman were counsel against the will. In the Brand case, Wm. M. Stillman and Craig A. Marsh were counsel for the will; and W. S. Angleman counsel against it.

Muhlenberg Hospital is residuary legatee under the Stites will, and will get over $10,000 out of it. Mrs. Brand, the widow of James Brand, is principal legatee under the husband's will, and will get about $5,000 in real estate.

JUDGMENT AGAINST THE ABSENTEE.

Costs Paid by a Plainfielder in a Suit Against a Clothing Dealer.

The qui tam case of Wm. R. Conover against S. Morris was tried by Justice Newcorn at 11 this morning. Attorney Winfield S. Angleman was counsel for the plaintiff. The defendant did not appear, and was not represented by counsel.

The evidence of the plaintiff was that the defendant had conducted a bankrupt sale of clothing on West Front street in violation of the itinerant vendor law, Conover testifying that he had made a purchase there. The defendant and his associates had left town. A copy of The Press ad in which the ten-days sale was referred to was filed in evidence.

Justice Newcorn at once gave judgment against Morris for the penalty fixed by law, $100, $50 to go the city and $50 to Conover. The plaintiff paid $1.70 first costs, and $2 20 further costs are to be paid by the defendant, who is supposed to be in Ohio.

CYCLING COMMENT.

After racing in Binghamton today Monte Scott will go to Hackettstown to race there Saturday.

The Crescents deposited $200 with The American Wheelman proprietors to guarantee the safe return of the Monte Scott championship trophy.

The West Pennsylvania cyclers who stopped with the Crescents last night spoke of the Union County roads as the best they had found on their long journey.

A sanction has been received for a Crescent meet Saturday, September 29. The events have not been decided upon yet, but it is very probable that Class B races will be the features of the day. The prize list will be inviting enough to bring out the crack riders of the class, and a record-breaking occasion is anticipated. Editor Morgan of The Wheelman will lend his influence.

C. J. Kenah of New Brighton and Fred S. Mitchell of Beaver Falls were two bicycle riders from Pennsylvania who attended the presentation meeting of the Crescents last evening. They rode from Beaver Falls to New York, making two centuries in two days. Yesterday they rode from New York to Plainfield, and this morning they started to make a century by way of Philadelphia.

PLAINFIELD'S TROPHY.

CRESCENT WHEELMEN RECEIVE THEIR CHAMPION CUP.

Fame Won for Them by Monte Scott, and 'Tis a Beauty—Cheers for the Absent Victor—A Night of Congratulation.

Secretary Teel's absence made necessary a postponement of business at the annual meeting of the Crescent Wheelmen last night; but the occasion was one of much interest to the members, as a $250 championship trophy was presented to the club.

Monte Scott won the trophy in a five-mile race in the Good Roads Tournament in Asbury Park last Friday. His trip to Binghamton with Secretary Teel kept him from attending.

The meeting was called to order in the club-house by President W. H. Rogers. About fifty members were present. John Petrie was chosen secretary pro tem. No business was transacted, the presentation following immediately.

Editor W. J. Morgan of The American Wheelmen then presented the trophy with a few pleasant words. He was happy to pass it into the keeping of the Wheelmen for the first year and he hoped that Crescent riders would win it again the next two years so that he would be able finally to give it to the club for permanent ownership.

Aaron V. Kline responded with appropriate remarks of acknowledgment, promising that the club would take good care of the trophy. F. S. Green and Roger Murray were called on for speeches, cheers were given for Monte Scott, and the meeting was adjourned till Monday.

The members remained for a social hour. Sandwiches and lemonade were served in the billiard-room. Conversation on wheeling matters was the chief enjoyment. Three hearty cheers were given for The American Wheelman before the evening ended.

The Crescents found much to admire in the new trophy. It is of silver with gold trimmings, and was made by the Gorham Manufacturing Company. It stands 28 inches high. The polished silver surface is ornamented by bands of chased silver and gold. A bicycle wheel is in the middle of each of the two handles and four-winged wheels stand on the base. A figure of a goddess of victory, made of silver with gold robes, holding a laurel wreath in each hand, is on the top of the lid.

The inscription on the side reads "Metropolitan District of New York and New Jersey. Amateur Championship Trophy. Presented by The American Wheelman". On the opposite side from the inscription is a picture of a race. The trophy was taken to J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store and was exhibited in the window today.

THE UPPER SOUTH

For Factories and Homes.

Grand opportunities exist in West Virginia, Maryland and the famous Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, a section possessing all the requisites for health, comfort and prosperity.

No region in the United States is attracting greater attention; people from the North and West are looking that way with a view of locating. Improved farm lands are to be obtained at from $8 per acre and upwards, unimproved timber lands at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Rich mineral lands are cheap; excellent water powers, manufacturing sites, business locations, etc., are numerous. The people are hospitable and extend a warm welcome to newcomers. The climate is unequalled, no severe storms or cyclones, no contagious diseases.

NEGRO HOODOO NOTIONS.

Old Shakespeare Get His Idea of the Witches' Broth from Africa?

A writer in the Atlanta Constitution says:—

I was ruminating about this peculiar superstition of the negro race. One of their color has been very sick in this town and it got spread among them that he was conjured, or "cunjud," as they speak it, and right there comes in the difference between the blacks and copper-colored and mulattoes. The belief in "conjurin" seems to be confined mainly to the black negro. Old Aunt Ann declares that he was "conjud as sho' as you're born, for he is turnin' right green." It was these same black Africans who had all the superstitions about Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit. We had all colors among our slaves when I was a boy, but it was only the black, broad-nosed and thick-lipped ones who told us stories by the cabin fires at night. They only had a love for the marvellous, and their descendants have it yet.

They believe in hoodoo, or voudoo, and conjurin'. They have a strong emotional religion, and if the spirit throws them down in a faint it is a sure sign they've got it good. What it is they get I don't know, but it suits them, and there does not seem to be any change in their mode of worship. Education has not made any that we can perceive. Some white people are affected the same way, but it is the exception and not the rule. With the negroes it seems to be spasmodic. Its effects have no good influence after the spasm is over. We used to say of one of our servants: "Becky is going to cut up to-day. She fell down in a trance last night at meeting and had to be carried out." And she did cut up. She was the nurse for four children and they had to keep away from her until she got over her fit.

One of my father's negro women got jealous of Minty, the cook and determined to poison or conjure her to death. Minty got sick and my father told Juno to make her some chicken soup. She got from an old rag a red scorpion's head, a lizard's leg, a bat's wing, a betty bug, and three or four centipedes, or thousand legs, as we call them, and the tail of a green snake, and had the horrible mess cooking in a saucepan when my mother happened in to see how Minty was and took the top off the pan to look at the soup. Juno confessed that she had been gathering material for the soup a good while, and she wasn't much disturbed at the discovery. She declared that Minty had "conjud" her husband and I reckon she had. So my father had to separate the families. Now, did Shakespeare get his witches' caldron and its venomous contents from the old Africans of England.

A GOOD STORY.

It is Told by Walter Besant and is an O'er True Tale.

The lady was a widow and rich—very rich—as the French novelist says, richissime, writes Walter Besant. The gentleman was a widower, past 60, extremely, even ridiculously, poor, and the last of a most noble and historical house. History is full of the achievements of his people. Froissart mentions their exploits in every other page; they were always taking this side or the other, for the king and against the king. When they took a side they meant it; out they marched, they and theirs, in full armor. Whichever side they took, it always ended in their being captured and decapitated for high treason, or else killed in battle. From father to son, from generation to generation, for long centuries, none of them ever went out of the world from an inglorious feather bed; it was always from the grassy field of honor or from a scaffold. A gray beard was unknown in that house, nor had any of them ever experienced the tender emotions of a grandfather.

The lady, besides being a widow and richissime, was of ignoble origin, and her late husband had made his money in trade. Reflection upon this point made her unhappy. She was so rich that she thought she ought also to be noble, just to correspond. It is a common confusion of thought. She desired, above all things, to connect her riches with an ancient name, and she made a proposal to the nobleman. "Marry me," she said. "Give me the right to use your name. In return I will give you as handsome an annuity as you can possibly desire. You shall have the means of living as you please, and of obtaining all that you can desire. I will not ask you to live in my house. You shall live where you please. I will only ask that, for appearance sake, you will take your place at my dinners, and that you will show up, as the lord of the house, at my receptions."

'Twas arranged in this sense. The lady took and furnished for herself a great hotel. She had the rooms decorated in honor of this and that illustrious ancestor. The arms of the house were everywhere; the portraits, busts and statues of the house were in all the rooms; the pictures represented scenes and episodes in the history of the house. The servants wore the ancient livery, the well-known livery, of the house. The hotel became a museum of the house, and at dinners and on reception nights the Duke himself was always present, grave, dignified and stately, with the look of one who had stepped out of a picture frame 500 years old and had put on the clothes of the nineteenth century, but not its manners. When Madam the Duchess was not at home he lived in his own chambers, at the club, after his own fashion. An excellent bargain, was it not, and one that seems perfectly fair to both parties?

BEER IS NO CHEAPER.

Yet the Cost of the Ingredients and of Making It Has Decreased Greatly.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the British Exchequer in presenting this year's budget to Parliament, called attention to a fact which is perhaps of more interest in the United States than in England. It is this: That while in the last ten years there has been a falling off of from 30 to 40 per cent. in the cost of the ingredients used in beer making, there has been no corresponding decrease in the retail price of beer. English brewers get hops and barley cheaper than they used to. Recent appliances for refrigerating have largely reduced the cost of that element of ale and beer making. Cooperage expenses are less than they were, and there has been, in fact, a cheapening of all the processes; but the price of beer is as before. Sir William Harcourt also called attention to the fact that, in 1884, the collective revenue of British brewers, subject to the income tax, had increased one-half, representing, in part, the increased profits of the brewers.

What is true of England is true also of the United States. All articles entering into the composition of American beer have come down in price, but beer itself continues at the same rate as before, and the diminution of cost instead of benefiting the consumer goes exclusively to the brewer or to the retailer, but oftener is divided between the two. The number of barrels of beer drunk in the city of New York in a year is 5,000,000. Chicago comes next with 2,800,000. Then Milwaukee with 2,500,000 (an abnormal total for a city not in the first rank); St. Louis, with 2,000,000; Brooklyn, with 1,800,000; Philadelphia, with 1,800,000; and Cincinnati, once the paradise of beer drinkers, with only 1,300,000, against 1,200,000 in Newark. The population of Cincinnati is 330,000, while that of Newark is little more than 200,000. Beer is now the almost universal American drink, and of late it has found a great popularity in the South, New Orleans consuming 300,000 barrels last year and Louisville 350,000.

AFRAID OF THIRTEEN.

The Old Superstition Assuredly Makes That Number Unprofitable.

Notwithstanding the numerous "thirteen clubs" that have been formed in the country to demonstrate how foolish is the idea that that simple number carries with it bad luck, there are many who cling to the notion, although it costs them money. A well-known theatrical manager spent many sleepless nights trying to think out a plan of seating for his theatre by which he could do away with a thirteenth row or number thirteen seat. I saw three ladies get out of a cable car the other day—after they had paid their fare, too—because they discovered the car was No. 13. That cost them 15 cents, but what is 15 cents when your life may hang in the balance? There are a great many people who dislike to live in houses numbered 13; but while it may be distasteful to them they endure it rather than have the inconvenience of moving. One row of houses in the East end was always without tenants on account of there being 13 houses in it. Rent was reduced from $75 a month to $35 and superstition was conquered to save $50 a month.

BIDDING ON SEWERS.

CONTRACTORS FIGURE CLOSELY ON THE PLAINFIELD JOB.

Chances Lie Among Brady Brothers of Plainfield, Cook & Co. of Jamestown, and M. Honan of Chester, With Calculations Favoring Honan, But 'Twill Take Days of Computation to Decide—Little Show for Plainfield Laborers—Lawsuit Threatened Against the City—Presentment Against the Jersey Central for Street Bridge Nuisances.

Twenty-six bids were opened and read in the Plainfield Common Council last night from contractors figuring on the construction of the proposed sewerage system for the city.

The bidders were: Smith & Conover, Freehold; Brady Bros., Plainfield; Montaine, Marino & Arnold, Orange; James J. Cougar, Bayonne; Thos. Reading, Perth Amboy; John H. Hurley, Trenton; Hanna & Randall, Kearney; Maguire, McKnight & Co., Buffalo; W. H. Waters, Bayonne; Bartholomew & Rockwell, Asbury Park; George R. Newman & Co., Providence; M. Honan, Chester, Pa.; Murray & Malloy, Portchester, N. Y.; M. W. Cook & Co., Jamestown, N. Y.; Reagan & Norton, Jersey City; Patrick McShane, Pottstown; Quien & O'Reilley, Elizabeth; Hawkes & Strathmore, Brooklyn; E. B. Smart & Co., Philadelphia; George McKay, Philadelphia; Otis & Longear, Kingston, N. Y.; Patrick Raynolds, Newark; Patrick T. Plunkett, Jersey City; James Smith & Son, Easton; H. C. N. Johnston, Passaic; Nelson, Dunn & Cortese, Plainfield.

Each bid was in a sealed envelope, and was opened by City Clerk MacMurray, assisted by Councilmen Fisk & Ginna by appointment of President See. The figuring was on each detail of the work, and though the competition was in several cases very close the bids were in some particulars widely varying. All of the bulky documents were referred to the Committee on Sewers, and they hope to be able to report within a week the aggregate amount of each bid, with their recommendation concerning the awarding of the contract. A special meeting will therefore be called, probably for Wednesday night, Sept. 12.

Where so many details and amounts are to be considered, it is impossible at first glance to form an accurate estimate, but the contractors and material-supply men who thronged the lobby were of the opinion that the contest lay among Brady Brothers of Plainfield, Cook & Co. of Jamestown, and M. Honan of Chester, with probabilities favoring Honan.

Alfred B. Nelson claims that according to his calculation the contest lies between his firm and McShane, and that they are within $50 of one another. Where bidding is so close, the preference should be given to the home contractor every time.

The Sewer Committee have 900 big multiplications and many additions to make before they can know the actual aggregates of the bids.

The reading of the bids occupied from 8:10 to 9:30, and thereafter the regular September business was considered. The absentees of the evening were Councilmen Bird and Frost.

Wm. M. Stillman, attorney for Mary McCann, recited by letter that his client had been injured by falling over the elevated sidewalk of S. C. Baker, that in her suit against Mr. Baker the Court held the City of Plainfield culpable, and that the city could compromise for $565 and avoid lawsuit. The case was referred to the Committee on Streets.

Power was given to the Committee on Fire and Buildings to grant M. C. Bird permission to erect a bucket elevator for loose grain at the rear of 121 East Fourth street.

The map in the tax-adjustment case of Floret Wormeer was ordered returned for amendment.

E. B. Pope as Secretary of the Plainfield Water Supply Company returned the bill for the use of water in the engine-houses, which the Council had protested; and wrote that the charges were correct and should be paid in advance. The letter was referred to the Fire Committee.

Councilmen Frazee and Westphal presented petitions bearing 400 signatures, from citizens and taxpayers, workingmen and merchants, denouncing the padrone system and praying "to have the work and labor of putting in and laying the sewer pipes done by the workingmen and laborers of the city of Plainfield, at a rate of wages to permit them to support themselves without aid, and not by foreign laborers, for the following reasons:

"That there are a number of laboring men in Plainfield who are out of work and will be glad to get employment.

"That if home labor is given the preference, the money paid therefor will in all probability be used and spent in this city.

"That if foreign labor is employed there will be very little if any of the money paid therefor spent in this city.

"That most of the laboring men of Plainfield are taxpayers and being such should be chosen in preference to foreign labor."

Mr. Westphal and Mr. Frazee made gallant efforts to have these petitions considered by the Sewerage Committee along with the bids.

Mr. Dumont said the committee had enough to do, and Mr. Erickson did n't see what the committee could gain for the petitioners.

Mr. Frazee felt that the committee would have influence with the contractors to secure work for the local men.

Mr. Erickson said that a resolution had been adopted requesting contractors to give Plainfield men preference, and that a copy of that resolution had been given to each bidder. Furthermore, Mr. Frazee voted against that resolution.

There was no further talk, and with no votes but Mr. Frazee and Mr. Westphal against such a course the petitions were simply "filed".

The monthly reports of the Treasurer and the Collector were referred to the Finance Committee.

In anticipation of tax-payments, these sums were ordered borrowed: For the general fund, $3,500; fire department, $500; fire department note, $2,000.

$1,500 was appropriated for use on the streets during the month. In response to Councilman Westphal's query, Councilman Fisk stated that the most important work to be done with this fund was to put Liberty street in condition. Fourth street between Park and Madison avenues was to be repaired, and if the money held out Third street was to be graded.

Presentment was made by the Street Committee against the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey. The document stated that the attention of the company had been repeatedly directed to the bad condition of the embankments at the bridges, and the accumulations of water and dirt under the bridges. Inasmuch as the company's promises to abate the nuisances had not been fulfilled, it was unanimously resolved that if these nuisances, which the company maintained to the annoyance, discomfort and expense of the citizens, be not abated by Oct. 2 the Corporation Counsel should proceed with legal measures against the company for the protection of the city.

A copy of this resolution was directed sent to the superintendent of the company.

Councilman Fisk stated that he had hoped to report on the street railway extension project, but that report was deferred because the company had had some trouble securing consents. The report would be ready soon. At the next meeting he would present ordinances for the extension of the paved sidewalks limit, and for the protection of trees.

The Treasurer was instructed to open a special sewerage account in the City National Bank.

Council adjourned soon after 10.

PROGRESS OF THE COMPUTATION.

The city engineers have been at work all day on the figures, and say this afternoon that they will not have the computation completed till tonight.

WIGWAM JOLLITY.

Plainfield Indians Listen to the Frogtown Band.

Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque Tribe of Red Men had a long session of jollity with their visitors last night. It was 3 this morning before the last of them left the West Second street wigwam.

The meeting opened with E. H. Neal in the chair. The visitors were welcomed by the chairman and were then shown how the new tribe transacted its business. A member was received by card, one paleface was adopted and another one was elected.

Business gave way to pleasure after that. Remarks were made by Sachem Terrill of Ahander Tribe of New Brunswick, Past Sachem Bradford of Awhaga Tribe of New Brunswick, Sachem Ritter of Milltown, the youngest Sachem in the reservation, Wm. Miller of Ahander Tribe, and Sachem Wyckoff and Chief of Records Newoorn of Miantonomoh Tribe.

The "Frogtown Band" of Ahander Tribe then came on the scene. The costumes were grotesque and the "music" was amusingly grotesque. Their first solo and chorus, "McCarthy's Gray Mare", started the Red Men to laughing in a continual roar. They recovered, however, in time to appreciate a well rendered vocal solo by L. S. Bond.

Brother Bullock's return from an absence of several months was welcomed by cheering and a speech by Prophet Ulrich. The meeting was then adjourned for the enjoyment of a supper in the banquet room.

After supper another meeting was opened. Story-telling and singing made the hours pass quickly. Brother Van-Horn of Ahander Tribe and Brother J. H. Carney of Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque Tribe were close rivals in the amusement line. The 180 Red Men were sorry when the lateness of the hour sent them to the waiting stages.

To Renew Its Youth in Plainfield.

Many local lovers of high-grade theatricals have already secured Music Hall seats for tomorrow night, to enjoy that most popular of comic operas, "Wang". The advance sale continues rapidly, and by opening time tomorrow there will probably be only standing room available. The catchy music of "Wang", the gorgeous costuming, and the wealth of pretty girls in the chorus, are features to be relished besides the presence of shining operatic stars.

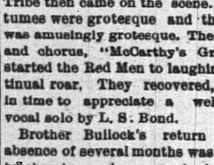
"Wang" is in town today, the players stopping at the City Hotel and Hotel Grenada. They will give a private dress rehearsal on Music Hall stage tonight, preparatory to their first public production of the season tomorrow.

Paid Him to Wait.

Frank Putnam of the firm of Putnam & DeGraw received a check today from Willis Sibley of Worcester, Mass., receiver for the Non-Secret Endowment Order, for $44.05, in settlement for what he paid into the order. Several members in town sold their claims for a nominal sum, never expecting to receive anything material for them.

—The Plainfield Manual Training School will reopen Monday with a fine large roll of students. Plainfield parents are finding that boys are splendidly developed at this institution.

A WRECK



of the physical constitution often comes from unnatural, pernicious habits, contracted through ignorance or from excesses. Such habits result in loss of manly power, nervous exhaustion, nervous debility, impaired memory, low spirits, irritable temper, and a thousand and one derangements of mind and body. Epilepsy, paralysis, softening of the brain and even dread insanity sometimes result from such reckless self-abuse.

To reach, reclaim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of the publishers of a book written in plain but chaste language, on the nature, symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. This book will be sent sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps to pay postage.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

WHAT AN UNDERGRADUATE FINDS TO TELL THE PUBLIC.

Free Text-Books—Teachers New and Old—Success of the One-Session System—Unusual Preponderance of Boys in the Graduating Class—School Societies Active.

Plainfield High School, September 6.

School has commenced again and we are all glad to get back; at least we ought to be if we are not. All the old teachers are back again, except Mr. Holck, in whose place we find Lyman B. Allen, who will direct the study of the sciences during '94 and '95. They all are looking well and we were glad to greet them after the Summer vacation. We were likewise glad to see the genial face of Principal Maxson, and to listen to his kindly words as he welcomed us back to our classrooms Tuesday morning. To add to the homelikeness of the first day, Dr. Probasco, President of the Board of Education, greeted us with a few words of advice, which, when spoken by him, are always appreciated. Surely, from the way this year has commenced, it will be one of general good-will all round. We hope so, at any rate.

The one-session system will be continued this year, as it certainly has been a success. The attendance is large, some of the lower classes being almost too large for their rooms. The Senior Class is quite small: most of the boys have returned, but there is a number of the girls absent, tho' we hope some may return later. The Junior Class looks familiar, but there is a number of new faces, among whom are two graduates from the North Plainfield School. The Third Class is almost as large as ever, and there are several new faces here too. The Fourth Class is the largest ever in the building, but, as they come from the Grammar School, we do not know them so well. Four members of the Class of '94 have returned to take a post-graduate course.

The free books have been distributed to all the classes, except those who were provided with their own. Such pupils as wish may buy the books at cost from the Board of Education.

Several changes have been made in the different courses, and all to their advantage. Physics has been added to the College Preparatory Course, and Zoology to the Scientific Course; besides these, there is a number of minor changes.

The regular military drill was commenced yesterday, and the old companies A and B of last year were united into one. As there happened to be only one complete staff of officers between the two companies, they could be united easily. An election of officers for the next two months will be held in the near future, after which there is some talk of adopting a uniform and including the manual of arms in the regular drill.

The P. H. S. A. A. will meet tomorrow afternoon for the election of officers and other important business. The success of the field day of last Spring was very encouraging and it is probable that a similar one will be held in the early part of October. Already several of the young men are getting into condition for it. It is hard to tell what material there is in the school now that so many of our greatest athletes have left, but it is hoped that there will be plenty of others to take the places of Woltmann, Campbell, Kirkner, Freeman, Whiting, and the many other athletes that have been graduated.

What became of the Philomathes, the literary society of the young ladies? Surely there is enough enterprise among the young ladies of the High School to form and support a society of that kind with ease.

Neither the Lyceum nor the Kappa Delta Phi has been heard from, but it is rather early for that and we hope to soon see them both running on a firm basis. The Linnæan Society will probably resume in the Spring as the Autumn does not present a good field for their labors.

NINETY-FIVE.

Took in a Plainfield Garden-Spot.

A jolly Elizabethan coaching party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Aschenbach and Mr. and Mrs. Hyram P. Steward, have been enjoying an extended tour of the State. The first stop was at the hospitable and historic Ackor farm, Washingtonville, where they spent the night; then on to Bernardsville, where they visited old friends. Morristown and its wonderful institution was next visited. Madison and sundry other stops completed the journey. "Chris" handled the ribbons like a veteran coachman, and covered himself with glory as an artistic whip.

Carney Crowned.

At a meeting of the Master Plumbers of Union County held in Elizabeth last evening, John H. Carney of Plainfield was elected unanimously first president of the association then organized. Jos. Whalen of Elizabeth was made vice-president; William H. Addis of this city, secretary; and A. B. Winans of Elizabeth, treasurer. The following Plainfield firms were represented: Chaires, M. Raybert, Addis & Son, Carney Brothers, George J. Tobin, C. W. Krausse, A. H. Enander, D. T. Kenney, George H. Leland and D. W. Littell.

To Decide the Champion.

The championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club, that occurred last Monday, will be completed Saturday afternoon. Of the finals, between F. E. Fish, Jr., and Carl Walz, only one set was played, Walz winning 8 6. Those wishing to see good tennis should certainly attend the match, as both players are in fine condition and will try hard to secure the championship and the cup. It will be a fight to the finish.

He'll Select the Bowlers.

J. J. Lynch has again been chosen captain of the Diocesan Union bowling team of the C. Y. M. L. Under his charge the selection of the bowlers will be made in time for practice before the series of games.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Finderne.

The Finderne had a larger assembly than usual, Saturday evening, and the floor capacity was well taxed. Dancing was commenced shortly after 8, and continued until 11:45. A private supper was served at 10, to a party of twenty-four who came from Somerville, while the remainder of the assembly continued dancing. Visitors from Plainfield, Bound Brook and Somerville were out in force, and all were profuse in their praises for the attention to details and admirable arrangements which was very much in evidence. The music was all that could be desired, and an enjoyable evening was spent. Additional lights have been erected in front of the hotel, which improves its appearance wonderfully. Other improvements are being carried out, and to such an extent that it will be hard to find any Summer or Fall hotel that will compare with The Finderne. Steam heat is being put into the halls and corridors, ensuring comfort to guests on unpleasant days during the Spring and Fall. Commencing Monday, September 10, for seven days, an unique departure will be made by presenting a varied programme each evening, including "Leonora", the famous contortionist and evolutionist. There will be no charge for these entertainments, which will be given in front of the hotel, the public being admitted to the lawn in front of the platform during the performance. The hops will be continued every Wednesday and Saturday. The register shows the following among the visitors of Saturday evening, a large number, however, omitting to register: Mrs. J. H. Matthison, the Misses Beach, Hall, Voorhees, Hartwell, Vincent, Chambers, Johnson, Poole, Elizabeth Poole, Anderson, Edna Anderson, Dr. L. T. Reed, Dr. F. L. Adair, Mr. Windsor, Messrs. C. W. Brokaw, L. C. Haynes, B. T. Conkling, G. B. Hoffman, E. G. Gaston, N. C. Porter, L. C. Mack, J. B. Parmlee, Louis Moore, C. W. Moore, C. C. Western, D. E. Gavin, W. H. Abott.

Dunellen and New Market.

Mrs. Duncan of Perth Amboy is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Howard Giles.

Mrs. Clawson of South Plainfield is stopping with her mother, Mrs. John Tingley, who is very ill.

The Vernon Brothers of New York will give one of their musical entertainments in the New Market Baptist Church next Tuesday evening.

The Century Social Club has organized in Dunellen for the Winter. A meeting will be held in a few days to elect officers. The club intends soon to give a dance.

The New Market Lawn Tennis Club will give a festival this evening on their grounds, if the weather permits. Refreshments will be on sale, and a good time is anticipated.

John Pope, who was committed to New Brunswick jail a few months ago charged by Mr. Enander with breaking into his store, secured his release yesterday. His uncle, James Pope, furnished the bail.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else. It is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.

CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.

BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.

PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.

PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded, and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

NANTUCKET BURNING.

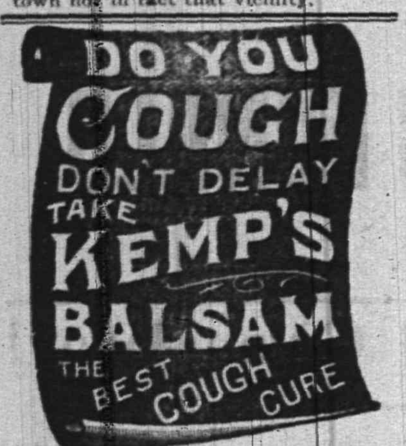
Thousands of Acres of Woodland and Swamps on Fire.

Nantucket, Mass., Sept. 5.—This whole island is enveloped in a dense cloud of smoke, arising from the immense fires which are raging at both ends of the island. Smaller fires have been burning at intervals for the past two weeks, but now they have broken out at the east end with such force that it is estimated in the neighborhood of a thousand acres of woodlands, swamps and moors have already been burned over. The forest fire wards have had the ground plowed up near several farm houses that were in danger of burning, and a constant watch is kept up, for there are many more farms in danger of total destruction.

At one time it was thought that the lighthouse known as Bug Light would certainly be destroyed, but it was saved by a change of wind. The fires in Trot's swamp, at the west end of the island, are burning in peat at a depth of three feet. These fires are supposed to have been started by summer residents, who wish to make a good plover ground. A reward has been offered by the selectmen for evidence which will lead to the detection and conviction of the evildoers.

English Centre All Right.

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 6.—The published report that the town of English Centre had been destroyed by forest fires is untrue. Telephone connection has been established between this city and English Centre, and word from there is that no fire has visited the town nor in fact that vicinity.



It cures Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. Use at once. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT, 304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,

Deafness, Catarrh and Diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs successfully treated.

Piles of the most aggravated nature radically and permanently cured in a few weeks, without pain or detention from business, and all other rectal diseases are treated with equal success.

Mental and Nervous Derangements, Sleeplessness, Diseases of the Skin and Blood, Rheumatic, Neuralgic and Scrofulous affections.

Diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Nerves and Bladder are successfully treated, even when other medical skill has failed.

PRAISE FOR BROCKWAY

His Methods Upheld by Charles Dudley Warner.

An Interesting Paper on "The Elmira System" Read at the American Social Science Meeting at Saratoga. The Reformatory a Prison of Enforced Education.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 7.—At the meeting of the American Social Science association last evening the town hall court room was filled with an attentive and intelligent audience, gathered to listen to the paper on "The Elmira System," prepared and read by Mr. Charles Dudley Warner, of Hartford, Conn. Mr. Warner defined the "Elmira system" by saying that it was the recognition of the value of the human soul and the application of the spirit of Christianity and modern civilization based upon it in the efforts made to repress crime by reforming criminals and transforming them into good, law-abiding citizens. The problem of crime is intertwined with the question of hereditary, pauperism, of wealth and all the civil relations of social life. It is based upon the indisputable right of society to protect itself and demand that the criminal shall be coerced to be submissive to the law. The criminal and the liar are exceptions to the rule of good citizens. Men at first commit crimes under strong temptations; they sometimes have their professional criminal career before their first arrest. The law cannot be fixed so that two men convicted of the same grade of offense cannot under our imperfect laws be justly and equally punished. The judge on the bench administers the law as he finds it, regardless of the moral and psychological condition of the two men.

"Here," he said, "is where the Elmira system steps in and takes the convicts in hand and educates and reforms the one by opening up and developing his moral nature, while the other and confirmed criminal is separated from society, and by imprisonment that will protect property from his ravages. There is no liberty for crime, and there should be none for the professional criminal. There should be no fixed and absolute term of years for the punishment of crime. The only trial of the convict to determine whether the convict is an occasional or professional criminal is the graded system. That permits the man who desires to reform and gain his liberty by conforming to the rules set forth for his government in confinement. Nature will not have a vacuum. You must by extreme influence tend to supplant evil thoughts by good ones, and bad habits by correct ones, and at the same time enforce discipline and protect good order. The Elmira system then is a penitentiary of enforced education. It involves moral, physical and intellectual training to arouse the better nature of the subject of the treatment. To say that to educate criminals in penitentiaries is only furthering them in their criminal tendencies is not worthy of attention, for in our universities we may be now, as we have in times past, be educating the most accomplished scoundrels."

Mr. Warner then spoke in high terms of the workings of this system in the New York state reformatory at Elmira and sustained its founder and superintendent, Z. R. Brockway. The speaker said that he believed in the discipline of the strap, the corporal punishment that will stimulate the erring to improvement when other means fail. Mr. Warner further said that the good results of the Elmira system are shown under the Brockway regime. Eighty per cent. of the inmates have been reformed and after their disappearing from the year's surveillance have not again appeared in criminal ranks. That the system is condemned by criminals unreformed or by unthinking sentimentalists is not to be urged to its discredit.

Expect Many Distinguished Guests.

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 7.—Officers of the Berkshire Press club have received word from Governor McKinley that he will attend the club's first banquet, to be held in this city the latter part of October. The club expects to have Governor Greenhalge, of this state, Governor Fuller, of Vermont, and Governor Brown, of Rhode Island, Senators Hoar and Lodge, ex-Governor Russell, Editor Dana, of the New York Sun, and other distinguished guests.

Soliciting Aid for Fire Sufferers.

New York, Sept. 7.—Acting Mayor McClellan will probably issue an appeal for subscriptions for the sufferers from the forest fires in the northwest. He has been informed by the mayor of West Superior, Wis., that the distress among the sufferers is greater than people in the east imagine. The mayor of West Superior is in this city and he spent most of the day in canvassing for subscriptions to aid the sufferers.

Cuba's Sugar Market in America.

Washington, Sept. 7.—A report received at the state department from Roman O. Williams, consul general at Havana, shows that since January 1, 1894, the United States has taken 95.06 per cent. of the sugar exports and 83.87 per cent. of the molasses exported from Cuba.

Resignations Called For.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The resignations of H. L. Piper, of Maine, assistant superintendent of the life saving service, and Thomas B. Sander, of Massachusetts, deputy commissioner of navigation, treasury department, have been called for by Secretary Carlisle.

Sentenced as an Habitual Criminal.

Fitchburg, Mass., Sept. 7.—Albert P. Cummings, alias Alphonse P. Coyne, for robbing the Gardiner depot, has been sentenced, under the habitual criminal act, to twenty-five years in state's prison.

TARIFF WILL BE THE ISSUE.

Gov. McKinley Talks on the Next National Campaign.

Boston, Sept. 7.—Governor William McKinley, of Ohio, was in Boston yesterday on his way to Maine to take part in the Reed campaign. The governor found time to call upon his cousin, General Osborne, at his home in Roxbury, and while there he granted an interview to a reporter on the political situation. Governor McKinley said he could not see how the tariff could be other than the dominant issue of the next national campaign. Quoting the words of President Cleveland, he said: "The war is not over yet." The democrats, as their announcement indicates, purpose cutting deeper, and if they attempt to do this the republican party had no other course to follow than to adhere to its principles. The tariff question in the west takes the lead of all other issues, even the currency question. There is no way for the democracy to dodge this question, which will undoubtedly be the issue in the presidential campaign in 1896.

When asked relative to any aspirations or ambition he might have for the republican nomination, Governor McKinley modestly smiled and remarked that the republican party would be found true to its tenets and would nominate one who would lead to victory in the next presidential campaign.

THE WORST PROBABLY TOLD.

Doubtful If There Will Be Any More Bodies Found at Hinckley.

Pine City, Minn., Sept. 7.—The worst has probably been told at Hinckley, and it is doubtful if there will be any very large additions to the list of the dead. Last night several bodies were found in a cellar, but they were so badly burned that it was impossible to determine whether there were three or four bodies. Supplies are coming into Hinckley at a rapid rate, and there is no lack in any department of the relief work. The relief committee appointed by Governor Nelson arrived here last night for the purpose of canvassing the situation and systematizing the relief work.

No money has been turned over to the sufferers as yet. All persons and bodies that have collected cash donations have wisely refrained from giving any to the refugees, and there is a general understanding that every cent shall be turned over to the state committee, which, on account of the complete information it will have, will be able to handle the funds to the best advantage.

A total of 233 bodies have been interred in Hinckley cemetery since Monday.

TO MOVE EIFFEL TOWER.

The Great Iron Structure To Be Brought to Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Sept. 7.—The World says that a syndicate of Baltimore capitalists has purchased the Eiffel tower and that the immense iron and steel structure will be brought to Baltimore. The promoters of the Baltimore centennial celebration, which is to be held in 1897, are said to be the purchasers of M. Eiffel's wonderful building, and the cost, together with the cost of taking apart and transporting the 7,000 tons of metal of which it is constructed, is said to be about $500,000.

About two weeks ago the French directors of the Paris exposition, to be held in 1900, agreed to dispense with the tower. They instructed their architects to devise plans for the exposition buildings without reference to the tower. This decision was reached, it seems, as a consequence of the negotiations between the Baltimore people and the French exposition authorities.

Umbrella Trust All Right Again.

New York, Sept. 7.—The Umbrella trust, which was organized about three years ago under the name, The Umbrella company, with $8,000,000 capital, having branch houses in nearly all the large cities, went into the hands of a receiver on July 16. To-day the trust will pay its entire list of creditors at the rate of 100 cents on the dollar. The Umbrella company was organized by the leading umbrella firms of the United States.

Wisconsin Democratic Nominations.

Milwaukee, Sept. 7.—The democratic state convention last night renominated George W. Peck, of Milwaukee, for governor on the third ballot. The rest of the ticket, barring insurance commissioner, was nominated by acclamation as follows: Lieutenant governor, A. J. Schails, of Manitowoc; secretary of state, Thomas J. Cunningham, of Chippewa Falls; attorney general, J. L. O'Connor, of Madison; treasurer, John Hunner, of Eau Claire.

63,469 EXCISE VIOLATIONS.

New York's Police Superintendent Suggests Numerous Reform.

New York, Sept. 7.—Superintendent Byrnes has just submitted a report to the police board in which he indulges in some very plain talk and points out radical reforms which he thinks are necessary to secure the department from the reproach now heaped upon it, and which is at least in part deserved, according to the superintendent. It is now quite three months ago that the board, spurred on by the disclosures then being made by witnesses before the Lexow committee, directed the superintendent to inquire into the discipline of the department and the enforcement of the laws to suppress crime, and to report what he found, with such recommendations as he thought needful. This report is Mr. Byrnes' answer.

The superintendent says he noted 63,469 violations of the excise law, but all other laws to suppress crime are well enforced. There is no public gambling in the city. The problem involved in the suppression of disorderly houses he finds difficult of solution.

In regard to the discipline of the force the superintendent says it is not what it ought to be, and he lets it be understood that what is lacking is centralization of authority. Prior to 1875, he says, the inspectors were the superintendent's aides. They did his bidding, and the plan worked well.

The commissioner in the department that men are promoted for other than merit, and attention to duty makes them negligent. Too many of them belong to social organizations that are nothing but political clubs, the report says.

In conclusion the superintendent recommends that the rules prohibiting policemen in citizens' clothes from seeking evidence against excise offenders be rescinded; that the details be left for the men old in the service; that membership in political organizations be forbidden policemen; that the rules be amended so as to make inspectors responsible for disorderly houses in their districts; that promotion be made for merit hereafter, and that the Broadway squad be reorganized and brought up to its former high standard.

$7,182,472.55 NEEDED.

The Amount Necessary To Maintain New York's Police for a Year.

New York, Sept. 7.—The police board estimates that the expenses of the police department for 1895 will be $7,182,472.55, which amount will be asked for from the board of estimate and apportionment. This is an excess of $1,668,874.31 over the amount allowed for 1894.

In police salaries alone there is an increase of $758,664.66. The balance of the amount of increase being made up of $500,000 for the police signal system, $35,000 for placing telegraph and telephone wires under ground, $33,000 for the bureau of elections. New station houses, stables, patrol wagons, horses for the new patrol system and small increases, such as supplies, clerk hire, etc., make up the remainder.

Police Captain Dismissed.

New York, Sept. 7.—Police Captain Stephenson, the youngest captain on the force, was dismissed from the service yesterday by the board of police commissioners for extorting blood money from storekeepers for sidewalk privileges.

Three Murderers Hanged.

Jersey City, Sept. 7.—Bernard Altenberger, the murderer of Katie Rupp, was hanged in the corridor of the jail yesterday. He made no statement, and to the surprise of all died game, his courage suddenly returning at the last moment.

Mount Holly, N. J., Sept. 7.—Wesley Warren, who murdered his mistress, Lizzie Peak, two years ago, was executed in the county jail here yesterday. The hanging was without any unusual incident.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—Noel Maison was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Mrs. Sophia Rase.

Wounded While Resisting Arrest.

Quarantine, S. I., Sept. 7.—Private Brown, of company D, First artillery, a deserter, while resisting arrest at Fort Wadsworth station, on the Rapid Transit railroad, was struck on the head with the butt of a pistol by Sergeant Carswell, and so badly injured that a corporal with a file of soldiers was sent from the fort and brought the injured man in on a stretcher. The surgeon pronounced his wound trivial and says that he will be about again at the end of a week.

Dry Goods Market Booming.

New York, Sept. 7.—The further the dry goods market goes the more it appears to commend itself to buyers, and despite the large business which has been done in both cotton and woolen goods during the past few weeks there is no diminution in buying. On the contrary, some of the largest houses in the trade report a greater volume of business yesterday than entered any day since the improvement set in.

No Money to Employ Land Agents.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Twelve special agents of the general land office have been suspended on account of the insufficiency of this year's appropriation by congress. There were thirty-six special agents in the service, and on December 1 twelve more of them will be suspended, leaving only twelve agents to perform the duties formerly required of the thirty-six.

First Train in Five Days.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 7.—For the first time in five days a train came in over the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad last night, all burned bridges having been either repaired or reconstructed so that trains could get through.

ASTOR SCANDAL AGAIN

Drayton Sues for an Absolute Divorce.

Hallett Alsop Borrowe Named as Co-respondent—To-day Is Mrs. Draytons Last Day To Make Answer, Then the Affair Will Be Aired in Court—Papers Filed at Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 7.—The domestic troubles of Mr. and Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton are to be aired in the divorce court. Mr. Drayton began a suit for divorce on June 27, but the fact has just leaked out. Hallett Alsop Borrowe is named as the co-respondent, which is not much of a surprise after the scandal which was aired so extensively a comparatively short time ago. The papers are now on file in the New Jersey state court of chancery in this city.

Mrs. Drayton is in Europe, and her mother, Mrs. William Astor, is in Newport. It is not known that any answer will be made to the suit, although Drayton asks the unreserved custody of his four children. This is Mrs. Drayton's last day of grace, and if no reply is made to-day the case will go into the hands of the master in chancery, who will take evidence.

This is the first blot of scandal on the Astor escutcheon. Whether or not it is deserved is a matter for individual judgment of the merits of the case. Drayton's bill of particulars is long and specific. He avers that he married Charlotte Augusta Astor, daughter of the late William Astor, on October 20, 1879, at her father's residence, 350 Fifth avenue, New York city, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Morgan Dix. He and his wife lived in New York until 1888, when they moved to Bernardsville, N. J., where they lived until 1892, and then went to live in Somerville, N. J. While in London in 1892 he says his wife left him and has since been sojourning alternately in New York and Europe. He accuses his wife of infidelity with Borrowe upon different dates between January and August inclusive, 1891, in New York city, and in London.

His affidavit that he is not bringing the suit through collusion is attached.

Mrs. Drayton's Intentions Unknown.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 7.—Mrs. William Astor states that she is unaware what Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton proposes doing in regard to the coming divorce proceedings. Those acquainted with the family affairs state that Mrs. Drayton seeks her own counsel and that the rest of the family are quite uninformed as to her intentions.

Nominated for Congress.

Weirs, N. H., Sept. 7.—The republican convention for the First congressional district nominated Hon. Cyrus A. Sulloway, of Manchester.

Washington, Pa., Sept. 7.—The democratic convention of the Twenty-fourth congressional district nominated William A. Sipe for congress. Washington county refused to make the nomination unanimous.

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 7.—At the prohibitionists' Fourth congressional district convention held at Washington William V. Ramsey, of Flemington, was nominated for congress.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 7.—The prohibitionists of the Fifth congressional district, composing Bergen and Passaic counties, nominated Rev. Solomon Parsons, of this city, for congress.

Teet's Bondsmen Alarmed.

Monticello, N. Y., Sept. 7.—Frank S. Teet, who was arrested at his home in Hurleyville, Sullivan county, August 17 by Postoffice Inspector White at the instigation of Anthony Comstock on a charge of printing and dealing in obscene literature, and arraigned before United States Commissioner Alexander at New York and gave bonds to the amount of $5,000, has left for parts unknown, and his bondsmen are looking for him. Messages have been wired to numerous places in the hope of apprehending him.

Three More Suspected Lynchers Held

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 7.—George Sisler and Mike Strickfader, one a saloon keeper and the other a grocer, are under arrest charged with being implicated in the murder of the six negroes lynched Friday at Millington. Atkerson, the wagon driver, Richardson, the detective, and Lannon, the merchant, have been arrested again. Each man is charged with murder and has been indicted six times. There is great excitement, and indignation is strong against the accused.

Relief Work at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 7.—The relief work here is progressing finely and subscriptions are swelling beyond all expectations. A large number of refugees have arrived here and many of them are being cared for at the various hospitals. All are reported as doing nicely. Almost every city and county in the state has taken official action in relation to the fire and the individual subscriptions have been very liberal.

Death of Mrs. Brent Good.

New York, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Brent Good, wife of Brent Good, one of the best known advertising men in the United States, is dead at the Murray Hill hotel. Mrs. Good will be missed by the poor of the city, as she devoted the greater part of her life to charitable work.

For Violating Weekly Payment Law.

Albany, Sept. 7.—State Factory Inspector Connolly has asked the attorney general to begin an action against the Buffalo Ice company for failure to pay its employes weekly. The penalty is $50 fine for each week's neglect to pay each employe.

Still Another Bicycle Record.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 7.—J. P. Bliss went on Hampden Park track yesterday the fastest mile ever made on a bicycle, making the record for the paced mile, flying start, of 1:22 3-5, and incidentally lowering the three-quarters record to 1:23.

Smith and Crisp at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 7.—Secretary Hoke Smith arrived here last night. He and Speaker Crisp speak at a democratic mass meeting here to-night.

WHERE LIES THE DANGER?

SO SAY THE VARIOUS CITY BOARDS OF HEALTH.

THE ANSWER HAS BEEN FOUND.

Evidence that Even Impure Vegetables and Tainted Meat are Not So Bad as Food Undigested.

There has been a great deal said in the papers about adulterated foods. Every large city has a Board of Health that carefully inspects the fruits and vegetables that come into the city. This is all very well, but it does not reach the source of the trouble, from which men and women suffer. No food is healthy if it is not digested. If the sweetest and freshest vegetables form acid or gas in the stomach they are poisonous. A boiling, rotting mass of food in the stomach that is not and cannot be digested, becomes simply rank poison, no matter how pure and good the food may have been before it was eaten, so that the trouble is not so much with the foods as it is with our power of digesting them and turning them into pure blood, flesh, muscle, nerve, brain and bone.

What is the lesson from these clear and often unthought of truths? Look to your digestion! Food will help you if it is the right kind, providing you digest it. If not, any food will injure and poison. It is here that science has come to the rescue. The discovery of a process of artificially digested food has actually been made so that the stomach becomes relieved of the necessity of overwork, and so that perfect digestion can take place without effort. The discovery of this pre-digested food has aroused a great deal of attention in medical and scientific circles, and now that it is being manufactured and put up in a form so that people can obtain it, it has worked a revolution in the subject of foods. It is known to the public as Paskola. Increased weight, freedom from dyspepsia and the pleasing sensation of healthy acting organs are certain to be found by all who use this great pre-digested food.

This has been strikingly illustrated in the case of Mrs. Charles Bock, who resides at No. 284 24th street, Detroit, Mich. She said:

"I had been feeling sick for 5 months. My strength and flesh were so fearfully reduced that I could not leave my room for weeks. My appetite was poor and it seemed as though I could not find anything that would restore my strength, appetite or health. My complexion was very sallow during this time, my sunken eyes were surrounded by deep, black circles, and my nervous system was so badly shattered that the faintest noise would send me into hysterics.

"One day while I was suffering very much and felt pretty despondent my husband bought me a bottle of that great pre-digested food Paskola. I commenced its use and in four days I not only ate heartily, but I gained sufficient strength to leave my room and look after my usual duties. By the time the first bottle was consumed I had gained five pounds, the circles disappeared from around my eyes, and my complexion showed a marked improvement. I continued the use of Paskola and have gained 14½ pounds, am attending to my household duties, and believe I owe it all to Paskola, and that any others who may be suffering like myself may receive the same wonderful benefits."

Such statements as the above confirm what the best scientists, doctors and physicians have already learned, namely, that Paskola, the pre-digested food, which is justly so popular, does accomplish what never before known in the history of the world.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New York City.

Slavin To Meet an Unknown.

London, Sept. 7.—Pony Moore, accompanied by Charley Mitchell, met Paddy Slavin to arrange a fight between him and an unknown. Slavin agreed to fight for £3,000 a side at the National Sporting club on November 19 next, Moore naming his unknown two weeks before that date. It is said that Slavin's backer wishes to draw out on the plea that he wishes to back Slavin only against Corbett or Jackson.

Killed by a Runaway Horse.

Albany, Sept. 7.—A team of horses driven by Enos Powers, a liveryman, became frightened last night at a piano organ and ran away. Powers was thrown from the carriage and sustained injuries from which he died at the City hospital a half hour after the accident.

Korn and Daly Barred Out.

New York, Sept. 7.—The stewards of the Jockey club at their regular meeting sustained the action of the stewards of the Coney Island Jockey club in the St. Michael case, and no more entries will be received from either J. P. Korn or M. J. Daly.

Death of Mayor Conyngham.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 7.—Major Charles Miner Conyngham, one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Pennsylvania, died here last evening of exhaustion following a surgical operation, which was performed for the removal of a bullet received during the war.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ALL RESTS ON LI HUNG

Held Responsible for Every Defeat of the Chinese.

Blamed With Forcing the War Against the Judgement of the Pekin Court—Talk Even of Impeaching the Chinese Bismarck—Li Misled Regarding the Jap's Abilities.

San Francisco, Sept. 7.—Pekin newspapers brought by the steamer Peru, just arrived, contained news that bodes ill for Li Hung Chang. The sole responsibility in the conduct of the present war rests on him and for every disaster the Chinese land or sea forces sustain he is held accountable. The Nichi-Nichi says that Wang Jung-Ho and Li Hung Tsen, who were commissioned a few months ago by the Pekin government to watch over the actions of the viceroy are going to take active measures, now that the intelligence of defeats of Chinese on land and sea has reached the ears of statesmen of Peking. Wang Hung-Ho is said to be on bad terms with the viceroy and as his influence over the court of Pekin is known to be considerable the situation of the viceroy must be an anxious one. The Hochi and several other papers even state that a committee for the impeachment of the viceroy has been appointed and that Wang Jung-Ho, Li Hung Tsen, Chang Chtung and an elder brother of this Chang, all enemies of the viceroy, have been appointed its members.

That the court of Pekin was disposed toward a pacific policy and that the declaration of war was forced upon it by the viceroy, Li, is evident from the great consternation with which the statesmen in Pekin received the news of the sinking of the Kow Shing. The viceroy underrated Japan, which he regarded as incapable of taking any decisive step. His anger is now chiefly directed against Yuen, the late Chinese resident in Corea, by whom he regards himself as having been misled as to Japan's fighting abilities.

RAIN CHECKS WAR.

No Important Battle Expected in Corea Until the Floods Subside.

London, Sept. 7.—A Tokio dispatch to the Central News says that the last reports from the front tell of heavy rains which have impeded military operations. The streams of the Corean peninsula have risen rapidly and much of the adjacent lowland is partially flooded. The Japanese officers say it is not likely that any important battle will be fought before the floods subside. Occasional skirmishes have taken place, they say, but neither side has tried recently to bring about a decisive action.

The Japanese regulars in Corea now number 30,000. Some 10,000 of these troops, comprising a strong cavalry force, have been detailed for the scouting service and the protection of the army's lines of supply and communication. Some 15,000 Japanese occupy a strong position at Ping Yang. They have thrown up earthworks and mounted heavy guns. The Chinese army, with about 20,000 men, has taken a position facing the Japanese. Scouting parties from the two camps have met frequently and exchanged shots, but the moriality has been inconsiderable.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News says: "Despite Japanese denials that there has been a general engagement, many wounded are arriving at Seoul. It is impossible to learn from Japanese sources whether they were injured in skirmishes or in a pitched battle. Coreans attacked fifty Japanese foragers recently, capturing thirty, and handed them over to the Chinese. The troops now coming from Japan are landed at Chemulpo. Twelve mountain guns and twelve mortars have been taken ashore at that port."

The Tokio correspondent of the Central News says the statement that the reports of great Chinese victories in Corea are pure fiction.

Tailors Win Their Strike.

New York, Sept. 7.—Mr. E. Marks, chairman of the contractors' association, announced last night that the tailors' strike was ended. He stated that the contractors had acceded to the strikers' demands and that from 3,000 to 4,000 men will resume work on Sunday morning. He also announced that the contractors will demand an increase of from 30 to 35 per cent. in the rate of payment from the merchants of Broadway, Mercer and Greene streets.

Receiver for a Trolley Car Concern.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—J. G. Davis, of Altoona, has been appointed receiver of the Robinson Machine company, manufacturers of trolley cars and electrical goods at Bellewood. Harry A. Gardner, the defaulting cashier of the closed Second National bank, of Altoona, was the controlling power in this company, and the funds of the bank were appropriated to float the concern.

Middletown, Pa., Bank Fails.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 7.—The Middletown National bank at Middletown, of which Charles W. Raymond is president, has closed its doors. The cause of the failure is supposed to be the discounting of notes of certain corporations and individuals, who find it impossible to pay. The failure has been anticipated and will not cause much distress.

Not Asiatic Cholera.

Pittsburg, Sept. 7.—A careful investigation of the facts surrounding the reports of the death of an immigrant, John Walther, at Cumberland, as mentioned in these dispatches, gives no ground for the assertion that the death was due to Asiatic cholera.

Wheelman Waller Injured.

Paris, Sept. 7.—In the six-hour bicycle race at the Velodrome Buffalo Waller, of America, was thrown from his wheel in a collision and struck on his head. He was stunned and badly bruised.

Mme. Jonlaux Held for Triple Murder

Antwerp, Sept. 7.—Mme. Henri Jonlaux has been committed for trial on the charge of having murdered her brother, sister and uncle to get their life insurance.

Food For The Sick

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER IRVING CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

CIRCULATION EXCEEDS THAT OF ALL OTHER PLAINFIELD DAILIES COMBINED.

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 7, 1894

There is one point in the new tariff bill well worth considering as a great gain to this country. It is not a bill that the manufacturers will spend money to repeal. One of them, who contributed help only six years ago to aid in the campaign which brought us McKinleyism, on being asked lately if he would give material aid to procure the repeal of the present act, answered with emphasis: "Not a dollar."

STAND BY CONGRESS.

Representative Hall, of Minnesota, has published in pamphlet form his speech giving in condensed form what Congress has done, and it will probably enjoy a wide circulation. He has had the cover of the pamphlet printed in fac simile of that blank pamphlet first brought to the attention of Congress during the silver debate in the Senate at the extra session by a would-be wit, with its flaring title, "What Congress Has Done".

Mr. Hall shows what it really has done, and his summary discloses it has been, all things considered, a session creditable to the Democratic party.

It has made all money equally taxable. It has restored confidence in our currency and finances.

It has given to the people the opportunity of living better and cheaper.

It has placed the burden of taxation upon the rich man's surplus as well as upon every man's needs.

It has restored the freedom of election. It has placed the transactions of the Government and its method of accounting upon a business basis.

It has greatly reduced the expenditures of the Government and the number of officeholders.

It has maintained an unrelenting fight against the trusts and monopolies which Protection created.

At the close of the summary Mr. Hall prints the following quotation: "It has fought the good fight, it has finished the course, it has kept the faith."

Dunellen No One-Horse Town.

[From The Weekly Call.]

The wind-mill plan of furnishing water for Dunellen seems to be a one-horse plan. Dunellen is no small town, and when we furnish a water supply we do so for the future as well as the present. Let the citizens get at this water question with a full determination to accomplish a beneficial improvement to the borough and one which will benefit each citizen.

Savings of the Masses.

(From The Washington Star.)

There was a prophecy afloat, the property of the professional protectionists, that a great deal of ruin had been wrought by even a hint at tariff revision, and the total wreck of the American people and American homes was sure to be accomplished if tariff agitation continued. Now the savings banks are not holding out the terms of this prophecy. The returns of these banks generally indicate the financial condition of the masses, at least this is what the high-class protectionists have held up as the truth. Since January 1 savings bank deposits in New York and Brooklyn have increased $9,000,000, and they are only $7,000,000 less than a year ago, notwithstanding the depression. The professional protectionist and his calamity howl have about had their inning.

The Tariff Is a Tax.

(From The New York World.)

Now that John Wanamaker is running business instead of politics he is in no doubt that the tariff is a tax and that the consumer pays it. In a flaring advertisement in the Philadelphia papers he announces that his firm kept 619 cases of foreign goods in bond, "in view of the tariff changes", and now offer them at reduced prices. As a case in point he advertises "F. W." blankets—"on a free-wool basis". "No crawling in", says the shrewd John; "one plunge and have it over". And he cites: "406 pairs handsome all-wool couch, bed or wrapper blankets, precisely like those regularly $5 up to a week; our price $2.75 the pair." In view of the approaching cold weather we give Wanamaker the benefit of this free advertisement of his free-wool blankets.

The Simple Business Fact.

(From The Clinton Democrat.)

We are already beginning to see that free wool is going to do for woollen manufacturers in this country what free raw silk has done for the silk manufacturers and free raw hides for the boot and shoe industry.

The woollen manufacturers are preparing for a better business than they have known in years, and are already setting up machinery for weaving grades of cloth which never before could be made in this country on account of the prohibitory duties on the wool necessary to make them. At the same time, the price of American wool is advancing—it has gone up something like 30 per cent. within the past sixty days.

This is the simple business fact which is too much for the arithmetic of those who dwell in the shadow of McKinley and Tom Reed.

AN EPITAPH.

I gladly lay me down to sleep
Within the grave so quiet,
For if 'tis calmer than my life
I would be fain to try it.
The earthly goal I sought for—rest—
I found ('tis not surprising),
For I engaged in business and
Eschewed all advertising.

—The new platform about the freight-house has been finished.

Spanking the Baby.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

The Plainfield Courier makes an effort to defend its un-Republican position with reference to the next Congressional nomination, but without success. It made a bad break, that's all there is about it, and it would better acknowledge the fact and get into line again. It is not at all a question of what Essex County wants, or what Elizabeth wants, or what Plainfield wants. It is a question of what the whole district wants. And when that question is determined, the Republicans of every part of the district will act according to principle, act like men and not like children. Suppose, for example, that some one in Orange should say, as the Plainfield Courier has said, that not a Republican in that place would vote the Republican ticket unless an Orange candidate was selected. What a guy such a party would make of himself. And we respectfully submit that the Plainfield Courier is doing this very same thing. And as we have said before, Plainfield is entitled to the fullest consideration, and will get it. But neither Plainfield, Elizabeth, Orange nor Bayonne will be allowed to dictate to or bulldoze all the rest of the district. It is needful to select the best man. Plainfield may present him. If she does, the rest of the district will help to elect him. That's the whole situation. Let the Courier acknowledge the facts, and act like a man.

Good Advice.

[From The Elizabeth Herald.]

It is pretty generally thought by those who assume to know what the Republicans may do that the chances favor the nomination of Ackerman, of Plainfield, for Congress, Halsey, of Elizabeth, for County Clerk, and ex-Senator Vail, of Rahway, as one sure nomination for Assembly. That such a combination has elements of real strength about it no Democrat of sound judgment will deny. It is a prettily-devised conjunction territorially and politically, and it is only casting an anchor to windward for Democrats to weigh well the probabilities and the possibilities of such a geographical combine as our friends the enemy are likely to perfect. But the best devised schemes of mice and men oft gang aglee. There was and is a normal Democratic majority in Union County of near 600 when no local issues divide and distract party councils. As the assemblymen are to be voted for on the county plan, we see no good reason why, if proper nominations be made, the entire Democratic legislative ticket should not be triumphant. The first Assembly district alone, although Mr. Kelly was badly beaten in it, ought to give proper candidates at least 1,000 plurality. Should harmony prevail in that section this year—and we believe it will—there is good ground to expect that it will do some of its ancient Democratic work. As to Congress the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be, is sure of election, and the same vote that will secure Democratic Assemblymen will elect a Democratic County Clerk. To do these things, however, we must bring the best material we have in our ranks to the front in the nominating conventions to come.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Undertaker Ira F. Riker has put in a new safe.

—Six new ushers will begin duty in Music Hall tonight, the old half-dozen being retired.

—The sewerage bid of W. W. Cook & Co. of Jamestown, N. Y., is understood to be but little above $18,000.

—John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, will give a musical and literary entertainment in their rooms Friday evening, Sept. 21.

—Lovers of good tennis should not fail to be present at the completion of the championship tournament of the Hillside Tennis Club tomorrow afternoon.

—The catch-basins at the corner of Front street and Park avenue and at Watchung avenue and Second street, continue to give evidence that they need flushing.

—The Women's Relief Corps, No. 10, Auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, will give a peach festival in the store adjoining VanEmburgh & Son, Babcock Building, Thursday afternoon and evening, Sept. 13.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Iona Council added three paleface women to its roll of members Wednesday night.

Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., initiated three candidates into the mysteries of the order last evening.

Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men expect to have three adoptions at their meeting tonight. Preparations for the anniversary celebration Oct. 9 will be made.

Able to Sit Up.

Track-walker Fitzgerald of South Plainfield, who was injured Tuesday by a fall from a Lehigh Valley train, is now able to sit, heavily bandaged, on the piazza of his home. His injuries were not as severe as was at first supposed. His cracked shoulder-blade is the most troublesome of all.

Brick Stalls for Horses.

D. W. Rogers is making improvements at his property, the old Alert Hose-house. He is completing a brick addition at the rear, containing ten stalls, for his own horses and for rent to horse-owners who want good stalls. He will also have room for safe storage of wagons.

REAR-END COLLISION.

Destruction of a Baggage Car on the New Jersey Central.

During a heavy fog this morning drill engine No. 180 ran into passenger train No. 300 going north on the Long Branch division of the Central Railroad at Bay Way, wrecking the rear end baggage-car completely. The wreck was strewn over the south-bound track and delayed travel one hour.

No one was hurt, though much excitement prevailed among the passengers. Both trains were going in the same direction.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Katie Glenn of West Fourth street left for Somerville today.

Mrs. Kurzhals of West Second street is confined to the house by illness.

Miss Mary Howard of West Fourth street is much improved from her illness.

Miss Nellie Schutt of Duer street has returned after two weeks of Asbury Park life.

D. D. Brokaw and family of Sycamore avenue have returned after a week spent amid the delights of Peapack.

Miss Mary C. Sutphen of Duer street left town yesterday morning to spend a week with her sister in Somerville.

Isaac L. Miller has gone from the Sullivan County Club-House to Brielle, where he will spend a week before returning home.

Miss Clara Adams of Newark, who has been spending two weeks with Mrs. Herman Klinsman of Wilson avenue, has returned home.

Mrs. Elmer E. Garretson of West Front street contracted a severe cold while in Asbury Park last Monday, which confines her to the house.

Mrs. Wm. Feibel and family of Newark have returned home after a very pleasant visit as the home of Mrs. Herman Klinsman of Wilson avenue.

Everett Dwight of Rockview avenue, who has been spending his Summer vacation in Cottage City on the extremity of Cape Cod, is now visiting relatives in New York for two weeks.

Isaac Brokaw will leave in a few days to attend the G. A. R. Encampment in Pittsburg. He will also visit the place of his birth, Freeport, O. Mr. Brokaw will be gone about two weeks.

Mr. Cook of the firm of W. W. Cook & Co., contractors of Jamestown, N. Y., is an intimate friend of Andrew Love, Sr., of Duer street. He has been visiting Mr. Love while figuring on the sewerage contract.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Mary T., daughter of Mrs. Katherine T. Meeker, of Asbury Park, to George W. Morrison, son of Editor Morrison of The Evening News. The ceremony will take place in the Asbury Park First Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, at 8:30.

Plainfield maidens whose hearts were besieged by that sly old beau William G. Brett will be surprised to learn that after all the gay boy has wedded another girl. The happy bride is a Georgia belle, by name Catherine Viola Rodgers. The romance of the wedding is that they met this Summer, loved at sight, and were betrothed next day.

Iretus G. Cardner, for 30 years a well-known physician of large practice in New York, with office at 69 West One Hundred and Fifth street, died Wednesday at the home of his son Thomas B. Cardner, Orange place, where he had been cared for since he was stricken by paralysis six weeks ago. The funeral will be from 312 Orange place tomorrow afternoon at 2.

Funeral services over the remains of Miss Catharine K. Vail of 119 West Fourth street who died Tuesday will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3. Miss Vail was nearly 90 years old and was the last of her family. Her father was Edward Vail. She was a Hicksite Friend and the interment will be in the burying-ground by the Watchung Avenue meeting-house. Nearly 10 years ago Miss Vail slipped on the ice by her house and fell, breaking an arm and a leg. She never fully recovered from these injuries.

Honeyman Tourists Home.

Honeyman's White Mountain party of 45 came home last evening. They report the usual delightful time. In the White Mountains they had some rain, and no view from Mt. Washington, except on the return, when the clouds opened a little. But they went to North Conway to attend a coaching parade, and saw the most beautiful display of tally-hos and brakes lavishly trimmed with flowers and ribbons ever exhibited at a Summer resort. The Quebec trip has been in perfect weather. Besides Mr. Honeyman, the Plainfielders in the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Runyon, and Miss Hattie Rockwell. Contrary to the usual rule, nearly half of the party were men; heretofore three-fourths have been women.

Would Not Argue Against His Convictions.

Before Judge McCormick as counsel for two of the caveators in the Stites will case, City Judge Wm. A. Coddington made no argument in favor of setting the will aside. He told the Court that he had examined into the case and arrived at the conclusion that the laws of the State upheld the action of the testator. He did not go on with the case, as he would not argue against his own convictions. The decision upholds his stand.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The affairs of the First Church of Christ are arranged in such a form now that a decision as to the executing of the Stewart mortgage will probably be reached at the next meeting of the officials.

Change at Allen's.

J. C. Allen has sold out the stock and fixtures of his variety store, 202 West Front street, to B. S. Manning of this city. A. M. Line of Elizabeth will take charge as manager. Mr. Allen will devote his time to the manufacture of his facial and tooth powder.

"WANG" TONIGHT.

Perfect Presentation of the Popular Opera.

Beautiful scenery, splendid costumes, clever acting, and superb singing, combine to make "Wang" as publicly presented on Music Hall stage tonight a glorious success. The opera was given a full-dress rehearsal last night, proving that the company is one of superior artists and that the production will be presented in Plainfield as faithfully as it was in New York.

The opera, with all the catchy music that has been the rage for two seasons, and with its wealth of pretty girls, oriental scenery and accurately gorgeous Siamese costumes, is sure to please everybody. The elephant that gets drunk, and the white-frocked negro, are alone a gigantic sideshow.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Monte Scott rode Olaf Saugstad's wheel in Binghamton yesterday.

Jacob Cose is training for the races of the Harlem Wheelmen on Manhattan Field, Saturday, Sept. 15.

George Firstbrook and Alex. Muir announce a one-mile race to be decided on the Crescent track tomorrow afternoon.

The races of the Mercury Wheel Club of Flushing tomorrow will attract E. L. Blauvelt, Nate Titsworth and H. B. Scott.

The Crescents who will ride to Clinton Sunday to assist in gathering the peach crop will leave the city at 7 in the morning.

At the meeting of the Victor Wheelmen next Thursday night it will be decided whether they will hold a twenty-five mile road race. The wheelmen will hold their first annual entertainment Oct. 25.

E. L. Blauvelt, the Class A crack, has changed his mount and become a Spalding rider. He bought a 19 pound wheel of Irvington-Millburn fame from W. H. Rogers yesterday and took it with him to Flushing, L. I., where he will ride it in the Mercury races tomorrow.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Will Runyon conducts the Christian Endeavor Society meeting in the First Baptist Church this evening. The music will be a feature.

—Plainfield is not to supply water to Bayonne after all. A contract just signed stipulates that the new supply is to come from Staten Island artesian wells.

Welcoming a Lawyer to New York.

We learn from our valued contemporary, the Sauk Centre Herald, that the Hon. William Wirt Erwin, the Tall Pine of Minneapolis, is about to transplant himself to this town. Mr. Erwin has an Æolian attachment that is much admired, and the rustling of his leaves is as the sound of many waters. His coming to New York will cover law with a new arbor of eloquence and thatch the Court House with creepers; and very likely roses will grow in the jury box.—New York Sun.

An Objection.

Mr. Gotham: How do you like the city girls?

Mr. Spodunk: Oh, they're all right enough to look at, but I can't say I get along with them very well.

Mr. Gotham: I always find them very jolly.

Mr. Spodunk: Yaas, mebbe, but when I see 'em all standing around in low-necked dresses, I don't seem to have nerve to slap 'em on the back and joke with 'em as I do with the girls up our way.—Harper's Bazar.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE.

Y. M. C. A. Directors Discuss Membership Rates for Increased Privileges.

The Board of Directors of the Y.M.C.A. met in regular monthly session last evening. W. D. Murray presided. In the absence of Recording Secretary F. W. Yates, A. B. Beers acted as secretary pro tem. The others present were H. O. Newman, John Vallant, Ernest R. Ackerman, Nelson Runyon, A. C. LaBoyteaux, C. E. Boss, H. M. Maxson, R. H. Racford and George W. Cornwell.

The directors carefully considered each of the matters brought up and did not adjourn until about 10. The most important subject for discussion was the question of how much should be charged for the increased privileges which the new building will afford. It is probable that the rates after January 1 will be $3 additional for limited privileges, and $6 additional for full privileges. The regular $2 membership will be continued.

The $3 extra will cover the cost of admission into the educational classes and such other advantages as may afterwards be arranged. The $6 additional full-privilege member will be entitled to instruction in the physical department, under a competent physical director, the use of the new gymnasium apparatus, besides the social and educational advantages.

The furnishing of the gymnasium with apparatus was referred with power to the Building Committee. There will be included a swimming bath, shower baths, bowling alleys and a running track.

PRETTY PINK TEA.

Willing Workers Fulfilling Their Mission.

The Willing Workers Circle of King's Daughters conducted a pink tea in Hope Chapel last evening. The central part of the chapel was tastefully decorated, the electric lights being covered and the walls being ornamented with pink bunting.

The chairman of the committee in charge was Mrs. Clarence Leland. Miss Maggie Page, Miss Ada Nash and Miss Lena Cose were at the ice-cream table. Miss Agnes Reid and Mrs. Walter Mague were in charge of the candy table. Janitor Stewart made tea and George Firstbrook and Alex. Muir assisted in the decorating. The evening was spent so pleasantly that it was decided to repeat the tea tomorrow night.

PEACHES AND CREAM.

Christ Church Has a Good Time in a Good Cause.

The teachers of the Sunday-school, and the women of the church, were in charge of a peach and ice-cream festival which was held in the First Church of Christ last evening. The affair was both pleasant and profitable.

Two rows of Chinese lanterns outlined the approach to the entrance. Inside the tables were arranged beneath the electric lights while chairs about the room offered a chance for social conversation. The proceeds will be expended in purchasing copies of the Christian Endeavor edition of Gospel Hymns No. 6.

PERILS OF PLAY.

Will Pearson Finds Hide-and-Seek Not Without its Disadvantages.

Will Pearson, aged 14, of Vine street, was playing hide-and-seek Wednesday night at 7:30 when he decided to hide in a tree. He climbed the maple by the house of Peter Hansen, corner of Vine and Emily streets.

He lost his hold when he reached the branches and fell to the ground. He struck on his wrist and it pained him so that he went to Dr. Carman's house. The physician found that one of the bones in the wrist had been cracked and that a cord was injured. Rapid improvement began after the wrist had been dressed.

SAVED FROM JAIL.

Mayor Needham Remits a Part of Barschofski's Sentence.

Julius Barschofski, the Polish shoemaker of the Somerset street bridge, with his counsel, George DeMeza, met Mayor Needham last evening. He was ordered to pay a fine of $10 and go to jail for five days by the Mayor last month for keeping a disorderly house.

Barschofski said he was willing to pay the fine but he objected to the imprisonment. The five days were remitted on condition that a $20 fine be paid instead. The Pole agreed and gave the borough the money, after attempting to compromise on $15.

Coming, a Temperance Evangelist.

The W. C. T. U. held their regular business meeting yesterday afternoon, in their rooms on Watchung avenue.

Arrangements were completed for the holding of the annual county convention next Monday in the rooms. It gives promise of being a very successful meeting, as the reports will be very interesting.

The members discussed the advisability of securing John G. Woolley, the renowned temperance speaker, to address a mass meeting which the Union intends holding in Music Hall. Some of the members were desirous of having Col. Bain of Kentucky. The matter will be decided at an early date.

For Saturday.

Edsall announces in The Press advertising columns today a special list of useful articles in his line for tomorrow that will be of interest to almost everybody. He claims that he is now in a position to sell better goods at lower prices than all competitors, and is doing it every day. It is to the interest of all to buy where they can get the most for their money. The constantly increasing trade he thinks is a good proof of this fact.

He'd Poll a Strong Vote.

David Morning of the West End contemplates running as the Socialist candidate for Councilman.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Mr. Froleigh is out with a handsome new horse and buggy.

Jacob Humes is painting and repairing about the residence of Mrs. Hart.

The walks in the Baptist Church yard are being filled in with crushed stone.

Dr. Coles is macadamizing the walks about his property on Mountain avenue.

Mrs. J. S. Braker leaves this afternoon to visit friends in Philadelphia and Camden.

Potato harvesting is finished with all the farmers except "Doctor" Charles Layton.

The men at the stone-crushers are busy. The stone is being carted to the cars.

Vincent J. Sisser has engaged a colored hostler to care for his famous black mare.

The Misses Hayes have postponed moving into their new house until next week.

Miss Manser of New York is visiting at the home of Augustus Frentz of Westfield avenue.

Mrs. Charles Bayer of Perth Amboy is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Day of Mountain avenue.

Jacob Messler drove to Newark Wednesday with 100 basket of peaches grown by Maxwell Drake.

Mrs. Geneva Coutan of Mountain avenue is visiting friends at the Carpenter House, Lake George.

David White, Jr., of West Fourth street, Plainfield, is now a bartender in V. J. Sisser's saloon.

The people of the Plains in general seem to regard the decision in the Stites will case as a just one.

George Frentz has returned to Mississippi after a visit with his brother, Augustus Frentz, the builder of the Plains.

The Board of Trustees will meet again in the school. Monday night to further investigate the breaking of the windows.

The Heuston boys who have been spending the Summer in the Stanbery cottage have returned to school in New York.

John Tice, formerly employed by John R. Marsh, Jr., is now working for George Feller, butcher, of Somerset street, Plainfield.

"Boss" Campbell has sold to B. R. Force of Plainfield the violin which he claims he brought from Virginia 140 years ago.

The Ladies Circle of the Baptist Church met in the parsonage yesterday afternoon and discussed plans for the work of the coming season.

The choir of the Baptist Church will go tomorrow night to the home of Miss Allen, near Seeley's Mill, for practice. Dennis Crane's rig will carry them.

The success of the union services of the Methodists and Baptists will probably lead to the holding of a number of similar meetings during the Fall and Winter.

Rector E. H. True of All Saints Church has called a meeting of the Episcopalians for next Monday evening at 8 for the purpose of filling the five vacancies in the vestry.

The children of the Junior Epworth League of the Methodist Church enjoyed a festival and picnic on the grounds of Mrs. Marsh's place by the brook yesterday afternoon.

Jacob Bertram of Amboy, who is recovering from the accident in the Summer when he lost a leg on the railroad in Forge, will spend next week with his sister, Mrs. Edson Day of Mountain avenue.

Lynus Walpole and Thomas Paff, Sr., went fishing in the Passaic today. Mr. Paff's last catch was a snapping turtle, which he found in Lambert's pond, Wednesday. Mr. Walpole has caught 15 bass this year.

A missionary meeting will take the place of the regular prayer service in the Baptist Church tonight. Missionary Abrahams will appear in costume and tell of the life of the Persians. An offering will be collected.

The dry wells in the vicinity are making work for pump repairers. Plumber Lewis Morrell and Assistant Layton are doing a great business. The sand that is drawn up instead of water cuts out the leather valve-work.

The corn crop in the vicinity is almost a failure. John R. Marsh, Jr., seems to have the best yet harvested. He is cutting from eight acres along the brook where the dry weather seems to have had less effect than elsewhere.

The Rahway nine have offered to play the Scotch Plains boys Sept. 22 in Rahway and Sept. 29 on the local diamond. The Plains players will meet to night to consider the acceptance of the challenge. They prefer to play on the home grounds.

The boys of Fanwood beat the Scotch Plains Juniors yesterday afternoon, 13 to 7. The game was played on the Fanwood grounds. Royal Day was the umpire. Russell Briggs made a home-run and George Frentz batted a three-bagger.

When the Scotch Plains nine was organized John Flannery agreed to treat the boys every time they won a game, on the condition that the team would pay for the treat when they lost. The game in Rahway was the only one the club has not won.

Scotch Plains still claims the big bass championship in spite of the recent catch of an Evona man. Edward Dorwood held the lead for several years with a big-mouthed bass of four pounds caught in New Market. Robert Walpole broke it and still claims the record with a four and one-quarter pounds Oswego bass.

The Sons of Temperance had an organization meeting in the chapel of the Baptist Church last evening. W. E. Clum, worthy patriarch, was instructed to apply for a charter. The acting recording scribe, Mrs J. Clum, has called another meeting for Monday night, and the Sons will finally be started aright on their way to full-fledged membership. Rev. J. S. Braker will be the chaplain.

Dunellen.

Howard Giles is visiting friends in Newark.

Miss Convery is being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Eganey.

Miss Hattie Sandford of Elizabeth is visiting Mrs. Abram Dunham.

Miss Lillian Brown of Springdale is stopping with friends in Dunellen.

H. H. Webb of Lincoln avenue has purchased a handsome upright piano.

Edward Taylor and family will spend one week of Mr. Taylor's vacation in Boonton.

Miss Carrie Haffner and her brother Frank are enjoying a visit in East Bridgeport, Conn.

Miss Bulkley of Brooklyn will visit Dr. and Mrs. Brakeley during the month of September.

The Dunellen schools met yesterday, and by order of the comm'ssioners adjourned till Sept. 24.

Mrs. Wm. Conley and Mrs. Joseph Eder spent yesterday afternoon with friends in Bound Brook.

Ephraim Boice and family of Piscataway spent yesterday with Mr. Boice's sister, Mrs. John Tingley.

Mrs. T. F. Voorhees of Somerville returned home yesterday after visiting Mrs. Theodore Voorhees for a few days.

Mr. Clawson and family, who have been stopping in New Market for the Summer, returned to their Brooklyn home yesterday.

Miss Florence Howard and Frank Tinsman were among the Dunellen young people to enjoy the Waverly Fair yesterday.

Fred Banks of New York spent yesterday with John Peters and family. Mrs. Banks and children will remain another week.

J. A. Anthony and family of New York have rented the James Craig house. They are stopping with Elias Milliken until their goods arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clawson of Waterford, Pa., who have been spending the Summer with Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Wilson, have gone to Salem, West Virginia, where they will live until January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Demarest of Paterson, parents of Mrs. C. D. Taylor of Dunellen, celebrated their golden wedding last evening at their home in Paterson. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were present to enjoy the festivities.

While Abram Smalley, Jr., was returning to his home in West Dunellen last evening he met with an accident which may confine him to the house for some time. When crossing a bridge near the McFadden property, he walked off the bridge, which is almost worn out with use, cutting his face, and hurting himself internally. He managed to walk home.

The children of Mrs. Brennan and those of Mrs. Cronon had a quarrel yesterday morning over some trifling affair. Mrs. Brennan was attracted to the scene, and, learning the trouble, called on Mrs. Cronon with the idea of settling matters. Mrs. Cronon said she would be out in a moment, and, returning to the house, secured a pan of boiling water. When she came outdoors the two met, and Mrs. Cronon threw the hot water in Mrs. Brennan's face, badly scalding her. Mrs. Brennan went at once to Justice Huff to have a warrant issued for the woman's arrest. Mr. Huff refused, and Justice Storms was sought, but he also refused to have anything to do with the matter.

New Market.

The Evanses have left town.

Bert Fletcher and Luther Mundy are on the sick list.

Miss Emma Heyden of Saratoga is visiting her sisters here.

Miss Irene Day has returned from her visit to South Orange.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Nelson last Friday.

Miss Angie Warren has been spending several days in Brooklyn.

The Misses Giles of Plainfield spent yesterday with the Misses Coriell.

The Summer boarders at the Nelson House have returned to their homes.

Elmer Blackford and Mahlon Dayton are spending their holidays in New Market.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mosher of New York have been visiting Mrs. Stanley Day.

Alice Pierce leaves tonight for Arlington, to spend two or three weeks with relatives.

Miss Emma Nelson has returned home from South Orange, where she has been visiting.

Philip Mitze, head clerk in Boehm's dry goods store, is enjoying his vacation at home.

Alfred Penrose of Philadelphia, who is visiting his brothers, will return home tomorrow.

Hannah Larkin has gone to Alfred Centre, where she will take a four-year college course.

Miss Nellie Hart of Brooklyn and Will Bartow of Bound Brook visited friends in town last evening.

A great many Marketers are making arrangements for next week, to attend the Somerville fair.

Miss Irene Day, cornetist of the women's orchestra, has secured a new instrument from C. G. Cohn of Elkhart, Ida.

The band played at Martinsville yesterday at a harvest home. A good time was had. They reached home late in the evening.

The Vernon Brothers will give an entertainment in the First Baptist Church next Tuesday evening. A large attendance is expected.

The Dunellen Call says that the New Market reporter failed to send any news this week, and that the editor will hereafter look after that column.

Mrs. Hannah Nelson left for Newfoundland Monday to visit relatives and friends whom she had not seen in twenty-five years. She will be gone a month.

States Titsworth spent Monday at Waverley fair. States is an old-timer, and has seen many fairs. He says Waverley has a good one this year.

Invitations are out for the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Brokaw of Piscataway to be held September 18. A large gathering is expected.

School opened here Wednesday with an attendance of 11 in each room. It's a pity they hired more than one teacher. Text books were on hand, and school goes on the regular way.

A melon and ice-cream festival was held in Friendship Hall last night, under the auspices of the New Market Lawn Tennis Club. A large crowd was present, and a delightful time was had by all.

THE SEWER CONTRACT.

Cook & Co. of Jamestown Likely to Be the Successful Bidders.

The Sewerage Committee completed last night the calculating which had to be done before a comparison of the bids could be made. The six lowest bidders were selected from the 26, and today the committee began to investigate their responsibility, beginning with the lowest man. The record and the financial standing of a bidder will be thoroughly examined into before the contract is given to him.

From the figures which were read at the meeting of the Council Wednesday night it would seem that the bid of W. W. Cook & Co. of Jamestown, N.Y., is about $1,000 less than that of Montain, Marino & Arnold of Orange, the next lowest bidders.

The financial backing of Cook & Co. is said to be very heavy. They have laid 12 miles of the same kind of piping in Fostoria, Ohio. The Manhattan Beach Railroad is another evidence of their skill and experience. The firm is now finishing a sewerage job in Jamestown, N. Y., which the original contractors threw up in despair. Cook & Co. took up the work under the same conditions and are completing it successfully.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. John Venable of 366 Plainfield avenue were surprised last evening by a number of their friends, and an evening of much pleasure resulted.

Several games were played, which all enjoyed. Refreshments were served about midnight.

Those present were: Mrs. Rosa Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Lankford, Miss Pollina Coles, Miss Lizzie Coles, Miss Virginia Smith, Miss Bettie Flanagan, Miss Eliza Spriggs, Miss Alberti Cufferson, Miss Sarah Lewis, Walter Jenkins, Bert Harvey and William Burton.

Brown Bitten.

Fred Brown carries one finger carefully wrapped in linen and contemplates taking a course at the Pasteur Institute, New York. The cause is the bite of a small dog. Brown has been accustomed to poke his finger in a tantalizing way at the animal and the last time the dog took advantage of the opportunity to bite.

How She'll Celebrate.

Miss Anna Singer of Stony Hill, who fell off a train at Roselle a short time ago, has recovered and invited the railroad men who picked her up and carried her to the station, together with other friends, to a dinner to be given Thanksgiving Day at her brother's house in Westfield.

Arranging for Reopening.

Ex-Secretary Rev. H. P. Thomas of the Colored Y. M. C. A. is in town arranging with Secretary Manning for the reopening of the Colored Y. M. C. A. Mr. Thomas has just returned from a tour through Virginia.

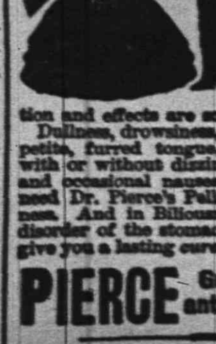
No Damage.

Farmer Randolph's horse ran away on Plainfield avenue at 6:30 last evening. The horse started at the corner of Front street and scattered tomatoes along the avenue for quite a distance before being stopped.

Beware the Avalanche.

A heavy cake of ice fell from a wagon shortly after 9 this morning, striking the crosswalk at the head of Park avenue. A woman who was passing narrowly escaped having her foot crushed.

UNAPPROACHABLE



in every way—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. In everything that makes one medicine better than another, these little Pellets stand first. They don't seem like medicine, to tell the truth. They're so small and so pleasant to take, and their action and effects are so natural.

Dullness, drowsiness, weariness, loss of appetite, furred tongue, frequent headaches with or without dizziness, chilly sensations, and occasional nausea show you that you need Dr. Pierce's Pellets. That is Biliousness. And in Biliousness, as well as every disorder of the stomach and bowels, they'll give you a lasting cure.

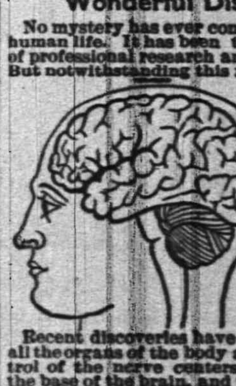
MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.



Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

Dr. Franklin Miles, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

$500 in Gold Given Away!

Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.

CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.

BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.

PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.

PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded, and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

WANT THE MILLS GOING

New Bedford Owners Tired of the Shut Down.

Anxious To Compromise With the Operatives, But Don't Want To Concede Everything—An Opportunity Now To Make Money and Pay the Old Rate of Wages.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 7.—Factory Inspector Tierney is in town today. He stated that the particulars law would be enforced in this city, as he stated that all the particulars had been placed upon every loom in the city.

The latest move on the part of certain of the manufacturers is to compromise the difficulty. They willingly admit that they want their mills to start up, but don't want to concede everything. Within the past few days certain of the labor leaders have been approached with the following proposition: "We will compromise the situation on the following terms: That the operatives return to work at a reduction of 5 per cent. in wages till such times as the cloth market reaches 3 cents, when the reduction will be restored."

At a recent gathering of the most prominent stockholders this was discussed, and, it is understood, was rejected. "When the cloth market reaches 3 cents," said one of the operatives, "we will be looking for an increase in wages rather than a restoration of present prices."

Several of the manufacturers submitted to being interviewed to-day, but they had nothing to say on any of the vital issues of the situation. The director of a north end cloth mill, who was interviewed by a reporter, was pretty outspoken on the situation. He said: "I want the mill in which my money is invested to start up at the old rate of wages right away. Holding out for the accommodation of one or two other mill officials is all bosh. Let them look after their own mills and we will look after ours. The mill in which I am interested, both as a stockholder and director, has an opportunity to make money and pay the old rate of wages, and as far as I am concerned I want to run right away."

It was rumored this morning that Wamsutta mills will attempt to start up a week from Monday under the reduction. If the move fails the mills will close down for another month.

ALARM AT ASBURY PARK.

Fifty Special Watchmen Engaged To Prevent Incendiarism.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 7.—Fifty special watchmen have been engaged to watch property and prevent, if possible, further destruction of buildings by incendiary fires. The watchmen were appointed as a result of the rumor circulated that the Coleman house was covered with kerosene and ready to be ignited, and the big Sheldon house in Ocean Grove was found in the same condition. The town authorities also heard that bundles of straw saturated with kerosene had been found under the Lake View house. It has been learned that there is no truth in the rumor. The story was started by some person for whom the authorities are now looking.

Donniker Case To Be Retired.

Portland, Me., Sept. 7.—The sensational case of Rev. Delbert G. Donniker, of Brockton, Mass., is to be tried again, the supreme court having granted a new trial. County Attorney Tree concluded that there was good grounds for a new trial and did not oppose the motion. Hon. Frank Noble, of Lewiston, will now defend Donniker. It is understood that new evidence of a very sensational character will be introduced. Donniker was tried for criminal assault upon a young woman in Scarboro.

Vermount Election Returns.

White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 7.—Returns from 228 towns give Woodbury (rep.), 41,550; Smith (dem.), 13,613; McGinnis (pop.), 612; all others, 354. Woodbury's plurality, 27,937; majority over all, 26,971. Sixteen small towns have not reported. If the same ratio of gain is maintained in these towns as in those already reported the republican majority over all will be 27,526 for the whole state, and the final result will probably not vary much from these figures.

Probably Murdered and Robbed.

St. Louis, Sept. 7.—The partially decomposed body of Fred Moser, a wealthy carriage manufacturer, of Caseyville, Ill., was taken from the Mississippi river near the Illinois shore yesterday. The body was bound tightly with rope, which was twisted four times around the arms and legs. Moser was in this city Monday and made extensive purchases. It is believed he was waylaid, murdered, and his body thrown into the river.

Parkhurst Not a Candidate.

New York, Sept. 7.—Dr. Parkhurst stated, in answer to a question, that nothing was further from his thoughts than offering himself as a candidate for mayor of New York city. He expressed himself as delighted with the dismissals of the accused police captains, and declared that he would push with renewed zeal the fight he had begun against the corrupt methods of the police department.

New Steamship Record.

Montreal, Sept. 7.—The Dominion line steamship Labrador, which passed Heath point, inward, at 7 a. m., has made the fastest passage in her history and also the fastest passage on record via the St. Lawrence route. She left Moville on Friday afternoon last. She is due in Quebec this evening.

British Warship Ashore.

HOPE KILLS DESPAIR.

AND BEAUTIFUL RESULTS SURELY FOLLOW.

There is One Thing You Want Badly and Must Have—Even If You Have Given Up Possessing It This Will Give You Hope.

Neuralgia and nervousness are fearfully prevalent. There is no more painful disease than neuralgia. It indicates a diseased state of nerves and blood and the most terrible suffering is often present.

Most everybody is nervous, and this is more dangerous than most people think, for, as in the case of the well-known S. W. Anderson, Esq., of Warren, Mass., it is very liable to lead to nervous prostration and paralysis, if not cured. He writes as follows about his wonderful recovery:

"Some time ago I was afflicted with nervousness and neuralgia. The pains I suffered were frightful. They commenced in my legs and arms and then went to my head and face. Finally I had a paralytic shock on my right side which laid me up completely.

"I continued suffering the most terrible agony from neuralgia and was nearly dead with pain. I took everything I ever heard of but got no better. I consulted four doctors but they did me no good; they said there was nothing but morphine pills that would help me.

"I took them for nearly a year and was no better but began to get even worse. I heard of a skilled doctor in Worcester, Mass., and went there to see him. He said he could cure me in one week; I staid there three days and then went home.

"The day after I got home I was taken worse than ever I had been before and my suffering was more than I could endure.

MR. S. W. ANDERSON.

"I continued to grow worse every day all through the fall and winter, then I became so bad that I had the pain almost constantly, and I could not have lived but a very short time longer if help had not been very close at hand.

"My wife saw the advertisement of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and she wanted me to use it. Having heard it very highly spoken of I decided to try it although I had made up my mind I was about through with this world.

"The first bottle I took stopped the pain entirely and my improvement was steady and sure from that time until I was cured. I could not have lived more than a week longer if I had not taken Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I am thankful to God for this medicine; it is the best remedy that ever came before the public. I thank Dr. Greene and I hope that he will be rewarded here in this world and the world to come.

"I am constantly recommending it and shall always continue to. I advise everybody to take this most wonderful medicine for it will make them strong, healthy and vigorous."

You must have health. You want to be strong and well. Then, why don't you take this greatest of all medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy? It will surely cure you. Try it.

It is recommended and used by physicians because it is the discovery and prescription of that most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York. The Doctor is consulted with by physicians themselves in regard to nervous and chronic diseases and all may have his advice free by calling or writing.

WHEAT AS FEED FOR STOCK

More of This Cereal Will Be Used This Year Than Ever Before.

Toledo, O., Sept. 8.—During the past four days Messrs. C. A. King & Co., have received replies from 3,057 reliable dealers and millers in almost every important wheat and clover seed county in Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Kansas and Missouri. These states raise most of the clover seed crop and two-thirds of the winter wheat crop, or nearly half of the entire wheat crop of the United States. Twenty-three hundred of the reports are from 298 of the larger wheat producing counties. They show that it is mostly a guess to say now what amounts of wheat will be fed animals this crop year. There will be more fed than ever before. Interior mills are daily grinding some, but mostly to feed swine. In sections where there is a fair corn crop very little will be fed. Much depends upon whether the replies are on this basis. If so they will indicate that about 15 per cent. of the whole crop may be fed in the seven states named. Kansas will feel the largest percentage. Michigan nearly as much; Missouri next, then Ohio and Kentucky, while Indiana and Illinois will feed a smaller percentage.

Nearly all the reports say farmers have sold more freely than usual. Two thousand replies say they will hold the remainder of their crop, partly to feed and partly for higher prices. Three hundred and fifty say about continue selling and 300 say they will selling freely. Indiana and farmers are more disposed to hold. Michigan farmers are firmly Clover seed crop will be smaller than the large one of last year. Some reports a larger yield per acre. The acreage is materially less. Mammoth clover will be short. Medium clover will be a trifle low on an average. Michigan reports the poorest prospects for both, while Indiana has the best, but not over an average.

FOUGHT SIX ROUNDS

Corbett Earns $5,000 in Fifteen Minutes.

Knocks Out Courtney, of Trenton, at the Edison Laboratory, Before the Kinetoscope—The Champion's Opponent Was Game, and Put Up a Better Fight Than Did Mitchell.

Orange, N. J., Sept. 8.—James J. Corbett, the world's champion pugilist, fought to a finish a six-round battle with Pete Courtney, of Trenton, last evening at Edison's laboratory in front of the kinetoscope. Four-ounce gloves were used. The managers of the Kinetoscope company, it is said, first tried to get John L. Sullivan to spar, but as he would have charged $25,000 for his services the plan was given up. Corbett was then engaged, he agreeing to stand before any man for six rounds for $5,000. An antagonist was found in Pete Courtney, a local pugilist of some fame, who has knocked out a number of men. But few persons were present.

The agreement with Courtney was that he should receive $500, and $1,000 if he stood six rounds without being knocked out.

Corbett's seconds were John McVey and Frank Belcher, while Courtney was attended by John Tracy and Edward Allen. W. A. Brady was timekeeper and John Eckhart referee.

Corbett sparred with his man during the first five rounds, but in the sixth he landed several hard blows, one of which apparently knocked out Courtney, he failing to respond to time.

About fifteen persons witnessed the fight, and every move of the pugilists was reproduced on Edison's wonderful kinetoscope. The fight lasted abut 15 minutes, including the waits between rounds, and Corbett received $5,000 for his efforts and Courtney $500 for being made the victim of the champion's skill.

Courtney was full of business and rushed Corbett for all he was worth during the first round. When it came to a clinch Corbett would fight him off, but a gamer man never faced the champion. In the third round Corbett knocked his man down, and could doubtless have put him out, but he wanted to give the kinetoscope people a show for their $5,000. Every round was fast and furious, and it was not until the last round that Corbett put his man to sleep.

At this stage of the game Corbett went at his man like a wild bull and dropped him with a left on the jaw in his own corner. Courtney got up at the end of five seconds and held on to the sides of the building for perhaps three seconds more. In the meantime Corbett moved away to allow Courtney time to recover.

The aspirant from Trenton reeled to the center of the ring, where Corbett planted right and left on the stomach and jaw and dropped him to the floor. Courtney made an attempt to get on his hands and knees, but reeled and fell down and out. The time of this round was 50 seconds. Corbett was declared the winner.

The champion went over to Courtney's corner, and as soon as the Jerseyman had regained consciousness, shook him by the hand and said:

"You're a game fellow and gave me a better fight than Mitchell did. My advice to you is to go back to Trenton and train for the ring."

Mr. Edison does not care for prize-fighting and did not see the encounter. His two sons were, however, in attendance.

New York Tailors' Strike.

New York, Sept. 8.—The executive session of the Contractors' association and Brotherhood of Tailors was not productive of any favorable results. The agreements made yesterday for 60 hours' work a week and a wage of from $9 to $15 was practically done away with through the demands of the strikers that each contractor deposit a bond of from $100 to $500 with a real estate man for the fulfilment of all the obligations. The contractors expressed their perfect satisfaction with yesterday's agreement and said but for the tail the strikers added everything would have been settled amicably.

The Niagara Hard Aground.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The steamer Niagara is still aground on the Esopus flats, and is so high out of water that, at low tide, her wheels do not touch. She is so deeply settled in the mud that the Baxter Wrecking company are finding it difficult to raise her. The pilot, it is said, mistook her light on the Port Ewen shore for the Esopus light, and, thinking he was out at the mouth of Rondout creek, ran the vessel full speed on the mud bank.

Life Insurance Company Insolvent.

Albany, Sept. 8.—Supt. James F. Pierce, of the state insurance department, has reported to the attorney general that the Mutual Benefit Life association, with principal offices in New York, is in an insolvent condition and requesting him to take such action as may be necessary. The company has unpaid death claims aggregating $200,000, some of which claims the company contest.

Long Distance Bicycle Race.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Harry P. Wylie and George Narowetz started from the city hall here yesterday at 11:30 a. m., on bicycles, to New York to beat the time being made by Letter Carrier Smith, of the Chicago postoffice. They will take the southern route via the turnpike to Cumberland and through Philadelphia. They propose returning to Chicago by the northern route.

Both Met Tragic Deaths.

Albany, Sept. 8.—Owen Brady, a peddler, was thrown out of his wagon and instantly killed yesterday afternoon, his neck having been broken. Brady's wife was killed by an insane son two months ago and the father was killed within fifty feet of the spot in which his wife was murdered.

Maine's Official Trial Trip.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The second-class battleship Maine will have her official trial trip in Long Island sound sometime next week. She is now at the Brooklyn navy yard.

ZIMMERMAN RETURNS HOME.

The Schuetzen King Tells of His Many Victories Aboard.

New York, Sept. 8.—Gus Zimmerman, the "Schuetzen King" and international champion rifle shot, arrived here on the Hamburg-American liner Columbia, after a triumphal shooting tour of Germany, France and Switzerland. Zimmerman was met at the dock in Hoboken by a committee of the Independent New York Scheutzen club. He was escorted to a carriage and driven to Weber's hotel, where an informal reception was tendered him by his fellow club members. To a reporter Zimmerman said:

"I shot in Europe as the representative of the Independent New York Schuetzen club and managed to win about 75 prizes, a much larger number than was won by any one of my competitors. At Mayence I entered the free-for-all contest, open to the world, and made a score of 59 out of a possible 60 on a 1,000-foot target. Of course, I won the first prize. At Lyons, France, I made a clear score of 50 without a miss. The governor of the province led the cheers for me and I dined with him in the evening. At Hamburg I beat Hinch, who defeated the Americans in the last international contest. Three years from now, when the next international meetings take place, I intend to take over a corps of American shots if I can get them together. While we have not such a large number of crack shots to select from here as in Europe, yet we have some good men, and I think we could hold our own. I was treated royally everywhere I went, and am well satisfied with my trip."

AN IMMENSE ROLLED PLATE.

The Largest Ever Cast Just Produced at Chester, Pa.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 8.—The largest steel plate ever rolled, not only in this country, but in the world, has just been turned out in this city by the Wellman Iron and Steel works. The dimensions of the plate are 450 inches long by 130 inches wide and 1 1-2 inches thick. It is intended as a rudder plate of one of the new "ocean greyhounds" contracted for by the International Navigation company with the Messrs. Cramp, the Philadelphia ship builders. Superintendent William G. Randle, of this city, who has just been relieved of the command of the steamship Paris, will superintend the construction of the new vessel.

The rudder plates were so large that months of inquiry developed the fact that there were but two mills having the capacity to make them and assume the risk. One of these was the famous Krupp establishment at Essen, Germany, and the other that of the Wellman company here. The huge ingot, weighing 21,000 pounds, was placed in the heating furnace and remained there for nearly 40 hours when it was removed to the table and successfully rolled.

Forest Fires Around St. John.

St. John, N. B., Sept 8.—Up to the present time this province has been comparatively free from forest fires this season, but to-day they seem to be springing up in all directions. Word comes of the destruction of large patches of wood on the Mannawaponish road west of here. Many fine residences, occupied by retired St. John merchants, are in danger.

Death of Henry F. Brown.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Henry F. Brown, aged 75, one of the oldest and wealthiest residents of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., is dead at his home in that place. The deceased was well known in New York city, thirty years ago, as a successful banker. He leaves a widow, two sons and one daughter.

Republican Majority in Vermont.

Rutland, Vt., Sept. 8.—The Rutland Herald to-day gives the republican majority at Tuesday's election, from its returns revised by mail reports directly from the town clerks, at 27,310, and the plurality at 28,356.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

Chairman Manley Predicts a Great Victory for His Party.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 8.—The Kennebec Journal prints to-day the following communication received by Governor Cleaves from J. H. Manley, chairman of the republican state committee, and which the paper regards as a conservative foreshadowing of the result of next Monday's election:

"I have just completed a compilation of the canvass returns from the cities, towns and plantations in the state. A conservative estimate shows that you will be elected governor on Monday next by a majority of at least 18,000 over your democratic competitor, Mr. C. F. Johnson. Mr. Reed and Mr. Milliken will be re-elected to congress by majorities ranging from 3,000 to 4,000. Ex-Governor Dingley and Mr. Boutelle will be re-elected by majorities ranging from 5,000 to 6,000 over their democratic opponents. We shall carry every senatorial district, with the possible exception of one, and we shall elect at least 117 out of the 151 representatives to the house. The total vote will probably not exceed 115,000. It will be a sweeping victory and one of the most perfect and complete triumphs the republican party has ever achieved in Maine."

DID NOT PUSH THE BUTTON.

So After Laying in the Vault a Month Mr. Ellicott Was Buried.

West Chester, Pa., Sept. 8.—The body of Richard Ellicott was yesterday interred at Oakland cemetery, after having lain in the vault nearly a month. Mr. Ellicott, who was wealthy, had always feared that he would be buried alive, and shortly before his death he made a peculiar request, which was minutely carried out. The casket was placed in a vault, and on the inside of it, near the corpse's hands, was fastened an electric button. This was connected with an electric bell in the house of the keeper of the cemetery. Mr. Ellicott asked that this be done so that, in case he should come to life, he could push the button and the cemetery keeper would hurry to his relief. The electric bell was not sounded, however, and the time limit of the arrangement having expired, the wire was cut and the body placed under ground.

Prof. Von Helmholtz Sinking.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—Prof. Hermann von Helmholtz is sinking. His physicians fear that he has but a short time to live.

CANADIAN SEALERS' CLAIMS.

No Offer of a Settlement Made by This Government Yet.

Washington, Sept. 8.—"It is the first I have heard of any such offer," said Acting Secretary Uhl of the state department, when shown the dispatch from Ottawa saying that Sir Charles H. Tupper, the Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, had received a dispatch from Victoria telling of the agreement of interested sealers to take the $425,000 offered by the United States government as a settlement of the dispute about seizures. Mr. Uhl said that no such sum had been appropriated for the purpose given. During the closing days of congress Secretary Gresham was at the capitol interviewing members of the two appropriations committees as to the chances for obtaining an appropriation to settle the claims of Canadian sealers. In view of the short time remaining until the termination of the session it was deemed inadvisable to attempt to secure the passage of a bill carrying the amount named, particularly as no measure could be put through except by unanimous consent. State department officials are at a loss to understand the meaning of the message to Sir Charles H. Tupper.

PYTHIAN SUPREME LODGE.

The Concluding Session Will Probably Be Held To-Night.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Routine matter principally engaged yesterday's session of the supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias. The afternoon proceedings were secret. During the morning session the movement to erect a monument at Utica, N. Y., over the remains of Justice H. Rathbone, the founder of the order, was indorsed. The committee to whom the matter of purchasing Marini's hall in this city, where the order was first established, presented an adverse report. The third reading of the code of statutes was a special order and the code was adopted. It is probable that the concluding session of the supreme lodge will be held to-night.

Postmaster Held for Grand Larceny.

Babylon, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Joseph Morfort, the postmaster of Great River, has just been arrested on the charge of grand larceny, preferred by Walter Conway, a mail carrier. He was arraigned before Justice C. W. Vail and held in $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Some time ago Conway handed Morfort an order for $50 on the government, which he had received for carrying the mails, and asked Morfort to endorse it. Morfort claimed that Conway owed him money and refused to give up the order. The justice commanded Morfort to return the order, which he reluctantly did. Morfort is a well-known merchant.

Settles With Mrs. Hotaling.

South Framingham, Mass., Sept. 8.—The Boston & Albany Railroad company has effected a full settlement with Mrs. Florence Hotaling, wife of Prof. F. S. Hotaling, of Albany, N. Y., who was one of the passengers in the sleeping car Elmo which went through the bridge at Chester, Aug. 31, 1893. She receives $3,000 in satisfaction of her claim for injuries received at that time. Previously the company settled with Prof. Hotaling, who was in the same car with his wife, by the payment of $1,000.

A. R. U. CONTEMPT CASE

A Day of Sensation in the Great Labor Trial.

Hard Fight To Prevent the Admission of Certain Testimony—Effort To Compel the Union Officers To Produce Their Private Books and Correspondence Fails.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—When court opened at 10 a. m., to hear the cases against Debs and other members of the American Railway union, Attorney W. W. Erwin created a mild sensation by objecting to the testimony of the first witness, F. L. Krieger, of Milwaukee, on the ground that he might be one of the men indicted by a federal grand jury for some offense during the strike. "I understand," said Mr. Erwin, "that a number of men who have been indicted have been subpoenaed to testify in this case. This man may be one of them."

The court in reply assumed all responsibility. Mr. Erwin's plea came as a dramatic climax in a day of sensations.

The witness assured the court that he had not been indicted and was allowed to proceed. The court ruled, however, that men who were indicted might be put on the stand but could not be compelled to give testimony incriminating themselves. Among those who will testify are James Hogan and W. E. Burns, both defendants in this case. Mrs. Hogan will also be called. The government, however, expects to spring one of its greatest cards in the witness L. P. Benedict, Mr. Debs' private secretary, who has been subpoenaed. Mr. Benedict signed many of the telegrams sent over the name of "E. V. Debs." The government expects to prove by this witness that Debs sent at least some of the telegrams which have been read. Benedict is not under indictment.

An attempt was made by counsel for the government to compel the defendants to produce their documents, records, telegrams and private correspondence. Attorney Erwin as soon as he learned of this intention asked the court to rule on the question of the defendants being compelled to obey such a subpoena. Judge Woods said he was inclined to think the defendants need not produce their private documents, but decided to hear from the prosecution next Tuesday.

Several witnesses testified to the interruption of traffic and intimidation. To all such testimony the defense entered an objection, on the ground that the officers and directors of the American Railway union were not responsible for the acts of mobs.

Krieger testified that he had seen a telegram from Debs dated July 4, asking the switch tenders to strike. Only ten of them did so. Krieger was much confused on cross-examination. He acknowledged that he had been sent to Chicago as a witness by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad. The defense showed fight from the time Krieger took the stand until he left it. They objected to every question asked him and then after he had testified moved to have all of his testimony stricken out. The motions were all overruled.

William Mackey, an engineer, of Milwaukee, and Charles E. Mills, a fireman from the same place, both of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, testified that they had left their trades at the instance of strikers, who intimidated them. Mr. Mills was not a member of the American Railway union on leaving his engine, but was made to join immediately afterward. He swore he was forced into it.

J. R. Trimmer, a trainmaster on the Pan Handle road, testified as to the removal from Chicago of a certain train load of dead animals for the taking away of which Mr. Debs issued an official order to those under his control. Mr. Erwin objected to the testimony, stating that it showed no contempt of court and had nothing to do with interstate commerce. Judge Woods nevertheless allowed the testimony to continue on the ground that he did not know what might be brought forth.

W. I. Henry testified in regard to receiving certain telegrams signed "E. V. Debs" asking him to tie up the Big Four road system. Mr. Henry told the officers of the American Railway union his road had no grievance and refused to call out his men.

A. R. U. Strike Leaders Convicted.

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—Hiram Agler, president of the American Railway union at Ashley, Ind., where Wabash trains were stopped, was found guilty of violating the restraining order of the court. Sentence for contempt of court was suspended. Arthur Desheno, a Chicago man who led a riot at Hammond during the strike, was committed to jail for twenty days, and Oscar Larsen, accused of the same offense, was released.

Want Aid from Irishmen Only.

Dublin, Sept. 8.—The contributions made by Mr. Gladstone and Lord Tweedmouth to the Irish parliamentary fund are the subject of a letter which will appear in the Freeman's Journal to-day. The signers of the letter are William Murphy and Joseph Mooney, both directors of the Freeman's Journal. They decline to sanction the articles published recently in favor of accepting the two contributions in question, and argue that the Irish parliamentary fund should be sustained only by Irishmen.

Reed and Storer at Biddeford.

Biddeford, Me., Sept. 8.—Congressman Reed and Congressman Storer, of Ohio, addressed a republican rally here last night. They were tendered a reception prior to the meeting. Mr. Reed dealt with the same topics that have been repeatedly discussed by him in this campaign. He urged the people of Maine to do their full duty on election day as an example to other states.

Big Damages for Alleged Fraud.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8.—William and John McKinley, of this city, and James Charnley, of Chicago, have sued the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines for $630,000. They charge fraud and misrepresentations were used to induce them to sell the McKinley mine to the Consolidated company.

FALL RIVER MILLS

Indications of a Still Longer Period of Idleness.

Some of the Owners Anxious To Resume Work and Not Allow the Cream of the Orders at Advanced Prices To Be Secured by Mills in Other Places.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 8.—While there has been no important changes in the mill situation here during the week, the developments of the past two days foreshadow a still longer period of idleness than was expected when the weavers union voted three weeks ago to take a four weeks' vacation. A prominent manufacturer said to-day that no attempt would be made to resume operations the 17th inst., unless the quotations of goods were much higher than they are now. If the operatives would consent to resume under a reduced scale of wages it would put a different aspect on the condition of things, but very few persons in or out of the unions have any hope that the operatives will return under the new scale, while prints are quoted 3-8 of a cent per yard higher than they were when the weavers decided to curtail production on their own account. Two secretaries of the unions have already declared that their men will not resume work under the reduction, while goods are 2 7-8 cents or above it, consequently manufacturers say it will be useless for them to attempt to open in the face of a threatened strike. During the next week several union meetings will be held to determine what is the better course to pursue in view of the unimproved conditions. The opinion continues to grow that manufacturers will refuse to take any notice of the action of the unions until October. Discussing the situation today a manufacturer said: "It will be useless to attempt to open up when the weavers are ready to go to work simply because they will want to be paid under the old scale. If we had any guarantee that the present quotations are not the immediate result of the shut-down and not the result of an increased demand for our product we would be justified in restoring the old rate and resuming work, but you will note that even with the great curtailment that has been going on in this city and New Bedford the past three weeks, there has been no week when sales equalled the normal production of the idle mills. That fact indicates to us that prices are not permanent."

These sentiments express the feelings of many, perhaps a majority of manufacturers in this city. There, is, nevertheless, a certain number of mill men who are sorry they ever signed the agreement which compels them to remain idle while mills in other places take the cream of the orders of the trade at an advanced price as compared with that for what they have been selling the past few months. The hope of operatives for an early resumption of operations lies wholly in the expectations that some of these men will smash the agreement and jump into the market before prices fall away, or before their competitors contract ahead at figures they have not dared look for in months. There is some uneasiness as displayed among a few treasurers that cotton will go down and goods will remain on a low basis for some time. One very widely known treasurer offered to wager today that he could purchase print cloths in October, 1896, for 2 1-2 cents per yard. He argued that wages and all other things would be on a lower basis before that time. Suggestion has been made in manufacturing circles that the operatives might be asked to resume work on the 17th inst. under the new wage schedule, with the understanding that latter on, if the market price of goods remains high enough to warrant, an advance of wages will be granted. Whether such a proposition can be adopted and carried out, cannot be told until after next week's meetings.

Park Hill Mills to Start Up.

Fitchburg, Mass., Sept. 8.—The Park Hill Manufacturing company will start its three gingham mills next Monday with wages reduced from 3 to 7 per cent. They have been shut down three weeks.

Locomotive Firemen's Convention.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—The fourth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen will be called to order in this city Monday morning, by Grand Master F. P. Sargent. Over 400 delegates are expected to be in attendance. The financial condition of the organization is excellent, there being a surplus of $77,000 in the treasury. During the last two years about a million of dollars were paid out in death and disability claims; $115,000 as expenses in the Lehigh Valley and Ann Harbor strikes and $100,000 for publishing the magazine printing grand lodge expenses, etc. The receipts were about $1,139,000. The active members numbers 26,568.

Crisp and Smith Speak at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 8.—Speaker Crisp and Secretary Smith were the principal oators at a democratic mass meeting here last night. This was Mr. Crisp's first speech in the campaign and his first public utterance since congress adjourned. Prominent democrats came from all over the state to attend the meeting. The populists are making a thorough canvass of Georgia and the democrats are enlisting all their best men in this campaign. Speaker Crisp's speech was greeted with tremendous applause. He dwelt entirely on the tariff question.

An Alliance To Depose Ferdinand.

Belgrade, Sept. 8.—It is reported positively here that ex-Premier Stambuloff, of Bulgaria, has offered, through an agent, to form an alliance with the Bulgarian emigrant Zankoff. The object of the alliance would be the deposition of Prince Ferdinand. Zankoff is said to have declined the offer.

Cholera in Russian Poland.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Persons coming from the Nijni-Novgorod fair report that cholera is spreading rapidly in the town and provinces. In Russian Poland the weekly average of fresh cases is 5,000. The mortality is about 50 per cent.

NEW DANCES FOR '94-'95.

Selections Made by the American Society of Dancing Professors.

New York, Sept. 8.—The 17th annual convention of the American Society of Professors of Dancing, members being present from most of the cities of the United States, has adopted from among the large number presented the following new dances for the season of '94-'95:

"1894 Lanciers," by G. T. Wilson, Auburn, Me.; "The Brunswick Caprice," by Horace W. Beck, Chicago; "Two-step Quadrille," by J. P. Brooks, Pittsburg; "The Courant," by Oscar Dienlvig, Terre Haute, Ind. "Der Kaiser Gavotte" was recommended.

These dances are all of a quiet nature, and the two-step round dance will be tabooed. The society will meet at Saratoga next year.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, M. B. Gilbert, Portland, Me.; vice-president, David H. Bowen, Ogdensburg, N. Y.; secretary, Walter L. Curtis, Amsterdam, N. Y.; treasurer, Joseph T. Martin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; director, Henry Doring, Troy, N. Y.

Charge Against the Rome Anarchists.

Rome, Sept. 8.—The anarchist prisoners will be tried on the charge of conspiring to assassinate Premier Crispi. Documents found in their lodgings showed that they began plotting against him but a few days after Lega's futile attempt to shoot him. The prisoner Romagnol, who is hardly more than a boy, is compromised by a letter which he had written to a dangerous anarchist in Florence, but still carried in his pocket when he was arrested. In the letter he wrote: "Even if the hero Lega failed, there are other comrades to succeed him. Their arms will not tremble."

Restaurant Keepers' Rights.

Pittsburg, Sept. 8.—In the criminal court R. B. Negley was acquitted on the charge of refusing to serve a colored man, Thomas Stepioe, a meal in the main dining room of Negley's restaurant. Judge Magee said a restaurant keeper could order a white or colored man to eat in any part of the house the most desirable to the proprietor. Negley wanted Stepioe to eat in the kitchen and this the colored man refused to do and entered suit.

500 French Anarchists in America.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The state department has received an additional list of twenty-six anarchists natives or residents of France, together with a personal description of each one. This makes the list of French anarchists, of which the United States has descriptions, foot up more than 500.

FINE DRESS HER RUIN

A 16-Year Old Postmistress Short in Her Accounts.

Miss Daisy Major of Wampum, Pa., an Accomplished and Highly Respected Girl, Embezzles $1,500 of Uncle Sam's Money and Purchases Dresses, Jewels and a Bicycle.

Newcastle, Pa., Sept. 8.—A sensation has been caused at Wampum, this county, by the discovery that Miss Daisy Major, the postmistress, is short about $1,500 in her accounts. Miss Major is only 16 years old, and has been the envy of the other young ladies in this town for some time. Lately she has appeared on the street with costly dresses, an elegant gold watch, diamonds and a high grade bicycle. Suspicion was aroused and a postoffice inspector was sent to Wampum from Pittsburg. He found the young woman had been appropriating cash and filling out money orders with which she bought the fine wearing apparel.

She is the daughter of Frank Major, of the firm of Major & Brady. She can give no excuse for her shortcomings. Miss Major has been postmistress here for the last fourteen months. The young lady is a graduate of Beaver college and was one of the brightest and smartest pupils in the college.

Women Appeal Against Breckinridge

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 8.—Eighty-six ladies, the crust of Frankfort society, have signed a bitter denunciation of Breckinridge begging the people not to return him to congress. The idea is prevalent that if the district committee to-day passes a rule requiring voters in the primary to swear they will support Breckinridge if he is the nominee that Owens will withdraw from the primary and make the race against Breckinridge as an independent candidate.

Hill Not a Candidate for Governor.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Hon. Fred. Cook returned home last evening from his visit to Senator Hill at Albany. Mr. Cook said that all the gossip in the newspapers that he wanted to run for governor or that some one else wanted him him to run was all nonsense. He declared that he was not a candidate, nad that Senator Hill is for Flower.

Congressional Convention Dead-lock

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 8.—The sixteenth district republican congressional convention is still dead-locked, with no indications of a break. Seventy ballots have been taken without change. An adjournment has been taken until next Wednesday.

Failed To Make a Nomination.

Henrietta, Tex., Sept. 8.—The democratic congressional convention of the 13th district which has been in session over a month has adjourned sine die, failing to make a nomination.

SLAVES TO THEIR HOMES.

Physicians Prescribe Paine's Celery Compound for Such Women.

There are thousands of tired women today on the verge of breaking down because they are martyrs to their own false ideas of domestic duty.

They are slaves to their homes; and their exalted notions of absolute order and cleanliness keep them from morning to night upon the rack of mental and physical torture until they grow old, care worn, nervous, irritable and sickly, in their foolish struggle with dust.

Only the exceptionally strong can stand the debilitating effect of overheated rooms lack of fresh air and exercise, over burdened stomachs and the artificial, nervous, hurried life of so many good wives and mothers.

Just as nature prompts young children to cry and grow irritable when hungry, so poorly fed, over-worked nerves cry out for their proper food by twinges of rheumatism and neuralgia.

It is nature's language in each case.

Just as the fretting, crying child drops to refreshing sleep after being properly fed, exactly so the nervous system feels right away the equalizing, restoring action of Paine's celery compound.

A fair trial of this greatest of all remedies brings strength to tired, "run down" men and women, and frees them permanently from debility, heart palpitation, despondent feelings and inability to sleep because of nervous weakness.

Mrs. S. E. Welch of Lynn, Mass., whose portrait appears above, writes as follows:

"I was taken ill last January with the grip and it left me with the rheumatism in my hands and feet. My feet were swollen so bad and were so sore that I found it hard work to walk. My husband brought me home two bottles of Paine's celery compound. Seeing that it was doing me good, I continued its use until I had taken five bottles when I was free from rheumatism and have not had any since.

"Today I can truly say that I am as well as I ever was in my life."

That's it. Paine's celery compound makes people well.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 8, 1894

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

SIX PAGES TODAY.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Joseph Pike is in Plainfield again.

George W. Moore leaves tomorrow for Pittsburg to meet old G. A. R. comrades.

John C. Whiting of East Sixth street is spending a few days with relatives in New Brunswick.

A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Hall of Westervelt avenue and Orange place.

Charles Yeager has been awarded first premium for collection of insects at the Waverly Fair.

The marriage is announced of Mrs. Simpson to Samuel Howarth, Rev. Dr. Richards officiating.

Miss Addie Weaver is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Passmore, at The Veranda House, Morristown, Pa.

Miss L. Barry, formerly of Plainfield and now of New York, is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. Burke of Lee place and Third street.

Frank Fulton of Leggett's Pharmacy has been granted a few days leave of absence and is enjoying himself up the Hudson River.

J. A. Moore, one of the hustling members of the firm of R. W. Rice & Co., has gone to Carbondale, Pa., for a week's rest. He joins his family, who have been there a month.

Miss Phebe Mills of Duer street returned to Plainfield yesterday after a delightful visit with friends in Morristown. Today she left for Bedminster, Somerset County, to finish her vacation.

Councilman Frazee and wife and his good-natured father-in-law, Peter V. Weaver, with a lady friend, intend driving to Raritan, tomorrow, and spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gulick.

S. F. T. Wilbur and family are home from Albany, Saratoga and the Catskills, all in fine health, and Sam as big-hearted and happy as ever. He had good luck and caught 13 pounds of pickerel at one sitting.

F. S. Dunn, until recently engineer of the electric light works, left today by Royal Blue train to Chicago. Thence he goes by the superb Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific route to Pasadena, Cal., where he will reside. His father lives there, and he goes on account of his health. He takes with him from the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company one of the highest recommendations ever given an employe.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The great drought was broken by heavy rains today.

—"Wang" had a good house last night, and was a good show.

—The North Plainfield public school will not reopen till next Tuesday morning.

—That popular patent shirt, the Eighmie, can now be found at Hallock's, 109 West Front street.

—A large force of linemen has been repairing the telephone line and setting new poles on Arlington avenue the past week.

—The Plainfield Common Council will meet Monday night to hear the committee's report on sewer contract. The bids ranged from $19,000 to $40,000.

—At the meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps No. 10, Auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, last evening, arrangements were completed for the festival to be held Thursday evening, September 13.

—Justice Crosley this morning gave judgment for $200 and costs for the plaintiffs in the case on contract of Phebe J. Nelson and William Brett against John Weber. City Judge Coddington represented the plaintiffs.

—Manager Varian of Music Hall has the people with him. They find his house clean and orderly, and his attractions the best. The big house last night warmly testified its appreciation. Already seats are being taken for "Jane" and "Faust".

Neither Will Get Either.

(From The Elizabeth Herald.)

The Plainfield Courier wants Ackerman and his "barrel". The Elizabeth Journal wants the "barrel" but not Ackerman, and that is just where the Republican philosophers agree to disagree.

CYCLING COMMENT.

E. L. Blauvelt and Monte Scott will ride in Hampden Park, Springfield, next Wednesday in the three-days tournament of the Springfield Bicycle Club. E. H. Smith of Westfield, the Class B man who rides under the Crescent colors, will represent the club in the races of his class.

Court Coddington.

Julian Sutphen, aged 15, was arrested by Special Officer William Robinson a Music Hall last night. He was trying to enter without buying a ticket and was caught on the low roof in front of the main building. In the City Court this morning Judge Coddington reprimanded him and released him on his promising to be good in the future.

Fred Mitchell, a colored man employed by A. M. Runyon & Son., was arrested by Sergeant Kiely this morning on a charge of fighting with Jack Hogan last Saturday night. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set down for next Saturday morning.

The cases of Mrs. Canary against Mrs. Pickett and Mrs. Charles McCann against her husband were to have come up in the City Court today. Both were postponed until next Saturday morning.

HYMENEAL.

Lewis-Moore.

Plainfield today loses a charming young woman, and the West gains a bride, by the wedding of Miss Bessie W. Moore to T. I. Lewis. Mr. Lewis is a successful jeweler of Moorhead, Minnesota, and his bride returned a few months ago from an extended stay in Fargo, N. D., to the home of her sister, Mrs. E. E. Anthony, 50 Westervelt avenue, where the marriage took place at 3 this afternoon.

The guests were limited to immediate relatives and near friends. The cozy and attractive home was tastefully decorated with flowers, and aglow with animation. While the world outside received a blessing from Heaven in the long-prayed-for rain, the fortunate groom indoors had another blessing, a good wife, bestowed on him by the authority of the law divine through the agency of Rev. Dr. Ketcham.

It was a happy home scene. The bride wore a traveling costume with becoming grace, and she and the groom made their responses with firmness and self-possession. When vows were pledged and the bond spoken, congratulations were bestowed, and an excellent wedding supper was served.

This evening, train will be taken by the happy young couple for New Bedford, Mass. Thence they will visit Washington, and proceed to their home in Moorhead.

OBITUARY.

Jacob Miles.

The death of Jacob Miles occurred at his home, 328 Somerset street, at 7:10 this morning. He had been ill since March, being confined to his bed since July 5. Death came from a complication of diseases.

Mr. Miles was 76 years old. He came from England to New York when a small boy and 25 years ago took up his residence in North Plainfield. In New York he was in the leather business in the swamp. He retired from active work several years ago. He was a Republican and was a member of the North Plainfield Township Committee, when the Johnston's drive scheme was being promoted.

Mrs. Miles died nearly two months ago. The only relatives surviving Mr. Miles's death besides his brother William, who lives in Brooklyn, are his three children, F. W. Miles, the florist of upper Somerset street, and William and Annie R. Miles. The two last named live at the old homestead. William assisted his father in caring for his property. Mr. Miles owned land and buildings in New York besides his Somerset street property. All goes to his three children.

The funeral services will be held Monday evening at 5. The interment will be made in Cypress Hill Cemetery, Brooklyn, the following day.

John Rockafellow.

John Rockafellow died at his home, 195 North avenue, last evening at 5. He had been dying for the past three months. He was 66 years old and a blacksmith by trade.

He lived with his son, David Rockafellow, who works at the same trade, and a daughter, Miss Emma C. Rockafellow, a dressmaker. Another daughter, Mrs. Brown, lives in Evona. Mr. Rockafellow and his family formerly resided at 113 Liberty street, moving from there a year ago. The funeral will be private.

AT REST.

George Mager.

The funeral services of George Mager were held from his late home, 58 Manning avenue, yesterday afternoon at 2:30, conducted by Dr. Rev. Yerkes. A large gathering of friends and relatives looked for the last time on the face of the departed.

Dr. Yerkes's remarks were full of helpful sympathy, and he spoke the inner thoughts of those who had known the departed.

Elmer E. Runyon sang very feelingly "The Christian's Good-Night", which was followed by the benediction.

Thirty members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., were present, and took charge of the body.

At the grave Noble Grand C. W. Tallman and Chaplain John Bodine conducted the ritualistic service of the lodge, and Dr. Yerkes closed with the benediction.

The floral tributes were very beautiful, consisting of pillows of choice roses bearing the inscriptions "Father" and "Grandpa", several wreaths, and bunches of cut flowers.

The pall-bearers were Jacob Kriney, M. Kohler, Joseph Kingston, Nate Pennington, Frank Whitely and James Compton.

Iretus G. Cardner, M. D.

The funeral of Dr. Iretus G. Cardner took place at 2 this afternoon, from the residence of his son, Thomas B. Cardner, 312 Orange place. Rev. Cornelius Schenck officiated, and the pall-bearers were E. B. Pope, J. F. Hubbard, Justice Elias Mosher, E Wood Titsworth, and George Hill.

The funeral was plain, without flowers. Interment was in the Stillman plot of the Seventh-Day Cemetery.

Thirty-five years ago Dr. Cardner was a resident of Plainfield. He married Johanna E. Briggs, foster-daughter of the late Thomas B. and Susanna Stillman of New York. Thomas B. Stillman was a brother to Charles H. Stillman, Sr., of Plainfield, father of the New Jersey public school system.

TELEGRAPH TICKS.

Le Comte de Paris died in London this morning.

The Toledo fast mail on the Wabash road was wrecked by collision with a freight near Staunton, Ill., last night. A tramp was killed, and the train hands were injured.

The California express on the Santa Fe road was wrecked by an open switch last night near Dillon Junction, N. M. All the train hands were badly hurt.

—Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will initiate eight candidates Monday evening.

PLAINFIELD GENIUS AT WORK.

Revolution Secured for Lighting Electric Trolley Cars.

Willard M. Miner of East Second street is the inventor and patentee of a system that is destined to revolutionize the lighting of electric cars.

Mr. Miner has assigned the patent to the American Manufacturing and Engineering Company of 143 Liberty street, New York, of which he is the general manager. F. E. Kinsman of Sherman avenue is president, and C. W. Loveridge, formerly a resident of this city, is secretary and treasurer. This system insures light under all circumstances without any attention from the motorman or conductor, this system being perfectly automatic. By the system ordinarily used the car is lighted by incandescent lamps supplied with current taken from the trolley circuit, and when the trolley comes off or the circuit is broken the lamps of course are extinguished. In the new system the current passes through these same lamps, but it also passes through an electro magnetic switch, a small storage battery and then through the wheel and axle to the rail and ground, thus charging the storage battery and energizing the magnet of the switch, drawing forward the armature.

When the main circuit is restored, the second circuit is broken and the storage battery recharged. If this circuit is broken in any way by the trolley coming off, or otherwise, the switch magnet loses its strength and its armature falls back closing a circuit containing the storage battery and lamps, thereby insuring light in the car and head light. The extinguishing of the lights is exceedingly annoying to ladies or timid persons while every one feels like putting his hand on his watch or pocket-book during these periods of total eclipse. An accident which occurred on an electric car running out of Jersey City has shown the necessity of such a system. The trolley slipped from the wire and all the lights in the car immediately went out, the next car ran into it full force, there being no light to warn it, and both cars were badly damaged while the passengers received a thorough shaking up. Only a short time ago on a car of the Consolidated Traction Company running between Jersey City and Bayonne a robbery was attempted, one of the thieves pulling the trolley from the wire, this extinguishing the lights; a confederate then tried to seize a satchel of valuables belonging to a passenger, and was only prevented by the quickness of the passenger escaping through the door.

This system of car lighting is on trial in the electric cars of Allentown, Pa., and on the North Hudson County Railway Company's lines in Hoboken. Up to the present day all the tests have been entirely satisfactory, the apparatus working infallibly every time and the system proving to be successful in every way.

And we hope, some day in the near future, to see the electric cars of Plainfield provided with this new and useful invention.

The great convenience of this system and its low cost of maintenance recommend it everywhere and when the cost of the apparatus is considered no first-class road can afford to be without it.

AN OIL WELL AT FINDERNE.

May Be a Great Find If There Isn't a Pipe Line Near By.

H. C. Smith of Northport, L. I., who is engaged in putting up windmills in New Jersey, was working yesterday on the farm of William H. Dumont at Finderne when he struck a vein of petroleum. While the men were digging for the corner post for the windmill the gas was so strong that they were nearly overcome.

When the mill was started, water as clear as crystal began to flow. In a few minutes oil came with the water and continued to flow at the rate of seven and a half gallons a minute. The oil and water came from a driven well 45 feet deep and is delivered from a 1½-inch pipe.

TO THE WORLD OF WOMEN.

Mothers and Daughters Restored to Health and Strength.

Weak, nervous, delicate, overworked women, are the ones that need a strength builder, a tonic for their nerves and a cure for that awful internal trouble that is wearing out their lives. Thousands of women have found such in Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. Mrs. Christiana Beal, of Jonesport, Me., writes that her daughter had been a great sufferer from female trouble, and after repeated trials of Doctor's prescriptions and other so-called cures, she used Dr Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and it permanently cured her.

If you have headache, uterine catarrh, chronic weakness, or any of the attending evils that are present in female complaints, use Favorite Remedy, for it will build up quickly the run down constitution and bring refreshing sleep. It will dispel those tired looks and feelings, restore the nervous system and permanently cure you. Our daughters grow up weak and delicate; mothers can avoid such conditions by giving them Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

North Plainfield Ratables.

The Somerset County Board of Assessors has apportioned the tax in the various townships. The school tax was increased $1,300, and there is a slight increase in the township tax to make up the $5,000 extra which the Board of Freeholders have asked for. The North Plainfield apportionment is as follows:

Acres, 7,347; real estate, $2,025,050; personal estate, $272,950; total debt, $71,000; valuation taxable, $2,227,000; polls, 777; school tax, $6,144 52; county tax, $9,631 87.

Rhyme and Reason.

"Man wants but little here below, nor wants that little long";
A little weakness of the sight makes other ailments throng.
And if you would such ills avert you should to Collier's go,
And learn the cure for troubles that with waning eyesight grow.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 9. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—The alternatives.—John iii, 16-21; 31-36.

Emphasis can usually be shown in no better way than by contrast. Vivid contrast often impresses upon our minds the importance of one thing and the undesirableness of another in a way that nothing else would. It is not then to be wondered at that contrasts are frequently used in the Scriptures, so that men can clearly see the alternatives of being right and doing right, and of being wrong and doing wrong. It is well to notice in these alternatives that they are alternatives. There is no neutrality, no middle ground. It is one or the other. In the words of Christ before us we see a number of alternatives set forth.

1. Salvation or condemnation? (Verses 17, 18.) "God sent not His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved." Here we have two important subjects presented, the one the alternative of the other. We are in our sins under condemnation, but God, through His Son, has offered a way of escape, a salvation. Which will we have, condemnation or salvation? We must have one or the other and can have but one. We must be saved or condemned. Which will it be? Each one must answer for himself. It all depends upon our relation to Christ. "He that believeth in Him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is condemned already."

2. Light or darkness? (Verses 19, 21.) "This is the condemnation that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil." Jesus Christ is the light referred to. He gave the world moral and spiritual light; He revealed God and the true way of life; He made ignorance unnecessary and the darkness of sin unneeded. Evil men preferred the darkness to the light. Which do we prefer, darkness or light? If we prefer darkness, if we refuse the light as it is in Christ, it is evidence that our deeds are evil; if we prefer the light, it is proof that our deeds are the works of God. Which do we prefer?

3. Life or death? (Verses 16, 36.) "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, and he that believeth not on the Son shall not see life." Eternal life or eternal death! What awful alternatives! One and but one opens to us. It is life, or it is death. Which is ours now? Which will be ours in eternity? May we all believe on the Son that we may have everlasting life, for "he that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life."

Bible Readings—Job xxiv, 13; Math. vi, 24; Luke xvi, 13; John iii, 14, 15; v, 24; vi, 40; viii, 12; xx, 31; Rom. v, 8; xii, 2, 21; Eph. ii, 11-13; iv, 22-25; I John ii, 15-17; iv, 9; Rev. ii, 10.

Prepare a Temple.

Now, Christian Endeavorers, here is this weary, waiting world. We can do nothing without the Spirit. * * * No arm but that of God can throw out the life line so as to reach the perishing. There will be no soul rescued from those dark waters except as the Spirit of God comes into your words and into your efforts for the accomplishment of the result. What are the conditions, then, upon which you and I can have the Holy Spirit of God abiding in us and working by us? Entire surrender of all sin and entire dedication to His service. Give Him a clean temple, and He will come in and fill it with His glory, and He will use your instrumentality, though it may be feeble and nothing in itself, and fill it with divine power for the accomplishment of the greatest things for God.—W. H. McMillan, D. D.

The Pledge Holds Forever.

A Christian Endeavor editor imagines some Endeavorer bringing back his pledge card and asking that his name be taken from the society roll. The secretary's wise reply was: "We can drop your name from our books; but, as to the pledge, you will have to take that to the one to whom you made it. He is the only one who has a right to release you."—Selected.

Christian Endeavor Sprouts.

An Australian writer says that "it sprouting be in the vegetable kingdom the larger sign of life then the Christian Endeavor movement has with us given evidence of a vigorous vitality." Among these sprouts he enumerates missionary effort, Bible study, systematic giving, good citizenship and genuine Christian fellowship.—Golden Rule.

Christian Endeavor Jottings.

The "roll of honor" was draped from one end to another of the hall gallery. It was 465 feet long and contained the names of 5,552 societies that gave to missions during last year an aggregate of over $350,000.

The Christian Endeavor banner floated from the Garfield monument side by side with Old Glory. Were Garfield living, how he would have rejoiced to speak at this Christian Endeavor convention!

Don't be wheelbarrow Christians that go only when pushed. Don't be Christians like the arctic rivers—frozen at the mouth.—Rev. John T. Beckley, D. D.

The local committee at Cleveland paid all convention bills and gave the United Society $1,000 for its general work.

One of the best things about the society is that it belongs to the public and wants to live before it. It can bear the closest scrutiny and come forth unscathed. As Charles Sumner always wrote under his photograph "Forward," so we write under the announcement of each coming convention.

There are now 7,395 more companies of Christian Endeavor than there were one year ago. The ranks have increased the past year more than they increased in the entire first eight years of the army's history.

Prosperous Red Men.

Two candidates were adopted and one proposition was received at the meeting of Miantonomoh Tribe of Red Men last night. Brothers Holstein, Magee, Seaman, Westphal and Newcorn were appointed a committee to take charge of the anniversary celebration October 9. The good of the order programme was much enjoyed.

Dear Melons.

A quarrel occurred in North Plainfield last night over the alleged stealing of watermelons. George Zelez was the principal offender, and so Chief Marshal Pangborn arrested him. Borough Magistrate Crosley this morning fined him $5 for being drunk and disorderly.

Bargains in Horses.
A splendid chance to secure fine horseflesh is offered by Justice & Peterson in the great auction sale they will conduct at Blair's Stables, 114 West Sixth street, Wednesday, Sept. 12, commencing at 2 p. m.
This reliable firm will offer a fresh shipment of the best of drivers and workers, and everybody desiring a first-class animal should call and examine the stock.

About the Unlucky Opal.

Most of the finest opals come from Hungary, but the principal vein has been exhausted lately, so that the gem in its finest variety is exceedingly rare. The clear bright opals with the luminous fire come from Mexico. Any opal, and particularly the Mexican stone, becomes dulled by washing the hands with the ring on, and all lose their brilliant play of color. The stones are not durable like diamonds, nor will they stand the same wear.

A Very Strange Story.

In consequence of a mental malady, a Georgia lady conceived it her duty to live apart from her husband, and, in order that he might apply for a divorce, forged documents which would give him cause. The husband knowing they were not true, but thinking that to humor his wife would cure her malady, presented the papers to the legal authorities and a divorce was granted. The ex-husband immediately began to make love to his former wife again and proposed marriage in due form, but, although she appeared happy in his company and would go with him to the theatre and like places, she absolutely refused his proffer of marriage and expressed a wish that he would wed a girl whom she named. Now the man is seeking to have the decree of divorce set aside.

New Kind of Snake Story.

Recently a party of men went from Holly Springs on a fishing excursion to Tallahatchie river, and, while seining, Mr. Robert Whyte, one of the party, was terribly bitten by a very poisonous snake. They reached here with him in a very serious condition. The snake died immediately after the bite. It is supposed, as Mr. Whyte is a painter, that the poisonous paints imbibed in his system were the cause.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Spain's Mediævalism.

To what extent Spain is still under the influence of mediæval laws and restrictions which hamper its progress and development may be gathered from the fact that among other imposts which the taxpayer is called upon to pay is that entitled "The Crusado," which was originally instituted for the purpose of providing funds for the Crusades and which has remained in existence ever since. Its proceeds are now applied to the repair of churches, the payment of the stipend of the clergy and other ecclesiastical purposes.

A Rejected Penny Worth Dollars.

Some time ago a lot of pennies was received at the Treasury Department for redemption. Among them was a coin which was rejected. The Treasury would not give one cent for it. A clerk in the office redeemed it and gave it to Congressman Johnson, of North Dakota, who sent it to the Smithsonian to be identified, and later he received word that the coin is of the mintage of the year 284 A. D., and circulated in the times of Emperor Diocletian. It is a very valuable relic, worth many times its weight in gold.

An Irish Three-Footer.

There died at his residence, Carniney, near Ballymena, Ireland, a few weeks ago, one who was reckoned to be the most diminutive man in Ulster. His name was David Yaston and his stature did not reach beyond the height of three feet. He was fifty years old, and married. For years past he was well known throughout Ballymena and the district as an evangelistic preacher who carried on the grocery business in connection with more spiritual work.

A Fish Story.

They had all told tales of their success in landing fish of enormous size. Hawkins alone had modestly held himself in check. Finally he groaned.

"You make me weary," he said. "Big fish! Great Scott! yours were minnows alongside of one I caught. I don't know how big he was, but it's a fact that he had gallons instead of gills, and he was covered with hay scales, by Jove!"—Harper's Magazine.

A Born Gallant.

A Detroit home has among its lares et penates a small boy who will be a Chesterfield in point of manners at least, if given half a chance. He has a great admiration for his mother, and yet there are times when she is compelled to punish him. Such a thing occurred the other day.

"Now," she said after she had concluded a vigorous spanking for willfulness, "I hope you have changed your mind."

"No, mamma," he sobbed. "I always said I'd rather be spanked by you than kissed by any other lady in town, and I think so yet."—Detroit Free Press.

A Lover's Rare Wisdom.

"Mr. Dingess," said the young man, twirling his hat nervously. "I have called to ask you for your daughter Phoebe. I am not rich, but I have good business prospects and——"

"Young man," interrupted the parent, eyeing him keenly, "before we discuss this matter further will you oblige me with a loan of $5?"

"I will not, sir," replied the youth firmly.

"Then take her, my boy," said Mr. Dinguss. "You've got more sense than I thought you had.—Chicago Tribune.

DARING DEEDS OF THE WAR.

True Stories of United Bravery and Individual Valor.

THE COURAGE OF OUR VOLUNTEERS

Martial Heroism of Old World History Far Surpassed—New Themes For Poet's Pen and Orator's Tongue—Three Hundred Fighting Regiments—Famous Brigades.

[Copyright, 1894, by American Press Association.]

Many years ago, when the great Von Moltke, the renowned marshal of the invincible Prussian armies, declared that our civil war didn't interest him because he was not "concerned in the fighting of mobs," and other talk of the kind was heralded across the water, it seemed that there might be something in it. America could boast of neither a Marathon nor a Waterloo, neither a Hannibal nor a Napoleon. But the war annalist is driving that inexcusable modesty out of our heads. It required centuries to place Marathon in its true light as a factor in the world's progress, and Waterloo's importance in history is not yet fixed.

BIDDING ONE ANOTHER GOODBY.

So it is yet too early to declare how much hung upon the issues at Antietam and Gettysburg, on Shiloh and Chickamauga, on Nashville and Murfeesboro. But one species of glory we may claim in consequence of the civil war and challenge the world's verdict upon it, for the test of the battlefield proved it again and again, and that is that the martial heroes of the past, whether the Spartan braves, the warriors from beyond the Rhine or Napoleon's invincibles, recruited some goodly company to share their eternal bivouacs from the ranks of these same American volunteers whom European martinets lightly classed as a mob. And orators and poets, those ready panegyrists of physical bravery, shall find in our Spartan bands, our Swiss guards, our Light Brigades, our Tamerlanes and Plumed Knights, our modern Hales and Jaspers and Marions and Waynes, fresh subjects with which to embellish the grand old themes. Custer, at the head of 100 sabers, charging full upon a brigade of Hampton's troopers at Gettysburg, his golden locks streaming behind as the oriflamb of battle, was but another Navarre at Ivry, and the raiding khans of the orient, those untamed Ishmaels moving to conquest for booty and glory, never displayed greater daring than Forrest when, in broad daylight, with scarcely more than a bodyguard following, he rode into the circle of 10,000 enemies along the open streets of a city straight to headquarters of the opposing army to capture its commander, or when for days and even months he played hide and seek in territory bristling with hostile camps and fortified posts, recruiting and marching out new battalions.

A Marmion, a Roland, a Winkelried have we yet to produce, but the poet of the future shall sing of our dashing Kearny, our noble McPherson, our fiery A. P. Hill, each borne by his impetuous valor far into the enemy's embattled ranks, there to fall a single, shining target for a myriad of foes. There, too, is our Greene, the silver haired veteran of sixty odd years, holding off for one whole night with a bare skirmish line on Culp's Hill at Gettysburg the assaults of an entire Confederate division. There is Cleburne at Franklin, charging at the head of regiment after regiment and brigade after brigade, carrying numberless redoubts and line upon line of ramparts, but leaving the glory to others while he rushed off to win new victories and to fall at last close to the guns of the enemy's unconquerable stronghold. And there is Lytle, Chickamauga's richest sacrifice, in a crisis of the battle shouting to the handful within hearing, the last of his once noble brigade: "Gentlemen, we can die but once. Now is our time. Let us charge!" Already three wounds sapped his lifeblood. A fourth bullet reached his heart, and he fell dead from the saddle.

Tragedies most marvelous and thrilling also cast their shadows over this new page of our history—tragedies like that of Nelson cut down in the house of his friends at the opening of a career promising greatness, and that, too, simply to appease the sudden malice of an angry subordinate; of Morgan who rode through hostile camps from the Tennessee to the lakes, and after escaping from prison bars by a cleverness worthy of an Orsini or a Trenck died in a midnight skirmish, shot down mistakenly for a common fugitive, and of dashing Earl van Dorn, with the qualities to make him the Murat of the Confederacy, throwing his life away for the smiles of a simple country coquette—tragedies of the battlefield, as when, with no other motive than duty, no other spur than an impulsive general's command, Farnsworth's three hundred galloped on their wild ride to death among the rocky bowlders at the base of Round Top, dodging double shotted cannon volleys here and cleaving a pathway through a line of bayonets there, until their young leader fell, carrying seven wounds, either of which would have killed him, his nerveless sword arm pointing toward the goal for which he rode; or of those gallant sons of Maine who, when ordered to test the fire of Lee's batterries and rifle pits at Petersburg, bade one another goodby with Spartan coolness and charged direct, with 832 men in line, upon the enemy's glacis, leaving 632 dead and mangled victims along a course over which the few survivors had marched in seven minutes. The details of slaughter so hopeless as this and of sacrifices so fruitless as that in Farnsworth's charge can only repel the mind or fill it with angry protest, but not so with that story of the bold dash for the colors on Cemetery Ridge when the First Minnesota, 262 strong, rushed headlong upon a whole Confederate division, seized their leading standards and checked their advance, leaving, it is true, 215 of their number prostrate upon a few square rods of earth at the point of contact. Nor was it wasted valor when Bigelow's battery on that same field made a forlorn stand until horses, cannon, officers, gunners, all were destroyed, nor when at Iuka the Eleventh Ohio cannoneers stood by the guns and repelled three desperate bayonet charges, losing 46 dead and disabled out of a company of 54.

Not fruitless either the courage of Duryee's Zouaves—the same lads who at Gaines Mill closed up the gaps in the ranks and counted files under fire—when, caught at Manassas with Hazlett's battery between two advancing lines of the enemy, they shielded the cannon with their bodies until one by one the pieces were hauled away and left 119 dead comrades stretched in irregular rows around the wheel ruts and trail prints on the spot where the guns had stood.

It is plain that only when foemen of equal mettle sustain the combat can such heroism be born, and so we read how Gordon's Alabamians at Fair Oaks, when caught in the angle between two lines in the same manner as Duryee's men at Manassas, stood their ground in spite of orders to retreat until whole companies had been annihilated and the roster of officers completely wiped out.

Closer still may the rivalry between northern brawn and southern blood be traced in the careers of individual commands, two of which I shall refer to in another class.

The heaviest losers at Gettysburg were two opposing regiments—the Twenty-fourth Michigan and the Twenty-sixth North Carolina. They met on the first day almost man for man, and in the desperate dueling of McPherson's woods battled until nothing remained of either except their flags and two pitiful squads of men. Michigan lost 397 out of 496 and North Carolina 688 out of 820, yet the remnant of the latter joined Pickett's charge on the third day, retiring with 80 men in line, while the Michigan fragment turned out in the repulse of Ewell's battalions on the other front of Cemetery Hill.

For deeds lest ghastly and which charm by their more pleasing features of personal valor we turn to the lake raider Beall and his daring and all but successful plan to unloose the prison bolts at Johnson's island and ultimately conquer the lakes and northern border for the Confederacy; to Andrews and his 22 ill starred Ohio comrades, penetrating the Georgia wilderness and seizing from the enemy a locomotive and train to blockade the railway against Confederate re-enforcements passing through to western battlefields; to the seven southern tars who volunteered to go down in the submarine torpedo boat at Charleston after five crews had been smothered to death in her, and although meeting the same fate yet justifying their valor by carrying the Union ironclad Housatonic to the bottom with them; to Major Keenan, fighting to gain time at Chancellorsville and driving the leading squadron of his column of troopers into the enemy's solid squares to be cut down to the last man, leader and all, by pistol shot and saber blow; to Stuart, encircling the Union armies with his raiders, and to Kilpatrick's band outmatching that by riding 100 miles through Lee's armed camps and charging the Richmond fortifications on horseback; to Lee's brave boy colonel, Willie Pegram, handling his cannon on the front line with the sauciness of an urchin sporting a popgun; to Corse, in Allatoona Pass, signaling now to his superior, "I am short a cheek bone and an ear, but able to whip all hell yet!" and to his chivalrous antagonist, "We are prepared to continue this needless effusion of blood indefinitely;" to Colonel Mulligan, with his 3,000 famishing men, nourished on rainwater wrung from their soaked blankets, pent up in Lexington by 18,000 assailants and hurling the same defiant sentiments at the foe; to the two gentlemen spies, Colonel Williams and Captain Peters, who strolled calmly about the Union forts in Tennessee in the guise of loyal engineer inspectors and as calmly paid the penalty of their rash daring on the day of their detection.

Likewise fresh glories have our gallant tars added to the daring deeds of the sea. Not to dwell upon the ofttold tales, as of Farragut lashed in the rigging that he might see over the clouds of battle smoke; of Worden, blinded in action, yet fighting on in his pygmy Monitor until the monster ram fled from the Roads, and of Morris in the sinking Cumberland when hailed to strike the flag shouting: "Never! I'll sink alongside!" there was a Confederate Captain Brown plunging the ram Arkansas down the Yazoo and Mississippi rivers through three hostile fleets, and stern old Winslow hounding the dreaded Alabama from refuge to refuge and leaving not a shred of her canvas, not an arm of her rigging, not a plank from hull or deck of that renowned commerce destroyer as a memento of her marvelous career.

And for purely personal valor who can rival Cushing on the prow of his frail picket boat within 30 feet of the muzzles of rifles and cannon blazing on the deck of the Albemarle, and there with wounded hands adjusting by intricate mechanism his torpedo lance and exploding the terrible missile directly under the hull of the ram? For Spartan coolness where the man to challenge the brave veteran Ellet, lying in his blood on the deck of the Queen at Memphis while ordering the fleet of rams in the closing attack and sending from his side his son, a boy of 19, to hoist the flags of victory upon the spires of the vanquished city? And for nobility of soul, combined with heroic mettle, can the world produce a greater than Craven, who at Mobile begged of Farragut the post of honor in the fight, and, when his vessel, the unlucky Tecumseh, was sinking in a hopeless depth, gave way for the pilot to precede him up the single turret ladder, the sole means of escape, saying as he waved his hand toward the exit, already taking in water in sheets, "After you, pilot!"

Of exploits like these so briefly sketched, for the scores that have become celebrated hundreds are scarcely known.

From the stories of the campaigns of the 300 fighting regiments, each of them, a stirring war drama might be evolved. In 70 of those regiments more soldiers fell fighting in battle by from 10 to 20 per cent than in the crack German regiments in the Franco-Prussian war with its bloody Gravelotte and Mars la Tour. Famous brigades are fully represented in these fighting battalions, a fact which proves that their unique distinction was not accidental in origin, but was earned where the bullets flew like hail. If it takes a man's weight in lead to kill one in battle, then between 30 and 40 tons of missiles fly past the mark when 100 are struck dead out of a body of 400.

The regiment leading all the northern army in battle losses at Gettysburg, the Twenty-fourth Michigan, named above, fought there, and throughout its service in the company of four crack regiments, the five constituting the "Iron Brigade." The bravest of the five, the Second Wisconsin, weathered 15 desperate battles, and in proportion to the number carrying muskets in its ranks lost more men killed by the enemy's fire than any other regiment which wore the blue.

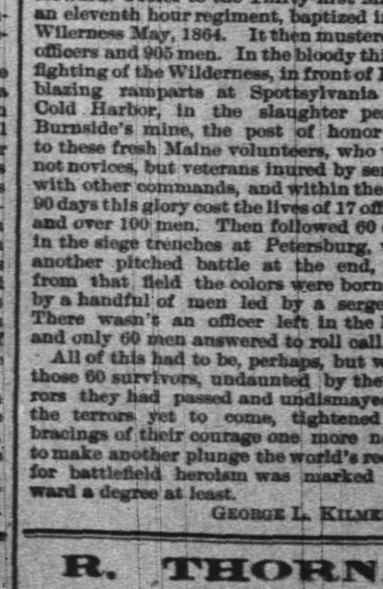
The Confederacy also had its iron brigades, but not under that name. Gregg and McGowan's South Carolina brigade and the "Orphan brigade" of Kentucky fought under the savage motto of the Old Guard of France, which "dies, but never surrenders." Orr's South Carolina rifles led all the clans of the south in piling up battle losses and contributed to the roll of honor 29 officers and 305 soldiers killed, besides over 700 wounded. One of its companion regiments, the First Palmetto, left 281 dead on the fields of Virginia and Maryland, and the brigade vies with the Kentucky "Orphans" for the proud distinction of having given the heaviest dole in blood to the lost cause. The "Orphans" were exiled sons of that land of splendid fighters, and out of 5,000 who crossed the border in 1861 Union bullets spared less than 200 to report for surrender in 1865. The South Carolinians in the five regiments under the leadership of Gregg and McGowan piled up the enormous roll of 1,300 killed in action. That means 5,000 killed and wounded, equal the fighting strength of two brigades.

The "Iron brigade" and the First Vermont brigade also stand in unique rivalry with respect to losses. The Green mountain boys scored the highest death list by actual count and the western men the highest in proportion to original strength. The Vermonters had their elite regiment, the Fifth, composed of men who didn't know how to retreat, and this again its elite company. In one of the peninsula battles this company (E) faced the storm of canister in front of Kemper's Virginia battery until only seven men remained out of 56 combatants. The dead, to the number of 25, lay on the ground in regular battle order, as if sleeping on their arms, and six members of one family touched elbows in those prostrate files, while a seventh was borne away wounded. And that gallant race which fights so well for all causes but its own won fresh honor by upholding in America the glorious traditions of Fontenoy, for the green banners of our Irish brigade were consecrated by the blood of a thousand sons of old Erin who fell around them never to rise and of 3,000 spared to prove the tale by showing their scars of war. Three of these Irish regiments, fitly named after the three most noted Irish commands in the wars of Europe—the Sixty-third, Sixty-ninth and Eighty-eighth New York—became so reduced by fightng that the 10 companies in each were consolidated into two during the last year of the war.

But with few exceptions, nearly all of which have been named, the 300 fighting regiments stood alone, uninspired by race rivalry or other form of esprit de corps than that which ever stirs the soul of the true warrior.

And to learn of the war as these heroes found it one should share their fortunes on field after field; march with Colonel Madill's plucky Pennsylvanians into that slaughter pen at Chancellorsville, and with them stand above the long rows of their fallen comrades, and there, in the midst of and in spite of the furious storm of battle, sing above the din the stirring martial pæan, "Rally round the flag!" or with those other Keystone men, the Sixty-first of the line, fight from knee rests at arm's length in the thickets of Seven Pines, then with them lead the charge up the slopes, over the crest and into the batteries on Marye's Heights. One should serve the guns with the cannoneers of Slocomb's New Orleans artillery, 200 days and nights under fire, and help them hurl 6,000 charges of shot and shell into the enemy's ranks, lucky not to be among the 43 killed or 100 wounded in that slender crew of a four gun battery, or "plunge into the thick of the fight" with the Tennesseeans of the First (Confederate) regiment from Shiloh to Atlanta, not counting a battle a battle unless they made a bayonet charge upon blazing cannon; then with the First South Carolina and the Eighty-third Pennsylvania take up their unique three years' duel and fight over the bloody course from Gaines Mill to Five Forks, tallying the dead almost man for man in each battle until quite 300 a side had been slain. Yes, one should ride with those Uhlans of America, the First Maine, First Massachusetts, First New Jersey cavalry and Custer's Michigan brigade, in battles by the score where "dead troopers" outnumbered the wounded, and stand with those Yankee heroes, the Fifth New Hampshire, in the Bloody Lane at Antietam, until, maddened by the frightful carnage, the men painted their faces with powder black and sounded the Indian warwhoop to put new courage into their comrades and arouse terror in the foe.

And yet when all has been said that might be said—for the half has not yet been told—of the sublime devotion and sacrifice of these noble commands, both the blue and the gray, there stands one above them all whose claim to that distinction is now for the first time brought forward. I refer to the Thirty-first Maine, an eleventh hour regiment, baptized in the Wilerness May, 1864. It then mustered 84 officers and 905 men. In the bloody thicket fighting of the Wilderness, in front of Lee's blazing ramparts at Spottsylvania and Cold Harbor, in the slaughter pen of Burnside's mine, the post of honor fell to these fresh Maine volunteers, who were not novices, but veterans inured by service with other commands, and within the first 90 days this glory cost the lives of 17 officers and over 100 men. Then followed 60 days in the siege trenches at Petersburg, with another pitched battle at the end, and from that field the colors were borne off by a handful of men led by a sergeant. There wasn't an officer left in the line, and only 60 men answered to roll call.



A REMNANT LED BY A SERGEANT.

All of this had to be, perhaps, but when those 60 survivors, undaunted by the terrors they had passed and undismayed by the terrors yet to come, tightened the bracings of their courage one more notch to make another plunge the world's record for battlefield heroism was marked forward a degree at least.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

A Few Everyday Ideas of Economical Tendency.

Salt dissolved in alcohol will take out grease spots.

A very fine steel pen is the best for marking with indelible ink.

Court plaster should never be applied to a bruised wound.

Moths dislike newspapers as much as the prepared tar paper.

Banana peel will clean tan shoes as well as regular dressing.

Wood ashes, very finely sifted, are good for scouring knives and tinware.

All rugs when shaken should be handled by the middle and not the ends.

When ironing, a woman should sit instead of stand, and work in a cool room.

A teaspoonful of powdered borax added to cold starch will tend to give the linen extra stiffness.

Rainwater and white castile soap in lukewarm suds are the best mixture in which to wash embroideries.

Single beds are now not only fashionable, but hygienic. Double beds have little sale with wholesale dealers.

Articles of old furniture are sometimes made to appear new by washing them with lime water and then applying a coat of oil.

Hair dye is considered so detrimental to long life that a Paris insurance company refuses to insure the lives of women who use it.

Gum arabic and gum tragacanth in equal parts, dissolved in hot water, make the best and most convenient mucilage to keep in the house.

An English novelty is a basket for removing the soiled forks, spoons and knives from the dinner table between courses without making a clatter.

Woman Suffrage in Kentucky.

Kentucky was the first State to give women limited suffrage in school elections. In 1842 widows having children of school age were authorized to vote for school directors. Kentucky has now taken this additional step. The General Assembly, before adjournment, enacted a "uniform charter" for all cities containing a population of more than 20,000 and less than 100,000 inhabitants. This "uniform charter" contains the following provision: Women who may possess such other qualifications required for males are hereby declared to be eligible as members of said Board of Education, and qualified to vote at any and all elections for members of said board. The officers required to hold registration for voters in cities shall provide for separate registration of men and women, and cause to be opened separate polls, at which all persons desiring to vote for members to the School Board shall be permitted to vote; otherwise both the registration and election shall be held according to the provisions of the general elections.

Perfect Lima Beans.

"I never realized how little I knew," said Mrs. Rorer, at Lebanon, "until a Cingalese cook showed me the possibilities of a lima bean. The beans and the cook were together in the kitchen before I got there, and a cocoanut was with them. When I came in I found the beans had been parboiled and each slipped from its little waterproof case of skin just as you would slip a grape skin off its pulp. The unbroken beans were in one bowl, a mass of the skins in the other. The cocoanut had been broken, its meat shredded and macerated in the milk, and in this milk the beans were afterward simmered and served.

Feminine "Strong Men."

The strong woman performer is by no means a latter-day invention. In the time of Louis XV. there was an actress engaged at the theatre Francais—Mlle. Gaunthier—who could break a coin between the fingers of one hand and roll a silver plate into the form of a cup of conical shape. No one could bear the pressure of her hand, and only Maurice de Saxe, one of the strongest men of his time, was able to open her closed fingers. In the same century there lived in England a woman, Miss Bettie Thompson, who could break chains with her hand.

Her Hand.

A lady never extends her hand to a man whose acquaintance she is making. She may or may not shake hands with a lady who is introduced, but she must not give her hand to a strange man. A low bow is the elegant form of salutation. A cultivated woman will not shake hands with any man, no matter how long she is acquainted with him, unless she respects and admires him. A gentleman never extends his hand to a lady first. To do so would be presumptuous, and subjects him to a snubbing.

Security.

A five-year-old girl had been attending Sunday school for several weeks, learning weekly to repeat the golden texts. A few days ago her mother had occasion to administer a severe reproof, when the little one looked up undismayed, and slowly and calmly observed:

"The Lord is on my side; I will not fear."

It was her golden text of the Sunday previous.

Ladies' Waistcoats.

There are eleven kinds of waistcoats in the market for the dude girls. Some haven't any back straps, and some haven't any back; some have tie-backs to keep the sham fronts in place; some have back straps and silver buckles; some are single and some are double breasted; some are hollow and some are high in the collar; some are cut low, some are half-high, and some are uglier than others.

Florence Nightingale.

Florence Nightingale's health is failing. She is now seventy-four years old, and the recent death of her brother-in-law, Sir Harry Verney, of whose home she has been an inmate for many years, was a serious blow to her. Miss Nightingale has been an inspiring force in the world far exceeding all the sisterhoods that before or since her time have devoted their offices to the care of the wounded on the battlefield or in the hospital.

MAGIC

For Nerve, Brain and Blood.

MAGIC IRON-TONE is an ideal summer drink. Served at fountains with soda it is incomparable. It must be remembered that the average summer drink is just so much syrup and water, having no medicinal properties, and which only serves to provoke instead of to assuage thirst. But MAGIC IRON-TONE not only quenches thirst, it gratifies the longing for "something that will go to the spot;" it sparkles and bubbles along the palate and the throat; it gratifies the parched stomach and immediately clears the films from the brain. It dispels the despondent, depressed feeling inseparable from weariness and overwork; it lightens the load the system seems to be carrying, causes the eye to flash, the mind to spring into activity, and the nerves and muscles to jump from a flaccid to an elastic condition.

INNS OF NEW YORK.

CHICAGO CLAIMED GREATER HOTEL ACCOMODATIONS, BUT—.

The World's Fair Contest Recalled. Recent Hotel Building. Something About the Astors, and a Hotel's Name. Looking Forward.

When the question of a location for the World's Fair was being agitated, one of the points in dispute between New York and Chicago was the hotel accomodations which each city could furnish. It was claimed for New York that it had many more first-class hotels, and accommodations for a great many more guests than Chicago, but the Chicagoans denied this, and asserted that in their great hotels more and better accommodations could be found than in the metropolis. In the end Chicago got the Fair, but it is still believed that New York has far greater accommodations in its hotels than the Western city has.

Within the past few years a large number of great hotels have been built, including the Plaza, the Savoy, the New Netherland and the Waldorf, a picture of which is given herewith.

It may not be generally known that the name of this hotel, which is the middle name of its owner, came about in this way:

Many years ago William Astor, a son of the original John Jacob, was sent to Germany, to the little town of Waldorf, to be educated. In recognition of the good schooling which he received, Waldorf has been remembered in the wills of the Astors, and the real head of the family, William Waldorf Astor, bears its name, which he has bestowed upon his great hotel, built at the cost of $2,000,000, luxuriously furnished, and said to be, in many respects, the most palatial in the world.

It is a noteworthy fact, in connection with the history of New York inns, that the majority of them bear foreign names, such as the Windsor, the St. James, the Plaza, the Savoy, and the Victoria. Only a few, like the Fifth Avenue and Hoffman have plain native titles.

When the old Astor House, with its five stories, was built, it was considered a remarkably large and beautiful inn, and for a long time it held the palm as the greatest hotel of the city. Now people look at its modest height and plain exterior in wonder that it was ever considered either large or beautiful. But times change, and from the first hotel built by the Astors to the last is a long step, covering a progress in architecture and every other science and art, which is little short of marvelous.

Looking at the great structures of today one is inclined to wonder what they will be in twenty years more, and whether as has been predicted, there will be a fifty story building by that time. Probably not, but one can never tell in this progressive age, what will happen next, and it is not impossible that, before the next century is very old, people may go to a hotel and be shot up a lightning elevator to room No. 2901 on the fiftieth floor. It is sad to think of, but is yet possible.

The Temple Clock Inscription.

Upon the Temple clock in London is a singular inscription, the origin of which is said to have been a lucky accident. About 200 years ago a master-workman was employed to repair and put a new face upon the clock. When his work was nearly done he asked the Benchers for an appropriate motto to carve upon the base. They promised to think of one. Week after week he came for their decision, but was put off. One day he found them at dinner in Commons. "What motto shall I put on the clock, your lordship?" he asked of a learned judge. "Oh, go about your business!" his honor cried, angrily. "And very suitable for a lazy, dawdling gang!" the clockmaker is said to have muttered, as he retreated. It is certain that he carved "Go about your business" on the base.

Novel Story of a Protested Check.

A man of means at Easton on the eastern shore of Maryland was somewhat astonished the other day to receive one of his checks, which had been cashed at Baltimore, with a notice of protest and the usual charge in such cases. On examining the check he was still more surprised to see that instead of being drawn on his own bank at Easton it was drawn on a bank at Middletown, Del. He looked at the check book from which he had taken the blank check, found the corresponding stub, and realized that there was something wrong about the book. The matter was explained when it came out that both banks have their check books made at the same stationer's. In binding that particular book a sheet of one of the Middletown bank's books had been put in by mistake.

A New Claim Filed.

The discovery of anaesthesia is due to Dr. Crawford W. Long, of Georgia, who, in 1842, performed a surgical operation upon James M. Venable. Dr. Long having first rendered the patient insensible to pain by the application of ether. Two or three years later, Messrs. Wells, Jackson, and Morton began their experiments, after which the anaesthetic properties of ether and chloroform rapidly became known.—Scientific American.

A ROMANTIC BACHELOR.

He Was Rich, Nice, and Not Insensible to Loveliness.

He was a rich old bachelor. Not too old, either, but just old enough; and he was a nice old bachelor, too, who seemed happiest, when he was making other people happy. The pretty waiter girl at the restaurant where he took his meals liked him immensely, but she would have to do that to like him one-half as well as he liked her. Indeed, he liked her so that his friends insisted that he ate seven meals a day, not to mention lunches between meals. But he didn't care for their talk. He laughed cheerily to aid his digestion, and went there as often as he wished. One day after he had finished a meal he hurried out, and in a minute or less he hurried back again.

"Didn't I leave something here?" he asked her as he began looking around.

"I think not," she replied as she joined in the search.

"I'm sure I did," he insisted, poking around among the tables and chairs.

"What was it like?" she inquired.

"Oh, it's about so big, I've heard say," he said, holding up his hands in measurement.

She looked at him curiously and tried to remember how many glasses of wine he had taken at lunch.

"I'm sure you didn't leave it here," she said. "Perhaps you left it somewhere else."

"I hope not."

"Well," she suggested reassuringly, "if I come across it I'll keep it for you."

"Are you sure you will?" he asked in a tone so strongly implying doubt that the girl's face flushed.

"You know I will," she answered warmly. "Haven't you known me long enough to trust me?"

"But this was valuable," he said, still searching for it.

For the first time in their acquaintance the girl didn't like him.

"Suppose you speak to the proprietor about it, then, and let him keep it for you," she said half angrily.

"Gracious, no," he exclaimed, "I don't want him to have it."

"Then tell me what it is," she insisted, "and I'll return it to you."

"But I don't want you to," he laughed softly.

The girl's pretty face grew prettier, for was not the next day to be her birthday?

"Oh," she chirruped, "was it something for me?"

He nodded laughingly.

"What was it?" she asked coaxingly, as a child might.

He looked into her dancing eyes, and it made him so happy that he fairly fluttered.

"I think it was my heart, my dear," he said, becoming serious and tender at the same time, and the pretty girl was so greatly embarrassed that she put both her hands in his right there before the proprietor and shocked him extremely, until they told him what had happened.—Grace Olds.

American Authors as Diplomats.

The London Chronicle predicts that Mr. de Kay (whose nomination by President Cleveland to the Consul Generalship at Berlin has been confirmed by the Senate) "will find himself a strange bird in the official flock which America now maintains in the Old World." "It is pleasant," says the writer, after alluding to Mr. Platt's removal from the Dublin Consulship, "to recall the old days when the Republic sent Hawthorne to Liverpool and Howells to Venice.

"The Chronicle's list is hardly exhaustive," observes The Lounger in The New York Critic. "It omits Bancroft, Minister to England and afterward to Germany; Motley, Minister to Austria and afterward to England; Washington Irving, Minister to Spain; Bayard Taylor, Minister to Germany; John Bigelow, Minister to France; James Russell Lowell, Minister to Spain and afterward to England; S. G. W. Benjamin, Minister to Persia; F. H. Underwood, Consul at Glasgow and afterward (till his death) at Leith; Bret Harte, Consul at Crefeld and afterward at Glasgow; Albert Rhodes, Consul at Rouen, and E. S. Nadal, Assistant Secretary of Legation at London. Authors, also, are General Wallace and Oscar S. Straus, and an author was the late S. S. Cox, each of whom held the Ministry to Turkey; while Allibone gives the titles of various books written by Judge J. B. Stallo, late Minister to Italy; and if his predecessor, Mr. Astor, is not an author, what is he?" To the list may be added William Widgery Thomas, Minister to Sweden and Norway.

INTERESTING SMALL MATTERS.

Mrs. Sarah Thomas lately celebrated her 106th birthday in Wales, and among the gifts displayed was one of 106 shillings, sent by the Princess of Wales.

Who first beholds the light of day,
In spring, the flowery month of May,
And wears an emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.
—English Daily News.

The province of Quebec allows 100 acres of Government land to the father of a family of twelve living children. Paul Belanger, of River du Loup, has applied for 300 acres on the ground that he has thirty-six living children—a whole yard full, so to speak.

Judge Holt was not the last surviving member of the Military Commission that tried President Lincoln's assassins. John A. Bingham, who was for years in Congress, and afterwards served as Minister to Japan, is still living at his home in Ohio.

The heart grows rich in giving; all its wealth is living gain;
Seeds which mildew in the garner—scattered, fill with gold the plain.

—Tennyson.

Professor J. W. Spencer told the American Geological Society on Tuesday, that, from experiments he had been making, he is convinced that this continent is slowly sinking. He has found points that were at no remote period 3,000 feet higher than they now are.

Mr. Dryden, the Baltimore Shipping Commissioner who objects to being shipped, has drawn attention to the law, which only authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to remove from the office any incumbent "whom he may have reason to believe does not properly perform his duty." Attention should be drawn to it. It should be amended—so as to substitute "who" for "whom."

SAVED LINCOLN FROM CAPTURE.

Colonel Sillowaye, Who Did This, is Now Penniless in Boston.

A recent dispatch from Boston says that Col. William Allen Huntley Sillowaye, who once saved President Lincoln from capture, is living with his wife in a single room in a lodging house, ill and destitute. Colonel Sillowaye is in his seventy-sixth year. He is a printer.

Col. Sillowaye was attached for a time to the staff of Gen. McClellan. He was wounded four times and was in Libby prison. The feat which brought him wide reputation was the incident regarding President Lincoln in 1863. This happened after Col. Sillowaye was wounded at South Mountain and had resigned to go into the navy. In May, 1863, the President had been down to City Point and was coming back on the Brooks. They were running by Tobacco Point, when a Confederate battery opened fire on them, and a shot came through the port paddles. The Colonel says:

"The steamer stopped and began to drift. We could see them on the Virginia shore preparing to get a boat off to us. Capt. Brooks, our commander, did not know what to do, when I came on deck and said to him that we must get the President off at all hazards.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

"I said I would go if we could get a crew. The Captain ageeed, and a boat was manned and shoved off from our vessel. It was dusk, and the crew with its charge was soon lost in the shadows hovering over the river. We landed the President in safety on the Maryland shore, where he remained in security until he could be transported to Washington.

"The Confederates boarded our vessel and demanded the President, and, failing to find him, wreaked their vengeance on the sick and disabled soldiers on board."

Col. Sillowaye received letters from the President, Secretary Stanton, and Secretary Welles in recognition of the event, and Secretary Stanton said in his letter:

"The President believes that you, under the guidance of Providence, saved him from capture, if not from instant death."

Sillowaye was then commissioned a Colonel as a reward for his services.

A NOVELTY IN BUTTERFLIES.

Editor Gibson Made It for the Benefit of an Amateur Naturalist.

Puck has in its lithographing department a German who is an amateur naturalist. He is a constant delight to the editorial department, or rather he was until Managing Editor Gibson hurt his feelings last week. Schmidt—that isn't his name, but it will do—carries part of his natural history collection around with him. Mr. Gibson doesn't know anything about those things and he doesn't want to.

Mr. Gibson was pinching the creases in his trousers one warm day when an unusually large cockroach crawled up on his desk and looked at him.

He captured the cockroach and boxed him up. Then he cut a pair of large wings out of tissue paper and persuaded artist C. J. Taylor to paint them in colors. When they were neatly fastened on the cockroach's back he placed the animal on his desk and summoned Schmidt. The amateur naturalist is near sighted and wears glasses.

"Schmidt," said Mr. Gibson, "here's a new butterfly for your bug collection. It flew into the office just now."

By this time the cockroach was crawling up the wall, handicapped by his paper wings. Schmidt approached it closely, and, peering through his glasses exclaimed:

"Gott in Himmel, Mr. Geebson! Das ist Ungeheuer!"

"Yah, so I thought," returned Mr. Gibson.

"Yah," said Schmidt, still squinting through his glasses. "Vate a minute for my glass."

Off dashed Schmidt, and when he returned he had a large magnifying glass. He focussed it on the strange butterfly and peered again. For a moment he was perplexed. He gently took a wing between his thumb and first finger and off it came. He squinted harder, and a look of disgust settled on his features. He brushed the cockroach off the wall, and, with an explosive "Donnerwetter!" he left the office.

"You can't suit some men," said Mr. Gibson thoughtfully, again pinching the creases in his trousers.

The Smallest Current Coin.

Which is at the same time the smallest coin and the coin of least value at present current in Europe? In the absence of a knowledge of any smaller and more worthless, I should be inclined, writes a correspondent, to award the palm to the Greek lepton, a specimen of which has recently come into my hands. The lepton is, according to the decimal monetary system current in countries belonging to the Latin union, the hundredth part of the drachma. Now the Greek drachma is, while nominally the equivalent of the franc or the lira, at present worth less than 6d., the rate of exchange about a fortnight ago being 42.60 drachmas to an English sovereign. The lepton is, therefore, approximately worth about one-fifth of an English farthing.—Westminster Review.

Oscar is not Modest.

Mr. Oscar Wilde's forthcoming book proclaims his belief that he has solved the mystery of Shakespeare's sonnets, and presents his solution. It is entitled "The Incomparable and Ingenious history of Mr. W. H., Being the True Secret of Shakespeare's Sonnets, Now for the First Time Here Truly Set Forth." The initial letters and cover designs are by that "precious" artist, Mr. Charles Ricketts.

HINTS FOR "SWELLS."

HOW THEY MAY DRESS NEATLY ON A MODERATE INCOME.

Styles for this Season. The Three Button Cutaway is to be in Great Demand. Something About Overcoats, and the Latest Styles in Hats.

'Tis not the hat that makes the man, nor is it the clothes, but in the struggle for social success the young man of to-day finds that by conforming to the styles in vogue social recognition is more easily attained. It is rather expensive keeping abreast of the times, and at present the young "swells" with only moderate incomes are wondering if the fall fashions will necessitate a great expenditure for clothing. There will be but little change, however, from the styles of last fall.

The popular fabrics will be vicuna and cheviots, plaid patterns predominating. The three-button, long-tailed cutaway suit will still be the favorite, but it is to be made slightly shorter than has been the rule. There has been an effort made to bring the one one-button cutaway into favor, but, except in the case of corpulent men, it is not liked, the three-button being preferred, from the fact that the wearer can use one or three buttons as he desires. Double-breasted frock or Prince Albert coats are always conceded very dressy, and the style set forth for this fall varies but little from that of 1893. The coat will be made a little shorter, reaching about two inches below the knee, whereas four inches below the knee has heretofore been considered the proper length. The favorite material will be brown vicuna for the coat and vest. The latter will be single-breasted, open about 14 1-2 inches and 25 1-2 inches long, with a notched collar.

Overcoats will be made of the lightest colored cheviots and Venetians, of a length sufficient to cover Prince Albert coats. The backs will be made moderately loose. The covert coat will be but little changed, the average length being from 35 1-2 to 37 1-2 inches.

One of the most becoming and "swell" overcoats to be worn is the surtout, which is always dressy. A diagonal vicuna is the popular material for this coat, and its neatness and beauty will make it a great favoaite.

The ideal overcoat to be worn over an evening dress is the Inverness. This coat has been deservedly popular, and there will be no change in its style. It will be made with a wide Prussian collar, and the cape, which will be made moderately full, is not to be long enough to cover the sleeves of the undercoat. Cheviot will be the material generally used in these coats.

In buying a silk hat this fall it will be found that the style has decidedly changed. The most handsome shape that has been worn in years is the outcome of the efforts of the manufacturers to satisfy the public.

In shape the new silk hat will be a circular bell crown, with a wide roll brim. The depth is to be 6 1-8 inches and the brim measures 1 7-8 inches. The curl is 3-4 inch wide and is bound with 12-line silk binding.

The fashionable derby is to have a round crown, 5 3-4 inches deep, with a 2-inch brim. The curl is inclined to be wide and the hat is decidedly neat in appearance.

Soft hats will be worn in various styles, but the most popular one will be the hat known as the round crown Alpine. The depth of crown is 5 3-4 inches, and the brim, which is unbound, having a welt edge, measures 2 3-8 inches.

The colors to be chosen from are numerous, but those expected to be most worn are a rosewood and mulberry. Of course, black is always in style.—N. Y. Advertiser.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?
Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?
Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?
Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?
Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?
Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?
Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?
Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?
Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?
Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?
Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

WATER GAP HOUSE,
DELAWARE WATER GAP, PA.
The location of this house, on a spur of the Kittatinny Mountain, is the Finest in the Whole Range
of the Blue Ridge. From its elevation are compassed views of great extent and beauty, embracing the gorge through which the river winds, the Upper Delaware Valley to the north, and Cherry Valley westward. From the Pioneer Walks, through hundreds of acres of forest, charming vistas are opened, affording frequent surprises for the alert pedestrian. The quiet and lake-like repose of the Delaware is very attractive to oarsmen and from the boat fine views of the great pass are obtained. The drives in every direction throughout the neighborhood are diversified and interesting. The hotel is large and complete in every detail, with broad verandas, a well-lighted billiard rooms, bath room, electric bells and mountain spring water in bed rooms. Superior table.
Good bass fishing in season on the Delaware, and trout fishing in the adjacent tributaries.
For the accommodation of business men a daily train leaves the Water Gap at 7:02 a. m., and arrives in New York at 9:30 a. m.

TO WATER THE BROOK.

That's What the North Plainfield Common Council Decided to Do, and Next Day It Raised—To Increase Liquor Licenses—Litigation Against Plainfield Brook Encroachers.

All of the North Plainfield councilmen except Messrs. Howell and Lounsbury met last night to go through the routine business, to arrange for the washing of Green brook, to ask for an increase in the price of saloon licenses and to talk about the proposed ordinance on the placing of electric light poles.

Borough Magistrate Crosley reported having collected $16 for fines during the month of August. Mayor Needham said that Julius Barschofskie's $20 would be added next month. H. N. Spencer reported the following collections:

Fines, licenses, etc	$ 27.40
Macadamizing Myrtle avenue	260.00
" Duer street	160.50
Total	$307.90

Clerk Arnold's financial report was:

Borough account balance	$736.49
Fire account balance	336.51
Total balance		$1,073.00
Road account deficit	$ 63.81
Light " "	204.11
Total deficit		267.92
Balance		$706.28

All of these reports were received and ordered filed. The Board of Health presented a petition asking the aid of the borough in flushing Green brook in the vicinity of Grove and Washington streets. Mr. Curtis of the health board was present and asked for the use of the hose and if necessary the engine to flush that part of the brook. The cleansing was needed very badly and should be done while the brook was low. The hydrants would probably supply a sufficient head of water.

Chairman Valiant of the Street Committee reported that the macadamizing of Myrtle avenue had been finished and that that on Duer street was under way. The contribution for the Linden avenue macadamizing would all be in within another day, preparatory to having the men start work there as soon as Duer street was finished. Mr. Peck reported that the Gamewell fire-alarm system had been completed, tested and used.

Mr. Winckler introduced a resolution, the preamble explaining the difference between the saloon licenses, $250 in the borough and $700 in Plainfield, a distinction which should not exist. The resolution requested the judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Somerset County to increase the license fee in North Plainfield to an extent proper under the circumstances. Clerk Arnold was authorized to give the court such information as to the existing state of affairs as might be required.

Mr. Valiant seconded the resolution. Mr. Winckler said he had been asked to present the resolution by Councilman Lounsbury. It was the same as one which had been passed early in the year, with the exception that the wording had been changed to make it legal. The resolution was carried unanimously.

Mr. Winckler moved that the corporation counsel be directed to draft an ordinance regulating bowling alleys and concerts. He said there was no existing way in which nuisances and annoyances arising from these could be stopped. The motion was carried.

Mr. Winckler asked that two lamps be placed on Westervelt avenue, one between Jackson and Manning avenues and one between Manning and Brook avenues. The matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Lamps Committee with power.

Mr. Valiant of the Street Committee reported pay rolls from August 10 to Sept. 7 amounting to $386.81. He said that he had not yet checked all the items in the bill for stone of A. L. and N. B. Smalley, $804.16, but as the firm had asked for the money, he thought $700 should be paid on account. This payment was ordered by the Council.

Mr. Valiant explained the situation of Brook avenue and said that the thoroughfare was in danger of being washed away because of the unlawful filling in being done on the city side. He asked that proceedings be instituted against Plainfield. Mr. Neal misunderstood the resolution and spoke upon the brook as a sewer but favored the resolution when Mr. Valiant explained that the filling in was done by a man who had erected new houses next to the brook. The motion to start a litigation was carried, all voting aye.

The negotiation of a loan of $1,000 for the road account was authorized, Mr. Peck asked for three $300 notes for the Gamewell Company, payable December 1, 1894, December 1, 1895 and December 1, 1896, respectively, the last two notes to bear interest at 6 per cent. after the payment of the first. After a short discussion the payment of the money was changed to $800 cash September 15, 1894, and the issuing of two notes then each for $800, one payable in 15 months and the other in 27, the last two to bear 6 per cent. interest.

Mr. Peck's request for a $1,000 loan for the light account was granted. His motion to let the Board of Health use the hose or the engine or both to flush the brook was carried. Collector Spencer reported that he had received from the County Clerk $213.75 on account of Henry Windham's license.

Mr. Peck brought up for final passage the ordinance relating to the erection of electric poles in the borough. It was read and taken up section by section. Counsel Reed explained that the ordinance restricted the Edison Company and their successors in various ways, but Mr. Neal said he understood the ordinance as a favorable one for the company. After much discussion, Mr. Valiant's motion that the matter be laid over until another meeting was carried.

A number of bills were paid. Mr. Neal asked that a survey of the borough be made for the purpose of making a grade map. Counsel Reed said the law required such a map. The survey and the drawing were ordered made. The Council then adjourned.

—A cut of the Babcock Building will illumine the pages of The World tomorrow, as a sample of Plainfield's progress.

DRINK THE CAUSE OF HIS FALL.

It Was During a Spree that E. S. Smith Forged His Employer's Name.

Rowland B. Smith, bookkeeper for R. H. McCullough of Steiner place, was under the influence of liquor when he forged a check for $16 in his employer's name and cashed it at the North avenue station August 30. He had been on a spree two weeks then and became a criminal to get money with which to continue.

Smith went with his family when they moved from Duer street to Elizabeth when his son and one daughter obtained positions there and his other daughter went to work in Newark. He remained as bookkeeper for Mr. McCullough. When he bought his monthly commutation ticket he was accustomed to pay for it with a check.

Getting short of funds last week he bought an excursion ticket from Ticket-agent Nelson to Elizabeth and went away with the change from the $16. The forgery was discovered by Mr. McCullough and the warrant issued by Justice Nash that led to his arrest Thursday and his imprisonment in Elizabeth awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

The family have agreed to make good the loss to Mr. Nelson and today tried to get bail in Elizabeth. Smith confesses to having passed a similar check for the same amount in an Elizabeth grocery. This case will also be adjusted. Mr. McCullough will not prosecute, and it seems likely that nothing will be done with the matter. Smith's reputation in Plainfield is good, the only things against him being his drinking and the way in which he lost his job with Carney Bros. about five years ago. His son Harry was implicated with him then, but their doings were discovered in time and were never made public.

NOTES OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The first week of school has ended. The various classes have got down to solid work, and everyone is full of business. A number of the old pupils who did not start the year promptly have returned now, and with them there comes a number of new faces. The regular weekly singing lesson, usually held Thursday morning, was omitted this week; and Friday morning, instead of a talk by Principal Maxson, "The Fairyland Waltz" was sung. It is a very pretty chorus and new to the school.

The military drill at recess for the last few days has consisted of very simple maneuvres, but Capt. Bull has already instructed the new members of the corps in the ordinary movements and will soon commence on the more difficult ones, tho' no extensive drilling will be done until after the election of new officers.

The P. H. S. A. A. held their first meeting of the school year yesterday afternoon, and a very enthusiastic meeting it was. The most important business to be transacted was the election of officers. Edgar I. Serrell, '95, was unanimously chosen to stand at the head of the society as President. Charles B. Morse, '95, was elected First Vice-President and manager of general athletics. Edward Clarke, '95, was selected for Second Vice-President and manager of the base-ball nine. George A. Horne, '95, will be Third Vice-President and will direct the foot-ball eleven. Volney H. Green, '96, was elected Fourth Vice-President and manager of the hocky team. Carl C. Gallup, '96, will attend to the business of the society as Secretary, and A. B. Crane as Treasurer will have charge of the financial department. The election of the officers for the Bicycling Division then followed, and resulted as follows: Captain—Charles B. Morse, '95; First Lieutenant—Edgar I. Serrell, '95; Second Lieutenant—Volney H. Green, '96; Color Bearer—George Smith, '98; Bugler—Raymond A. McGee. After some debate, it was decided that a field day should be held October 6. The meeting then adjourned until next Tuesday, when the various plans for the field day will be considered. Every member of the association should be present as it will be an important meeting. Those pupils in the High School who are not members but wish to become so should see Secretary Gallup at once and sign the constitution, the only requirement, outside of being a High School boy, needed before becoming a member. Already several have joined, and we expect to see the ranks greatly increased before long, as quite a large number of the new pupils is inclined to athletics.

The Bicycling Division promises to be an important feature as there is a great number of cyclists among the High School boys. Next Wednesday afternoon there will be a run to Rahway, starting from the High School building at 2.

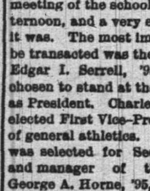
The Kappa Delta Phi will hold its first meeting next Friday afternoon, and the Lyceum will probably meet on the same day.

NINETY-FIVE.

Thompson's Seat Safe.

The committee of the New Jersey Assembly which has been engaged since last Winter in investigating alleged frauds connected with the election of William J. Thompson, "Duke of Gloucester", to membership in the House, met yesterday in Chancery Chambers, Jersey City. After the evidence had been discussed the committee decided to report that no frauds were found sufficient to invalidate Mr. Thompson's election.

THE POSTMASTER'S LETTER.



T. H. EDMUNDSON.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I had been an invalid for nineteen years and had all the doctors in our country prescribe for me, but they could not say just what ailed me. When I wrote you giving the history and symptoms, you diagnosed my case as disease of the blood and kidneys, and advised me to try your "Golden Medical Discovery and "Pellets," and I feel confident your medicines saved my life, and I hope all sufferers from kidney and blood diseases will try your valuable medicine.

T. H. EDMUNDSON, Postmaster, Homa, Marshall Co., Kans.

The muscular system, the Heart, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, all do their work with comparative difficulty for every weary, thin or thin-blooded person. Fatigue comes early, is extreme, and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply, and poisonous materials accumulate. This is the reason sole people are always tired. Certain it is that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures and builds up just such sufferers. To the weak and the nervous, Pierce Guarantees A Cure.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains.

Mrs. William Nestle of Park avenue is quite ill.

Most of the students are ready for the opening of school Monday.

Robert Walpole caught three bass in the Passaic Thursday that weighed 8½ pounds.

The returns are not all in yet, but it is estimated that $50 has been raised for the Choral Union.

Graduate Will Illsley of Patchogue came to Scotch Plains to visit friends Thursday night.

An outdoor service will be held on the Baptist Church grounds tomorrow evening. Pastor Braker has finished his series of illustrated Sunday evening lectures.

Rahway's proposition to play the Plains nine September 22 and 29 will probably be accepted. The local players are very slow about getting together to decide upon games.

The Choral Union Committee have several leaders under consideration for selection to lead the work the first season. Membership cards have been printed. They will be issued to the 70 members shortly.

The teachers are coming to town again after their vacation trips. The new principal, George O. Cull, is at Dr. Parke's, where Miss Adams and Miss Bliss also will board. Miss Squires of Rahway is at Miss Parse's.

An enjoyable feature of the stereopticon lecture in the Baptist Church Thursday night was that Mr. Hall returned from his trip to London and the West Indies by way of Fanwood, showing pictures of Benjamin F. Urner's house, the homes of the Messrs. Beacon, the Baptist parsonage, two views of the church and portraits of Dr. F. W. Westcott and the pastor and his family.

The Westfield team plays Scotch Plains on the local diamond today. It was rumored yesterday that the Westfields, twice beaten by the Plains, had arranged a surprise nine. The following nine was therefore prepared to meet the visitors today: Ball c; Johnson p; L. Frentz 1b; Buckley, 2b; Hand ss; Fields 3b; Macaulay, lf; C. Frentz cf; J. Schmidt, rf. Irving Quereau was appointed umpire.

It is said of a well-known resident of the Plains that he met with bad luck on his trip to the Waverly fair Thursday. He saw a man who seemed to be an ordinary visitor at the fair win $100 after he had placed $50 on a table and watched the operator go through a mysterious trick. The Scotch Plains man was pleased with the prospect of winning a hundred, and placed his $50 on the board. It staid there.

Fanwood.

Mrs. Erest L. Kieb and son Norman returned home from Canada Lake Thursday evening.

Samuel Dean, the night operator at Fanwood, is laid up at his home in Somerville with a malarial trouble. J. G. Brokaw of Somerville is temporarily in his place.

The Outdoor Club have ended their croquet games for the season, and inaugurated their tennis court yesterday. The games resulted in a victory for Miss Ruby Kieb and James Moore, second, against Mrs. W. E. Fentz and Miss Sadie Sherry.

The Scotch Plains Juniors defeated the Fanwoods yesterday by the score of 11 to 3. Batteries: John Albert and Sam Macauley for Scotch Plains, George Frentz and Ned Quereau for Fanwood. Umpire—E. L. Hand. This result makes a tie of five games each, and the final game is looked forward to with intense interest.

The fearful stench noticeable these cool nights at the railroad station can be accounted for by sewerage contamination which is patent to any observer. The ditch on the northerly side of the tracks is filled with a bright greenish colored fluid which obviously comes from the drains from residences. This may account for Night Operator Dean's illness, and the Board of Health has been notified of the condition of affairs.

Dunellen.

George Able of Easton is the guest of Edward Teel.

Thomas Osiecki of Brooklyn is visiting George Conover.

Irving Martine returned yesterday from his visit to Flemington.

Miss Sophie Maltbie is visiting relatives in Kingston, N. Y.

Mrs. C. F. Maier leaves tomorrow for Brielle, to visit her mother.

Miss Jennie Dunn of Williamsbridge is the guest of Mrs. A. D. Drake.

Mrs. J. Sherman Cooley of Flemington is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. Apgar.

Rev. A. I. Martine will occupy his pulpit in the Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Mrs. Herring of Cranford and her kinsman Robert Shepard of Ohio are visiting Mrs. M. A. Shepard.

Miss Mary Winner of Alpine, a talented vocalist, is being entertained by her sister, Mrs. Alfred Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Drake of Baltimore, who have been visiting in Dunellen and Newark, are about to return home.

Mr. Bremmer of Plainfield is negotiating for one of Paul Kratzel's stores, in which he intends opening a tailor shop.

A man working for the extension of the electric road to Dunellen called on several people yesterday for the purpose of securing signers. He met with fairly good success.

A question that is seriously agitating the minds of the best citizens of Dunellen is in regard to the large number of boys from 8 to 15 years of age who do not attend school in season. It has been remarked very often of late that the law compelling boys to attend ought to be enforced, but instead boys may be found idling about town and making themselves offensive by their language and actions.

New Market.

Luther Mundy is out again.

The condition of Aaron Brower is about the same. He is suffering from typhoid fever, and is not yet out of danger.

Arthur Leonard leaves in a few days for Princeton College.

The women of the Lawn Tennis Club cleared $1.73 at the festival held Thursday evening. The cause of the small profit was the short notice given the public.

Mrs. VanZile of Hoboken has been visiting W. J. Davis. Mrs. W. J. Davis and her two children will return early next week from New York, where they have been for one month.

The Lawn Tennis Club had a dance in Friendship Hall after the festival Thursday evening. All enjoyed themselves immensely, but the attendance was small. No money was made. Mr. Snowden furnished the music.

Dr. Nelson's sidewalk has been greatly improved by the addition of several loads of cinders purchased from the railroad company. It makes a harsh walk at first, but when it settles after the rain we will find it a great benefit.

The people of New Market have for years wished for a barber. Last year a barber from Rahway came to town Sundays, but the scheme lasted only for a short time. Last August a new one started up, and he is in need of work. Some say that if he would only get a decent shop they might patronize him. Well, it all takes money. If the people would only lend a helding hand so that he might get a start they would all appreciate it in the future.

WORK OF THE W. C. T. U.

Annual Meeting Announced for Monday, with Important Reports.

It is hoped that those people who wonder what the cabalistic letters W.C.T.U. signify, and also those who are always wishing to know "what the W. C. T. U. is doing anyway", will make a special effort to attend the annual meeting of the Union at 10 a. m. Monday, Sept. 10, in the rooms, where reports will be given of work accomplished during the past year, and where they can possibly learn something of the plans of work for the year to come.

Bring a basket lunch for yourself and invited friend, and spend the day. A welcome awaits all.

PINCHED FACES.

PECULIAR TO AMERICAN WOMEN.

Some of the Causes which Appear upon Investigation.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Ask them "What can be the matter?" and the invariable answer is, "I don't know." The eyes droop, and an air of deep gloom seems to overwhelm them. Press your questions a little closer, and you find avoidance of all society, reluctance to make the slightest effort, all accompanied with a crushing sense of bearing down.

"WHY DON'T WOMEN HAVE MORE FAITH?"

Further investigation discloses irregularity of periods, dizziness and faintness at times, and perhaps leucorrhœa.

Think surely the evidence is all-sufficient.

An American woman has discovered that the cause of all this lies in a deranged and diseased uterus or womb.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most marvellous cure for this trouble ever discovered.

A purely vegetable remedy, it is at once an absolutely safe and natural cure for this crushing trouble.

It has cured thousands, and will cure you as sure as truth is truth.

Here is a letter from one of them which she wants us to publish:—

"For years I have been almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, faintness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable compound has done more for me than all the doctors.

"I feel it my duty to tell you these facts that you also may be cured. My heart is full of gratitude to Mrs. Pinkham."—Mrs. Harriet Wampler, Box 944, Baraboo, Wis.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, }
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894. }

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the R. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

IN THE METROPOLIS.

THE VANDERBILT SCANDAL ENLIVENS NEW YORK SOCIETY.

Some Interesting Facts About William K. Vanderbilt and His Wife. George Gould and the Prince's Favor. A Curious Wager. Other Current News.

"We had heard it before," is what the blase society man and woman say when the "Willie" K. Vanderbilt scandal is mentioned; but they talk it over in its new developments just the same. When a man who is perhaps fifty times a millionaire quarrels with his wife, and she considers applying for a divorce on statutory grounds, the society where they move is certain to show some ferment. And so New York society people, whether at Newport, in Europe or elsewhere, are in a flutter over the alleged escapades of Mr. V——, which have impelled his handsome Southern wife to ask for a separation and a few of her husband's plentiful millions.

William K. Vanderbilt, know to his friends and acquaintances as "Willie K," is a grandson of the founder of the Vanderbilt fortune, and he is forty-two years old. He was the second son of the late William H., who inherited the bulk of the millions left by the Commodore. When William H. Vanderbilt died it was found that he had willed each of his numerous children $10,000,000 outright. The residue of the estate, valued conservatively at $100,000,000 was divided equally between his two sons Cornelius and Willie K. Vanderbilt money has always been well cared for and to-day William K. is one of the richest men in the world.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who is eight years younger than her husband, is the daughter of a Mobile merchant of the name of Smith, a man highly connected and the possessor of a long line of blue-blooded ancestors. Mrs. Vanderbilt and her two sisters, one of whom married Fernando Zuaga, were so handsome that they were commonly called the "three beauties. She has always been lavish in her entertainments, for which the splendid three-million-dollar home on Fifth avenue, and the marble palace at Newport (the latter given to her by her husband), furnished abundant room. She is somewhat reserved, but is reported a most companionable friend.

While the cables were telling of the varying phases of the Vanderbilt scandal, a letter was bringing some interesting rumors about the Goulds, and the outlook for their entrance into English society, via the Prince of Wales. The writer said:

"If Mr. Gould wishes to win the permanent favor of the Prince, he must allow Vigilant to be beaten. Princes are but children, and this half-century old one is a greater baby even than his new-born grandson. Entrance into English society—that is, the set in which the Goulds would like to move—depends upon the favor of the arbiter of English manners and morals fashionably considered. If Mr. Gould can possibly kill his patriotism and throw to the winds his sporting instincts, then the victory is his, and Vigilant has been a good investment and secured a great triumph socially for him."

Looking over the list of victories and defeats in the light of events that have occured since this letter was written, it would seem that if Albert Edward does not want the earth he has not much to dislike Mr. Gould for.

A curious wager was placed here a few days ago. An old resident was talking with a citizen not so old or well posted as he in New York's history as they sat in the corridor of one of the uptown hotels, and the conversation drifted to the subject of the monuments in the parks when the old resident said: "I don't believe that one New Yorker in a thousand knows that the remains of General Worth lie under the Worth Monument." The younger man doubted the fact that they do lie there, and a bet of a bottle of wine was made on the subject. "The great question now is," said the young man, "who but a ghoul can decide the bet?"

Johan Nepomuck Lang, who came to this country to contest the will of his brother, Louis Lang, the eccentric artist, is $50,000 poorer, and the town of Waldsee, Germany, is $50,000 richer by the decision of Surrogate Fitzgerald that the artist's will is valid. The will was marked "part American; part German" was full of bad spelling and grotesque features, but the Surrogate held that the testator who wrote it himself had sufficient capacity to make a will.

The expected has happened. A comic opera called "The Cannibal Queen," has been written and privately sung, in which Queen Lil and the revolution in Hawaii furnish the leading character and the incidents.

"Pension checks cashed," is a usual sign in many sorts of small shops in lower Sixth avenue, just after pensioners receive their quarterly payments. Cigar stores and small restaurants seem to make a specialty of this business, and, of course, there is something in it for the obliging money changer. New York dealers are seldom so altruistic as to make a business of pure accomodation.

Possibly it was at the solicitation of his pretty wife, that Mr. John Jacob Astor decided to build a chapel instead of a stable on the corner of Madison avenue and 65th street after the courts had decided that he had a right to put up the stable if he wanted to. The chapel, when completed, will be given to Trinity parish.

A beautiful German baroness is making a collection of the photographs of her contemporaries who are likewise beautiful women. Mrs. William Waldorf Astor inherited from her late mother-in-law a similar album of pictures of beautiful American women, a large number of whom, it is hardly necessary to say, are New Yorkers.

ROGER LEWIS.

He Escaped Ennui.

"I used to stop at an American-plan hotel whenever I came to New York,' said an out-of-town resident, "but now I go to one run on the European plan, or on both plans, and simply take a room and board out. As likely as not, I get my breakfast at my hotel; it depends somewhat on the weather, and what time I get up, and how I feel and all that. I get my luncheon wherever I may happen to be, and sometimes I get my dinner in that way, but usually I have decided in advance where I will dine, and I look forward to it, of course, with pleasant anticipations and usually with some little wonderment as to how it will turn out too, for generally I go to a different place every night. By this simple means I avoid the dullness of routine. I see new places and new faces daily, and I enjoy the art of many cooks."

AT WASHINGTON.

VACATION TIME NEWS FROM THE NATION'S CAPITAL CITY.

Departments Busy with the New Tariff. "Buck" Kilgore to be Retired. Gen. Harrison and the Presidency. A Novel Bimetallism Scheme.

Washington is deserted by most of the men whose official presence makes it a place to which the nation looks for great news; but, even in vacation time, it is the capital, and has much that is of interest. It is especially interesting to importers nowadays, and the Secretary of the Treasury is a busy man settling the problems that the new tariff bill has brought up, and that importers and collectors have sent to him for decision. With a tariff bill to construe at home, and foreign affairs involved with the tariff and complicated with other matters to care for abroad, there is, even in vacation, something to keep the capital alive until Congress—"gone, but not forgotten"—returns again.

One of the noted members of the Lower House who will not come back is "Buck" Kilgore, who kicked himself into fame by breaking through a locked door during Speaker Reed's quorum-counting days. Mr. Kilgore is tall and straight, with a fresh, ruddy skin and snow-white hair and chin whiskers, and with an amiable disposition and great story-telling abilities, which have made for him a large circle of friends in and out of Congress. As an objector he takes rank with Mr. Holman of Indiana, and as a kicker he is an easy first. Col. Kilgore takes his defeat philosophically. He remarked with a laugh:

"It's all right so far as I am concerned. My bleeding country will be the only sufferer."

His defeat is said to be due largely to his friendship for the President and his action in support of the policies which Mr. Cleveland believed to be best for the Democratic party. He voted for free wool, of which his district is a large producer, and for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

People in Washington never get tired of discussing the probable candidacy of Gen. Harrison in 1896, and there are many who believe that, like President Cleveland, he will be his party's candidate in three successive campaigns. The belief as to his duplication of Mr. Cleveland's success on the third trial depends somewhat upon the politics of the person considering it; but that he is likely to have a third chance is a theory with many supporters.

Gen. Michener, a warm friend of the ex-President, while in town recently said that Gen. Harrison does not desire a renomination, and would not accept one unless it should come to him with practical unanimity. Gen. Michener further said that after President Harrison's defeat he called at the White House one day and told that gentleman that many leading Republicans hoped to see him the nominee of the party again in 1896. Raising his hand, as if to ward off an impending blow, the President replied:

"No more of that. Four years of the Presidency has been sufficient for me. My ambition has been fully satisfied. The White House is associated in my mind with the greatest sorrow of my life. I shall be glad to leave it and I have not, nor do I ever expect to have, the slightest desire to re-enter it as President."

Substantially the same statement Gen. Michener says, was made to him at a later date.

Now that one session of the Fifty-third Congress—the Long one with a big L—is done, people are speculating on the next, predicting tariff changes and no tariff changes, and a score of other legislative acts of greater or lesser importance. Among the certainties is the assurance that a monster petition will be presented by Representative Murray of South Carolina, the only colored man in either House, praying for the restoration of the rights of political suffrage in the District of Columbia. It will be signed by a majority of the negroes of the district, headed by Frederick Douglass and ex-Senator Bruce. This move grows out of the refusal of the Commissioners of the District to appoint a colored man as one of the members of the Board of Assessors, recently created by act of Congress. The colored people made a stubborn fight for the Assessorship, and now that that has been denied them, no offices are left, and they propose to memorialize Congress for the restoration of the right of suffrage in the District. When the suffrage was in vogue in the District the negroes were an important factor in the government, and a part of the patronage was accorded them.

A man of the name of Barnes, hailing from Brooklyn, has submitted for consideration a variety of silver coins containing a quantity of gold sufficient to establish the ratio of value. They were his own production, and consisted of a Mexican dollar, half dollar, and quarter. A small part of the coin had been punctured, and the opening extended to admit the desired quantity of gold to establish the ratio between the metals. He exhibited his work as an example of what is by some financiers regarded as the true solution of practical bimetallism.

The Bow-Legged Man.

Do not revile the bow-legged man, for he plays an important part in this world of ours. It is estimated that 40 per cent of mankind are bow-legged, so, numerically, this class is entitled to great respect. Bow-legs invariably accompany a robust physique; we find them one of the conspicuous features of athletes. Comedians are almost always bow-legged. Of the bow-legged geniuses to which humanity points with pride the most illustrious examples are Caesar, Horace, Napoleon, Wellington, Schopenhauer, Washington Irving and Cavaur.—Chicago Record.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious developments of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail

FAMOUS ATHLETES.

MILO OF GREECE, WINNER OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES, A STRONG MAN.

It is Doubtful If the Ancient Athletes Equalled Those of To-Day. No Chance For Comparison. Topman Easily Outdone.

William Robertson, in an article in the New York Advertiser on famous athletes has the following:

A celebrated athlete who flourished about 500 B. C. was Milo, of Crotona, a Greek town in the south of Italy. In his case also we have nothing recorded by which we can form any accurate idea of his strength. He was victor six times at the Olympic games, and among the things attributed to him are the following: Binding a cord round his head, he could break it by retaining his breath and swelling out his veins; with his elbow resting on his side he defied any one to open his closed fist, standing on an oiled quoit he defied any one to push him off it. The last is sheer nonsense, the first two indefinite. Samson or Sandow of the present day can bind chains around their arms, and by swelling their muscles can burst the chains easily, which I consider a much harder thing to do than breaking a cord—that would be child's play for them. I have seen Samson break a silver quarter in two with his fingers. Let any one try to do it and he will find out what an enormous power it requires to bend or break it.

Milo was also credited with having carried a four-year-old heifer through the Stradium of Olympia, killed it with a blow of his fist, and afterward ate it, all in one day. There are several men of today who are credited with the power to kill an ox with a blow of the fist. Now, unless the heifer was four times his own weight, it was no great feat to carry it, and if it was four times his own weight, then it was impossible for him to have eaten it in a day.

Coming to more recent times, we find Thomas Topman, an Englishman, who exhibited about 1740. He was about five feet, ten inches in heigth, and weighed in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, and was very strongly built. Topman's feats were feats of real strength, and he is the first performer that could bear comparison with those of the present day. Here are two of the best records of real strength recorded of him. He stood on a platform which had two parallel bars at a convenient height on his right and left, on which to place his hands. Below him on a lower platform were three barrels of water, weighing together about 1,736 pounds. These being bound together, a chain from them passed through the platform on which Topman stood, and was attached to a belt that passed over his neck and shoulders; he then lifted the whole by straightening his arms and legs. His other genuine record was lifting by seizing with his hands a frame, on which rested a stone weighing 800 pounds.

It is my candid opinion that there are men living at the present time of greater personal strength than any Milo, Samson or Topman. We will now place the following records against Topman's lift of 1,835 pounds. In this country some twenty years ago several athletes gave their attention to devising harness for lifting heavy weights, with the following results: Dr. S. W. Winship lifted 2,600 pounds; John J. Lucus 2,700 pounds; A. A. Butts 2,737 3-4 pounds, and William B. Curtis, at present editor of the Spirit of the Times, 3,239 pounds—1,403 pounds more than Topman's.

There are generally from half a dozen to a score of athletes, each proclaiming himself the strongest man on earth. Here are some of them: Samson, Kennedy, Sandow, Cyclops, Ajax, Attila, the brothers, Samson and Hercules and Louis Cyr, who, in the writer's opinion, is really the strongest man in the world to-day.

An Enthusiastic Fisherwoman.

The killing of elephants is going on at such a rate in South Africa, that there is a prospect of the animal becoming extinct. The future South African may have to go to some large civilized city in order to see the elephant.

A Million Dollar Stamp Collection.

The most indefatigable stamp collector is probably Dr. Farrara, an Italian nobleman, who resides in Paris, and who keeps two clerks to look after his collection, which has an estimated value of $1,000,000, and cost him nearly half that sum.

The War Lord a Composer.

The "Song to Aegir, music and words by William II., German Emperor, King of Prussia," &c., will be published by a German firm early in October. The Kaiser really wrote the words and music, which is said to resemble in general style the "Wacht am Rhein," and also designed the title page.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

USEFUL AND BREEZY SUGGESTIONS ON STYLISH COSTUMING.

The Latest Hints About Skirts, Sleeves, and Bodices. Skirts Continue Plain, But Sleeves are More Fanciful Than Ever. A Striking Costume.

If you are thinking of dress, and what woman passes a week without, here are some timely suggestions:

Plain spotted muslin over a silk slip, the bodice made with a crossed fichu, and satin or velvet waistband has a very refreshing appearance. Alpaca for traveling dresses is very much in vogue. Such dresses are made very plainly, the skirt having a deep hem and several rows of stitching. They are made of all shades—black, beige, loutre, and carmelite. Alpaca is also used very much for bicycle costumes as the smooth surface does not retain the dust.

Skirts remain simple and plain notwithstanding many attempts that have been made to introduce drapery, and from all on dits the plain skirt will be good style during the coming season. Many of the new skirts are not lined through, but have some stiff material at the bottom. They are cut to clear the ground, and have outside pockets, fashioned like envelopes, placed on the skirt, and piped around. They can really be used to hold anything required, the flap being buttoned down.

The skirts are so extremely plain, and waists and sleeves are so elaborate that it seems as if the whole attention and time of the modiste were taken up in their arrangement. A remarkably pretty sleeve for a bolero jacket is fashioned of a full fold of the jacket, is lined with silk, and is open at the top, showing the puffed silk muslin sleeve underneath. The Y vette sleeve is very fetching. The close sleeve in embroidered or figured silk, is trimmed with a scarf draping of the dress material clasped on the shoulder with a silk loop, and fastened at the elbow into a knot with handkerchief ends. Another silk sleeve has lace or grenadine draped away from the puff and forming the lower part of the sleeve. One of lace to the elbow opens from shoulder to elbow showing the embroidered puff beneath. These are but a few of the very artistic and beautiful fashions in sleeves one sees every day.

The extra bodices needed to freshen up the wardrobe, so as to finish out the season, are extremely beautiful. One of blue ribbed silk and white moire is close fitting, with a V-shaped opening. The broad revers and collar are faced with white moire, and the fluted basque is confined with a broad, moire belt. The balloon sleeves are finished with two kerchief ends and a long buckle, in keeping with the huge buttons on the belt.

A very striking costume is made of crepon of the shade known as rose trimiere (hollyhock). It had a plain and very full skirt, gigot sleeves, a plain bodice, and a square collar composed of the crepon. The long sash was fastened under the collar and tied with one knot at the waist, falling to the feet. It was heavily fringed, and was of a dull, dark red. The large poke hat of black was trimmed with feathers of the shades of the gown.

The days are not far behind us when the children had no distinctive styles of their own. As soon as the little white frocks were laid aside they were miniature men and women. Such days are surely past. The styles of the children are as truly their own now as they are serviceable and dainty. The changes are slight from season to season, except from lawn and batiste to cashmere and flannel.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

The Trolley Car Treatment.

We do not know, but we strongly suspect that our electric railways are encouraging the car cure. In fact, Europeans are gravely discussing the effects of electric railways on rheumatism, and many sufferers take the car cure with regularity and supposed benefit. They get as near the motor as possible and cast longing eyes on the trolley. As a noted and eminent English physician gave as the result of his life's observation "that fully two-thirds of the ailments of humanity were purely imaginary," we can readily see how the car cure for rheumatism is very efficacious.—Atlanta Constitution.

NEW EVIDENCE
Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.
A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.
The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,
Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill
can be consulted daily (except Thursdays) on all CHRONIC, OBSTINATE AND COMPLICATED diseases of the human system of whatever name and nature, at his office and residence,
No. 144 Crescent Avenue.

Deafness, Catarrh and Diseases of the Head, Throat and Lungs successfully treated.

Piles of the most aggravated nature radically and permanently cured in a few weeks, without pain or detention from business, and all other rectal diseases are treated with equal success.

Mental and Nervous Derangements Epilepsy, Diseases of the Skin and Blood, Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Scrofulous Affections.

Diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Nerves and Bladder are successfully treated, even when other medical skill has failed.

C. A. R. ENCAMPMENT
Hosts of Veterans Arriving at Pittsburg.

The Boys in Blue Enthusiastically Received by the Populace — Familiar Army Airs Played by Many Bands—Louisville People Working Hard for the Next Encampment.

Pittsburg, Sept. 10.—The arriving hosts of the Grand Army played havoc yesterday with Pittsburg's reputation as a latter-day champion of Puritanical Sabbath. In the morning the strains of the Star Spangld Banner, Marching Through Georgia and Auld Lang Syne pealed forth by brass bands, mingled with the chimes of old Trinity as they summoned the worshippers with the doxology; while it is to be feared that many a pulpit exhortation was temporarily drowned last night by the chorus of the populace in greeting the boys in blue from eastern points.

The in-pour commenced soon after daybreak when a Pennsylvania train of six sections brought in the advance guard of the department delegations from California, Montana, Nebraska, Illinois and Indiana. Notwithstanding the early hour a detachment of the National guard, with an ample representation of the citizens' reception committee, was in waiting, and the western veterans were escorted to their respective headquarters with honor and dispatch.

Throughout the morning and afternoon the regular trains were packed with visitors, although the bulk of the solid delegations are not booked to arrive until to-day. The department of the Potomac arrived last night and, headed by the famous Old Guard in their big fur chapeaus, marched down Smithfield street amid frantic cheers from the crowd that packed the thoroughfare.

The first arrivals of the Michigan contingent, and who came in a little later, met with an equally good reception. So did the various posts from the surrounding points in Pennsylvania and Ohio. In point of numbers the arrivals were fully up to expectations. To-day the rush will be on in earnest.

If there is a man, woman or child in Pittsburg or Allegheny that does not possess a gorgeous badge declaring for Louisville as the location for the next encampment, it is their own fault. To-day the small army of its citizens' committee have been scattering them like snowflakes. They have pre-empted headquarters, three of the largest rooms in a hotel and six rooms in as many more hostelries, while committees loaded down with badges and soft phrases lay in wait for every trainful of veterans.

There seems to be an impression today that they are using their ammunition too early in the fray and that they will be lacking in reserve force when the men who do the voting get together. Meanwhile tthe advance representatives from St. Paul, the only other city so far in the race, are sawing wood, so far as the crowd is concerned and have succeeded in gathering in a half dozen influential delegates from as many departments.

Few veterans of national reputation came in yesterday. Gen. Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin, was an early arrival. So was Private Dalzell, of Ohio, and Corporal Tanner got in from Washington in time for supper. Mrs. Sarah C. Mink and Mrs. Sarah C. Phillip, respectively national president and national secretary of the Women's Relief corps, arrived in the afternoon and opened the headquarters of the organization. The heat and humidity of the atmosphere was intolerable throughout the day but no serious prostrations were reported by the medical emergency corps.

WESTERN TOWNS THREATENED,
Fire Fanned by the Wind May Destroy Them.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 10.—Last evening a report was received at the Great Northern dispatchers' office that the towns of Mora and Ground House, nineteen miles this side of Hinckley, were both on fire and doomed to destruction. The operator at Mora informed the office here that he would leave his post and lock the office. Citizens had gathered about the depot and were prepared to flee from the threatened danger. Many had already left for places of safety, and he was getting his family ready to go. At about 8 o'clock another dispatch stated that the heavy winds which have been fanning the flames all day had taken another direction and Mora might possibly escape. At Soule station a large sawmill and lumber yard were wiped out. The people at Mora had ample warning of the approaching fires and if the fire did enter the town they have found safety in Snake river.

Failed To Nominate?
Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 10.—After being in session five days and taking 501 ballots the sixth district democratic congressional convention at Guin adjourned without nominating a candidate. It was decided to hold a primary election Sept. 22, and the winner in the primary will be declared the nominee. It is believed that by this plan Congressman Bankhead will win.

Burned To Death In Jail.
Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 10.—Thomas Gerrold, of Hurley, was arrested here on the charge of drunkenness. An hour after being imprisoned the jail was in flames and the prisoner was burned to a crisp. He is supposed to have started the fire himself. The victim came to Hurley recently from Ashland.

Count of Paris Mourned For.
London, Sept. 10.—The Berlin correspondents say that the German dailies speak of the Count of Paris as an amiable man who never expected and probably never wished to become king. The Vienna press makes similar comments. The Spanish court has gone into mourning for eighteen days.

Collections for Fire Sufferers.
Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 10.—At the request of Archbishop Ireland all the Catholic churches in the city donated their entire collections to the benefit of the fire sufferers yesterday.

An Address Issued to the Democrats of the State.
New York, Sept. 10.—A special from Columbia, S. C., says: South Carolina now has two parties, each claiming to be the democratic party. Since the Tillmanites held an exclusive convention of themselves and nominated a candidate, sentiment in favor of a reorganization on lines distinct from the present organization, of which Senator Irby is state chairman, has been rapidly growing. Its growth received a great impetus when Senator Butler declined to submit to the verdict of the recent primaries, and one week ago it took shape by the holding of a conference, representing most of the counties of the state, in this city. The proceedings of the conference were kept secret until last night, when an address to the democrats of the state was made public.

The address recites that the leaders of the present organization have attempted to commit the party to populistic ideas and have brought it into contempt in this state.

The new organization will claim recognition of the national executive committee on the grounds that Tillman's followers are populists, and that Tillman has intimated his intention to go over to the populists himself, taking his followers with him. It is possible that no general fight will be made this year, except for members of the legislature in certain counties.

DR. BURTSELL HOME.
Given a Public Reception by Kingston's Citizens.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A grand reception was given the Rev. Richard Lalor Burtsell by the parishoners of St. Mary's church yesterday. In the morning hundreds were turned away from the church where a special service was held. A choir of thirty-five voices augmented by a large orchestra, rendered Wiegand's mass in "A" minor. Dr. Burtsell celebrated mass and told his parishioners of his delight in being with them again and that he hoped to remain here. In the afternoon the Liscomb Opera house was packed when a public reception was given Dr. Burtsell. Addresses of welcome were made by Surrogate James A. Betts, Acting Mayor Hamburger, John W. Salzmann, representing the board of trade, and others. Dr. Burtsell also made an address, in which he told of his visit to Rome, his treatment there and that his mission was not, as generally claimed, to seek reinstatement as rector of the Church of the Epiphany in New York city.

CHILI WILL NOT SELL.
China's Overtures for the Purchase of Warships Rejected.

New York, Sept. 10.—A dispatch from Valparaiso, Chili, says: There is not the least probability of Chili selling any of her warships to China, as stated in a cable dispatch from London. An offer for some of Chili's ships was made but promptly refused.

None of the vessels in the Chilian navy, with the exception of the Captain Prat, the Almirante Cochrane and the Esmeralda, compare with Japan's modern cruisers, so that even if China's overtures had been successful she would not have been greatly advantaged.

Had the executive been willing to sell the ships China wanted congress would never have consented to the disposal of any vessels except the Presidente Errazuriz and Presidente Pinto, which are small, and several others which are obsolete in style.

BLUEFIELDS ELECTIONS.
Foreign Residents If Elected Must Serve or Leave the Country.

New York, Sept. 10.—The municipal elections in Bluefields and the provincial elections for the entire Mosquito territory took place under President Zelaya's decree.

Foreign residents are eligible to office and, if elected, must serve, after swearing allegiance to Nicaragua. If they refuse they are subject to expulsion from the territory and to confiscation of their property.

It is reported that Senor Pellas, a brother-in-law of General Cabezes, has obtained the timber cutting monopoly for the Mosquito coast. If this concession has been granted him it clashes with a previous contract made by the Mosquito authorities with a Boston firm.

May Transfer To Newark.
New York, Sept. 10.—The fact that George M. Pullman has been a frequent visitor to Newark, N. J., since August 29 has been the subject of considerable speculation. Several railroad men admit that they heard of the possible transfer to Newark of the Pullman palace car works, of Pullman, Ill. Mr. Pullman, when he was last in Newark, refused to say anything about the matter.

Mrs. Drayton Wants To Be Her Children Guardian.
New York, Sept. 10.—From the petition filed by Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton with Surrogate Arnold, of New York, the defendant in the famous divorce suit will no doubt enter on a strong fight for her rights.

In her petition Mrs. Drayton alleges that although her husband has the nominal custody of their four children, he seldom visits them, but that they are in the actual charge and custody of servants employed by him. All the children are of a tender age and need the care and control of a mother, she says.

The trustees of the estate of the children, Mrs. Drayton claims, have been paying out $25,000 a year for the past two years for their maintenance, while she has been reimbursing them to the extent of $10,000 a year from her own income, and now they refuse to pay out any more money in this way.

The petitioner also declares that no proper guardian of the persons or property of the children has ever been appointed, as the law prescribes in such cases, and prays that she may be appointed temporary guardian by the surrogate until the children arrive respectively at the age of 14 years, after which a successor may be appointed to serve till the children become of age.

She asks that a citation be issued to J. Coleman Drayton and to the trustees of the will of the late William Astor to show cause why she should not be appointed such guardian.

HOOSAC TUNNEL WRECK.
Two Men Killed and Two Others Badly Injured.

North Adams, Mass., Sept. 10.—The railroad wreck a short distance from the central shaft in Hoosac tunnel, Saturday night, was one of the worst which ever took place in this vicinity. By it two men lost their lives and two others were very seriously injured. A freight train had to stop in the tunnel to repair a break on the engine. By some blunder a second freight train was permitted to follow into the tunnel before the first was out of the way, and crashed into the standing train. The two men killed were William Turpenny, Fort Edward, N. Y., brakeman, and George Minnick, Fitchburg, brakeman. The injured were Robert Clapp, Rotterdam, N. Y., engineer, injuries about pelvis and chest; Charles Fraser, Rotterdam, fireman, skull fractured, scalp badly wounded, injuries about hips and back and both hands severely burned; H. E. Bartlett, Fitchburg, brakeman, right arm cut and badly bruised. The tunnel was completely blockaded by the wreck and it was impossible to get trains through all day yesterday.

LYNCHERS INDICTED.
Accused of Killing the Six Negroes at Millington, Tenn.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 10.—The grand jury returned six true bills against M. Strickfaden, Jim Perley and Ed Smith, for murder. They are charged with being parties to the lynching of the six negroes at Millington on the night of August 31. These three men had already been arrested on bench warrants, but their indictment created considerable excitement. Following the action of the grand jury, Judge Cooper issued a bench warrant for Assistant Jailer Will Cox on a charge of perjury. Cox, who was in the ante-room waiting to appear before the grand jury, was arrested and placed in jail.

It is now reported that the mob which lynched the negroes did not consist of over ten persons, and this looks bad for Richardson, the detective, who stated that it consisted of fifty men. Ten men would not have made the attack unless they had an understanding with Richardson. The whole plot will be laid bare in a day or so—at least that is what the officers say.

LAFE PENCE ACCEPTS.
But Would Like To Succeed Senator Wolcott.

Denver, Col., Sept. 10.—Representative Lafe Pence has finally accepted the renomination of the populist convention, though under protest. He says: "I may have been misunderstood. Some kind-hearted but misinformed friend has said that my nomination to congress need not be a bar to my aspirations to the senate. But it will be. No man who is a nominee for congress should aspire to the senate. I should have liked to have gone after Wolcott, and I might have been the beneficiary. I accept the determination of my constituents, however."

Suspected Murderer Arrested.
Bradford, Pa., Sept. 10.—James W. Brown, of Olean, N. Y., was arrested here on telegraphic advices from Inspector of Police J. P. Cleary, of Rochester, N. Y. Brown is suspected of being implicated in the murder of John McGraw, a farmer, who was killed at Chili, N. Y., near Rochester, last Sunday. He denies any knowledge of the crime. He will be taken to Rochester for examination to-day.

Nearly Tore His Head Off.
Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—While Archie Sample, aged 18, was speeding his horse at the fair grounds, the wire at the judges' stand dropped and caught Sample under the chin, almost tearing his head from his shoulders. Sample was thrown violently to the ground, his thigh fractured, and was otherwise injured. His injuries are believed to be fatal.

Converted to the Catholic Church.
New York, Sept. 10.—The Roman Catholic church has gained a convert from Episcopalianism in the person of Rev. Walter Clayton Clapp. Rev. Clapp was received into the Catholic church Friday by Rev. Father Elliott, at the Paulist Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Columbus avenue and Sixtieth street. He is remaining with the priests of that church a short time as their guest.

His Course in the Case of Bob Madkins, Who Was In Danger of Being Lynched — Wants To Know What the Papers Would Have Done—His Remedy for Lynching.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 10.—Governor Elias Carr has been a little angered lately by what he deems to be the unjust criticisms of many northern papers upon his course in the case of Bob Madkins, colored, who was lately in danger of being lynched for the assault of a little white girl in Alamance county. The governor called a special session because, he says, that he is on the side of the laws and asks if the papers don't like it what would they have done? The governor proposes a remedy for lynching in the south.

"What do you think will be the ultimate remedy that we will have to have in the south as to rape between the races?"

"I think we are having the remedy now in having speedy trials, and to remedy the matter as much as possible I would suggest that it will be advisable to confine these rapists in the penitentiary at once as soon as they are arrested, until a court of justice can be held, and give them a fair trial. That would put them beyond the reach of lynchers. It would be a step in the right direction, to protect the man's life from lynching if he is put in the penitentiary right away, or as soon as possible, and given as speedy a trial as possible.

"It is exceedingly fortunate for the white women of our country that those men that are rapists don't read the northern papers, or they would mistake the conduct of the papers as endorsing their course."

Asked as to the burning in Paris, Tex., the governor said he was opposed to any such things. "I stand by the law. The law is adequate. I will do everything that I can to prevent lynching, and I shall at the same time throw no impediment in the way of bringing the criminals to justice at the very earliest moment. I would like to say in connection with bringing these men to the penitentiary that I shall recommend to the next legislature that such execution take place inside the penitentiary, in order that the criminal class may be more impressed than others."

"You say that you are going to recommend that?"

"I am going to recommend that to the next legislature."

"And will you also recommend that special legislation be made to put these people in the penitentiary to prevent lynching?"

"Yes, to prevent lynching, and I will also urge that there be as speedy a trial as possible."

"What is your feeling, governor, about the criticism of these northern papers?"

"I think it is very unjust, and I consider it exceedingly fortunate for the white women of the country that those who are guilty of the crime of assault don't read the northern papers, or there would be more assaults committed, and if they condemned the fact of assaulting more and lynching less it would have a better effect."

GEN. SARAIVA'S ESCAPE.
The False Story of His Death Disposed of.

New York, Sept. 10.—General Saraiva has been seen near Palmira, going in the direction of Corrientes. He met a government force near Povino Camp, where a fight occurred. He escaped with 500 of his men, and Generals Lima and Firmino went in hot pursuit. This disposes of the false story of his death.

Trouble for Divorced People.
New York, Sept. 10.—A special from Guthrie, O. T., says: A decision of the supreme court nullifies all divorces granted by judges in Oklahoma since March, 1893. There have been fully 400 such divorces granted, and as a large percentage of the persons so divorced have been married since they are guilty of bigamy. The persons affected are scattered throughout the United States, having come here to take advantage of the territory's laws, which permitted divorce for any one of thirteen causes after a residence of ninety days is established.

To Protect Strangers.
Dresden, Sept. 10.—English and American residents of Dresden have formed a society for the protection of strangers. Their aim is to advise newcomers and warn them against swindlers. They already have done much good in exposing the frauds commonly practiced on American visitors. The city helps pay the association's expenses. Miss Cotton has established under American auspices a knitting society for the poor.

Disastrous Fire at Roanoke, Va.
Roanoke, Va., Sept. 10.—One of the most disastrous fires that ever occurred in this city has consumed the Bridgewater building, a large three-story brick building, with its contents. By the extraordinary efforts of the fire department the adjoining buildings were saved. The cause of the fire, which started in the armory of the Roanoke Light infantry, is unknown. The total loss is about $60,000; insurance, $20,000.

Mascagni Will Remain in Berlin.
Berlin, Sept. 10.—Mascagni has telegraphed to his Berlin friends a denial of the report that he would pass next winter in New York. The management of the Berlin opera say that his "Ratcliffe" will be first performed in that city.

Gov. Pattison in Pittsburg.
Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 10.—Governor Pattison and staff left at midnight to attend the opening exercises of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment at Pittsburg. The governor will spend the week in the smoky City.

Ackerman Holds His Barrel.

(From The Elizabeth Herald.)

And now the Plainfield Ackerman is out of the Congressional race. Mr. Ackerman, being in the cement business, should have exhibited a greater degree of adhesiveness than to lower his banner ingloriously just when the Elizabeth Journal was beginning to manifest a willingness to give the Republican Congressional nomination to Plainfield. It is a bad business, too, for the boys. Ackerman is a wealthy man, and it was tacitly understood that his selection meant a heavy campaign contribution where it would do most good. The grounds assumed for the backing-down of the late ardent Ackerman are tersely given as "unforeseen business engagements"—a somewhat vague mode of saying the nomination was likely to cost the recipient more money than the honor of being defeated was worth. However, as the Elizabeth Journal has broadly told the Trenton State Gazette, the New York World, and other big and little newspapers, that Mr. Voorhees will get all the money he may want when he receives the Republican gubernatorial nomination—the details were settled in the impenetrable forests of distant Maine—probably the retrograde movement of Mr. Ackerman, right in the face of the foe, may not be as damaging financially as many wicked Democrats imagine. Mr. Ackerman may, too, though practically out of the fight, be loyal enough to the g. o. p. to give handsomely from his well-filled purse, while John Kean, Jr., is certainly already down for enough to furnish oil for night parades and appropriate transparencies, devices, mottoes and the like.

Seriously, though, we think Mr. Ackerman is a level-headed gentleman. He sees and knows that McKinleyism is dead and will never be resurrected by either party, and that the people are determined to down the trusts and extirpate the monopolies that McKinleyism has created, nourished and strengthened to the detriment of the whole people.

Just who will take Mr. Ackerman's place as congressional standard-bearer no fellow, at this writing, seems to know. John Kean, Jr., does n't want it. He has been there before, you know, and the aspiring Republicans without "barrels" are not in favor with the boys who run the primaries and build the conventions. Frank Bergen is, by long odds, the most intellectual man our friends can trot out, but he lacks the pecuniary power to rise to the political emergencies of the coming hour.

Would Not Risk His Government Contracts.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

Mr. Ackerman's withdrawal from the Congressional race will be received with as sincere regret by many of the Republicans of Elizabeth as it is by the Republicans of Plainfield and vicinity. Thus far in the controversy no man has been named, no one advocated or opposed. The Journal is therefore free to say that Mr. Ackerman was considered a very strong candidate, and the just claims of the Plainfield Republicans would have entitled him to the full delegation from this county. He presided, a year ago, at one of the county conventions in this city, and made a brief address which showed him a man able to express his political convictions briefly and effectively. That he would, in Congress, have had great influence, is undoubtedly true, for he has had experience in dealing with national legislators and his manner is such as to win for him both distinction and influence.

It is generally understood that Mr. Ackerman's reasons for declining to be a candidate for the nomination are his intimate and extensive business relations with the government.

Mr. Ackerman having withdrawn, it is announced that Plainfield has no candidate for Congress.

This then, leaves the field at this time, to four or five gentlemen who have been prominently named. Elias M. Condit of Orange is one of these. He was urged to be a candidate two years ago, but declined. He is now willing to accept if his party give him the honor. Another Essex candidate is Lawyer Barrett of Bloomfield. He is said to be a good man. Hudson County will probably present to the convention the name of Assemblyman Berry, but rather as a well deserved compliment than as a claim for the candidacy, since Bayonne had the candidate in 1892.

Union County will probably come before the convention with the expectation of securing the candidate, but upon what man the delegates will unite is not yet determined. Charles N. Fowler, chairman of the City Central Committee, a gentleman well-known and of acknowledged ability, is decidedly the favorite in this section of the county, and since Mr. Ackerman's withdrawal he seems most likely to secure the county delegation.

The gentleman who will contest this honor with him is Charles H. Griffin, who has been working with the most zealous energy to secure delegates favorable to his honorable aspirations.

This is the situation at the present hour. What new phases may develop cannot be predicted. There are 168 delegates to the convention. Of these 79 are from Union county, 16 from Bayonne, and 73 from the thirteen Essex townships which are included in the Eighth Congressional District.

It will be seen, therefore, that the man who gets the nomination will have to get it with the consent of the whole district, since no county or part of a county can control it.

Credit Where Due.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—The honor of having been awarded first premium on a collection of insects at Waverly fair, as announced in the official list and so stated in Saturday's Press, does not belong to me, but to Henry Rummel of Linden avenue, North Plainfield, in whose behalf I communicated with the Secretary of the Agriculture Society, to have the really very fine collection placed on exhibition.

If you will kindly correct the error in today's paper you will oblige,

CHARLES YAEGER.

BIG CHIMNEY SPARED.

BUT TWO MODEST DWELLINGS CONSIDERABLY DAMAGED.

Another Exhibition of Lightning's Curious Freaks—Windows Mysteriously Opened—Mrs. Donald McInnes Is Shocked.

A bolt of lightning dropped in the West End at 3:30 Saturday afternoon. It kept away from the tall chimney of the Pond Tool Works, but entered Prescott place opposite the works. It passed by the homes of the workmen and struck two unoccupied houses owned by the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company.

It came down in a slanting direction from the west and touched the peak of the house 223 Prescott place. A few of the slate shingles fell to the yard, but the greater part of the force was directed at the chimney of the next house, 226.

The bricks of the chimney were thrown about the neighborhood. A large hole was torn in the roof and splinters of slate flew as far as the lawn of Donald McInnes on Third street.

The lightning entered through the hole in the roof and crossed the attic to the space between the studding on the right side of the house. It passed down between the siding and the plaster. Reaching the kitchen it cracked the siding and ripped off the wainscoting for about six feet. Two windows were side by side in its path. The frames were twisted and splintered and the glass was smashed. They had been shut, but the electricity worked the weights and opened the sash in the centre opposite each other. The bolt then had a means of escape and did no further damage.

The people of the neighborhood were affected by the fright and shock. Mrs. Martin L. McComas who lives opposite the houses saw a ball of fire disappear in a lot nearby. Mrs. Donald McInnes's right arm was electrified, one finger feeling numb for several hours afterwards.

CLEVER CHILDREN ENTERTAIN.

They Gave This Show "All by Their Own Selves", and It Was a Great Success.

Seven girls and a boy, Eleanor Williams, Florence Taylor, Amy Burt, Ada Woodruff, Marion Egan, Florence and Cassie Lawson, and Seaman Woodruff, gave an entertainment Saturday night for the benefit of a poor woman. About 50 attended, the rain keeping many away. All were much pleased with the efforts of the children to entertain and to do good.

The entertainment was given in the barn on S. T. Lawson's place, West Seventh street, corner of Grant avenue. Mr. Lawson furnished a stage with painted background and a drop curtain ornamented with a landscape. For the audience camp chairs were provided. The children would allow no one to aid them in any way and accepted no suggestions. The tableaux presented were:

Sermon on the Sea.

A large congregation was transported from the heat to the cool, refreshing sea, through the preaching of Rev. C. E. Herring in the First Presbyterian Church last night. It was the first of the "Summer Echoes" series, and was a delightful and instructive discourse.

The text was "The sea is His"—Psalm xcv: 5, and the preacher eloquently portrayed its power and majesty, and showed it to be representative of God's infinity and providence. Man had transformed the land, but the sea was the same today as forever. On it depended the life of the earth, and it was the symbol of the perfect rest and peace to be found in God. Organist MacClymont effectively wrought soft music during the preacher's description of moonlight on the deep, and W. A. Hudson sang "Rolling in Foaming Billows" from The Creation. Next Sunday night Mr. Herring preaches on "Four Anchors".

Children's Day Free to Children.

MAN'S LEG IN HER BED ROOM.

Mrs. Henry Surprised But Not Flustered by a Midnight Intruder.

Mrs. Henry lives with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Jones, at 254 East Front street. Her bed room is on the ground floor, and she was sleeping there just at midnight last night when she was awakened by a noise.

Looking towards the window, Mrs. Henry saw a man entering the room. He had lifted the window and had one leg on the floor inside when he was discovered. His hat was a black derby and his coat a dark cutaway.

Mrs. Henry did not lose her presence of mind but went to the window and shoved the man out, calling at the same time, "Sam, bring me a pistol".

The man was frightened and ran down Front street in a hurry. Policeman Scheimer came up shortly afterwards and Mrs. Henry reported the occurrence to him.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Muddy roads kept the Crescents from going to Clinton yesterday.

The events for the Crescent meet Sept. 29 will not be decided upon until after the election of the new Board tonight.

Two Jersey City cyclists who were damaged by a fall on the Netherwood hill yesterday were repaired in Reynolds's Pharmacy.

The New York Sun libels Jersey marshals and justices by saying they pocket the fees collected from bicyclists without lights.

The little stone bridge between Cranford and Garwood is made a trap for cyclists, by the stretching of a rope across at night.

The Crescent track did not suffer as much as usual from the storm Saturday. The high bank was but slightly damaged. Repairs began today.

The three Spalding-riding Crescents who were to race in Flushing Saturday were disappointed by the rain. The Mercury meet will probably be postponed for a second time until October.

William Nelson has left his place in William H. Rogers's cycle shop and gone to work at driving wells with his father, W. J. Nelson. Lewis Peterson, the Crescent gatekeeper, takes his place.

George Benedict of Summit avenue fell from his wheel when it slipped on the car track at the corner of Somerset street and Grandview avenue at 10 this morning. He struck his left leg and had to be taken home in a carriage.

A young Plainfielder rode on his wheel to South Plainfield last night and fell in with a crowd congenial at first but quarrelsome later in the night. At 5 this morning he was seen in the road by the village nursing a bruised head and face. At 7 he was able to ride away.

Monte Scott returned from Binghamton Saturday with two diamonds, having won a second and a third. He may be able to exchange his third for a better prize, a protest having been entered in the race he won it in. Scott went to Springfield, Mass., today. He will return to race in the postponed Hackettstown meet next Monday.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Brotherhood of the Church of the Holy Cross will resume their regular sessions Wednesday.

The first Fall meeting of the Gold-Dust Band is being held this afternoon at 4 in the First Baptist Church.

A new member was admitted by letter at the Communion service of Grace M. E. Church yesterday morning.

The Earnest Workers of Bethel Chapel will give an entertainment Thursday night, Oct. 4, of which more will be said in the future.

A very large congregation greeted Dr. Yerkes in the first Baptist Church yesterday, on his return from his vacation. The clergyman preached one of his usual excellent sermons.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

At the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, this evening, the by-laws of the club will come up for adoption, the uniform question will be discussed, and arrangements for the coming entertainment completed.

At the meeting of the Plainfield W. C. T. U. which is being held today, the following officers were re-elected for the coming year:

President—Miss Cara L. Peck.
Corresponding Secretary—Miss Mineola Tomlinson.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Emma French.
Treasurer—Mrs. B. K. Case.

Died of Colic.

A brown horse from Perth Amboy, driven to a buggy containing a man and a woman, died from colic in the yard by Ellis Campbell's club-house at 1 yesterday afternoon. The animal fell on Park avenue and was dead before Dr. Pocock reached the place.

The Titsworth Will Case.

The Middlesex Orphans Court was busy Saturday with the hearing of the Titsworth will case. The will is that of the late Jacob R. Titsworth of Dunellen, and a caveat has been filed against it by Mr. Titsworth's son, Calvin D. Titsworth. This morning the court heard the testimony brought forward by the executors. It was principally that of the subscribing witnesses, and of the executor himself, William M. Stillman, the lawyer who drew the will and called in the witnesses to sign it, introducing them to Titsworth. The case was then adjourned till September 25, and in the meantime the caveator will decide whether he desires to make the contest.

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

IF
The Daily Press were not a good thing, do you suppose so many merchants would advertise in it?

Now is Your Chance.
Clothing at greatly REDUCED prices.
This sale will only continue until September 20 at the present price.
Yours respectfully,
C. SCHEIPFLIN & C

PICTURESQUE PLAINFIELD DESCRIBED AS NEW JERSEY'S RICHEST TOWN.

It Combines Comforts of the City and Charms of the Country, and is Steadily Growing—Some of the Social and Other Features That Have Made It Famous—Its Beautiful Homes.

(From The New York Sunday World.)

Plainfield, the picturesque home of so many New York business men, has never had a boom, but even during periods of depression like that which is passing away, it has grown steadily, until now she will not yield the palm to any splendid New York suburb. Today she can rightly boast of being one of the loveliest and healthiest little cities in the country. It is also probably true that she numbers more rich and moderately wealthy people in her population and has more handsome homes than any other city of similar size.

THE BABCOCK BUILDING.

There are miles upon miles of streets restricted to high-class residences, lined by fine old trees, with lovely homes and beautiful grounds. With North Plainfield, which is virtually a part of the city, Plainfield has now a population of 18,000 people, nearly all of them attracted from New York and Brooklyn by the beauty and healthfulness of the place and its easy accessibility to New York, which is reached by ordinary trains in one hour and by fast trains in 45 minutes.

With a porous soil, pure air, pure water and the finest roads in the country and no mosquitoes, why should n't Plainfielders be healthy and happy? The remedial quality of the air in throat and lung troubles is well known to New York and Brooklyn physicians, who send many patients to Plainfield. The water is soft, pure and sparkling. It is drawn upon to supply adjoining towns, including Elizabeth.

Plainfield has all city improvements except sewerage, and the latter has been provided for and contracts for the work will be entered into within a month. A fine trolley line runs through the main business streets of Plainfield and North Plainfield and will shortly be extended so as to cover the major portion of the city.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey gives 1,500 commuters a magnificent train service. Many of these commuters ride in palatial club cars furnished exclusively to commuters' clubs. They enjoy friendly intercourse, card-playing and other social diversions which make the ride to New York business men a pleasure. Between thirty and forty trains run daily each way. Between 6 and 9 in the morning eleven trains leave Plainfield for New York, while in the afternoon, between 3:30 and 7, twelve trains leave New York for Plainfield.

In the management of her fiscal affairs Plainfield furnishes a conspicuous example which it would be well for every town and city in the country to follow. She has no bonded debt, and yet there has been no interruption to her growth during the entire period of her corporate existence. The streets, which are kept clean and in fine repair, are macadamized and lighted by electricity. Twenty-five years ago, when other towns and cities were plunging into debt to make improvements, the people of Plainfield adopted the cash basis. This principle has never been departed from, and today Plainfield has all modern improvements, no public debt and comparatively a low tax rate.

Probably no city in the State can boast of a population so thoroughly alive to the importance of good government as Plainfield. As a result the offices are filled by representative men, and no such thing as spoils has ever been known in the municipal government. Plainfield's public schools are famous. She also has several private schools of sufficient reputation to attract pupils from all parts of the United States.

A handsome music hall, seating 800 people, furnishes amusements, and standard attractions never pass by Plainfield.

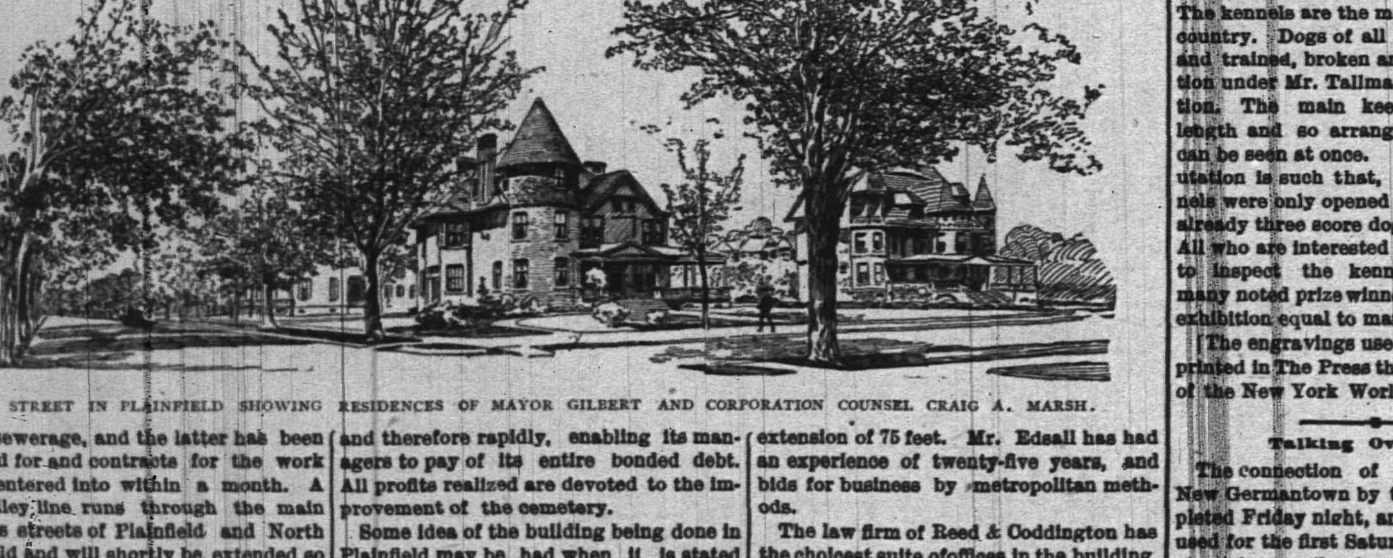
The Male public library has over thirteen thousand books on its shelves and connected with it is an art gallery containing many valuable pictures and works of art. The fashionable Summer resort, the Hotel Netherwood, is inside the city limits, and the Hotel Albion, in the fashionable part of the town, is open all the year. Plainfield has two flourishing national banks and a savings bank.

The Potter and Scott printing press works, the Pond tool works and other factories give employment to about fifteen hundred men.

Socially, the city has many resources, including several musical organizations and an amateur dramatic club, which has included in its membership many well-known society women. Lectures, musicales and readings by the famous incorporated Women's Afternoon Club are open to non-subscribers upon the payment of a trifling fee. The club bids fair to rival Sorosis. It has 125 members and there are 60 on the waiting list. Mrs. Isaac P. Miller is the President. The Union County Country Club stands high and has a large and influential membership. Entertainments in its Casino during the season are one of the city's social features.

Of handsome churches, rich congregations and eloquent preachers, Plainfield has her full share, being second to no other city or town in the State.

Plainfield is justly proud of the beautiful Hillside Cemetery, on the range of hills to the east of the city. The cemetery is beautifully located and commands a fine view of the surrounding country. It is a beautiful tribute to the dead. It was laid out in 1887. It is not a private enterprise. Lots were sold reasonably and therefore rapidly, enabling its managers to pay of its entire bonded debt. All profits realized are devoted to the improvement of the cemetery.



A STREET IN PLAINFIELD SHOWING RESIDENCES OF MAYOR GILBERT AND CORPORATION COUNSEL CRAIG A. MARSH.

Some idea of the building being done in Plainfield may be had when it is stated that three buildings just about completed cost $300,000. The Babcock Building cost about $150,000, the Young Men's Christian Association Building about $50,000, and the magnificent new home of F. A. Barnaby $100,000.

The house on the corner, shown in the illustration of "A Street in Plainfield", is the home of Mayor Gilbert. Adjoining it, to the right, is the home of Corporation Counsel Marsh.

The Board of Trade is an active factor in the city's affairs. George W. Rockfellow, ex-Mayor, President of the Board of Health, is Chairman, and other leading members are Lawyer J. B. Coward, ex-City Clerk, who has made a great success in real-estate transactions and in the handling of trust funds; J. A. Hubbard, for twenty-five years City Assessor; William M. Stillman, a rising young lawyer and son of one of the city's founders; E. R. Pope, banker and ex-Postmaster; A. M. Griffen, the leading hardware man; Wodiston & Buckle, leading painters; A. D. Thompson, the big real-estate man, and J. Frank Hubbard, a retired manufacturer, who has been a Freeholder of Union County for nearly a score of years.

Watchung Park, a block from which is pictured here, is a lovely spot near the centre of the town. It is high, with nice surroundings, and only a few minutes by electric cars, which pass it, from the depot. Fairview and Watchung avenues, its main streets, are macadamized. Although the property was opened only last December, ten fine houses have been completed, four are under construction and others are planned. Watchung Park is restricted. The property has city water, electric lights and gas.

WATCHUNG PARK, NORTH PLAINFIELD.

A. D. Thompson, of 147 North avenue, Plainfield, the owner, has done much towards building up the city. He handles only desirable property. This is also shown by his unimproved property on Belvidere avenue, Netherwood, a block from the hotel. On one side of it is the splendid home of J. W. Reinhart, retired receiver of the Atchison road, and on the other a beautiful residence.

Charles Hyde, the retired millionaire, owns 300 acres of property in and adjoining Plainfield, and has kept it intact while building has gone on all around it. To the delight of people who have the city's interest at heart he has finally begun to place some of the most desirable of his property on the market, through J. F. MacDonald, of 186 East Front street.

A particularly desirable tract, facing on Franklin avenue, near the centre of Plainfield, has been plotted and Jackson and Manning avenues are being opened through it. Franklin avenue is 66 feet wide, with a double row of large shade trees. Sandford avenue is built up with handsome homes clear up to this property, and three blocks away Watchung Park is being built.

The property which is restricted, is high and nearly all terraced.

Mr. MacDonald has aided considerably in building up Plainfield. A year ago he put 147 lots on the market, three minutes' walk from the Netherwood depot, and has since sold all except about twenty-five, and eight houses are now under course of construction and others are projected.

Charles W. McCutchen, the flour merchant of 95 Broad street, New York, has perhaps the finest home in North Plainfield, at Rockview and Washington avenues.

George Thatcher, the minstrel, is as popular in Plainfield, where he has a lovely home, as with metropolitan audiences. He opened his season there recently to a house that was jammed.

Plainfield is justly proud of the Babcock Building on West Front street, which has just been completed and is probably the finest building to be found in any city of its size in the country.

The corner store in this mammoth building, the finest location in Plainfield, is occupied by George L. VanEmburgh & Son, dealers in dry goods, notions and house furnishings. The senior member of the firm has been a representative Plainfield merchant for forty years, 16 of which have been spent in Plainfield; and his son, F. M. VanEmburgh, was for fourteen years with a large dry goods house in New York.

Seeley Edsall, who has the largest dry goods house in New Jersey outside of Newark and Jersey City, occupies half of the ground floor and basement of the Babcock Building, as well as an extension of 75 feet. Mr. Edsall has had an experience of twenty-five years, and bids for business by metropolitan methods.

The law firm of Reed & Coddington has the choicest suite ofoffices in the building. The firm is composed of Charles A. Reed and City Judge Wm. A. Coddington.

Directly opposite the station is the real-estate and fire insurance office of E. C. Mulford, who has been in the business since 1876. He was formerly a master builder and is himself a heavy holder of real-estate, owning in addition to other property the handsome building in which his offices are located. His carriage is always at the door to show people around. In Mr. Mulford's lists you can find anything to rent from modest flats to beautiful homes and building sites in all sections. Recently he sold a dwelling site for $27,500.

There are many lovely homes, surrounded by splendidly kept grounds, on the heights at fashionable Netherwood. Perhaps the highest and finest site is that occupied by the large, modern, sixteen-room Queen Anne house of Mrs. Emma Darling, which is in the midst of eight or ten acres of grounds, in fine condition. Below is a broad valley and beyond are the picturesque Watchung Mountains. It is an ideal home for a man of wealth, and Mrs. Darling, owing to her husband's death, is willing to dispose of it, as well as several of the most desirable building sites in Netherwood.

One of the most enthusiastic lovers of Plainfield is ex-Judge W. R. Codington, one of the city's leading lawyers, who was born near Plainfield and has spent his life there. Ex-Judge Codington has done considerable towards the city's development by the erection of fine business buildings, and his affection for his home county is shown in his fine country seat eight miles from town, where he was born. Besides having been City Judge, Mr. Codington has filled many positions of trust in the settlement of estates. He has a large corporation practice, being counsel to the Board of Freeholders of Union County and several municipal corporations.

J. T. Vail, the veteran real-estate agent of 177 North avenue, is confident that the finest homes in Plainfield in the near future will be built in the Watchung Mountains, which contain delightful spots for Summer residences. He has backed up his belief by securing considerable mountain property only a mile and a half from the Plainfield depot, as well as down toward Bound Brook.

Charles J. Fisk, of Harvey Fisk & Sons, bankers, 24 Nassau street, New York, has one of the finest homes and is one of the most popular men in Plainfield. Despite his protests, his friends are booming him for the office of Mayor. Mr. Fisk is a valued member of the City's Council, and takes an exceedingly active interest in municipal affairs. He would fill the office of Mayor with credit to the city and himself.

The Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company has aided materially in the improvement of Plainfield, and owns a great deal of fine property along the New Jersey Central Railroad. It has the most desirable sites for manufactories and in the matter of homes caters to people of moderate or small means. The company sells property at reasonable prices and upon the most satisfactory terms. It has small houses in various parts of the city, and can please purchasers in the matter of location.

The main office of the company is in the Central Building, 143 Liberty street, New York, but it also has an office at 209 North avenue, Plainfield, opposite the main depot. The officers are: Robert W. De Forest, President; J. Herbert Johnston, Vice-President, and George Kyte, Secretary and Treasurer.

F. S. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank, the leading financial institution of Plainfield, is building a fine Queen Anne house in Watchung Park and is interested in real estate in other parts of the town.

James C. Manning, the city's largest builder, and J. D. Runyon, the chief lumber dealer, are helping to build up Watchung Park, and both have other real-estate interests.

Among the most widely known of Plainfield institutions, is the justly celebrated Brookside Retreat for mental invalids, in the foothills of Watchung Mountains. It is conducted by Dr. Justus H. Cooley, his sister, Dr. Helen Cooley, and Dr. T. S. Davis, and their patients are from all parts of the United States. They also conduct a sanitarium for chronic diseases, on Westervelt avenue. It is constantly crowded, and next year will be removed to more commodious quarters on the side of Watchung Mountain.

William Tallman, for years a writer and an authority on dogs, and a judge at noted field trials and bench shows, with Mr. S. B. Wheeler, has established Netherwood Farm Kennels on a tract of 1,000 acres, five minutes ride from the depot. The kennels are the most complete in the country. Dogs of all kinds are boarded and trained, broken and put into condition under Mr. Tallman's personal direction. The main keenel is 133 feet in length and so arranged that every dog can be seen at once. Mr. Tallman's reputation is such that, although the kennels were only opened June 1, there are already three score dogs being cared for. All who are interested in dogs are invited to inspect the kennels, which shelter many noted prize winners, constituting an exhibition equal to many dog shows.

Talking Over Wire.

The connection of White House and New Germantown by telephone was completed Friday night, and the 'phone was used for the first Saturday. The line is about four miles long, and will prove especially valuable during the peach season.

Summer Trains Abandoned.

The Summer extra traffic over, important changes are today made in the railway time tables published in The Press.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 589 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

Dunellen.

Fred Andrews will spend his vacation in Hudsondale, Pa.

Mr. Hinebaugh of Pottersville is stopping with George Conover.

Mrs. Charles E. Staats of Plainfield spent Saturday with Mrs. Peter Staats.

Miss Carrie Herring returned to her home in Elizabeth Saturday, after visiting Mrs. Abram Dunham.

Miss May Thatcher returned to her home in Glen Gardner Saturday, after spending a few days with Miss Sally Gray.

Mrs. Joseph Eder and family, and Miss Julia Eder of New York, after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Maier, returned home Saturday.

It is understood that a registry book is to be placed in the railroad station soon, where all persons arriving and departing may record their names.

The Misses Carrie and Mamie Hunt gave a delightful musical at their home Friday evening. About twenty of their friends were present to enjoy it.

Louis Hilderbrandt, who has been fireman on the Jersey Central, from New York to Dunellen, commences today to run to Flemington with Engineer Joseph Case.

Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Kinsey report having had a delightful time during their vacation. The members of the M. E. Church gave them a hearty reception at the services yesterday.

The heavy rain on Saturday demonstrated that Dunellen's main street was not properly constructed to carry off a large amount of water. In some places the water reached from one sidewalk to the other, making the street impassable. The commissioners might think of some scheme that would remedy this evil, which would be a blessing to the town.

A large proportion of the citizens of Dunellen are anxious that the borough and township should be separated. They claim that their tax rate would not materially increase and that the advantages gained would be incalculable. The slow methods adopted by the farmers of the township are felt to be not in harmony with the more progressive spirit of those in the borough. The recent school election, it is held, gave evidence of this fact. Not realizing the importance of education among the boys and girls, they come to the polls to cast their vote against "such extravagance" as they call it. Those in favor of a dissolution of partnership are preparing to take steps toward that end.

DON'T BE DECEIVED by any crafty dealer who tells you he has something else that's "just as good" as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Is it probable? The only medicine which is guaranteed by it's makers. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, they'll return the money.

It's a special medicine for young girls just entering womanhood; for women at the critical "change of life;" for women approaching confinement; nursing mothers; and every woman who is run-down.

Reidsville, Rockingham Co., N. C.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I want to say that your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Discovery have done me more good than the physician who has treated me. After taking your medicines, I gained several pounds. I think your "Prescription" the best medicine in the world for ladies.

To Serve Peaches and Melons.

The committees appointed for the peach and melon festival to be given by the Woman's Relief Corps in the Babcock Building Thursday evening are:

Decorating—Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Westphal.
Ice-cream—Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Mattox.
Peaches and melons—Mrs Radan, Mrs. Kline.
Cake—Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Terry.
Entertainment—Mrs. Leland, Mrs. Walter Walker, the Misses Nash, Westphal, Graves, Smith, Howlett and Hargraves.

Mrs. M. C. Dobbins is the Chairman.

All Eyes on Plainfield.

Plainfield is winning fame on her merits. Two Sundays ago the New York Times devoted half a page to her praise, and yesterday published a special article describing and illustrating the elegant residence of Craig A. Marsh, as representative of Plainfield's style of homes. The World yesterday published the illustrated article which The Press reprints today.

FOR THE relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

Killed Where They've Shadowed Death

George Henry is felling three huge trees in the North Plainfield Cemetery—two in the Dr. Craig plot, and one adjoining. Block and tackle are used, to prevent the breaking of headstones. It is estimated the trunks will yield five cords of wood.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

GERMAN LAND FIGHT

The Agrarians Still Sullen and Discontented.

The Emperor Eager To Conciliate Them — Many Big Land Owners Want To Renew Their Political Allegiance to the Crown—Stubborn Opponents Will Be Boycotted.

Berlin, Sept. 10.—The noblemen at the head of the agrarian league have given no clear sign of response to the emperor's speech. Whatever their intentions may be, they are still sullen and discontented.

While the emperor's Koenigsberg programme was under consideration weeks ago, overtures were made to the great landlords of East Prussia. The emperor indicated beyond doubt his eagerness to conciliate them. It was understood that these overtures had been successful and that Chancellor von Caprivi, to celebrate the end of the agrarian feud, would accompany his majesty to Koenigsberg. In fact, the emperor's advances were rejected by the East Prussian nobility, who resigned themselves doggedly to a severe public reproof. Even this might have been averted or moderated, had the leading aristocrats of the Koenigsberg district joined in the popular reception of the imperial party on September 4. The empress had not visited Koenigsberg before, and all loyal Germans thought the agrarians would be courteous enough to sink temporarily their political differences and welcome her cordially. The agrarians thought otherwise. Among those receiving the imperial couple there was not a conspicuous member of the Kanitz, Mirbach or Dohna families. The enthusiasm of the popular welcome left their absence unnoticed by the general public, although in the imperial circle there was no lack of bitterness and contempt. To the emperor the snub was no surprise. He had already given Count Doenhof a special mark of favor. As this gentleman has got the cold shoulder from his neighbors ever since he cut loose from the agrarians and drew near the emperor the emperor was not expecting abundant agrarian courtesy.

Amid the varying press comments on the probable effect of the speech are a few which touch the main question: "Will the Prussian nobility persist in their opposition?" The authors of these pertinent articles agree that the emperor's appearance in the political arena will disarm many big land owners, who for some time have followed Mirbach, Ploetz and company very reluctantly and have been eager to renew their political allegiance to the crown. The emperor's war cry—"For religion, morality and order against the forces of revolt"—is taken as a direct appeal for support in the coming conflict between the government on one side and the social democrats and anarchists on the other. The liberals fear that the government will not keep the bounds thus defined. They suspect that some reactionist proposal lurks behind the imperial phrases. They object, moreover, to the peculiar power which the emperor can and, if need be, will employ to discipline recalcitrants by threatening to exclude them from the official places at court and the social functions so dear to the conservative heart. That the emperor will not hesitate to declare a boycott against stubborn opponents was shown by the exclusion of Counts Mirbach and Kanitz from the Koenigsberg banquet. Very few Prussian noblemen could withstand such pressure. The Kreuzzeitung, organ of the feudal nobility, admits that the legal conclusion of the emperor's speech means the recompence of his friends and the disgrace of his adversaries. "Nevertheless," it says, "the government's economic policy so grievously affects the loyal adherents of the throne that they happily find in fidelity to their convictions the strength necessary to bear without bitterness the imperial displeasure." The Kreuzzeitung is supposed to have struck the key note of the ultimate surrender. While unwilling to yield unless their demands for more protection be granted, the big conservatives are expected to return to their allegiance, one by one, under the pretense that their loyalty must go before their economic convictions. The liberals and radicals think that some reactionist measure may be made the condition of the conservative party's return to the government fold. The radical leaders say they understand that the Prussian government has been approached by the conservatives with a proposal to abolish universal suffrage, revive the anti-socialist laws, limit the right of assembly, and suppress the right of boycott. The conservatives are said to have laid out a reactionist plan of campaign for the next session of the landtag. They will open this campaign the radicals say with a motion concerning the rights of assembly and association and will suffer no opposition from the government which will take a neutral attitude. The proposal to restrict the franchise in imperial elections comes from the extreme conservatives and has only the smallest chance of a hearing. While the Richter party are always conjuring up fears of a reaction, their forebodings are not entirely unfounded this time.

The new American tariff gets its share of attention from the press, although nobody knows the status of the negotiations between the Washington and Berlin governments. The Kreuzzeitung proposes that Germany increase the sugar premium after the French method and give effect to the petition of the beet sugar producers for retaliation. The Freisinnige Zeitung says: We hope that, for the sake of the exporters and the people at large, the government will do nothing likely to cloud Germany's economic relations to the United States. In several Austrian trades the new law has been welcomed cordially. The McKinley tariff almost killed the mother-of-pearl industry in Austria by piling up a tax that amounted to 240 percentage. Under the new rate, which is about 84 percentage, it will be possible to revive the business. The reduction of duties on gloves and Bohemian glassware has been received thankfully by the Austrian manufacturers.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,

ELECTION IN MAINE

The Republicans Sweep the State.

Chairman Manley Claims a Majority of 37,000 for Cleaves Over Johnson — Republican Congressmen Elected by Majorities Ranging from 8,000 to 9,500.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—The biennial election in the Pine Tree state for a governor, four representatives in congress and state legislature and county officers, was held yesterday.

The republicans, democrats and prohibitionists had full tickets in the field, while the populists ran a candidate for governor, candidates for congress in the first, second and third districts, and contested some of the county offices.

On governor and members of congress, the only question from the opening of the campaign has been as to the size of the republican plurality. Nevertheless the republicans waged a vigorous and aggressive campaign for the purpose of making the plurality as large as possible.

The summaries of the returns will be based on the governor vote of 1892, the candidates being: republican, Henry B. Cleaves, of Portland; democratic, Charles F. Johnson, of Waterville; prohibition, G. Hersey, of Houlton; populist, L. C. Bateman, of Searsmont.

The vote of the state for governor in 1892 was as follows:

Cleaves, republican, 67,900; Johnson, democrat, 55,397; Hussey, pro., 3,864; Bateman, pop., 2,888; and Knowlton, union labor, 201. Cleave's plurality, 12,503; Cleave's majority, 5,750.

The present republican representatives in congress had these pluralities in 1892: Reed, 1,077; Dingley, 3,648; Milliken, 1,882, and Boutelle, 4,288. Each expects a largely increased plurality.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 11.—Chairman Manley sent the following telegram to Governor Cleaves:

The republican party came in power in Maine in 1856 by giving Hannibal Hamlin 25,000 majority. Twice in the history of the party since that day it has given its candidate a majority exceeding 20,000. In 1865 it gave Samuel Cony 23,000 majority over his democratic competitor and in 1866 it gave General Chamberlain a majority of 27,000 over his democratic opponent. To day it has given you a majority exceeding 37,000 over Mr. Johnson, your democratic opponent, being the largest majority ever given. We have carried every county in the state and will have at least 127 of the 151 members of the house of representatives, which ensures the re-election of Hon. William P. Frye, to the United States senate, he having no competitor. We have elected Hon. Thomas B. Reed, Hon. Nelson Dingley, Hon. Seth L. Milliken and Hon. C. A. Boutelle to congress by majorities ranging from 8,000 to 9,500. The total vote will reach 110,000. Your vote will exceed 72,000. The people of Maine have thus in a most emphatic manner entered their protest against the deadly blight of a policy that would destroy the industrial system built up in this country by the policy of protection.

BOOSAC TUNNEL WRECK.

Another Victim of the Accident Dies of His Injuries.

North Adams, Mass., Sept. 11.—Chas. Fraser, the fireman who was injured in the railroad wreck in Hoosac tunnel Saturday night, died last night at the hospital here. Fraser was 33 years of age and had a family in Whitehall, N. Y., where his body was taken today. Engineer Clapp, the only other one seriously injured, will probably recover. A. W. Hodgkins, the telegraph operator at the West Portal, who let the second train into the tunnel before the first was out, was before the district court yesterday morning charged with manslaughter. He was held under $5,000 bonds for trial Friday morning, after the inquest has been held. He will make no statement whatever for publication.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Pathetic Scene in a Newark Court Room.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 11.—A pathetic scene occurred in court yesterday when Harry Banker, a 19-year-old youth, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing $5. His mother, a gray-haired woman of 60, rose from her seat in the court room shrieking: "Harry, my boy; oh, my Harry, you never did it and they shall not take you from me." The excitement was too much for the aged mother and she fell in a dead swoon from which she did not revive for an hour, when she found her recreant son kneeling by her side. The poor old mother's plea had touched the court and sentence on the young man was suspended.

CONVENTIONS ABOLISHED.

Reorganization of the Democrats in Hudson County, N. J.

Jersey City, Sept. 11.—The democratic provision committee appointed to reorganize the party in Hudson county last night resolved to abolish all conventions and hereafter nominations will be made direct at the primaries and any one who desires to be voted for must submit his name to the committee. No person can vote who has not been enrolled and when the ballots are counted the committee will decide who is nominated and to be voted for at the election. The enrollment will be made Oct. 2, and the primaries held Oct. 10.

Fresh Cholera Cases.

Vienna, Sept. 11.—There were eight fresh cases of cholera and four deaths in Lemberg last Friday and the epidemic has spread since then. A dispatch from Odessa says that the cholera does not abate there.

Lucky Editor Pinney.

Winsted, Conn., Sept. 11.—By the death of Miss S. Elizabeth Gillet, on Saturday, ex-Editor Lucien V. Pinney is left over $100,000. Relatives will probably contest the will.

No Incorporation.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 11.—A vote was taken in Fishkill on village incorporation. The question was decided adversely, by a vote of 72 for to 115 against.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

FIGHTING BRECKINRIDGE.

Manifesto Issued by the Owens Club of Franklin County, Ky.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 11.—The Owen's club of Franklin county has issued the following manifesto:

To the democrats of the seventh congressional district: To all well informed men, it has been a well known fact for the past ten days that W. C. P. Breckinridge was overwhelmingly defeated unless some desperate measure was resorted to to prevent it. Knowing this they are willing to resort to any methods, however unfair, to force the nomination of a candidate who is a stench in the nostrils of decent people. His leaders dug up the forgotten memories of the great civil war, a test oath, which was never administered except at the point of a bayonet. Unscrupulous as his leaders were and are; willing as they were to resort to any measure, however foul, to override the will of the people, we are glad to say that the enforcement of this military gag law has been defeated by the courage and patriotism of the intrepid leaders of the opposition; all that is necessary under the amended call of the congressional committee is for the voter to be a known democrat who has affiliated with the democratic party in the past and intends in good faith to support the nominee in the regular election in November, which has always been a party rule in all democratic primaries. Although the purpose of this amended call as proposed by Breckinridge was to frighten away from the polls men who opposed him, we assure the democracy their purpose has wholly failed and there is nothing in the call objectionable to the leaders and friends of Mr. Owen or to any democrat, but it is an acknowledgement of the certain defeat of their man Breckinridge. To insure this defeat beyond question we only ask Mr. Owen's friends to rally around his flag, march to the polls like men and cast their votes for their victorious champion.

WEAVERS' VACATION.

They Will Not Go To Work at Reduced Wages.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 11.—The fourth week of the weavers' vacation opens with indications that it will continue.

Secretary Whitehead says the weavers will not return to work under reduced wages while cloth is selling at a quarter of a cent in advance of the price at which the manufacturers said they could make both ends meet.

The secretary was asked what he thought of the manufacturers' suggestion made some days ago to the effect that the mills might be opened, under the reduction, and after a period of two or three weeks they might continue to run under the restored rate of wages if the business warranted a restoration.

He said: "That would depend altogether on what agreement the manufacturers might make. I don't think the members would go to work under the reduction if they had to work long. They might start, but I don't think they would stay long if the market went up."

Secretary O'Donnell, of the Spinners' union expresses the same views, and both men voice the feelings of the mill men and operatives.

PROBABLY MURDERED.

Two Negroes Arrested on Suspicion of Killing Phoebe Baltimore.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 11.—An investigation made to-day leads to a suspicion that Phoebe Baltimore, colored, whose body was found on the railroad track near South Beach, met with foul play. There was a cut on the throat which was apparently not made by the train. The theory is that she was murdered on account of jealousy and the body left on the track. Her companion, Gussie Hadden, and two colored men, Jack and Tom Tyrell, belonging to a gang of railroad laborers at South Beach, with whom the woman associated, have been held on suspicion in Greenwich pending the result of an inquest.

Rev. John Wriston Arrested.

Boston, Sept. 11.—Rev. John Wriston, of the Union Evangelical church, Winthrop avenue, Beachmont, was arrested here, charged with violating the statutes by solemnizing a marriage as a minister of the gospel without having been ordained. Mr. Wriston pleaded not guilty and had a continuance granted until September 19. He was held in $300 for his appearance in court on that day.

The Gold Reserve.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The gold reserve passed the $56,000,000 mark yesterday, the actual figures being $56,029,705. The gain for the day was $102,000. The lowest point the gold reserve ever reached was $52,189,500 on Aug. 8, 1894.

Death of Old Sea Captain.

Middletown, Conn., Sept. 11.—Capt. Alexander Mehaffey, of Portland, aged 61, an old sea captain, who sailed between here and Florida, is dead here. He had built several vessels for the stone trade. He leaves a wife and son.

You hear a great deal about oatmeals as good as H-O. Do you ever hear that H-O is as good as some others?

VERASTEQUI-ROMERO DUEL.

Kinsmen of the Former Have Sworn to Avenge His Death.

City of Mexico, Sept. 11.—Interest in the Verastequi-Romero duel, which was fought nearly a month ago, is kept alive by the revelation of many new facts. Moreover, eight of Verastequi's kinsmen, who have sworn to avenge his death, are trying to force Romero to meet them successively with pistols. They say they will call him out until one of them puts him out of the way.

It is known positively that Mrs. Barajas, wife of Juan Z. Barajas, a commission merchant, was the cause of the meeting. She is about 20 years old —a blonde with large blue eyes, abundant hair, and exceptionally handsome figure. Jose C. Verastequi, the commissioner of internal revenue, and Congressman Francisco Romero, both millionaires, were her best friends, but until shortly before the duel neither knew that the other was frequently with her.

Romero no sooner learned of her friendship for Verastequi than he warned him against calling again. Verastequi took no notice of the warning and one day the rivals met in Mrs. Baraja's house. There was a scene, followed by a most insulting letter from Romero to Verastequi in which the former insisted on a duel, saying that if the latter would not fight the letter would be published. Verastequi thereupon consulted his friends who advised him to fight. He did so with the result already known. At the stipulated distance of twenty paces, Romero was a dead shot, whereas Verastequi was a very poor shot at any range.

At the shooting gallery on San Felipe street the figure of a man's head, cut out of cardboard, may be seen. It is literally riddled with bullets. These perforations were made by Deputy Francisco Romero at twenty paces, firing at the word. A letter "C" may also be seen there which was formed with bullets fired by the same gentleman. Both are regarded as evidences that it was simply suicide for Verastequi to stand before Romero at twenty paces.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Almost Another Ford's Theatre Disaster at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The collapse of one of the brick piers in the basement of the large building at the corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue, to be known as the Hotel Raleigh, yesterday afternoon, followed by the breaking of one of the girders dependent on the pier for support, created much excitement. The workmen engaged on the reconstruction of the building, which for years has been known as the Palace Royal, rushed pell mell from the place, one of them dropping from the third story window. The interior walls are badly cracked and the floors are sunken. The incident was a strong reminder of the Ford's theatre disaster without any of that calamity's attending loss of life. No one was injured.

FATAL COLLISION IN FRANCE.

Heartrending Scenes Witnessed at the Wreck.

Paris, Sept. 11.—It is now found that twelve persons were killed outright and sixty others injured in the accident to the Cologne express between Noyon and Chauny Sunday. The engineer of the express stuck to his post and, though he escaped death, is badly hurt. The fireman was killed. His side of the engine and the first three carriages were shattered to pieces.

Those engaged in rescuing the wounded found many firmly held down by the wreckage and uttering agonizing cries for help.

One young girl who was saved insisted upon searching the wrecked train for her father, whose head was found to have been severed from his body.

SWINDLED ITALIANS.

The Foreman of a Gang of 27 Decamps With $500 Due Them.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 11.—Raffe Pescha, foreman of a gang of twenty-seven Italians engaged in constructing a long distance telephone wire between Middletown and New York, is missing. On Saturday he collected the money due the men, about $500, and immediately left Middletown without paying the men a cent. He is supposed to have gone to Brooklyn, N. Y., and may sail for his home near Naples. The men he has swindled are entirely destitute and hungry. They all came from the same part of Italy about four months ago.

Guttenburg's Race Track.

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 11.—It is reported here that the Guttenburg Horse Race track is to be reorganized under the direction of Dennis McLaughlin as an association called the Gentlemans' Driving association. It is said that McLaughlin has secured the influence of several republican politicians and that the object is to run winter races there, though at the outset there will be bicycle and horse contests and trotting matches so as to disarm suspicion.

New Companies Incorporated.

Albany, Sept. 11.—The following companies have been incorporated with the secretary of state: The Substantive Colors company, of New York city, to buy and sell tar colors; capital $1,200. The Lowville Iron Works company, to manufacture general machinery in Lowville, Lewis county; capital $13,000.

Fractured His Skull While Diving.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 11.—William H. French, aged 35, who resides at No. 53 Bond street, this city, was drowned while in bathing yesterday at Rye Beach, N. Y. In diving his head came in contact with a submerged log, fracturing the skull. Mr. French was a native of Glens Falls, N. Y.

PITTSBURG CAPTURED

The Capitulation of Its Citizens Complete.

The Boys Who Wore the Blue in Possession of the Smoky City—Bunting, Flags and Electrical Displays Cover Acres—Pledges Made a Year Ago Fully Redeemed.

Pittsburg, Sept. 11.—The Smoky City is in possession of the boys that wore the blue. The capitulation of its citizens is complete. The invading column of Grand Army veterans, sweeping like a torrent from the north and south, the east and the west, present the monarch of all it may survey. Acres of bunting, myriads of flags, all the contrivances and wonders of electricity blazing from arches, towers and business blocks; latch strings on the outside, committees galore to hail the coming and speed the parting guest, each and every feature bears testimony to the fact that the pledges upon which a year ago at Indianapolis the national encampment of '94 was awarded to the second city of the Keystone state, have been fully redeemed.

The campaign for national officers and for the location of the next encampment was inaugurated in earnest yesterday afternoon and last night there was as much dickering and buttonholing around the principal hotels as might be demanded by a national political convention.

Yesterday the committee from Louisville had things its own way, but the committee from the Commercial club of St. Paul opened up commodious quarters in the Monongahela house and proceeded to get in its work. In personnel it was decidedly influential. Judge John P. Rea, ex-commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, and ex-Gov. McGill were on the outside to bid all welcome, while within Judge H. G. Hicks, Captain H. A. Castle, ex-chairman of the republican state committee, Col. I. H. Davidson, Chris W. Horr, Gen. J. H. Baker, Dr. R. McGinnis, Albert Sceffer and several other solid citizens were on duty to make things comfortable for the visitors and incidentally to enroll them under the banner of the Twin Cities. Punch that filled two big bowls to the rim was concocted and likewise dealt out by Mrs. Judge McRae, who with several others of the fair sex from the northwest added smiles and soft speeches to the more robust arguments of the masculine members of the committee. As a natural result not a few converts [illegible] Grass state, and the Louisville committee is not as certain that it has everything its own way as it was last night. An effort was made by the Kansas delegation to start a boom for Topeka in the belief that the rivalry between Louisville and St. Paul might become so bitter that a third city would be found available. It received no support, however, outside of the Kansasians themselves and the indications are that the encampment of '95 will be voted to Louisville by an overwhelming majority.

With the arrival of the Illinois delegation the contest between the adherents of Col. Thos. G. Lawler, of that state and J. N. Walker, of Indiana, the rival candidates for commander-in-chief, was commenced in earnest. Headquarters for each aspirant were opened at the leading hotels and arguments of numerous kinds were employed in the efforts to secure votes. Most of the western and northwestern delegates are counted in the Lawler column while the eastern and southern strength with a majority of the past commanders and other voters are favorable to the Hoosier candidate.

Four thousand delegates and members of visiting posts were present last night at the inaugural presentation at the exposition building of the historical musical spectacle "War and Peace" dedicated to the encampment by Col. F. N. Innes, of the Thirteenth Regiment (New York) band. In the performance the band, with a chorus of 400 voices, a battery of artillery and the famous Ransom Post, of St. Louis, took part.

At a meeting in the afternoon of the Medal of Honor legion, Senior Vice-Commander Orr with Comrades J. H. Lyman, of New York; Matthews, of Pittsburg; Insch, of Newark, O.; Hills, of St. Louis; Thomas, of Philadelphia, were appointed to wait upon Congressmen Daniel E. Sickles and Amos J. Cummings and urge them to secure the adoption of such measures as may prevent the destruction of the insignias worn by the legion from all other medallions awarded by congress.

The National Association of Army and Navy Chaplains elected Rev. T. H. Haggerty, chaplain of the 93d Illinois, as president, and Chaplain C. C. McCabe, the famous Methodist church mission fund raiser, of the 122d Ohio, as secretary.

STRIKE AT NEWARK.

Garment Workers Refuse to Submit to the "Sweating" System.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 11.—One thousand five hundred garment-workers of this city went on strike to-day, as the result of the agitation started in New York against the "sweating" system. The local workers are affiliated with the United Garment-Workers of America, and district 49, Knights of Labor, which has ordered the strike here. They held off expecting to hear from the state board of arbitration, which had counselled moderation, but failed to keep the promise to meet the committee. The strikers are mostly Hebrews and their ranks are augmented by the striking Hebrew hatters, who have been unable to settle their difficulties. Serious trouble is anticipated.

Large Orders for Machines.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 11.—Judge Kirkpatrick, receiver of the Domestic Sewing Machine company, of this city, has received an order for 500 first quality machines from Antwerp and Belgium. Other large orders have resulted in increasing the number of employes from 1,000 to 1,600.

Bayard Back in London.

London, Sept. 11.—United States Ambassador Bayard returned to-day from a four weeks' cruise on the Mediterranean. Mr. Bayard is in the best of health and says he thoroughly enjoyed his outing.

HER PRIVATE LIFE.

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW OF EACH OTHER'S AFFAIRS.

Troubles and Trials Which We Keep to Ourselves—Some Good Reasons Why It Is Wise to Tell Our Experiences.

A story of great suffering comes from Middlesex, Vt. Mrs. B. A. Stockwell, a well-known lady residing there, has endured the most intense agony from headaches. She continued to suffer frightfully without obtaining relief. Finally a friend who had recovered from a similar complaint told her what to do to be cured.

She is now well and wants every suffering woman to know about it. Here is her remarkable letter:

"About a year and a half ago," she says "I had a time of very severe headaches, which, while they lasted, were so bad that I could not sit up. They lasted from one to two days, generally two, and after I got over them I was completely prostrated. I tried many remedies but could not find anything to relieve me. I became fearfully discouraged and down hearted and feared I should never get well.

MRS. B. A. STOCKWELL.

"I finally began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and in a very short time was much better. I am now entirely cured thanks to this wonderful medicine. I desire to recommend it to every one who is suffering from any complaint for I know that it will cure them."

People everywhere are suffering from disease when if they would only use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy they would be cured. If you, reader, have headache, pain in any part, or any symptoms [illegible] take this great remedy and you will be made perfectly well. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Strikers Refused To Go Work.

Suncook, N. H., Sept. 11.—The Pembroke, Webster & Chinn mills opened their gates and gave their help a chance to go in, but the strikers say they will not go back until Fall River raises wages. What the companies intend to do is not known. It is very quiet and some of the help have gone to Canada.

Died Aged 105 Years Old.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Lewis Shaw, the oldest person in Broome county, died at the county almshouse here, aged 105 years. He was born in the town of Willett, Cortland county. During his twelve years' life at the almhouse Shaw was in feeble mind and nothing of his past history could be learned.

An Afflicted Family.

Albany, Sept. 11.—Rebecca Schwarz, aged 40, while hanging out clothes fell from the roof of her house to the ground, and was almost instantly killed. She was the sole supporter of her father, who, fifteen years ago, was suddenly stricken blind while in bed. Her mother died six weeks ago. Five years ago to-day her sister Carrie was killed by jumping from a burning building in which she was employed.

Postoffice Clerks' Convention.

Boston, Sept. 11.—The annual convention of the National Association of Postoffice Clerks was opened yesterday in the American house, with President Parkhurst, of Washington, in the chair. Fifty accredited delegates were present. Col. Coveney, postmaster of Boston, welcomed the delegates to Boston.

Rear-Admiral Kirkland in London.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Rear Admiral Kirkland reported his arrival in London by cablegram to the navy department. He will assume command of the European squadron on board the flagship Chicago at Southampton to-day.

AN INCENDIARY'S WORK

Many Buildings Burned at Dalton, Ohio.

Families Rendered Destitute — A Young Man Suspected of Starting the Fire for the Purpose of Revenge—Destruction Caused by Wind and Rain at Huntley, Ill.

Massillon, O., Sept. 11.—The town of Dalton, O., eight miles from this city, was fired by an incendiary yesterday and forty-seven buildings exclusive of barns were burned, entailing a loss of $250,000 and rendering eleven families destitute. Suspicion points to Otto Hartel as being the incendiary. Hartel has served time for criminal assault committed in Dalton and citizens here feel certain that he set fire to the town for the purpose of revenge, as he made threats of this kind after his release. Before the fire was started, the fire hose was disjointed, the pipe that carries the water from the reservoir was stopped up with a carpet and everything else possible was done to render the fire department useless. The fire spread rapidly and every building burned up like dry tinder. There is not a business house left in the town. Dalton has a population of 610 people. Outside of the eleven families left destitute, the other victims have some resources in reserve. The insurance will not amount to over 4 per cent. of the loss. Hartel, the suspected incendiary, is but 24 years old, but has earned in that time a very bad reputation. He has disappeared.

MILLS BLOWN DOWN.

Houses Unroofed, Horses and Cattle Killed at Huntley, Ill.

Huntley, Ill., Sept. 11.—Huntley and vicinity were visited by a terrific electric storm. Vast clouds heavily charged with wind and electricity met over Huntley.

The neighborhood seemed to be lit by electric lights, so close were the flashes to each other. Trees were torn up by the roots or broken off.

North of Huntley it was still worse. At Rochelle hailstones fell as large as goose eggs. Altogether fourteen barns were blown down or destroyed by lightning.

One hundred mills were blown down, ninety head of horses and cattle killed, ten houses unroofed and whole fields of corn blown down. The damage amounts to about $300,000, within a radius of five miles.

Destroyed by a Storm.

Watertown, N. Y., Sept. 11.—A storm of wind and rain, accompanied by lightning, swept over this section razing the eighty-foot spire of the Baptist church at Belleville, overturning a large covered bridge at Mathers Corners, breaking it in two, and causing much damage to orchards. The lightning destroyed large barns at Learysville and at Canton, together with their contents, the product of the harvest.

Killed by a Falling In House.

East Chicago, Ind., Sept. 11.—During a heavy storm the ice house of the East Chicago Ice company was blown down. Mrs. Bowles was instantly killed, and Mr. Bowles is in a critical condition.

CAPTURED BY TRAMPS.

Force a Hotel Keeper and Guests Out of the Place.

Hicksville, L. I., Sept. 11.—The Roadside hotel on the Jericho turnpike was captured by five tramps last evening. The owner, Jacob Etzel, and a number of gentlemen present were compelled to leave the place. Mr. Etzel came to Hicksville and secured two officers and a number of citizens. They captured four of the tramps and lodged them in jail here. A number of shots were exchanged but no one was hurt. Over 100 tramps are camped out in an old barn on the turnpike near Syosset and the farmers are being robbed nightly.

An Altoona Bank To Resume.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Information received by Comptroller Eckels from the United States bank examiner, states that the Second National bank, of Altoona, Pa., will probably be in a condition to resume business shortly after the 15th inst. The bank's capital, it will be recalled, was impaired by the cashier absconding with its funds.

Odd Fellows Meet.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 11.—The grand lodge of New Jersey Independent Order of Odd Fellows met in special session here. The attendance was very large, Odd Fellows from all over the state being present. The past grand degree was conferred on eighty-five members, which was the largest addition to the grand lodge in years.

Want a Receiver.

New York, Sept. 11.—Application has been made in the United States courts for a temporary receiver for the Colorado River Irrigation company by several stockholders, who charge the fraudulent transfer of capital stock for the purpose of buying land in Mexico at an exaggerated value.

The President Fishing.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 11.—The president, Dr. Bryan and Secretary Lamont passed another day at fishing down the bay. In anticipation of an unusually heavy wind storm, the party came earlier up the bay and arrived at Gray Gables soon after 5 o'clock.

A KNIFE in the hand of a Surgeon gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting.

The Triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

TUMORS Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the shock of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlets, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

There's nothing so GOOD as Cottolene

The new vegetable shortening. Wherever introduced, it drives lard from the kitchen, and indigestion from the household.

It has been tried by every test, and has met every requirement.

It is as much superior to lard as the electric light is to the tallow-dip.

The only question now is, will you give your family the benefits which its use bestows?

There's nothing LIKE Cottolene

In composition, in healthfulness, in flavor, or in economy.

Its success has called out a lot of imitations and counterfeits made for the sole purpose of selling in the place and on the merits of Cottolene.

Avoid them all. They are made to sell and they are a sell.

GETTING SOLID WITH THE WIDOW.

Welcomes His New Daughter-in-Law, and Distributes Taffy Through the Family.

(T. W. Morrison, in The Evening News.)

Cards are out announcing the marriage on Wednesday, Sept. 19, of Mr. George W. Morrison of Plainfield, eldest son of the editor and proprietor of The News, and Miss Mary T. Meeker of Asbury Park, where the ceremony is to be performed at the Presbyterian church. Miss Meeker is a daughter of the late General Meeker, whose widow, Mrs. Katherine T. Meeker, is a woman of remarkable beauty and intelligence. Gen. Meeker died some years ago. At the time of his death he was president of a prominent railroad company in New York State. He served with distinction in the War of the Rebellion, where he won his rank of General. Miss Meeker is a graduate of Drew Seminary, class of '88, was the Valedictorian of her class, and won the highest honors in scholarship. She is a great favorite at Asbury Park. The fame of her magnificent voice has made her in great demand as a vocalist both there and in New York, where she also frequently sings as soloist at leading concerts. The late Gov. Washburn of Massachusetts, twice Governor and twice Judge of the Supreme Court of that State, and whose decisions, filling two large volumes, are authorities in its courts, was one of Miss Meeker's uncles. Her grandmother, with whom Miss Meeker makes her home, is a remarkable personage in that, although 82 years old, she reads without spectacles, and gives personal attention to her large and valuable properties both in Asbury Park and the West. She keeps thoroughly well informed on the events of the day, and exhibits a wonderful intelligence and memory in talking of them, as she is able to do most entertainingly. Miss Meeker inherits many of her grandmother's and mother's remarkable traits, and is altogether a most charming young lady, in winning whom Mr. Morrison is to be congratulated.

A Brilliant Career Ended.

(From The Vicksburg, Miss., Daily Commercial Herald.)

Many citizens of Vicksburg will regret to learn of the untimely death of Charles Schermerhorn, for some years a resident of this city, which occurred on the 23rd of August, at his home in Plainfield, N. J., at the early age of 24 years. Mr. Schermerhorn was an assistant engineer in the construction of the Vicksburg waterworks, being then scarcely more than a boy; afterwards did the field work, at least, for the city sewers survey, and was for two years an assistant United States engineer at this place. Since he left here he has been engineer in charge of construction of the waterworks at Newberne, N. C., and the sewer system of Austin, Texas. At Newberne his health became impaired, consumption followed, and in spite of every care and attention, the usual fatal results supervened.

He was the only child of his parents, both of whom survive him, and was regarded by members of his profession as one of the country's brightest civil engineers.

His courteous and amiable manners, uniformly correct and modest deportment and conspicuous ability won him many attached friends in Vicksburg.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Yesterday's storm played havoc with the electric wires.

—Justice Mosher will try the landlord and tenant case of Day against Collan Sept. 17.

—A fine stock of horses will be auctioned at 114 West Sixth street tomorrow afternoon.

—Living pictures being all the rage, Putnam & DeGraw keep up to date by giving them a show in their ad.

—The Board of Underwriters met in the office of J. C. Pope & Co., yesterday afternoon, and transacted routine business. The new rate has not yet been fixed.

—A salesman traveling through High Bridge last week was amused to hear that when the nine school trustees of the township were gathered together they found sixteen school-book salesmen waiting on them for sales of school-books.

—We talk business in dollars and cents. We have lots to talk about. We have lots of wall-paper, mixed paints, lead, oil, tinting colors, picture mouldings, rugs, window glass, cigars, stationery, etc. Edward Love, North and Watchung avenues.

A Popular Carrier's Birthday.

Letter-Carrier E. E. Hann was given a happy surprise on his birthday last night. In spite of the rain the merry assemblage had a splendid time, enjoying to the fullest degree the games, refreshments and jollity. Many gifts were bestowed, not the least appreciated being two beautiful bouquets from Mrs. D. F. Godown.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Haberle, Mrs. Emma Cox, Mrs. D. F. Godown, Mrs. J. F. Wakefield, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pope and family, Mrs. Mattis, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lines, James Buckley and others.

Frog in Its Throat.

From some unknown cause the city fire-gong blew twice in signalling time at noon today. The house-gongs worked as usual.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

PLAINFIELD SEWERS TO BE BUILT STRAIGHTWAY.

W. W. Cook & Co. of Jamestown the Successful Bidders—Their Figure Was Lower Than Even the City Engineer's Estimate.

The Plainfield Common Council last night awarded to W. W. Cook & Co. of Jamestown, N. Y., contract to construct the first of the series of sanitary sewers. The system their contract will supply will sewer the most thickly populated part of the city, and it will be succeeded by other contracts till the entire settled district is provided for.

President See was absent from the meeting, and City Clerk MacMurray called it to order. Councilman Dumont was chosen to the chair. The other absentees were Councilmen Bird, Ginna and Westphal.

For the Sewerage Committee Councilman Erickson reported that the bid of W. W. Cook & Co. had been found to be the lowest, that the firm gave satisfactory security, and that contract with them would be most advantageous to the city. He therefore resolved, and it was unanimously adopted, that contract be made with them.

A copy of the contract, when executed, was ordered filed with the County Clerk; and the $1,000 checks of the unsuccessful bidders were ordered returned to their makers.

The Council then adjourned.

The firm of Cook & Co. is composed of Wm. W. Cook, Frank Gebert and Albert W. Prout. Their bid was $18,858 29. This was considerably lower than even the city engineer's estimate, which was $25,-696.31. Patrick McShane was next to the lowest bidder, with $20,038.32. Nelson, Dunn & Cortese ranked above him, $20,-074 63. Bernard Brady bid $22,545.26. The highest bid was $41,600 85.

W. W. Cook & Co., the successful sewerage contractors, will begin work on some part of the job yet to be decided on next Tuesday. Every Plainfielder willing to work will be given employment. If enough local laborers do not offer their services others will then be imported.

The firm has opened an office in the store of A. J. Love's new building, 145 West Front street. Albert P. Prout, who will represent the firm in this city, intends to take up his residence in Plainfield, but has not yet selected a dwelling.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The new Board of Governors intend to make it possible to reach the Crescent track by stage for five cents.

N. C. Mague of Somerset street has purchased the "Wheelmen's Rest" on the county road between Cranford and Garwood.

The committee appointed by the Crescents last night to arrange a lantern parade will meet early tonight. At 9.15 the newly-elected governors will meet to choose officers for the club.

The Bicycling Division of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will have a run to Rahway Wednesday afternoon. The start will be made from the High School building at 2. All of Plainfield's cyclists whether they are members or not, are cordially invited to join. The riders will go at a moderate pace.

The events at the meet of the Crescent Wheelmen, Saturday, September 29, will be: Class A.—Race No. 1—One-mile novice. Race No. 2—One-mile scratch. Race No. 4—One-mile Handicap. Race No. 6—Five-mile handicap. Class B.—Race No. 3—Two-third-mile scratch. Race No. 5—One-mile scratch. Race No. 7—Two-mile handicap.

To Abolish the Bridge Lakes.

At the notification by Street Commissioner R. H. Meeker of the councilmanic presentment, Superintendent Peddle and Inspector of Bridges R. J. Swackhamer, of the Jersey Central, visited Plainfield yesterday and were made acquainted with the improvements needed at the several railroad bridges which includes those from Washington street to Plainfield avenue. Mr. Peddle ordered that work be commenced as soon as the material arrives.

Deadly Lightning Bugs.

As J. Y. Barrett of the Rockview Farm Dairy was passing the residence of Milkman Chas. F. Debele last night he noticed what he thought was a congress of fireflies in the grass. Investigating, he found an electric-light wire broken and sputtering sparks. He shunned the deadly current, and the wire was repaired by linemen.

Bachelors Inaugurate.

The first annual sociable of the Bachelors Club will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, in the Fanwood Club-House, South avenue. Music will be by O'Reilly. Tickets, admitting partners, are 75 cents each. Stages will connect with all trains at the Fanwood station, and a stage will leave Fifth and Washington streets at 8 and 9.

A Funeral's Remarkable Feature.

"I attended a funeral at Dunkirk the other day," said an Erie railway official, "which had a most remarkable feature. The funeral was that of my old friend John McGraw, a prominent citizen of Dunkirk. Six of his stalwart sons, all well-known railroad men, were his pall bearers. Immediately behind the coffin walked his seventh son, and then his widow and his five grown daughters. There had never been death in his family before."

Social Amenities.

"Ah," remarked the belt buckle to the bustle, "I think I have seen you before."
"If you ever did," replied the bustle curtly, "I was out of place."

TWO ROOMS.

A beautiful room with tinted walls,
A bust where the colored sunlight falls,
A lace-hung bed with a satin fold,
A lovely room, all blue and gold—
And Weariness.

A quaint old room with rafters bare,
A low white bed, a rocking chair,
A book, a stalk where a flower had been,
An open door, and all within—
Peace and Content
Anna J. Granniss.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Five candidates were initiated by Plainfield Council, I. O. O. F., last evening.

The Pythian Sisters will hold a regular meeting tonight. Mrs. E. L. Moore of Elizabeth, Supreme Deputy, will make an official visit.

The committee of Miantonomoh Tribe appointed to arrange the anniversary celebration met last night to decide upon preliminary details.

On account of the storm last night the Odd Ladies entertainment in Howell Division rooms was postponed. The date will be announced later.

The members of Miantonomoh Tribe have been invited to visit the tribe in Hackettstown, Tuesday, Sept. 18, on the occasion of the celebration of their forty-first anniversary.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge, I. O. O. F., last night, the excursion committee made a partial report of the Labor Day excursion to Asbury Park. The proceeds will be in the neighborhood of $40.

At the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, last evening, the by-laws on their second reading were adopted. Resolutions of condolence on the death of Fred L. Walker were presented, and a copy will be sent to the family. The date of the entertainment was changed from September 21 to September 28. The question of holding a fair this Fall was brought up and talked of favorably. After January 1 the Camp will have the new ritual, recently adopted at the National Encampment. Some of the members thought it would be well to secure an American flag and hang it in front of the rooms with the name of the Camp thereon. This was referred to the Camp Council.

IS LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Solomon Once Said That It Was Not, But Afterwards Changed His Mind—Cheer for the Despondent.

The Rev. Dr. Talmage, who is now touring in Australia, considered this question of sufficient importance to make it his subject of a recent sermon. Happiness is not a question of bank account or material prosperity, but rather of health, and this can only be enjoyed where the digestive organs are performing their proper functions.

Were the question addressed to a chronic dyspeptic, a negative answer would probably be returned.

Dr. J. Milner Fothergill, of London, whose name is a household word in England, says of this dread, yet prevalent disease, "More distressing than the actual pain is the sense of misery experienced by many, the mental discomfort, the sense of wretchedness, of utter unfitness for work, the mental attitude of gloom, distress and incapacity, the physical discomfort, tends to cause the sufferer to have misgivings that the malady is something more than mere indigestion. A haunting fear that the brain is the seat of the disease, where there is headache, the heart, where there is palpitation or or irregular action tortures the unhappy sufferer. The remembrance of this impression hangs like a dark cloud over the intervals of comparative health. Not only does the brain seem exhausted, but the whole system appears languid and weak, instead of the man being able for a 20 or 30 mile walk, one or two miles produce fatigue, and sometimes an intense languor is felt without any exertion at all. When he goes to his medical attendant to describe his case he says "I take all sorts of strengthening things, and yet I feel so weak." If instead of using these words he were to say, "because I take all sorts of things I feel so weak," he would express a part at least of the truth.

Mal-products of digestion are positive depressent poisons. Strong food does not necessarily involve strength, rather the opposite when the digestion is impaired. A little, well digested, feeds the blood, and from it again the tissues, better than a large meal of which none or very little indeed, is properly digested. In this condition, the more a person eats, the worse he thrives, because he digests little or none, and unless he is restricted to proper meals, he virtually eats himself to death, and he dies of hunger—of actual starvation, in the midst of unlimited food and everlasting eating. To eat and digest, then, is not one and the same thing.

Dr. Fothergill speaks of artificially digested starch in the following unmistakable terms:

"As the cooking of starchy foods involves their partial digestion, we see that intuitively and without the light of science, man commenced the artificial digestion of starch when only a savage and long before the dawn of history. We at the present are emerging out of the early darkness and stepping forward by morning light on the path to artificial digestion of starch, by so doing, economizing the body energy which would otherwise be consumed in preparing such food for absorption.

Paskola is such a food, being a pre-digested starch combined with organic ferments, possessing the property of digesting other foods in the stomach, thus virtually resting the diseased digestive organs and yet insuring strength and nourishment to the body.

Paskola has passed beyond the experimental stage, and is now being employed with the greatest success and satisfaction by thousands of sufferers. Many the man and woman who would have answered the question, "Is life worth living?" with an emphatic "No!" now comes forward to sound the praises of Paskola and tell how it has rescued them from a living death.

Mr. L. W. Crisp, agent of the Southern Railway Co., Fort Hill, S. C., writes as follows under date of July 20, 1894:

"Just five years ago I quit the farm to take up office work. I was in perfect health and for two years following continued to be robust and strong. At the expiration of that time, which was three years ago, I began to be troubled with dyspepsia, but gave the matter little attention thinking I would soon come round all right. Instead, things went from bad to worse, and in the last six months I have suffered frightfully. It has been necessary to call a doctor a number of times. My appetite has been good all this while, while my digestive organs have been absolutely unable to digest any food I have tried everything that has been recommended, without experiencing any benefit. Have used the medicine of some of the best physicians in this country. They would sometimes help me for three or four days, then I would be just as bad off as I was before consulting them.

"I have lost flesh until I do not look like the same person, only weighing 132 pounds, making a loss of 33 pounds in 6 months.

"I had begun to think that I had better look around for a coffin and a place to put it, when just four weeks ago I came across a little pamphlet describing Paskola. I read every word of it and was inspired with such confidence that it was decided to give it a trial. I began taking the product early in July, and by the time the first bottle was half gone, I ordered three more, as I found it was doing me much good. I ceased to lose flesh, had no further headaches, nor did I vomit after eating as previously. In fact I did not feel as though I had anything the matter with me at all. I have now taken two and a-half bottles and am still using it, everybody having noticed that I am improving and my complexion being better than it has been for two years.

"Paskola has done me more good in the past twenty days than any medicine I have ever taken. In fact it is the only thing that has ever done me any good. I sleep well at night, do not dream as I did before using it and awake in the morning fully refreshed and ready for my work."

Such statements as these are incontrovertable.

If you are suffering, if an emaciated form and general lack of strength shows that you are not being properly nourished send for a pamphlet on food and digestion, which will be mailed free upon application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., No. 30 Reade Street, New York City. Paskola is for sale by all druggists.

Damaged By the Storm.

The trees in the neighborhood of the Crescent Avenue Church were badly damaged by yesterday's wind storm. Those by the houses of J. Wesley Johnson of LaGrande avenue and Mrs. Harriot of Watchung avenue were broken the most. The trees around the church itself were also slightly damaged.

—John H. McVey of the North avenue restaurant has nearly recovered from the effects of his severe fall in the basement, and now has no fear that any of his ribs were broken.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good". Price 50c. Sold by all druggists.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c., and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Growth of the Public Schools.

During the first five days the Plainfield public schools have enrolled 1,663 pupils, which is an increase of nearly 70 over the enrollment at the same time last year. Many pupils have come in from the various private schools. In some grades it is difficult to accommodate all that apply. Two rooms at the Franklin and four at the Bryant have an enrollment of over 50 pupils, while one room has nearly 70 and has been put on half time, part of the children coming in the morning and part in the afternoon.

Plainfield's Congressional District.

In response to numerous inquiries, The Press would state that the new congressional district comprises the City of Hudson, all of Union County, and all of Essex County except Newark city and the township of East Orange. The Assembly districts having been wiped out, Assemblymen will be elected by counties.

Almost a Triple Affliction.

Walter Coon of George street and Hill avenue has been sadly afflicted. He lost two children by diphtheria last month; and his third, a boy of six, has had a narrow escape from death by the same disease. Dr. Tomlinson, however, is bringing him back to health.

Tree Crosses Trolley.

A huge branch of a tree in front of the Harberger house on West Front street was blown by yesterday's high wind across the trolley-wires, blocking traffic till removed by axe.

No Harvest Next Year.

Councilmanic Janitor Mundy lost a fine old apple tree by yesterday's storm.

—A small tree in front of 54 Westervelt avenue was snapped off by yesterday's storm.

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.
His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

IF
The Daily Press were not a good thing, do you suppose so many merchants would advertise in it?

Now is Your Chance.
Clothing at greatly REDUCED prices.
This sale will only continue until September 20 at the present prices.
Yours respectfully,
C. SCHEPFLIN & CO.

UP-TO-DATE CRESCENTS.

THEY PLAN FOR FOOTBALL AND A LANTERN PARADE.

Increase of Membership in the Board of Governors, and a New Board Elected—Members to Guarantee Ticket Sales.

The Crescent Wheelmen met in annual session in the Board of Trade Building last evening. It was the first meeting of the club since the building of the track, and the members present were much interested in learning what the Board of Governors had to report. A general satisfaction was expressed with the work of the officers, and the spirit of the members showed that they intended to make the next year a great one in the history of the Crescents.

President William H. Rogers opened the meeting at 8, starting a busy session which lasted till 11. Of the 150 members of the club, 35 attended. In the absence of Secretary Teel, John Petrie acted as secretary pro tem, beginning his work with the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting.

A communication from the New York Times addressed to George Taggart of the United Press was read. The Times offered a $50 gold medal to be contested for in the novice race in the next meet with no conditions attached except a request for mention in the programme.

The report of the secretary and treasurer was then read. The lengthy financial report gave all the details of the expense of constructing the track and holding the meets. The total cost of the track, with grand-stand and bleachers, was given as $5,281.18. According to the cash account the receipts during the year November 1, 1893, to August 31, 1894, amounted to $4,904.62 and the expenditures to $4,797.03, leaving a balance of $107.59.

By vote the number of members in the Board of Governors was increased from seven to 11. Thirteen nominations were made as follows: W. H. Rogers, L. B. Woolston, J. F. Buckle, J. A. Haynes, C. S. Teel, A. V. Kline, Dr. D. C. Adams, C. H. Dunham, F. L. C. Martin, R. D. Williams, John Petrie, Harry Coward and Lon Titsworth. By ballot the following were chosen: Messrs. Rogers, Woolston, Buckle, Haynes, Teel, Kline, Dunham, Petrie, Coward and Titsworth. F. L. C. Martin and Dr. Adams being tied, another vote was taken, resulting in the election of Mr. Martin. The following committees were appointed: To arrange a lantern parade—F. L. C. Martin, R. D. Williams, Lon Titsworth, John J. Kenney, Thomas A. Cuming. To form a football team: Nate Titsworth, R. D. Williams, Thomas A. Cuming, John Petrie, A. T. Heinrichs. It was unanimously decided before adjourning that each member should pay for five tickets of admission for each meet.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Superintendent Staats represents the Sunday-school of the First Church of Christ in the county convention.

Rev. P. H. Gibson of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church, Plainfield, will preach in the New York Avenue Baptist Church, Westfield, tonight.

At the meeting of the Ladies Christian Work Society in Trinity Reformed Church yesterday afternoon Mrs. J. K. Arnold stated that she found it impossible to serve as president of the society any longer, as she could not give the office the time it required. She therefore presented her resignation, which was regretfully accepted. Mrs. C. Schenck, wife of the pastor, who was serving as first vice-president, was unanimously chosen as president; and Mrs. C. Frank French was also unanimously elected as first vice-president. The approaching storm caused an adjournment to next Tuesday afternoon, when the regular Fall work will be taken up.

Rev. Ralph Gillam will commence a series of Gospel meetings in Hope Chapel on Thursday evening, September 20. Services will be held every afternoon and evening. Mr. Gillam was associated with Rev. P. Fay Mills for nearly a year, and the Lord has wonderfully blessed his labors. Hope Chapel has recently been enlarged and will now seat 700 persons. Extensive preparations are being made for these services. The hearty singing that has been so marked a feature at Hope Chapel will prevail at the special services. In addition to this Mr. Gillam will be accompanied by an assistant who has great power in song. All the seats are absolutely free at all times.

The King's Messengers of the First Presbyterian Church held a semi-annual meeting yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers: President—Miss Gertrude Conover. First Vice-President—Miss Mabel Pruden. Second Vice-President—Miss Evelyn Searing. Secretary—Miss Mabel Conover. Treasurer—Miss Miriam Wilcox. The report of Miss Wilcox showed that the band has about $40 in the treasury. The society is composed of girls from ten to fifteen years of age who are engaged in home mission work under two superintendents, Mrs. E. J. Olasen and Mrs. H. A. Pope. The Messengers are connected with the Woman's Executive Committee of the Presbyterian home mission movement. At present the girls are sewing for Dr. Dorland's school for poor whites in Hot Springs, N. C. They have a scholarship in a freedman's school which costs $40 a year. They will discontinue this and instead have a room for use as a headquarters. The dues are 24 cents a year for regular membership and 50 cents for honorary. Collections are taken up at the public meeting and the tea which are held annually.

Ought to Be Done.

While the owner of the Stelle Building is having the sidewalk platform lowered at Leggett's Pharmacy, he ought to have it lowered all along the building, making the improvement uniform throughout. The public would appreciate it.

The merchant who grumbles and sighs,
And turns up the whites of his eyes
In sorrow and pique
Because trade's very vique,
Is the fellow who won't advertise!

CLOSE SHAVE FOR THE HORSE.

It Took a Notion to Try Its Speed on the Railroad Track.

Baker George Voehl sent a boy with his bay mare to Peter McDonough's blacksmith shop yesterday afternoon. The horse broke loose from the boy on Liberty street, climbed the railroad bank, and turned towards home.

People at the North Avenue station at 4:45 were astonished to see the horse coming down the track on a brisk trot. The Park Avenue bridge was crossed in safety and then the horse was headed off by men at the freight-house and taken from the track just as the Blue Line express from New York passed on the track the animal had taken.

A Dramatic Classic.

Lewis Morrison will present his famous scenic and dramatic version of "Faust" in Music Hall Friday evening. Mr. Morrison is an actor of established merit. He has a voice both commanding and penetrating, and a personality that takes on the wardrobe and makeup of Mephisto in an ideal way. His impersonation adheres closely to Goethe's familiar and interesting story. Satan as represented by him is a smooth-faced, plausable person, who mixes with mortal mankind with a cheerful abandon that makes the character easy to comprehend; the lines in Mr. Morrison's version are bright and sparkling, and his rendition of them is delightfully sardonic. He is in short as engaging a devil as one could wish to see.

Broke the Circuit.

Just after the storm, a county official dropped into the law offices of a celebrated counselor, and, finding the air somewhat close, asked why the windows were all closed.

"Afraid of the lightning"—was the reply.

"Pshaw! I never heard of lightning striking a lawyer"—said the official.

"We were afraid the type-writer might attract it."

"Ah! I noticed—she is very attractive!"—gallantly smiled the official, and just then the lightning burned out the electric lamps.

Pretends to Be His Wife.

"Jane", which is to be presented in Music Hall, Thursday night, is the most successful and funniest of the Frohman comedies yet presented. The character of "Jane" is that of a calculating and shrewd English housemaid, who pretends to be her master's wife, so as to deceive the trustee of an estate conditionally paying money to the master in question. The cast is in every way a competent one, and includes among its members those who have made the play famous.

Wants Plainfield Police Help.

Alex. Shields of Bound Brook reports by telegraph to Chief Grant that his six-year-old trotter, 15½ hands in height, has been stolen. A white dot marks the forehead. The horse "Logan" is well-known in sporting circles, and is valued by his owner at $15,000.

Trees Twisted.

A tree on Park place between Duer and Grove streets was twisted and split in two by the wind yesterday afternoon. Another at the corner of Grove street and Linden avenue was broken off about seven feet above the ground.

Inter-Club Tennis.

The Inter-Club Tournament of the Bergen Point, Jersey City and Hilliside Tennis Clubs will take place on the Hilliside courts Saturday, Sept. 22. Plainfield now occupies second place, and will strive to reach first.

Deluged by a Cloudburst.

So tremendous was the rainfall of a few minutes yesterday afternoon that Park avenue, Front street, and other thoroughfares, became for a time running rivers, and the boys had great fun in the lakes under the railroad bridges.

Women May Vote.

The county superintendents of schools have been notified that the State superintendent of schools has decided that any school election at which women are denied a vote is void, and the county superintendent may proceed as if no election had been held.

Preparing for Bowling.

The House Committee of the Board of Trade met last evening and arranged to open the bowling season. Another meeting will be held in about a week to pick a team from the 30 good bowlers who are practicing on the alleys.

No Champignons.

Two young men of Plainfield went out into the country for mushrooms yesterday and today, on each occasion having a policeman arouse them at 4 in the morning for an early start. Neither had yet seen a single mushroom when they returned today.

A Driving Storm.

The furious rain yesterday afternoon beat through the cracks of the big show windows in the Stelle Building, damaging goods in Leggett's pharmacy and Collier's jewelry store.

—S. R. Hope had a narrow escape from one old skunk and three young ones on Sandford avenue last night. They had evidently been flooded out of their home near the brook.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen.

Howard Giles has returned from his visit in Newark.

E. D. GaNun and family of Plainfield will spend the week with John Tingley and family.

Theodore Apgar will be initiated in William G Holton Council, J. O. U. A. M., this evening.

O. M. Hetfield and family of Dunellen have returned from a two-weeks outing at Orange Lake, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs Kreuger of South Plainfield spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Maier.

Walter G Runyon, Enoch Giles, H C. Vail and J. E. Touseau were initiated in the Foresters last evening.

Mrs. Fred Blank and family returned to New York yesterday after spending a pleasant week with John Peters and family. Mr. Blank came out and accompanied them home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Laing, widow of the late Smith Laing, has received from the Executive Council of the Order of Foresters a check for $1,000, the benefit paid on the death of her husband. The local order also gave $25.

A beautiful christening service was held in the Episcopal Church, New Market, Sunday afternoon, when the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Barker was christened. The name given was Edith Constance. Rev. Mr. Phelps conducted the service.

Residents of Dunellen saw a very bright light Sunday evening about 8, in the direction of New Brunswick. Yesterday morning a citizen started investigating, thinking perhaps a house had burned. After driving a considerable distance, he gave up the hunt.

Mrs. Brennan, who suffered considerably from the effects of some boiling water which she claims Mrs. Cronan threw at her, intends seeking redress through the courts. She secured the services of Lawyer Winfield S. Angleman of Plainfield yesterday, and he went to New Market and made demand upon Justice Storms that he issue a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Cronan. The warrant was served today by Constable Huff. Lawyer Winfield S. Angleman, representing Mrs. Brennan, went to New Brunswick today for the purpose of bringing suit against Mrs. Cronan.

There has been more or less of a feeling between Paul Kratzel and his tenant, Adam Seader ever since Adam moved on the property. The trouble has been chiefly about a barn on the premises, which Mr. Seader rents for his horses and wagons. At different times disputes have arisen over the number of wagons Mr. Seader was to place in the barn. Yesterday afternoon when Mr. Seader came home he met his landlord and the trouble revived. It ended in Mr. Kratzel breaking open the lock on the barn and running the wagons into the yard. He then put several things belonging to him in their place. Words of warm temper were exchanged, until both finally sought Justice Huff, who heard the story, and decided that he had no authority to arrest on the evidence. Mr. Kratzel declares he will have Mr. Seader arrested, while Mr. Seader at once sought his lawyer, George DeMeza, and says he intends having the matter settled once for all. Recently the same men had trouble over the breaking of a pump, but that matter was settled satisfactorily to both, Lawyer DeMeza will bring suit against Mr. Kratzel for damages. The latter is represented by Reed & Coddington.

Mrs. Charles Maeir and family returned today from a visit in Brielle.

The condition of Mr. Slape has gradually been growing worse and the physicians have given up hope of his recovery.

A large number of people interested in Sunday-school work are preparing to attend the annual meeting of the Middlesex County Sunday-school Union to be held in Perth Amboy Thursday.

The four-year-old son of William Liable was bitten in the arm by one of two large dogs which were fighting in the yard Sunday morning at 11. The dogs ran on the piazza where the child was. The boy became tangled between the contestants and was bitten by one them, probably unintentionally.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

William Archibald of the mountainside is quite ill.

William Curley of Bayonne was in town Sunday visiting friends.

Miss Cook of Westfield avenue is entertaining her cousin from Brooklyn.

Landlord John L. Force has had a new slate roof put on the West Side House.

Miss Emma Hunt of Brooklyn is visiting Miss Louise Stiliger of Front street.

The Ladies Circle of the Baptist Church will soon have a fruit festival in the chapel.

Rev. J. S. Braker will be initiated in Fanwood Council, No. 744, R. A., at the meeting this evening.

Dennis Crane of Westfield avenue will shortly leave the Ackerman farm to move to one in Locust Grove.

The Advisory Board of the Young Folks Christian Association will meet Wednesday night at the Manse.

The old well on Front street which neighbors provided for the use of the public is in need of a new curb.

Charles Stumpf is preparing himself for the duties of outside sentinel of the new division of Sons of Temperance.

The old sign-post by the liberty pole, which the township committee resolved to replace is still standing in the park.

Carpenter Joseph Smith has finished his work of Henry Meyer's barn on the mountain, and Frank Eller is now painting it.

School opened yesterday with an increase noticeable in the attendance of all departments. The primary room now contains 50 scholars.

Game with Westfield postponed because of the rain Saturday will be played next Saturday afternoon at 3 on the Scotch Plains diamond.

Miss Sadie Walpole will act as assistant postmistress during the absence of Miss Baker, who is about to go on a two-weeks trip in New York State.

The Choral Union began the work with about $40 the proceeds of the stereopticon lecture. There are 66 members and others are about to join. Sunday-school members under 15 will be charged 75 cents for the ten lessons, the charge to adults for the course being $1. Regular attendance is requested. It is probable that the Union will meet every Thursday evening in the Baptist Chapel, but the meeting night may be changed to accommodate the leader.

New Market.

The New Market Lawn Tennis Club was pleasantly entertained at the home of the Misses Kate and Nellie Corlell last evening. The hours were passed in playing games and dancing, after which all partook of the excellent refreshments served.

Those present were the Misses Jennie and Mary Giles, Plainfield; Wm. Hamilton, Hackensack; the Misses Jennie and Anna Starkers, Miss Clara Pierce, Mahlon Dayton, Bert Pierce and Benjamin Carpenter.

WINNING A WIDOW.

"Jotham!" quoth Mr. Wiggleton to his chief farm hand.

"Well, what's wantin'?" lazily responded Jotham Hardcastle.

"The Widow Palmleaf has taken the cottage at the foot of the lane."

"Tell me something I didn't know afore," said Jotham, irreverently.

"And if she sends up to borrow the rake or the hoe or the spade——"

"Well, what then?"

"Tell her she can't have 'em.

"All right," observed Jotham, philosophically.

"Jotham," said Mr. Wiggleton about ten days afterward, as he came in heated and out of breath from a walk.

"Well, what now?"

"I wonder if that was the Widow Palmleaf I saw gathering blackberries by the cottage garden?"

"Kind o' slim and tall?"

"Yes."

"Blue eyes and hair as shiny as satin?"

"Yes."

"And a little white parasol lined with pink?"

"Yes."

"Reckon likely it was," said Jotham.

Mr. Wiggleton was silent for a moment or two.

"Jotham!" he finally said.

"Well?"

"Has she sent to borrow anything?"

"Sent yesterday forenoon—asked if we had a screw-driver to lend—the hinge was comin' loose on the garden gate."

"And what did you tell her?"

"Said my order was contrary wise to lendin' or borrowin'."

"Jotham, the next time she sends let her have whatever she wants."

"Said somethin' about wantin' a man to come and hoe them early potatoes. Be I to go?"

"Certainly—of course. Neighbors should act like neighbors, especially in the country."

And Mr. Wiggleton sighed and wished that he was not too corpulent and unused to labor to hoe the Widow Palmleaf's early potatoes himself.

But he did the next best thing, he went over to look at the field after Jotham had hoed it, and gave the widow good advice concerning a certain rocky, up-hill bit of sheep pasture.

"I'd lay that down in winter rye if I were you, ma'am," said Mr. Wiggleton.

"I am so much obliged to you," said the widow, sweetly. "Since poor, dear, Hobart was taken away I have no one to advise me on these subjects."

And Mr. Wiggleton thought how soft and pretty her blue eyes looked as she spoke.

"Oh, pshaw!" said Jotham, leaning on the handle of his hoe, "winter rye ain't the sort o' crop for that spot. Spring wheat's the only thing to grow there."

"Hold your tongue, Jotham!" cried his employer, testily.

"A very pretty woman, that Mrs. Palmleaf, Jotham," said the employer that evening; not because there was any special congeniality of soul between himself and his farm hand, but because he could have talked to the gate posts if Jotham hadn't happened to be there.

"Well, nobody doubts that, as ever I heerd on," said Jotham, with his elbows on his knees and his face complacently turned toward the full moon.

"And she can't be over thirty."

"So, I should a-said myself, assented Jotham.

"I'm glad she has taken the cottage on a long lease, Jotham," pursued Mr. Wiggleton. "I like good neighbors."

The summer went by; the great maple in front of the Wiggleton mansion began to glow as if its leaves had been dipped in blood and melted gold; the asters reared their purple torches along the stone wall by the cottage under the hill, and any acute observer might have perceived that Mrs. Palmleaf had laid down the rocky bit of up hill ground in spring wheat instead of winter rye.

"Jotham!" said Mr. Wiggleton to his farm hand one evening; it was the first time they had had a fire on the wide, old-fashioned hearth.

"Well?"

"I have concluded it isn't best for you to live here at the house any longer."

"What's goin' to happen?" said Jotham. "You ain't goin' to hire another hand, be you?"

"Not to be sure not. You suit me admirably, Jotham, only"—and Mr. Wiggleton shot the words out with an effort—"I am thinking of getting married."

"Oh!"

"It's rather late in life, to be sure," said Mr. Wiggleton, conscious of looking extremely sheepish, "but you know, Jotham, it's never too late to do a good thing."

"Certainly not."

"You ought to get married, Jotham," added his employer, speaking in a rather rapid and embarrassed mauner.

"Think so?"

"Certainly. You might live in the little house beyond the peach orchard; it wouldn't take much to fit it nicely, now that paint and paper are so cheap."

Jotham stared reflectively at the fire.

"And your wife could take care of the cream and butter, and all that sort of thing, for us. It isn't likely Mrs. P.—ahem!—it isn't likely, I mean, that my wife will care for such things."

"Humph!"

"I'd advise you to turn the thing all over in your mind, Jotham," said Mr. Wiggleton.

"Yes, I will," said Jotham.

The next morning Mr. Wiggleton attired himself in his best suit and went to the cottage.

Mrs. Palmleaf received him in a charming wrapper with ribbon to match.

Mr. Wiggleton wasted no time in useless preliminary chitchat.

"Mrs. Palmleaf, ma'am," he began, a little nervously, "I have concluded to change my condition."

"Indeed!" said the widow, smiling like an open rose. "I am so glad to hear it."

"And I am here this morning to ask you to be my wife!" pursued our hero, boldly.

"You are kind, sir," said Mrs. Palmleaf, blushing, and looking prettier than ever, "but I—I really couldn't."

"And why not?" demanded Mr. Wiggleton, fairly taken aback by this unexpected answer.

"I am engaged!" owned up the charming widow, playing with the ribbons at her belt.

"Might I dare to ask—that is——"

"Oh, certainly. It's Jotham Hardcastle."

Mr. Wiggleton stammered out a sentence or two of congratulation and took his leave.

And when the "spring wheat" reared its green tassels on the hillside Jotham married the pretty young widow, and Mr. Wiggleton is single yet. He always felt as if he had been fill treated, but he never could tell exactly how.—True Flag.

HER COMMON REPLY:

"I DON'T FEEL VERY WELL."

You Hear These Words Every Day Spoken By Women You Know.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

It's in their mind all the time.
It weighs upon them, it crushes them.

They are utterly miserable.

Don't you know the reason?

Don't you know that the cause of nearly all your trouble was discovered by a woman twenty years ago? Don't you know that from that day to this, thousands have been cured of the same life-killing tortures that now afflict you?

The words "Women's Complaints" represent misery untold, and have shortened thousands of beautiful lives.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes to you with physical salvation; nothing like it ever came into the lives of women. It relieves at once, and cures all the miseries that result from displacement and derangement of the womb.

Hear what this woman who once suffered and is now well says. Can proof be greater?

"All I have to say is, any woman who continues to suffer with any of those trying diseases peculiar to our sex is largely responsible for her own suffering, for if she will only apply to Mrs. Pinkham, relief will follow at once. This I know absolutely from my own personal experience. Her Vegetable Compound is a miracle. I have seen it cure womb troubles when all the wisest doctors failed.

"My sisters, don't hesitate. Write at once; relief is waiting for you."—Mrs. JENNIE STREET, San Francisco, Cal.

FRESH FOREIGN GOSSIP

Japan's Emperor Going to the Front.

Will Direct War Operations—Premier Crispi Makes a Notable Speech at Naples—The German Imperial Family Threatened With Violence at Marienburg.

Washington, Sept. 11.—A telegram was received at the Japanese legation announcing that the emperor would take up his residence at Hiroshima on the 13th inst., and that the headquarters of the army and navy would be moved to that place from Tokio.

Hiroshima is a large town on the inland sea about 550 miles from Tokio. It has hitherto been used as the base of operations for the movement of troops and supplies to Korea and other points and the action of the emperor in taking up his residence there is taken to indicate his intention of personally superintending active operations in the war at the point as near the scene of hostilities as practicable.

DEFIED THE CHINESE.

A French Captain Refuses To Have His Ship Searched.

London, Sept. 11.—The correspondent of the Central News at Shanghai telegraphs under to-day's date that the Chinese transport ship Chean, while proceeding for Formosa with 1,400 troops on board, was wrecked at Chetung. The soldiers and crew were conveyed to the shore in safety.

A French mail steamship about to sail for Japan was boarded at her wharf in Shanghai by officers who insisted on searching the ship for Japanese passengers, it being alleged that a number of Japanese military officers who had been trained in Europe were on their way back to Japan to enter active service.

The French captain refused to allow his ship to be searched, and threatened to call a French warship to his assistance if the Chinese officer persisted. The threat was effectual, and the Chinese retired.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS.

Premier Crispi Makes a Notable Speech at Naples.

Rome, Sept. 11.—Premier Crispi inaugurated in Naples yesterday the memorial erected in honor of King Humbert's visit to the city during the cholera epidemic of 1884. He made a notable speech, beginning with an historical review of recent Italian politics and closing with a declaration as to the social problems of to-day, especially the revolutionary movement. The social system was now passing, he said, through a momentous crisis. The situation had become so acute that it seemed absolutely necessary for civil and religious authority to unite and work harmoniously against that infamous band on whose flag were inscribed the words, "No God, no King." This band had declared war on society. Let society accept the declaration and shout back the battle-cry, "For God, King and Country."

The motto of God, king and country was not new, Crispi said, but the logical result of Mazzini's declaration after the plebiscite of 1860. In his eulogy of the king the premier said:

"Ten years ago, when the epidemic was mowing down its victims the true and generous king brought hope to this city by his words of sympathy. I remember with pleasure how cordially the king on that occasion met the Cardinal and Archbishop Sanfelice, of whom I cannot say whether his desire for well doing or his religious faith is the more ardent."

The politicians and clergy here regard this speech as the weightiest utterance of years. Its whole letter and spirit, they say, suggest the approach to an understanding between the government and the church.

THREATENED WITH VIOLENCE.

The Imperial Party at Marienburg Closely Guarded.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—The Graudenzer Zeitung says that, while the imperial party was at Marienburg, anarchists distributed revolutionary leaflets throughout the neighborhood. Besides stating the principles of anarchism, the leaflets threatened personal violence to the imperial party. The police around Marienburg have adopted the most elaborate precautions. Every stranger is obliged, as soon as he arrives, to sign a document giving details of his business, family and residence.

RELIEF FOR FIRE SUFFERERS.

About $70,000 Has Been Contributed in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—The first report of the state commission for the relief of the sufferers from the forest fires has been issued. The citizens of the state have contributed about $50,000 in money and $20,000 in clothing, food and lumber.

Besides several thousand dollars have been contributed from outside the state, principally from New York and Chicago. The commission finds the work of searching for and burying the dead now practically completed. Contributions of money are especially solicited. One lumber firm has made a proposition to care for twenty families and give them employment if the commission will build them homes.

Rescued Scientists on the Portia.

New York, Sept. 11.—The steamer Portia, from St. Johns, N. F., for this port, which ran down the schooner Dora M. French, sinking her, 112 miles east of Vineyard Haven, has on board the party of scientists who left for Greenland some time ago on the steamer Miranda, which vessel ran into an iceberg and was lost. The Portia is due here to-day.

A Frontier Dispute Settled.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—The frontier dispute between Germany and Portugal in East Africa has been amicably settled, the mouth of the Rovuma and Koonga rivers is awarded to Germany and Cape Delgado to Portugal.

Wrecked by Dutch Artillery.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Dutch artillery has wrecked Tjakra, Negara and Mataram on the island of Lombok. The Balinese Minister Djilantik has fled to Bali.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

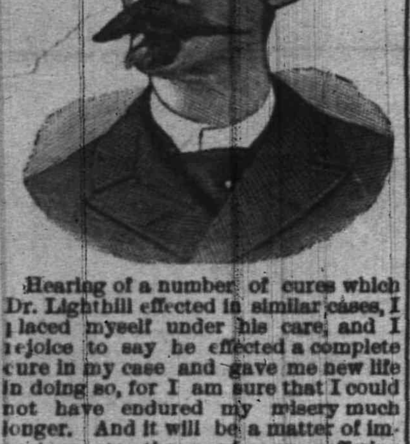
A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.



Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT, 304 and 306 Park avenue.

UNLUCKY TO THE END

Still the Cook Arctic Party Had a Good Time.

Not One of Them Received a Scratch Nor Suffered from a Day's Illness, and Many Are Anxious To Join Dr. Cook in a Similar Voyage He Proposes Next Year.

New York, Sept. 12.—Dr. Cook, who returned yesterday with his Arctic party, was seen at his home in Brooklyn this morning by a reporter. He was weather-browned and robust in appearance and said he was glad to say that despite their varied adventures and dangerous experiences all returned quite as well as he, not one of the fifty-three of the party who left New York having received a scratch nor suffered from a day's illness. Indeed, more than half of the party were desirous of joining him in another Arctic trip next summer, and it was his present intention to repeat the trip with the hope of more successful and less trying results. The doctor said that a Hoodoo seemed to have followed them from the start. Before the Miranda had left her dock a few rats left the ship, a bad omen among sailor men. Of course the men of science aboard took no stock in Jack's superstition. The steering telegraph apparatus in the Miranda had been overhauled before starting on the voyage and was supposed to be in perfect order, but when, on July 7, Capt. Farrell signalled full steam astern to back out of the Brooklyn dock, the indicator reversed the message and the Miranda nearly crushed a schooner lying ahead, against the bulkhead. The compass, too, had been repaired, but two iron nails had been used in the work where brass should have been employed, and this so put the steamer out of her course that she was over a day late in getting to Sidney. The compass was put in order at St. Johns. Then followed the collision near Belle Isle on July 17, which necessitated a delay of ten days. Temporary repairs were made at Cape Charles harbor. As it was apparent that the delay resulting from a return to St. Johns, where permanent repairs were to be made, would interfere with the trip to North Greenland, where the sportsmen were bound on shooting bent, they decided to try their luck in Labrador. These, including a few scientists, divided up in three parties. One composed of Robert D. P. Tytus, J. I. Linaeweaver, J. P. Linaeweaver, Yale scientific students; Sanborn Tenny, of Williamstown, Mass., and W. T. Root, of Cleveland. These started directly inland from Cape Charles. They subsequently reached St. Johns, N. F., on Aug. 14, where they were to have joined the Miranda. They did not wait, however, but proceeded by regular steamer home.

The second party, out purely for hunting, joined the party of Esquimaux who were returning to their native wilds from New York and had taken passage on the Miranda. They were destined for Rigoulette, Labrador. The members of the party were Robert D. Pery, of Braintree, Mass.; Dr. W. A. Reeve of Patchogue, L. I., and William Bryce, of New York. They have not yet returned, but are expected about the 20th inst., returning from Labrador by the Coastal line steamer which carried the mail and many fishing parties from New Foundland to and from the various Labrador coast settlements. The number of persons fishing along this coast during the summer season, Dr. Cook says, is about 20,000.

After the Miranda struck on the rocks off Sukkertoppen and the services of the schooner Regel were obtained the members of the party were transferred to the schooner to their great discomfort, only to make assurance of safety doubly sure, for the officers of the Miranda felt quite certain that she could reach St. Johns. None of the specimens collected, however, were transferred to the schooner and were, consequently, lost when the Miranda went down. The officers and crew of the Miranda had only time to save their lives. Only what the scientific men carried in their minds or in memorandum books are brought back. The scientific specimens were all from Greenland. Prof. L. Dyche, of the Kansas State university, E. A. McIlhenny, ornithologist of Louisiana, and H. Travers, of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, had in two weeks collected 500 specimens of the bird life of Greenland, the largest ever made. Prof. W. A. Brewer, of Yale, assisted by Samuel P. Orth, of Oberlin, had collected 6,000 botanical specimens, also the largest collection of its kind from Greenland, and consisting principally of lichens and mosses. R. Kersting, photographer, of New York, secured 1,000 exposures of the forms of life, scenery and country of Greenland the first dry plate exposures ever obtained in that country.

The Regel took the party to Cape Breton. The steamer St. Pierre brought a portion of them to Halifax where passage was taken on the Portia, those returning on her being:

Prof. Wm. H. Brewer, of Yale; B. C. Jillson, Pittsburg; Prof. L. L. Dyche, of the Kansas State university; Arthur Thompson, New York; Russell W. Porter, Boston Institute of Technology; Prof. Elias P. Lyon, of Harvard school, Chicago; H. Travers, American Museum of Natural History, New York; Henry C. Walsh, New York; Prof. A. A. Freeman, Andover, Mass.; R. Kersting, New York; L. J. W. Joyner, River View academy, New York; E. C. Littell, Washington, D. C.; F. Berger, New York city; Carl Garrison, Merchantville, N. J.; S. P. Orth, Oberlin, O.; P. S. Evans, Yale college; Dr. Creamer, New York, and Dr. Cook.

Charles E. Reed, of Worcester, Mass., and B. F. Staunton, of Oberlin, left the Miranda at St. Johns after the iceberg collision and returned home at that time. Clinton Rumril, of Yale, remained on the schooner Regel to look after such belongings as were left aboard and is returning in her to Gloucester.

On the whole a more unlucky Arctic expedition has seldom occurred, ill-luck being encountered up to the last moment. Monday the Portia, while carrying the party back to New York, after their summer's hardships, rammed and sank the three-masted schooner Dora M. French, of Bangor, Me., from Hoboken for Boston, laden with coal. Four men lost their lives. One man was saved. The collision occurred at 1 o'clock in the afternoon about two miles south of Vineyard Haven sound light. There was a fog at the time and a fresh southwest wind.

Excited Over Liquor Licenses.

Corning, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The residents of Avon, Livingston county, are greatly excited over the granting of licenses to two hotels to sell intoxicants. Last spring they elected no license commissioners and the town has been "dry" until these licenses were granted. Robert E. Smith, the commissioner who voted for the license, has been compelled to withdraw from the Methodist church and James Whiting, who went on the bond of one of the hotel keepers, was compelled to make a public confession in the church, acknowledging his wrong and professing his penitence.

Wind and Rope Save Two Lives.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Acting Police Captain Colgan reported to headquarters last evening that an attempt to commit murder and suicide had been prevented by a strong breeze and a clothes line. Soon after 1 o'clock, he says, Peter McArdle, 29 years of age, of 22 York street, threw Mamie McArdle, aged 5, the daughter of his brother, out of the second story window and leaped after her. The child was buoyed up by her clothes as she fell, and, while injured, was not killed. The man struck a clothes line, which broke his fall and saved his life.

K. of T. Parade at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The Knights Templars Grand Commandery enjoyed a surprise party yesterday in having a parade unmarred by rain falling on the line or preventing its formation. The march started at 3:27 p. m. The procession moved in a perfect ovation along the whole route. The visiting commanderies made an imposing appearance. Twelve bands enlivened the air knights with martial airs on the march. Washington commandery, the home organization, turned out with 150 men in line.

Prohibition Nominations.

Geneseo, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The prohibition county convention held here placed in nomination a full county ticket to be voted for at the coming election. William McLeod heads the ticket for the assembly.

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 12.—Twenty-five delegates of the Fourth congressional district attended the prohibition convention here yesterday afternoon. William R. Miles, of Danbury, was nominated for congress. A full county ticket was also nominated.

Great Sun Council of Redmen.

Binghamton, N. Y. Sept. 12.—Redmen, representing every part of the great reservation of the United States, assembled in Stone hall yesterday to assist in the deliberations of the Great Sun council. The report of great chief of records, Charles C. Conley, shows a total membership of 132,705 in the tribes and of 24,144 in the degree of Pocohontas. A great public meeting was held in Stone Opera house last night. A big parade of the Redmen was reviewed by Gov. Flower in the afternoon.

THE COLONEL HARD HIT

Monster Owen Barbecue at Paris, Ky.

Fifteen Thousand People Drink Freely of Burgoo, Devour Hundreds of Pounds of Beef, Mutton and Chickens and Cheer the Speakers' Denunciations of Breckinridge.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 12.—The last barbecue of the campaign was given yesterday at Paris, the county seat of Bourbon county, by the supporters of Mr. Owen. In many respects it was a greater success than the one held in Lexington, Aug. 22. Everybody had plenty to eat, twelve hundred gallons of burgoo being consumed in addition to the thousands of pounds of barbecued beef, mutton, ham and chickens. The barbecue was held on the Paris Fair grounds and a conservative estimate places the number of people at 15,000. Seated on the speaker's stand was many of the most prominent men in central Kentucky. The one person that attracted more attention than all the others was the mother of Mr. Owen, a typical Bluegrass matron who looks young enough to be the sister of the candidate for congress rather than his mother. Mrs. Bryant, a sister of Mr. Owen was also on the stand as was Mrs. James H. Mulligan, Mrs. Dennis Mulligan, Mrs. Marie Dudley, Miss Alice Mulligan, Miss Fannie Carrier and Miss Laura Dudley, of Lexington.

The first speech of the afternoon was made by Emmett Dixon, member of the legislature from Bourbon county, who after testifying to the high character of Mr. Owen, urged the voters to go to the polls and vote for Mr. Owen on next Saturday. He was followed by Judge Jere Morton, of Lexington, who made a stirring appeal to the manhood of the district to turn Breckinridge down. Then followed one of the most touching scenes of this remarkable campaign. Mr. Lockhart, who was master of ceremonies introduced Col. William E. Simms, a man of 72 years, with hair and beard as white as snow. It was the first speech he had made since the war. During these troublesome times he was a member of the confederate senate and before the war he represented this district in the congress of the United States. The tall, trembling form shook with emotion when he began in a voice almost destroyed by age to tell of the deep disgrace and humiliation that would come to this proud people, if they returned Col. Breckinridge to congress. It seemed, he said, as if the whole world is looking upon us and thousands and thousands of faces looking up to God, protesting to him against the return of this man.

Col. Simms was followed by Judge George B. Kinkaid, of Lexington, who made an appeal to the voters to retire Col. Breckinridge from public life. Addressing himself to the workingmen he repeated that part of Col. Phil Thompson's speech in the famous trial at Washington, when he said that it was better for the daughter of a poor man to be the mistress of such a man as Breckinridge than to be the wife of an honest workingman. In the most dramatic manner Judge Kinkaid exclaimed: "Take this question home with you and I will not ask will you vote for Col. Breckinridge, but I will say dare you vote for him, after looking into the bright eyes of your little girls and think what fate might be in store for them."

Mr. Owen then took the stand and for an hour was listened to with marked attention. He made one of the strongest speeches of the campaign and the way he scored Col. Breckinridge set his hearers wild. He did not believe, he said, that Breckinridge had one drop of manly blood in his veins or he would not have shocked the whole civilized world, the entire people of the union, the people of his state and of his district and of his home, by making the race for congress after he had confessed to the terrible crimes that had been proven against him. He closed his address by declaring that should he be elected to congress he would wish to hear no sweeter song than that he owed that great honor to the proudest and best womanhood that ever graced and blessed a land.

Charges a Pastor With Assault.

Boston, Sept. 12.—Civil suit for damages has been brought by Mrs. Phillip Morrison, wife of the sexton of the First United Presbyterian church, corner of Berkeley and Chandler streets, against Rev. John Hood, pastor of the church. The case is assigned for Saturday in the municipal court. Mrs. Morrison claims that Mr. Hood assaulted her last Sunday evening by striking her in the face with his fists. The assault is an incident in an era of hard feeling that has prevailed for six months or more between two factions in the church.

Daly Engages Cissy Loftus.

London, Sept. 12.—The Daily Telegraph's Paris correspondent says that Augustine Daly has engaged Mrs. Huntley McCarthy, formerly Cissy Loftus, to take the ingenue roles formerly played by Ada Rehan. Mr. McCarthy, son of the anti-Parnellite leader, has been engaged to adapting and translating. The contracts of both are good for three years.

WALKER IN THE LEAD

Lawler a Close Second for Commander-in-Chief.

Judge Long Withdraws from the Fight—An Effort To Be Made To Prevent Political Criticism from Entering the Grand Army Encampment This Year.

Pittsburg, Sept. 12.—The national Grand Army parade of '94 is an event of the past, and to-day the delegates to the encampment and to the numerous auxiliary and women's associations are beginning to get down to solid legislative business. The parade itself, while not as imposing in numbers or as replete with striking or spectacular incidents as most of its predecessors for a decade or more, was nevertheless a decidedly creditable affair. In the matter of numbers the veterans fro Ohio and the Keystone state saved the day, while the attractive appearance and military bearing of the posts from New York, Massachusetts, Illinois and the department of the Potomac lent a grateful relief to the column. There was something pathetic in the silent story of hard times and unyielding railroad magnates that was told by the straggling delegations from Kansas, California, Nebraska, Iowa—which had but a single veteran in line—Colorado and other western states that have sent their contingents by the train-load in years gone by. The spectators, however, were not disposed to be critical, and the marching veterans were abundantly repaid by the avalanche of cheers that came from hundreds of thousands of throats from the starting point to the reviewing stand at the finish.

There will be no political and no pension-administration criticism in the encampment of the present year if the many leading delegates can have their way.

The report from the National Capital that certain individuals or organizations had adopted resolutions condemning or criticizing Secretary Hoke Smith and the pension department for alleged discrimination against ex-soldiers, and that these resolutions are to be presented to the encampment for endorsement has stirred up a good many delegates who in previous years have themselves done more or less thinking in the same direction, but who have come to the same conclusion that it is just as well for the Grand Army to attend to its own affairs. One of these, an ex-national officer from Ohio who has attended as many encampments as any of his fellow delegates, said to-day to the representative of the United Press:

"If these resolutions are introduced they should be promptly squelched, and they will be. There has been quite enough of this business of administration meddling and criticising in the past and it is mainly responsible for the statement every now and again that the Grand Army is little more than a political organization. There must be a time when we shall be compelled to sit down on the interjections of these subjects into our annual conventions and there's no time like the present for that purpose. We may as well shut down on it for once and for all."

Indirectly the same question had a strong bearing upon the candidacy of Judge Long, of Michigan, for the position of commander-in-chief. A month ago he was regarded as a strong candidate. After his arrival on the ground, however, a feeling developed among the delegates that his candidacy at the present time was neither wise nor prudent, from the fact that his success must be construed throughout the country as an endorsement of his position and course in his contest with the pension department. This feeling, it was said, made itself manifest in suggestions to the Michigan delegation that his name should be withdrawn from consideration for this year at least.

This resulted in Judge Long withdrawing his name for commander-in-chief last night, in a long letter in which he reviews his pension case, and declares that his candidacy should not be regarded as bringing partisan politics into the national encampment.

The fight between Walker, of Indiana, and Lawler, of Illinois, waxed exceedingly warm and an effort was made by the Kansas delegation to start a boom for ex-Congressman Morrill, the present candidate for governor and author of the Morrill pension bill. They did not succeed, however, in making any headway, the argument being advanced that in case of his election to the governorship he could not also perform the duties of commander-in-chief.

A large number of delegates have so far refused to commit themselves, but the indications this morning are the Indiana man continues in the lead with the Illinoisian a close second Gains for St. Paul as the scene of the next encampment were reported this morning by ex-Governor McGill and his campaign committee. General Lucius Fairchild, of Wisconsin, was one of the principal callers that brought promises of votes and co-operation and several delegates from Illinois, Colorado, Michigan, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania were also enrolled under the St. Paul banner. Support is claimed from New York, but this state is pledged to Louisville by the action of its encampment. A boom for Kansas City was launched last night and Commander Campbell wired home for 1,500 Kansans to assist in the fray. The Louisville boomers, however, are not a whit dismayed by the tactics of the opposition and claim to have so large a majority pledged as to be able to throw a few votes to enable one of the other contestants to present a respectable showing.

It develops to-day that there is a wheel within a wheel in the contest for commander-in-chief. New York wants the adjutant generalship, as does also Boston and Philadelphia.

The error of separating the adjutant general from his commander has been demonstrated time and again, not only in the greater expenses incurred, but in the inconvenience generally to the order that resulted and a large proportion of the delegates are against the idea. It is understood that sufficient eastern support to insure his election has been offered to Commander Lawler, on condition that the adjutant general goes to the east, but that he promptly declined to make any pledges. The eastern delegates, however, hold in a measure the key to the situation, and it is whispered that if it is found impracticable to make a trade with a western candidate, a way will be found of keeping the office of adjutant general in the east by re-electing Commander Adams for a second term. Ex-Commander-in-Chief John P. Rea, of Minnesota, General Lucius Fairchild and ex-Commander-in-Chief Weissert, of Wisconsin, will make the nominating speeches for Lawler.

The national convention of naval veterans elected officers as follows: Will G. Atkins, Cincinnati, commodore; George C. Ireland, Brooklyn, captain; G. W. Shaw, Zanesville, O., commander; Joseph J. Gilman, Boston, lieutenant-commander.

One hundred delegates were present last night at the opening of the national convention of ex-prisoners of war. They were welcomed by Mayor McKenna. President Charles Davis, of New York, in his annual report, referred to the depletion in members of the organization. Seventy thousand ex-prisoners, he said, were dead, and less than 20,000 were living. These were entitled to proper recognition from congress and which they should have received long ago. Vice-President Grant reported that the past year had not been favorable for legislation in behalf of ex-prisoners of war, but he hoped that the time was near when their petitions would receive just recognition.

General Lucius Fairchild presided over a rousing campfire at the old city hall, and speakers, including Governors McKinley and Pattison and Senator Charles F. Manderson, of Nebraska, and Governor Rich, of Michigan, Henry Watterson and General Daniel Butterfield, were present. Later, the same speakers, with the addition of ex-Governor Rodgers and Church Howe, of Nebraska, addressed a campfire in Carnegie hall, Allegheny, and over which ex-Congressman William Warner, of Kansas City, presided. The speakers at other reunions included Hon. F. H. Pierpont, Corporal Tanner and Rev. Walter Elliott, of New York.

When the delegation of two, proudly bearing aloft the barred flag of Hawaii beside the stars and stripes and the colors of California, put in an appearance with the California delegation in the parade, yesterday, there was wild cheering both for the men from the Golden State and those from the Pacific isles, and many awoke for the first time to a realization that the G. A. R. is a brotherhood so far-reaching that it may be practically said to circle the globe

Hopeful Signs at Dansville.

Dansville, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Indications of returning prosperity are apparent on every side here. The wage earners feel greatly relieved at the prospect of work during the coming fall and winter season in the local industries. The business of the Dansville Chair company is fairly booming. Orders are coming in at such a rate the managers are compelled to run the establishment to its fullest capacity, and the force of workmen are kept on duty twelve hours each day. A dozen other manufacturers report the same condition of affairs.

The President's Vacation.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 12.—The president yesterday entertained Mr. and Mrs. Thurber and Miss Thurber, who came down from Marion for the day, returning on the afternoon train. Later in the day, in company with Mrs. Cleveland, the president drove over to the village and called on Joe Jefferson and family at Crow's Nest. While President Cleveland has been to Mr. Jefferson's once before this season this was the first time that he has driven through the village.

Alleged Thefts of State Timber.

Albany, Sept. 12.—Nothing has been given out by the comptroller's office in relation to the charges made that state timber is being stolen in the Adirondacks in collusion with the state officials whose duty it is to guard the state forests. It is learned that the statements are based on affidavits of the most positive character from persons who have taken the timber from state lands by the connivance of certain officials.

Knocked Out in Three Rounds.

Bradford, Pa., Sept. 12.—Ed Burke, of Louisville, and Hite Peckham, of this place, fought for gate receipts at Comus hall here last night. The fight was brisk for two rounds, Peckham having all the best of it. Peckham broke Burke's nose with an upper-cut in the last part of the second round, and Burke laid down in the third round. The fighters were welter-weights.

Big Brick Company Fails.

Hackensack, N. J., Sept. 12.—The Mehrhof Bros. Brick Manufacturing company, of Little Ferry, one of the most extensive plants of its kind in the United States, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. The plant is said to be worth $500,000. The debt is said to be $150,000 on mortgages and borrowed money.

ONE MORE FLAG NEEDED

Annoying Omission in the Naval Code of Etiquette.

No Provision for Announcing the Presence Aboard a Cruising Warship of the Assistant-Secretary—No End of Signalling Necessary To Bring Forth Prescribed Salutes.

Washington Sept. 12.—Assistant Secretary McAdoo took charge of the navy yesterday, relieving Admiral Ramsey, who has been doing double duty for the past three weeks. Mr. McAdoo will have five or six days of complete authority before Secretary Herbert returns, but in that brief time it is understood that he will correct an omission in the official code of etiquette of the department. When Gen. B. F. Tracy took charge of the navy department a flag for the secretay of the navy was legalized. It was a blue square with a fouled white anchor in the center, offset by a white star in each corner, and the naval regulations were made to provide for all sorts of ceremonies and salutes when this flag was displayed at the mainmast of a warship. Article 63 commanded all officers to assemble in the quarter-deck in special dress whenever the secretary visited a ship officially. Furthermore, the marine guard paraded, the drum gave four ruffles, the bugle sounded for flourishes and the entire brass band marched, while the blue square of bunting went aloft. When the secretary left the ship the same ceremonies were carried out, with the additional booming of seventeen guns.

Several pages of regulations relate to these displays of respect for authority.

When congress created the office of assistant secretary of the navy and J. R. Soley was appointed to the position, a similar code was provided for him under his own supervision. His flag resembled in all respects that of his superior except that the colors were reversed, the ground was white and the ornaments blue. Two months before the end of the Harrison administration Mr. Soley undertook a thorough revision of the regulations, which had become much confused by the numerous orders issued since 1876, when they were last compiled, and, presumably by accident, he left out the assistant secretary's flag, and the only reference to the assistant secretary so far as honors and distinctions were concerned was crowded into a single regulation, as follows:

"When the assistant secretary of the navy visits officially a ship of the navy he shall be received with suitable ceremonies. At his departure the same ceremonies shall be observed and a salute of fifteen guns shall be fired."

Nobody noticed the modification until six weeks ago, when Assistant Secretary McAdoo took his first official cruise to inspect the naval reserve battalions in Long Island sound, and then his curiosity was aroused by the excessive activity of the signal men on the Dolphin, upon which he was, whenever that vessel hove in sight of a warship. Dozens of small flags had to be hauled up and down before the responsive salute of fifteen guns took place. It was not until afterwards that the assistant secretary learned the reason of so much flag flying, which was that the Dolphin was taking the only way open to notify other ships of the presence of the assistant secretary of the navy.

Mr. McAdoo is thoroughly democratic, but he has been advised that it will save much time and promote general efficiency in the navy if he is going to do much cruising to restore the assistant secretary's flag, and it is probable that the next general naval order will relate to this subject.

AGAINST CHINA.

A Treaty Negotiated Between Korea and Japan.

London, Sept. 12.—The morning Post to-day prints this dispatch from Tokio:

"A treaty alliance between Japan and Korea was signed at Seoul on Aug. 26. The first clause says that the object of the treaty is to accomplish the independence of Korea and to promote the common interests of Korea and Japan by expelling the Chinese troops from the peninsula. In the second clause Japan promises to operate against the Chinese force both defensively and offensively, and Korea pledges herself to aid her with provisions and other means. The third clause says that the treaty will be operative during the present Chinese-Japanese war."

Return To Primitive Christianity.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—The Church of Apostolic Faith and Order is the name of the new religious sect which has been started here. The members are mostly Baptists and their leader, Rev. H. W. Evans, is an old Baptist minister. The movement is a return to primitive Christianity, to the time when choirs, pew rent, salaried ministers and the thousand and one refinements of modern religion were unknown. The members claim that this movement is due to a general dissatisfaction among Baptists.

Nominated for Congress.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—The democratic state convention recalled to nominate two candidates for congressmen-at-large, to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Hannibal K. Sloan, and the declination of Joseph C. Bucher, met and after passing resolutions of regret at the death of Mr. Sloan, nominated Thomas Collins, of Centre, for representative-at-large by acclamation, and Henry E. Meyer, of Allegheny county, for the other vacancy.

Ammunition Seized at Havana.

Havana, Sept. 12.—The American steamer Yumuri, of the Ward line, which arrived here on Aug. 28, brought in her cargo nine barrels said to contain tallow, shipped in New York to order here. On examination by the customs officials the barrels were found to contain 50,000 cartridges. They were seized.

Pennsylvania Democratic Society.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic societies of Pennsylvania it was decided to hold the general assembly in Altoona on Oct. 12.

Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is now at home in his fine new house on East Second street.

Ferdinand Lissignolo bade good-bye to his Plainfield friends today and went to Nazareth for his final year in the military school.

A cousin of Miss Pheme Johnston, who has been spending a few days in Plainfield, has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

Miss Ida Johnson of Plainfield avenue will give a lawn party at her home tomorrow evening in honor of her guests, the Misses Roselle of Brooklyn.

Miss Edna Howell of Chester, Pa., is expected at the home of her aunt, Mrs. F. D. Whiting of East Sixth street, with whom she will spend the Winter.

The death occurred, yesterday of Miss Maggie E. Bass, second daughter of W. Alexander Bass of West Eighth street. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 3.

J. Aug. Hinchman, a valued occasional correspondent of The Press, has gone from Hotel Netherwood and will be an acquisition to the Winter's social life of Van Court Inn, Roselle.

Mrs. W. L. Saunders sailed by Old Dominion Line yesterday for a two-weeks stay at Old Point Comfort. Mr. and Mrs. Roome accompany her on the trip South, but return in a few days.

Amherst College commences tomorrow. The High School is represented by Everett Morgan and Stephen Rushmore in the Sophomore Class, and John C. Whiting and Fred W. Goddard among the Freshmen.

D. V. Rush, Jr., whose ice-cream manufactory at 241 State street, Perth Amboy, supplies many resorts along the shore, drove to Plainfield behind his fleet ponies yesterday and was welcomed by many friends.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Hotel Netherwood closed today.

—Have to stamp cards now. Seen 'em? Rand has a lot.

—Everybody who enjoys a great speech should hear Senator Hill in Somerville tomorrow.

—Warren engine had a successful wash corner of Grandview avenue and Grand street last night.

—The new North Plainfield hose wagon is expected to arrive the latter part of the month. It will be equipped for two horses.

—A valuable saddle horse owned by Mrs. Corliss died last night of colic, in spite of the skilful efforts of Dr. Pocock to save it.

—Clarence Leland today knocked down a nephew of Wm. Hagan while riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. The child's cheek was cut.

—Fulper, the great cash grocer at 207 West Front street, offers wonderful bargains the balance of this week. His 33-cent coffee is famous, and his peaches are so fine he has just sold another 500-basket lot.

—The owner of the Stelle Building has decided to lower to the level of the flagging the entire sidewalk platform. It is now in order for him to have Collier's front replaced by a more modern and waterproof show window. Then everything will be perfect.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Perseverance Lodge is providing watchers for Moses Terrill during his illness.

The Pythian Sisters very pleasantly entertained Mrs. E. L. Ward of Elizabeth last night on the occasion of her official visit.

A squad of men from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will be present at the festival of the Women's Relief Corps tomorrow evening in the Babcock Building, and will give an exhibition drill.

The degree team of Iona Council met in Red Men's Hall yesterday afternoon and went through the ritual. With frequent practice meetings the members hope to make the team the best in the State.

Stay Up to See It.

The partial eclipse of the moon next Friday evening commences at 10:39 p. m. and lasts until 12:31 a. m. The earth's shadow will cover about a quarter of the moon.

HIS JAWS LOCKED.

SMITTEN BY THE DISEASE WITHOUT APPARENT CAUSE.

Astonishing Case of a Scotch Plains Young Man in Muhlenberg Hospital—in Perfect Health Monday, a Victim Tuesday.

Augustus Rose of Scotch Plains, a nineteen-year-old farm-hand, was admitted to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon. He was suffering from lockjaw. He had received no scratch or cut to which the attack might be attributed.

The young man seemed to be in perfect health Monday. When he awoke yesterday morning the disease had made noticeable progress. He could talk well enough, but it was with difficulty that he ate his breakfast. He was examined by Dr. J. B. Harrison of Westfield, who concluded that the young man had the lockjaw. He thought a heavy cold might have brought about this condition.

Rose then drove to the hospital and was sent to Dr. George W. Endicott, who admitted him for treatment in the hospital, recognizing the case as one of lockjaw. The patient first returned to Scotch Plains and then came back to the hospital with his employer.

Augustus is the son of William Rose. He has worked since he was nine years old for Fred. Hoppell, a prosperous farmer whose land lies half a mile from Scotch Plains on the road to Westfield. His father has been living in Warrenville, but is now working for Mr. Hoppell. His elder brother, Fred. Rose, left the same farm and came to Plainfield where he is now employed in the Scott Press Works.

The condition of the young man remains the same this afternoon. He has taken no nourishment since yesterday morning.

OBJECTED TO BEING DUNNED.

So Butcher Weber Took a Cleaver to Manager Tolles.

R. I. Tolles, manager of the Union Beef Company, went early yesterday afternoon to the meat market of Michael Weber on East Third street and endeavored to collect a bill. A quarrel ensued. Neighbors say that in response to a blow from Weber Tolles landed telling punishment on Weber's face. Weber essayed to chop Tolles with a cleaver, but was held by Mrs. Weber and their daughter.

The butcher went immediately to Justice Nash's Court, swore out a warrant, and returned home to await further prosecution this afternoon.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Ernest Hand, H. O. Hance, E. H. Smith and George Moy joined the Crescents last night.

Several Jersey City wheelmen passed through here yesterday on their way from Jersey City to Philadelphia.

Fred P. Taylor of Rockview Terrace, when returning yesterday afternoon from the Crescent Oval, punctured his tire, and was forced to lead his machine into town.

In Springfield yesterday Monte Scott qualified for the two-mile handicap to the run tomorrow afternoon. He rides from 40 yards with a 30 yard man as scratch and a 260-yard limit man before him.

Several of the High School Athletic Association wheelmen rode yesterday over the course of today's run. They report the roads in fine condition, Monday's rain making even the dirt roads hard and smooth.

The Crescents have received official notice that their six riders in the Associated's 25 mile road race Labor Day won the club first prize for having the greatest number of survivors. The prize is a hall hat-rack presented by George W. Coffin of Newark. A plate with the names of the six racers will be placed upon it.

The newly elected Board of Governors of the Crescent Wheelmen met last night and elected the following officers: President—W. H. Rogers; Vice-president—F. L. C. Martin; Secretary—John Petrie; Treasurer—James F. Buckle; Chairman of Racing Board—C. S. Teel. Other members of the Racing Board will be chosen by the chairman.

The Lantern Parade Committee of the Crescents met last night and decided to ask for a co-operating representative from each of the other cycling organizations in the city. The parade will be held Thursday evening, September 27, the start being made at 7 from in front of the Crescent Avenue Church. There will be two prizes, one for the man and one for the woman exhibiting the best cycle decorations. The line of march and other details will be arranged later. The unattached riders will be under the direction of a competent captain.

The Senator Invited to Plainfield.

Samuel Conover, lessee of Hotel Albion, has sent the following letter of invitation to his personal friend, Senator Hill:

PLAINFIELD, Sept. 8, 1894.

Hon. David B. Hill.

MY DEAR SENATOR:—I learn that you are to be at the Somerset County Fair at Somerville Sept. 13, 1894.

It will give me the greatest pleasure to welcome you as my honored guest at my hotel, The Albion, at Plainfield, on that day, and as many days before or after as it suits your convenience to remain. Believe me

Always faithfully yours,
SAMUEL CONOVER.

Mr. Conover was Member of Assembly of the State of New York in 1887-'88, on the Park Commission of the City of New York for five years, and was a close and warm friend of the late Samuel J. Tilden.

THIS WILL CONTEST DIDN'T PAY.

Costs Put on the Contestant, and Caustic on His Lawyer.

Judge McCormick today ordered Robert Brandt, the caveator in the Brandt will case, to pay all the expenses caused to the estate by the litigation, and to pay the lawyers for the will, Craig A. Marsh and William M. Stillman, $250, whom he praised for their honorable course.

In referring to the matter he again spoke of the contest as a most unwarranted one, the like of which he had never had before him, and expressed his opinion of the caveator's counsel, Attorney Winfield S. Angleman. Mr. Stillman says that Robert Brandt will have to pay out altogether about $1,000 for bringing the case to court.

A PLAINFIELD LAWYER RECEIVER.

President See Secures the Appointment in an Important Matter.

Counselor James P. Northrop of 143 Crescent avenue was appointed receiver for the Mehrhof Bros. Brick Manufacturing Company of Little Ferry, Monday evening, by Chancellor McGill. The application for a receiver was made by Wm. G. E. See of Plainfield on behalf of Nicholas Mehrhof and others. The financial difficulties of the concern were brought about by lack of business, and a general falling off in demand for bricks. So far as can be ascertained the liabilities do not exceed $150,000. The assets exceed $400,000.

The company's plant is one of the largest and best equipped in the State. Receiver Northrop has qualified by furnishing $25,000 bonds, the amount required by the Chancellor. Mr. Northrop has gone to Little Ferry and assumed control of the plant.

CHANCE FOR THE NEEDY.

Those Who Want Work, Get on the List.

Mayor Gilbert and Mrs. Woodruff, agent of the Organized Aid Association, will tonight confer with the sewers contractor and urge him to employ the worthy men who are on their list as in need of employment. One man who formerly got $3 a day as machinist says he'll be glad to get down in the ditch, to work for his living, rather than depend on charity.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Green Brook Has Its Bed Washed.

Foreman J. J. Stahl and several other North Plainfield firemen are today flooding the bed of Green brook from the rear of the Babcock Building to the Washington Avenue bridge. They use many lengths of hose, attached to a hydrant, and the stream uproots the weeds and cleans out the stagnant and foul-smelling waste.

Court Coddington.

A Liberty street father and son were in the City Court this morning. They were charged with having used profane language and joining to fight a neighbor last Saturday night. Each paid a fine of $5.

Andrew Lot, arrested for being drunk and disorderly on Liberty street last night, was sent to Elizabeth for 20 days by Judge Coddington.

Court Mosher.

Justice Mosher will try the landlord and tenant case of McGinley against Chapman September 19.

The case on contract of Johnson & Co. against Miller will come up Sept. 20.

Praise from London.

Five show wagons belonging to the London Zoo passed through town yesterday morning on their way to Somerville. The æsthetic drivers were heard to comment on the beauties of Plainfield.

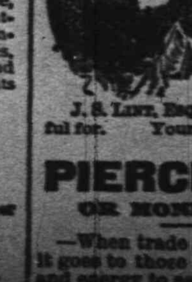
A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

EXPELLED

—every poison and impurity from your blood with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Rheumatism has its origin in a poisoned condition of the blood and is always relieved by this remedy, which acts on liver, kidneys and blood. Dyspepsia and stomach troubles are most often the result of a diseased liver. Rouse the torpid liver to action with the "Discovery."



J. S. LINT, Esq.

I feel a great deal better than I did before taking your "Golden Medical Discovery" for my rheumatism, and it does all that it is recommended to do. I have a daughter who was troubled with a weak stomach so that she vomited everything that she ate and the "Discovery" cured her also, which I am thankful for. Yours truly, JOHN S. THE RUIN OF A GOWN.

LAWSUIT RESULTS FROM A WEDDING CELEBRATION.

South Plainfield Young People Sought to Serenade the Bride and Groom, and Were Rewarded with an Onslaught of Pickle Brine.

The case of Miss Mamie Manley against Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald in Justice Wood's Court, Metuchen, was adjourned yesterday for one week. The case is brought to recover $13 damages, the cost of a dress which the plaintiff claims the defendant ruined.

The affair that brought about the litigation is the talk of South Plainfield, the serenading of Neil Ahearn and his bride. Mr. Ahearn came from Pennsylvania to South Plainfield and married Miss Mary Fitzgerald, daughter of Hotel-Keeper Patrick Fitzgerald. The marriage became known August 15, and when the bride and groom returned from a drive to Boynton Beach that day preparations for serenading them began.

The Fitzgeralds did not enjoy the noise which the younger people of the neighborhood thought was necessary. The knowledge that the racket annoyed the family led the serenaders to continue for several nights. A feature of the fun was the parading of the effigy of the groom.

The climax came the next Saturday night. A crowd of young men gathered in a vacant lot opposite Fitzgerald's hotel and owned by John Hogan, a rival hotel man. A number of girls saw the fun the boys were having and went across the Hogan farm and joined in singing "Just One Year Ago Today, Love, I Became Your Happy Bride" while the effigy was burning.

It was 11 when Mrs. Fitzgerald crossed the street and approached the crowd. The 71 persons who were there say they were on the Hogan farm when Mrs. Fitzgerald threw slops at the mob from a pail. Mrs. Fitzgerald feels sure they were on the sidewalk when the affair occurred and says the liquid was salt brine from a pork barrel.

The amusement stopped for a moment. Those whose clothes had been wet went home and changed them. Half a dozen of those who were soaked are related to the Fitzgeralds. One of the girls lives in Elizabethport and had to borrow a dress before going home. John Hogan then threw open his house for a dance and the season of serenading ended.

Miss Manley brings the matter to court for a test case. Its settlement or dismissal will influence the actions of others in the affair.

A GREAT SOCIAL PROBLEM.

Are the Rich Growing Richer By Oppressing the Poor.

Eugene von Hartmann, in an article in a Berlin paper from which the Literary Digest translates a brief summary discusses as follows the question whether the rich are growing richer by making the poor poorer:

"During the last three generations wages have doubled and statistics show that the consumption of food and manufactures has increased in a most pleasing manner among the lower classes. The middle classes have increased numerically, in spite of the disadvantages under which the small trades labor, for engineers and other skilled workmen cannot be counted with the proletariat. These workmen may not be able to establish themselves separately, but the complicated machinery of our times makes it impossible to dispense with them, and many find ready employment in repairs. Skilled labor is, therefore, in greater demand than ever. Many also who perform unskilled labor are in easy circumstances, for the increase of remuneration for this kind of work has been proportionally the greatest. During the Thirty Years' War and after the wars with France in the beginning of the present century, the greater part of the lower classes belonged to the proletariat, i.e., the absolutely poor. To-day the proletariat is confined to the very lowest strain of society. To deny this would be to falsify statistics.

"The wealth of the rich has not, therefore increased at the cost of the middle classes or of the poor, whose condition shows much improvement. The small business concerns suffer from usury and the credit system, but both must disappear when these dwafed establishments cease to exist, and their proprietors find means of subsistence as foreman and manager of larger concerns. The proletariat will, of course, never cease to exist, but it must proportionally decrease in future even faster than in the past, although it may increase numerically.

The Socialists are pleased to point to this increase, especially where it is localized in the larger cities. But this absolute increase proves nothing in their favor, when it is accompanied by a relative decrease. The condition of both the middle classes and the proletariat neither shows a deteriorating movement in the past, nor does it threaten a change for the worst in the future."

Yes, He Could Shoot.

A colored man walked into the Tenderloin Precinct police station in West Thirtieth street, the other morning, leading a dog by a string.

The dog was long and tall and bony, and would have been of a fine buff color but that he was plastered with mud. He limped and whimpered at every step, and had apparently been run over.

"The colored man stated that the dog was a tramp and had better be killed. The Sergeant thought so, too, and called out the reserves.

"Which of you fellows is the crack shot?" asked the Sergeant.

They all were, and a tall argument ensued among the squad. Conroyd said he could drive a tack at twenty paces. Davis said that Conroyd couldn't hit a flock of barns. In this wise the vaunts and taunts went around the company, until Max Hiller, whose portly form is familiar to the Broadway throng, was reached. He said nothing, but opened his coat and exposed on his breast a Schuetzenfest medal.

He was given the job. Hiller took the dog around in an alley near the station and tied him to a post against the brick wall. He was followed by his jeering companions, and as he started to lay his pistol against the dog's ear, they shouted, "Oh, take a range. Give the dog a show."

Hiller backed off a yard. He took careful aim. Suddenly there was a bang and a red flash, then a yelp and a brown flash, and when the smoke rolled away the dog was seen flying down the street a block away, humping his back and tearing up the mud at a locomotive pace.

Hiller, the redoubtable marksman, the Schuetzen's best champion, had shot off the string that bound the dog to the post.—Evening World.

THE CHAPEL KITCHEN.

ITS COMPLETION MARKED BY A HARVEST SUPPER.

Monroe Avenue Methodists Taste the Good Things of Life as Wholesomely Prepared by the Women of the Congregation.

The completion of the addition to the Monroe Avenue Chapel which gives the Ladies Aid Society of the chapel the convenience of a kitchen was celebrated last night. The women cooked a harvest supper to test the accommodations of the improvements, and then started to dispose of the supper to help defray the expense of constructing the addition. It was the first social affair held in the chapel since the finishing of the kalsomining and frescoing.

The women began to serve supper at 6:30. The tables arranged in the classrooms were soon surrounded by hungry people who had left their homes to eat supper with the society and rejoice with the members over the improvements. Those they met ready to serve them at the tables were Mrs. I. P. LaRue, Mrs. Brouard, Miss Haff, Miss Pugh, Miss Grace Palmer, Miss Kittie Ackerman, Mrs. A. D. Pearson, Mrs. H. L. Hayes and Mrs. J. H. Rogers.

The general management included the officers of the society:

President—Mrs. Stephen Haff.
Vice-president—Mrs. A. D. Pearson.
Secretary—Miss Brower.
Treasurer—Mrs. William C. Burt.

The New England style of supper was followed in the preparation of the bill of fare, among the more prominent dishes being Boston brown bread, beans and pie. Ice-cream was a modern addition which Mr. Brouard attended to. Mrs. Wenzel and Mrs. Fulton showed their skill in making coffee. The lighting was in keeping with the New England idea, the electric lamps having been rendered useless by the wire-breaking wind of Monday. In their places were kerosene lamps of all sizes and shapes.

But the customers in the chapel were not limited to the delights of the supper table alone. Other departments were included in the festival. In the centre of the building a candy booth decked with American flags and patriotic draperies of bunting was a fine attraction. Here the Misses Wenzel were in charge.

In front of the pulpit Miss Aldrich and Miss Beekman sold fruit from a long table ornamented with flowers and lighted with tapers. Nearby was the fancy table with Mrs. Burt and Mrs. Haff in charge. By the front door Miss Saums was kept busy serving lemonade. The Misses Daisy Brouard and Fannie Hayes were together at a table where they sold small fancy articles, all the work of their own hands. Young people were everywhere about the room, assisting the members of the society. The decorations of flowers and the bank of corn about the pulpit alcove were arranged by a number of them.

THE STORY OF FAUST.

It Will Have Perfect Reproduction in Music Hall This Week.

Faust, a learned alchemist, doctor of philosophy, having reached that age when all pleasures that this world contains fades, invokes the aid of the spirits to give him new emotions that life might be worth the living. In response to his frenzied appeal, Mephisto appears and agrees to give Faust youth, health and all the pleasurable enjoyment to be drawn therefrom on condition that when the gaunt has been run his soul shall belong to Mephisto.

Faust is dazzled and held spellbound by a beautiful vision of Marguerite, wrapped in an angelic halo, which fades away as he passionately rushes upon it. He accedes to Mephisto's demand and a compact is drawn between them. The aged and senile philosopher transforms into a handsome youth burning with passion and eager with anticipation. From this time forward his one thought is of Marguerite. Then follow his meetings with her, their mutual love; his betrayal of her confidence, the poisoning of her mother, while seeking only to make her slumber more deeply; the return of Valentine her soldier brother, whose anguish and rage know no bounds when informed of his blasted home. He meets Faust and by the devil's aid is killed.

Insidious Mephisto excites the justice loving neighbors of Marguerite by informing them of the seeming unnatural murder of her mother, and she is carried off to prison. Faust finds his way into Marguerite's cell through the intervention of the devil, only to find poor Marguerite partially demented. He proposes to carry her away to escape the dread consequences of her supposed crime; but at this time the gentle spirit goes out, and Mephisto claims Faust as his own, but he is saved by the intervention of the spirit of repentance and remorse. This story, made famous by the immortal Goethe, the Shakespeare of Germany, is a standard, and it will be produced in matchless style on Music Hall stage Friday night.

Assemblyman Codding Fights a Swindler.

A. H. Wilcox was arrested yesterday at the St. Denis Hotel on an order issued by Justice Lawrence of the Supreme Court in a civil suit brought by P. B. Stanbery of Ohio, and Assemblyman Charles M. Codding of Westfield, administrators of the estate of the late Rev. George Stanbery of Lexington, Ky. The suit is to recover $15,000 alleged to have been fraudulently obtained by Wilcox in 1890, from Rev. Mr. Stanbery in real estate transactions. A co-plaintiff in the action is Frederick S. Pusey of Philadelphia, who alleges that he was also taken in by Wilcox. The arrest is the result of clever detective work by Mr. Codding.

Tennis Finals.

The finals of the Hillside Tennis Club's championship tournament will be played Saturday afternoon. The final was postponed from Labor Day. Both competitors are in the best of condition, and a very interesting match may be expected.

PLAINFIELD'S PRISONERS.

Industrious Inmates of the State Prison Interviewed by Policemen Who Put Them There.

Policemen Frederickson and Flynn went to the State Prison Monday and watched a thousand convicts at work. They found Burglar Elston, who stole jewelry from O. M. Dunham four years ago, painting. His five-year sentence is nearly up, but he does not rejoice very much at the prospect of becoming a free man, as his health is poor.

To the Plainfielders it appeared that one-third of the prisoners were Negroes. Among these was Alonzo Randolph, who is just fairly started on a fifteen-year stay. The two other Plainfield criminals, John Winger, the burglar caught on Crescent avenue by Frederickson and sent down for 15 years two years ago, and Augustus VanEngle, who went to Trenton a year ago on a three-year sentence for assaulting Marshal Pangborn, were not found. The keepers were new and could not place the two men.

THEY BORROW A BABY.

Jane Acts a Part to Delude the Old Man into Paying Money.

The attraction in Music Hall tomorrow night will be the best of all the Frohman comedies, "Jane". Its success last year is well remembered by theatre goers, and the engagement then was most prosperous and pleasant. The company that will be seen in this comedy will no doubt be warmly welcomed, as it has among its members those artists that have made the comedy famous.

The story of the play can be profitably recalled at this time. A gay young London bachelor has been living for three years on the interest of an estate bequeathed to him on condition that he marries. This estate is in the hands of a trustee, who pays the young man the income because the latter has informed him that he has taken a wife. The young man is unduly extravagant, and one fine day the trustee resolves to go to London and remonstrate with him. When the young fellow learns of his coming, he is in a dilemma. He has no wife but he bribes the housemaid Jane to impersonate her. Jane has married William a man-servant, whom she persuades for financial reasons to consent to the deception. A baby is borrowed, and all manner of absurd devices are employed, to deceive the confiding old trustee. The fun is fast and furious through three acts, and finally explanations are made and all ends happily.

A Plainfield Voice for Woman Suffrage

The ample parlors of the Channing Memorial Church, Newport, were filled Saturday with a large and attentive audience, including many of the Summer residents. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, her daughter, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall of this city, and Dr. Henry Blackwell of Boston, made addresses on the question "Should Women Have the Ballot?" Great interest was manifested in the occasion.

It is especially interesting to Jersey people to learn that this very successful meeting was chiefly gotten up by a woman from our State, Dr. Mary D. Hussey of East Orange. She is an indefatigable worker in the cause of suffrage, not only in her own State but wherever she goes. Dr. Hussey is Secretary of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, and Mrs. Hall of Plainfield is its President.

Her Second Attack.

While walking on West Front street near Liefke's Bakery, last evening about 8, Miss Mary Howard was taken with a fit, falling to the sidewalk. Two or three men gave their assistance, and carried her to a drug-store near by. Dr. Carman was called, and administered a hypodermic injection in her left arm. In a short time she regained consciousness, and was able to accompany her mother home. She had a similar experience this Summer in Asbury Park while on an excursion.

A Distinguished Family.

The current issue of The Woman's Journal contains portraits and biographical notices of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, her husband the late Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe, and their five children, all of whom have been writers like their parents. They are the late Mrs. Julia Romana Anagnos, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall of Plainfield, Henry Marion Howe, Mrs. Laura E. Richards, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott.

Forced to Celebrate.

Charles Force will always remember the twenty-sixth anniversary of his birthday, in a very pleasant manner.

Last evening about 15 of his intimate friends surprised him, and it was complete for he knew nothing of it until the guests arrived. The evening was spent in social games and dancing, and refreshments were served.

Bergen's a Public Benefactor.

After two months of bitter fighting the Board of Commissioners of Somerville has granted the right of way through the main street of the town to the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company by the vote of four to three. Ex-Speaker James J. Bergen, president of the board, voted yes, thus breaking the tie and giving the company the franchise.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MORE SCHOOL ROOM.

EDUCATIONAL FATHERS RELIEVING THE OVER-CROWDING.

Say They Must Have a New Building—Apartment Being Fitted Up in the Wadsworth Building.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening to provide accomodations for the overflow from the primary classes of Bryant and Franklin schools. All the members were present except Mr. Lounsbury.

It was decided to prepare a room in the Wadsworth house by a slight change of partitions and to transfer to it the seventh-year grade that was transferred from the Franlin to the Bryant two years ago, and unite with it some of the pupils now in the overcrowded seventh-grade at the Franklin.

The room thus vacated in the Bryant will be used for the children that are now attending but half a day.

The Board members unanimously and emphatically insist that they must have a new building.

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Mrs. Edward Hand is spending two weeks in Keyport.

Lynus Walpole spent yesterday fishing for bass in the Passaic.

Miss Minnie Hosinger is visiting friends in Morrisania, N. Y.

Rev. J. S. Braker joined the Arcanumites at their meeting last night.

The Misses Hayes moved today to their new dwelling on Park avenue, Fanwood.

Miss Cora Lovens of Front street is in New Providence, spending a week with friends there.

The outdoor meetings of the Baptist Church will probably be continued throughout this month.

The plays in Music Hall, Plainfield, attract each time quite a number of the young men of the Plains.

The opening of school has evidently put a stop to the afternoon ball games of the boys of the twin villages.

The choir of the Baptist Church will have but one practice meeting this week. It will be held tomorrow night in the Manse.

No meeting of the new division Sons of Temperance was held Monday evening, the storm being the principal reason for the absence of a quorum.

Mrs. William D. Johnson closed the lunch room and stationery business which she has been conducting on Park avenue, yesterday. Both of the stores in the building, owned by the Baptist Church, are now empty in consequence.

The Board of Trustees met in the school Monday evening and continued their investigation of the breaking of the windows in the building. It was decided to let the matter drop, as it was thought that the boys had been careless in their shooting rather than malicious.

Mr. Froleigh's new horse was left standing untied by the house at 7:30 yesterday morning and ran away with the new buggy. Turning down Front street the rig struck Milkman Coles's wagon at Park avenue, the horse becoming freed from the harness in the collision. The animal then went on toward Mountain avenue and was captured. The only damage to the carriage was the breaking of the whiffletree and four spokes.

Dunellen.

A. A. Lake and family will move to Long Island in a few days.

Mrs. R. F. Howard of New York is the guest of Mrs. Albert Drake.

Mr. Churchill and family are home from their visit to Asbury Park.

George Coriell went to New Brunswick yesterday to attend the opening of Court.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Spencer of North Plainfield were guests of Dunellen friends yesterday.

John Kinney of Evona called on Dunellen friends yesterday while on the way to the Somerville fair.

Mr. MacElvers and family have returned to their home in Brooklyn after spending the Summer in Dunellen.

Postmaster Staats and W. S. Stevens drove to New Brunswick yesterday, on business. Mr. Staats's horse is one of the best on the road.

Lawyer George DeMeza of Plainfield brought suit in Justice Storms's court yesterday, against Paul Kratzel. The details of the suit were given in The Press last night.

Mrs. H. A. Reed of Philadelphia, who has been visiting for a few days in Dunellen, has gone to Plainfield, where she is stopping at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. T. Kaufman.

E. J. Von Minde, owner of the old Rice farm on the Greenbrook road, sold the place yesterday afternoon to Sylvester Dixon, the New York millionaire, for $36,000. Mr. Dixon will make it his country seat.

J. Quee of Brooklyn has rented through Charles Johnston, real-estate broker, the Hunt farm, and will take possession the latter part of this month. Mr. Quee is a large dealer in produce. William Riker has been engaged as manager of the farm.

Miss Mary Ellen Hague of Evona, celebrated the anniversary of her birthday yesterday, and last evening entertained a few friends from Dunellen. Those present were the Misses Lena and Anna Maier, Terrence Roynane, and Joseph Maier. Miss Hague was the recipient of several handsome gifts. The evening was pleasantly passed in a social way, and all joined in wishing Miss Hague many joyous birthdays. Choice musical selections and refreshments brought the happy event to a close.

In regard to the differences between Paul Kratzel and Adam Seader, Mr. Kratzel has the following to say: "Last April Adam Seader rented five rooms, a barn with two stalls, and a shed for two wagons, which has room enough for four wagons. About May 1 he purchased another wagon and placed that in the shed on the side belonging to me; and, wanting to use that myself, I objected. He then threw my things outdoors and made use of the entire shed. There was no lock on the shed door on my side, and I did not break anything. I unfastened the door by lifting the hook, and replaced my things where they belonged. When Mr. Seader returned Monday afternoon he threw my things out again. Now I am suing Mr. Seader for damages, having placed the matter in the hands of Judge W. A. Coddington of Plainfield."

New Market.

Mrs. Stanley Day is indisposed.

The band will practice tonight.

Stanley Day is trying to sell a dental chair.

Mrs. Elmer Shattle visited her mother, Mrs. Maitland, yesterday.

Percy Vail of New York spent a day in town.

The barber has given up and gone to Plainfield.

Charles Cornell of Amboy spent yesterday in town visiting friends.

Stanley Day, Jr., is putting up signs for Mr. Batchelor of Dunellen in Somerville.

Mrs. Roff has returned to Newark after spending two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Fulton.

David Roantree had a fainting attack at the Dunellen station Sunday evening, but regained consciousness in a few minutes.

One of the Lehigh engines had a mishap at the station a night or two ago, which delayed the local passengers about half an hour.

Last night about 1 a man riding at a terrific pace fell from a horse in front of Stanley Day's, and the horse went down, bruising itself considerably. It turned out to be a man after the doctor.

Sunday evening thieves entered the cellar of Frank Penrose and took almost everything available in the line of eatables. No attempt was made to gain entrance to the upper part of the house.

The concert given by the Vernon Brothers in the First-Day Baptist Church last evening was the best of its kind ever seen here, and was pleasing to all. The brothers took their parts well, and they rank among the most skilled and wonderful child musicians in this country; they kept the audience, which was a large one, thoroughly entertained, and all felt satisfied at the close that an evening could not be spent in a more pleasant manner. The receipts were about $30.

Finderne.

Leonora, the famous female contortionist, is a great drawing card for The Finderne, and those who have not seen her should take advantage of the few nights remaining to do so. She is all that has been represented, and her performance is wonderful, far above the average artists in her line. Her astonishing movements showing entire and half dislocation, astounding the audience at each performance, and gain for her unbounded applause. Yuccin, the Japanese juggler, is another card, and presents a pleasing exhibition of juggling which embraces some very difficult feats and a number of new features in this art. A brass band keeps everything lively during the performance, after which dancing may be indulged in to the music of the hotel orchestra. The performance commences at 8 and will continue every evening until Saturday. The piazzas are reserved for the guests and their friends, but the lawn directly in front of the stage is open to the public free of charge. A private dance will be given at the hotel this evening, and a stage to accommodate Plainfielders will leave the North Avenue station at 8.

WANTED—A PRECEPTOR IN GAYETY.

Education in Intelligent Diversion Is Greatly Needed.

Too keen a sense of the reality of life is the direct cause of half its diseases, of half its disasters. For while, under it, one class of men, in high revolt, fling themselves into dissipation, another class decline into slavish submission. They allow themselves no moment of forgetfulness, real or factitious. All capacity for diversion has died in them. They still eat and sleep—moderately—for nature requires that even of her machines; the steam-engine does no less. But of doing anything out of pure delight, they have quite lost the faculty. They are as if in some given moment they had said, and then had grimly adhered to it, "What is the use resisting? Nothing is possible in life but work."

If, instead of laying so much emphasis on a lesson that we can all be left to get by ourselves, our preceptors would only give us some effective guidance in confronting the reality of life lightly, they would render a genuine service. There is where we stand really in need of aid. In the sense of responsibility, which there is such zeal to inculcate, men were probably never before so strong as they are to-day. A larger number certainly, and probably a larger proportion of the whole than ever before, are exercising foresight and deliberate energy in meeting at least the material need of themselves and their families.

The degree of such foresight and deliberate energy is the sanctioned measured of our ascent from barbarism. Tried by it alone we show a splendid progress. We have mounted immeasurably—in business. But have we made a corresponding ascent in pleasure? The form of the barbarities changes a little, but are not our favorite diversions barbarities still? Of course we do not all, when we are are going in for a bit of pleasure, get drunk or engage in any of the grosser immoralities; but we do all, or very nearly all, waste and squander. Of either our time, or our money, or our strength, or all three, we make for our avowed pleasure an expenditure that brings us nothing. We do this too not wholly unawares. We are more or less disturbed over it in our conscience, and excuse ourselves by saying, "But a man cannot be working all the time; he must have some relaxation;" as if the only possible alternative to work was folly. The very weakness of the justification shows our need of intelligent guidance not in gravity, but in gayety. We should have over us some strong, wise measurer of the revels.—Scribner's Magazine.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

GEORGE M. PULLMAN.

The Inventor of the Sleeping Car. His Relations to His Employes.

George Mortimer Pullman, a man who has been much talked of lately because of his important relation to the great railroad strike, was born in Chautauqua County, New York, 63 years ago. When but twenty-two years of age, he took a big contract for moving warehouses and other large buildings along the line of the Erie Canal which was being widened, a contract which he carried out successfully. In 1859, he went to Chicago, and it was in that year he made the beginning from which the famous Pullman coaches with their latter-day luxury have been evolved. Mr. Pullman remodeled two day coaches into sleeping cars, and four years later, in 1863, he began the first regular sleeping car, which formed the model of the hundreds of this kinds of cars now in use. Seven years ago he designed the first vestibuled train, a feature in railroad traveling familiar to all who patronize railways.

GEORGE M. PULLMAN.

The town of Pullman, which lies near Chicago, has been often referred to as the most perfect town in the country. Its broad streets, fine water system, large public library, and the diverse and taking character of its architecture have caused it to be frequently held up as a model, and in many public exhibitions, including the Columbian Exposition, copies of this town have been shown to illustrate the best that has been attained by model town builders.

The great shops of Pullman have afforded employment to thousands of men, and until recently it had been supposed that the relations between employer and employe were excellent, and the workmen fortunate and contented. The recent strike proved that this was not altogether true, and many severe charges have been made against Mr. Pullman by his workingmen. They assert that they have paid unfair prices for rent, water, and other privileges of the model town, and they refuse to accept as verity the statement that a reduction in wages was necessary to prevent working at a loss as Mr. Pullman alleged.

$500 in Gold Given Away!

Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,

73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.

CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.

BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.

PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.

PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded; and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

Sandow Challenges Sandow.

Cincinnati, Sept. 12.—Irving Sandow, the strong man, who is filling an engagement here, has issued a challenge to Eugene Sandow for an athletic contest. Articles of agreement have been drawn up for an exhibition which will include all kinds of athletic contests, heavy lifting, calisthenics and a four-round glove contest If the challenge is accepted an effort will be made to bring the men together in this city. Each claims to be the original Sandow.

For a Trial of Horse-power.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The navy department has completed arrangements for the horse-power trial of the first of the battleships, and it is expected that the Maine will make an official run on Long Island sound about the end of the present week. The trial will be exclusively for the development of power, no consideration of speed or manoeuvring being involved, the hull being the product of government workshops at the New York navy yard.

Dutiable Diamonds.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The treasury department holds that diamonds other than glaziers' and engravers' diamonds are dutiable as precious stones, under paragraph 338 of the act of Aug. 28, 1894. This disposes of a supposed "kink" in the new law, which by erroneous punctuation seemed to bring all diamonds under the free list instead of simply those intended for miners, glaziers, etc.

Bribed Stamford Policemen.

Stamford, Conn., Sept. 12.—At the common council meeting Oliver G. Fessenden presented an affidavit signed by Mrs. E. B. H. Hopkins, in which she made oath that Policeman James O'Neill and William McMahon called on her recently and told her her son was in trouble for theft and offered to settle the matter if she would pay them $3, which she did. Charges have been preferred against the men.

Killed a Man and Worried to Death.

Albany, Sept. 12.—H. W. Reed, who was under arrest charged with murdering Thomas Nason, in the former's orchard Sept. 2, died yesterday in the city hospital. Reed was 80 years of age and had long suffered from kidney trouble, but since his arrest he has worried greatly and rapidly grew weaker till the end.

Senator Hill To Talk Agriculture.

New York, Sept. 12.—United States Senator David B. Hill arrived in this city last evening from Albany. He will deliver an agricultural address at Somerville, N. J., on Thursday. On his return to Albany he will stop over in New York city for a couple of days.

Died of His Injuries.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 12.—Capt. John T. Turner, for ten years yardmaster of the Richmond & Petersburg railroad, in Manchester, who fell from the top of a car Monday night, died from his injuries last evening.

Local Weather Forecast.

Fair; slightly warmer; westerly winds, becoming variable.

A Shooting Story Discredited.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad in this city stated last night that they knew nothing of the alleged shooting of Clarence W. Clark at Newark, N. J., on Sunday by his divorced wife. They discredit the accuracy of such an occurrence. The police authorities here have not heard of the case.

Boutelles Plurality Over 10,000.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 12.—Substantially complete returns from the Fourth Maine district elect Congressman Boutelle by the phenomenal plurality of 10,000 over Simpson, democrat. This is doubtless the largest plurality ever before given in the district.

Seriously Ill Far Away from Home.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 12.—A cablegram received here from Homburg, Germany states that E. B. Leisinring, of Upper Lehigh, is critically ill. His family are preparing to go to him. Mr. Leisinring is many times a millionaire and is one of the most extensive coal operators in the anthracite region.

Collector of Port at Albany.

Albany, Sept. 12.—A private telegram received in this city from Washington announces the appointment by President Cleveland of John P. Masterson, a Cleveland adherant in this city, as collector of the port and surveyor of customs at Albany.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE, Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

[illegible], N. J., July 1, 1894.

[illegible] the Public:

[illegible] public at[illegible] cure which [illegible] in my case. For [illegible] ten years I had been afflicted [illegible] a severe form of piles which finally [illegible] me the greatest pain and distress [illegible] ly all the time, and from which I [illegible] not obtain any relief, in spite of [illegible] my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

AT LOUISVILLE NEXT

Where the G. A. R. Will Meet in 1895.

Selection of a Commander-in-chief To Be Made This Afternoon—Delegates Beating All Records With the Dispatch of Work—The Present Pension Operations Attacked.

Pittsburg, Sept. 12.—Wednesday was designated in the official programme of the citizens' executive committee as "Banner Day" of Grand Army week. What with the reunions of no less than eighty-seven army corps, the opening of the encampment and of the conventions of the Women's Relief corps, the Ladies of the Grand Army, and kindred organizations and the parade of the ex-prisoners of war, the designation proved anything but a misnomer. Last night the delegates and prominent visitors to the encampment, to the number of 5,000 or more, participated as guests of the local committee in one of the most elaborate of social functions in the history of the state.

The delegates to the national encampment beat the record yesterday. They started out to transact a maximum of business in a minimum of time, and they well succeeded. Just as soon as the welcoming exercises had been disposed of, and before the doors were closed upon the non-veterans, Henry Watterson was introduced to present the plea of Louisville for the next encampment. The silver-tongued escort of the "Star-eyed Goddess" was in his best mood. Among his hearers, from pit to gallery, laughter alternated with applause, and when, in a pathetic moment, he allowed a few tears to course down his cheeks, there was a lachrymose response that would have been appropriate to a funeral.

Before his peroration had been reached the success of the leading city of the Blue Grass state was assured, and the orator retired amid such an ovation as a national encampment has rarely bestowed upon one of its favorite sons.

Close attention was paid by the delegates to the report of the commander-in-chief, and the frequent references that it contained to the attitude of the congress and of the people of the south toward union soldiers and patriotic movements originating in the north were heartily applauded. The semi-sensational report of the committee on legislation was submitted by distribution in printed form, and consequently failed to evoke any demonstration. When the report of the committee on pensions was read, however, cheers punctuated every paragraph. It was signed by Comrades H. E. Taintor, A. M. Warner and J. N. Walker, chairman, and read in part as follows:

"Your committee would respectfully reiterate the sentiments and renew the recommendations touching the rights of the union veteran and the duties of the government toward him embodied in our report submitted to the twenty-seventh national encampment. After the adoption of that report by the national encampment there was a change in the action of the pension department in its rules for the payment without hearing and many of the pensions suspended under that unfair rule have been restored to the rolls. Your committee is, however, of the opinion that there is still just cause for complaint in technical rulings and requirements of the pension department which work unfavorably to the applicant and result in unjust discrimination against his interests; that doubts are unjustly decided adversely to the claimant, which under reasonable liberal construction should have been decided in his favor. We feel compelled to say that there is evidently on the part of both the administration and legislative departments a feeling of hostility to our worthy and suffering comrades, the wards of the nation, who bore the heats and burden of the battlefield—a feeling which certainly should not exist in a country saved by their devotion."

The adoption of the report was moved and seconded by a dozen voices from the body of the house. Commander Adams waited a moment as though in expectation of a speech either in support or dissent. Not a delegate rose. The motion was put and the report was adopted with a deafening shout.

Again the order of business recurred to the location of the next encampment and the invitation of St. Paul was presented in eloquent addresses by ex-Commander-in-Chief Judge John P. Rae and Col. J. N. Davidson. But an overwhelming majority of the delegates were still under the spell of the star-eyed goddess and her "Old Kentucky Home," and when the question was put the viva voce vote in favor of Louisville was so overwhelmingly large that opposition, instead of demanding a call of roll, bowed acquiescence, and gracefully retired from the field. On the call of departments for nominations for commander-in-chief, Col. I. N. Walker, of Indiana, and Col. Thomas G. Lawless, of Illinois, were named in eulogistic speeches. The election was made a special order for this afternoon and the encampment adjourned.

Eight hundred delegates and visitos participated in the opening sessions of the 12th annual convention of the Women's Relief corps, and which were held in the Fourth Baptist church. In her openig address National President Sarah G. Mink said:

"It is with deep regret we have seen memorial day used as a day of sport and recreation by the careless and indifferent. I therefore feel that we can in no better way impress upon the youth of our land the significance of this holy day than to request that the last regular session of all of the public schools prior to memorial day shall be devoted to exercises of a patriotic nature. It is a law in Massachusetts, which ought to be adopted by the legislature of every state where memorial day is a legal holiday."

PROPELLED BY FINS.

Experiments in New York Waters With a Novel Craft.

New York, Sept. 13.—An exhibition of a novel craft was given in the government slip off the Battery yesterday. It was the model of a fin-propelled boat, designed by Frank Taff, of Whitestone, L. I., who proposes to submit it to the naval authorities. The model is 5 feet 3 inches in length, 8 inches beam and draft of 5 inches. She is fitted with a small vertical engine of 3-4 inch bore and 1 3-4 inch stroke, worked by steam with gasoline for fuel. There are two fish-tail shape fins on either side of the hull just abaft the amidship section, a few inches apart and midway between the water line and the keel. The thick or head ends of the fins are fixed in the ends of thrust shafts, the web ends extending aft. There are two thrust shafts extending across the hull, each shaft having a fin at either end. The shafts have a thrust of 1 1-4 inch, therefore being within the crank measurement. The shafts work alternately, counterbalancing each other and keeping the boat steady. The fins in the model are of brass, though other material might be used in larger craft. The main surface of the fin, which is called the web, is thinned towards the edge and strengthened by ribs of pliable metal graduated to divide the strain. The thrust of the shafts drive the fins in and out from the sides of the vessel, thus forcing the boat ahead. About two minutes after the gasoline lamp was put under the boiler 20 pounds of steam were generated. The model was launched and it glided out towards mid stream, followed by a row boat which subsequently picked it up.

Engineers of river craft who witnessed the work of the fins were greatly amazed and equally pleased with the performance. The fins can, of course, be worked by any kind of power. The whole merit of the scheme, the inventor claims, is in the thrust arrangement, which secures the true fish movement, while all fin experiments heretofore have been based on a false analysis of the fish movement. While the inventor believes that he has found the correct fin propulsion principle, he also claims to have found with it merits which make its use practicable and, more than that, places it away ahead of the propeller and paddle-wheel in economy of fuel through the utilization of the full power direct in the fins.

DO NOT WANT THE MONEY.

Irish Nationalists Worked Up Over the Gladstone Contribution.

Dublin, Sept. 13.—At the meeting of the national federation there was a heated discussion of the checks sent by Mr. Gladstone and Lord Tweedmouth to the nationalist parliamentary fund. Timothy D. Sullivan, anti-Parnellite M. P. for West Donegal, declared that the party would never consent to receive the money enabling their representatives to sit in parliament from English politicians. The meeting adjourned without deciding to make a general declaration of their attitude toward the subject.

BOTH SHOT DEAD.

Two American Citizens Ambushed by Mexican Indians.

City of Mexico, Sept. 13.—J. M. McSwiney, an American citizen and the commercial agent at Oaxaca for the Interoceanic railway, and a friend named Hope were ambushed by Indians yesterday forty miles south of Oaxaca. Both were shot dead.

COLORADO REPUBLICANS.

Women Take an Active Part in Nominating the State Ticket.

Denver, Sept. 13.—The state republican convention nominated A. W. McIntyre, of Conejos county, for governor; John Campbell, of El Paso county, for judge of the supreme court; Judd Brush, of Greely, for lieutenant governor, and Albert B. McGaffey, of Denver, for secretary of state.

Miss Alma Lafferty, of Arapahoe, and Mrs. Dudley were chosen secretaries of the convention. In the Arapahoe delegation there were a number of women delegates. Senators Wolcott and Teller were present and addressed the convention. Mr. Teller said among other things: "I was present at the birth of the republican party and when it shall ally itself with the gold standard absolutely, I shall part with that party, not to go to the populists, but to go to some other party which will insure the free coinage of silver."

The convention was also addressed by Mrs. J. Ellen Foster. She said: "I must soon go to a lower altitude, into states that are so benighted as not to recognize the fact that women have any political rights and do not even dream of the true meaning of the word freedom."

Mrs. Marble, of Leadville, who next spoke, styled herself a "jay from the mining camps," and besprinkled her address with miners' vernacular. Her quaint mixture of political and mining terms was applauded at every period.

OCEAN TELEPHONE TESTS.

Efforts To Establish Wire Communication With Lightships.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Capt. Wilde, naval secretary of the light house board, has left on a tour of inspection of the lighthouses along the Atlantic coast from New York to Boston. He will spend a day at the Scotland light, Sandy Hook, N. J., to witness electrical experiments now being conducted there under the auspices of the lighthouse board

These experiments will continue during the months of September and October to determine the practicability of communicating by means of a submarine cable from the shore to lightships riding at anchor. So far the motion of the ships caused by the waves have prevented telegraphic sound from being transmitted successfully, and boats have been the only means of communication. Requests issued to masters of vessels not to anchor on the line of the proposed experiments have led to a rumor that some new invention in ocean telephoning was being tested.

The Murder of Dury Foster.

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 13.—Constable E. W. Livingstone, who was with Dury Foster, when the latter was shot and killed, related the following circumstances of the murder. Foster called on him at midnight and said he had been robbed in Burlington and had traced the robbers this way and wanted Livingstone's assistance. They started in pursuit and overhauled a team near Billerica corner, which Foster identified as the one driven by the robbers. A man was standing at the horse's head but there was no one in the wagon. Livingstone attempted to secure the fellow, but he struggled, and two men came out of the woods and began firing and it was in this scrimmage that Foster received his wound.

No Appeal for Aid Issued.

New York, Sept. 13.—Justin McCarthy, M. P., leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, sent from London the following cablegram addressed to the secretary of the Irish National federation in New York, referring to the circular said to have been issued appealing for aid to the Irish Parliamentary fund and in response to which Mr. Gladstone subscribed $500: "No truth in statement that Irish National party or committee, or member of same, sent circular appealing for financial aid to members of liberal government or party."

Red Men Elect Officers.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Andrew H. Paton, of Danvers, Mass., was unanimously elected Great Incohonee of the Improved Order of Red Men. The other great chiefs elected were: Great Senior Sagamore, Robert T. Daniel, of Griffin, Ga.; Great Junior Sagamore, George E. Green, of Binghamton, N. Y.; Great Prophet, Thomas E. Peckinpaugh, of Cleveland; Great Chief of Records, Charles C. Conley, of Philadelphia; Great Keeper of Wampum, Joseph Pyle, of Wilmington, Del.

One Case of Yellow Fever.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Dr. John Ginter, as the yellow fever expert, who was sent by Surgeon Wyman of the marine hospital service to investigate the alleged cases of yellow fever on the British steamer Tysack from Havana now at quarantine station off Cape Charles, reports that one of the cases at quarantine is yellow fever, the other two are not. The yellow fever patient is recovering.

Samoan Rebels Brought To Terms.

Auckland, Sept. 13.—Samoan advices to Sept. 6 confirm the report that the British warship Buzzard threatened some time ago to bombard Aana, whereupon the rebel chiefs went on board the Curacoa, acknowledged their submission to King Malietoa and gave up one hundred guns. The war is declared to be over for the present.

IN A BURNING LAUNCH

Timely Rescue of a Dozen Imperiled People.

Joseph Fahey, His Family and a Party of Friends, Picked Up by a Steamer Off Shelter Island—Their Frail Craft Was at the Mercy of the Flames.

Greenport, L. I., Sept. 13.—As the New York steamer Montauk was on her way from Sag Harbor to Greenport, bound for New York, the captain discovered a steam launch on the south side of Shelter island in flames. The steamer was about two miles away, headed in a different direction. The Montauk changed her course and steamed in the direction of the burning launch.

The launch was the Alsace, owned by Joseph Faby, owner of Faby's watch case factory, located at Sag Harbor. On board the launch were Mr. Joseph Faby, his wife and children, Mr. Cook, Mr. Faby's son-in-law and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Swan and a number of friends. The women were screaming from fright and the faces of the men were blanched with fear and apprehension as it was known that several of the women could not swim and but for the opportune arrival of the steamer Montauk some of the party would have certainly been drowned or burned. The fire was beyond control and they were over a mile from the nearest shore with no small boat in which to take refuge. The heat was becoming intense almost suffocating the party. The engineer was slightly burned.

The captain of the Montauk steamed along side of the yacht and putting the steamers fire hose on the launch soon quenched the flames. The launch, however, was rendered helpless and the party were taken aboard the Montauk.

The Montauk turned back for Sag Harbor and after landing the party, who have a summer home at the place, proceeded on its way to New York.

THE FALL RIVER STRIKE.

Manufacturers and Operatives Still Unable To Agree.

Fall River, Sept. 13.—Several manufacturers were asked to-day if a conference would be granted in answer to the request made by the Amalgamated association. The answer in each case was "Probably not. There is no need of a conference at this time as far as we are concerned. It is almost certain that we will not open the mills next Monday unless the operatives care to resume work under the wage scale we agreed on four weeks ago. It is true that the market price of spot goods has gone to three cents, but there is no chance to make contracts for regular goods at that figure and while that condition lasts the mills will refuse to restore the reduction."

Secretary O'Donnell said to-day that the spinners will not return to work under the reduced rates, and if members are compelled to remain idle four weeks longer, as is now threatened by manufacturers, he is not certain but what a demand will be made for a restoration of the rate paid early last year. This action would imply a long strike. Three members of the executive committee of the Manufacturers association met yesterday and remained in consultation half an hour. They had nothing to make public regarding their deliberations.

The weather has been so pleasant during the four weeks past that there have been scarcely any complaints of suffering among the 25,000 idle people, and the few that have been received have been promptly cared for by the unions.

His Lonely Voyage Ended.

Queenstown, Sept. 13.—With her lonely passenger, the little schooner Nina has just arrived here from New York. Capt. Freitsche reports that when he was four days out from New York the Nina sprung a leak and he was compelled to build and rig up a new pump before he was able to get the water under. The Nina sailed from New York on Sunday, August 5. Next day she was spoken by pilot boat No. 6, fifty miles east-south-east of the Highlands, making good headway. She thus makes the trip across the Atlantic in thirty-eight days, remarkable time for such a craft, and only nine days behind the time made by the Valkyrie, when she returned to England from this country.

Indian Relic Dug Up at Gray Gables.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 13.—The president is making some improvements upon his land near Gray Gables. What was once Lilly pond is being cleared out and will be filled in, graded and made otherwise attractive. A workman there found a curiosity in the shape of a pipe embedded in the earth, some six feet below the surface. The pipe is about four inches in length with Indian characters cut thereon. It is supposed to be over 100 years old. It will be given to Mr. Cleveland.

Debs at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 13.—Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway union, arrived from Chicago last night and at once denied that he had come on for the purpose of antagonizing the re-election of Grand Master Sargent. He explained that his trip was unexpected, inasmuch as his presence in the courts at Chicago was demanded and only when Judge Woods kindly excused him for two or three days had he decided to attend the firemen's convention.

Lexow Witness Arrested.

New York, Sept. 13.—James H. Perkins, of Brooklyn, who was a witness before the Lexow committee on Tuesday and testified that he had given $500 to Inspector Williams when he had charge of the street cleaning department, was arrested last night on a warrant sworn out by his wife charging him with desertion.

To Meet Next at Harrisburg.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 13.—At the second day's meeting of the Keeley league Harrisburg, Pa., was unanimously chosen as the place of the next annual league meeting.

THE LINK THAT BREAKS.

Think a Moment and See What This Means for You.

The strength of a chain is only up to its weakest link. So the strength of a person, whether physical or nerve strength, is only up to his weakest part or organ. If your nerves are weak or your blood poor, if you suffer from insomnia or have indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, kidney or liver complaint, headache, neuralgia or rheumatism, there is a weak spot in your system which if not cured will surely cause you to break down.

You will never be well and strong until this weak place or organ is strengthened. It is fearfully dangerous to neglect any such weakness or ailment. Nobody realizes this better than Mrs. G. S. Cobb, a well-known lady, residing at 334 South st., Providence, R. I.

"For five years I had been troubled with indigestion, kidney and liver complaint, severe nervous headaches and neuralgia. There was a terrible pain and pressure in my stomach from which there was no relief until vomiting set in, when I vomited a slimy mucus.

"After these spells I would be completely prostrated for three or four days. Sometimes for 3 weeks at a time I could take no nourishment but lime water and milk. During this time I lost 40 pounds.

"I would have the most frightful nervous headaches for two weeks at a time. A terrible, piercing pain would shoot in rapid succession through my head. There was a dreadful aching and throbbing through my back between the shoulders.

"In fact I was completely prostrated. I tried prominent physicians and many remedies without relief, and became entirely discouraged. About this time I heard, through a friend, of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and the wonderful cures it had performed.

"I commenced using it at once and the change which took place very soon was wonderful. The terrible racking pains through my head and shoulders left me. Where I could eat nothing but the lightest kinds of food; I can now eat anything without the slightest distress.

"The kidney and liver troubles have left me. In fact I am completely cured and restored to sound and vigorous health. My friends are surprised at my wonderful cure. I thank God and Dr Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy for my new life, and would say to all sufferers, gather confidence and try this great remedy and you will surely be cured."

Oh, that every person complaining of any ailment would be guided by this sensible and valuable advice and take that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy! If they only knew what a healthy and happy life awaited them after using it they would not hesitate a moment.

It will make a strong and well person of you just as surely as you take it. It will cure every one of those troubles and weaknesses which have bothered you so much. Just try it and see. All doctors recommend it for it is a physician's prescription. Dr. Greene discovered it, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted at his office, 35 West 14th Street, New York, free, personally or by letter.

Paying for Tuberculosis Cattle.

Albany, Sept. 13.—The first claims to be paid for the killing of tuberculosis cattle since the commencement of the work of the special commission on tuberculosis have just been approved for payment by the secretary of the state board of health, and transmitted to the state comptroller for payment. The claims allowed aggregate $4,000.

Called to a Denver Charge.

Sec. Herbert Sails for Washington.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The Dolphin, with Secretary Herbert on board, left New London yesterday for Washington. The training ship Portsmouth arrived at Gibralter.

Local Weather Forecast.

Showers; slightly warmer; winds becoming southerly.

An Engine Goes Through a Draw.

Boston, Sept. 13.—One of the largest passenger engines on the Old Colony railroad, while running from the station in this city to the round-house, shortly after 2 p. m., went through the drawbridge, which was open at the time to allow a vessel to pass, and the engineer and fireman barely escaped with their lives. The engine is now covered by water, but at low tide an effort will be made to raise her. In the meantime vessels bound through the draw will be unable to pass.

Editor Sweet Becomes a Benedict.

Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Miss Lucie M. Kirchhoff, daughter of James Kirchhoff, one of the wealthiest residents of New Rochelle, N. Y., and Henry C. Sweet, editor of the New Rochelle Pioneer, were married quietly last night at the residence of the bride's father. None but the immediate members of the families interested were present

FRAGILE, THIN, AND DELICATE women find that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription builds up their strength. The makers take the risk of selling it on trial. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in the case of every afflicted woman, they'll return her money. Nervous or General Debility, Dizziness, Faintness, Displacement, Internal Inflammation and Ulceration, Bearing-down Pains, and all womanly weaknesses or ailments are cured by the "Prescription."

Abita Springs, La.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—My wife suffered from laceration of the womb and inflammation—she was completely bed-ridden and lingered about one year at death's door. Local applications were given her and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; she gradually regained strength and continued to do so until she recovered. I am convinced that any case of womb disease can be certainly and permanently cured by the use of your remedies.

NO CHANCE FOR A FIGHT

Jackson Pulls Down His $10,000 Forfeit.

Parson Davies Disgusted With Corbett's Actions—Says the Champion, However, Will Now Lose a Little Advertising He Probably Expected To Pay $2,500 For.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Peter Jackson left here last night on the Erie road for New York. Before leaving he called on Will J. Davis at the Columbia theatre, in company with Parson Davies, and withdrew his $10,000 forfeit.

Parson Davies drew a sigh of relief when the money was taken down and the fight declared off. "I'm very glad its over," he said. "I never was so tired of anything. Corbett will now miss a little advertising he probably expected to pay $2,500 for, for I believe he intended to postpone the fight even if it had been set for nine months from now. I suppose Corbett will now meet Jackson in New York and flare another challenge in his face as he steps on the boat to leave for home."

CORBETT IS WROTHY.

Willing To Fight Jackson in a Cab, on a Barge or Any Other Place.

Washington, Sept. 13.—James J. Corbett, the pugilist, has given out a statement with regard to the refusal of Peter Jackson to fight him. Corbett's statement is lengthy and he severely denounces what he terms "the cowardly misstatements that have been circulated by Peter Jackson, and the subterfuges that he has resorted to in order to crawl like a cur out of the proposed match with me."

Continuing he says: "I have stated emphatically all along that this nigger does not want to fight me. After the punching I gave him in San Francisco where he was saved from defeat by the dastardly actions of his California club friends, I could not get him into a ring with a hawser, and no one knows it better than this same Peter Jackson.

"They have agreed to allow the men to pick the referree, who must be satisfactory to Jackson. Now, if this nigger wants to fight, I will name the men satisfactory to me now."

Corbett winds up his raid on Jackson as follows: "In conclusion Mr. Peter Jackson, I tell you plainly that I will fight you privately, or openly, in one week—one month, two months or three months' time, for as much money as you can raise, purse or no purse, in a club, on a barge, in a hack, in a room anywhere in America."

ALIX TROTS IN 2:04.

Nancy Hanks' Great Record Equaled at Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 13.—There were two races against time at this famous record-breaking track yesterday. That great mare, Alix, went against the world's record of 2:04 and Carbonate tried to beat 2:10¼ The mare was not successful in her effort to lower Nancy Hanks' record, but she equaled it. Carbonate's effort, however, was, the mile being covered by him in 2:10.

Fatal Fire at Holyoke.

Holyoke, Mass., Sept. 13.—A general alarm was sounded about 1 o'clock for a fierce fire in an alley off Hampden street. Houses belonging to H. J. Whittaker and Mr. Coakley were burned and three barns, two belonging to Whittaker and one to N. Hafey. When Whittaker's house caught fire Catherine Lucey jumped from the third story and was probably fatally injured. Five horses were burned in one of Whittaker's barns.

Mrs. Logan Arrives at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Sept. 13.—Mrs. General John A. Logan arrived in Pittsburg from Youngstown, O., last evening. She was met at the depot by Columbia post 706, of Chicago, and was escorted by that body to the headquarters of the department of Illinois where she held a short informal reception. From there Mrs. Logan was escorted to the society's encampment at Brinton, where she was tendered a formal reception.

Deputy Postmaster in Trouble.

Ballston, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Peter A. Deyse, deputy postmaster at Moriah Centre, is in jail here on a commitment to the United States grand jury from Commissioner Davison of Saratoga in default of $2,500 bail, on the charge of robbing the mails of money contained in letters passing through that office to the amount of $200. Deyse was a clerk in the general store kept by his brother, who is the postmaster.

Preparing To Leave for His Post.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Clifton R. Breckinridge, the new American minister to Russia, has received his final instructions from the department of state and has left for New York where he will await the sailing of the Augusta Victoria on the 20th inst. CYCLING COMMENT.

Chief Consul James S. Holmes, Jr., of the New Jersey Division of the L. A. W., has selected F. L. C. Martin to push the good roads movement in Union County. The wheelmen hope to have the State's annual highway improvement appropriation of $75,000 increased to $200,000. The election of assemblymen and freeholders on pledges to vote for the increase is advocated.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Crescent Division of Uniformed Rank met in their headquarters on West Second street last evening for the first time since the change of the meeting night from Tuesday to Wednesday. This action was taken at the request of the Pythian Sisters who wished to meet in the rooms Tuesday evenings.

Attempt to Wreck a Train.

What was believed today by the police of Jersey City to have been a bold attempt to wreck a Lehigh Valley Railroad passenger train last evening at 5:30, at the Chapel avenue crossing in Greenville, was frustrated by the derailment of a hand-car, which was on the track which the passenger train was to pass five minutes later. Several arrests were made.

—Willie Mullen ran a fish-hook into his hand this morning. Dr. Fritts extracted it.

—A resident of Rockview avenue says that only one of the electric lamps on that street have been lighted in nearly a week.

—A fair complexion is a joy forever. If your sister or mother is not blessed with a smooth skin recommend Pozzoni's Powder; recommended by all the leading physicians and druggists everywhere.

—George Conover's big four-horse stage left town last night for Finderne, having been engaged to take a party to a private dance at the Hotel Finderne. Two young men and two girls were the only Plainfielders who went, the rest of the party joining in Dunellen.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DEATH-FLAMES ESCAPED

A SOUTH PLAINFIELD HOME CONSUMED AT NIGHT.

Shoemaker Smith and Family Almost Burned in Their Beds—He Had But Recently Moved from Plainfield.

Charles Smith, a shoemaker, his wife and two children narrowly escaped being burned to death in South Plainfield at 4 this morning. They were aroused just in time.

The shoemaker moved a month ago from the building on Park avenue at the head of North avenue and rented a small house by the railroad in South Plainfield. The building was formerly used as a barn.

Charles Perrine, who is employed by the Lehigh Valley Railroad, saw flames issuing from the house early this morning and ran to the place with Foster Scofield and George Arrowsmith. They burst in the door and brought out the family just as the flames entered the bedroom. They would surely have been suffocated and burned had they not been warned when they were.

Some of the furniture from parts of the house not yet burned was hurriedly taken out. The house burned to the ground. The owner, Mr. Ryno, carried insurance.

A Case Where Home Labor Failed.

The statement in another paper that workmen from Alfred Centre, N. Y., sent by the Celadon Terra Cotta Company are responsible for the leaks in the roof of the new Seventh-Day Baptist Church, is denied by the architect, Oscar S. Teale.

The tile roof was put on by Plainfield workmen inexperienced at such work, who were hired here by Mr. Babcock because of his desire to employ local labor on the building. He thought them capable, and allowed them to finish the work in spite of the frequent protests of Mr. Teale who saw as the tile-laying progressed that the men were inexperienced and incapable.

The interlocking tile was the product of a company in which Mr. Babcock was interested and were made under his patents. They were laid without cement, the joints being jointed up afterwards. The tile should have been laid in cement. As it is the expansion of the roof under the sun has opened many of the joints, although the church has been little damaged.

The officials of the church have contemplated for several months taking the roof off and putting the tile back properly. The cost cannot be estimated, as many of the tiles may be broken in the handling. No fault has been found with other roofs of the patent material laid by experienced workmen.

Andrew Webster's Fatality.

Daniel Webster of West Second street went today to New Providence to attend the funeral of his brother, Andrew M. Webster, who died there Tuesday.

Mr. Webster was carting gravel Monday afternoon when he was thrown from the seat to the ground. The wheels of the heavily-laden wagon passed over his body. He was taken to his home, where he died the next morning.

Mr. Webster was born in the house on West Second street where his brother now lives. He went to war when he was 17 years old. He returned and learned the baker's trade. At the time of his death he was the commander of the U. S. Grant Post of New Providence. He leaves a widow and two small children.

New Horses in Town.

Justice & Peterson sold their whole cargo of Missouri horses at auction at A. C. Blair's stables yesterday afternoon. Among the purchasers were Dr. Endicott, who bought a team of bays; Thomas Doud, a gray; Dr. Fritts, a bay; Barnes Bros., a gray; V. L. Frazee, a team of roans; Randolph Stelle, a team of black; William Brokaw, a bay; and I. S. Randolph, an iron roan.

Always Envious of Plainfield.

(From The New Brunswick Home News.)

In Plainfield they are exulting over the fact that a contract has just been made by the city for a system of sewerage that is to cost but $18,000. Everybody is pleased over what is said to be one of the cheapest sewerage contracts on record in the United States. Among the grab-all politicians of Middlesex County there is no such spirit. The idea is to make the taxpayers pay as much as possible for everything, while the margins, presumably, go to the schemers.

His Jaws Still Locked.

Augustus Rose, the lockjaw patient whose case was reported exclusively in The Press of yesterday, continues about the same in Muhlenberg Hospital today, but is able to swallow a little.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good". Price 50c. Sold by all druggists.

—When trade is slack what there is of it goes to those who have the courage and energy to ask for it.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell; 25c., 50c. and $1. Sold by all druggists.

IF

The Daily Press were not a good thing, do you suppose so many merchants would advertise in it?

HYMENEAL.

Fleming—Loiseaux.

At a quiet home wedding last evening were united in marriage Miss Anna Louise Loiseaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy O. Loiseaux of Putnam avenue, and J. Harrison Fleming of Willow avenue. Mayor Gilbert officiated for the first time during his two terms of office. The house was beautifully decorated with moss and clematis and other flowers, the gifts of friends.

Over 100 guests were at the home of the bride's parents at 7:30 when the couple took their place before the Mayor at the wide entrance to the parlor. Mayor Gilbert performed a simple ceremony in a dignified manner fitting the occasion. The bride's father gave her away.

After the marriage a wedding supper was served. The guests were from Plainfield and North Plainfield, New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City. The bride and groom left at 10 on a two-weeks trip to the Catskills. They will return to live at 56 Grandview avenue. Mr. Fleming is in the tea business in New York with Chas. F. Jennings of Rockview avenue. He came from Brooklyn to North Plainfield two years ago, when his father, John Fleming, moved to Willow avenue.

THE BRETT-RODGERS WEDDING.

A Flutter of Excitement in Macon Society Over the Announcement.

(Special to The Brooklyn Eagle.)

Macon, Ga., Sept. 8—The announcement in this city of the marriage in Brooklyn last Wednesday of Miss Viola Catherina Rodgers of Macon to William Brett of Brooklyn was quite a surprise to the large circle of friends which Miss Rodgers possesses here, though her family and a few intimate friends had been apprised of the engagement some time ago. Mrs. Brett, nee Miss Rodgers, was brought up in Macon, and until her departure for Brooklyn three years ago to visit her sister, Mrs. J. H. Dobbs, was a popular society belle. Her family is one of the most prominent in the State on both the father's and mother's side. They have figured conspicuously in the social and political affairs of the South for years. D. B. Rodgers was a wealthy cotton merchant. M. de la St. Maur, Miss Rodgers's grandfather on her mother's side, was a French nobleman, who came to Georgia in 1809, while sailing on a pleasure cruise on his own yacht. He was so charmed with America's balmy Southern coast that he remained in this country.

Mrs. Brett has three brothers in Macon, who are prominent and successful business men. The friends of Mrs. Brett wish her and her husband much happiness.

Forced to Enlarge.

It is not often in these times of depression and dull business that one hears of increase in the size of an establishment, and still more rare is it to hear that the press of trade forces an enlargement. But such are the facts in connection with the enlargement of the establishment of L. Bamberger & Co., 147 and 149 Market street, Newark, whose advertisement appears in this issue. Though but in existence one and a-half years their trade has grown to such an extent that to accommodate it they will in a few weeks add a floor 200 feet deep and 50 feet wide; a space in itself larger than 50 per cent. of the retail establishments in the country, to their already great store. The necessary alterations which this entails compels them to temporarily condease every department, and as the Fall season is at hand, and many of the goods for it have already been received, they must sell quickly in order to secure the desired room. They offer the biggest bargains in all lines that have ever been given in New Jersey, and the opportunity, timely and exceptional as it is, should be grasped by all.

Plenty of Fun with Jane Tonight.

"Jane" the queen of comedies, a title earned by its great success in the east, will be produced in Music Hall tonight by the company of selected players who made the comedy famous during its great run in New York city.

"Jane is taken from a French source. A wild young man who had property left him in case he marries, communicates in a fit of desperation, induced by debt, with his trustee, informing him that he is about to take unto himself a wife. His obligations are discharged and the payment of a regular income begins. Improvidence leads him into debt again, and he appeals for more on the ground that his wife is extravagant. The trustee writes that he will visit London and remonstrate with the little woman. In his dilemma the young fellow induces Jane, his housemaid who has just been secretly married to William, the man servant, to agree to pose as his wife during the old trustee's visit. The consequent deception of the old gentleman, the borrowing of a necessary baby, and the agony of the bridegroom, William, furnish the hilarious fun which follows.

How He Lost His Job.

A young colored man employed by Hackman Daniel Hibbits was engaged Tuesday night by a party of eight other colored people to take them to Netherwood. He crowded them all into a light park phaeton and drove down Front street.

In Netherwood the men and women in the carriage became very noisy, and Special Policeman Nick Meyers approached to arrest them. All jumped out and escaped, leaving the rig in the road for Meyers to drive to town with. The driver does not work for Hackman Hibbits now.

Steady Building Improvements.

L. E. Hart of West Front street has commenced excavating for the erection of a brick building on the twenty-foot lot on Park avenue next to the Miller flats which he brought from Frank VanName several years ago.

It replaces the old frame structure which was moved away a month ago and will make quite an improvement in the appearance of the block. At present Mr. Hart intends to build but a one-story store building but the foundations will be laid so that other floors for flats may be added.

PHOTO PALACE.

ELEGANT NEW HOME OF THE PLAINFIELD CAMERA CLUB.

Up in the Babcock Building They Will Have the Finest Quarters of Any Amateur Photographers in the Country—Everything Almost Ready for Occupancy.

The workmen are finishing the rooms of the Plainfield Camera Club in the new Babcock Building, and to the camerist who visits them there is evidence everywhere that the careful planning of the architect and a desire for excellence on the part of the owner have combined to give the club rooms in which nothing can be pointed out as incomplete or inconvenient. The location of every room and their fitness for use in every department of the club's work have been most carefully considered.

George H. Babcock was the vice-president of the Camera Club at the time of his death, and it was his desire to have the home of the club the best that could be arranged. The northeast corner of the top floor was set aside for this purpose when the plans of the building were being made by Oscar S. Teale. With their president for architect and their vice-president the owner of the building, the cameriats knew that their new accommodations would be perfect.

The largest of the rooms is the exhibition hall, 60 feet long, 25 feet wide and 18 feet high. It is lighted by two large sky lights. Parallel with this room is a corridor of the same length, in which have been constructed 60 lockers so that each member will have a place for chemicals and apparatus. Ample space remains for the additional lockers when needed.

A special feature will be the women's parlor with toilet and dark rooms accessible from it. Plenty of space and all the conveniences are provided for the use of the women cameriats.

From the corridor a winding stair leads to a meaznine floor in the corner of the operating rooms where burnishing machines and other apparatus will be located. Above this is the printing room in a lantern projecting above roof which is lighted from three sides.

The operating room is large enough to furnish room for taking either portraits or groups from the right or the left point of view. A doorless dark room for gentlemen adjoining is fitted with four large sinks. The ruby lamps in the wall are fitted for the use of both electricity and gas. Another room is fitted especially for large work in bromide printing. An arc lamp with a condensing lens will furnish light for night work.

The directors room adjoins the operating room and may be used in conjunction with the studio, being separated from it only by portieres, in connection with the exhibition hall it can be used for lectures, concerts and other purposes.

With their improved equipment, the cameriats expect to develop more thorough plans, making the character of its evening exhibitions more interesting th n ever. The lantern slides will not be confined to the amateur work of the interchange series, but the exhibitions will include slides on scientific and other subjects made by professionals.

The club is now about seven years old and is composed of some of the first people of Plainfield. A movement is on foot to make it not merely a social society but an educational one. With this aim in view there will be given this Winter a series of instructive lectures on popular topics, possibly including such subjects as astronomy, botany and geology, which will be treated in such a way as to make the lectures especially interesting and instructive to the young people. It is hoped by the members that at no very distant day a scientific branch will be organized which will greatly add to the usefulness and general success of the organization. This movement received a temporary set back by the untimely death of Mr. Babcock.

It is proposed to hold a fair in the new rooms during the coming season, the management of which has been placed in the hands of a committee with Harold Serrell as chairman. The arrangements have not been announced, but that the fair will be of a most novel and successful character need not be stated. The fair will be the opening of the rooms to the public, although the members will be given opportunities to become settled in the new place. Of these the first will be a reception to the members.

Confident of the Championship.

The members of the C. Y. M. L. are confident that their their bowling team will win the championship of the Diocesan Union this season. Those who spoke of giving up the game entirely early in the year are now practicing with earnest spirit of the novice and the skill of an expert. Capt. Lynch stands ready to lead the team on to victory in spite of his inclination towards bicycle racing which was apparent in the Summer.

Paying for a Lightning Stroke.

The Hartford Insurance Company will tomorrow pay through Van Buren & Timpson, their local agents, $150 loss on the dwelling 226 Prescott place, owned by the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company. The building was struck by lightning Saturday afternoon and the payment of the loss tomorrow will be a remarkably quick settlement.

Decision Reserved in the Stites Case.

Among the Plainfield cases brought before Judge McCormick yesterday were applications of counsel for caveators against the will of Henry Stites of Scotch Plains for allowance of fees. The will was sustained last week by the opinion of Judge McCormick. The beneficiary of the will is the Muhlenberg Hospital of Plainfield, and the counsel for the estate, Craig A. Marsh, stated that the managers were startled by the amount of fees asked by the counsel. They asked that if it be possible the allowances be so limited that the total should not exceed $500.

The decision of the Court was reserved.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

STUDENT SOCIETIES RENEW THEIR USEFUL ACTIVITY.

Girls and Boys Have Rival Cadet Companies—Athletic Association Arranges for a Field Day—First Cycling Run of the Season.

We are all working hard at school, and everything is running smoothly. The beginners Physics Class, which has been somewhat handicapped by the small number of books, is now supplied, as a plenty of new books has just been received.

The election of officers for the Cadet Corps occurred Tuesday morning, directly after morning exercises. The old plan of two companies will not be renewed this year, but all the High School boys will fall into one company. Llewellyn Bull, '96, was unanimously chosen captain. The other officers elected were as follows:

First Lieutenant—V. H. Green, '96.
Second " —F. W. Cornwell, '96.
First Sergeant—T. D. Blair, '95.
Second " —George Smith, '98.
Third " —Edward Clarke, '95.
Fourth " —Lambert Fish, '96.
Fifth " —Walter Serrell, '98

The corporals will be selected by the other officers from among the ranks. An officer can be impeached for neglect of duty by a three-fourths vote of his brother officers, but we do not expect to have any occasion for enforcing this rule.

At the same time that the boys were selecting their officers, the girls, under charge of Mr. Allen, were deciding on their leaders. The result:

Captain—Miss Etta Baybert.
First Lieutenant—Miss Laura Emmons.
Second " —Miss Franc Bailey.
First Sergeant—Miss Lucie Davis.
Second " —Miss Eleanor T. Van-Deventer.
Third Sergeant—Miss Smith.
Fourth " —Miss Alice Thompson.
Fifth " —Miss Elizabeth Cahoone.

The new officers have taken charge of their companies, and are rapidly getting them as good form as last year.

The P. H. S. A. A. held a meeting Tuesday afternoon to discuss plans for the field day of October 6. After much debate it was decided to have the field day open only to active members of the P. H. S. A. A., and leave another field day, next Spring, open to all the neighboring schools. There is a great deal of hidden talent in the association, and to develop some of this the field day of this Fall has been arranged. Every event will be a handicap, thus giving everybody a chance.

The list of events decided on is as follows:

One hundard yards dash.
Two-mile bicycle race.
Quarter-mile bicycle race.
Putting the shot.
Running high jump.
Two hundred and twenty yards dash.
Four hundred and forty yards run.
Running broad jump.
Three-legged race, one hundred yards.
Throwing the base-ball.

A committee of arrangements, consisting of A. B. Crane '97, chairman, C. C. Gallup '96, C. B. Morse '95, and F. W. Cornwell '96, was appointed.

The handicapping of the various events will be done by a committee of three: J. W. Kirkner '94, A. Woltmann '94, and C. B. Morse '95. It is proposed to have the field day at the Gentleman's Driving Park if it can be obtained. There will be no charge for admittance to the grounds or grand stand. It was also decided to purchase a foot-ball and Manager Horne was instructed to organize a foot-ball eleven and prepare it for the regular Fall contests.

The committee of arrangements met yesterday directly after school to appoint sub-committees and make general arrangements. And there is no doubt that the games will be well worth witnessing, as under the able management of A. B Crane nothing can be a failure.

The first run of the season of the P. H S. A. A. was held yesterday afternoon, the objective point being Rahway. Those who participated in it were: Capt. C. B Morse, Second Lieutenant V. H. Green, Color Bearer George Smith, Bugler R A McGee, George A Horne, Walter Raynolds, Webster Littell, Albert Woltmann John W. Kirkner, Robert Douglass and Sydney Titsworth. Titsworth set the pace to Rahway and Morse on the return trip. When just on the outskirts of Rahway, McGee's back tire suddenly collapsed, but through the assistance of his comrades he and his wheel were soon in Rahway, where he went to a repair shop to have his tire patched. The rest of the cyclists spent the interval in visiting their numerous Rahway friends. But when about to return to Plainfield, McGee again found his tire flat, and after a consultation he was sent home by rail. Woltmann and Kirkner also left the party, but to return by the way of Elizabeth. After waiting a few minutes to allow a traveling photographer to take their picture, the party returned home through Westfield, Littell as assistant bugler furnishing the music.

A Genuine Flash.

It is said that Lewis Morrison has discovered a way to use a real flash of lightning in his production of Faust in Music Hall tomorrow night.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,

MAN AND WHEEL vs. COW.

How the Latter Scored a Knock-Out, and the Wheel, Like the Ethiopian, Repaired in the Woodpile.

The man who went down the Springfield road on a bicycle the other night and came back on a milk wagon the next morning says that something ought to be done to keep cows away from the public highways, and the man is right. No cow, unable to take proper care of herself and observe the common law, should be permitted to infest the main traveled road at night.

The case in focus came to the top last week. The man went out for a small quiet evening spin, and, finding everything congenial, determined to wheel on and on even unto Springfield, where the girls hang over the front fences and give you languorous glances, and "Uncle Dan" keeps open house in the old tavern seven days to the week, notwithstanding the fact that Springfield knows no Tammany, and has no ward men. The man reached "Uncle Dan's" safely, and, after a mild refreshing, set out for home. Everything was as cheery as could be until Locust Grove was passed, and its prehistoric schoolhouse left out of sight.

Then came the crash. Swinging suddenly around a sharp curve in the road, the flying wheel rushed headlong into a black object which lay across the road, and the man soared onward and upward, over the fence and into the bushes. After a dreadful pause the surprised Plainfielder recovered his self-possession and rose to ascertain what it was that struck him. Regaining the road, he had no difficulty in finding the unconvincing remnants of a wheel, along with a dust-covered hat and a large, frank-looking cow, which stood over the fallen wheel like a favorite gladiator in a Roman arena, and tranquilly chewed her cud. The man was not inclined to laugh, or he might have done so, but there was no other human being within hearing and he took advantage of this condition to make some remarks in a loud voice which must not be repeated here. A single review told him that it would be quite useless to think of riding the wheel home, and that it were no joyous task to carry it all the way to town at that time of night. Then the cheerful window light of a benighted farmhouse burst upon his vision, and, discreetly concealing the remainder of the wheel under a friendly woodpile, he approached the son of toil who owned the farm, and had no trouble in securing a lodging for the night.

In the morning, following a rousing country breakfast at an unholy hour, the man bade adieu to his rural hostess and set out for home with the host in his milk-wagon. The worthy rustic talked of ruined crops and burned corn and dried-up beans all the way to Plainfield, just as his kind always does no matter how good the season, but the late wheelman was unresponsive. Finally the team halted at a gate the man indicated and he dropped out.

"Morning, sir!"—said the milkman.

"Good morning!"—returned the man.—"Say: if you should happen to find a few slivers of a bicycle in your woodpile some day, bring them up here any night, after dark, and I'll make it worth your while. Understand?"

"Yes, sir, I understand."

"After dark, remember!"

"After dark. Morning, sir!"

A FLOOD FROM PLAINFIELD.

Netherwood's Wells Deluge Elizabeth's Streets.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

The reservoir has burst!

This was the conclusion reached by the people living in the vicinity of the Elizabethtown Water Company's distributing reservoir on Chilton street when awakened near midnight last night by the noise of water rushing in a flood through the street. It seemed to be pouring from the reservoir bank, and fearing that the immense volume of water was soon to burst forth in a flood caused very great anxiety.

The sewer basins were inadequate to carry off the flow, and the street was soon flooded and the water was rising with great rapidity. Policemen Booth and Keiper were early at the scene, and hastened to notify Superintendent Whelan.

For nearly an hour the water kept up the alarming flow, but as quickly as possible Mr. Whelan and other employes were on hand. They soon discovered that there was no break in the reservoir, but that the flow of water was caused by a burst of a six-inch meter, which registers the water from Netherwood. There was no danger such as imagined by the alarmed residents, but the water was rushing out from the broken meter, which is located close to the base of the reservoir embankment, with such a force and volume, that the company's drain and the city basins were wholly inadequate.

In consequence the streets were being flooded for a large territory. The pressure of the water is about 100 pounds to the square inch.

Mr. Whelan and his assistants soon repaired the break, and the water subsided.

No damage excepting to the property of the Water Company resulted.

Darkness and Daylight.

Henry P. VanLlew will call on the citizens of Plainfield this week and next with "Darkness and Daylight; or, Lights and Shadows of New York", of which the prospectus will appear later in these columns.

The Northern Presbyterian of Minneapolis, Minn., says of this work: "We commend this grand work and pray for its wide circulation. We rise from its perusal a thousand times thankful that it has been written. It should be in every household, and the dust never permitted to gather on its beautiful covers". Mr. VanLlew has been for years in slum and all-night mission work, and vouches for the authenticity of the account of the work.

—The indications are for a big house for "Jane" tonight.

ALL AGAINST BRAND.

THE NEPHEW CONDEMNED BY COUNSEL AND COURT.

Judge McCormick Agrees with Craig A. Marsh That Humanity and Decency Were Violated by the Young Man's Wilful Contest of His Uncle's Will.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

Craig A. Marsh, as counsel for the widow of James Brand, whose will was sustained by the Court last week, made a motion to have all the costs and counsel fees charged upon the caveator, Robert Brand, a nephew. This motion was made because of the frivolous grounds upon which Brand had attacked the will and the previous warning that was given him that if he persisted in the proceedings the Court would be ordered to compel him to pay the entire costs and to allow the counsel for the widow a liberal compensation.

Robert Brand, however, persisted and utterly failed in his attack upon the will. The estate is worth only $8,000, and the widow would have to mortgage the estate to pay the costs of the litigation. Robert Brand is a wealthy man, and has admitted that he had no grounds for attacking the will.

He, however, subpœned a large number of witnesses, and the litigation was very expensive.

Judge McCormick, after hearing Robert Brand's counsel, Winfield S. Angleman, said that the testimony and expressions of the caveator were sufficient to condemn him. Since he had been on the bench, Judge McCormick said, there had never been an action before him which he was forced to condemn as much as Robert Brand's action in the matter. He agreed with all that Mr. Marsh had said that he had violated the principles of humanity and decency, and the Court felt it a duty to protect the estate. Otherwise it would encourage others to contest all wills, and no matter how frivolous the attack allowances of costs and fees would be secured. Judge McCormick said, in conclusion, that there had never been a caveator before him who was so justly deserving of condemnation. The Court decided therefore to compel Robert Brand to pay all the expenses of the litigation.

NOTHING AGAINST MR. ANGLEMAN.

The Court Cast No Reflection Upon His Conduct.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—My attention has been called to a misstatement in your issue yesterday. In referring to the Brand will case you said the Court put "caustic" on me and "expressed his opinion" of me. The Court did nothing of the kind, as I was not referred to in any way whatever. It is very clear that someone must have had a purpose in thus misinforming you. In justice to myself, I ask that you correct the error into which you have been led by the mean, contemptible act of another.

W. S. ANGLEMAN.

Compartment Cars the Latest Wonder on the Pennsylvania Limited.

The American people of today are the best travelers in the world. They require the best accommodations, and it is the aim of the railroads and the sleeping car lines to supply them. Many people desire exclusiveness in their accommodations which has heretofore been provided in the drawing and state rooms. The demand for the drawing-rooms is increasing, and in order to meet it the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has added to the already comprehensive and complete equipment of the Pennsylvania Limited a compartment car. This car, finished in the usually luxurious style of the Limited cars, contains two large drawing-rooms and seven state-rooms. The drawing-rooms contain a section and one lower berth, the state-rooms one section. Both have complete and individual lavatory arrangements.

In this car one may enjoy all the privacy of a hotel room, and travel almost as much secluded as in a private car.

The Pennsylvania Limited, leaving New York every day at 10 a. m., Philadelphia 12:20 noon, Washington 10:30 a. m, Baltimore 11:40 a. m., and arriving at Chicago at 9 a. m next day, is the only perfectly appointed Limited Express running between the Eastern cities and Chicago.

Darkest New York Come to Plainfield.

In another column will be found the notice of a stereopticon lecture on "Darkest New York", for the benefit of Sister Charlotte's "Day-Star Industrial Home for Friendless Women" in New York.

Ever since her own conversion from a life of sin, her time and strength have been devoted to rescue work in the slums of New York.

Many a girl, snatched as a brand from the burning, has died in the charity hospital or elsewhere, blessing Sister Charlotte for leading her out of darkness into the light.

Mr. VanLlew was for several years associated with Sister Charlotte in slum work, in the Florence Mission Rescue Band, of which they were organizers.

He has had a long and close connection with boys work in the Loyal Legion in New York and elsewhere. It is hoped that the people will show their interest in her grand, self-sacrificing work by packing the hall. Remember the date, September 28.

—The Press can cordially recommend to the Plainfield public Prof. A. Wehner, a graduate of the Conservatory of Leipsic, who is prepared to instruct a select number of pupils in this city. Communications may be sent to The Press office for this skilled professor.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

The Borough Commissioners have been having some needed work done on North avenue, which will probably assist materially in carrying off the water of future rains.

Charles Sebring of the Edison Electric Light Company, while driving about and inspecting the electric lights last evening, had an accident that detained him for some time. The axles of his wagon had not been greased in several months, and in consequence became very dry, and the wheels refused to turn. He borrowed some grease, and, after applying it, proceeded.

People still continue to complain about the condition of the pond on the Smock property on Front street. It being in the city limits of Plainfield, Dunellen has nothing to do with it. But it does seem as though something might be done to remedy the evil, and that it should be done at once. The sickness of the late William Slape, it is claimed, was brought on by the condition in which this pond has been left.

Constable Samuel Taynor of North Plainfield was in Dunellen last evening looking for a man who walked off with his basket from the North Avenue station, Plainfield. The basket contained eight jars of canned peaches and several suits of clothes for his children, who are in Brooklyn with Mrs. Taynor. The missing man left instead a basket which contained a lot of grapes. Mr. Taynor took a train later for Brooklyn, without having found his property.

The case of Mrs. Hannah Cronan against Mrs. Martin Brennan was heard this morning in Maier's Hall by Justice Storms. Mrs. Brennan was accused of throwing a coffee pot and gridiron at Mrs. Cronan, and the charge made by her was atrocious assault with attempt to kill. Lawyer Winfield S. Angleman appeared for Mrs. Cronan, and succeeded in having Mrs. Brennan put under $800 bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury. Martin Brennan, husband of the defendant, furnished the bonds.

After an illness lasting several months, William S. Slape passed away yesterday afternoon about 2. The cause of his death is attributed to pneumonia and malaria, and the best of care and medical skill failed to bring them through. Mr. Slape was a resident of Dunellen in 1883. He then moved to Sing Sing, where he had a farm. About three years ago he returned to Dunellen and had lived there ever since. He was associated with Firman Giss in the stone business, but illness prevented him from taking an active part. A widow and four children survive him. The children are Mrs. Harry Hull of Sing Sing, Miss Lillian Slape, the accomplished assistant of City Judge Coddington in Plainfield, William Slape, Jr., and Clarence Slape. Their many friends fully sympathize with them in their deep sorrow.

THE SENSIBLE VIEW.

WOMAN'S SENSITIVE ORGANISM

Does Not Permit Her to Do What Men Do, and She Ought Not To Try.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

You might as well know that you have a wonderfully sensitive and peculiar organism. You ought to know that from the moment the girl is changed into a woman, the matter of first physical importance to her is the regularity with which nature purifies her system. That all through life this is of the very first importance to her, and that neglect in this direction means misery in every direction.

Stop and reason out what happens when nature is balked in its efforts. The blood takes up the poisonous particles, carries them to the lungs, and decay follows. It carries them to the heart, and before long the organ is weakened, and your courage and strength vanish. It carries them to the brain, and before long the wildest fancies run riot, you think you have every known disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one remedy whose power over this killing disease is acknowledged throughout the world.

It destroys poisonous germs, cleanses the system, strengthens the womb, and makes a strong, hopeful, happy woman out of a physical wreck.

Mrs. J. A. Rice, of Florence, Ky., whose portrait we are permitted to publish, is only one of many thousands who owe their health to the Vegetable Compound, and are doing all they can to help other women to believe that the same health and happiness will come to them with the use of Mrs. Pinkham's medicines. She says:

"I suffered eight years from womanly early troubles. I could find no permanent relief until, one year ago, I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Relief then came with it almost immediately, and at this time I am a well woman.

"I absolutely know, not only by my own experience, but by others also, that it is a harmless and sure remedy for irregularities, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, sick headache, and female complaints generally.

THE CZAR IS FOR PEACE

Not in Six Years Has He Alluded to War.

Other Monarchs Alone Have Been Making All the Bellicose Speeches. Never Since 1870 Has the Peace of Europe Been So Secure—One Absolute Ruler of His Country.

Vienna, Sept. 13.—M. Witte, the Russian minister of finance, who is sojournig at Abazzia, is giving to representatives of the Austrian and German press a series of interviews, which are attracting widespread attention and are regarded as hopeful signs of peace. In an interview published in the Neue Presse M. Witte disclaimed any intention on the part of Russia at any time to make a Russian province of Bulgaria. Referring to the peaceful intentions of the czar, he said:

"During the past six years the danger of war has frequently arisen, but the czar's will alone maintained peace. During these years he has not delivered a single speech or made a single remark which alluded in any way to the possibility of war. On the other hand, the bellicose speeches of other monarchs must be remembered. How often has Russia heard warlike threats? But the czar never answered. He is his own master and his will is absolute. He has to reckon with no parliament. But never since 1870 has peace been so secure and the European situation so reassuring as at present. I see no possible danger of complications."

Of Emperor Francis Joseph, M. Witte speaks in the highest terms of praise. The Austrian kaiser, he said, commanded the highest degree of confidence in Russia, where the conviction was general that Austria's foreign policy was peaceful. The only question was as to the condition of matters in Hungary, the Hungarians being engaged in the endeavor to bring everything under Magyar domination.

In regard to the past differences between Russia and Turkey, M. Witte said that Russia's different campaigns against Turkey had been brought about by the necessity that Russia should secure a free passage not only for Russian ships, but for vessels of all nations, through the Dardanelles. Since the conclusion of the German-Russian commercial treaty, he said, great improvement was noticed in the condition of affairs in Russia and peace was finally consolidated.

NEW YORK POLICE INQUIRY.

The Lexow Committee Still Unearthing Evidence of Corruption.

New York, Sept. 13.—The senate Lexow committee investigating the police department continues to unearth evidence of shameful corruption. The evidence of Mrs. Urchittel is a fair sample of how the extortion was carried on.

Mrs. Caela Urchittel came to this country from Russia six years ago. She had $600 and opened a small cigar store. She cried as she told how a detective—she thought his name was Forgal—had said she made what money she had by improper means, and demanded that he be paid $50. She gave him $25. He arrested her after that.

"He didn't take me to the station house," she said. The station house was in Attorney street. Her store was on the corner of Ridge and Broome streets. Continuing, the witness said: "He walked with me around the streets until 2 o'clock in the morning. Then he pulled down my stocking to see if I had any money. I saw the policeman divide the money with another man. He took me to Essex market and let me go there. The next morning he told me that my children would be taken from me unless I gave him the $50. I was locked up for four days and was then taken to court."

The committee has taken a recess till October 1.

New York State Tax.

Albany, Sept. 13.—State Comptroller Roberts has completed the computation of the taxes which are to be levied for the support of the state government for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1894. The total amount of taxes to be collected is $9,155,742, which is levied upon property throughout the state, the aggregate equalized valuation of which is $4,199,882,059. The amount of taxes to be collected for school purposes is ninety-five one-hundredths mills aggregating $3,989,887; for canal and general purposes ninety one-hundredths mills, amounting to $3,779,893; and thirty-three one-hundredths mills amounting to $1,385,961 for the state care of the insane.

Two New Counterfeit Notes.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The secret service division of the treasury department has issued circular letters announcing two new counterfeit United States notes, one a $5 national bank note and the other a counterfeit $10 United States silver certificate. The national bank note counterfeit is on the Fifth National bank of Cincinnati, check letter "A," series of 1882, and is calculated to deceive those who do not give money careful scrutiny. The $10 silver certificate is of the series of 1886, check letter "A," and is a poorly executed photo-etched production and should be detected at a glance.

Prohibition Nominations.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 13.—Prohibitionists in convention here nominated F. G. Platt, of Meriden, for congress from the first district and a full county ticket.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 13.—At the convention of the Essex county prohibition party Dr. Richardson Gray, of East Orange, was nominated for congress.

Duke of Orleans' Plans.

London, Sept. 13.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says that the Duke of Orleans will live in London, where a royal committee has been formed. The duke has accepted the resignation of the Count of Haussonville as official representative of the Orleans family in France.

Good Government Club Incorporated.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of piles on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, of Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

HILL TO THE FARMERS

Talks to 15,000 People at Somerset County Fair.

Relates Several Humorous Stories and Tells Them He Is Opposed to Government Ownership of Railroads, Banks, Telegraph and Other Industrial Enterprises.

Somerville, N. J., Sept. 14.—There was fully 15,000 people in attendance at the Somerset county fair yesterday, the drawing card being Senator David B. Hill, who made a lengthy and quite humorous speech. Mr. Hill was introduced by State Senator Louis A. Thompson, who is president of the fair association. After finishing his speech the senator was introduced to many of the farmers in the vicinity, who shook his hand warmly. It was a great day for Somerset county.

Mr. Hill said, in part:

I need not assure you that I am pleased to meet so many of the citizens of New Jersey upon this occasion. I have visited certain portions of your state, but have never had the privilege of visiting this locality until now. The particular occasion of my being here is that I received an invitation from my personal and political friend, Mr. Frederick P. Olcott, formerly a resident of my own state, to visit him at his farm in this county, suggesting at the same time that, if agreeable, I should appear at your fair and make a few remarks. I have accepted his invitation and am here to carry out my promise.

I was given on my way here a little handbill containing a rather poor picture of myself, for whom it was intended, and saying that I would address you on the subject of "agriculture," and then was added "no politics, just Simon pure agriculture." After reading that I wondered whether there would be any turn out of citizens in this section. I feared there might be, because, while I might claim to know a little something about politics, I did not claim to know very much about agriculture, and I must regard that this large gathering here to-day has been attracted by that other portion of the handbill, which I will now read, which says—"The world-renowned cage of trained wild animals will give a free exhibition." I am here to-day with the other wild animals on exhibition. I will observe this little reminder contained in this advertisement, and will not trespass upon the field of discussion of politics. The suggestion that there was to be a speech with no politics in it was something like the kind that our authorities in my own state once advertised—that there was to be not a horse race, but a pure agricultural horse trot. On my way here in company with my friend Mr. Olcott there was pointed out to me the residence of this man, and I learned that the occupants of these residences do busines in the great state of New York—in my own state—but reside here among the agriculturists of New Jersey. I want right here to enter, in behalf of my state, a protest against you Jerseymen coming over to New York to make your money and then coming back here to spend it among yourselves. I am going to suggest that as soon as the Lexow committee get through with our police they investigate that subject. I suppose the men who do business in New York, however, are attracted here by your just and generous treatment of them, by your fertile soil, your splendid climate, your liberal laws and the wise and able administration of public affairs under the present distinguished chief executive of your state. This is the season for political farmers to visit county fairs. I have sometimes taken these trips myself to mend some of my political fences. In my state Gov. Flower seems to have entered the list, and is delivering at least one agricultural address a day. I did not intend, and I do not intend to detain you with any labored address upon any particular subject. A few general observations applicable to all is all that I shall attempt here. As I have said to you, I am not one of those men who claim to be especially familiar with agricultural topics. It would take me a great deal longer to tell you what I do not know about that subject than to tell you what I do know. I know that you reap, and that you sow; that there is a seed time and harvest. I know that, as a rule, the farming class constitute the conservative portion of our community.

The farmer's life is generally one of contentment. I simply desire to observe that from the look of your residences in this portion of the state, no criticism is needed as to the manner of your looking after your farms.

After stopping last evening at the home of my friend, and driving through the country, I was led to think that possibly the farmers of this section, as well as the farmers of other sections, undertook to cultivate too much land. As a general rule I think it might safely be said that the farmers attempt to do too much and do not always do it well. The new implements of industry invented relieve the farmer from much of the trouble of former days. I recollect a story which I heard about a farmer in England who had 300 acres of land and who concluded that upon the marriage of his three daughters he would on their wedding day give each of them a present of fifty acres of land. When the first was married he gave her the fifty acres of land, and he found that by greater exertion he raised as much on his 250 acres the next year as he had raised the year before on his 300 acres. The next year or so, when the second daughter came to be married, he gave her a present of another fifty acres, and by utilizing the new improvements, and by still greater attention to the details of farming, he raised as much on the 200 as he had raised on the 300 before; and when the third daughter married, and he gave the other fifty acres, and that left him 150; and by still greater attention and a larger use of the modern improvements, he raised as much on the 150 as he had ever raised on the 300 acres before.

I recollect when I told that story once, a man said to me, "Why I can account for that. I think that farmer must have given away all his bad land and kept all his good."

I told him that I could not vouch for the story, because it was one of Chauncey Depew's stories that he brought with him from England.

I simply know this about a farmer's life, if I was going to suggest the proper place (if I may use the expression) to cheat a farmer, it would be at his own house. And this leads me to suggest that most of our farmers would be better to let their wives do their bargaining for them. I simply add that I speak from observation and not from experience.

I do not intend with any detail to enter into an argument upon the subject of good roads. Nevertheless, on behalf of the travelers of the country, I endorse the suggestion that we should have better roads everywhere. Yours are most excellent. I could not criticize them, if I would. I recollect what that famous humorist, Mark Twain, did for that section of the country where I used to live—in the city of Elmira. The great humorist has a country home near Elmira where he passes the summers. Mr. Twain, with characteristic liberality, concluded to do something for the community in which he lived, and for that purpose, on the occasion of the birth of each child, he erected by the road side a stone watering trough, and had chiseled upon the stone the first name of the child, and the year of the birth, a most generous action upon his part. He has thus far had three or four children (I have forgotten which) and that number of watering troughs have been erected near Elmira, much to the gratification of the traveling community, and the people in that locality are hoping that Mrs. Twain will be blessed with a very numerous family. The other day in my state, in telling this story, after the fair was over, a gentleman stepped up to me, and said—"Senator, that is all very well, that story about Mark Twain, but what are you doing for the watering troughs of your country." It is needless to say that I declined to answer the impertinent question.

I plead to-day for general legislation which rejects the claims of classes. It is true that good laws may aid us and bad laws may retard us in the great struggle of life. But the fact should be impressed upon every one that good, bad or indifferent laws do not of themselves alone ordinarily make men rich or poor, good or bad, vicious or virtuous. New-fangled political heresies teach that the government should own and control everything, the railroads, the banks, the telegraphs and many of the industries and enterprises of the country now conducted by individual capital and effort. I concede that the government should regulate semi-public institutions, but it should not own or otherwise control them.

American Railway Union Defendants Spring a Surprise on the Court.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Counsel for the defendants in the railroad contempt cases surprised the government attorneys by deciding at the conclusion of yesterday's proceedings not to call any witnesses in behalf of their clients, but to rest their cases on the evidence presented by the government. The cases will come up for oral argument Sept. 25, and both sides are allowed twenty days in which to file briefs on the legal questions involved. Judge Woods will probably render a decision early in October.

Attorney Gregory told the court that counsel for defendants preferred to present a written argument on the case. "We are willing to submit this case on the evidence the government has put in," said the lawyer. "We might prove a few things by putting witnesses on the stand, but we are willing to waive this privilege."

Attorney Walker argued for an oral presentation of the defense and Judge Woods said he preferred such an argument, as by this means greater light might be thrown on the subject by questions which could be asked the speakers and that might arise from their remarks.

Attorney Erwin, of counsel for the defense, then said: "We do not desire to have any oral arguments in this case. In its relation to the great American public this case is one of the most important that ever came before a United States court. It involves a great question and we wish to place our views on record in cold-leaded type where it can be seen as often as necessary. This court should consider well the law as to the issuance of injunctions which brought our clients here and we shall have some views on that point. We shall ask twenty days in which to prepare briefs on this subject, and to prayerfully consider the evidence in this case. Our honor, our christian conscience, will appear in this, our argument."

After further discussion the court concluded to have the case argued orally Sept. 25, and to allow briefs to be submitted on the legal phases of the case in twenty days. Ten days longer were allowed the Santa Fe railroad if counsel for defendants felt competent to consume so much time. Then Judge Wood said: "I will probably have to use the midnight hours to prepare my opinion on this case as it will have to be done between now and Oct. 6, when I begin a long session of court."

TO ESCAPE EXPOSURE.

Treasurer Dennison, of the Select Knights, Commits Suicide.

Buffalo, Sept. 14.—E. H. Dennison, state treasurer of the Select Knights now in convention here, committed suicide last night. It is believed he was actuated by a desire to escape exposure as he is known to have embezzled the funds of the order.

Mr. Dennison has been treasurer of the order for two years. It is a position which does not require all of his time and the salary is small. He handles large sums of money and is under bonds. Since the convention assembled evidence was brought out which went to show that Dennison was a defaulter for a considerable sum.

Those Recalcitrant Witnesses.

Washington, Sept. 14.—On the 28th instant the demurrers of brokers Elverton R. Chapman, of New York, and John W. McCartney, of this city, to the indictments charging them with unlawfully refusing to answer questions before the senate sugar investigating committee, will be argued in the District of Columbia criminal court. The arguments will be on constitutional grounds—that is, the contention will be that the senate committee had no power to compel witnesses to answer questions. In the event that the demurrers are sustained no further action will be taken in the matter, as the government has not the right of appeal in a criminal case.

Murdered His Wife.

Lebanon, Pa., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Charles Garrett, 21 years of age, was murdered here yesterday in the yard of a neighbor, to where she had fled, by her husband, who cut her throat from ear to ear. Garrett had just been released from the Eastern penitentiary, after serving three and a half years for assaulting Israel Light, and arrived here from Philadelphia at midnight. He met a number of old-time companions, who told him that during his incarceration his wife had been unfaithful.

Red Men's Traveling Expenses.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 14.—At the afternoon session of the great council of the Red Men the mileage committee presented a report showing that the number of miles traveled by great chiefs, representatives and members of standing committees had been 141,450, and the number of days salary due was 287, making the total amount to be paid for that purpose $9,907.50.

Exports of Cotton.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The chief of the bureau of statistics reports that during the month of August last the exports of cotton amounted to $3,339,149, and during the eleven months ended Aug. 31, 1894, to $268,116,771.

CHICAGO POSTOFFICE.

It Will Go to a Wrecking Company and Not to Atlanta, Ga.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Secretary Carlisle, exercising the discretion given him by congress, has decided that with the $50,000 appropriation available for that purpose he cannot tear down the government main building at Chicago and re-erect it at Atlanta, Ga. He has, therefore, confirmed the sale of this building to the Chicago House Wrecking company, of Chicago, for $5,200. At the same time he has directed Supervising Architect O'Rourke, of the treasury department, to prepare plans and specifications for the Atlanta exposition, to come within $50,000. For this sum, it is believed, a building that will afford much more space and be artistically an ornament to the grounds can be erected.

BROCKWAY'S SIDE OF IT

Admits Some Charges and Denies Others.

Struck Inmates Over the Head With the Strap and in the Face With His Fist—Used the Adjective Damn, But Does Not Consider It Profanity—Favors Corporal Punishment.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The defense in the reformatory investigation expects to close to-day. Mr Brockway's testimony was an admission of many of the charges which are considered cruel by some and a denial of many of the charges. He said that he had struck inmates on the shoulder, chest and side of the face in order to arrest their attention more positively to the subject matter he was discussing.

"Have you ever struck an inmate with sufficient force to knock out his teeth?"

"No, sir."

"Have you ever used profanity in talking to inmates?"

"No; except the adjective 'damn,' which I do not understand to be profanity."

"Have you ever known an officer or keeper to strike or kick an inmate?"

"Very rarely; but there have been instances of a blow being struck by an officer, for which I have reproved him."

"Have you ever removed an officer for this cause?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see an inmate insensible in the bathroom?"

"Only in the case of Sneller, who threw himself backward on the floor."

Mr Brockway was then asked about what is called the "January deal," which led to the transfer of about 30 inmates to the state prison for immorality.

He said that a full and careful investigation was made and that the men were transferred for the good of the institution.

The prosecution claims that all of these transfers were illegal.

Mr. Brockway denied striking or kicking the boy Wallace, who was transferred to state prison for refusing to reveal the name of his parents, and said he was obliged to transfer him because he refused to submit to authority. Mr. Brockway entered a general denial of the charges that he kicked inmates, struck them frequently with his fist, had them strung up in the bathroom until their feet were off the floor, and punished them with the strap until blood flowed from their backs. He denied categorically the statements of the fifty or sixty witnesses for the prosecution who claimed to have been given black eyes, contusions and kicks, knocked down, rendered insensible and permanently injured by him. He said he never struck a man in the heat of passion, never spanked a man who was too weak to stand up any more, never knocked out an inmate's teeth and never saw a man taken out of the bathroom with coat thrown over his head to conceal his condition.

Mr. Brockway's direct examination lasted three hours. Ex-Judge Gilbert then cross-examined him on the many cases of excessive punishments and ill-treatment which have been described by witnesses for the prosecution. He said he approved of flogging and preferred it to any other means employed for disciplining convicts. Judge Gilbert called his attention to his testimony before the legislative committee in 1882, when he said he did not approve of corporal punishment, and that its use had a bad effect on those who administered it and on those who witnessed it. Mr. Brockway said that was his opinion then, but it is different now.

Judge Gilbert asked him if he did not testify then that it is very difficult to take a weapon in hand and strike a blow without putting feeling in it. He replied that he believed that also at the time. Judge Gilbert then asked: "Can you state now after having administered over 20,000 blows with the strap that you can strike a blow without feeling?"

"Certainly I can."

"On none of the occasions in which you inflicted blows, no matter how obstinate the man was, can you say that no passion was aroused?"

"I was not conscious of any temper or passion."

"When the inmates who were in the bathroom being punished turned their heads have you struck them over the head?"

"I have slapped them."

"Is any record of these blows kept separate from those on the back?"

"No."

"Did not some of these blows cause the nose to bleed?"

"Certainly."

"Can you say how many?"

"No."

"There have been occasions when the handle of the strap has been used to strike blows?"

"I only recall one."

"What was the result of that?"

"A slight abrasion on the forehead."

"What was done for it?"

"A piece of court-plaster was put on it by the hospital steward."

"What was the man doing when the blow was struck?"

"Turning his head as I directed him not to do."

"Was it a blow without feeling?"

"Have you not frequently struck inmates with your fist when you were interviewing them?"

"Not frequently; sometimes."

"Have you not struck inmates over the mouth and across the eyes with the strap?"

"I have slapped them over the head and the end of the strap may have reached the mouth or the eyes."

"Have you not seen men bleeding at the nose and mouth as the result of blows with the strap?"

"At the nose, but not at the mouth."

"What was the object of giving blows over the head?"

"To produce the desired effect quicker than by punishment on the buttocks."

"Did some of the inmates have black and blue marks afterwards as the result of the blows?"

"Yes."

"Have you always used one instrument?"

"Two straps have been shown to the committee."

DO YOU WISH A GOOD HINT?

"We must eat to live."

The health of the body and life itself depend entirely on a suitable diet. When people do not get enough food or live on an improper diet, sickness is the inevitable result. Proper nourishment is the secret of health and strength. The great question of health is, therefore, what is a proper diet?

This question might be answered in three different ways and yet each answer would be correct. In the tropics it would be right to say that the proper diet for mankind is almost entirely vegetarian—that is, fruits, vegetables and grains. But in America, which lies in the great temperate zone, a mixed diet is found to be the best. The healthiest people in this country live on meat foods, vegetables and grains in suitable proportions. Such a diet is founded on reason and it ought to be healthy.

Theory and practice, however, do not always agree; there are thousands of people who eat plenty of good food and yet remain weak, unnaturally thin, pale and puny; they have no strength and are continually complaining of tired feelings; their great trouble is that while they eat suitable food they do not get sufficient nourishment. So they keep thin and keep getting thinner. Lack of nourishment soon wears them out.

It was formerly the custom to advise such people to take oils and fats, but persons with weak stomachs can no more digest cod-liver oil than they can digest fat pork. The effect of either is to make them dyspeptic and bilious. And that is why advanced physicians now refuse to prescribe cod-liver oil. Medicated wines and so-called stomach "bitters" are equally useless. They only inflame the lining of the stomach and give no nourishment.

The recognition of these great principles of diet and nourishment has led to one of the most brilliant discoveries of the present age. It has completely revolutionized the treatment of dyspepsia and emaciation. Instead of trying to cure indigestion with medicines and oily mixtures, people are now finding out that the only way to get relief is by obtaining sufficient nourishment, and that this nourishment is speedily gained by taking Paskola, the artificially digested food. This great discovery has caused a decided sensation for some time past, and the fact that Paskola is becoming so wonderfully popular is the best proof that it has merit.

Any up-to-date druggist will furnish Paskola. If you want to know how it works, send for free pamphlet to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New York.

"Was a third strap used at one time?"

"Well, yes, there was an old one used about 1880. It was the same size as those used since."

"Has any other instrument been used?"

"There was a piece of rubber hose in the bathroom that was used once or twice when the strap was missing."

"What were its dimensions?"

"It was three-quarters of an inch in diameter and about 36 inches long. It has not been used in over five years."

Judge Gilbert questioned Mr Brockway at considerable length about the seclusion cells and the bread and water treatment without bringing out anything new.

PRESIDENT WICKER'S SON LOST.

His Dory Picked Up With Sails and Oars Gone.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 14.—Henry Wicker, of New York, son of President Wicker of the North Shore Traction company, has now been missing for three days and it is now almost certain that the boy was drowned.

He left the hotel Preston, Beach Bluff, Swampscott, about 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning, with the intention of sailing his dory round to his summer home on Little's point, but took a course due south for about six miles, which would take him in an entirely different direction from his home.

This was the last seen of him. The fishing schooner Acacia, of Swampscott, Capt. Cahoon, reports picking up the dory at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning five miles off Egg rock and six miles south of Marblehead. Tugs belonging to the Boston Tugboat company have been chartered and are now patrolling both the north and south shores.

KIDNAPPED HIS SON

Ferdinand Ward Gains More Notoriety.

The Boy Who Will Come Into Possession of $80,000, When of Age, Picked Up on the Street While Going to School—He Was Soon Recovered—The Kidnapper Escapes.

Putnam, Conn., Sept. 14.—A sensation was sprung in the quiet little town of Thompson, when the alarm was given that Clarence E. Ward had been kidnapped. The little fellow is only 10 years old and is the son of Ferdinand Ward, notorious in his connection with the Grant & Ward failure, for the part in which he took he served ten years in Sing Sing.

The story of the kidnapping is very interesting. While the boy was on his way to school he met two men in a carriage. One of the men jumped out and talked in a friendly manner to the little fellow. Instantly the unknown man seized the boy, and in spite of protestations and screams placed him in a carriage and drove to the north, evidently to reach the Massachusetts line.

When the alarm was given of the abduction, it spread like wild fire throughout the neighborhood. Suspicions were in the air that it was the work of Ferdinand Ward, who has tried on several occasions to get control of the lad, as there is a trust fund of $80,000 coming to young Ward when he becomes of age. About two hundred citizens of Thompson mounted on horseback and in carriages, some armed with guns, and other weapons, started in pursuit of the kidnappers. Arriving at the Joslin hotel, in Webster, Mass., they found young Ward in a room up stairs. He was taken back safely to his uncle, F. I. Green, who resides in the central part of the village.

While this was going on in the hotel, Ferdinand Ward was consulting with a lawyer on the other side of the street. He was getting ready to take the boy to Worcester, Mass., and from there to New York. The man who did the kidnapping was a stranger from New York.

A reporter went to Thompson and interviewed Mr. Greene. He said that Ward had tried to obtain possession of the boy a dozen times before, but each time it was kept secret. "You see," said Mr. Greene, "Ward has an idea that if he can get possession of the boy he may get a share of the $80,000 some day."

About six months before Ward was released from Sing Sing his first wife died and left the second fund for her only child, Clarence. She made her brother, F. I. Greene, of Thompson, guardian over the boy, and since then he has always lived with his uncle.

Nothing has been heard of Ward or the unknown kidnapper since. It was the general opinion here that Ward had gained enough notoriety in the past, but he seems to be looking for more.

SETTLE DOWN ON THE FARM.

Gov. Flower's Wholesome Advice to Young Men.

Randolph, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Gov. Flower addressed a large assemblage of the farmers of Cattaraugus and Chautauqua counties here yesterday. The grand stand was filled to overflowing. The governor congratulated his hearers on the fact that they had been making butter and cheese, and by so doing swelling their wallets, while the commercial interests were suffering and his own pocket-book thinning. He compared the western with the eastern farming country and recalled how some years ago the advice to young men to go west was taken by so many of them that all the west was now populated. The land was given away out there and the result was that this free land came in competition with land at $50 or $75 an acre in the east. The land was taken in the west and we did not hear much of the advice to young men to go west. The best counsel that could be given to a young man and a young woman now was to settle down on the farm in the east.

CHANCE FOR OUR ARCHITECTS.

Invited To Submit Designs for a Costly Museum at Cairo.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The state department has been informed by Consul General Penfield at Cairo that the Egyptian government has issued an invitation to the architects of all countries to submit designs for a museum that is to be built at Cairo costing 123,000 pounds sterling. The successful design will secure a prize of 630 pounds and 480 pounds will be divided among the next four designs. Architects may secure details by addressing the minister of public works at Cairo.

It is understood that the khedive is particularly anxious to secure designs from Americans whose work he understands is characterized by exceeding boldness and beauty.

Breckinridge Plays a Trump Card.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 14.—Late last night Col. Breckinridge gave out an interview in which he shows affidavits that his opponent, W. C. Owen, was a gambler in Chicago last year and intended to stay there. He also prints an affidavit showing that Mr. Owen, in company with a woman, was put out of a Louisville hotel. These charges coming against Owen at this late hour will prevent him from replying.

Knocked Out in Three Rounds.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 14.—The Ryan-Layton mill took place on a sand bar in the middle of the Missouri river. A protest was filed by the ministers of the city which prevented it taking place, where it was the original intention, in the room of the St. Joseph Athletic club. The fight was fast and furious, Layton being knocked out in the third round.

Soldier's Home Set on Fire.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Some of the out-buildings connected with the Soldier's home were set on fire at an early hour this morning. Three fires were started in rapid succession and a hay-stack and barn were burned, but the Soldier's home building proper was not damaged. The incendiaries are not known.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FIGHTING FIREBUGS.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD VILLAGERS AWAKE TO THEIR DANGER.

They Believe the Recent Fires to Be Incendiary, and Will Employ a Watchman to Guard Their Homes at Night.

Charles Smith, the South Plainfield shoemaker whose home was burned to the ground yesterday morning, has moved with his family to M. H. Higgins's house in front of the barn that was burned two weeks ago.

The shoemaker says that he had $100 cash in a tobacco bag before the fire and that he believes some of the men who helped take out the furniture stole it. Mrs. Smith, however, thinks that no one took it as there was nothing about the appearance of the bag that would indicate its contents. She says it must have been burned, but her husband adheres to the notion of robbery.

The general opinion of the neighbors is that the fire was incendiary, although it entered the bedroom from the top. The house was formerly a barn. It was a heavy structure with oak beams. Smith was building a connecting addition on it. Near this part Mrs. Higgins says the fire started. She was sitting by the window and saw a light at the base of the building which she thought was a railroad lantern. Suddenly the flames shot up the side wall to the roof.

This is considered by all a sign of incendiarism, and other fires in the place are now attributed to that cause. The employment of a night watchman who will look out for fires and have the alarm sounded is proposed. At the Smith fire the school-bell was not rung until the house was burned flat. Neighbors who lived three doors away did not know of the fire until then. A meeting of the villagers will be held tomorrow night to consider the question of hiring a watchman.

CHURCH CHIMES.

A G Fiske will lead the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4:15.

Rev. C. E. Herring of the First Presbyterian Church will occupy the pulpit of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church tomorrow morning.

The Religious Work Committee of the Y. M. C. A. met at the home of A. C. LaBoyteaux, East Sixth street, last evening. Plans for the young men's week of prayer, the second week in November, and for the religious work in the new building were discussed. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The Advance, that most excellent church paper issued monthly by the Men's Association of Grace Church in the interests of the church at large in Plainfield, is in print for September, and is bright and edifying. Editorially, the following is noted: "It is with extreme regret that we have to record the removal from this city of our Associate Editor, Henry B. Ely. For reasons of a business nature he has taken up his residence in New York city. We cannot but feel that the Men's Association of Grace Church has sustained an incalculable loss. Mr. Ely's earnest Christianity and thorough churchmanship have been an inspiration to not a few, and his progressive spirit has shown itself in every effort for good which the Association has put forth. The Advance will not suffer, however, for Mr. Ely has kindly consented to retain the Associate Editorship, and to furnish us with articles for publication as he has done in the past."

A prominent resident of Roselle, where Rev. Ralph Gillam, who is to conduct evangelistic meetings in Hope Chapel next week, held union meetings last Winter, writes: "The work with us was quiet and deep. Christians were wonderfully revived, and a large number of those outside the church were converted. Nothing was said or done to excite, but there was deep emotion, in some cases particularly noticeable. But how can we help emotion when the love of God is faithfully presented as manifested through Jesus Christ. We had some ultra-conservative people among us who did not look with favor upon the movement before Mr. Gillam came, but in a few days the presence and power of the Spirit was so manifest that objections ceased, and I do not think there is one person in our midst today but would say it was a grand work."

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Two palefaces await adoption into Miantonomoh Tribe tonight. The hunters degree will also be worked.

N. C. Magee, who represents the State in the Red Men's convention in Binghamton, N Y, writes that he is enjoying a royal time, having recovered from his slight illness.

Besides the transaction of routine business in Central Lodge, No. 48, A O U W., last evening, a debate was held for the good of the order. The matter considered was the obligation of secret societies to find employment for idle members belonging to the same. The question was discussed for an hour by Brothers Smith, Randolph, Vegiard, Westphal, Newcorn and Spicer.

The attendance at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., last evening was very large, and the session was a busy one. One member was reinstated, three candidates were proposed for membership, and two candidates were elected. The check for $250 which goes to Mrs. Schenck, mother of the late Garret C. Schenck, was received and will be paid to her today.

Says the Girl Beat Him.

Ten-year-old Oliver L. Pfeiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Pfeiffer of Manson place, left his home at 7 last evening to go on an errand for his mother. He was attacked, he says, by fourteen-year-old Lizzie Morning of the same place, and quite severely beaten. His face was bruised when he reached home. The affair was the climax of a children's quarrel.

EVIDENTLY DESERTION.

Lured to Plainfield by False Promises.

Mrs. Johnson, daughter, and three little grandchildren, of Peterborough, Canada, are destitute at Schorb's Central Hotel, East Front street.

They came to Plainfield from Canada on the promise of Frank Fisher, the daughter's husband, that he had work here and would support them.

They can find no trace of him, and believe they have been cruelly deceived. Fisher was a typewriter and school teacher.

Mrs. Johnson says her daughter will get work in New York. Meanwhile they are in sore need. The Daily Press will receive contributions for them.

OBITUARY.

P. T. B. Nevius.

Peter T. B. Nevius died at his home, 52 Sandford avenue, yesterday afternoon at 2:30. He had been ill from consumption for two years. He was able to be about all day Wednesday. He was nearly 60 years old, and came to Plainfield from Flemington when he was a young man. Of late he had been engaged in the business of laying stone sidewalks. He leaves a wife and four children, three daughters and a son. The funeral will be private.

PAID TODAY.

Another Quick Adjustment Made by The Hartford Fire Insurance Company Through Its Agents, VanBuren & Timpson.

This company has always been noted for its quick adjustments and fair dealings with the assured. The Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company sustained a loss on two of its dwellings by lightning Saturday afternoon last, which was reported to VanBuren & Timpson Monday noon.

Their agents had the pleasure of handing a check for the full amount of the claim to the assured this morning, as The Press said yesterday would be done.

As far back as the great Chicago fire this company has been noted for its square dealings. It was one of the first among the few companies that stood the shock to announce that all just claims would be paid in full. Its printed announcement to its agents, made as soon as type could be found to print it, said that the losses would be "approximately one and three-fourths million of dollars" and that "vast as is this sum, it will be bravely met and honorably paid".

The losses were much heavier than was then estimated, and the company paid within four months and for the most part within ninety days claims aggregating $1,933,562 04, not one cent of which was paid under litigation, but all as the honorable acquittal of claims many of which were difficult of proof and might doubtless have been resisted had such a course been approved by the management. It still carries out its old rule of fair dealings and of contempt for any technical advantage. A policy in the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., is as good as a gold bond.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Victor Wheelmen gave up the idea of holding a road race this Fall when they met and consulted last evening.

In Springfield yesterday Monte Scott rode third in the two-mile handicap, finishing from the 10-yard mark behind the scratch man and a 70-yard rider.

The Plainfielders who have tried to ride in Flushing will have another chance Sept. 22, the Mercury Wheelmen having been granted a second postponement to that date.

I. N. Linee yesterday afternoon received from W. H. Rogers his new racing wheel built in the Fifth Street cycle shop and sent out for enameling. The wheel has undergone satisfactory usage in its unpolished state.

C. S. Gotthelf yesterday estimated that he had covered 1,800 miles on his wheel during the last three weeks. He came from Chicago in 10 days and 11 hours, half of the time being spent in wheeling in the rain. He had an extra trip to Toledo, where his machine broke down and sent him back to Chicago for repairs. A Hy-Lo 72-54 gear made riding easy.

James Willis of Elizabeth has ridden over the twenty-five-mile Railway road race course, in 1:07.38. The course is in such fine shape now that good judges say it can be covered within an hour. On Saturday, Oct. 6, there will be a race limited to twenty riders. No entrance fee will be charged, and all will start from scratch. The prize will be a high-grade bicycle. A time limit will be fixed in order to try to make a new record for the distance. A medal will be given to the rider who breaks the record.

Success Sure.

Manager Varian of Music Hall was gratified again last night by another large house, which enjoyed "Jane" to the utmost. "Jane" is a bright bit of theatrical sunshine, and was cleverly interpreted.

New improvements in Music Hall are noticeable at each show, and many important ones are still to be made. The high grade of the audiences this season is noticeable.

Mr. Varian has already made Music Hall something to be proud of. It is clean, wholesome, and orderly. New scenery and a new drop curtain are in preparation.

Mr. Varian's son is his right-hand man, and his energy and progressive ideas are a material aid to the success that is being achieved.

—Miss Lincoln, the Park avenue florist, has just received an elegant assortment of rare ferns and other plants, also bulbs of all kinds, for Fall planting. She has a large supply of cut flowers daily.

—A good chance for a solid investment is offered by the Plainfield Building and Loan Association in their fourth series. In 10 years they have loaned over $250,000 on mortgage and never had to take a single property as security.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The scenery used in "Faust" tonight will be entirely the company's own.

—Boehm's great millinery opening and cloak and carpet sale is advertised on Page 3 today.

—A mild case of diphtheria caused the quarantining of the house of T. T. Smith, Westervelt avenue. One of his children is the patient.

—John Merrick, 18 years old, a jockey of Long Branch, was thrown from a horse and killed yesterday afternoon on the track at the Somerset fair grounds.

—Neuman Bros., the Watchung avenue grocers, will receive tomorrow 150 baskets of choice table and canning peaches, which will be sold at very low prices.

—VanBuren & Timpson have started a daily newspaper, of which one copy is issued each day and displayed in front of their office to the edification of passersby.

Probably Not Recover.

No change was reported this afternoon in the condition of Augustus Rose, the lockjaw patient of Muhlenberg Hospital. But little hope for his recovery has been given to his relatives and friends in Scotch Plains. Delay in obtaining a medicine useful in the first stages of the disease is a setback in the treatment.

S. E. Flower Assigns.

S. E. Flower this afternoon made an assignment of his entire stationery and artists' supplies business to Vincent L. Frazee. An inventory of the stock will be taken Monday.

THE ENGLISH ROYAL PLATE.

It Belongs to the British Ruler and is Valued at $15,000,000.

Certain radical members of the British Parliament recently put forward a demand that the magnificent collection of royal plate, which is valued at nearly $15,000,000, should be placed on exhibition in the British Museum or some similar institution "where the people who have paid for it could see and enjoy their own property.

These members of the Lower House are evidently under the impression that because this plate is described as the property of the Crown in order to distinguish it from the personal and absolutely private possessions of the Queen and her individual children, it belongs to the State.

Now, this marvellous collection of Crown plate is in no sense of the word national property. It belongs, not to the British Treasury, but to the head of the reigning house for the time being, just in the same way that in the families of the British nobility, certain of the family plate and jewels are strictly entailed, considered as heirlooms and unalienable from the chief of the family. What is called Queen Victoria's private plate is that which she herself has purchased, which is not entailed and which she is free to bequeath to Princess Beatrice, the Duke of Connaught or any of her younger children.

The Crown plate includes a peacock of precious stones, valued at $200,000; a dinner service of pure gold for 130 guests; a silver-gilt wine cooler in which two persons can comfortably sit; almost a thousand silver plates and numerous gold shields, one of them entirely consisting of jeweled snuff-boxes, and valued at $80,000.

Ida Wells's One Idea.

The English newspapers speak frequently of Ida Wells, a young Afro-American, whose name is better known in Great Britain than at home. The part which women have played in the reforms and revolutions of the past make a very interesting chapter of history. Some of the most powerful champions in the anti-slavery fight were women. Ida Wells has an interesting personality. She is a woman with one idea. She was educated in the public schools of Holly Springs, Miss., and spent a short time at college in the same State. Her parents were very indulgent people. The head of the house was a mechanic, who made good wages and supported his family in comfort. Both the parents were swept away by the yellow fever epidemic at Memphis within a week, leaving Miss Wells, a mere girl, to provide for herself and a younger brother and sister. This she successfully did as a school teacher and a newspaper contributor, giving both her younger charges opportunity by which they secured a common school education. The amount of interest which her race is showing in her, as well as the attention which has been shown her in Great Britain, is due in the main to the sentiment which surrounds a woman in most of the relations of life, as well as her native ability to present her case as a speaker and writer in strong, attractive English. She is trying to arouse a strong public sentiment against the lynching of negroes.

Cornering a Fisherman.

"So you've been fishing," said City Ticket Agent Green of the Wisconsin Central to Commercial Agent Lord on his return from an expedition last week near Steven's Point, on the Portage branch. "Where are your fish?"

"We ate 'em all," replied Lord. "Collins, Horn, Dr. Vittum, and myself ate 'em all."

Green's eye twinkled under the lid. He ingeniously turned the conversation in other channels until Lord was off his guard, when he asked in all seriousness: "And so you really had good luck—on the square?"

"We had fine luck," responded Lord, boastingly.

"What would be your average catch apiece?"

"About 100 trout each."

"Average weight?"

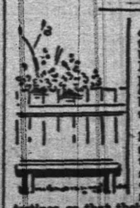
"Easily a pound and a half."

"And you were away four days?"

"Just four days."

"Do you mean to tell me that you and Horn and Collins and Doc Vittum ate 2,400 pounds of fish?"

"You're a smart mathematician, Green," meekly responded Lord, "and I guess I'd better buy."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.



THE SEAT of Sick Headache is in the stomach and the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it perfectly. They regulate the stomach and bowels—mildly, gently, naturally.

With these tiny Pellets, the smallest made and the pleasantest to take, there's a peculiar strengthening and tonic effect on the lining membranes of the intestines, so that their help lasts. They prevent, relieve, and permanently cure Biliousness, Indigestion, Constipation, Sick or Bilious Headache, Sour Stomach, Dizziness, and every liver, stomach, and bowel disorder.

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

One of the most difficult diseases to deal with is Catarrh. Perhaps the only medicine that will cure it, root and branch, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So small is the chance of failure that the makers guarantee it in the worst cases.

A FRUIT FEAST.

MELONS AND PEACHES SERVED BY THE WOMEN'S CORPS

Grand Army Men Renew Their Drill of 30 Years Ago, and Join in the Annihilation of Good Things.

The Women's Relief Corps held possession of the vacant store in the Babcock Building next to VanEmburgh & Son's establishment last evening. Their friends joined them in the enjoyment of a feast of melons and peaches and cream. The Independent Fife and Drum Corps and members of Winfield Scott Post entertained them all.

The store was brightly lighted and was decorated with the attention to patriotism that is always seen in the festivals of the Corps. The large show window was draped with flags and lengths of bunting. The platform just inside was covered with bunting and then adorned with short stacks of flag-staffs, each bearing a flag with the Post's stamp upon it. Flag and flowers were used effectively about the rest of the room. The decorations were the work of Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Westphal.

Ice-cream was served by Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Mattox until it was exhausted and more had to be sent for. Mrs. E. Radan and Mrs. Kline were in charge of the fruit and attended to the sale of peaches and watermelons. Mrs. Nash and Mrs. Terry were the two who served cake. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins was the chairman and general manager of all, being assisted in entertaining the guests by Mrs. Leland, Mrs. Walter Walker and the Misses Nash, Westphal, Graves, Smith, Howlett and Hargraves.

The fife and drum boys came early in the evening and played inside till 9, when they went to the Post's rooms, where the veterans had gone for their muskets, and escorted them to the Babcock Building. To oblige the women, the G. A. R. men gave the Scott drill in the rear of the room instead of their regular drill, Upton's. They had not been through the old drill in 30 years, but they soon fell into the spirit of it. Then they laid aside the muskets and took their places at the tables.

MEPHISTO TONIGHT.

Romantic Story of Faust Superbly Staged in Music Hall.

A masterly and artistic presentation of Faust will be given in Music Hall tonight. The company is a strong one, centring about the star Lewis Morrison. He is so very attractive and strong in his rendition of the witty Mephisto that he absorbs the attention of his audiences from curtain-rise till it falls.

The staging of the piece is little short of phenomenal. The scenery and mechanical effects are exceedingly strong. Electricity plays a prominent part in the production. It is eminently spectacular, but at the same time notable for superior dramatic and artistic worth. It is sensational only where sensational is perfectly legitimate in conjunction with his satanic majesty.

Comedian Crane and the Merry Wives.

William H. Crane, the famous comedian, will revive Shakespeare's comedy, "The Merry Wives of Windsor", in the Star Theatre in New York, September 24. It is little over a year since Mr. Crane promised to revive the comedy and since then work on the production has almost been continuous. The very best authorities on the play have been called in to give their aid and the result will be, so it is expected, that the production will be found a noteworthy one. Since the time of Hackett, who was the greatest Sir John Falstaff, not only of his time, but of all time, the "Merry Wives" has rarely been given. The reasons for this are that there are extremely few of our actors who are qualified to play the part of Sir John. About eight years ago Crane produced the comedy and his success in it at that time was emphatic. The critics praised his work, said he was a true Shakespearean comedian and that he made Sir John an arrant old rogue possessed of a great deal of unctious humor.

The scenery for the revival has been painted by Richard Marston after sketches copied from pictures of Windsor in possession of the British Museum. Mr. Marston has also painted a drop curtain which represents Windsor as it is today.

One of the features of the revival will be the Herne's Oak scene. This Oak did really stand in Windsor Forest and for years there was a royal command that people were not to harm it. The elements, however, felled it and visitors to Windsor are now pointed out the spot where the Oak once stood. Herne, after whom the Oak was named, was a hunter who led people to believe the tree was haunted.

In Mr. Crane's Company are: Messrs. Orrin Johnson, Boyd Putnam, Joseph Wheelock, Jr., H. A. Weaver, Percy Brooke, James O. Barrows, H. A. Langdon, William Lower, George F. DeVere, D. J. Fingleton, Gus DeVere, B. Riar and H. Hall, and Misses Ffolliott Paget, Lizzie Hudson Collier, Anne O'Neill, Gladys Wallis, V. Egar and Mrs. Kate Denin Wilson.

—Justice Nash today adjourned for one week the case of Lufkins against Wieringa.

MADE MERRY ON THE LAWN.

'Neath the Glow of Lanterns in the Trees These Young People Had a Joyous Time.

A delightful lawn party was given last night by Miss Ida Johnson and J. R., C. S., and A. R. Johnson in honor of their cousins, the Misses Stella and Flora Roselle, who are granddaughters of the late John Roselle of this city. The affair was held on the grounds of Miss Johnson's home on Plainfield avenue just beyond the city line.

The lawn afforded a very pretty sight, the trees being trimmed in elegant style and the whole being illuminated by a hundred Chinese lanterns. Supper was served at 12. A bountiful supply of melons, fruit, sandwiches, cake and ice-cream was served, ribbons tastefully arranged decorating many of the dishes. Games and singing were the favorite amusements, music being furnished by Miss Etta Blatz.

Among those present were the Misses Cora Shepard, Katie and Sadie Blimm, Lida Crossin, Jessie and Maggie McKillop, Etta Blatz, Laura Manning, Sadie and May Johnson, Lizzie Stoffen, Mattie Merrill, Emma and Myra Coriell, Ida Johnson and Mrs. P. C. Johnson, the Misses Abbott, and Mrs. H. W. Marshall; and Edward TenEyck, Mr. Spitelhouse, D. Holland of Elizabeth, William and Frank Havens, Alvin Hoagland, H. W. Marshall, P. C., J. R., C. S. and A. R. Johnson, Will and John Abbott, and W. Wilkins.

A FAIR ROBBERY.

Both Inner and Outer Man Discomfited in the Case of L. A. Hummer.

Ex-Councilman L. A. Hummer and wife, of 159 Somerset street, attended the County Fair at Somerville yesterday. They prepared an abundant supply of eatables. Feeling tired, and having a good appetite, they set out toward the carriage. Mr. Hummer, meeting a friend, invited him to dine with them. But on arriving at the carriage, to their surprise they found someone had disposed of basket and contents, much to the embarrassment of Mr. Hummer. But the worst remains to be told: the thief also took from the carriage a handsome light overcoat, and the ex-Councilman was obliged to ride home without one.

TILL MORNING TWILIGHT.

Festivity Abounds All Night in T. A. B. Hall.

The Twilight Club, that thriving young organization that has its headquarters in Babbitt's pool-rooms, gave their first ball last night in T. A. B. Hall on West Fourth street. The affair began at 10 and ended at 4 this morning.

James Babbitt was the floor manager, and with the assistance of F. J. G. Wade, J. H. Frisbie, W. J. Lee, C. E. Jefferson and W. M. Summerset, kept the crowd so orderly that not a blow was struck. Frank Lewis talked for a while but decided to do nothing serious.

A prize waltz with an umbrella for the first prize man and a ring was on the programme. When the Plainfielders saw the skill of the New Brunswick waltzers they became alarmed and appealed to the management for a change. The waltz was turned into a cake walk and the prizes were thereby kept at home, Walter Wilson and his companion winning them.

Reception at the Rock.

A number of young people from Plainfield and the borough enjoyed last evening at Washington Rock, where they signaled to their friends with fires and fireworks.

The picnic was given by Miss Clara Woltmann in honor of her friend Miss Mildred Potter.

Among those who enjoyed this novel celebration were Miss Elizabeth Hasbruck, Miss Annie Hasbruck, Miss Helen Hasbruck, Miss Edith Gilbert, Miss Lulu French, Miss Florence Bond and Messrs. Will Gilbert, Albert Woltmann, John W. Kirkner, Henry C. Wells, Meredith Dryden, Frank Richards, Mr. Sprowel and Richard Strong.

He'll Soon Be Well Again.

Josiah Browne and family of Watchung avenue have returned from Asbury Park, where they occupied a cottage. Soon after their arrival at the seashore the children were attacked with whooping cough. One of them, a bright boy of six years, took cold, which resulted in an attack of pneumonia. The physician pronounced the sea air bad for him, and arrangements were immediately made for his removal and a special car was secured. But, owing to the stormy weather and his serious condition, it was only day before yesterday that he was able to be brought home. He stood the journey as well as could be expected, and is doing well.

How Long? How Long?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—Will you please lay before your readers the following problem for their solution: Given 18 boys playing ball, and the advertisement of a low groggery that it will treat them free every time they beat, how long will it take to ruin the boys and make them constant habitues of the low groggery? A subscriber to your paper, and A MOTHER.

JERSEY'S PEACH CROP.

COMMUNIPAW THE LARGEST FRUIT STATION IN THE WORLD.

Hundreds of Car Loads of Peaches Disposed of Every Night—An Army of Men at Work While Most People are Asleep—Peaches in Market a Few Hours After They are Picked.

Few people have any idea of the enormous amount of work necessary at this season of the year to handle successfully the peach and general fruit crop.

It is quite common for the retail dealer in New York, and in this city, to say to an early morning customer: "These peaches were on the trees in New Jersey yesterday afternoon", and his statement is true.

The Central Railroad handles an enormous quantity of peaches each year, but this year has thus far broken the record.

A reporter for the Elizabeth Journal traveled to Communipaw one night recently, to see how the vast crop was received and handled.

The work is carried on almost entirely in the night. Midnight at the Communipaw station of the Central Railroad is one of the most active and industrious spots on the entire continent, and the skill and accuracy with which everything is done shows how reliable and efficient are the men in charge of the yards.

Up to 10 or 10:30 all is comparatively quiet. Then the truckmen begin to come in from New York. They have orders to meet the fruit trains, and each one wants to get his peaches first.

Then the fun begins. The train is, perhaps, a little late. If a dozen or more come together each wants to get the best possible position. Such a struggle as sometimes occurs!

Do they swear?

Well, it can hardly be called swearing, they do it so unanimously, as it were.

By and by the train comes in, and the way the trucks are backed into position, the cars opened, the baskets of peaches unloaded from the cars and loaded on the trucks is something marvelous. It would almost turn a man's head who is not accustomed to it.

The whole train is unloaded and ready to be shifted to make way for another train in a space of time that seems almost incredible.

Charles McNabb has entire charge and oversight of this work. He has been thirteen years in the business, and has every detail at his finger end. He said to the Journal reporter:

"Communipaw—or Jersey City, is the largest fruit station in the world this year by long odds. We have 153 clerks and about 650 carmen and 375 trucks. Some of the latter make many trips to and from New York each night during the fruit season.

"We can place and unload 175 cars at one time."

"Can you give an accurate idea of how many car loads are actually received and unloaded here during any one night?" was asked.

Turning to the documents which he had at hand Mr. McNabb said:

"By actual count, inside of one hour and thirty-five minutes we received forty cars of peaches from the Rockaway Valley Railroad, and seventy-nine cars of peaches from the Central Railroad main line. We also had forty-five cars of vegetables and mixed fruit from South Jersey. All this arrived within the time stated, was placed at once, and all of it was carried over to New York inside of four hours, giving the quickest despatch of any road in the country, a fact acknowledged by all carmen and truckmen. In addition to this we also handled or floated several hundred cars of merchandise and coal. One night later we received 175 car loads of fruit."

Think of this work being done at dead of night, by a small army of men. And in addition, many car loads of live stock received, and perhaps several thousand sheep.

F. W. Repper is the freight agent in charge of the Jersey City station, but he devotes his services exclusively to the day business, leaving Mr. McNabb to hire or discharge the men necessary for the night work, to issue all orders, and to see that the vast amount of fruit which comes from the New Jersey orchards is received and delivered in good order to the dealers to whom it is consigned.

All this work is done in the yard just south of the great new depot into which all the Central Road passenger trains run. It is done from 10 or 11 p. m., to 3 or 4 a. m., every night, week in and week out during the fruit season.

It is apparent enough, from these figures, that nothing but long experience, a cool head and capacity for knowing what is to be done and who ought to do it, could maintain such a system of handling enormous quantities of perishable fruit in so short a time and in such satisfactory manner.

It would be impracticable for our readers to witness the marvelous scenes that take place nightly at the Jersey City freight yard, because of the inconvenient hours and because they might be in the way if they went to see, but it is one of the most interesting spectacles of systematic work that any could wish to look upon.

Famous Breed of Dogs for Plainfield.

Plainfield citizens are famous for their enterprise, and Frank W. Thompson of Rockview Terrace is no exception. He is about to establish a dog kennel at the rear of his residence. Mr. Thompson expects to receive his first lot of dogs next Saturday. Among them will be Speer, an Irish setter, raised by the famous Dr. Speer, who has held such an important place among dog-fanciers. Other dogs will be added later in the year and Mr. Thompson will have one of the best equipped kennels in the city.

Getting Lots of Water.

Contractor Conlan's men began today to drive the second of the four new 60-foot wells of the Water Supply Company. The first one is being connected with the pumps this afternoon for a test as to its capacity.

Dunellen.

Mrs. Maier spent yesterday in Newark.

Mr. Thomas and family have returned from Ocean Grove.

Miss Nettie Kreitling of Plainfield visited Mrs. John Peters.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barick are visiting friends in Chester, Morris County.

A part of Harry Swackhammer's two-weeks vacation will be spent in Pluckamin.

Miss Celia Staats and Miss Jennie Tingley called on Plainfield friends yesterday.

Miss Minnie Whiting of Plainfield was entertained by yesterday by Dunellen friends.

Mr. Patrick Flanagan and daughters of Plainfield were guests of Dunellen friends yesterday.

Pony Snell and family have taken up their residence in West Dunellen on the Reed property.

Christopher Huff completed the decorations in the dining-room of the Park Hotel yesterday.

Revs. Frank Fletcher and A. I. Martine took yesterday off, and had a delightful vacation.

Rev. W. C. Kinsey is planning for a Winter of aggressive Christian work among his people.

M. L. Barick, Fred Wilcox and William Dunham, of the Jersey Central, have been laid off for a few days.

W. C. Smith of Brooklyn is a guest of H. H. Webb for a few days. He will soon leave for South America.

Miss Kittie Ransom of New Market will take a course of study in a Massachusetts seminary this Winter.

Dr. P. W. Brakely and Constable Warden went to New Brunswick yesterday to follow the Marienscheck case.

The case of Ambrose Marienscheck came up in court in New Brunswick yesterday, and was dismissed by the Grand Jury. It will be remembered that he assaulted his son Frank some time ago while under the influence of liquor.

Constable George Huff has served the summons on Paul Kratzel in the suit brought by Adam Seader. It is returnable Friday, September 21. It is said that Justice Storms's court room will not hold all the people that want to be present.

The funeral of William S. Slape will take place Sunday afternoon at 3, from his late home. Revs. A. I. Martine, Frank Fletcher and W. C. Kinsey, will officiate, also Dr. Searles of Sing Sing. Interment will be in Salem, Salem County.

Can Cover Plainfield, Anyhow.

There are nearly 6,000,000 people in the city of London; and Love, the North Avenue wall-paper man, says that probably 4,000,000 live in rooms that have no border to their wall-paper. This is accounted for by the fact that the English always seem a little behind the times. Love says he could not supply all London with border, but he could and wants to supply all Plainfield with border and wall-paper. He has 30,000 pieces in stock, which he proposes to close out this Fall. There are great bargains to be found there.

Time Limited.

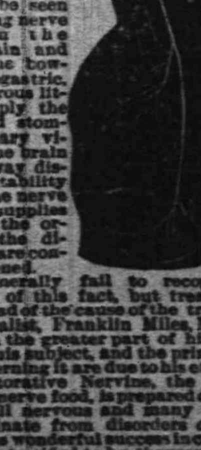
Only till September 21 Mr. Van Liew will be at 206 East Front street. If you want him to show you "Lights and Shadows of New York", send a postal to him there, and make an appointment.

—Car 3 will be out on the road tomorrow night after a stay in the shop, where it has been painted in the gorgeous new style.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.



Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

WORK QUICKLY DONE

Grand Army Boys Break All Previous Records.

Adjourned Sine Die After Two Days—Col. Lawler, of Illinois, Elected Commander-in-Chief.—Next Year Mason and Dixon's Line Will Be Crossed by the Vets.

Pittsburg, Sept. 14.—Breaking all previous records, in beginning and ending its business within two days, the 28th national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic adjourned sine die last night. A year from next Monday the boys in blue, crossing Mason and Dixon's line for the first time in the history of the order, will fraternize with their opponents of the sixties and thus make visible demonstration of the oft-repeated assertion that there is no longer a north and a south, but one country, free and undivided. And if but a tithe of the pledges and promises made by the visiting Kentuckians are redeemed the encampment of '95 will never be forgotten either by the union or confederate veterans that are fortunate enough to be among the participants.

The encampment transacted its business yesterday with electric speed. When the noon recess was taken all the national officers had been elected.

Col. Thomas G. Lawler, of Illinois, was elected comander-in-chief of the G. A. R.

Maj. A. P. Burchfield, of this city, was elected vice-commander, and Charles H. Shupe, of New Orleans, junior vice-commander.

The council of administration was also elected, those in the eastern staes also elected those in the eastern states being:

Vermont—Ebenezer J. Ormsbee. New Jersey—Emanuel Sonales. Rhode Island—Charles A. Barbour. New York—David S. Brown. Pennsylvania—Chas. W. Gerwig. Connecticut—C. A. Darrow. Maryland—Dr. Hugh A. Maughlin. Massachusetts—A. M. Stickney. New Hampshire—Samuel N. Brown.

Equal dispatch was manifested in the afternoon, so much so that Gen. Sickles was moved to remark, as he steadied himself on his crutches in front of the footlights:

"You have laid more business on the table in a few minutes than congress has in the last two months."

Nearly half an hour was occupied in reading the reports of the committee on resolutions, and which dealt with more than a score of subjects. One resolution called the attention of state departments and posts to the character of certain school books used in some of the public schools of the country and cited a report of the department of Pennsylvania setting forth that many text books used in schools are works of southern sympathizers containing erroneous misstatements relating to the war. This was adopted and also a resolution requesting departments and posts to financially assist poor soldiers' orphans desirous of securing a high school education. Hearty applause greeted the resolution directing the incoming commander-in-chief to endeavor to secure the reinstatement of such comrades as may have been unjustly discharged from government service, and also to protect such veterans as yet remain in office. A resolution expressing sympathy with the family of the late count of Paris was unanimously adopted by a rising vote, and a letter of sympathy was also ordered sent to Andrew G. Curtin, the venerable war governor of this state, and who has been unable to attend the encampment owing to his serious illness.

THE CZAR'S BRAIN AFFECTED.

Prayers for His Recovery Have Been Ordered.

Vienna, Sept. 14.—It is reported from St. Petersburg that the czar is afflicted with cerebral trouble arising from a serious ailment of the kidneys, and prayers for his recovery have been ordered twice at court.

He suffers from mental depression. When he went to Bjelovess recently he was carried on a bed the whole journey. He became fatigued after the shortest period of effort. It is said, however, that he has been much benefited by his stay in the desert.

For Stealing Another Man's Wife

Corning, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Frank T. Spencer, of Kanona, Steuben county, is under arrest charged with abduction and enticing away the wife of Charles J. Schultz, a wealthy farmer of that place. Spencer formerly worked for Schultz and he enticed Mrs. Schultz to elope with Lorenzo Bellinger, a farm hand, and took her from home to the place where Bellinger met her. Spencer was held for the grand jury in $2,000 bail. The case created great excitement in Bath and the surrounding towns on account of the prominence of Mr. and Mrs. Schultze. Bellinger and Mrs. Schultze are in parts unknown.

Preferred Jail To Paying Alimony.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Egbert B. Stickney, a man of a good deal of property, was jailed a year ago on his refusal to pay alimony to his wife after a divorce suit. Judge Werner has just released him, it being shown that his property was tied up in various ways. For the past year Stickney has paced up and down the jail swearing that if he had a million dollars his wife would never get a cent of it; no, not even if he were compelled to stay in jail until he died.

Trainers and Jockeys Punished.

Race Track, Gravesend, Sept. 14.—The stewards of the Jockey club in respect of the running of the horse Susie R. on Friday, Aug. 17, rule off the turf Alfred Bakeland, John Dowd and George Quantrell for their connection therewith. In respect of the running of Wang on Friday, Aug. 17, the license of John Croker, trainer, is revoked, and Edward Barry is ruled off the track.

NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

16 ARLINGTON PLACE,
Plainfield, N. J., July 17, 1894.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for his speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I deem it proper to say to all afflicted to place themselves under the care of this skilful physician and be permanently cured.

I will cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

JOHN DIETRICH.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor, of the N. J. Central.

ROSELLE, N. J., July 1, 1894.

My Friends and the Public:

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case. For the past ten years I had been afflicted with a severe form of piles which finally gave me the greatest pain and distress nearly all the time, and from which I could not obtain any relief, in spite of all my efforts.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under his care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so, for I am sure that I could not have endured my misery much longer. And it will be a matter of importance to those who are suffering from this disease to learn the happy fact that Dr. Lighthill effected my cure without giving me pain or detaining me from work.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt,

Of No. 304 and 306 Park ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectually cured me of a most painful case of piles. For some time past I had been subject to its attacks but the last attack was so exceedingly painful that it completely upset my whole system. The pain extended to my legs and in many other directions, and made me so nervous that I could neither sleep, sit down, lie down or move about without serious discomfort and distress. Such was my condition when I applied to Dr. Lighthill for relief, and I am glad to say that as soon as he took hold of my case, I began to improve, and in a short time I found myself completely cured. Dr. Lighthill has also effected a radical and permanent cure in a most terrible case of [illegible] on my cousin, Mr. J. V. Z. Griggs, Rocky Hill, N. J., whose grateful testimonial is in Dr. Lighthill's possession.

T. R. VAN ZANDT,
304 and 306 Park avenue.

JAPS PUT TO FLIGHT

The Advance Guard Routed by the Corean Troops.

When Attacked They Were Marching from Fusan to Seoul—1,200 Reported Killed—Troop of Chinese Cavalry Defeated by the Japs and a Fortress Captured.

Shanghai, Sept. 15.—Advices from Corea say that the Corean troops attacked the Japanese advance guard, 2,000 strong, who were on the march from Fusan to Seoul, and so completely dispersed and destroyed the column that only 800 of them succeeded in getting back to Fusan.

Gen. Li-Yung-Fu, of the Chinese army, attempted with a chartered steamer to convey 500 troops from Swatow to Formosa. The owners of the vessel, however, rescinded the contract upon hearing that the Japanese squadron was in the vicinity. Subsequently three Japanese cruisers boarded the transport and examined her papers.

London, Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Central News from Seoul says that on September 6 a force of Japanese troops met and defeated a troop of Chinese cavalry near Whang-Chu, and also attacked and captured the Chinese fortress near that place. The Chinese escaped toward Ping-Yang, where the Japanese army is now centering by several routes.

The Japanese emperor has left Tokio for the general headquarters of the Japanese at Hisoshima.

Two thousand fresh troops have arrived at Fusan to protect the Japanese settlement against an uprising of the natives.

In pursuance of an agreement with the Chinese and Japanese governments the British war office will send a surgeon and a military attache to each of the hostile armies.

A dispatch rom Shanghia to the Central News says that the foreign missionaries in the Shin-King provinces are fleeing to New-Chwang, fearing violence at the hands of Chinese soldiers, who, it is reported, are burning the Christian chapels.

Two Japanese who were arrested on suspicion of being spies were sent to Nankin, where they will probably be tortured and beheaded.

FIERCE FIRE AT SHUN-KING.

Over 100 Lives Lost and 2,000 Buildings Destroyed.

Shanghai, Sept. 15.—The city of Shun-King, in the province of Se-Chuen, has been visited by a conflagration which destroyed 2,000 buildings. Over 100 persons lost their lives in various ways as the result of the fire.

Among the dead is the wife of the governor of Shun-King, who died from fright. The governor's house was burned and several temples were destroyed. The loss is estimated at 10,000,000 taels.

SAVED HER HONOR

By Plunging a Knife Through Her Assailant's Heart.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Palo Fortenza, wife of one of the five Italians arrested last Sunday evening for the murder of Salvator D'Elia, appeared at the police station and gave herself up as the slayer of D'Elia.

At the hearing this morning she stated that D'Elia had been following her for some time, and fearing that he might assault her when alone in the house she armed herself with a knife.

Last Sunday evening he followed her into the cellar, caught her by the throat and while attempting to drag her to the floor she plunged the knife into his breast.

Mrs. Fortenza took Detective Charles McGee over the route which she pursued after the murder and brought him to a clump of bushes in the old abandoned Baptist burying ground, where she had placed the knife that did the deadly work. The five men accused of the murder will be held as witnesses.

Racing Records Broken.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 15.—Yesterday was the greatest record breaking day ever seen on a track. Robert J. paced a mile in 1:01½; Carbonate lowered the 2-year-old pacing record from 2:10 to 2:09; John R. Gentry made the stallion record for pacers 2:03¾, and did so in a race. Directly tied Carbonate's record of 2:10 for 2-year-old pacers made earlier in the week; Joe Patchen paced a mile in 2:04, beating the stallion record of 2:05¼, which held good until earlier in the day, when Gentry set the new mark.

To Stop Advertising Letters.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The postoffice department, because of the insufficiency of the appropriation, is obliged to stop advertising unclaimed letters, which costs $20,000 a year. Quite a number of other departments—notably the navy and army departments—by reason of services of exigency are on the ragged brink of big deficiencies which it will be difficult to avoid.

From Excessive Cigarette Smoking.

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 15.—The lifeless body of Harry B. Johnson, agent of the Anglo-American Saving and Loan association, was found on one of the principal streets of Columbia last night. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of death from excessive cigarette smoking. Johnson smoked cigarettes almost constantly when not sleeping.

Rear Admiral McCauly Dead.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 15.—Rear Admiral Edward Y. McCauly, U. S. N. (retired), is dead at Jamestown. He was retired in 1887 at his own request, after forty years service.

WARD TELLS HIS STORY

Talks of His Attempt To Kidnap His Son.

Says That His Home Is the Best Place for the Boy on Account of the Schools—Declares That All the Greens' Desire Is the Amount Allowed for the Lad's Care.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Ferdinand Ward, who, as stated in these dispatches, made an unsuccessful attempt to secure possession of his son at Thompson, Conn., has made the following statement:

"My place of residence at Geneseo is a better place for the boy than Thompson for many reasons. In the first place there is a state normal school there, which the lad could attend. Besides that, the boy would be with his father, who is competent to take care of him."

Mr. Ward has a comfortable home in Geneseo. His relatives nearly all live there, and he thinks, as do his friends, that the boy would be much better off there than in Thompson.

Mr. Ward stated that the Greens, of Thompson, were simply appointed as agents to care for the lad, while he was in Sing Sing, and that all they desire is the $20 a week which is allowed them for their trouble. The boy's mother, before her death, expressed a desire that the boy should be with his father on the latter's release from Sing Sing and the boy himself is anxious to go to his father.

Mr. Ward is very determined and says he will ultimately get possession of his son. All that he has done so far has been under good legal advice. He is the lad's legal guardian and he proposes to have him with him.

Mr. Ward said that while in Webster he defied the authorities to arrest him for connection with the kidnapping and that although a great crowd was in the street outside of the office in which he sat, most of the members of which, including a couple of ministers, were urging the police to take him, no attempt was made to do so. Mr. Ward thinks that some one must have warned the Greens of his intended visit.

The reason he did not go boldly to the Green place and get his boy was because he feared that he might do something he would be sorry for and so he sent an agent.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION.

Important Work Being Done at the Harrisburg Sessions.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 15.—At the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, in session in this city, the committee on the welfare of the order introduced a resolution providing for the support of the idle Lehigh Valley firemen, who have been out of work since the strike last winter. The resolution recommends the levying of an assessment of 50 cents upon each of the 25,000 and more members of the brotherhood, which would raise a fund sufficient to pay each of the firemen out of employment on the Lehigh Valley system about $50 a month for at least two months.

Another resolution introduced by the same committee, which was adopted, also provoked a great deal of discussion. It contemplates a new system to be observed by the railroad companies in the employment of engineers and firemen. At present the railroad corporations organize their own engineers by promoting firemen, but the brotherhood desires a change under the terms of the resolution adopted and which will be referred to the joint protective boards along the various railroad systems. If two engineers are needed one engineer shall be hired and one fireman promoted. This change is deigned to decrease the large number of idle engineers in the country.

THE H-O COMPANY, NEW YORK.

DR. COOK SPEAKS.

Says the Miranda's Crew Were Not Intoxicated When She Struck.

New York, Sept. 15.—When Dr. Cook was shown the dispatch from Oberlin, O., stating that Prof. Wright, who accompanied the Cook Greenland party, said that the crew of the Miranda were so intoxicated on the day the Miranda sunk that they had to be helped from the vessel when she went down. Dr. Cook said:

"I think I know Prof. Wright too well to believe that he would knowingly distort facts, and consequently I am of the opinion that he has been misquoted While it is quite true that some of the crew of the Miranda were intoxicated at times nobody was under the influence of liquor at the time she struck the rock. All the intoxicating liquors on board the Miranda were locked up and in charge of the steward. I am confident that he never gave any member of the crew anything to drink, and did not abuse his trust.

"On the second night out on our return home, when about 300 miles off the coast of Greenland, the Miranda blew three blasts of her whistle, which was the signal of distress previously agreed upon. It was then decided to abandon the Miranda, but the crew were not transferred until three hours afterward. Before the transfer had been effected the crew broke into the lockers containing the spirits, and, besides drinking a liberal quantity, stuffed their pockets with bottles of liquor. When they reached the schooner some of them were unquestionably in a very intoxicated condition. But the point I wish to make is that nobody on the Miranda was intoxicated at the time she struck the reef."

THE COMPANY NOT INSOLVENT.

So Declares the President of the Commercial Alliance Life.

New York, Sept. 15.—President Dunham, of the Commercial Alliance Life Insurance company, of New York, in an interview, said positively that his company was not insolvent on June 30, 1894, as published; that on that date the company had a net surplus of over $50,000; that the department examiners made a clear confusion of figures; in fact, thy admitted errors in the report of $44,000, and that the answer to that report was worthy of consideration. The cut in deferred premiums of $7,100 was, President Dunham says, not fair, and he can prove by indisputable evidence that it ought not to have been made. There is no clause in the statutes of New York state, he says, that permits such a cut.

EXTENSIVE FOREST FIRES.

Sixty Miles of Forest Leveled Along Thief River.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 15.—News of extensive forest fires was received here from Kirby Barnum, who has returned from a dangerous trip down the Thief river, which adjoins the Red Lake Indian reservation.

Half of his journey was made between flaming trees. The fire has crossed the Thief river and leveled the forest to a width of sixty miles. His boat caught fire several times. He met many small parties of Indians in canoes fleeing from the fire and there has probably been much loss of life.

The fire was started by a man who wanted to get some hay land from the government and the people of Thief River Falls threaten to lynch him if he is caught.

The Present Samoan Act Preferable.

Berlin, Sept. 15.—The Hamburgische Correspondent, which often is inspired from the Wilhelm strasse, says: "The Samoa act now in operation is preferable to the dual control of the islands by German and England. Germany will never offer England a co-protectorate, excluding America, which would mean the admission of Australia's right to be heard in the Samoan question—a right which Germany never has admitted."

$3,000 for the Loss of His Son.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 15.—Jacob Glockner was awarded $3,000 by a jury in the circuit court here this afternoon in his suit against the Consolidated Traction company on account of the death of his 6-year-old son, Harry, who was killed by a trolley car on Springfield avenue June 22. Other damage suits aggregating $500,000 have been commenced against the company.

Manilla Hemp Rejected.

Boston, Sept. 15.—One hundred and fifteen tons of manilla hemp which was found to be below the standard has been rejected by the officials of the navy yard, and the entire shipment was returned to the New York firm from whom it was purchased. It took a train of nine freight cars to carry the shipment.

Lowest Rate Ever Announced.

New York, Sept. 15.—The White Star line has announced that until further notice steerage rates on the steamers Britannic and Germanic to Liverpool will be $18 instead of $15 as heretofore. This is the lowest rate to Liverpool yet announced.

The Axe at Work at Providence.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 15.—Collector of Customs O'Reilly has demanded the resignations of four republican officeholders in the custom house. Their places are to be filled by democrats.

BLOODSHED IS FEARED

Wild Scenes Expected in Lexington To-day.

Democratic Primaries Being Conducted—One Active Worker Takes Out a Life Insurance Policy and Arranges His Business Affairs So as To Be Prepared for the Worst—Betting This Morning in Favor of Owens—Women Solicit Money To Be Used Against Breckinridge—Prayers Offered at the Methodist Conference for His Defeat.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 15.—The greatest alarm was caused this morning by the report from both the Owens and Breckinridge headquarters that hundreds of men secretly armed would be at each polling place in this city to-day for the purpose of protecting their respective challenges. It was announced that every voter whose affiliation with the democratic party is not well established or who refuses to pledge his support to the nominee would be denied his ballot by the Breckinridge election officers. To overcome the loss from this bold move the Owens organizers declared their intention to challenge every Breckinridge man who approaches the polls and thus, by delaying the election, force their opponents to be fair. The result of these counter processes will cause the most dangerous confusion to-day and there are the gravest fears of riots in Lexington before the day is closed. The mayor, by proclamation, commanded all saloons to remain closed during the progress of the primary and an extra force of police are on duty at every point where trouble is expected. The approaches to each voting place is guarded by a long railing within which but one man at a time can pass.

The betting this morning is largely in favor of Owens. At the Phoenix hotel $750 is posted to be wagered against $500 that Breckinridge will be defeated and the odds where the betting element congregate are 15 to 10 on the Scott county candidate (Owens). It is apparent this morning that while the Breckinridge managers have the organization and all the powerful machinery of the party the Owens leaders have the great masses of the people and the financial strength of the district. Money was raised in generous quantities, which is being used against Breckinridge to-day. One young lady in Lexington raised $500 by personal solicitation, and her efforts were directed entirely among the wealthy women of the city. Mrs. Frances K. Hunt, president of the Woman's association, has been the most prominent worker in the crusade against Breckinridge. She made the statement to-day: "Our cause is won and the victory belongs to the women of the Ashland district; they have saved their state from dishonor. The Breckinridge campaign will never be forgotten in Kentucky and the sons and daughters of this generation will recall the remarkable events as illustrating the power of honest womanhood."

An illustration of the feeling throughout, over the Breckinridge fight, is in this story that was told by a well known Kentucky gentleman yesterday morning. Col. Zeke Clay, the famous Kentucky horseman, resides in Bourbon county, Kentucky, near Paris. He has taken an active interest in the campaign at home, and is in fact a leader of the Owens faction. The feeling has run so high that men who have been friends and neighbors for a lifetime are now at swords' points. A few evenings ago Col. Clay made the emphatic decdaration that blood would flow if his vote was challenged at the primaries and he was asked to make oath to support the nominee. Captain Bradshaw is a leading citizen of the county and lives in Paris. He is one of the Breckinridge judges of election and is expected to challenge Clay's vote. He was informed of Clay's statement. It is said that he has taken out $10,000 on his life and has been engaged in straightening up his business affairs so that whatever may happen he will be prepared. Col. Zeke Clay is a wealthy and influential man and is a brother of Cassius M. Clay, jr., now candidate for governor of Kentucky. He belongs to a family of fighters, and is a nephew of Cassius M. Clay, sr., ex-minister to Russia, who is yet living. Captain Bradshaw is a well-to-do farmer and is said to be possessed of an unusual amount of grit.

A conference was held here late last night by the friends of Hon. W. C. Owens and a statement given out over his signature bitterly denouncing the Breckinridge interview in which it is alleged that Owens was ousted from a Louisville hotel and that he intended to remain in Chicago and run a gambling house before he found out that Breckinridge was in trouble with the Pollard woman and there would probably be a chance to defeat him.

AGAINST BRECKINRIDGE.

Remarkable Action of the Methodist Conference at Frankfort, Ky.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15.—At the morning session of the Kentucky Methodist conference here yesterday the subject of the congressional election was warmly discussed. After routine business had been taken up Bishop Duncan said that he was a great believer in the efficacy of prayer, and that he believed prayers of just people were answered. He asked that all good people join in heart, while Rev. Dr. J. Dizzle, the celebrated debater, led in prayer for the purity of the Ashland district. He was not a native Kentuckian, but he felt an interest and national pride. The prayer was offered amid amens resounding and filling the whole room with feeling for the defeat of Col. Breckinridge. Such a scene is said never to have occurred in conference.

"Oh, Lord, God of the living, not of the dead!" said the minister, "we kneel invoking Thy blessing on our humble homes, on our virtues, on our civilization, on our purity and on all our welfare. Oh, Lord, Thou dost see and hear us; we would ask Thee to look down upon us when we are painstaking, particularly in our ministers, in regard to thm being pure and virtuous, help us to be regardful of the virtue of our higher officials. Shall we be indifferent to them who are in the halls of congress, who guide our legislation? We are in a situation that regards not only the welfare of Kentucky but the welfare of the whole country as citizens. We would pray that no disgrace shall visit on our homes to-morrow. May our voters think of our wives, mothers and daughters and the goodness of God. May we never disgrace them. Direct us, bless our country, our president, senators, our members of congress and our governors, our institutions; may they be a blessing to our people. Bless this district, the mothers, sisters and daughters of it. This is a crisis in the country. Guide us, Oh, Lord, aright, and praise shall be to Jesus' name. Amen."

MY FOOD DOES ME NO GOOD.

OH! IF I COULD ONLY EAT.

Why Are These Questions Asked by So Many People—A Piece of News for Those Who Have Weak Stomachs.

The stomach, liver and bowels cause more trouble than any other part of the body. There are thousands of persons whose food don't do them the good it should. They have bad taste in mouth, coated tongue, constipation, gas in stomach, fulness or distress after meals, bloating and belching of wind. They often have headache, are weak and nervous, have sallow complexions and can't sleep. Frank Pierce, Esq., a well-known man of Goffstown, N. H., says:

"Some ten years ago, I was taken with inflammation of the stomach. I was in so much distress that the doctor gave me morphine and used something he put in my arm. After the pain stopped my little finger began to swell and pain me. It extended all over my hand which was terribly swollen.

"I could not use it at all and it continued so for weeks. My stomach and bowels were in a fearful condition. I had to take physic constantly. My hands and feet swelled so I could not walk and could hardly feed myself. The doctor pronounced it rheumatism.

"That followed me for years and last fall I had a slight shock which weakened me very much.

MR. FRANK PIERCE.

Then the grip set in and I was unable to do anything all winter. When warm weather came I got some better but was unable to walk the shortest distance without being so tired I would have to sit down.

"I tried doctors and medicines but received no benefit from them. Then I began to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and before I had taken one bottle I felt better and continued to steadily gain under the use of this wonderful medicine.

"I have been in better health this winter than for the last ten years. Have not had an attack of rheumatism since and stomach and digestion are all right. I do not take cold as I used to and have worked every day for the last two months without the least trouble and without the tired feeling I have had so long.

"I advise everyone to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a wonderful medicine. It cured me and it will cure you, sufferer. There is no other remedy in the world that will compare with it."

You who have suffered so long and tried so many remedies, just try a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you will get well. It always cures. Doctors recommend it because it is a great physician's discovery and because it makes people well. Dr. Greene is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. His office is at 35 West 14th st., New York, where he can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

BREAKS HER OWN RECORD.

Fast Time Made by the New York from Southampton.

New York, Sept. 15.—New York, the swift American liner now at her dock at the foot of Fulton street, holds a new ocean record. She made the 3,042 mile run from Southampton to Sandy Hook lightship in six days seven hours and twenty minutes.

The best previous record from Southampton to New York was made by the New York last month, when she made the run in six days eight hours and thirty-eight minutes.

A New Boat for Peru.

New York, Sept. 15.—William R. Grace & Co. have just sold to the government of Peru the steel screw steamer Coya for $275,000. The vessel was built by C. S. Swan & Hunter, of Newcastle, England. She is capable of making fourteen knots an hour under natural draught. She is armed with two Armstrong-Woolwich six-inch guns, placed fore and aft, with six millimetre Krupp guns, three on each side, and four Hotchkiss guns.

Big Strike Declared Off.

Pittsburg, Sept. 15.—The great strike at the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company's mines has been declared off and the men are returning to work as individuals. President W. P. Dearmit says all will be taken back as they fought equally hard. In the five mines 1,300 men are affected. They renounce their organization and go to work at the 55 cent per ton rate.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED

Reformatory Investigation Ready for Summing Up.

This Will Take Place in New York, Beginning Oct. 2—Then the Commission Will Report to the Governor and the Case Will Come to an End.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 15.—The defense in the reformatory investigation closed its case with the completion of the testimony of Mr. Brockway.

Mr. Deyo asked Mr. Brockway, in the course of the examination, if he would recommend the adoption of his system of corporal punishment in prisons generally, and Mr. Brockway replied that it was a method of discipline connected with his own personality and he would not advise its adoption in any other institution and would not delegate its administration in the reformatory to any subordinate.

Mr. Deyo then asked: "Does not the administration of punishment tend to have a reflex action on the man who inflicts it?"

Mr. Brockway replied: "The whole matter depends upon the purpose. Almost any one can safely administer punishment for remedial ends."

"You recognize that there is a public sentiment against it, and, taking this into consideration, and the fact that only an occasional man can be trusted with it, would it not make you more convinced that the punishments should not be generally administered?"

"After all moral means of reforming inmates has been brought to bear some inmates remain uninfluenced. I have then to determine whether I will make further effort or surrender the man. It is my duty to do my utmost. Ought I to be restrained from making the best possible effort owing to a public sentiment on the subject? I prefer to take the chances and do my level best for the man."

Mr. Deyo asked Mr. Brockway to explain what he meant by administering blows without feeling. He replied that he meant without passion, but not without sympathy.

"You say you have occasionally struck blows on the breast or in the face with your hand or your fist?"

"Light blows, yes."

"Describe more fully what you mean by a light blow."

Mr. Brockway rose from his chair and illustrated what he meant by striking his counsel, Mr. Stanchfield, a blow in the chest with his fist. Mr. Deyo asked, in a tone that indicated some surprise:

"Wouldn't that be sufficient to stagger a man?"

Mr. Brockway replied: "I think not."

"Wouldn't such a blow on the face produce a discoloration?"

"A little redness, perhaps."

In answer to questions about what Mr. Brockway called slaps with the strap over the head and the prosecution called blows with the paddle, Mr. Brockway took the paddle from the table, and, holding the wooden handle in his left hand, he grasped the strap by the middle with his right hand and slapped at Mr. Stanchfield with the loose end. Mr. Stanchfield dodged. Mr. Brockway then took the handle in his right hand and swung the paddle in the air to illustrate a direct blow over the head. He said he struck such blows to surprise a man who had concentrated his will power and determined to prove himself a hero by the quantity of punishment he took on his back. Such cases, he said, were not more than one in a hundred who were punished.

Judge Learned called Mr. Brockway's attention to the testimony of inmate William Facey, who said he was punished by Mr. Brockway until he made a false confession, which led to the January transfers, and asked him if he did not punish Facey to compel him to testify in regard to a crime to which he was a party. Mr. Brockway said:

"Yes, but I did not knowingly, nor did I intend the treatment to compel him to testify in regard to himself, but in regard to others, and it might or might not involve himself."

Judge Learned remarked: "It turned out that it did involve him."

In answer to Mr. Deyo, Mr. Brockway said that black and blue marks on the head, produced by the strap, were accidental; of all the men punished in the bath room not more than 5 per cent. were hit with the hand or slapped with the strap on the hand, 1 or 2 per cent. were given black eyes, and from 1 to 2 per cent. were afflicted with nosebleed.

The prosecution placed in evidence statistics taken from the annual reports of the reformatory showing that the percentage of inmates who advance from the lower to the upper grade in three years' stay had gradually decreased from 36 per cent. in 1887 to 24 cent. in 1892, indicating retrogression instead of a gradual improvement.

At this point both sides rested. The commission decided to hear the summing up in New York city, beginning October 2.

The commission will report to the governor and the most celebrated case against the management of a state institution involving two investigations and extending over one year will come to an end. Both sides are confident of victory. The prosecution claims that the admissions of Mr. Brockway and other witnesses for the defense prove all that they have claimed, while the managers of the reformatory are all smiles and say that the prosecution with its convict testimony has been utterly overthrown and the reformatory, under the management of Mr. Brockway, proven to be the best conducted and most beneficent institution of the kind in this country. Governor Flower will decide the issue.

An Eruption of Colimo Threatened.

Guadalajara, Sept. 15.—An eruption of Colimo volcano, situated on the Pacific coast south of this city, is threatened. An eruption at this time would result in heavy loss to crops and great damage to other property.

Salt in Bond Still Free.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Secretary Carlisle has decided that section 322 of the McKinley bill has not been repealed and that "Dutiable salt in bond may continue to be withdraw for curing fish, free of duty."

IS DEATH TO BABIES.

WHEN FOOD FAILS TO GIVE STRENGTH IN SEPTEMBER.

Children Must Now Eat Well and Digest Well in Order to Live—Lactated Food Will Not Disagree With Any Child—Should Be Used.

Don't take chances with the baby.

These summer disorders, diarrhea and cholera infantum, come with a suddenness and progress from bad to worse with a rapidity that throws unprepared mothers into helpless confusion.

Every experienced nurse knows that it is of the utmost importance to keep at hand lactated food as a substitute for baby's food, even when the child is fed at the breast. Often the heat so often weakens the infant stomach or the natural milk fails, so that a partially digested food such as lactated food, must be employed, that will burden the weakened stomach less and yet keep up the baby's strength. The irritated condition of the bowels is what leads to fatal diarrhea when mothers persist in clinging to the same old diet despite the warnings that baby is not only not thriving, but in great danger of cholera infantum and diarrhea that carries off so many infants.

It is far easier to prevent these disorders by using pure, highly nourishing lactated food.

When babies throw up their milk or when they are not keeping up their strength, especially during hot weather, it is plain there is trouble with the food. Either the food, if it is mother's milk, is poor in quality from long nursing or from the effects of the summer heat on the mother, or if the child is weaned the infant stomach, weakened as it is by the high temperature, is irritated and cannot digest and assimilate sufficient food to keep byby strong and healthy. Physicians when called in such cases put the child on a diet of lactated food. Being a partially digested food, as physicians call it, lactated food is more easily converted into vigorous blood than any other food upon which a child can be fed. It is, in fact, the nearest possible substitute for healthy mother's milk. Its parts are well nigh identical with baby's earliest and best food, healthful breast milk. Babies that seem to mothers to take "hardly enough nourishment to keep them alive" eat heartily when fed on lactated food, because that great object of a successful infant food has been thoroughly attained—it pleases the infant taste and induces the child to eat heartily

Babies are safely and readily weaned during the summer months on this splendid nutritive. And for the same reason that lactated food is by far the best diet for young children, so it is particularly fitted to the needs of nursing mothers as well as invalids who have slight energy to extract strength and nutrition from ordinary coarse, hearty food.

Lactated food is used in all the large homes for children throughout the United States and Canada, and in families possessing every means for securing the best for their children; and yet it is easily within the reach of the most modest household in the land.

DEPEW DECLINED IT.

Was Offered the Nomination for Governor Before He Left for Europe.

New York, Sept. 15.—Chauncey M. Depew returned home yesterday on the American line steamer New York and announced positively that he would not be a candidate for governor of the state of New York. Dr. Depew said that it was too late in the day for him to think about the nomination. It had been offered to him, he said, before he wnt away, and he had at that time declined to run. He felt that it would be unfair for him at this time, only two days from the time of the convention, to come into the field, when others had remained at home and made their canvass with the understanding that he was not to be a candidate.

In talking on the subject Mr. Depew said: "Before I went to Europe for my summer vacation representatives of each faction of my party came to me and assured me that if I would consent to accept the nomination for governor I could have it. But there were conditions imposed. I would have had to give up my trip abroad and enter at once upon my canvass. I refused to do so. Then I declined the honor. I have not changed my mind since."

"Who was it who called upon you with these propositions?" he was asked.

"Ah, that I must decline to state," he answered. "I may say, however, that the men who called upon me were sufficiently strong in each faction to guarantee everything they said, and they assured me that I could have the unanimous nomination. Now you see, when I declined it, I left the field open to others. These various candidates have been working ever since, and it would be unfair for me to enter the field now, even were I so disposed, which I assure you I am not. In fact, I cannot imagine any combination of circumstances that would now induce me to run," he declared positively.

WAS IT THE COCAINE?

A Burlington Man Becomes Insane in a Dentist's Chair.

Burlington, N. J., Sept. 15.—Scott Pierce, of Florence, is confined in the police station here, a raving maniac, having become suddenly insane while in the operating room of a dentist who was extracting several teeth. Whether his insanity was the result of cocaine which was applied locally to deaden the pain during the operation or was due to some other cause has not as yet been ascertained.

Mr. Pierce drove up to the dentist's and quietly submitted to the operator. But two or three teeth, however, had been extracted when, with a yell, he bounced from the chair, rushed from the room, and, yelling like a madman, dashed own the stairs. He sprang into his buggy and lashed the animal into a gallop down the main street, with the evident intention of driving over the dock and into the river.

Fortunately a policeman succeeded in catching the reins, and though he was dragged twenty or thirty feet and severely bruised he managed to stop the horse only just in time. But a few feet more, animal and driver would have been overboard. Pierce was locked up and will be examined to-day. His friends say he never before displayed any evidence of mental aberation.

THE DAILY PRESS MEDAL

IT IS OFFERED FOR THE HIGH SCHOOL FIELD DAY.

Whoever Scores the Greatest Number of Points, Gets the Handsome Prize—Societies Elections, and Other High School Doings.

One of the joys of having been graduated is being able to visit the scene of one's former labors. Thursday, at recess, we were all surprised and delighted to see the familiar faces of Ralph Campbell, '93, Albert Woltmann, '94, and John W. Kirkner, '94. It really seemed like old times to see Campbell standing at the window to watch us drill and Woltmann taking his ease on the cloak-room window-sill. Friday morning the well-known face of Henry Wells, '94, appeared at the Senior class-room door, and during chapel exercises Miss Phoebe Lovell, '94, and Miss Emma Fish, '94, listened from the back of the room to the songs in which they have so often joined.

School is going on regularly; the Zoology students are already procuring specimens and dissecting them in class; the Physics Class has been experimenting with pulleys and levers until we expect every day to find them moving the school building itself.

Literary work has taken hold of the boys again, and both the Lyceum and Kappa Delta Phi meetings, held yesterday, were well attended. The election of officers in the Kappa Delta Phi resulted as follows: President, J. V. Beekman, Jr., '95; vice-president, Louis Rand, '96; secretary and treasurer, A. B. Crane, '97; critic, C. B. Morse, '95. Work will be commenced immediately and a hash debate will be provided for next Friday's meeting.

The Lyceum also held their election and the following officers were elected: President, E. J. Serrell, '95; vice-president, H. B. Drake, '95; secretary, Llewellyn Bull, '96; treasurer, Edward Clarke, '95; critic, F. D. Blair, 95; sergeant-at-arms, George A. Horne, '95. Their programme for next week will be a debate, Resolved, That liquor does more harm than tobacco. Affirmative—J. V. Rittenhouse, '97, F. W. Cornwell, '96; negative—Ernest Suffern, '97, Llewellyn Bull, '96.

The High School is becoming quite enthusiastic over athletics and the coming field day. A number have entered and there are many more who expect to. A reason for so much interest is that The Daily Press has offered a medal as first prize for the most points. This will greatly encourage general athletics. The committee of arrangements have announced the events and the order in which they will occur at the field day: 100-yard dash, putting the shot, ½-mile bicycle race, running high jump, 220 yard dash, throwing the baseball, three-legged race, (100 yards), 440 yards run, running broad jump, two-mile bicycle race.

Manager Horne called all the foot-ball players together this morning for the first practice game of the season. Practice will be continued for the next month, and we hope to have an eleven that will hold its own against any of equal size.

The Bicycling Division expect to do some good work during the Fall. The Wednesday afternoon run is to be a regular feature and an invitation run will be held on some Saturday in the near future. A large number of the cyclers will probably join in the lantern parade of the Crescent Wheelmen. NINETY FIVE.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The East Orange Ramblers had an 18-mile road race this morning with the turning-point at the eastern boundary of the city.

Monte Scott rides in the postponed meet in Hackettstown today, while Henry Scott and A. H. Barnett are with the Harlem Cyclers on Manhattan Field.

The women are becoming interested in the Crescent lantern parade. The Plainfield Lady Cyclers expect to turn out a large delegation for the women's detachment.

To Avert Danger.

Some people are very particular about having their clothes fit to a nicety, but are heedless of having their eyes scientifically fitted with aids to sight. There is danger in wearing glasses that are not correctly adjusted, a danger which can be averted by calling at Collier's, 103 Park avenue, where an expert and gratuitous optical test will tell you what you require.

Street Railway Extension Promised.

Ex-Councilman Leonard Spangenberg has received from Adrain Riker of the Plainfield Street Railway Company a letter stating:

"We have not yet been able to determine what application for extension we will put in in Plainfield, but expect to do so within a week, when will advise you further."

—A special meeting of the Catholic Young Men's Lyceum has been called for Sept. 18, to make final arrangements for the fair.

—The washing of the brook by the North Plainfield authorities may be imitated by the city, the firemen being instructed to pump into the stream when out for a wash. Complications may arise when the brook is flooded above the Watchung avenue sewer if the mud and weeds are carried down on the section already cleaned by North Plainfield.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE CHIEFS TO HELP THE FAIR.

They'll Enter a Friendly Contest for a Silver Revolver.

A great time is expected at the fair which the members of the C. Y. M. L. are to hold for the purpose of decreasing their debt. It will be an eight-day affair, beginning Wednesday, September 26, and closing Thursday, October 4. Many donations are being received by the committee in charge.

Two tables will be placed in the hall besides the refreshment stand outside. One will be managed by the Children of Mary and the other by the Lyceum members. The principal contest will be for a silver-mounted revolver between Chief of Police Grant and Chief Marshal Pangborn. The children of the parish will have a contest for a silver watch.

Court Crosley.

Chief Marshal Pangborn made eight arrests yesterday for examination by Borough Magistrate Crosley.

John H. Carey and Addie Carey were arrested on complaint of Maggie Carey. All are colored residents of Manning avenue, and the complaint was the result of a quarrel. This morning Maggie withdrew her charge of assault, and the defendants were accordingly released.

George Weiss, Thomas Trainor, John Steiner, Christopher Duhrr and John Corrigan were in court for fast driving. Shortly after 5 Thursday afternoon they raced their teams on upper Somerset street, each hurrying to reach the stone-crusher first and get a load of stone all ready for work next morning. Judge Crosley fined all of them except Corrigan $4 each. It was plain that Corrigan had hurried too, but an intentional violation of the ordinance was not proved.

William Roantree became intoxicated yesterday afternoon and when his mother-in-law, Mrs. Pickett, locked him out of her home on Grove street he started to break in the door. Mrs. Pickett summoned Chief Marshal Pangborn, and he arrested Roantree. The man resisted and the marshal was compelled to use force in taking him to the lockup. Judge Crosley sent Roantree to jail for 30 days and Chief Pangborn took him down. In accordance with the new resolution of the North Plainfield Council the magistrate should have issued the commitment to some other officer, but as no other could be found the chief took the man to prison.

Pleasantly Surprised.

A very enjoyable surprise party was given to Mrs. Bush of Elm place, last evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bush, Miss Maggie Moore, Miss Emma Herman, Miss Mamie Miller, Miss Ida Biddle, Mrs. Biddle and Richard Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Staats. Vocal selections by Matt Dallas were received with loud applause. Music by Mrs. Dallas and David Smith's witty sayings were received with much applause. Mrs. Bush was the recipient of appropriate gifts. Refreshments were served at midnight, and all went home much pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

Sudden Death of Henry Pound.

Henry Pound died at 6:30 last evening in his room at the home of Frank Conshes, Pearl street. He had been confined to his bed but a day before his death.

He was nearly 45 years of age and was unmarried. He was a painter by trade but of late has been employed by Charles Smith. He leaves two brothers, Walter and Samuel Pound and a sister, Mrs. S. A. Dunn.

The funeral will be held at the house tomorrow afternoon at 3, Rev. W. H. Honeyman officiating. The burial will be made in the Methodist Cemetery, Plainfield avenue.

A Good Indication.

Medical practitioners of prominence are prescribing for the cure of diseases springing from derangement of the digestive organs, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. This professional endorsement is justified by the fact that no other preparation has been found so efficacious in that class of disorders, even in the most advanced and severe cases. It has cured gravel in the kidneys, stone in the bladder and inflammation of the kidneys, where all other medicines had failed. It can be purchased of any druggist. A book is wrapped about each bottle, explaining its use.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

The entertainment of the United Order of Odd Ladies has been postponed till Monday evening, Sept. 24

Six members of the A. O. U. W., Henry Liefke, William A. Woodruff, S. E Flower, J. W. A. Bauersachs, John T. Odam and V. W. Nash, visited Elizabeth Lodge, No 29, last night. They returned after having spent a very pleasant evening.

—This is new-hat day. Have you seen Hallock?

—Soup will be served free tonight at Caspar's Hotel.

—Lewis Morrison in Faust will play a return date in April.

—The contract for the sewers has been made ready for signing this afternoon.

—The children of the Saengerbund will have their annual festival tomorrow afternoon in Kellar's Grove on the mountain. The favorite games of the Germans will amuse them.

—Dr. Carman of the Board of Health of North Plainfield has notified Health Inspector Whitely to have removed the carcass of a horse which Special Marshal Wyckoff found in a small stream in Hyde's woods.

—The First New Jersey Kearney Brigade held an annual reunion in Caledonian Park, New rk, yesterday. Ex-Marshal Thomas M. MacDonald of Pearl street was elected vice-president to represent the Third New Jersey Regiment.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The first rehearsal of the season of the First Baptist Church choir will be held in the church tonight at 7:45.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic for the Week Beginning Sept. 16. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Human longings and their satisfaction.—Isa. lv, 1-13.

To be convinced that the human soul has many and varied longings it is not necessary to go beyond ourselves. The personal experience of each one of us proves to us these longings, for who is there that has not experienced them—longings for knowledge, longings for wealth and power, longings for happiness, longings for God and immortality? In reference to these longings two facts are noted in the chapter used to illustrate the topic:

1. The world cannot satisfy these human longings (Isa. lv, 2). "Wherefore," says the prophet, "do you spend your money for that which is not bread, and your labor for that which satisfieth not?" This is a very apt description of those who, recognizing the longings of their souls, try to satisfy them with the world. They try to stifle the wants of their beings with the bread of this life only. They toil and they labor, but still they are never satisfied. History has abundantly proved that this fact is true. Men have thought if they only had wealth they would be satisfied, and they have toiled and labored and have obtained the wealth, but have not found satisfaction with it. Some have thought if they only had power and influence they would be satisfied, but when this has been obtained they are as far from satisfaction as ever. Others have traversed the fields of pleasure seeking the same boon, but have not found it. Their experience but re-echoes the experience of the wise men of old, "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity."

2. God alone can satisfy these longings. "Incline your ear and come unto me. Hear and your soul shall live, and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of David." It is intimated here that what the bread of this world and its labor cannot do God can and will do if we will come unto Him. When we see the unrest and dissatisfaction of the world and how little this world can satisfy it, we are rejoiced that in God and in Christ we can have rest and peace—rest of the soul and peace of conscience. Perfect and absolute satisfaction may not be found here. There are things that we wish to know; that we will not know; experiences that we would like to have that we will not, but God has prepared a place where the satisfaction begun on earth shall be completed, for we "shall be satisfied when we awake in His likeness."

Bible Readings—Ps. xvii, 15; lxiii, 5; xc, 14; xci, 16; cvii, 9; Prov. xix, 23; Eccl. v, 10; Isa. lviii, 10, 11; Ez. vi, 10; Jer. xxix, 7; Amos iv, 8; Hab. ii, 5; Math. xi, 28; Gal. v, 22; Ezek. vii, 25; I Tim. ii, 2.

Don't Mention the Briers.

A man met a little fellow on the road carrying a basket of blackberries and said to him, "Sammy, where did you get such nice berires?"

"Over there, sir, in the briers."

"Won't your mother be glad to see you come home with a basket of such nice ripe fruit?"

"Yes, sir," said Sammy. "She always seems glad when I hold up the berries and I don't tell her anything about the briers in my feet."

The man rode on. Sammy's remark had given him a lesson, and he resolved henceforth he would try to hold up the berries and say nothing about the briers. —Domestic Journal.

A Japanese Temple.

Higashi Honwanji is the name of a magnificent temple in course of erection in Kioto, the capital of Japan. For 10 years it has been going on, and millions of dollars have been expended, and it is yet far from completion. The huge timbers used for pillars, frame and rafters were hauled from the forests by cables made of women's hair. Twenty-nine such cables have been worn out, and 24 are yet unused. Evidently the old faith has still a strong hold on the body of the people when the women make such a wonderful contribution for one of its temples.—United Presbyterian.

Strive to Please God.

Keep not back part of the price. Make a full surrender of every motion of thy heart. Labor to have but one object and one aim, and for this purpose give God the keeping of thine heart. Cry out for more of the divine influences of the Holy Spirit, that so when thy soul is preserved and protected by Him it may be directed into one channel, and only one, that thy life may run deep and pure and clear and peaceful, its only banks being God's will, its only channel the love of Christ and a desire to please Him.—Christian Work.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

Before the convention Governor McKinley said he would be astonished to see the Saengerfest hall alone filled by the Endeavorers. What did he think afterward?

The badges at the reporters' table showed that most of their wearers represented not only the press, but Christian Endeavor.

Were Paul to return to earth he would doubtless join the Society of Christian Endeavor.—Anthony Comstock.

At one of the overflow meetings at Cleveland a representative from the New York Police Christian Endeavorers spoke.

Texas expects to get the banner for the largest increase in 1895.

Christian Endeavor, the West Point, the Annapolis, of the church—that was Dr. Hamlin's stirring theme.

In the Euclid Avenue Congregational church at Cleveland was a "C. E." and a "Welcome" brilliantly shining in electric lights.

Here is the way a Christian Endeavor secretary of Pennsylvania signs her name: "Yours sinCErely."

An Imported Orator.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

Gov. Flower has been challenged by Hon. Roswell G. Horr of Plainfield to a joint discussion of the tariff issue; but Gov. Flower precipitately declines. Mr. Horr is but a recent resident of Union County, but he is a man who will be heard from in due season.

More Candidates.

(From The Elizabeth Herald.)

With such intellectualities as Judge Gilhooly and R. V. Lindabury to draw from, the Democrats of Union will have no reason to look through the Oranges or go to Bayonne for well-seasoned Democratic congressional timber.

Armour's Impecunious Kinsman.

It has been a matter of current report for years among Board of Trade men that Phil Armour has no poor relations. "He will not allow any of them to remain poor," a veteran of the Board remarked by way of explanation of this unusual good fortune of a rich man. "He makes them all rich."

"I have heard that story before," Mr. Armour remarked with a smile, when one of his friends asked him about it the other day. "But it's a mistake. I have enough of them."

Then the big packer burst out in a laugh and his friend knew a good story was coming.

"One of the poor kind—he lives down in Illinois—is one of the most persistent men I ever knew. He keeps writing and writing for money all the time. He is not a bad fellow, only improvident, and if he displayed the same energy in attending to business that he does in writing to me he would have been rich a long time ago. Well, he kept sending one letter after another, saying that if he only had $500 he would be all right. He repeated this so often that one day I told my secretary to write that if he wouldn't bother me for a year I would send him $500.

"Well, sir," and Mr. Armour's sides shook with laughter, "as soon as the mails could bring a reply I got it. He said, 'Make it $1,000 and two years,' and I thought it was such a clever turn that I sent the money."

"What happened next?"

"In about three months he wrote again, saying the agreement was off because his wife hadn't been included."—Chicago Herald.

Rare Beauty of the Peterhof Palace.

The summer palace of Peterhof, on the Gulf of Finland, where the Grand Duchess Xenie was married to the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, is one of the most magnificent country seats in Europe, and it is surrounded by a vast and richly timbered park, with most beautiful grounds. The palace, which is decorated and furnished with Oriental splendor in the Renaissance style, has a large private theatre and a stately Byzantine church, which contains many artistic treasures of great value. The immense entrance hall is surrounded with huge columns of polished marble, and from it the celebrated golden staircase leads to the state apartments. The terrace gardens, with their avenues of fountains and their "silver" cascades, present a scene of beauty unsurpassed since the original Eden, and there are lovely views over the gulf and along the coast. It was at Peterhof that the Emperor William was splendidly entertained when he visited Russia a few years ago.

THE SNAKE DANCE.

THE MOQUIS DANCE WITH RATTLESNAKES IN THEIR TEETH.

A Wild Orgie of Hissing Snakes and Rattling Braves. Can the Indians Receive a Rattler's Bite Without Injury? Skill of Medicine Men.

While it is probable that magic and the knowledge of the occult have reached a higher development in the fastnesses of Northern India, where dwell the strange Yoghis and Gompas, whose astonishing and almost miraculous feats excite the greatest wonder, they are not alone in wild orgies and thrilling feats.

If travelers from the far West are to be believed, on the plains of Arizona and in the recesses of the Rocky Mountains the medicine chiefs of our own red men perform feats as truly astonishing as anything to be found in the far East. The secret of levitation—that is to say, the power to suspend an object in the air without any visible means of support—seems to be known to them as well as to the Indian of the East. And they are undoubtedly able to receive the venomous bite of the rattlesnake without harm; otherwise their far-famed snake dance would prove a slaughter of the warriors.

This dance attains its most startling manifestations among the Moquis of Arizona. The government has tried many times to suppress this terrible orgie, for it usually precedes an Indian outbreak. But it still survives, and is given on the average about once in two years.

Between 100 and 200 chosen members of the band are selected to enact the chief parts in this serpent carnival. For days before the dance the Moquis scatter over the mesas, or high table lands, of Northern Arizona, each armed with a forked wooden rod and two eagle feathers. There is no lack of snakes in this portion of the territory, and it is an Indian superstition that the snakes enjoy the dance quite as much as the Indians themselves. Wherever a snake is found the Indian begins a slow, harmonic movement of the eagle feathers and seems to acquire over the snake an influence that enables him to bag it in short order.

Hundreds of rattlesnakes are procured and are placed in a huge basket in the outskirts of the village. Early on the appointed day of the festival the chosen warriors march forth to the dancing ground, which has been strewn by the squaws with sacred meal. The braves are scantily clad, and on each leg is a small terrapin shell, in which are placed small pebbles, which rattle loudly as the warrior moves, and make of him, in sound, at least a human rattler. Around each brow is bound a white handkerchief, the upper part of the forehead being painted a deep black, and the lower half with a black and white band.

The band forms in a circle and the basket of serpents is brought forth. One of the chiefs, hideously painted, opens the cage, and as each brave marches past thrusts his naked arm within and jerks from it a writhing serpent, which he hands to the buck. The snake dancer bends forward his hideously marked face and seizes the snake by its middle with his teeth. The serpent struggles wildly, while his human captor, gesticulating and gyrating, joins in the solemn rythmic movement in which, after each brave has been supplied with serpents, the whole band is soon participating.

Round about the sacred circle the entire Moqui nation sits in dumb, religious awe. There is nothing to break the grim stillness save the hissing of the serpents and the rattling of the pebbles in the shells on the warriors' legs. The snakes themselves, although highly animated, seem, as a rule, neither to rattle nor to attempt to sting. Once in a while in the course of the dance a rattler will bury his fangs in the body of a brave, but he will be pulled away as if nothing had happened, and the brave who has been bitten will continue the dance with perfect equanimity.

After perhaps half an hour's dancing the snakes are thrown in a writhing mass into the centre of the circle and are sprinkled with holy meal. The dancers draw off, and then, at a given signal, rush upon the mass of serpents, each brave seizing as many as he can with his two hands, and then bounding away over the prairie at top speed. The snakes are then turned loose and the dancers return, racing at their utmost, to the village, and are gathered in the religious council or ceremony which follows.

Such is this famous dance, as described by eye witnesses. Certainly this power of the Indians to take these venomous rattlesnakes and toss them about at will and join with them in the mad whirl of such a dance is most wonderful unless the snakes have had their fangs drawn, and this is denied.

The French Janitor a Czar.

The New York janitor of flats has not yet reached the tyrannical standard of his French counterpart, who, it seems, claims the right to open and read letters addressed to the various tenants of the building under his charge. Yet more remarkable than this is the fact that the act has been virtually upheld by a magistrate, who, being appealed to by one of the victims, positively decided that, as the letters had been merely read not stolen, no offense at law had been committed.

More than ever now can it be said that "the concierge rules Paris."—N. Y. Times.

Fell From Washington Monument.

During the eastern trip of the Chicago base ball club, William Shriver, one of the team's catchers, smashed a tradition of long standing, that no base ball player could ever catch a regulation ball tossed to him from one of the windows in the top of the Washington Monument. It is 500 feet from the base of the monument, where visitors enter, to the landing where the elevator stops, and it was from this level that Shriver accomplished the feat which has hitherto caused so much speculation.

GANDER AGAINST BEAR.

An Incident Showing There is no Certainty as to How a Fight Will End.

An Alameda saloon-keeper has a black bear cub about a foot and a half high when he stands on his hind legs and reaches for a stranger's coat tails. He is full of mischief or fight as occasion may require, but withal very discreet. He knows he is not big enough to whip the grocer's dog but he doesn't hesitate to intimidate the candy man's cat. When any strange animal comes in sight he stands on his hind legs, pricks up his ears and eyes it critically. If after sizing it up he thinks he can polish it off in good shape, he lowers his ears smacks his chops, shows his teeth, paws the air to make as formidable an appearance as possible, and slowly advances. If he decides on the contrary, that he is giving any weight, he breaks for the house, crawls under and snarls.

The other day a big gander marched gravely up the street. The bear sized him up and said to himself:

"He's my meat."

He advanced on the gander, who marched slowly and steadily on till the growing cub barred his way. Then he extended his wings, stretched out his neck and tried to make the cub ashamed of himself. The bear made two or three vicious but ineffectual cuffs at the gander and then stopped to see what he had accomplished. Just at this juncture the gander took a firm hold on the cub's ear and commenced pounding him over the head with his wings. The cub was a quitter and started to beat a precipitous retreat, but the gander wouldn't let him. He just hung on and thumped away. When the dust and feathers settled, the gander was trying to find the tender portion of what appeared to be a piece of the bear's ear.—The San Francisco Post.

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

A Young Man in Love Found Common Mullein a Remedy.

One of the Shore Line trains was coming up from New York, says the Boston Herald. A young man entered the smoking car at New London, pulled a book from his grip, and a T. D. from his pocket, filled the T. D., lighted it, and settled comfortably into his seat for the journey.

Pretty soon a pleasant aromatic odor began to pervade the car in his vicinity. It had a suggestion of cubebs, but was not cubebs. There was a hint of sweet fern, yet it was different.

The drummers who were playing whist in the opposite seats sniffed the air and looked about; so did the old gentleman in the seat in front of the youth with the T. D.

By and by the old gentleman turned around and said: "I beg your pardon, young man, but may I ask you what you are smoking?"

The young man smiled. "I am trying to break myself of smoking," he said. "My sweetheart objects to tobacco. She doesn't care how much I smoke if I let the great weed alone. Now you, as a smoker yourself, know that the principal pleasure of smoking comes from the habit of holding the pipe or cigar in the mouth and seeing the smoke curl away. It is quite as much that as the narcotic effects of the nicotine.

"Well, then, I have that pleasure in smoking this substance. But that is not all. While it has a very pleasant taste and odor, burns freely, soothes the nerves and helps materially any rawness of the throat or bronchial tubes, the peculiar thing about it is that, after smoking it, a cigar or tobacco in any form tastes so badly that a man positively can't smoke it. That's how I am curing myself of smoking tobacco."

"But what is the stuff?" asked the old gentleman.

"Nothing but common mullein," replied the young man, with a smile.

WET BEYOND PRECEDENT.

London's Sunless Weather Makes the Record of a Century.

The London correspondent of the New York Times writes as follows about the English capital's remarkable summer weather: It is an old thought that we derive a certain satisfaction from the misfortunes of our friends, and the Americans who are staying at home this year may well shake hands with themselves as they hear how their compatriots who are visiting Europe are spending their whole time shivering over meagre fires in damp, cold lodgings, while streaming window panes reveal only a dreary vista of falling leaves, drenched and deserted streets, and a ceaseless downpour of rain.

The vast majority of our country people now on this side of the Atlantic cannot have seen a single day of sustained decent weather since they landed. It is like nothing on earth that reasonable folks ever heard of before, save in the description of the rainy season in the "Swiss Family Robinson." The past four months show a minimum of sunshine unrivaled in the records of the century, and, as a sober fact, our last summer weather was in April.

The trades which depend on the holiday makers like the Thames boatmen and the seaside purveyors, find themselves on the threshold of bankruptcy. The farmers were astonished for a while, and almost feared lest they should have no grievance at all this year, but now that the floods are sweeping away their stacks and rotting the roots of their crops, and that tempests are flattening out their wheat by the square mile, they begin to feel like their old selves again.

Waldorf Astor's Fin d'Siecle Methods.

The printers of the Pall Mall Magazine are making a use of the phonograph by which they do away entirely with the need of copy. The cylinder is removed after an article has been spoken into the machine and sent to the printing office, where it is placed in a duplicate machine, and the compositor puts the tubes to his ears and sets in type what he hears. If the machine talks too fast, he can stop it. This new method dispenses with the copyholder as well, for, of course, the proof reader can use the phonograph in the same way.

VANDERBILTS PART.

MILLIONS CONSIDERED IN THE ARTICLES OF SEPARATION.

William K. Vanderbilt, It Is Said, Will Give His Wife $10,000,000 and the Children Will Live With Her. Indications of Incompatibility.

For two years rumors that have been more or less openly exploited have been going the rounds in fashionable society relative to the domestic affairs of Mr. and Mr. W. K. Vanderbilt. Veiled allusions have been printed suggesting that within a short time there would be a separation. These hints have been discussed not only by the personal friends of the Vanderbilts, but they have been common talk at the clubs. These rumors have been invigorated by a story coming from Paris giving details of the basis upon which the separation is to take place. This report is believed by the few fashionable people to be found here at this season, and there is creditable authority for the statement that Mrs. Vanderbilt will receive from her husband $10,000,000 and will retain the custody of her children. She already owns Marble House, the Cliffs, Newport, which cost $1,000,000, and has other property given to her by her husband.

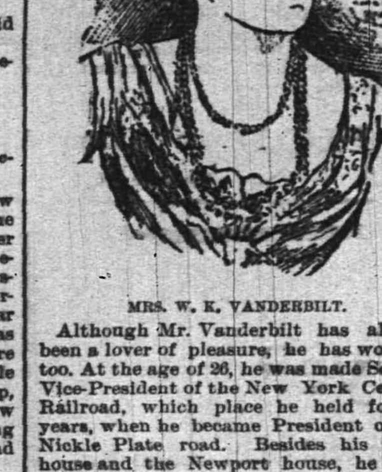
In the spring months Mr. Vanderbilt was conspicuous in Paris. He spent money without stint, and is reported to have had a very good time indeed, but Mr. Vanderbilt has defenders among his friends here who declare unworthy of belief the published reports involving a scandal.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, at her country place across the Channel, is said to have been kept regularly informed of Mr. Vanderbilt's movements. After considering the matter she determined to take advice of some of her London friends. Her lawyers in England, it is understood, at once got into communication with Mr. Vanderbilt's lawyers, and after a deal of offering and rejecting of plans it is said they finally reached an agreement to have merely a separation. Each was strongly opposed to publicity, and they had an idea that that might be avoided.



MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT.

Although Mr. Vanderbilt has always been a lover of pleasure, he has worked, too. At the age of 26, he was made Second Vice-President of the New York Central Railroad, which place he held for six years, when he became President of the Nickle Plate road. Besides his town house and the Newport house, he has a fine country place at Islip, L. I. Mrs. Vanderbilt is now about 34 years old. She has a pretty face and handsome figure. She has always been conspicuous for her costumes and diamonds, and has in the past few years entertained largely.

At this time of year there are few people in town who know the Vanderbilts intimately enough to know just how long the trouble between husband and wife has been brewing, but some who know the family pretty well, and the talk that has been going around about them, scoff at the idea that the quarrel has been of recent origin. "It's been going on for years," said one of these men, whose knowledge is usually considered exact. "It isn't the separation that has taken people's breath away, but the delay. It seemed that a measure of incompatibility was developed a year or so after the marriage. Mr. Vanderbilt, you know, is very high-strung, and his wife is also.

Makes Music With His Rifle.

Edward M. Gordon, of New York, is a markesmen who produces music with his rifle. His target is an xylophone which is placed at the back of the stage. Standing at the front with his back to the audience, Mr. Gordon picks off the notes with a rifle, striking them as quickly as an ordinary person would with a hammer.

The tunes which he plays are "Home Sweet Home," "America," "Sweet Marie," and others of that simple description.

It requires forty-three shots for Mr. Gordon to knock off "Sweet Marie." In this way the operation is made a comparatively painless one for the hearer.

A magazine rifle is, of course, necessary for this performance, and Mr. Gordon has invented several weapons of that kind which are well worth the attention of sportsmen.

The one with which he produces music contains 158 bullets. They are stored in a brass barrel underneath the barrel proper of the rifle. This brass barrel has six chambers, which are filled throughout their length with bullets. Springs force the bullets towards the breech, where an ingenious mechanism places them behind the hammer. When the bullets in one bore are exhausted he turns the brass barrel and another lot of bullets is ready for use.

OLD IRONSIDES.

Some of the Exploits of the Famous Old War Vessel.

The Constitution, or "Old Ironsides," as she is more familiarly known, is the most famous of all the wooden ships that we have preserved. Time and time again did she vanquish the English ships in the war of 1812, and proud were the people of her captures. Probably the most thrilling incident of her career was her escape from seven English men-of-war, after an exciting chase of nearly three days. The chase began on July 17, 1812. The Constitution was out for a long cruise, and was weighed down with stores. The sea was calm and no wind was stirring.

Captain Hull put out his men in boats to tow the ship. They pulled valiantly and as night came on "kedge" anchor was run out half a mile ahead. The crew on the ship kept pulling on this and the Britishers didn't discover for a long time the secret. Finally the English saw it and adopted the same tactics, and by doubling their crews began to pull their famous ship Shannon near to the Constitution.

A light breeze sprung up and saved the American ship for the time. There was a calm the next day and the agonizing struggle went on. The next night another light breeze came up, and the tired sailors obtained a little sleep. The next day there came a sharp breeze after many hours of struggle. The Constitution trimmed her sails to catch it, the boats dropped back and the men were caught up as the ship gathered headway.

The Guerriere of the English fleet came abeam as the wind freshened and fired a broadside, but the shots fell short and the Constitution's men ignored them and calmly went about straightening up their vessel, as if they had just left port and such a thing as an enemy was unheard of.

As long as the Constitution can be kept together she will probably be seen at Portsmouth, N. H., where she is now doing duty as a receiving ship.—Harper's Young People.

GEN. SHERMAN LIKED TO TALK.

Why the Hero of Atlanta Made New York His Home.

Gen. Sherman was always making little speeches. He had to; it was demanded of him. He was no orator, but he said original things. His words were crisp, to the point, and never to be forgotten.

When the family were preparing to remove from St. Louis to New York, Sherman said: "I must see people; I must talk."

He loved St. Louis, but there was only one New York. I begged a trifle from his little room before he went—that room in which I had so often, late at night, sat alone with him, and listened to the magic of his talk. He took a bronze paperweight from his desk.

"It is the image of America's greatest captain," he said, and gave me a little figure of Gen. Grant that had been on his desk for many years.

Gen. Sherman's appreciation of Grant knew no bounds.

"He was the one level-headed man among us all," he said one night.

He wrote as he talked, sometimes at random, but always brilliantly. Often late in the night, as he walked up and down the little room among the letters of the great men he had known, it seemed as if he might be in communion with their spirits. They were nearly all dead; he had outlived most of the heroes of the war North or South, and seemed at times like one who had been in the world, seen its glories and its follies, and was ready himself to depart.

"Some night as I come home from the theatre or a dinner," he once said, "a chill will catch me. I will have a cold, be unwell a day, and then——"

It all happened at last, just as his imagination had foreseen it.

He always seemed to me younger than he really was. He had to the last a buoyancy of spirits that usually belongs only to youth. I never saw him speak to a young person without smiling, and as to his ways toward women, he was a Bayard of the Bayards.—McClure's Magazine.

How Maine Guides are Made.

"How do they make guides?" is the simple question we asked one of that fraternity in the Piscataquis woods recently. "Do you take apprentices?" The man shrugged his shoulders and laughed.

"Well, to tell you the truth, mister," he replied, "I worked in a mill in the settlements until three years ago, when I happened to go to Moosehead Lake, and a man there wanted me to go in the woods with him as a guide. The pay was good, the work not hard, and I thought I had common sense, so I agreed, and went. I never was in the region before, but I knew something about its geography, and I had also been an observer of nature in many ways. I was a pretty good hunter and fisherman, and that's an important matter, because a good many sportsmen expect the guide not only to find the game and fish, but to shoot and fish for them. I managed not to get lost in the woods and here I am—been a guiding ever since. I guess that's the way the guides are made, as a rule. No, we don't take apprentices. They'd be too much in the way." He took a coal from the camp fire and lighted his pipe, sending the smoke up among the spruce boughs like one who carries an easy conscience, and enjoys the peace of Heaven.—Lewiston Journal.

The Boy Newton's Invention.

A water clock and a sun dial, this last marked out on the side of his landlady's house when he went to boarding school, were made by Sir Isaac Newton, who, as a little boy was forever inventing something. He contrived a curious little mill, the arms of which were made to move by a pair of mice imprisoned in the mill's tower. Though for a time at school he was rather a lazy boy, when, later, he went to live on his mother's farm, he shirked his daily duties often to stop and build wonderful little water wheels by a brook's side, or lie under a shady hedge and study out long mathematical problems.

Association of Ideas.

"Papa," asked Johnny, "do you believe there is a real sure-enough devil?"

"I don't know, Johnny," said Mr. Billus. "I hope not. By the way, Maria," he continued, turning to Mrs. Billus, "when your cousin Phœbe, comes to visit us this fall is she going to bring that boy of hers along?"

MAGIC

For Nerve, Brain and Blood.

MAGIC IRON-TONE is an ideal summer drink. Served at fountains with soda it is incomparable. It must be remembered that the average summer drink is just so much syrup and water, having no medicinal properties, and which only serves to provoke instead of to assuage thirst. But MAGIC IRON-TONE not only quenches thirst, it gratifies the longing for "something that will go to the spot;" it sparkles and bubbles along the palate and the throat; it gratifies the parched stomach and immediately clears the films from the brain. It dispels the despondent, depressed feeling inseparable from weariness and overwork; it lightens the load the system seems to be carrying, causes the eye to flash, the mind to spring into activity, and the nerves and muscles to jump from a flaccid to an elastic condition.

MAGIC IRON-TONE EXTRACT FOR HOME USE.

TEN MILES HIGH.

HIGH AIR MARK ATTAINED BY A PARIS BALLOON IN 1893.

How the Captive Balloon Might be Used To Assist Weather Prophecies. Going 850 Miles in 19 Hours. Valuable Data For Weather Sharps.

William A. Eddy, in an article on captive balloons, the heights attained by them, and what may be learned about the upper air by using them, says:

On reaching great heights above a local point by means of captive balloons the chief obstacle to be overcome is the tendency of the balloon to be blown down to a slanting position by the wind. While in calms the captive balloon will rise to a great height, and so serve the purpose of lifting instruments in the air and sustaining them there, yet Professor Carl E. Myers, who has had experience in the management of hundreds of balloon ascensions, tells me that the wind will blow the captive balloon down sidewise and press the gas out of its neck, and so lessen the buoyancy.

In obtaining the true wind velocity from a released balloon an instrument remains to be devised that will show the exact variation of speed during the balloon journey by measuring the apparently receding movement of the earth below. Weather map data to be obtained at a height of 10,000 feet involves the use of self-recording instruments at that height above a fixed point, giving the wind velocity, the temperature, the barometric pressure, the direction of the wind and the amount of rain or snow.

But since the weather map consists of local observations throughout the United States it follows that release balloons do not answer this purpose, because the observer might drift nearly 1,000 miles in 12 hours. Professor John Wise floated in a balloon from St. Louis to Henderson N. Y., a distance of 850 miles, in 19 hours, in July, 1859. This change of base would make comparative observations between the 10,000-foot level and the earth's surface practically valueless.

It is admitted by meteorologists that upper current observations would lead to more accurate weather prediction, and the Herald has emphasized from time to time the importance of farther investigations pertaining to the condition of the upper air and cloud strata.

Since M. Hermite, of No. 113 Boulevard Sébastopol, Paris, sent a goldbeater's skin balloon to a height of 52,490 feet (ten miles) on March 21st, 1893, it is obvious that this represents the present practical limit of possible penetration into the upper air. No human being or form of animal life could survive after the balloon had exceeded a height of 40,000 feet unless a supply of surface air was sent up in airtight receivers. We must depend on self recording instruments for information regarding the air at a height of eight miles.

An altitude of 5,460 was made on November 9th, 1893, with eight Malay tailless kites, and an altitude of 10,000 feet will probably be reached by means of silk cord supplied by the Smithsonian Institution at the instance of Prof. P. Langely an eminent authority in aerial science. As this height is about one-fifth of that attained by M. Hermite's balloon, it would form a good beginning and reach well upward into the important cloud strata that exert powerful storm effects before the surface winds are influenced.

Every thunderstorm sends its advance guard into the upper air first, and the higher the kites go the more complete will be the indications of the approach of a storm. The kite instruments being stationary will record the steady approach of weather changes which take place aloft first, but if the instruments are in a fleeing balloon, then the changing conditions, except as related to altitude, are not recorded, since the balloon speeds along with unchanging air conditions surrounding it.

And as the captive balloon can be used only in exceptional conditions of mild winds or calms, it follows that we are driven to the use of kites, because flying machines are not yet in a condition to carry up instruments and sustain them above a local point.

A TRADITION OF THE CROWS.

The Rising Shield That Presaged a Chief's Death.

There is a tradition that the medicine men of the once famous Crow tribe were gifted far above those of any other Indian race. Whether or not this be true, one remarkable feat performed by a Crow chief is vouched for by the famous James Beckwourth, the scout who became a war chief among the Crows, under the name of Medicine Calf.

The chief was an aged man, and had told his tribe of a premonition of death. The tribe was on the warpath against its hereditary foes, the Blackfeet, and just on the eve of battle. In the dusk of the gray morning the old chief led his braves out on the open prairie. Drawing them up in a half circle, he set his shield on edge fifteen or twenty feet in front of them, and pointed to it steadily for several moments with his lance. As the eyes of the men were riveted upon the surface of the buckler, it appeared to rise slowly from the ground until it reached about the height of the chief's head. Then by some invisible means it seemed to pass through the air until it obscured the old man's face and hid it from his warriors. A thrill of awe and terror ran through the assemblage, but no word was spoken. A moment later, the chief made a pass with his lance and the buckler lay on the ground as before. The omen was taken as an indication of the chief's approaching eclipse—his banishment from this world to the land of the Great Spirit. The old man was killed in battle that day.

FAD FOR QUAINT MOTTOES.

Houses of Well Known People Have Rhymes on the Walls.

It is the fashion to make collections. Why not then, asks the Boston Globe, a collection of mottoes and legends?

The following assortment, which has taken some time and a due amount of patience to get together, is offered to any one in need of an appropriate legend:

A tea cozy, for instance, always needs a motto, and a very suitable one was recently discovered painted in gold upon a cozy made of slate-colored chamois:

Lovely woman is the sugar;
Spoons, alas, men always be;
Matrimony is hot water;
So we make our cup of tea.

A very agreeable change from the weather-beaten "Bon Voyage," which we see forever and ever worked upon traveling bags, is the pretty line, "Here's to the pilot that weathered the storm!"

A choice line overflowing with sentiment, is the one for a soft pillow:

Beloved head that rested here,
Be free from pain and sorrow,
Sleep sweetly and may God draw near,
To fit thee for to-morrow.

Another verse for a head rest, presumably one decorated with clover, is the following:

Shake me well and turn me over,
You will find me sweet as clover.
Unlike many friends we know.
Afraid their other side will show.

These lines from Marmion are suitable for a bed spread:

To all, to each a fair good night,
And pleasing dreams and slumbers light.

A pretty verse to paint upon your bookshelf is this:

O for a booke
And a shadie nook
Far from the cries of the streete.

Mrs. Sarah Cowell Le Moyne has a little old-fashioned mirror in a gilt frame. Just above the glass, in the frieze, so to speak, of the mirror, is lettered the quaint lines:

Look in this mirror and you will see,
Ye one of all most loved by me.
O! would that I therein might view,
Ye one of all most loved by you.

Another motto for a mirror:

Be to my virtues not unkind
And to my faults a little blind.

A favorite place for a legend is the space above the fireplace. "East or west, home is best" is a saying one frequently sees. "Aha, I have seen the fire and am warm" is another appropriate legend.

"The ornament of a house is the guests whose frequent it" is the reading graven above the fireplace in the drawing-room of Mark Twain's house at Hartford.

In Mrs. Pierre Lorillard's cottage, at Tuxedo, a motto in old Greek lettering greets one from the wall of her boudoir:

Count that day lost whose low descending sun
Views from thy hand no worthy action done.

The nursery in Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's New York house is a charming room, with the walls nearly covered with mottoes, Mother Goose rhymes and pretty verses.

A Description of Empress Josephine.

The over-interesting Josephine does not suffer at the hends of Napoleon's latest biographer, Baron Meneval. He was an eye witness of the parting of Napoleon and Josephine. In his eyes the first wife of the Emperor had an irrestible attraction. He recognizes that she was not a woman of regular beauty, but she had the grace which is more beautiful than beauty's self; she had the soft abandon, the supple and elegant movements and the graceful negligence of Creole women. Her temper was always even. Good-natured and kind, she was affable and indulgent to every one. Meneval would not pretend that she was a woman of a superior intellect; but he points out that her exquisite politeness and great familiarity with society and court life taught her at a moment's notice, what she ought to say and do. There was a charm and a delicacy about her way of obliging people or thanking them for a service which won all hearts.

A Frenchman's Snail Ranch.

A provincial farmer living near Paris has decided to increase his income by cultivating snails. He has at present 180,000 of the interesting and shiny creatures penned up in a waterproof shed, and where they are being fattened for the Paris market. Whether this farmer is going to add largely to his income by this new departure remains to be seen, but a certain class of French people do greatly esteem snails. Snail pie is considered excellent, but some people prefer them simply boiled, and extract them from the shell with a little silver implement resembling a nut pick, only somewhat larger.

TIPS FOR SWIMMERS.

ADVICE OF HERMAN OELRICHS THE BOLDEST SWIMMER OF THE EAST.

Confidence is the Main Thing, But Precautions Should Be Taken Against Cramps. Pleasures a Good Swimmer Can Enjoy.

Herman Oelrichs is undoubtedly the boldest swimmer on the Atlantic coast. He has been known for his ocean exploits for nearly a score of years. In his early days he was an athlete, a boxer, and an all-round expert in athletic matters. At one time he had one of the finest figures among the young men of New York. He has grown a little chunky of late, and has not sparred or taken any interest in sporting matters beyond swimming. In this he is still at the front, and what he says on the subject is full of interest. In answer to questions regarding swimmers and swimming, he said:

"In the first place, a swimmer should have confidence and courage. Many a man is a good swimmer, but he lacks confidence and courage in the water. The next thing to be considered is that awful subject cramps. Many a swimmer has been frightened by a mere cramp in the arms or the legs. Cramps of this description are nothing. You must simply kick them out in the legs and force them out in the arms. By quick exercise and piston-rod movements cramps in the legs and the arms are quickly got rid of. It is the cramp in the stomach that is fatal. I have seen persons taken with a cramp in the stomach who have sunk in five feet of water, never to rise again, and no power on earth could save them. They drop like a stone.

"In my long swims, I usually rub myself all over with vaseline. The water is always trying to get the temperature of your body down to its temperature, and vaseline will alone keep out the cold. There is one annoyance about rubbing yourself with vaseline, and that is that after a long swim all of the garbage in the water will stick to you. But that is easily got off with salt water soap. As I said before, the main point to be guarded against are cramps in the stomach, and when you go out for a long swim it is advisable to tie around your neck a little vial containing brandy and ginger, and at the first indication of cramps in the stomach simply dump the contents down your throat. It will burn like thunder, but it will save you from death.

"On long swims it is also necessary to gauge the tides. Never fight against the tides. Go with them. I recollect several years ago when Webb, who lost his life in the Niagara Rapids, started out with me at 9 o'clock in the morning to swim from the Highlands to Norton's Point. That was only a distance of about eight miles. I left to Webb the work of ascertaining the tide. He made a mistake, and, after we had started out, it was very soon apparent that the tide was running out into the ocean and not up toward Norton's Point. We drifted and swam down toward the Scotland lightship and were hurried along toward the Sandy Hook light, and after that we made for Monmouth Beach. This was a distance of eighteen miles, and we got out of the water at half-past five. We were in our breech clothes far from home, but I sent over to my man for clothes and a bottle of whiskey. This was in September, and if we had not put on that vaseline, we would have succumbed along in the afternoon.

"There has been something said lately about daring swimmers. I maintain that it is the duty of every father to encourage his boy to become a good swimmer, for then he becomes a good life saver. It is the men who know how to swim and who have courage and confidence in the water who rescue the lives of venturesome and foolhardy people. I tell you that all that is necessary is confidence and courage in the water, and you are all right. If you are a good swimmer you are very much more safe six miles from land than walking up Broadway. A brick can fall on you in Broadway or a safe, but nothing can happen to you in the ocean.

"They talk about sharks in this part of the country. I have never seen anything but dogfish up this way, and sometimes they are pretty big. But even if a shark did come along, all that a courageous swimmer would have to do would be to bite his tail off. That is said in fun, because there are no sharks up this way. There are only dogfish, the deadest of all aquatic animals. I wish to reiterate that the only thing to be careful about are cramps in the stomach, and they can be quickly killed by this little vial of brandy and ginger.

"What is so glorious as to be able to jump from a steam yacht in full swing into the middle of the ocean? I have done that repeatedly, and when the yacht got tired it would turn around and take me up. But out in that clear water a good swimmer could go to sleep as easy as resting on a downy couch."

A Lake of Beer.

Statistics have been compiled at Vienna of the quantity of beer drank in 1893 in the entire world. Germany heads the list with 1,202,132,074 gallons, an increase of 84,000,000 over 1892, the consumption being thirty-three gallons per head, ranging from sixty-two gallons in Bavaria to twelve gallons in Lothringen; Great Britain second, 1,165,752,000 gallons, or thirty per head; America, including the whole of the western hemisphere, is third, with more than a billion gallons, or sixteen per head. The total for the world, not including Asia and Africa, is 4,500,000,000 gallons, requiring 7,270,000 tons of malt and 82,000 tons of hops. This would make a lake five feet deep, and more than two miles square.

Jersey Mosquitos Outdone.

During the summer months the district along Indian River, Florida, can give points to any other place on the mosquito question. Housekeepers are at their wits end to keep the pests from entering. Usually, outside the screen door hangs a "mosquito switch" made of split palmetto leaves. It would be an unpardonable breach of hospitality if the visitor should neglect before entering, to switch himself thoroughly from head to foot, suddenly open the door and dart in, then slam the door in the faces of the winged tribe trying to follow him inside. Many houses have the front porch entirely screened in so that the people can enjoy the evening air and listen to the humming outside the screen.

Something of a Family.

Mr. Neher, of Logansport, Ind., who died recently, had 14 children, each of whom became a parent of the same number, and out of the 567 members of the family down to the fourth generation 533 were present at the old gentleman's funeral.

MARK TWAIN'S BEST JOKE.

It was on the Publisher who Refused His "Innocents Abroad."

Possibly Mark Twain's best and most profitable joke was on the publisher who let the offer of his "Innocents Abroad" go begging, for it did not take long to bring the whole crew to their knees, suing as a favor for something from the same pen. That book, by the way, he wrote in Washington. A friend who boarded with him in an unpretentious house in Indiana avenue tells how he used to look in occasionally on Mark, sitting in his little back room, with a sheet iron stove, a dirty, musty carpet of the cheaper description, a bed and two or three common chairs. The drum stove was full of ashes, running over on the zinc sheet; the bed seemed to have been unmade for a week, the room reeked with tobacco smoke and the floor was littered with newspapers from which Mark had cut his letters. Then there were hundreds of pieces of torn manuscript which had been written and rejected by the author. A dozen pipes were about the apartment—on the washstand, on the mantel, on the writing table, on the chairs—everywhere that space could be found, there was tobacco and tobacco everywhere. One thing, there were no flies: the smoke killed them. I am surprised that the smoke did not kill me, too. Mark would not let a servant come into his room. He would strip down his suspenders—his coat and waistcoat of course being off—and walk back and forward in slippers in that little den, and swear and smoke the whole day long. Of course, at times he would work, and while he did work it was like a steam engine at full head.—Kate Field's Washington.

LOCAL SEWER WORK.

ENLIGHTENMENT FOR THE BEWILDERED PUBLIC MIND.

Out of a Mass of Confusing Technicalities, These Easily Understandable Facts Have Been Gathered by The Daily Press for Householders' Benefit.

The reports of committees, the proceedings of the Common Council, the ordinances passed, and other indications of progress in the work of furnishing Plainfield with a sewerage system, have all been published in The Press from time to time, but there yet remain matters connected with the relations of the householders and the taxpayers with the construction and the cost which those who have not been directly in touch with the development of the plans do not understand thoroughly. The consideration of the more important points of these matters will make clear what the use of technicalities has not conveyed to those not versed in engineering.

The length of pipe to be laid at once under the $19,000 contract which W. W. Cook & Co. have obtained will be 27,500 feet. This includes almost all of the main sewers, about the only remaining main pipe to be laid next year being a length from Grant avenue to the disposal beds. All other pipe that will be laid next year will be eight-inch lateral sewer lines. In all, the completion of the system in the city will mean the laying of about 17 miles of sewers. The length laid this year is therefore about one-third of the whole. The pipe completed this year will be from eight to 18 inches in size. Next year all will be eight-inch except that before mentioned. The selection of the streets to be piped this year was not made because of importance or size, but because the grade of the land makes necessary the placing of the main lines in these streets.

The lines will be laid in the middle of all streets except those where there is already laid a single car track. In these the sewer will go to one side. The water pipes now occupy one side of the street and the gas pipes the other. The sewer must be kept dry until the cement has thoroughly set, the contractor resorting to the use of pumps in wet places to prevent the trench from filling during the work. Underdraining with agricultural tile will be used in some parts of the system, and as the expense is slight they will be put in wherever considered necessary. Opposite each lot or wherever it is thought a house may be built a Y for the house connection will be placed in the main and sealed up. A map of the exact points at which these may be found will be prepared for future reference. The flush tanks will be located in the streets, one at the upper end of each line. By underground connections with the city water these will be automatically flushed daily or perhaps twice a day. It is estimated that all sewage will reach the disposal beds from any part of the city within three hours.

After the sewers have been finished and the disposal beds made ready, the work of connecting the houses with the mains will be begun. This is one of the most important parts of the whole system, as there will be more miles of house connections than of sewers. The city will have very strict regulations to govern the work of the plumbers who make the connections.

The reputable plumbers of Plainfield will be licensed as drain-layers. When a citizen wishes to have his house connected with the sewer he will employ a licensed plumber who will go to the city's official in charge of sewers, and upon payment of a fee will have the Y nearest the property located and the grade given which he is to follow in putting in the pipe from the house to the sewer. After the trench has been dug an inspector will visit the place and give a written approval of the work, including the pipe and the cement, and condemn them if they do not come up to the standard fixed by the ordinance. The specifications of the ordinance will call for the use of four-inch first quality vitrified stoneware pipe, laid with clear cement joints. At the house the depth will be about three feet, increasing to seven feet or less at the street centre. A grease trap of some sort or facilities for cleaning out grease will probably be required in front of each house.

The strictness of the regulations which will be adopted is deemed necessary to prevent unauthorized persons from doing poor work and using cheap materials, as, no matter how perfect the contractors may do their work for the city, if the inspection of the house connections is neglected the system will be ruined. The freedom of the individual is simply taken away for the good of the public health. New plumbing ordinances regulating the sanitary arrangements of dwellings will be passed. The inspecting engineer will be especially particular as to the kind of material used, which will lead to the local dealers carrying in stock only the standard quality, as the price of good pipe is but little higher than that of poorer quality. As good work lasts better and does not leak, the citizens will not lose anything in the end by being forced to have the best.

The intermittent filtration system which is to be used in Plainfield is rapidly coming into use in towns which are putting in sewers. About one hundred places in Europe and half as many in this country now employ this method. The plan of going to tide water in the Raritan river at a cost of about $200,000 besides the expense of maintaining a pumping station, (which latter would represent an investment of $100,000), is not considered advisable on account of the expense and the growing feeling that the State should make each town dispose of sewage without damaging the water courses of other sections. The expensive scheme of going to tide water in Staten Island Sound has, of course, been abandoned. The sewers to be laid in the city are such that they can be used to take sewage to the disposal beds or could be extended to tide water if ever considered desirable.

Plainfield's filtration beds will be on a tract of 40 acres to be bought by the city. Five acres of the land will be prepared for use at the start, and additional sections will be included in the utilized portion as fast as they are needed. The five acres will be divided into as many beds, not necessarily equal in size; one of which will probably be used in turn in the in the rotating scheme of the intermittent system. The beds will be used in the same way as those in South Framingham, the favorite crop in Plainfield, however, being corn instead of tobacco. One man will be employed the whole year, with from three to five more to assist him in the farming season.

It is expected that Cook & Co. will keep the laborers of Plainfield busy until December 15 next, when according to the contract their job is to be finished. As soon as the city gets possession of the land for the filtration beds, the location of which is about decided on, the unemployed will probably be given employment on the work of levelling and otherwise preparing part of it for the beds. The city's taking of title may be delayed by the proceedings of the Court necessary in condemning the land. The work will all be done with wheelbarrows and the city will give it out to no contractor but will do it through its officials for the benefit of the unemployed.

The contracting firm will be paid monthly. At each regular Council meeting the city engineer will present his report of the value of that part of the job which has been finished during the month. Payment of 85 per cent. of this amount will be ordered by the Council, 15 per cent. being reserved until all is completed. The total amount, $18,858 29, includes the price of a number of variable quantities such as house Y's, drain tile, etc., so that the cost may be slightly lower or greater. There will be no charges for extra work and the prices fixed in the contract will be the same on any additional orders.

The assessing of the cost of the system will be made on the basis of the eight-inch pipe, i. e., the man whose house is connected with an 18 or 24-inch pipe will pay the same as one who fronts on an eight-inch main. The cost per foot of the eight-inch line, 28 cents, together with the proportionate expense of appurtenances, engineering, etc., will be assessed equally—according to the frontage of each lot. The difference between the standard eight-inch price and that of the larger mains will be assessed on the taxpayers in the general budget.

Under the present law, which may of course be changed before the time for its application, the commissioners who assess the cost of sewers are appointed by the courts. Plainfield men of high standing will be recommended for appointment on the board. Many are in favor of having the commissioners appointed by the Common Council.

HYMENEAL.

Reed—Cox.

(From The Bound Brook Chronicle.)

The Reformed manse of South Bound Brook was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday, Sept. 13, when John Reed of Plainfield and Mary Cox, daughter of Andrew Cox of Plainfield, were married. The bride wore a gown of creamy white cloth which fell in graceful folds to a demi-train. It was profusely trimmed with white lace which not only hung gracefully over her shoulders but fell in soft folds down each side of the skirt. The bride carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums tied with a white ribbon. She also wore them in her hair. Her kid gloves and suede slippers were also of creamy white.

The portiere was drawn aside and the couple slowly marched into the parlor to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Rev. Albert L. Mershon, cousin of the bride, performed the ceremony, after which supper was served in the dining room and all enjoyed a very merry time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cox of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Reed of Plainfield, Wm. Reed of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Silcox of South Bound Brook, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cox of Bound Brook. The happy couple left on the 5 o'clock train for New York. The bride's traveling gown was of silver gray with hat and gloves to match. After their wedding trip is over they will make their home in Jersey City. Their many friends wish them a very happy life.

After the Gold Medal.

The annual contest for the gold club medal of the Middlesex Bowling Green Club, will take place today on the club grounds in Dunellen. The contest is called for 2:30, and no entries will be received after that time. The medal has been won by Messrs. Howard MacSherry, H. B. Willis, Dr. W. E. Linstedt, Fred Weigel, and B. M. Pettit, who at present holds it.

The secretary of the club has been ordered to send a challenge to the Boston club to play at Dunellen Sept. 29.

—A Westfield boy swallowed a quart of Westfield whiskey, and lives.

—U. B. Crane, hatter and furnisher, has just received a large line of Fall shades in gloves, and has marked them at bargain prices. Call and see.

GOATS IN THE GALLERY.

ONE REMAINING BLOT ON PLAINFIELD'S THEATRE.

Intelligent People in Music Hall Insulted by the Disorderly Antics of an Unappreciative Gang, Marring Perfect Presentation of a Sublime Spectacle.

Lovers of the poetic and immortal story of Faust rejoiced in the chance to see Lewis Morrison enact his great role of Mephisto last night, and Music Hall was filled. The audience downstairs was composed largely of people of culture, who for the sake of the perfect stage presentation endured for over three hours the distracting antics of a disorderly gallery and a dislocated orchestra.

With Morrison Mephisto has been the study of years, and the now gray-locked actor has lost none of his pristine energy and power. A suave, sardonic, polished red gentleman, his is a finished conception of the part. His merry wickedness fascinates by the twinkle of his crafty eye, the gleam of his beautiful teeth through his treacherous smile, the magic of his touch.

Lovely is the Marguerite impersonated by Miss Florence Roberts. All hearts went out to her in love for her fair beauty, her maidenly simplicity; in grief for her anguish; in pity and pardon for her contrite supplication. In the peaceful happiness of her garden at home, all envied her. In the pitiful delirium of her prison madness, hearts bled with compassion. Marguerite's sad story could not be more delicately and eloquently portrayed.

The handsome, gallant wooer, the misguided and misguiding Faust, was admirably portrayed by Edward Elsner; and the part of Valentine gave Joseph Callahan opportunity for fine acting. Mrs. Nelson Kneass transforms the ordinarily stupid Martha to a bright and interesting character.

The company is evenly balanced, the costuming is exact, the scenery is perfect, and the mechanical and electrical effects are superb. The Brocken scene has no equal on the stage for weird and awful realism. Satan smiting sparks from rock, witches writhing in a sea of flame, the heavens, dazzling with zigzag lightning, raining down molten metal, make a pyrotechnic splendor eminently worthy of Mephisto. And the beautiful apotheosis revealing Marguerite's salvation is a most refreshing elixir against the morbidness that the story impresses upon one.

So far as stage presentation is concerned, Faust was well-nigh perfect, and many of Plainfield's intelligent and intellectual people enjoyed the privilege of seeing it at home. But their pleasure was marred by the inadequacy of an orchestra floundering beyond its depth, and by the hootings and coarse raillery of the disorderly element in the gallery. The effect of many fine points, the artistic nicety of many splendid passages, was spoiled by the thumpings, the screechings, the vulgar jokes bandied back and forth, the confusion and riot that held possession of the gallery. The cattle took cowardly refuge in the darkness that the house had to undergo while the stage pictures were on. They seemed to have no conception of any human emotion but buffoonery, and appeared to fancy that they were there for the particular purpose of raising the gentleman in red.

Not all of the galleryites were thus. There were some decent people there, who were as much embarrassed and annoyed by this burlesquing of pathos and beauty as were the people downstairs. But the disorder was so general and so continual that Manager Varian would have been justifiable in ordering the police to clear the gallery before the show proceeded.

Mr. Varian is having gratifying success with his house, but he cannot hold the patronage of the self-respecting portion of the public unless he suppresses the gallery gods. It is time the crunch of the peanut and the voice of derision were stilled at least during the development of the play if not between the acts. That gallery ought to be brought to subjection. If it requires to be driven out of the house during several shows, it will soon understand that it must behave itself or lose what it has paid for. The boors of last night might well have taken example in good manners from his satanic majesty on the stage, but many of them acted as though politeness could not be clubbed into them.

One of the artists of the Morrison company said last night: "I read in the paper that you are building sewers here in Plainfield. I suppose you can't save the gallery filling up with the construction-gang dagoes!"

Mr. Varian has a clean theatre, a fine list of plays, and public confidence. It is trusted that he will take means to remedy the gallery evil that has been apparent at every show, and that was so flagrant last night.

And he ought to tune that orchestra.

Ackerman's Proxy Suggested.

(From The Elizabeth Journal.)

According to current reports from the townships of Essex County that belong to the Eighth Congressional district, the Republicans there are uniting to secure the nomination of Halsey M. Barrett instead of Elias M. Condit. Mr. Barrett is a resident of Bloomfield, a counselor-at-law with an office at 750 Broad street, Newark. He studied law with the late Judge J. Harvey Ackerman, and was also in the office of the late Vice-Chancellor Dodd. He is a warm friend of Ernest R Ackerman of Plainfield, and is his legal counselor. Last year Mr. Barrett made a number of excellent speeches in Essex County, and he is reported to be a fluent talker and an able man. From present indications it is probable that if the nomination does not come to Union County, Mr. Barrett may secure it.

The Deserted Family.

Mrs. Johnson and family are still at Schorb's Central Hotel, being cared for by charitable people. All contributions for her are being turned over to Mrs. Woodruff, agent for the Organized Aid Association.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen.

P. V. Huff is suffering from an attack of lumbago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Birdsall have gone West on a visit.

Miss Lizzie Hunt spent yesterday with Newark friends.

Bert Ostrander of Bedminster called on Dunellen friends yesterday.

Miss Eva Dayton of Plainfield was entertained by Dunellen friends yesterday.

Rev. W. C. Kinsey will occupy his pulpit in the M. E. Church both morning and evening tomorrow.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley has been suffering from an attack of malaria, and yesterday he was obliged to leave the store and go home.

The quickness and order with which Station Agent Charles English manages things about the railroad station occasions much praise.

Services, morning and evening, will be held as usual tomorrow in the First Presbyterian Church. The pastor, Rev. A. I Martine, will preach.

Charles Snowden delivered forty watermelons this morning to George Rockfellow, the Plainfield grocer, the smallest of which weighed 48 pounds.

The trial between Adam Seader and Paul Kratzel will be held before Justice Storms in New Market Tuesday morning, September 25, at 9. An error was made yesterday in regard to the date, which was given as the 21.

It was reported yesterday that Mrs. Brennan was trying to have Mrs. Cronan arrested and put under bonds to keep the peace. Justice Huff was asked about the matter, and said that the woman had called on him about the matter, but nothing definite had been done.

Next Tuesday the special school election at the New Market Public School will be held to decide whether the Commissioners will have $1,300 to run the school the coming year. At the previous election a tie resulted, and in consequence the schools have been closed and will remain closed till September 24. It is to be hoped that the voters of Piscataway township will not be so short-sighted as to vote against the best interests of their community and also against their children. It was remarked about Dunellen yesterday that the voters of the borough will turn out very strong and attempt to carry the day. The polls will be open in the afternoon from 4 to 8.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

John R. Klenser is enjoying a month of vacation.

Albert Hollingsworth has returned to school in Trenton.

Robin Frazee of Rocky Hill is a frequent visitor to the Plains.

Miss Lizzie Stamets of Westfield is the guest of Miss Kittie Buckley.

West Brothers are painting George C. Miller's house on Park avenue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. William R. Buckley Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Froleigh and child of Front street are spending a week in Syracuse.

The Newark people who rented Harry Robison's house during the Summer have returned home.

Cornelius Nesler has made a trade with his Rahway son-in-law, and now drives a sorrel instead of a bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan of Brooklyn are staying in George Hamlin's house on Park avenue, during his absence in the Adirondacks.

Finderne.

Tonight is the last night of the great outdoor performance at The Finderne. The last four nights have witnessed the largest crowds that have ever been seen in the history of the town of Finderne. The programme of first-class artists presented has drawn visitors for miles around in every direction and the week has been a great success, in fact a veritable red-letter week for the magnificent hotel. The performance tonight will commence at 8:30 with Youns, the skilful Japanese juggler, who will present additional features in his dexterous art. He will be followed by W. Henderson, a clever Highland dancer, who will appear in the Scottish national costume, and give an exhibition of the "Fling" and "Sword Dance", such as has not been seen in this vicinity before. This artist has only recently arrived in this country, and this is his third appearance before an American audience. The numerous medals he wears show his success in the famous contests of his own country. The third number will be the great contortionist Leonora, who will introduce some new feats in her marvelous performance. This artist has appeared in every country of the world, excepting Germany and China, and is without doubt the finest in her profession. Her feats of the last few evenings have held the audience spellbound, and the applause she receives on her appearance indicates that she is a great favorite. The brass band will again be in attendance.

The usual Saturday Hop will be held after the performance at 9:30, with music by Messrs. Curtis and George with augmented orchestra.

Ex-Governor David B. Hill registered at The Finderne yesterday, and expressed his admiration of this beautiful structure.

The courteous proprietors, Messrs. Trimm & Westlake, have kindly placed the large piazzas, with chairs, at the service of the public, and this with the lawn insures comfort and accommodation for all.

ONE WOMAN'S REWARD.

A GREAT SHOWER OF CONFIDENCE

Such as Never Descended upon Any Other American Woman.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

IT'S a glorious possession.

The most famous physician wins it from a comparatively small number.

One woman, and only one, has won it from tens of thousands during the past twenty years.

Loving confidences, heartfelt gratitude, loyal devotion, is showered upon her name because of salvation from a miserable existence, and the peace and joy of restored health through her wonderful skill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's name will go down the ages as the friend of all women.

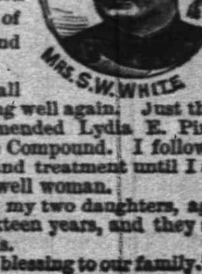
Her Vegetable Compound has saved thousands from the terrors of female complaints.

Backache, despondency, fainting, spinal weakness, avoiding society, bearing down, are all symptoms of trouble in the womb.

The Vegetable Compound removes the cause of the trouble.

Read what Mrs. S. W. White, who lives at 816 Holly Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., calls a family blessing.

Thus she writes to Mrs. Pinkham:—



"I have suffered for ten years with female complaints of the worst form, accompanied by severe spinal trouble, causing incessant backache, weakness of the stomach, and nervousness.

"I gave up all hope of ever being well again. Just then someone recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I followed your directions and treatment until I am now a perfectly well woman.

"I gave it to my two daughters, aged fourteen and sixteen years, and they are fine, healthy girls.

"It is surely a blessing to our family."

Gang of Counterfeiters Arrested.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 15.—The Levy gang of counterfeiters, for whom the government has been looking for years, were arrested at Osgood, Ind., and brought to this city yesterday. One of the prisoners, Nick Claxton, was caught in the act of pouring metal into a 50-cent mould.

Placed on the Retired List.

Washington, Sept. 15.—The president has approved the action of the naval examining and retiring board, which found that Chief Engineer Isaac R. McHenry had incurred physical disability in the line of duty, and orders have been issued placing him on the retired list.

AMERICAN BEEF PROSPECTS.

United States Rapidly Acquiring Control of Foreign Markets.

Washington, Sept. 15.—A short time ago United States Consul Eugene Germain, at Zurich, Switzerland, sent a report to the department of state entitled "Prospects for American Beef in Switzerland," which was published by the United Press. He now notifies the department that a synopsis of this report found its way to Zurich, and upon reading it the officers of the Farmers' Alliance of Switzerland at once called a meeting of their association to take steps to secure young American cattle to replenish their stock.

Negotiations are now under way which the consul thinks will result in a committee being sent to America to investigate the matter and to purchase young cattle for shipment to Switzerland. In this connection Consul Germain quotes an article in a Hamburg live stock journal which shows that the United States is rapidly acquiring control of the German markets in the supply of both live and dressed beef.

A Youngster's Suicide.

Baltimore, Sept. 15.—The body of 10-year-old George Rauh was taken out of the harbor last night. It is believed that he deliberately planned to kill himself. The little fellow remarked to his playmates yesterday that they would never see him again. He had been watching some men take soundings at the foot of Broadway and remarked to his mother that he guessed that twenty-three feet of water was deep enough to drown 100 little boys.

Notorious Duelist Shot.

Eagle Pass, Tex., Sept. 15.—It is learned that Jess Garcia Mencha has been shot dead in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz by Jose Remierez in revenge for insult. Mencha was notorious as having shot the most prominent man of Coahuila in an alleged duel, and having murdered a man at Diaz and his two daughters last year. Mencha was an officer under the notorious Garza Galan, governor of Coahuila.

Roberts Withdraws.

Albany, Sept. 15.—State Comptroller James A. Roberts has withdrawn as a candidate for the republican gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Roberts has been ill in Saratoga for the past three weeks, being confined to his bed all of the time, with the exception of last Saturday and Sunday, when he sat up. He suffered a relapse on Monday and was forced to again take to his bed.

Prominent Annapolis Man's Death.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 15.—Ex-Mayor James H. Brown died here yesterday after an illness from gangrene, continuing several months. He was elected mayor of Annapolis three times, and at his death was president of the Annapolis Water company and general manager of the Annapolis, Washington & Baltimore railroad.

Former Brooklyn Boy Fatally Shot.

New York, Sept. 15.—Roy Corlien, 14 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Corlien, of Batchellerville, formerly of Brooklyn, was fatally shot yesterday while hunting near the former village. The boy was dragging his gun by the muzzle when it discharged, its contents entering his right side.

ABOUT NOTABLE PEOPLE.

Some Short Stories About Persons More or Less Known.

Mrs. Edmund Yates, it is reported, carries about with her, wherever she goes, the ashes of her late lamented husband, who, it will be remembered, was cremated. They are enclosed in an air-tight receptacle, and this is fitted into a little traveling bag made for the purpose.

The only living child of General Zachary Taylor, Mrs. Dandridge, of Winchester, Va., is at present in Washington. When her father was President she added much brilliancy to the functions of the White House. Her first husband was Colonel Bliss, and she was familiarly known for a long time in Washington society as "Pretty Betty Bliss."

Miss Olive Schreiner of "African Farm" fame, recently told the following story: She and her brothers and sisters had as one of their playthings a bright stone that they called candle-stone. It was about the size of a walnut, and would flash in a bright and singular way when held to the light. Not until she had quite grown up and the candle-stone had been lost for years did any of them realize that it was a diamond of, doubtless, immense value. The Kimberley mines were in the unknown future, but this stone had, perhaps, been washed down by some torrent or been brought by other chance from that region.

The Lady Margaret Grosvenor, whose engagement is announced to the young Prince of Teck, a brother of the Duchess of York, is a daughter of the richest duke in England. The Grosvenors are also one of the oldest families in England, the first of the family coming over with William the Conqueror. The family name comes from this ancestor, who was a gros veneur, or great hunter, and his lovely representative in this nineteenth century has all the hereditary fondness for horses and hounds. The income of the Duke of Westminster, Lady Margaret's father, is said to exceed £1,000 a day.

Edward Bulwer Lytton Dickens, the youngest son of Charles Dickens, the novelist, has been living in Australia since 1868. He was his father's favorite, who always spoke of him as a "noble boy." He has taken to politics, and is a member of Parliament for Wilcannia, New South Wales. It is, however, probable that at the next general election he will be ousted from his seat by Richard Sleath, a Broken Hill miner who was sent to jail some time ago for using tough language during the late strike. Reports say that he will certainly depose the novelist's son, who is not quite so brilliant a man as his father was. He is described as dull and dreary. Indeed, the only one of Dickens's sons who has shown any special ability is Henry Fielding Dickens, who has distinguished himself at the English bar and is a Queen's counsel.

New Yorker's are somewhat interested in the following paragraph from Newport, that is not too kind to one of the rich men of the metropolis: Mr. John Jacob Astor, not content with seeing stars himself, wishes to make other people see stars, too. His Jules Vernesque Laura Jean Libbeyish book, "A Journey to Other Worlds," has not sufficed to bound his ambitions, so at a recent dance at the Casino he swung tall Miss Gerry and her satin train around just skillfully enough to tangle up Count Sierstorpff and his pretty partner, and down they went on the polished floor with more force than dignity, the rotund Sierstorpff flying completely over the lady, with an expression on his face which no words in the new dictionary would describe.

Why Croquet is Popular.

The New York Sun says: The reason for the continued popularity of croquet in this country lies in the fact that it is the only game that ladies can play in the ordinary run of costumes. Croquet has disappeared in England because it is the custom there for women and girls to spend their afternoons in rough tennis or golf costumes, while the French women have gone so daft on bicycling that they wear their costumes until nearly dinner time. It is only in America that they make a special toilet about three in the afternoon. This toilet is for the benefit of the men who arrive from town on the late trains, and who are too late to indulge in sports of any kind. In addition to this, most of them are too much fatigued by their work in the city, and they prefer to sit around on the piazzas and loaf until dinner time. The women dress with exquisite nicety and taste, and their costumes are dainty in the extreme. They are practically summer dinner costumes, which include the tightest patent leather shoes, elaborate arrangement of hair, and all the odds and ends and furbelows of a modern woman's fancy. This attired, tennis is out of the question, and golf, bicycling, or rowing not to be thought of. Then it is that croquet is taken up, and nobody is more thoroughly aware than the women themselves that they add to the attractiveness of the lawn without detracting from their own appearance.

One of Mrs. Mikado's Joys.

One of the joys of the Japanese woman's life is her hairdressing. The ordinary Japanese woman has her hair dressed twice a week. First the assistant hairdresser comes and oils the locks with camelia or sessum oil, then the principal arrives and spends nearly an hour in piling up the hair so that it will indicate the caste and age of the woman and whether she is "maid, wife, or widow." For all that is expressed by the arrangement of the locks in Japan. The women sleep upon neck blocks, carefully hollowed out so that the hair may remain undisturbed all night. For ladies of high degree these blocks are beautifully lacquered and decorated. They generally have a little drawer into which the superfluous ornaments can be put at night.

Getting Back at Him.

The Husband—You want to know where I was so late last night? I was at the office balancing my books.

The Wife—It seems to me that you balance your books very often. That excuse is about threadbare.

The Husband—H'm! If you don't believe me, why don't you consult a fortune teller?

The Wife—Not much. I consulted one once and she told me a pack of lies.

The Husband—Indeed? What did she tell you?

The Wife—She told me I would get a rich, handsome, kind, attentive and truthful husband.—N. Y. Press.

IRRESISTIBLE GUNS.

THE PNEUMATIC DYNAMITE MONSTER IN ACTION.

Five Hundred Pounds of Dynamite Thrown Two Miles. Accurate as Well as Resistless. Successful Tests Made at Sandy Hook.

The pneumatic dynamite guns which have been recently tested at Sandy Hook, achieved remarkable success. In rapidity and accuracy of fire, in range, and in all the qualities of a great weapon, they seemed to meet the demands of the government, and to warrant the prediction that the new gun will be the most important existing factor in harbor defence.

The guns threw 500 pounds of dynamite two miles, and in accuracy they are said to surpass ordinary cannons. The navy, apparently looks with disfavor on the guns, but the army defends them as a great addition to harbor defenders. It is certain that no fort, and no ship could withstand a shell such as these guns throw, and it is difficult to see why they do not surpass in effectiveness any gun in existence.

The fifteen-inch gun, of which a picture is given, is 50 feet long and throws shells containing from 50 to 500 pounds of nitrogelatine.

The main barrel of the gun itself is encased in an outer barrel from the trunnions to the breech. The air is conducted from the trunnions to the two barrels in the annular space between the two barrels to the firing valve, which is located in the breech. When the valve is opened the air flows in behind the projectile and starts it forward. When the predetermined amount of air has passed the valve it closes automatically by means of the Rapieff valve. This amount of air can be controlled absolutely; and can be fired at will by the gunner. This alters the range without changing the elevation of the gun.

During a recent trial the tests were quite up to the expectations. The range was 2,000, 2,500 and 3,000 yards. The torpedoes all struck in the same small rectangle. When they exploded under the water the sight was a grand one. A mountain of water lashed in foam rose more that mast high in the air, forming a most magnificent series of brilliant cascades—at least an acre of water, sufficient to overwhelm a ship even of the size of the City of Rome. This was the most interesting sight of the tests on the grounds.

It can be seen from this that even an ordinary sized man-of-war would stand no chance of escape from those unerring guns. The surface is so great that it would be difficult to miss her. One shot would be quite enough to knock her into pieces.

The batteries are at present exposed, but by and by they will be masked. Already $162,000 have been expended on the plant. The appropriation was $400,000 for three of these guns for New York, three for San Francisco and two for Boston. Each gun costs about $45,000.

A Novel Explanation.

A well-bred man puts his hand over his mouth when he yawns, but not one well-bred man in ten thousand knows why. The reason is this—Four or five hundred years ago there was a superstition common in Europe that the devil was always lying in wait to enter a man's body and take possession of him. Satan generally went in by the mouth, but when he had waited a reasonable time, and the man did not open his mouth, the devil made him yawn, and while his mouth was open jumped down his throat. So many cases of this kind occurred that the people learned to make the sign of the cross over their mouths in order to scare away the devil. The peasantry in Italy and Spain still adhere to this method, but most other people have dispensed with the cross sign, and keep out the devil by simply placing the hand before the lips. It is a most remarkable survival of a practice after its significance has perished.

Heard Near New York.

Here are some of the early morning sounds that greet the ears of suburbans dwelling within half a mile of the city limits: Notes of robins, catbirds, thrushes, sparrows, and the three or four other songsters that help to make up the dwindling summer orchestra; the shrill, malignant whiplash of the trolley; the whinny of horses at pasture; the rush and hoot of railway trains; dairymen calling their cattle afield; the rattle of tradesmen's wagons out for early orders; echoes of the woodman's axe from a real bit of forest; the rumble of giant powder heard through the ribs of the annexed district, and the cackling of fowls, lowing of kine, barking of dogs from farmyards yet spared by the land boomer.

Another Ungrateful Republic.

M. Durnof, the aeronaut, who first opened communications between the besieged Parisians and the outside world in 1870, is dying in a Paris hospital. His balloon was ruined by the memorable trip, but for twenty-two years he never received a cent from the government; even his claim for the value of his balloon was left unnoticed. Last year he received a small allowance, which barely kept him from starving.

Bryant's Matter of Fact Mother.

William Cullen Bryant's mother kept a diary for fifty-three years without missing a day. This is the entry for November 3, 1794: "Storming, wind N. E.; churned; 7 in the evening son born." It would seem that Mr. Bryant did not inherit his poetical predilection from his mother.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good". Price 50c. Sold by all druggists.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

SUCH A CONVENIENT DESIGN!

It May Appear in Chiffon or in Serge as Occasion Requires.

The summer girl has discovered a new bodice. Here is a picture of it. It was first worn by a very pretty young woman at an informal dance. Then it was made of peachblow taffeta combined with green chiffon and white moire. The wide sash and Directoire revers were of the moire, while the corselet and short basque were of chiffon. The buckles and huge buttons were made of green enamel. The bodice was worn with a skirt of white moire, veiled by an overskirt of peachblow chiffon.

When it next appeared the bodice was aboard a yacht. It was worn by another summer girl equally as pretty. But in this instance it was of serge instead of taffeta and trimmed with white broadcloth instead of filmy chiffon. In combination with a serge skirt and yachting cap it possessed a nautical air. The low-cut neck had vanished and in its place was a V-shaped yoke of dark blue serge. The buckles and big buttons were in dark red, and long, dark blue Suede gloves joined the short, puffed sleeves.

BUTTONS EVERYWHERE.

An Imported Frock Glistening With Sixteen Dozen Buttons.

Her button gown was a great success. She was conscious of this after wearing it for the first time. Such an amount of attention she had never before received. It was an imported frock and it carried just sixteen dozen buttons. They were very small buttons of glistening gilt and they shone upon her dress like cords of gold.

The skirt of this French costume was made of fine white broadcloth, with an unusual amount of fulness at the back. On the right side of the skirt a narrow panel of heliotrope velvet appeared to be caught to the broadcloth by a row of gilt buttons, which stretched from waist line to hem. The bottom of the skirt was finished by a band of the velvet gleaming with another line of gilt buttons. The bodice was heliotrope chiffon over silk and shirred to a yoke of white broadcloth outlined with very small gilt buttons. The chiffon at the waist line tucked in to a corselet of heliotrope velvet bordered with buttons.

The draped sleeve was of white chiffon over heliotrope silk. The puff was most graceful. Below the elbow the chiffon was drawn over a tight-fitting cuff which seemed held together by a row of buttons.

Honest Devotion.

Impetuously he poured forth the story of his love.

"And all I have," he protested, in conclusion, as he prostrated himself before her, "is at your feet."

She looked at him incredulously.

"All?" she repeated.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Practically all," he said. "Of course I have another suit of clothes at home, but it really isn't worth anything."

For the first time she knew the extent of his devotion.—Detroit Tribune.

Eve Rode in on a Comet.

Prof. Wiggins has a theory that man originally came from Mars on the tail of a comet. There is, in addition, the Professor says, overwhelming evidence that Eve found her way here in the same manner.

"I have no time now to enter into a detailed discussion on this point," said Prof. Wiggins; "but I believe the serpent that beguiled Eve and caused all our woe was a comet."—St. Louis Republic.

SLEEPLESSNESS,

Nervous Debility, Nervous Exhaustion, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Melancholia, and kindred ailments, whether resulting from over anxiety, overwork or study, or from unnatural habits or excesses, are treated as a specialty, with great success, by the Staff of Specialists attached to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Personal examinations not always necessary. Many cases are successfully treated at a distance.

ASTHMA. A new and wonderfully successful treatment has been discovered for Asthma and Hay Fever, which can be sent by Mail or Express.

It is not simply a palliative but a radical cure.

THE AUTHOR OF "FATE."

Mrs. Susan Marr Spalding Wrote the Much-Claimed Poem.

Mrs. Susan Marr Spalding is both best and least known by her poem. "Fate." The poem itself has been widely copied and claimed, and its title has sometimes been changed to "Kismet," but not until one year ago was Mrs. Spalding's right of authorship absolutely settled. Mr. Edwin Milton Royle, who used it in his play of "Friend," has been inundated with letters from persons purporting to be its authors, so that he now places Mrs. Spalding's name upon all his programmes.

The lines first appeared in print in The New York Graphic, in 1876. "I happen," says Mrs. Spalding, "to have still in my possession the note from Mr. Croffut—one of the Graphic's editors—accepting the poem, speaking in the highest terms and expressing his regret that The Graphic could not pay for poetry, which letter has more than once quenched a too-insistent claimant. It is, by the way, the only bit of blank verse I ever wrote."

For the benefit of those who have not claimed, or read, the disputed poem it is given below.

Two shall be born the whole wide world apart,
And speak in different tongues, and have no thought
Each of the other's being, and no heed;
And these o'er unknown seas to unknown lands
Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death;
And, all unconsciously, shape every act
And bend each wandering step to this one end;
That, one day, out of darkness they shall meet
And read life's meaning in each other's eyes.
And two shall walk some narrow way of life
So nearly side by side that, should one turn
Ever so little space to right or left,
They needs must stand acknowledged face to face,
And yet, with wistful eyes that never meet,
With groping hands that never clasp, and lips
Calling in vain to ears that never hear,
They seek each other all their weary days
And die unsatisfied—and that is Fate!

BOYS WHO BECAME FAMOUS.

Youthful Traits of Jefferson, Cuvier Agassiz and Webster.

Thomas Jefferson, as a boy, rode well and played the violin, but he most sincerely loved to study. When very young he went to college and gave fifteen hours a day to his books, and for exercise at twilight would run for a mile out of the college grounds and back again.

Cuvier, the great naturalist, used to make for his school fellows the tiniest but most perfect maps of bits of colored cloth on paper pasted on a sheet and then drawn over with dots and lines to represent mountains, rivers, towns, etc.

Louis Agassiz was so expert a fisherman when a little boy he could catch them in his hand, fascinating them first by strange motions of his fingers. He kept a number of pet fish in a stone basin behind his father's house, and was clever at taming field mice and all sorts of little animals and insects. He was an expert little cobbler and cooper, could make water-tight barrels as well as a man, and manufactured pretty shoes for his sister's doll.

Perhaps of all things Daniel Webster when a boy loved best was to read aloud. He never remembered when he first began to read, but as a very tiny boy he read the newspaper regularly to an old British soldier who used to carry him about on his shoulder. One day the schoolmaster offered a prize of a jackknife to the boy who could learn the greatest number of Bible verses, whereupon the next morning Daniel got up and rapidly spoke off so many verses that the master had to beg him to stop and promptly presented him the knife.

FRUIT BEATS GOLD.

California Has a Fruit Mine That is Richer Than Golconda.

The California fruit growers have made a serious mistake in sending to the London market a shipment of pears and plums that had been picked too late and were badly packed. They will never gain that all-consuming market in this way. They will very soon destroy their chance of success in it. We believe that as soon as California fruit shall be properly introduced to England, millions of dollars' worth of it will be bought there. England alone could take all the surplus fruit crops of California. Of course, we must hope she will not do so; for we can take at least $2,000,000 worth of them in New York city every year. We are like the Londoners, though, in that we must have the best.

California can grow richer than Croesus from its fruit crops. They are of uncountably more value to it than all the gold mines between Mount Shasta and San Diego.

There are no such pears and plums or other fruits raised in England as there are in California. There are not any better fruits in all the world than those of California. In reaching out for the world's markets, the California fruit growers must always bear in mind that the world knows a good thing when it sees it, and is as quick in detecting the bad as in appreciating the good.

We are greatly interested in this California fruit business. We are anxious that California shall conduct it with sense and judgment.—N.Y. Sun.

More Thrift than Reverence.

A gentleman of large means, in a Scottish county, had a hothouse vinery celebrated for its choice produce. When the Queen was on one of her periodical journeys through Scotland the royal train was timed to stop for luncheon at a well known through station in this county, and Mr. Childers availed himself of the opportunity to send Her Majesty an offering of his best grapes. In due course a letter of acknowledgment expressing the royal appreciation of the gift and complimenting the donor on the fineness of the fruit, reached him; and, feeling sure his head gardener would be greatly interested in the contents of the letter, Mr. Childers read it to him. The gardener gravely listened, but his only comment was: "She disna say onything aboot sending back the basket."—San Francisco Argonaut.

The discussion over Johnny's failings had reached the state of personalities. "It's easy to see, madam," vociferated Mr. Chugwater, "which side of the house the boy gets his temper from."

"It is, Josiah," replied Mrs. Chugwater, "and it's likewise easy to see where he gets his inability to control it."—Chicago Tribune.

WHEN THE STARS AND I ARE AT ONE.

When the stars and I are at one,
I envy not nor complain;
Careless to me is the schemer's art;
Order and peace are in my heart
And rest in my brain.

That Donald should pass me by
In the race for wealth and power,
Donald, who carries his head so high,
Donald, the lucky one, what care I
At this sacred hour?

* * * * *

Vision of life and calm!
How happy if we can gain
Lessons of peace and lessons of rest,
Lessons of faith which are still the best,
When the heart hath pain.

I am borne on a limpid stream;
I float on the equal air;
Donald deserves all his hands have won;
God is the Lord! lo, the Titans run!
All the world is fair.

Order and peace and life
In those regions beyond the sun!
So doth my heart put aside its wars;
So doth my heart have peace, when the stars
And I are at one.

—George Herbert Stockbridge.

A WIDOWED HEART.

Mrs. Stanton was a little widow who thought herself inconsolable.

She was convinced that there never had been and never would be such another man as her late lamented husband. She believed that he had been created, raised to manhood and endowed with every amiable quality for the express purpose of completing her happiness, and, now that he was gone, she felt assured that her earthly felicity was over. She mourned for him so incessantly that her health broke down, and she was obliged to leave her home and seek restoration at a water cure.

She was there placed at the table at which Mr. Weeks was seated, but on the opposite side and further down. Weeks who was suffering partial blindness from overwork could only see a blurred, indefinite, palish splotch, crowned by a white film, which he took to be a widow's cap, as indeed it was.

One day as Mrs. Stanton was coming from her hammock to the house she saw Mr. Weeks stretched at full length on a bench under the trees. His handkerchief was bound over his eyes, and as she passed him softly, she thought she heard a low groan.

"Are you suffering, Mr. Weeks," she said. He answered that he had a bad nervous headache.

"Oh, I am so sorry," she said. "You must try to sleep it off."

"If he were my young son or my brother," she said to herself, "I could not let him lie there suffering, and I believe I care for him almost as much as though he were. Why should I be silly and prudish."

Finding no good answer to this question she went back to her hammock and brought her own pillow. Then she gently raised Mr. Weeks's head and slipped the pillow under it. Seating herself on the bench, she made a few magnetic passes over the sufferer's forehead.

The effect of her soft, delightful touch was magical. The patient lay there, feeling his pain ebbing away, a delicious languor stole over him and at last he slept. He had tried once or twice to express his gratitude, but she had gently forbidden him to talk.

When he at last awoke, some hours afterward, he found himself covered with Mrs. Stanton's own shawl, but the lady had left him. As the remembrance of the light touch of her fingers came back to him he told himself that she was the dearest woman in the world.

"She is my sister or my adopted mother," he said.

And now the whole character of the man seemed to change. He was no longer the diffident, irresolute, shrinking young fellow that he had been. He was a man, with a man's strong will.

He sprang rapidly down the hill and returned to the Cure. At last he reached the spot where the happiest hours of his life had been passed. Mrs. Stanton was still there. He went boldly up to her.

"Mrs. Stanton," he said, as he seated himself by her and took her hand in his. "I cannot give you up. I love you with all my heart, and I cannot bear my life if you refuse me. I have come to beg you to be my wife."

She tried to say something about his pity for her destitute condition prompting him to make her this generous offer, but it was not possible for her really to believe her own words.

Genuine love was too apparent in the young man's earnestness, in every word and action.

"You have surprised me so," she said at last, "I must have time to think."

"Any length of time."

"Then give me a week to decide; and please leave me now."

Weeks spent the week in the city with a prominent oculist who performed wonders on his over wrought eyes.

Punctually on the day appointed Weeks for learning his fate, a carriage drove up to the door of the Water Cure, and a young man stepped out. With impatient footsteps he walked to Mrs. Stanton's favorite seat. Was she there? Some one was—but who was she?

He stopped in utter amazement. A lovely young woman, who might possibly be 25, but who did not look over 20, was seated upon the bench. Her eyes, which were raised to his, were a soft dark brown, her hair, wavy and luxuriant, was a beautiful shade of dark golden auburn. She was dressed in deep mourning; she wore no widow's cap. She rose hesitatingly as he approached.

"Can you tell me where Mrs. Stanton is, madame?" asked Mr. Weeks, wondering and trembling.

"Oh, Mr. Weeks, you don't know me!" answered a reproachful voice that made his heart leap.

Exactly how it happened they never knew, but the next moment Mrs. Stanton was in his arms.

After a while he whispered to her: "You are not more lovely than I knew you were, but you are much younger."

"Well," she said, between tears and smiles, "that is a fault that I will do my best to outgrow, and, in the meantime ——"

"In the meantime," he interrupted, "we will be as happy a couple as ever lived in this happy old world."

And they were.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

ASK THEM WHY?

Ask the men who are making imitations of COTTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening, why they give up lard and try to trade on the merits of COTTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess why.

ASK HIM WHY?

Ask the grocer who attempts substitution, why he tries to sell an imitation when people call for that pure, palatable and popular vegetable shortening, COTTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess.

ASK YOURSELF WHY?

Why should not YOU use COTTOLENE, instead of lard or any other compound, for all cooking purposes? It has the highest possible endorsement; from Physicians as to healthfulness; from Cooking Experts as to superiority; from housekeepers as to economy. Use COTTOLENE and stick to it.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

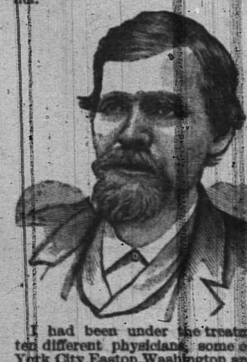
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

CHINESE DEPREDATIONS

A Presbyterian Missionary Killed at Liaoyang.

Unprovoked Attack on the Rev. James Wylie by Soldiers—Beaten into Insensibility and Left on the Roadside—Narrow Escape of Another Missionary.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 17.—News is at hand per steamship Oceanic of the murder of a Scotch missionary named Rev. James Wylie. A New Chwang correspondent of the North China Daily News writing under date of Aug. 20 says:

On the 10th inst. at Liaoyang, fifty miles from this port, soldiers en route for Korea from Tien-Tsin, attacked Rev. James Wylie, a member of the Scotch Presbyterian mission, with knives and sticks. After cutting him about the head and face and beating him with sticks, they left him lying on the ground on the public roadway where his colleagues found him unconscious and bleeding from his wounds. His lower jaw was broken in two places and he had several wounds about the head and face, among others deep scalp wounds. These wounds, however, were not so serious as the injuries to the brain caused by blows or kicks. He died at 6 o'clock on the morning of the 16th inst.

The attack was entirely unprovoked. Mr. Wylie, who was a quiet, inoffensive and kind gentleman, was walking quietly along the street, when he was attacked. The higher native authorities, it is said, are acting energetically in the matter. The local magistrate demanded from the officer in charge of the regiment the surrender of the guilty soldiers, but this was refused, and one is not surprised, for if the officer had dared to comply with any such demand, he would probably have been the next victim.

There is a rumor to the effect that this officer is to lose his head. On Aug. 21 the following telegram from Chefoo was received at Yokohama: "Two Ceman fathers belonging to the Catholic mission at Koneng-Chow in southern Shantung have been seized and held to ransom by bandits whom the authorities are unable to capture.

London, Sept. 17.—A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that twenty-one transports have sailed from Japan supposed to be destined for China.

A formidable band of robbers armed with rifles made an attack in the vicinity of New Chwang upon a number of refugees who had been obliged to flee from Yalu. Mr. McIntyre, a missionary, who was one of the party, narrowly escaped death. The refugees were without food and were compelled to eat the flesh of their horses.

The residents of New Chwang are pleading for the presence of a gunboat to protect them.

VICTORY FOR THE JAPANESE.

Heavy Losses on Both Sides—The Japs Menace Pekin.

London, Sept. 17.—A dispatch from Tokio says the Japanese won a great victory over the Chinese in a battle fought on Sept. 6. The fighting was very severe. The Japanese scattered the Chinese cavalry and a detachment of Japanese afterwards captured the castle of Hwan-Ju, thirty-five miles from Phong-Yang. The losses on both sides were heavy, but details of the battle are not yet obtainable. The Chinese force at Phong-Yang numbers 15,000. The Japanese are rapidly approaching that place and a great battle is impending. If the Japanese are victorious they will march to Moukden, in the province of Shing-King. This position will menace Pekin.

It is also stated that large detachments of troops have been sent to reinforce the Japanese army in Korea. Wagers are being made in Tokio that the Japanese will occupy Pekin or Moukden by Nov. 1.

Two Children Burned to Death.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 17.—Fire broke out in the house of William Frieland Saturday night and before the arrival of the company the entire structure, a two-story frame, was a mass of flames. The fire was caused by the explosion of oil which was used to kindle a fire in the cook stove. Mrs. Frieland was badly burned and two children, 2 and 6 years old, were both burned to death, being too frightened to get out and it being impossible to find them when help arrived.

Distress at Sea.

New York, Sept. 17.—The French liner La Champagne, just arrived, reported passing the vessel Hakon Jarel, from Christiansand, with a load of lumber, abandoned at sea. She also reported the steamer Nerito, bound to Halifax, aground on Sable island. The Nerito was said to be in a very dangerous position. Her captain asked to have a dispatch sent to Halifax, stating their position, and asking for assistance.

Will Pay Another Dividend.

Meadville, Pa., Sept. 17.—Col. S. B. Dick, the only surviving member of the banking firm of A. C. Dick & Co., who closed their doors in July, 1893, announces that a dividend of 20 per cent. will be paid to the creditors on Tuesday, Sept. 18. This will make a total of 40 per cent. paid since the suspension.

Fatal Stabbing Affray.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—Edward Wardzinski, a young Pole, is lying at the Fitch hospital with an ugly wound in his left side, the result of a stabbing affray, and his three assailants, Michael Kleyer, John Herman and Henry Lorey, are locked up. The physicians say that Wardzinski will die.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE.

Statistics Showing the Practical Working of the German Law.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Consul Warner, at Cologne, in a report to the state department on the operation of the German law of compulsory insurance of workingmen against accidents, writes that as it is proposed to bring before the next imperial diet the question of extending the law so as to include all apprentices and employes occupied in the various trades whose wages do not exceed $478 per annum some information on the practical working of this law thus far in Germany may be interesting in America.

As the result of social legislation in Germany, the cost to the Rheinist and Westphalian smelting works and rolling mills in 1892 was something like $8.90 for each workman employed. Since the inauguration of this compulsory insurance up to the end of 1892, German industries had paid in a reserve fund of about $88,000,000, the law having gone into force in the latter part of 1885. At the close of the year 1892 the number of persons insured against accidents incurred in operative works was 18,014,280. The total expenditures in that year amounted to $12,542,767, distributed as follows: For indemnification, $7,696,968; for examinations of accidents, $346,314; for costs of arbitrating, $127,163; for protection against accidents, $110,527; for general administration, $143,962; laid aside as a reserve fund, $3,032,072. The capital at the end of the year was $20,455,791. It will be seen that the cost of administration amounts to about 11 per cent. of the total expenditures.

HIS HOPE FOR FRANCE.

Political Testament of the Count of Paris Made Public.

London, Sept. 17.—The political testament of the late Count of Paris was made public yesterday. The document, which is very brief, is dated Stowe house, July 21, 1894, and says:

"As I had no knowledge of my future I would not attempt to trace a line of conduct for my son, feeling with perfect confidence that he will always uphold the traditions of our house, which are love for France and the faithful discharge of all the duties incumbent upon him. I hope that France will soon be reunited, all parties finding a basis of common agreement under the traditional monarchy. If I went to Frohndorf in 1873 it was to show my respect for the hereditary principle. Since then I have tried to deserve the confidence of my party by fighting, although in exile, zealously for France."

The document concludes by expressing his trust that God has not abandoned France, to whom he gave St. Louis and Jeanne d'Arc. He felt certain that France will return to her old religion, and meanwhile he could only hope for the unity of all existing parties. He was sure that his friends would understand that this was a necessary condition and precedent to all they hoped for.

ANTE-BELLUM DAYS.

An Alabama Negro Sells Himself Into Slavery for $25.

Selma, Ala., Sept. 17.—Col. Stark Oliver, a farmer of Dallas county, formerly a large slave owner, was in town Saturday and noticed a lazy-looking negro, about 30 years old, lounging in the sun in front of the hotel. The colonel jestingly told him he would like to buy him.

The negro, in most serious manner, told the planter he was for sale; that he would sell his liberty and serve him as a slave until his death for only $25 cash. The bargain was struck. A bill of sale was drawn up by a lawyer and signed and the money was paid.

Col. Oliver tied his slave to a post while he made some purchases in the town, and when he left for home he fastened a plow line about the negro's neck and led him along. As the colonel left he remarked that he was beginning to feel as he used to back in the '60's.

Mutiny Among Artillerymen.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Mutiny broke out in the ranks of Battery D, of the Illinois National guard, and seventeen artillerymen were placed under arrest pending dishonorable discharge from the service of the state. The trouble has been brewing for several weeks and had its origin in the failure of the state to pay the men for their service at the stock yards during the recent railroad strike in sympathy with the Pullman workmen.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 17.—It is said by good authority that the following is the slate that will be likely to stand in the republican convention: For governor, Levi P. Morton; lieutenant governor, James W. Wadsworth; judge of the court of appeals, Albert Haight.

ALMOST A TRAGEDY

Farmer Hawkins Murderously Assaulted.

His Assailant, Edward Gallagher, a Young Man Whom the Old Gentleman Had Befriended—Believed Mr. Hawkins' Son Was in the Plot to Kill Him and Seize His Money.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 17.—The attempted murder of an old man by a youth whom he had befriended and promoted, it is suspected, by his son, was thwarted by the timely intervention of the police at an early hour yesterday morning.

The intended victim was Mathew Hawkins, a well known citizen who has operated a farm in the southern end of the city on the Clinton township line for a number of years.

His assailant was Edward Gallagher, a young man who applied at the farm house one night last March and begged for shelter to save his life. Hawkins pitied the lad's apparent destitution, took him in, fed and clothed him, and paid him for the work he has performed about the farm ever since. Hawkins is a widower and has lived on the farm with one daughter and a son, who has given him at times, it is said, a considerable amount of trouble. He was idle and quarrelsome and on more than one occasion the father had to call on the police to subdue his son.

The latter did not object to the retention of Gallagher on the farm, for that meant less work for him to do, and very soon a peculiar attachment sprang up between the two. The farmer saw nothing wrong in this, but with his daughter it was different; she saw no good in the close relations between her brother and Gallagher and had a premonition that nothing good would come of it.

Her father had money which he preferred to keep about the house rather than risk it with banking institutions, and for some unaccountable reason she connected that fact with the demeanor of her brother towards Gallagher, and her forebodings of evil. Her worst fears were realized yesterday morning, when she was aroused by the sounds of stifled groans and a thud as of some one falling coming from the direction of her father's room.

Without attempting to investigate she ran to a window and screamed for help. Fortunately just at that hour three patrolmen were sending in their last call from a patrol box situated near the house, and they hastened in that direction just in time to intercept Gallagher, who, alarmed by the cries of Hawkins' daughter, was trying to make good his escape by leaping out of a window. He was taken back into the house to the room, where Hawkins was found lying unconscious with blood flowing from several ugly wounds on the face and head. Beside him lay a bar of iron twenty-four inches long, with which the wounds had been inflicted. It was covered with clotted blood and hair. The son entered the room soon after the police arrived, but he never exchanged a word with Gallagher, who gazed calmly at the result of his fiendish work without showing the least symptoms of remorse.

Police Surgeon Clarke, after an hour's hard work, succeeded in restoring the old man to consciousness and dressed his wounds, all of which he pronounced dangerous but not necessarily fatal.

Gallagher, when examined, said he had no motive in attacking Hawkins and was unable or unwilling to explain why he did it. He was committed to jail to await the action of the grand pruy and the police are making a thorough examination of the circumstances attending the narrowly averted tragedy.

An Old Indian Murdered.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 17.—At Cobb Creek, near Minco, I. T., an old Caddo Indian named Ki Wash was found murdered yesterday. He had been strung up to a tree by the heels and shot through the head. On his breast was found pinned a paper warning the Indian police to keep their hands off of a band of outlaws known as the Doolin gang. It seems that the dead man's son, who is an Indian police scout, got on the trail of this band recently and with a posse routed them from their rendezvous, and in revenge the outlaws murdered the old man.

Tragedy at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Andrew Pogaktza and his wife Johanna killed themselves in their rooms at No. 234 Packham street, sometime Saturday night. The smell of carbolic acid apprised their neighbors of the tragedy early yesterday morning. Their landlord opened their room and found the bodies, that of the man on the floor and the woman's in bed. The bodies were sent to the morgue. Poverty and illness is given as the cause.

Breckinridge to Fight.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 17.—Breckinridge managers claim Owens' plurality on the face of the returns is only 148 and say they will contest and have the election declared for Breckinridge. Owens managers deny there is ground for contest and still claim 355 as his majority.

Barry and Connors Matched.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—At the conclusion of the Barry-Leon fight at Lemont yesterday for the bantam championship of the world, Barry, the victor, and Johnnie Connors, of Springfield, Ill., were matched to fight for $2,500 a side before the club which offers the biggest purse.

AN INHUMAN MONSTER

Tries To Kill His Uncle, Aunt and Cousin.

Believed That His Purpose Was To Kill the Parents and Then Assault the Young Girl—The Aged People Likely To Die—The Fiend, If Caught, May Be Lynched.

Glen Falls, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Edward Whittemore, a farmer, 70 years old; his wife, aged 55, and his daughter, a pretty girl of 15, were the victims of a murderous assault by Mrs. Whittemore's nephew, Leonard Blodgett, Saturday night, in which Mrs. Whittemore was fatally shot and the others dangerously wounded.

Blodgett, who is 28 years old, has lived at the Whittemores' house, which is located in the mountainous region ten miles southwest of this village, for the past year, working as a farm hand. Late Saturday night, after the father and daughter had gone to bed, Blodgett shot Mrs. Whittemore with a revolver, the bullet striking her in the groin. The shot awakened Whittemore, who was sleeping in the same room. He jumped out of bed and attempted to take the revolver away from Blodgett. In the struggle both men fell to the floor. Blodgett then shot at Whittemore, the ball entering the lower jaw and tearing through the cheek. Dropping the revolver, Blodgett pounded Whittemore's head against the floor until the latter was unconscious.

The girl, Dora, hearing the struggle, entered the room and was told to go back by Blodgett. She failed to obey the command quick enough to suit the fiend and he took hold of the girl and carried her to her room and threw her on the bed. She fought him off and managed to get up, when Blodgett threw her on the floor. He then stabbed her with a large pocket knife, the blade striking a rib and glancing off. The girl pretended to be mortally hurt and Blodgett left her and returned to the room where he had shot Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore. The latter in the meantime had managed to escape through the front door. Blodgett seized a shotgun and followed her. He found the woman lying by the roadside 100 yards from the house, where she had fallen. He shot her again with the gun, and, leaving her for dead, returned to the house.

During his absence the girl climbed through a window of her room and made her way to a neighbor's, whom she told the story of the shooting.

Several men started for the scene and on the way found Mrs. Whittemore, whom they carried to her home. Blodgett, when he went back to the house, got his shoes, hat and coat and disappeared in the direction of the neighboring mountains.

There is no doubt that his purpose was to kill Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore and with them out of the way assault their daughter. Several hundred men are searching for him and if caught he will be lynched. Blodgett is the father of four children. His reputation heretofore has been good.

POSEN'S VALUE TO GERMANY.

What Prince Bismarck Thinks of the Prussian Nobility.

Varzin, Sept. 17.—Prince Bismarck, in the course of his speech at a festival given here in his honor yesterday morning, declared that Posen was more indispensible to Germany than even Alsace and Lorraine, and Germany would spill her last drop of blood and spend her last coin in defending it. It was only the elements of political impotence and ignorance that believed in the Pole. A friendly policy might pacify some of the Poles, but it would not pacify the Polish lordly population. It is the Polish nobility and clergy that agitate and fan the flame of political hatred.

Father Hurth a Bishop.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 17.—Rev. Father Hurth, for ten years president of St. Edwards college, Austin, Tex., has been elevated to the rank of bishop at Notre Dame university, with imposing services conducted by Bishop Rademacher, of Fort Wayne; Bishop Richter, of Grand Rapids; Bishop Schwebach, of LaCrosse, Wis., and Bishop Foley, of Detroit. The ceremonies brought together dignitaries of the Catholic church from all parts of the country. Bishop Hurth will be stationed in Bengal, India.

The Murphy-Plimmer Fight.

Baltimore, Sept. 17.—Johnny Murphy, the Boston bantam who will fight Billy Plimmer, the English lad, for the championship of the world and a purse of $3,500 and a side bet of $1,000, has been in active training here for two weeks under the personal direction of Jake Kilrain. Murphy and his training party will leave for New Orleans next Thursday. Kilrain will be in charge and will also second the little fellow at the ringside.

Prominent St. Paul Man Dead.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 17.—Lyman C. Dayton, one of the pioneers of St. Paul, who came to the city in 1849, is dead at Aberdeen, S. D., from the shock of having his leg amputated just above the knees. Mr. Dayton owned much real estate in New York. In his early days he married a New York grass widow and a scandal arose.

Murder in the Second Degree.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 17.—In the case of Mrs. Hartley, charged with the murder of State Senator Foley, the jury yesterday returned a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Woman Arrested as a Spy.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—Mme. Immert, a young woman from the frontier district of France, has been arrested at Metz as a spy.

AFFAIRS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

Greater Part of the Executive Business Conducted by Telephone.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Major O. L. Prudon, assistant private secretary to the president, who for a quarter of a century has communicated the presidential messages to congress, has returned to Washington from a three weeks' vacation passed principally among the coal regions of Pennsylvania.

The condition of affairs at the white house pending housecleaning and improvements continues chaotic. Visitors are still denied admission and the greater part of the executive business is conducted by telephone.

The president, who has Private Secretary Thurber within easy call in his summer resort at Gray Gables, transmits by mail the commissions and other documents he signs, indicating the date at which they are to take effect. The custodian of the great seal at the state department stamps them as of that date and the acting secretary of state sends a list over to the executive clerk at the white house, and there the appointments are telephoned to the press. All the official acts of the president are thus constructively "Done at Washington" on the dates set against them, though as a matter of fact the president is in Massachusetts and the secretary of state is in Illinois or Indiana.

PLATFORM GAVE WAY.

Many People Injured at a Corner Stone Laying.

New York, Sept. 17.—The crowding of some eighty or more people upon a frail platform, at the conclusion of the ceremonies attending the laying of the corner stone of St. Augustine's new church, at 167th street and Fulton avenue, Sunday afternoon, caused the frail structure to give way, precipitating the crowd into the basement, fourteen feet below.

Fourteen people, more or less injured, were attended by ambulance surgeons from Fordham and Harlem hospitals and several private physicians, who were on the scene or were called after the crash came.

For more than an hour the most intense excitement prevailed. People ran hither and thither inquiring for friends whom they feared were among the injured, and the police controlled the immense crowd of excited people only by establishing a rigid fire line.

Some six months ago St. Augustine's church, then at 170th and Franklin avenue, was totally destroyed by fire. The new church now being erected will cost $100,000.

HARRISON TO SPEAK TWICE.

Will Not Enter the Fall Campaign Outside of Indiana.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Some weeks ago Chairman Tanner, of the republican state committee, wrote to ex-President Harrison, asking him to make one or more speeches in Illinois this fall. He has received the following reply, which not only answers his letter, but outlines Mr. Harrison's plans for the fall campaign:

"I have not been able sooner to acknowledge your letter Aug. 22. I only got home yesterday. I have made up my mind not to go out of this state to enter into the campaign this fall. I do not think it would be right for me to go into general campaign work. I have promised our own people to make a couple of short speeches in this state and if I go beyond this and visit Illinois or Iowa, as I have been invited to do, or any other state, I could not put any limit on the demands which would be made upon me. I am sorry to disappoint you, for you have all shown me a great deal of kindness in the past."

HOSTILITIES IN RIO GRANDE.

Rebel Force Surprised and Fifty Men Killed; Several Officers Captured.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 17.—Information comes from Banengen, Rio Grande, that government troops have surprised a rebel force, killing fifty men and capturing several officers. The rebels continue active, and are preparing for a new invasion of the state. It is thought probable that at the end of the month they will re-establish headquarters at Rivera.

There is a confirmation of the report that Gen. Saraiva has gone to head off the government troops and is digging trenches in preparation for an attack.

In Rio Janeiro, according to the dispatches, the supreme court has restored to Silveira Martis, Admiral Wandenkolk and others the right to return to Brazil.

Held Up by Highwaymen.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 17.—James P. Driscoll and H. Amos Bucke, of this city, were held up by two highwaymen on the Concord road, soon after midnight. Driscoll was compelled to hand over $12 at the point of a revolver. The police suspected Andrew Jenness and Myron Jenness, brothers. This forenoon the police learned that one of the Jenness boys had been shot. Andrew Jenness was arrested, but Myron escaped. The former was shot in the right shoulder. Andrew undoubtedly shot his brother when he fired at Driscoll, while having a tussle with him. The wound is not dangerous.

THE EMPEROR'S PLANS

A Clever Scheme To Make the Navy Popular.

The Display of Warships at the Naval Review Off Swinemunde a Semi-Political Function To Gain a Grant of 10,000,000 Marks by Stirring the Pride of the Electors.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—The newspapers have found little room for accounts of the great naval review at Swinemunde, although they devoted columns to the east Prussian military maneuvres. The display of warships, however, had the more political significance of the two. It was, in fact, a grand semi-political function for the benefit of the gaping crowds which special trains took to the coast from all parts of the empire.

At first the official mind did not grasp the emperor's reason for ordering the railway authorities to advertise popular excursions to the scene of the review. It now recognises the fact that the emperor was practicing one of his clever schemes, preliminary to an important act of government. The royal railways carried northward thousands from Leipsic, Halle, Dresden, Breslau, Frankfort, Brunswick and Magdeburg. Their excursion trains from Berlin were filled to the standing room. At Swinemunde the tourists found coasting steamers waiting to convey them to the fleet. As the Berlin, Halle and Leipsic steamers passed the imperial yacht Hohenzollern the emperor commanded his band to play popular airs while he stood on the upper deck saluting them. These courtesies were intended to make the navy poular.

In the last session of the reichstag the deputies declined to appropriate 4,500,000 marks for new naval expenses. In the coming session they will be asked to grant new items amounting to 10,000,000 marks. By stirring the pride of the electors the emperor hopes to induce those who repudiated the smaller grant to look with favor on the larger one. He has already succeeded in giving 10,000 inlanders, who never before saw a warship, a most splendid naval spectacle.

During the winter the navy will have two new formations. A reserve division of five ironclads will be stationed at Dantzig and another at Kiel. Both divisions are intended for the special protection of the Baltic and North sea ports. The naval programme for this week's maneuvres includes an attack by the torpedo flotilla tonight and a bombardment of the Kurische Haff coast works by the first squadron. Hostilities will cease on Thursday. On Friday the emperor, Admiral von der Goltz and other commanders will meet in Swinemunde to criticize the work of the fleet.

The Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, which is inspired from the Wilhelm strasse, is publishing a series of articles under the caption: "The Government's Programme of Action and the Criticisms of Its Opponents." The writer's purpose evidently is to throw light on the future policy of the emperor and Chancellor von Caprivi. As these articles are worded in the foggiest style of the new editor, Dr. Griessmann, nothing definite can be learned from them except that the government wishes all the parties of law and order to combine against the bodal democrats. Griessmann hints that the emperor has new legislative plans to soften the lot of the workingman, but does not tell whether the government purposes returning to the old repressive laws. The Koelnische Zeitung maintains that these laws must not be revived.

The increase of the Austro-Hungarian budget for army and navy in harmony with Germany's previous action has given rise to much sarcastic comment on the general assurances of peace. In opening the Budapesth delegation on Friday Freiherr von Chlumecky said:

"Although we recognize Count Kalnoky's wise and efficient policy in consolidating the triple alliance and developing the treaties of commerce, although we feel that by such means he has afforded us new pledges of the peace of Europe, we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that, when all European states are aiming to augment their military strength, the day of a general disarmament must still be far off. Austria-Hungary cannot enter the path of peace alone. She cannot decrease her armament while others increase theirs. We must rely upon the delegation not to follow the dictates of mere hope, but rather to develop the resources of our army and navy in accordance with the needs of the existing situation."

Unprejudiced opinion is that with all its references to increased armament and war, Chlumecky's speech was not able for its pacific tone.

Herr von Ploetz continues to justify his reputation of chief agitator of the agrarian league. He has written a reply to the emperor's Koenigsberg speech in order to prove the nobility's right to oppose the emperor's policy without being charged with disloyalty. Despite repeated declarations, however, Ploetz gives signs that he may climb down. For instance, he closes his last open letter with the words:

"Our king ought not to be left for a moment without the assurance of our confidence. He ought to remain unweakened and steadfast in his power and high prerogatives. The landlords and noblemen of Prussia will always be firmly loyal to him in every danger that may threaten the throne." The Deutsche Zeitung, a new agrarian organ in Berlin, harps on the theme that monarchic sentiment is dying out in Germany. The quickness and number of the loyal responses which the emperor's Koenigsberg speech has elicited seems to disprove its argument completely.

"After a most thorough trial and receiving the most gratifying results, I am glad to testify in favor of

BOVININE

The Original Raw Food

"By it I was brought up with remarkable rapidity from a long siege of nervous prostration."

All Physicians Endorse It.

Bovinine is an ideal food—an unequalled nutrient, is palatable to the most delicate stomach. Alone it will sustain strength for weeks. It makes new blood. It contains the largest amount of nutrition in the smallest possible bulk.

For sale at all druggists.

CIRCULATION EXCEEDS THAT OF ALL OTHER PLAINFIELD DAILIES COMBINED.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 17, 1894

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

During the visit of Stephen A. Ginna to Montreal his friends are conducting a quiet canvass with his nomination as the next mayor in view. Meanwhile, the friends of Charles J. Fisk are not inactive.

Republicans of the district are clamoring for nominations which can only end in the honor of defeat by their Democratic opponents. The latest local suggestions are ex-Senator Benjamin A. Vail for Assembly from Union County, and both ex-Senator Vail and Sheriff George Kyte for Congress.

Some of the New York papers were misled into printing this morning a thrilling story of how four young men of Plainfield fell down a 100-foot cliff, how two of them were fatally injured, and how the other two and their horse mysteriously vanished. The yarn was based on an ordinary and not serious accident truthfully told in another part of this paper. Credit for the charming fiction is due to the staff of the Republican ring organ, which is accustomed to seeing through glasses darkly.

The New York Herald remarks that "There is one thing the Democrats of New Jersey must not forget in making up their minds as to how they will vote in the next election, and that is that the next United States Senate will probably be Republican or Democratic, according as the Senator who is to be chosen by the next Legislature at Trenton is a Republican or a Democrat."

Since Jersey's voice is to settle the National political complexion, New Jersey Democrats have a plain duty before them, and that is to stick by the party nominees in the forthcoming election.

While the Republicans claim to possess all the morality belonging to politics, some of their "very good" and prominent leaders have presided over and countenanced "fairs" damaging to morals and indecent in their methods. The Waverly fair was presided over by Elisha B. Gaddis, one of the Republican leaders of Essex County, and we all know that it was a disgrace to the State. Gambling was allowed all over the grounds, and the exhibitions of beauty unadorned compared favorably with a model artist exhibition of a past age. The Somerset County agricultural fair was, if anything, even more revolting than the Waverly indecency, and we find that Lewis A. Thompson, a Republican "reformer" of the New Jersey Senate, licensed all kinds of fakirs, three-card monte men and gentlemen who manipulate balls under cups to rob farmers and jays; bets on races were publicly made at licensed booths, and half-clad females danced indecorously before the spectators. The Waverly and the Somerville fairs seemed to be conducted this year on a plane to drive decent people from them in the future.

The Bazar Sale.

The bazar sale at Edsall's Saturday night was a great success. The idea originated with Mr. Edsall, Jr., and under his especial direction was carried into effect. He and the young men in the store who aided him are deserving of much praise for the artistic skill displayed in the arrangement of the whole affair. The sale will be continued during this week with changes and new attractions.

The booths are beautifully decorated, and presided over by attractive and attentive young ladies. The public has a great chance for both bargains and enjoyment in this sale.

Shot His Homeless Assailant.

Engineer Herbert, stationed at the Greenbrook tanks, was attacked at an early hour yesterday morning by a crowd of tramps who were in search of a lodging-house. In self defence he fired into the crowd, hitting one of them in the left ankle.

The tramp reached Muhlenberg at 9 yesterday morning. He gave his name as George Mullen and said he was a German farmer, 32 years old, who was looking for work. He had no home. Probing for the bullet was unsuccessfully tried.

Fell From a Tree.

Wm. Burke of North Plainfield, aged 27, a machinist whose specialty is working on iron bridges, fell from a tree in Netherwood Saturday morning. He has not been able to work at his trade lately, and was trimming a tree when he lost his balance.

He fell 40 feet, striking on his hands and feet. He was admitted to Muhlenberg Hospital where it was found that no bones had been broken. He suffered principally from the shock. The patient was much improved today.

MUCH ADO ABOUT LITTLE

SAMPLE OF THE EX-CITY CLERK'S SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

A Saturday Night Carousal Which Results in Damage Chiefly to the Record of a Ring-Organ Writer.

A drunken Saturday night carousal ended at daybreak yesterday morning in a driving smash-up in which four young Plainfield men participated.

Stories reached town early in the day that a carriage had fallen from the embankment by Wilson's stone-crusher. Rumors of the results varied, from the tale of a man who was found unconscious to the stronger yarn of the killing of a horse, a man and three women. A ring-organ reporter fed his imagination and wired to a New York news bureau the exaggerated sensational story, full of false "details" which the morning papers published today.

The whole affair started Saturday evening when Walter H. Leland of Central avenue, Thomas Roldy of Spooner avenue and William Dean of Summit avenue met in a North Plainfield saloon. A ride to the dance at Pedeflou's hotel over the mountain was proposed, and as Dean works for S. G. Taynor, who was in Brooklyn over Sunday, he was selected to furnish the horse. Leland said he had a wagon.

Constable Taynor's white horse was led from the barn and taken to the stables of Tinsmith George H. Leland, brother of Walter. The owner was home in bed, but the men managed to enter without a key. They hitched Taynor's horse to Leland's light business wagon and drove to Pedeflou's. It was on the return trip that the accident happened.

Roldy thinks it was about 1 when they left the dance-house, but it was daybreak when they reached Wilson's stone-cracker by the road in the notch this side of Demler's hotel, so his memory must have been faulty. The road slopes towards Plainfield there at an opposite angle to the wagon track which turns down the side to the crusher. At the upper end the road is perhaps 40 feet above the narrow driveway and thence the height decreases to the south until the road meets on the level.

According to the story told by the men, who were by this time in an advanced stage of intoxication, the breeching-straps broke as they started down the slope. Then the girth parted and the shafts went up above the horse's head. The driver pulled the wrong rein steadily and crowded the whole outfit against the guard rail which marks the west side of the road. One of the posts supporting the 2x10 strip was torn from the ground, two lengths gave way and the outfit dropped to the lower road, about 12 feet beneath at this point.

No one jumped. The wagon landed nearly upside down with the two rear wheels in the air. The shafts and harness alone were broken. Dean found himself under one front wheel with Leland under the other. Gulick was beneath the body of the wagon, while Roldy had been thrown out, landing on his back on the stone road. Dean was uninjured, Gulick's face was covered with blood from cuts, Leland felt a slight pain in his back, and Roldy's back was bruised and bleeding in several places.

Dean pulled Leland away from the wheel. He was so drunk that he went to sleep at once where Dean left him. The driver gathered up the harness and led the horse home. The animal's only injury was a slight scratch on the neck. Leland and Gulick awoke later and went off home to sober up, promising to send a hack for Roldy.

At 7:30 W. M. Demler saw Roldy lying where he had been abandoned, and brought the news to Tinsmith Leland. Walter was found asleep in his bed. A rig was hitched up and Roldy was carried to his boarding-place, 209 Spooner avenue.

Dr. Simpson was called and found that Roldy's injuries were slight. His back was somewhat bruised, but no bones were broken. He will return to work in Scott's tomorrow. On a similar spree in Newark some time ago he broke three ribs. Walter Leland had a mustard plaster applied to his back and went to bed. Gulick's cuts do not trouble him much. Dean cleaned the horse and mended the harness this morning.

Sewerage Contract Signed.

The sewerage contract was signed by the city and Cook & Co., Saturday afternoon. Work will probably be begun Thursday.

Cook & Co. announce that Plainfield men will have the preference. They should apply for work along the line of ditches. The wages will be $1.10 to $1.50 per day.

—A number of the children of the Saengerbund members spent yesterday afternoon in Taylor's grove on the mountain. Ice-cream and candy were freely served and the children were amused with running races and games. A few who remained late were drenched by the storm.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A SUNDAY-SCHOOL RALLY.

Supt. Murray Gives a Realistic Illustration of How Sin Is Washed Away.

"Rallying Day" services were held in the Chapel of the Crescent Avenue Church Sunday-school yesterday afternoon to mark the change in the sessions of the school from morning to afternoon. Supt. William D. Murray conducted the services, H.O. Newman taking charge of the primary department in the place of I. C. Pierson.

In opening the superintendent read Psalm XXIV. After silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer, "Praise the Lord in Song" was sung. The Creed, the Gloria, and the Ten Commandments followed, and then the primary scholars sang "Birds Are Singing, Flowers Are Springing". John IV:1-42 was read responsively, and after all present had responded to the roll-call, D. E. Titsworth rendered very sweetly the solo "Thy Word Is a Lamp Unto My Path, O Lord".

Rev. Dr. W. B. Richards led in prayer and Rev. Cornelius Schenck made an address. His subject was "Jesus' Life from His Birth to His Talk with Nicodemus". He spoke very effectively on the period between the "generation of Christ and the regeneration of man". "Galilee, Bright Galilee" was the next song.

The lesson, on the woman of Samaria, was taught by Superintendent Murray. He explained how "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him, shall never thirst". He effectively introduced a chemical experiment to illustrate the redemption of man. He showed a pure liquid which represented the soul. Mixed with another which he called sin it became black. Then a red liquid, which he explained represented Christ's blood, was poured into the black, turning the soul's symbol back to its original purity. At the close of the lesson Mr. Titsworth rendered another solo and the services closed with the singing of "I'm Satisfied with Jesus Here".

CHURCH CHIMES.

By request, Rev. C. E. Herring will repeat his sermon of yesterday evening next Sunday night.

The attendance at the Plainfield churches last night during the terrific thunderstorm varied from 13 to 102.

Robert Clark, Jr., tenor of Trinity Church choir, very acceptably filled the position as organist at the first part of the morning session yesterday, until the arrival of A. L. Titsworth, who was unavoidably detained.

In conversation with a Plainfield man last week, Evangelist Dwight L. Moody said: "Of course I know Rev. Ralph Gilliam. He is one of my young men, and is exceedingly bright and earnest, and does good work wherever he goes. I am sure you will like him." Mr. Gilliam will commence his work in Plainfield Thursday evening at Hope Chapel. Meetings will be held every afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Stephen Matthews, National Organizer of the "British Woman's Temperance Association" of London, and a coworker with Lady Henry Somerset, will deliver an address at the W. C. T. U. County Convention to be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist Church tomorrow evening. The morning session begins at 10, afternoon at 2, and evening at 8. All are cordially invited to attend each and every session.

Policeman's Strange Death.

The body of Policeman Christian Otto in full uniform, was found this morning at 2:30 on Washington avenue and Pearl street, Elizabeth, at the foot of an electric light pole. Otto evidently had been leaning against the pole, or had been up the pole trying to arrange the wires, when he received a shock that caused him to fall to the ground.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Crescent Board of Governors will meet this evening.

The track was but little damaged by the rain last night.

Twenty Crescent cyclers made an enjoyable trip to Clinton yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Page is considering the acceptance of a call to a parish in Massachussets.

Monte Scott returned from Hackettstown Saturday with one first and three second prizes. Barnett won a first on Manhattan Field.

—The condition of Augustus Rose, the lockjaw patient of Muhlenberg Hospital, fluctuates continually, making his prospects for recovery uncertain.

—Expressman A. B. Hoagland put a new Herring-Hall safe into the law offices of W. S. Angleman, corner of Front street and Park avenue this morning.

—Mrs. Woodruff, agent of the Organized Aid Association, today took to New York the Canadian family that was stranded here, the daughter having procured work.

—Car No. 2 was saved from collision by the quickness of Motorman Higgins. Clifton's cow got on the track at Front street near Liberty, and Mr. Higgins stopped the car just in time to prevent crashing into her.

—A. D. Thompson began today to put a new front in the end of his building occupied by the Postal Telegraph Company. The operator was put back to temporary quarters in the rear of the office. The telegraph company has not yet secured a new home.

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, and Stomach—Life Made Miserable by Headache, Pain and Cough.

Lida McCandless, No. 1230 South Thirtyfifth street, Philadelphia, in conversation with a reporter, said: "I had a very bad case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, with frequent headaches, pain under the shoulder blades and a horrible cough. I had to keep my mouth constantly open day and night to breathe, and felt as miserable as one possibly could. I was advised to try Munyon's Catarrh Cure. I am happy to say that from the beginning I felt relieved and continued to grow better until now I am entirely well. I am so thankful that this remarkable remedy was ever discovered, and hope others will take advantage of my experience."

Have you Catarrh? Are you willing to investigate a treatment that cures Catarrh by removing the cause? If so ask your druggist for a 25c bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle. 9 17 m tf

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

ELEGANT EDGEWOOD.

CHARLES HYDE'S HOME THE SCENE OF SOCIAL DELIGHT.

Al Fresco Reception to Budding Daughter and Home-Coming Bride—The Man in the Harvest Moon Looked Down and Envied.

Back from the Summer colonies and vacation travels, Plainfield's society people gathered Saturday afternoon and evening at "Edgewood", the beautiful home of Charles Hyde. The event was a garden party given by Mr. and Mrs. Hyde in honor of their daughter, Miss Edith Hyde, who made her debut, and of the bride of their son, Mrs. Francis de Lacy Hyde.

Nothing that could contribute in any way to the enjoyment of the affair was lacking. The weather was perfect for a lawn reception. There is no need of extra preparation for such an occasion at "Edgewood". The grounds, laid out as a model of the highest art in landscape gardening, awake alike the daily admiration of the passers-by and the delight of the recipients of the generous hospitality of the residents. Where others would have called in the artificial aid of florist and decorator, Mr. Hyde left his place in its natural glory, simply adorning the broad verandas of the house with a few vases of cut flowers from the garden.

Those who received were Mrs. Charles Hyde, Mrs. Francis de Lacy Hyde, Miss Edith Hyde and Miss Edith Smalley. The afternoon was spent very enjoyably in the parlors and about the grounds. Lander's orchestra from New York was in attendance, on the lawn. In the evening the young people danced on a large tented pavilion which had been erected beside the brook. The moonlight was glorious, the scene was one of loveliness; and with dancing, promenading and feasting the hours were found to pass away too quickly.

The guests included: Col and Mrs Mason W Tyler, Mr and Mrs J K Myers, Mr and Mrs Fred Yates, Rev Dr W R Richards, Mr and Mrs J W Jackson, Rev C E Herring, Miss Patsey Herring, Mrs Warren Ackerman, Mr and Mrs Marion S Ackerman, Mrs Hervey Ackerman, Mr and Mrs Rowland Cox, Mr and Mrs Pierre Mali, Mr and Mrs B A Hegeman, Jr., Mr and Mrs Charles Opdyke, the Misses Opdyke, A A Tilney, Mrs Lawrence Myers, Mrs Frederick G Mead, the Misses Morgan, Mrs Clark, Miss Edith Clark, Mr and Mrs J L Ludlum, Miss Carrie Vail, Mr and Mrs Charles A Matthews, Peter Matthews, Mr and Mrs Elliott H Bowen, the Misses Bowen, Miss Middleditch, Mr and Mrs L G Timpson, Mr and Mrs George Schoonmaker, Miss Emma Schoonmaker, Mr and Mrs F H Andrews, Miss Gertrude Andrews, Mr and Mrs James R Joy, Mr and Mrs Morgan S Taylor, the Misses Taylor, Dr and Mrs Ellis W Hedges, Dr and Mrs James Hayes, Miss Hayes, Mr and Mrs A D Shepard, Miss J H Shepard, Miss Daisy Shepard, Mr and Mrs George W. Rogers, Charles Morris.

A Cruel Blow.

One of Plainfield's pleasantest popular drug clerks was commissioned Saturday to take a package to the home of Mr. Hyde. Knowing that the lawn fete was in progress, and being desirous of making a good impression, he procured a saddle horse, put on his Sunday-off-duty clothes, rode in style through the grounds, and left the package at the house. All eyes were on him, and he was proud as a giraffe with two heads. What, therefore, was his chagrin when a little later the pharmacy proprietor received a telephone message "If your coachman hasn't put up the horse, please let him come up again with another package."

A PLAINFIELD GRADUATE.

Rapid Rise of Crescent-Player Turner in the Expert League Ranks.

(From The Philadelphia Sporting Life.)

Out of about every eight or ten players which National League clubs try is found one such a jewel as is George Turner, of the Philadelphias. He is one of the best outfielders and batsmen in the country, and his reputation is not yet fully established. He came up out of obscurity by the rarest chance. Season before last, when the Philadelphias were in desperate and immediate need of a fielder, Jack Sharrott told his manager, Harry Wright, that there was a young fellow named Turner, a member of a local club at Plainfield, N. J., with whom he had played, and whom he would like to see get a chance in a big team. Mr. Wright was in a position to try anybody just then, and he sent for Turner. The young man impressed the veteran manager favorably in his first game, and since then his standing as an "A1" player has been fully established. Queer, however, that Sharrott, who recommended him, is not in the profession now. There are lots of Turners scattered around the country, most of whom will never be heard of because they'll not get an opportunity to show the stuff of which they are made.

Inimitable Gus at the Head.

Of all the dialect plays produced since the days of Emmet none has achieved such substantial and enduring success as "Yon Yonson", a Swedish dialect comedy which portrays a phase of contemporaneous life quite new to the stage and which will be seen in Music Hall Thursday night.

Gus Heege, the creator of Swedish dialect comedy, is the author and chief actor of "Yon Yonson". The central figure is a raw Swedish emigrant, and the plot hinges upon his career in the lumber camps of the Northwest. The character is well drawn, and Heege makes a really artistic creation of it. His rapid rise from the uncouth woodsman to a man of affluence and eminent respectability, and the discovery of his long-lost sister in an accomplished young society girl, are the principal dramatic events of the play.

The scenery, of which there is a complete equipment, commands special attention. The reproduction of a lumber camp and the exciting log-jam scene are faithful pictures, and the sensational breaking of the jam is thrilling to a degree. The company is a capable one, and embraces several people familiar to local theatre-goers. A special feature of the performance is the appearance of the Lumbermen's Quartette in native woodsmen's costume.

Inter-State Fair at Trenton Sept. 24 to 28.

The great Inter-State Fair at Trenton grows more extensive and important each succeeding year, and the exhibition to be held from Sept. 24 until the 28th, inclusive, promises to be unusually attractive and comprehensive. Every department is replete with interesting and instructive sights. The blooded stock is particularly fine and the daily programme of races contains the speediest classes obtainable. Circus acts of rare merit and daring, and vaudeville entertainments of all kinds will be presented.

The large purses offered for supremacy in the manifold species of exhibits and contests insure earnest efforts in the endeavor to prove superiority and excellence in the various departments.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, as is its yearly custom on this occasion, will sell excursion tickets at greatly reduced rates from many of its principal stations within a wide radius, and special trains over the New York, Belvidere and Amboy Divisions will be run direct to the grounds. The tracks of this company are the only ones within three miles. Extensive preparations have been made by both the management of the fair and the railroad company for the accommodation and the convenience of the thousands who will not fail to attend an affair of such increasing importance.

BASEBALL.

Death of Mrs. Bonney.

Charles Bonney has the deep sympathy of his friends in the loss of his wife Susan. The funeral will take place from the Mt. Olive Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon at 3.

—The bursting of a pneumatic tire on Park avenue Saturday alarmed people momentarily with the belief that someone was shot.

—While E. Frank Vail was driving the surrey belonging to his father, J. T. Vail, the popular real-estate agent, past the Hotel Albion, the horse stumbled and fell. The horse and carriage were uninjured by the fall, but before the animal could rise the bystanders were forced to strip him of harness.

CURES OTHERS

For Severe, Lingering Coughs, Weak Lungs, Bleeding from Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption, in its early stages, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a sovereign remedy. It not only cures the cough but also builds up the strength and flesh of those reduced below a healthy standard by "Wasting Diseases." Will not make fat folks more corpulent.

B. F. WILEY, of Box Elder, Converse Co., Wyo., writes: "I had bronchitis for twenty years and over, and I could not work without coughing so hard as to take all my strength away. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and give you my word and honor that I can do any work that there is to do on my 'ranch' without coughing. I have not taken any of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' for a year."

MR. WILEY.

WALZ WINS.

HE'S CHAMPION OF THE HILLSIDE TENNIS CLUB.

Defeats Fish in the Finals—Till Next Tournament He Holds the Cup—Inter-Club Games to Come.

Despite the prospects of some fine tennis playing, there was only a small attendance at the completion of the Hillside Tennis Club's championship tournament Saturday afternoon.

One set of the finals, between Carl Walz and Fred K. Fish, Jr., had been played on Labor Day and won by Walz by the score of 8-6, but the match had not been finished on account of the near approach of darkness.

Shortly after 3:30 the contestants tossed for choice of serve, Walz won it and play commenced.

Walz won the first point by Fish returning it out of court and finally won the game, the second game also fell to his share. Neither was playing his game of Labor Day, but seemed afraid to do any active work. Fish suddenly seemed to fall back to his old form and secured a love game on Walz's serve. Two more games now fell to Walz on his superior playing and Fish's continual outs, still they both continued to play a lobbing game instead of the brilliant net play of Labor Day. Fish won the sixth game, making the score 4-2 in Walz's favor. A love game for Walz and the only deuce game of the set for Fish made the score 5-3, and the next game easily went to Walz as Fish repeatedly placed the ball in the net.

After the seven minutes rest allowed the players between the sets the third set was commenced. Fish took a sudden brace, played a lively net game and won the first game without Walz scoring a point. The next game was also lively, Walz winning by two points, but again they fell back into the back-line play and Walz secured the third game. Fish was the winner of the next, and two more unexciting games were won by Walz, the score being 4-2 in his favor. Another lively deuce game was won by Fish on his swift and well-placed serves. This was the last of the active playing and Walz won the last two games easily, giving him the set 6-3 and also the match and tournament.

Immediately after the game was concluded, the handsome silver cup was presented. Several sets of doubles finished the afternoon's tennis.

The summary of the strokes of the two sets of the afternoon is given below:

FIRST SET.

Fish	vs.	Walz
6	Aces by placed balls	11
10	" " outs	14
6	" " nets	5
0	" " double faults	0
22	Total aces made	30

SECOND SET.

Fish	vs.	Walz
7	Aces by placed balls	5
5	" " outs	15
8	" " nets	8
0	" " double faults	0
20	Total aces made	28

The scores of the three sets won by Walz were 8 6, 6 3, 6-3, thus giving him the cup for one year. The championship tournament will be played next year and the winner will play Walz to see whose name shall be put on the cup for '95. Walz would have played Simmonds, as former winner of the cup, had he still remained a member of the club.

Next Saturday afternoon, the last tea of the season will be given, and the last round of the inter-club tourney, between teams from the Hillside Tennis Club, the Bergen Point Tennis Club and the Jersey City Tennis Club, will be played. Jersey City now leads with four matches won and none lost; the Hillside Tennis Club is second, two won, two lost; and the Bergen Point Tennis Club last, none won and four lost.

EXPLODED IN HIS POCKET.

A Prospective Quiet Smoke Rudely Shattered.

George H. Leland of 128 Central avenue went on a fishing trip Saturday afternoon with his father-in-law, Samuel Smith of 825 South Second street, and met with an accident which came near causing his death.

The two went to New Market, and after catching a ten-pound carp drove on to Green brook. They were fishing from the bank when Mr. Leland decided to enjoy a smoke. He took a match from his pocket.

In doing this he scratched the head of the match against a cartridge which was in the same pocket. The match ignited, and the cartridge exploded with such a report that Mr. Smith, who was a short distance away, thought that some one had shot at them.

Mr. Leland's eyes were blinded for a time by the powder, His right arm and hand were caught, and there were three slight gashes in his breast. He returned home and was attended by Dr. Tomlinson.

The cartridge was one and one-half inches long. It was of a kind used by Mr. Leland in exploding dynamite at the bottom of wells.

Mismated Parents Squabble Over Children.

Charles Frey and his wife separated some time ago with a $5 weekly alimony understanding. Frey left his wife with their two small children in his tailor shop, 671 South Second street, and went away.

He returned Saturday evening and met his wife. He claims she threw the children out doors. At any rate, he took the infants to the City Hotel. Not finding the City Judge he went to his home on Grant avenue with them.

Then Mrs. Frey came down town and Frey left his home again also. Mrs. Frey jumped into George Feller's wagon, hurried out to her husband's house and regained possession of the children during his absence.

—D. S. Roberts has decided to retire from business, because of his poor health, and he offers to dispose of his large and flourishing livery stable at a bargain to a wide-awake man.

OLLIE LACKS THE PULL

As a Matter of Fact, Only One Application for Rooms Was Received by Proprietor Miller as a Result of Teall's Society Canvass.

(Oliver Sumner Teall, in New York World Interview.)

"To show you how carefully I study things before I undertake to carry them out, I will tell you why I tried to organize a house party for Netherwood for the present autumn. I have studied the people of New York in all grades as carefully as a man can study anything. I have lived with, worked with and played with all classes of the community, and it is my desire to be the best posted man in New York as to what New Yorkers will want and what they will not want. I believe that New Yorkers want an early Spring and late Autumn resort, within an hour of the city; something that will combine the advantages of Tuxedo and Lenox, and that they will support such a place. I am not sure, however, and while we have had plans drawn for a $250,000 hotel, to be built in Westchester County, a quarter of a million dollars is a large sum to invest to find out if New Yorkers desire such a resort.

"It was with the object of finding out whether there was a demand for such a house party for Netherwood during the coming Autumn; and while we did not secure the necessary number to justify the hotel proprietor in keeping his house open for us, I am not prepared to state that there is not such a demand; for the hard times of the present season and our lateness in starting may have been the cause of our failure."

Miss Herron and Miss Crane have returned to their home in Cranford after a visit with Mrs. Lane.

A musical and literary entertainment, followed by a chowder supper, will be given in the M. E. Church Thursday evening.

George Richardson spends all his spare time riding his wheel. He says that next year he is going to purchase a 19-pound wheel and go into training on the track.

The New York Herald said yesterday of Dunellen's experience with the new school law: "The village of Dunellen is in Piscataway township. The residents of the village are principally New York commuters, and for several years they have maintained a fine graded school, raising a large special tax each year for that purpose. Now that their school has been made a part of the whole Piscataway district they see no way by which it can be maintained at its former standard. The taxpayers of other portions of the township, who are in the majority, will not tax themselves to give the Dunellenites extra school privileges, and the Dunellen taxpayers are opposed to an extra tax if it is to be divided among all the schools in the district. The outcome will probably be that Dunellen will take advantage of the section of the new law which permits boroughs to form districts of themselves and will cut loose from the township."

The Harvest Moon.

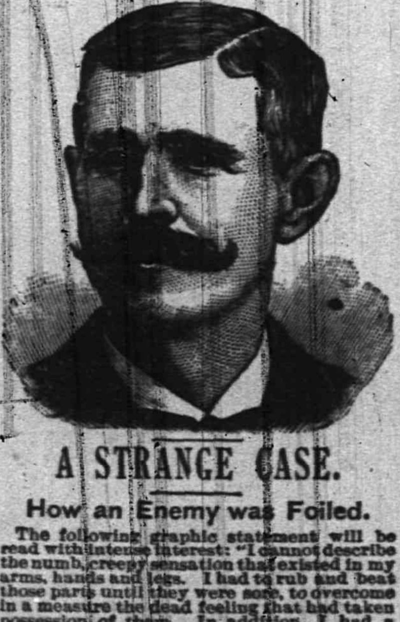
The moon which fulled Friday, being the full moon nearest the autumnal equinox, is the famous harvest moon that always awakens so much interest as the token of the heavens' sympathy with the toils of the husbandman.

When the moon is very far north, as she is at this period, the retardation of her rising from day to day is at a minimum, and for several successive nights she rises early in the east and very nearly at the same hour. She then coasts along the eastern horizon, lending her friendly light to harvesters who have to ply their work after nightfall.

The spectacle is well calculated to interest and cheer all who watch the heavens.

Training Tells.

The Elizabeth base-ball team that defeated the N. J. A. C. 3 to 0 Saturday was largely composed of old-time Crescents, including McIndoe, Lufbery and Daley. The New Jerseys were shut out for the first time this year.



A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy' feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

THERE is Health in the Wheel.

Firm muscles, good complexion, and cheerful spirits are the result of plenty of out-door exercise and sunshine. Cycling is the popular sport of the day.

The 1894 Columbias are a realization of the ideal in bicycle construction — a triumph of American skill and enterprise. Constantly advancing in the line of progress, Columbias still maintain their proud position as the standard bicycles of the world — unequalled, unapproached.

Fatal Stroke of Lightning.

Shannonville, Ont., Sept. 17.—During a violent thunder storm Saturday night lightning struck the telegraph office, demolished the instruments and severely injured Miss Earle, the operator. The same flash struck a buggy standing in front of the office, instantly killing the occupant, Mr. Lloyd, of this place. The horse was killed.

British Bark Abandoned.

London, Sept. 17.—The steamer Maryland, just arrived from Baltimore, had on board the crew of the British bark Capenhurst, Capt. Jones, which sailed from Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 23 for Liverpool. The Capenhurst was abandoned at sea. She carried a crew of twelve men.

A Wealthy German Shoots Himself.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 17.—Charles Krebs, aged 52 years, a prominent hardware merchant of Union Square, this city, shot himself in the head last evening in a fit of despondency. The doctors say he cannot live. Krebs is wealthy and is prominent in German society.

Death of Gen. Logan's Sister.

WE TAKE PLEASURE

In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Tuesday, Sept. 22 to Saturday, Sept. 28. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, ½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks

We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gentlemen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up.

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

To the Public: I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I ... constantly to get relief from ...ings, but to no purpose until ...an, a friend of mine, who had ...ured by Dr. Lighthill of the same ...le, recommended him to me, and ...ffected a complete and radical cure ...y case also, and earned my lifelong ...atitude.

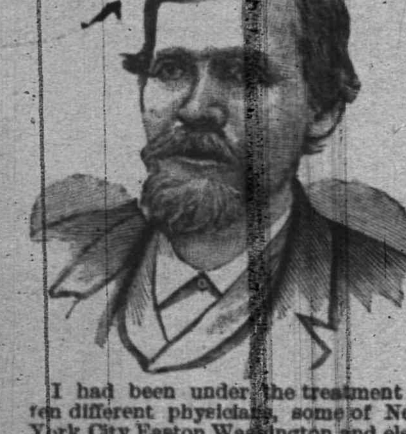
JOHN CORSON.

THE CASE OF MR. PETER G EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

To the Sick, Suffering and Afflicted: For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices, for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time, and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

ON THE FIRST BALLOT

Morton the Republican Choice for Governor.

Little Doubt That He Will Be Nominated at Saratoga To-day—Fassett Still in the Race—Wadsworth Evidently in the Lead for Lieutenant-Governor—Many Small Booms.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 18.—All the big and little leaders of the republican party of the empire state are here and ready for to-day's battle in convention hall. The visitors have filled the big hotels with surging crowds and added to the excitement of the occasion, without producing any material effect on the situation. Mr. Morton still is so far in advance of all other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination that he is almost certain of being nominated on the first ballot. For the second place a battle royal is being waged, and while there is supposed to be a quiet influence at work for Congressman Wadsworth there is no certainty that he will be the choice of the convention for lieutenant governor. Mr. Platt emphatically denies extending any aid to Mr. Wadsworth's canvass, but the anti-Platt men insist that the congressman is the Platt candidate. They assert that the importance of the second man on the ticket with a man of Mr. Morton's age has not been overlooked by Mr. Platt, and are fighting with some show of success to compass Mr. Wadsworth's defeat. At any rate Mr. Wadsworth's chances are not so bright as they were yesterday. The drift this morning is toward Senator Charles T. Saxton, and should it continue the ticket will be Morton and Saxton instead of Morton and Wadsworth.

The number of small booms is increasing instead of growing less. J. Sloat Fassett is in the race to stay, and will be Mr. Morton's most formidable opponent. His followers claim 200 votes for him but they are over sanguine. The other names that will be presented are those of Cornelius N. Bliss, of New York, General Stewart L. Woodford, of Kings, Gen. Daniel Butterfield and Judge Leslie W. Russell, of Canton. Cornelius W. Bliss is expected to draw at least thirty votes from New York city and vicinity. Gen. Stewart L. Woodford's friends claim that he has been gaining votes all day and they assert that he will have forty on the first ballot.

Aside from Wadsworth and Saxton there are a host of candidates for the second place on the ticket. Mayor Green, of Binghamton, and Mayor Aldridge, of Rochester, are still in the race and hopeful. Ex-Collector Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse, is being boomed by the Onondaga delegates. Major A. C. Brundage, of Steuben, Commodore P. Vedder, of Cattaragus, and Arthur C. Wade, of Chautauqua, are working industriously for votes. Senator Coggeshall, with fifty enthusiastic supporters from Oneida, arrived and launched his boom for lieutenant governor. He seemed as confident of his chances as any one in the race.

For judge of the court of appeals Judge Haight, of Buffalo, still appears to have the best chance. The other men talked of for the judgeship are Judge S. A. Kellogg, of Plattsburgh, Jesse Johnson, of Kings, Irving G. Vann, of Syracuse, and Pardon S. Williams, of Watertown.

Orange, Sullivan and Rockland, comprising the Seventeenth congressional district, met and decided to support Morton and Saxton. No action was taken on judge of court of appeals, but many of the delegates will support Jesse Johnson.

To Avoid Submarine Torpedoes.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The bureau of navigation is informed that the Japanese government has given notice that American and other vessels entering Nagasaki harbor or the gulf of Tokio, in order to avoid torpedoes must hoist the "M" flag of the international code of signals when they will be met by a pilot vessel bearing the "N" flag, having on board Japanese naval officers who will pilot them to port. Steam vessels are to give three long blasts of steam whistles. All vessels bound for Yokohoma are to stop for pilot at the line between Iseyama and Kokubono-Hana, and all vessels bound for Nagasaki are to stop at the line between Hirase and Nikkose.

Tattered Battleflags Returned.

Boston, Sept. 18.—In accordance with a request of the Massachusetts legislature, there has just been received from the war department at Washington the tattered battleflags of the 15th, 19th, 23d and 58th regiments of Massachusetts Volunteer infantry, captured by the enemy before Petersburg between May and August 1, 1864, and afterward received by the war department.

Fatal Runaway at West Chester, Pa.

West Chester, Pa., Sept. 18.—A pair of horses ran away with a pleasure party including James Burns and James Criswell, of Atglen, and the Misses May, Emma and Nellie McCarter, of Philadelphia. The young people were thrown out, Burns was instantly killed and May McCarter fatally injured. The others were but slightly hurt.

Erie County's Prosecutor Resigns.

Albany, Sept. 18.—The resignation of George T. Quinby as district attorney of Erie county has been handed to Gov. Flower. Mr Quinby states ill-healtah as the ground of his resignation. He is a republican and was elected in November, 1892, for a three years term.

Sabbath Home for Strangers.

PEARY WILL PUSH AHEAD.

The Arctic Explorer Disappointed, But Not a Bit Discouraged.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The following is from a special correspondent at St. Johns, N. F.: Lieutenant Peary, though disappointed with the results of his expedition up to the time that the relief party left, is not a bit discouraged, and has still excellent prospects of success. The supplies for the journey that he will take northward are all on the ice cap, some more than a hundred miles inland. Lieut. Peary will also undertake a complete survey and mapping of the coast from cape York to cape Alexander, thus adding more than 500 miles to the coast line that has already been surveyed. The survey of Melville bay has been completed by Lieut. Peary. It is accurate in every detail, and eliminates that factor from the Arctic problem.

Lieut. Peary's departure from the Falcon on Aug. 28 for a second winter in Falcon harbor with Lee and Henson will become an historic event in polar explorations.

The returning members of the expedition are all in excellent health and anxious to get to their homes as soon as possible, now that their work in the polar regions is over. The summer season has been unusually backward in the north, and consequently the Falcon's voyage was made under very adverse circumstances. The vessel was over 26 days in making the last 50 miles, being put through the ice at a very slow rate. Last year the same distance was covered in eight hours. On some days the ice closed in so thick that it was almost impossible to make any progress at all. The little party was in constant danger, and the vessel escaped serious mishaps only through the ever watchful and careful navigation of the captain and his officers, of whom too much cannot be said in praise. Exploration of Jones' sound and Ellsmore land was prevented by ice. The party had intended to make extensive investigations there, but it was considered unwise, in view of the large amounts of ice that the vessel encountered. The members of the expedition killed eight polar bears, all of them being fine, large specimens.

On her arrival here the Falcon was received with cheers by the officers and sailors on board the British man-of-war Buzzard, and Mrs. Peary and her baby were taken ashore in the captain's launch.

MILLIONAIRE KING'S CASE.

Further Efforts at Newport for His Release from the Asylum.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 18.—A preliminary hearing in the case of Millionaire William H. King vs. George Gordon King and others was heard before the supreme court. Judge Jere Wilson, Madeline Pollard's counsel, appeared for the plaintiff, King, with James Tillinghast, of Providence, and Edward Revry, of Boston, a strong array of legal talent.

King has been confined in an asylum for years, and his friends allege that he is competent to manage his own large estate, and the present action is an appeal from the decision of the probate court of Newport appointing George Gordon King, of New York and Newport, guardian, to succeed David King, deceased. There are a dozen relatives prominent in society who stand as a unit favoring the continued confinement of King, and they are supported by several recent decisions of the Massachusetts courts.

The guardians' counsel moved that Caleb Eaton, of Boston, the next friend, who brings the action of King, be removed from the case as unfit, having before the date of the action received a stroke of apoplexy. There is delay of a month to consider this important question. Among the plaintiff's objections to the appointment of George Gordon King as guardian are that Newport courts have no jurisdiction, as, when incarcerated, William H. King was a resident of New York.

ORDERED TO CHINESE WATERS.

The Machias and Detroit To Be Prepared for Sea at Once.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The first matter that occupied the attention of Secretary Herbert when he returned to the navy department after five weeks' absence was that of reinforcing the Asiatic squadron. He issued preliminary orders to the commanders of the Machias and Detroit to prepare to proceed to China as soon as possible.

The Machias is ordered to be put into commission at the New York navy yard. She will be ready for sea in about three weeks and will sail as soon as she is joined by the Detroit, which is now being repaired at Norfolk. The Machias will carry the Columbian relics which were exhibited at Chicago last year, leaving those belonging to Spain at Cadiz and returning the vatican collection to Rome. These relics will be sent over to New York in charge of a state department official and a marine guard and they will be delivered at their destination with considerable ceremony. The Detroit and Machias are expected to reach China early in December.

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

Several Lives Lost in a Big Fire at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 18.—With the terrible conflagration which destroyed the large Knox warehouses and stables, and in which three brave firemen lost their lives, fresh in the memory of the residents here, a fire alarm at noon called the fire department to the corner of Massachussetts avenue and K street, where a fire had been discovered in the Stumph Bros.' mattress factory. This was soon followed by a general alarm, and in a short time all of the engines in the city were on the scene, but so quickly did the flames spread that the operatives employed on the fourth and fifth floors were obliged to flee to the roof and compelled to jump for their lives before the trucks carrying the long ladders had arrived. Four of these jumped, one of them, James E. Vaughn, sustaining fractures of both legs and internal injuries. He cannot recover. The other three who leaped escaped with more or less injuries, but all will recover. Albert J. Haske has both legs broken and was otherwise severely injured. Arthur E. Bevans was bruised inwardly, and had his wrist sprained, and Harry Bacon was badly bruised.

So rapid and complete was the work of the flames that within less than half an hour from the time of their discovery the greater part of the four walls had fallen in, and within two hours the firemen had pulled down the sole remaining piece of brickwork, over twenty feet in height, which marked the location of the handsome five-story structure which had stood there two hours before.

By this time the spread of the flames had been checked, and at 3 o'clock the work of searching the debris for the bodies of those who were known to have been in the building and not accounted for was begun. So far as could be learned the missing ones are Henry Fowler, Phil Ackerman, Robert Reitzel, William Tennyson, Willis Ashe, a little boy; and one other, an engineer, name unknown, and this includes all of the dead.

It was not long before the searchers found three bodies close together, about fifteen feet from the K street entrance, every particle of clothing burned from them and the bodies charred beyond hope of recognition. It was not until half past 3 that the searchers found another of the missing ones. This body was discovered within a few feet of the engine, on the ground floor, and is presumably that of the engineer. A corps of workmen is still at work and will continue the search until all are found.

The fire, besides destroying the Stumph building, destroyed the Woodruff building, a factory where all of the government files are made, and the falling walls of these buildings crushed Hall & Cammack's furniture house, filled Benner's marble yard and injured the Homeopathic dispensary building on the Massachusetts avenue side. On the K street side, Offenstein's horseshoeing establishment, an oyster depot and a building occupied by a gospel mission, and the Horse and Cattle Food company, suffered demolition.

A Peculiar and Fatal Accident.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 18.—James Madden was fatally injured at the armory last night. Companies I and D had just completed battalion drill, when Private Harvey snapped the trigger of the rifle which he held and the cartridge which it contained exploded, inflicting a slight wound in Capt. Murray's forehead. The bullet then struck a wall and ricocheted, striking Madden, a spectator, in the right temple. He was removed to the hospital, where he died a few hours later. Michael McEnte was struck by a piece of flying brick and received a slight flesh wound in the stomach. Janitor Carr was also injured. Harvey was arrested.

Mine Fever Near Ansonia, Conn.

Ansonia, Conn., Sept. 18.—Allison Morse an old prospector, looking for gold and silver ore on the Housatonic, found the entrance to a mine with abundant evidences that it has been worked for ore. The hole, three feet in diameter, is smooth on its sides as if used, and enters the ground to a depth not yet ascertained. The community at Orange, below Ansonia, is greatly excited.

TO WEAKEN THE UNIONS

Plans of the Fall River Mill Owners Now.

After the Spinners in Particular, Whom They Fear—3 1-16 Demanded for Print Cloth, and a Belief That Prices Will Go to 3 3-4 Within the Next Two Weeks.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 18.—The print cloth market is firm, manufacturers declining to sell for 3 cents, asking 3 1-16 cents for 64x64's. If the demand continues even in a light form, treasurers feel confident that prices will go to 3 3-4 cents in two weeks. It seems now to be the plan of the manufacturers to push the operatives to the wall, and exhaust, as far as possible, the resources of the labor unions, particularly those of the spinners, which are feared by the agents. If in the end it becomes evident that values are "real" and it is not necessary to whittle them down to a lower basis, wages will undoubtedly be restored, but meantime it is proposed to put on the screws and teach the help that they would have been better off had they consented to work for what they could get. "In justice it should be stated that there are agents who do not endorse this plan, who argue that it was a fortunate thing for the corporations that the weavers should remain out. Companies that were carrying a big stock have been especially benefitted. The weekly statements show that if the mills had continued to run full time, there would now be over a million pieces on hand, and in all probability the market would have been below 2 3-8 cents. This basis would have been low enough in all reason and nobody would have been happy. Why, then, the help are to be disciplined for doing something which meets the approval of many stockholders and treasurers is something that has not been explained as yet. There ought to be no great risk in starting on a three-cent market with a surplus of 333,000 pieces, particularly when there was no objection to running for months on a much lower market with from 500,000 to 800,000 pieces on hand. This city practically controls the market for print cloths and can manipulate it at any time without causing distress to labor, provided manufacturers will act together as they are acting now. It is not necessary to stop every factory for a two months' stretch to produce the desired result. The operatives do not need to be tamed. They accepted one cutdown without the slightest hesitation and they cannot be blamed for not accepting another on top of it, in case they think they can improve existing conditions by taking a vacation. They have their labor to sell and they have as much right to sell it on the best terms possible as employers have to prop up the market or curtail product. They also have a right to combine to make the power of their organization as effective as they can, as long as they do not resort to violence."

These quoted remarks were expressed by a large stockholder. He also hopes that a break may be made in the manufacturers' ranks in a few days. Much interest centres in the action to be taken by the Globe Yarn and Sanford Spinning companies, in view of the restoration of wages at the Kerr Thread mill.

FROM ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

An Interesting Dispatch Accidentally Unearthed at Washington.

Washington Sept. 18.— Major Davis, of the war department, who is in charge of the compilation of voluminous papers forming the rebellion record, in the course of his researches the other day among the papers which were supposed to have no historical value came across an interesting dispatch from Abraham Lincoln, which does not seem to have been published or if published has been lost sight of in the stirring events that accompanied it. It is dated 1864, in the very climax of the war, and apparently was intended to be read at a fair in Baltimore, given in aid of the sailors and marines of the navy. The great war president spoke in earnest commendation of the great services and efficiency of the navy. Whether or not the dispatch was received on the occasion for which it was intended there is no evidence in the department to show.

New Mile Cycle Record.

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—Harry Tyler, of Springfield, Mass., at the Pittsburg Athletic club park, broke the mile bicycle record, flying start, on a quarter mile track by making the distance in 2:03 1-5. The time by quarters was as follows: 30; 30 4-5; 30 4-5 and 31 3-5.

No Pay for South Jersey Employes.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—Judge Dallas in the United States circuit court declined to make an order allowing the receivers of the South Jersey railroad to raise $40,000 with which to pay wages due employes.

THINK OF THIS.

ARE YOU ENTIRELY CONTENTED WITH YOURSELF!

There is a Good Reason for Your Present Condition—You Can Better it if You Want To and Very Easily.

There is nothing which keeps people down so much as poor health. If the nerves are weak, if the stomach, liver, bowels, or kidneys fail to do their work properly or for any reason they feel badly they must do something to get well.

Do n't wait and learn by bitter experience how dangerous it is to trifle with disease. Read the peculiarly sad experience of Mrs. Reliance T. Henry, of 224 Duglass street, Indianapolis, Ind., and her wonderful recovery:

"Several years ago I was afflicted with catarrh, female weakness and nervousness I could not sleep nights and was in a fearful condition. My limbs would draw and I would be like ice. I could not lie still a moment and was a wreck. I had no appetite and what little food I ate distressed me.

"I was growing very thin and losing all the color in my face. I came to the conclusion I was going to die, I doctored with the most eminent physicians but received no benefit and was terribly discouraged. I heard of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and the wonderful good it was doing and decided to try it.

MRS. RELIANCE T. HENRY.

"In a short time I began to improve. I used three bottles and could then sleep well, my appetite was good, my food digested all right and my nerves were also strong. I was entirely cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"A friend of mine, Mrs. T. M. Dolan, has also been greatly benefited by this medicine, she says she could not do her own work without it. Another friend, Mrs. Thomas Damon, living on the same street with us, has been wonderfully benefited by it. I advise every one to use this remedy, its effects on the system are marvelous."

The one medicine in the world which will cure you and make you strong and vigorous is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is used and prescribed by physicians everywhere and acknowledged by them to be the best, surest and safest medicine in existence.

Use it and you will be made well. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

LOSES A GOOD JOB.

Architect O'Rourke's Immediate Resignation Demanded.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Secretary Carlisle has asked for the immediate resignation of Jeremiah O'Rourke, of Newark, N. J., supervising architect of the treasury department. O'Rourke was appointed to his present position by Secretary Carlisle shortly after the advent of the present democratic administration, succeeding W. J. Edbrooke, of Chicago. He was one of a dozen prominent applicants and was backed politically by Senators Smith and McPherson, of New Jersey, and in fact by the whole democratic delegation of New Jersey, besides by a number of prominent architects of the north and east.

Several times within the past year he has, in the conduct of his office, had friction with his superior officers and with under officials appointed by Secretary Carlisle. One of the latest misunderstandings, it is said, took place with W. H. Fleming, chief of the law and contract division, of his office. Mr. Fleming is a personal friend of Secretary Carlisle and in this latest office controversy he, it is said, upheld Mr. Fleming. The salary of the place is $4,500 per year, which is one of the best in the treasury service, and the position is one of vast responsibilities.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The Canadian steamship companies, with which the immigration bureau has a contract for the collection of the head tax on immigrants, have agreed to collect the dollar head tax in lieu of fifty cents per head as increased in the recent law passed by congress.

JAPS' GREAT VICTORY

Over 14,000 Chinese Officers and Men Taken.

Twenty-three Hundred Killed in the Battle at Ping-Yang—The Walls of the City Badly Shattered by the Cannonade — Marshal Yamagata Congratulated by the Emperor.

Shanghai, Sept. 18.—A Central News dispatch from Tokio says that four Chinese generals, Tso Paokwoi, Wei Jiukwoi, Ma Yukoweng, and Sei Kinlin, together with 14,500 other officers and men were taken prisoners by the Japanese at Ping-Yang. The Japanese outnumbered the Chinese three to one.

London, Sept. 18.—A Central News dispatch from Seoul says: Within ten hours after the conclusion of the battle the military engineers had completed a field telegraph line from here to Ping-Yang. A large number of prisoners were brought into the Japanese camp from houses in which they had hidden themselves during the final assault. Several thousand Chinese fled toward a valley to the northward, and upon finding their retreat in this direction cut off, surrendered in a body. Ping-Yang is now being searched in the belief that a number of important Chinese officers are hiding in the city under the protection of friendly Koreans.

The number of Chinese who were killed in the battle is estimated at 2,300.

The walls of Ping-Yang were badly shattered by the cannonade which was poured upon them by the guns of the Japanese, but the city itself is only slightly damaged. The Japanese emperor has telegraphed from Hiroshima where the headquarters of the army are located congratulating Marshal Count Yamagata upon the success of the Japanese arms. Marshal Yamagata has issued a general order commending the valor of the troops which they have demonstrated on the battlefield. The order concludes with an expression of pride on the part of Marshal Yamagata at being in command of so brave an army.

A flying column of the Japanese army is pushing northward with the object of taking possession of the mountain passes. At the same time a proclamation has been issued to the Koreans promising full protection if they will refrain from acts of hostility toward the Japanese. On the other hand they are informed that if they give shelter to or engage in traffic with the Chinese they will be summarily dealt with by process of martial law.

A dispatch from Tokio says continuous artillery salutes are being fired in celebration of the victory of the Japanese army. The Shanghai Mercury prints a special edition containing dispatches from the front and in its editorial comments on the result of the battle expresses full appreciation of the crushing defeat and great slaughter of the picked troops comprising the Chinese army engaged. The paper dilates upon the consequences of the disaster to the Chinese arms and expresses well-grounded fear of a speedy Japanese invasion.

The Times will say to-day: "The Japanese army has unquestionably justified the opinion formed by all who had the opportunity of seeing its training and estimating the capacity of its efforts. The Japanese nation has received a triumphant reward for its ambitions in a new and powerful impetus. Henceforth Japan must be reckoned with as a living force in the east, and Englishmen, at least, should be able to view without jealousy or misgiving the uprising of these island people, whose interests are largely their own and with whom they may before long come in closer contact. Japan now occupies a new and unique position among the Asiatic peoples. The great question is whether after their great triumph the Japanese will keep a cool head. Whatever the issue it is certain that Sunday's battle was a great event."

The Chronicle says: "The Japanese army has done its work bravely and brilliantly, but their navy will now have a tough task. If they can defeat the Chinese Pei-Yang squadron the Japanese forces will certainly land in China and reduce Port Arthur and Wei Hai Wai from the land side, and possibly attempt to seize Canton and advance upon Pekin. When this happens the end will not be far off."

Commenting upon the battle between the armies of China and Japan at Ping Yang, the Daily News says: "It is difficult to see how China can recover from the blow which reveals the essential weakness of her military equipment and administration. The powers will probably be content to accept the faits accomplis if the Japanese are wise enough to show moderation and a just sense of their position."

London, Sept. 18.—The Graphic in an article under the caption "The Chinese Sedan" comments on the Ping-Yang battle at length. The Japanese, the article says, have managed their campaign with a grasp of military science and soldierly ability deserving of the utmost credit.

The Operator Blamed.

Boston, Sept. 18.—A full report of the inquest held on the bodies of the three trainmen of the Fitchburg railroad who lost their lives in the Hoosac tunnel on the night of Sept. 9, confirms the conclusions arrived at immediately after the disaster, which were that Operator Hodgkins, who was the telegrapher at the western portal, failed to report the entrance to Operator Crosier, stationed at the eastern portal, of either of the freight trains that afterward came together.

1,500 Miners Resume Work.

Pittsburg, Sept. 18.—The 1,500 miners employed by the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company, at Turtle Creek, Plum Creek and Sandy Creek have returned to work at a 55 cent rate per ton, after being on strike since April 21.

Strikers Gain Their Demands.

Bennington, Vt., Sept. 18.—The strike at Holden Leonard & Co. has been settled, the firm giving the employees the 10 per cent. advance asked for. This action was made necessary by the number of orders on hand.

HOPE FOR DYSPEPTICS.

A NATURAL FOOD THAT DOES NOT REQUIRE DIGESTION.

THE WAY IT IS DONE.

How Mixing With Fruit Acids Digests Food Before it is Even Taken Into the Mouth.

Natural foods are as a rule insoluble. They must be dissolved before they can be absorbed.

Digestion is the dissolving of food in our mouth, stomach and intestines. It is done by special ferments prepared by special organs.

A great deal of energy is used up in digestion. Well people can spare the energy sick people cannot. People who have not sufficient energy suffer from indigestion.

It is plain that Paskola, which is an artificially digested food, will save a sick person a great deal of energy.

Artificial digestion is the dissolving of food outside the body by the same ferments that dissolve it inside the body. Paskola is a fattening food made of grains and fruit that has been digested in this way. It also aids in the digestion of other food.

Sick people need all their energy to get well; they should take Paskola. Thin people spend their energy in business or other cares and worry. Paskola will make them fat without giving their digestive organs any work.

Paskola is an ideal natural fattening food. It is more. It is a natural tonic food that does not create false new energy but helps you to husband what you have.

Any one who reads the thankful words which follow will be convinced of the surpassing worth of this great artificially digested food:

Miamisville, Ohio, August 16, 1894.

Dear Friends: And you have indeed been friends to me as you would be convinced if you could have seen me last Summer at this time and see me now. For three years I have been treated by the best doctors in Indiana and Ohio. I would get relief for a while, but only to get worse again. When I commenced to take Paskola I did not think that it would do me any good, and had made up my mind to quit taking medicine and let Nature take its course, when one of your little books was thrown in my way, and I asked my husband if I could try it, he is surprised with the result. I have taken four bottles and today I never felt better in my life. I do not know how much I have gained in flesh, but every one says I look so much better.

I have advertised it well here and several have tried it, and are much pleased. I can eat anything I want and sleep at night like a log. I cannot say enough of Paskola and also of the tablets. They are just grand. I wish I could convince every one of its merits; they would certainly use it.

I remain your friend,
Mrs. Fred. Groves.

You can obtain Paskola of any good druggist, and a free pamphlet will be mailed by the Pre-digested Food Co., 30 Reade Street, New York.

CIRCULATION EXCEEDS THAT OF ALL OTHER PLAINFIELD DAILIES COMBINED.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 18, 1894.

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

ALL EYES ON PLAINFIELD BELLES.

Metropolitan Readers Learn of the Radiant Beauties and Social Glories of Plainfield.

(Press-Printed in The New York Mail and Express.)

Miss Edith Hyde, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde, of Edgewood, Plainfield, was introduced to the fashionable set Saturday afternoon at a garden party which Mr. and Mrs. Hyde gave at their pretty country estate. Coming out parties are always more attractive when given in the country, and the pretty debutante of Saturday has the satisfaction of knowing that her social bow was a much more auspicious occasion and by far jollier than if given in a formal manner in a stuffy drawing room in town.

Incidentally the function should also be considered an affair of welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Francis de Lacy Hyde, who were married on June 6 of this year in Paris, and who arrived on the steamship Majestic on August 23. Mrs. Hyde was formerly Miss Carolyn Knowland, a daughter of Frederick Knowland of New York.

Edgewood is one of the finest country establishments in or around Plainfield, and with its handsome mansion, its great beds of flowers and banks of palms and other tropical plants and the frolicking little river which romps through the middle of the estate, is one of the show places of the Jersey town.

In the middle of the extensive lawn to the rear of the house was raised an immense marquee some eight feet by fifty, and here it was that the pretty belles, the beaux and the charming matrons from New York, Tuxedo, Plainfield and thereabouts danced the two-step and the quadrille and all to the delightful music of Lander's orchestra, which was stationed on a separate platform some fifty feet away. Surrounding the marquee were masses of palms and other exotics, making the whole an exceedingly pretty picture.

Here and there on the lawn were smaller marquees, and to the right of the big tent were the tables for the luncheon with snowy-white covers and red roses and crimson shades on the silver candelabra.

Assisting Mrs. Hyde and Miss Hyde in receiving were Mrs. Louis K. Hyde, Mrs. Francis de Lacy Hyde and Mrs. Charles Livingston Hyde, of Fifty-seventh street, West. The hostess wore a gown of wine-colored moire trimmed with black jet. The debutante, who wore a frock of white trimmed with pink rosebuds and a large garden hat decorated with pink roses and plumes of the same color, is an unusually pretty girl of the auburn type and charming and most attractive. Mrs. Louis K. Hyde wore a gown of white brocade in flower design and a yellow chiffon waist. Mrs. de Lacy Hyde was gowned in white and black brocade with a white bodice trimmed with lace and large sleeves. She wore a white hat of straw. Mrs. C Livingston Hyde wore gray and pink taffeta and a small bonnet of yellow silk trimmed with lace.

Many hundred invitations were sent out for the fete and the greater portion of those invited accepted. From 4 until after candlelight the lawns were crowded with exquisitely gowned women and the dancing went merrily on into the evening.

The gayeties ended in the evening with the dancing by moonlight of the Virginia reel, the leading sides being taken by the four married sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hyde, with their wives. It was indeed a charming finale to a most delightful affair.

Saw His Party Had No Chance.

(Trenton Correspondence of The New York Times.)

Republican confidence has also been shaken in the Eighth District, where the Republicans were, a few weeks ago, confident that any man could beat Congressman John T. Dunn. They were going to put out as a strong card Ernest Ackerman, a wealthy man residing in Plainfield. Ackerman, however, is long-headed, and sees that the Democracy of the district is pulling itself together and the Democratic disaffection that was to help the Republican candidate on to Washington has all disappeared. Within the last few days he came out in a card and announced that he would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination. It is now left to whoever wants it.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Frank and Randolph Marsh of the West End rode on their wheels to the Passaic river yesterday.

W. H. Rogers has overhauled his stock of second-hand tires and discovered that he is able to offer many bargains in inner tubes and other shoes.

A. C. Baker's 20 pound wheel is laid up in W. H. Rogers's cycle shop with a dozen of the spokes in the rear wheel broken. The wheel became entangled with Tunis J. Carey's pedal near North Branch on the Crescent run to Clinton.

At the meeting of the Crescent governors last evening a prize list was arranged for the meet September 29 and the following committees were appointed to have charge that day: Racing and Advertising—C. B. Teel, Nate Titsworth. Tickets and Gates—J. F. Buckle, Harry Coward, John Petrie. Stages, Police and Band—L. B. Woolston, Tunis J. Carey, John J. Kenney. Prizes—Chas. Dunham, J. A. Haynes, C. E. Vail. Grand-stand—Lon Titsworth, R. D. Williams, Tunis J. Carey.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

SAFETY AGAINST FIRE.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD IN THE THROES OF FIREBUG AGITATION.

Villagers Undecided Whether to Hire a Patrolman or Organize a Fire Department—Was There an Incendiary at the Meeting?

That all of South Plainfield is aroused on the question of how fires should be prevented or extinguished cannot be denied, but it seems doubtful if anything is to come from the agitation just at present. The meeting in the school-house Saturday night has started a discussion of the matter, however, and if South Plainfield gets a night patrol or a fire company this Winter it will come about as a direct result of that meeting.

The villagers vary in their ideas of which is the better plan: to organize a department, or to hire a watchman. It was noticeable at the meeting that the principal talk of the hour and a half of discussion was upon the watchman movement, pro and con. The department movement was simply alluded to, not thoroughly presented. Chairman Frank Harris, Walter Harris, Peter MacDonald, R. B. Manning and Wm. F. Randolph are now attending to the preparation of public interest for the next meeting, and under their supervision both of the plans are receiving attention.

There are those in the village who believe, as Frank Harris suggested at the meeting, that the best way out of the difficulty is to hire a patrolmen with power to make arrests, and thus make the place safe against both fire and criminals. The plan of Walter Harris was a cheaper one, a characteristic which makes it a favorite with many. He proposed a patrol by two or three volunteers changing about every night. He thought the matter should be kept very quiet, and intimated that the fire-bug was at the meeting. To have a secret changing system of volunteer watchmen was, he said, the only practicable plan.

Some South Plainfielders are bold enough to say that the fires that brought about the meeting were not incendiary. The village has had three fires in the last fifteen years, the burning of Fitzgerald's Hotel in 1892, and the two this year, M. H. Higgins's barn and Shoemaker Smith's house. It is only upon the fact that the two last fires came close together that the incndiary belief seems to be based.

The cost would prevent the establishment of both the patrol service and the fire department. There are perhaps 35 heads of families in the thickly settled part of the village who can be called upon to pay the watchman, and the individual cost will therefore be something over $1 per month. This would pay for simply an alarm in case of fire, not for the work of equipped firemen.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Counselor Craig A. Marsh now has a 'phone—No. 60.

—Because of the sudden illness of George W. Mundy of Westfield, his father was summoned from Plainfield today.

—The New York Tribune consumes over half a column today trying to square itself with its readers on the Leland fake.

—Henry G. Adams of 159 North avenue has bargains to offer in real estate, and people would do well to see him in regard to buying.

—A grand ball will be held in Welsh's Hall, Lee place, Monday evening, September 24 The proceeds are for the benefit of John Costello.

—William J. Nelson of West Front street is driving a five-inch well on Hamilton street, New Brunswick, for ex-Judge Woodbridge Strong.

—Complete convenience can now be had for every bedroom. Gavett is offering 10-piece toilet sets at $1 70. His new Fall stock of glass and china ware is superb.

—Invitations have been issued for a dance to be given by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps Friday evening, Sept. 21, at the residence of Mr. Hall, corner of Front street and Central avenue, in the rear of Manning's Marble Works.

—Olaf Saugstad opened the manual training department of the Boys Club last evening. Sessions will be held Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Besides these Mr. Saugstad will give lessons to adults afternoons and Wednesday evenings.

—The convenience and excellence of the new style of electric-lamp street signs, put up in samples by H. H. Baker, are remarked by all. The city would do well to consider giving Mr. Baker a contract. The style of sign is valuable to merchants who want to advertise their business by day and night, as shown in the case of A. D. Mallinson.

—One of the jewelers of this city has violated his agreement in regard to closing his store at 8, and the others are forced to keep open till 9 each evening. A written agreement was signed by all, and they were to close early till December 1. The others are very much incensed at the action of the one who has broken it.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist Church Friday night at 8 will be devoted to missions, on the topic "Alaska". A special programme has been prepared.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SURPRISE.

Hope Chapel the Scene of a Pleasant Farewell Greeting.

Excellent music was the feature of a surprise social held by the Christian Endeavor Society of Hope Chapel last evening.

The affair was given by the Entertainment Committee in honor of Fred Newman, the assistant superintendent of the Sunday-school, who goes next week to Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., to study for the ministry. He was invited to the social as a worker in the chapel and was not aware that it was given in his honor as a farewell greeting until some time after he had arrived.

The early part of the evening passed away with the programme which had been prepared by the committee. The opening selection, "My Ideal", by Hermann, was rendered by a quartette composed of T. C. Pollock, flute; J. Z. Petrie, violin; Firman Ferrer, cello; and Mrs. Pollock, piano. Other selections which the quartette rendered in an excellent manner were the "D.K.E. Waltz", and "La Poloma", Balfour.

Mr. Petrie delighted all with his violin solo, "Forget-me-not". Miss Marie Newman's recitations, "Burglar Bill" and "Sweet Peggy", were very well received. Fletcher D. Hallock was encored for every one of his songs, accompanied by himself on the banjo and Miss Dewey on the piano. Among his humorous selections were "Mrs. Fogarty's Cake", "Buy a Home in the Country", and "She's with the Angels Now".

After the entertainment the rest of the evening was passed with refreshments and games.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The condition of Moses N. Terrill is this afternoon unchanged.

Miss Kurzhals has returned from a few-days visit in the country.

Charles Sebring of Greenbrook is on a business trip to Maryland.

George Tobin returned last evening from a business trip to Orange.

A. M. Wilcox and family have removed from 414 West Eighth street to 140 East Ninth.

Frank Fulton of Leggett's Pharmacy will enter New York College of Pharmacy Oct. 1.

Miss Kate Smith of Harrison is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alfred Wilkins of Duer street.

Mrs. Nelson Y. Hull and her sister, Miss Sharp, have returned from a visit to the country.

Mrs. Nellie Jones of Philadelphia is the guest of her brother, H. S. Thatcher, East Fourth street.

Harry Coddington of North Plainfield is taking a few-days rest at the home of his grandmother in Washingtonville.

Mrs. S. A. Potter and daughter of Philadelphia, formerly of North Plainfield, now occupy one of the flats at 403 Park avenue.

Miss Bertie Agans of Neshanic, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Jennie M. Sutphen of Emily street, returned home yesterday.

Charles R. Norman of New York has taken up his residence in Plainfield. He is stopping at the home of Mrs. Warren on East Seventh street.

Mrs. Gorden, who has been spending the Summer in Brooklyn, has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hiram Woodland, Duer street.

Robert Clarke will be among the young Plainfielders who will attend the University of New York. He will take up the study of law in the Law School.

John M. Goddard of East Fifth street will leave next Thursday for Boston, where he will resume his studies at the famous Boston School of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ulmer and son Charles of Holland, Hunterdon County, are being entertained by their uncle, Bateman Thatcher of East Fourth street.

George Wharton Edwards and family have returned to their residence at the corner of Franklin place and LaGrande avenue, after having been away three months.

Moses A. Haven, manager of the Plainfield Beef Company, has purchased of W. H. Moore an elegant colonial residence at West End Park, and will move in in a few days.

The Very Rev. James A. McFaul, who has been promoted from rector of St. Mary's Church in Trenton to Bishop of the Trenton Diocese, was brought up in Bound Brook. He succeeds the late Bishop O'Farrell.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., initiated five candidates at their meeting last night.

Councilor Thorn of Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M. has appointed a committee of six with the privilege of increasing it to ten, to discuss the advisability of holding a fair this Fall.

The meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, last evening, was well attended and interesting. Capt. Lewis appointed H. S. Thatcher, H. C. McVoy, Cyrus Moore, George Bedford and Chas. Stephens, Jr., as a committee on the fair which the Camp intends to hold this Fall. Gratifying progress was reported in all the different departments of the Camp. An invitation will be sent to Division Commander Pollitt of Paterson and Mr. Drake of Elizabeth to be present at the entertainment to be given Friday evening, Sept. 28. The members of both Grand Army Posts and the Women's Relief Corps will also be invited, and the members of the Camp have the privilege of inviting their friends.

His Latest.

"He-Low-Jack" is the subject of the latest painting by Col. Julian Scott, which can be seen in the window of J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store. The scene is at Larrick's Tavern, Middletown, Va., 1864. This tavern was used for a Rebel hospital, and is exceedingly realistic. Col. Scott will place the picture on exhibition in the Academy of Arts, New York, this Fall.

COLD-WATER DAY.

WHITE-RIBBON ADVOCATES CONVENE IN PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson Re-Elected President of the Union County Union—Work of the Morning Session.

The tenth annual county convention of the W. C. T. U. was held in the new Seventh-Day Baptist Church today. The morning session opened at 10 with about 150 present, the rain evidently keeping many away. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson presided and Mrs. D. D. Irving recorded.

Mrs. F. R. Baker of Westfield began the meeting with prayers. Miss Cara L. Peck, the local president, then welcomed the visitors with the usual spirit of the W. C. T. U., and Miss Mary Baumgartner, president of the Rahway "Y's", responded with a few pleasant words.

Mrs. Tomlinson announced the appointment of Miss Yates and Miss Baumgartner as pages, and of Mrs. W. L. Deland of Elizabeth, Mrs. M. J. Wilson of Rahway and Mrs. Baker as a committee on resolutions; and Mrs. L. R. Krom and Mrs. Case as a courtesy committee.

The report of the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. D. D. Irving, showed a county membership of 446, with 34 honorary members and 51 well-wishers. The following had died during the year; Miss Ham of Cranford; Jerry Dunham, Dunellen; Mrs. H. S. Hall, Mrs. Caroline Ayres and Miss Jennie Taynor, Plainfield; Mrs. Elizabeth G. Cheeseldo, Westfield, and Miss Minnie B. Morse, Elizabeth. The departments in which work had been done were evangelistic, juvenile and parlor meeting and flower meeting. Plainfield conducted a kitchen garden and a soup kitchen and Rahway had a local colored union. The following made addresses in the county during the year: Mesdames Whitney, Barney, Cox, Bowne, Tomlinson, Perkins; and Benjamin Boole, Miss Parish, Revs. Anna Shaw, Joseph Cook, W. H. Ruth and Dr. Mary Allen.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. L. H. Noe, included this financial statement:

County balance Sept. 26, 1893	$ 3.72
Receipts	$301.29
Total	$305.01
Disbursements	$303.39
Balance on hand	$ 1.72

For various objects the total contributions were as follows:

Plainfield	$102.40
Plainfield Ys	13.80
Westfield	34.60
Westfield Ys	2.40
Elizabeth No. 1	20.52
Elizabeth No. 2	23.20
Rahway	23.08
Rahway Ys	13.30
Dunellen	21.80
Cranford	19.10
Total	$274.20

Mrs. Tomlinson made her address as president and the election then began. Mrs. Tomlinson was re-elected by 69 votes out of 70, the other being the complimentary cast for Mrs. M. F. Francis of Elizabeth. The president was escorted back to the chair by Miss Peck and Mrs. Francis. The election of other officers was postponed until the afternoon.

Mrs. I. H. Demarest, president of the Bergen County Branch and State Recording Secretary, then made an earnest address on "The Relation of the Local to the State". She appealed to the women not to forget their allegiance to the State in their desire to advance the local success. Rev. A. I. Martine followed with prayer and then adjournment was made to a collation in the Sunday-school room.

The luncheon was served under the management of the following committee: Mrs. M. E. French, Mrs. S. A. Cahoone, Mrs. Clinton Randolph, Mrs. John McNaughton, Mrs. Robert Gorton, Mrs E P. Williams, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Miss Susie Jackson, Mrs. O. B. Leonard and Miss Anna Boice.

The waitresses were the following of the Y's: the Misses Della Bowers, Mabel Potter, Bessie Titsworth, Mary and Luella French, Mary Brown, Mabel Maxson and Etta Blish.

At the beginning of the afternoon session the remaining offices were filled by election making the complete list for the coming year:

President—Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Plainfield.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. S. R. Krom, Plainfield.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. D. D. Irving, Cranford.
Treasurer—Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Dunellen.

WILL MAKING.

Is Your Will Drawn, And Was It Properly Executed?

The case of Joseph Laing's will which was broken through a new technical point made by Craig A. Marsh of this city is attracting much notice in legal periodicals and the law columns of the great dailies. The point was an important one, and of general interest, as will be seen from the following which appeared in the New York Tribune of Sunday under "Bench and Bar."

The New Jersey statute in reference to the execution of wills is not greatly different from that of New York, and a recent case before the Middlesex County Orphans' Court, in which Presiding Judge Rice wrote the opinion, calls attention to one requisite to the valid execution of a will which may often be overlooked. It is sometimes supposed on the authority of one or two New York cases that if a testator does not sign the will in the presence of witnesses his acknowledgement of the signature may be inferred from his producing it and asking the witnesses to sign their names and from his presence while the usual formalities are in progress, especially when the handwriting of the testator is identified. The case recently decided in Middlesex County arose over the alleged will of Joseph Laing. There was no evidence that the testator when he presented the will for the signature of the witnesses definitely acknowledged that the signature of the will was his, although he said that it was his will and asked the witnesses to sign it. Judge Rice says that if the witnesses have not seen the testator sign the paper he must both acknowledge the signature and also declare it to be his last will and testament. The two acts are separate, and both must be performed. Judge Rice takes great pains to explain and distinguish the New York cases of Baskin against Baskin and Gilbert against Knox, decided in the Court of Appeals, which would seem at first glance to make it possible to accept the will as valid without a separate and distinct acknowledgement of the signatures by the testator, apart from his statement that the paper was his will. The point is a delicate one, but is important, as precision in the matter of executing a will is of the first importance.

Kentucky Women Congratulated.

Boston, Sept. 18.—At a special meeting of the Woman's Rescue league the following greetings were ordered to be sent to the women of Kentucky: "The Woman's Rescue league of Boston congratulates the women of Kentucky on the active stand they have taken in the moral and political crusade they have made against the nomination of Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge for congress. The good name of the fair state has been redeemed by the noble daughters of the grand old state of Kentucky. Massachusetts salutes Kentucky."

Consul Pollock Dies of Yellow Fever.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Secretary Gresham has received a cablegram from La Libertad announcing the death of Consul-General Alexander L. Pollock at Salvador from yellow fever. The announcement was a painful shock to the officers of the department of state, as Mr. Pollock was held in very high regard on account of his devotion to duty during the Salvadorian revolution.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The First Church of Christ Trustees have decided to assume the $2,000 mortgage and continue the church.

The First Church of Christ elected last night the following trustees: R. E. Brown, B. W. Hand, J. H. Staats, W. H. Lunger, and D. Rockafellow. The trustees meet tonight at D. Rockafellow's, North avenue, and a Christian Endeavor meeting will be held in the chapel.

Rev. J. A. Liggett of Rahway, speaking of Rev. Ralph Gillam's services there last Winter, says: "We were very much pleased with Mr. Gillam, and his work here was productive of excellent results. He was liked by all who heard him. You will find him an excellent helper and you have made no mistake in securing him." Mr. Gillam has with him a musical director, who will take charge of the chorus now being formed at Hope Chapel. The first meeting will be Thursday evening at 7:45

MAMIE MANLEY WINS.

MRS. FITZGERALD MUST PAY FOR THE DRESS SHE SPOILED.

First Victory for the Serenaders in the South Plainfield Wedding Case—Appeal Announced by the Defense.

The case of Miss Mamie Manley against Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald for $13 damages came up in Justice Wood's Court, Metuchen, yesterday morning. It is a test case to the fight between the unappreciated serenaders and the angry mother-in-law that was the cause of so much gossip the early part of the month.

Mrs. Fitzgerald did not appear in court. She was represented by her counsel, John Keenan of Metuchen. The witnesses for the plaintiff besides herself were Mamie Garey, Annie Garey, Bridget Kane, Julia Heenan, William Hogan and Joseph Welsh.

Their story of how the serenaders gathered on the property of John Hogan opposite the Fitzgerald home and sang and shouted until Mrs. Fitzgerald appeared with the hoard which she threw into the crowd was substantially the same as that given in The Press of September 12.

Keenan denied that it was the defendant that had thrown the dress-destroyer and took advantage of the fact that the girl witnesses had never been in court before to puzzle them with all sorts of questions. Justice Wood refused his motion for the granting of a non-suit, and promptly decided in favor of Miss Manley.

Keenan announced his intention to carry the case higher and gave bonds until Thursday for $50.

THREE GREAT DEVICES.

Railroad Coach, Steam Engine, and Lumber Camp, Add to the Realism in Music Hall's Next Attraction.

Quaint and clever "Yon Yonson" is coming to town Thursday, and theatregoers will rejoice at the opportunity to form his acquaintance.

As a character type "Yon Yonson" certainly stands alone in the creative world. His rough exterior covers a multitude of virtues, and it is the natural manner in which they are brought to the surface which renders Yon so truly superior to his many confreres of stageland.

Mr. Heege has conferred a twofold benefit on the drama as his happy creation. He has demonstrated that naturalness, and not obvious straining for effect, is the keynote which the true actor ought to strike, and he has further shown that faithful scenic surroundings, rather than gorgeous but impossible pictures untrue to life, are the best.

The elaborate scenic equipment of "Yon Yonson" is most pleasing because it is an exact reproduction of the locale of the play, and its principal features are all perfectly familiar to every resident of the great Northwest and to the thousands who have visited that section.

The mechanical devices employed are new to stagecraft and therefore decidedly interesting. The genuine railroad coach, the monster steam engine, and the view of a lumber camp in operation, form three distinct surprises; and the thrilling breaking of a log jam in the frozen river is pronounced the very acme of realism.

The company surrounding Mr. Heege is practically the same which met with such great favor during the memorable New York, Boston and San Francisco runs of this successful play, and includes the jolly Irish woman whose picture is herewith shown.

TRAIN ROBBERS FOILED?

Their Attack Met by a Volley of Shots.

Gorin, Mo., Sept. 18.—The Colorado and Utah express train on the Santa Fe Road was held up by robbers at 3:30 this morning. The railroad and express officials had a warning of the plan to attack the train, and the train was met by a volley of buckshot and bullets. It is believed that at least two of the bandits lie dead in the woods near where the train was stopped. Two others who rode for their rendezvous, 21 miles away, were wounded. Before the guard on the cars fired upon the thieves, the latter shot Prescott, the engineer of the train, without any warning. His wound, it is believed, will not prove fatal.

Doing a Good Work.

Several members of the Salvation Army of Plainfield went to Garwood, Sunday afternoon, to conduct services at the mission there. Over seventy people attended the meeting, which was the largest attendance ever present at the mission. Among those from Plainfield were Captains Walder and Marsh, Lieutenant Owens, Mrs. Walrod, Mr. Grant, Sir Major and Mr. Belcher.

JERSEY JUSTICE.

Nuisance of Every Nature Suppressed at Fanwood.

Mayor Abner P. Downer, with Judge Charles E. Moore, inspected the sewerage outflow in the railroad ditch on the northerly side of the tracks at Fanwood Friday night. The Mayor said that it was a nuisance which would be immediately suppressed by the Health Board, and he was surprised that the Board's attention had not been called to it before.

The same evening A. A. Champion, the Scotch Plains tonsorial artist, was apprehended before Judge Moore on complaint of Charles Stumpf, as a disorderly person. He was promptly found guilty, and fined $5, after testimony had been given by the complainant and Wm. B. Buckley.

"I am sorry to be obliged to fine you," —remarked the Justice—"but I hold my position of Justice to suppress all disorder in this township, and I propose to do so, no matter whom it affects."

"I thank you, Judge, and I assure you I will never be before you again"—and the prisoner paid the fine.

"Now, Judge, why don't you complete the good work by attending to the tramps now camping in the township?"—suavely asked Mayor Downer, who had been an interested spectator of the proceedings. The Judge replied that he would do so, and he did it.

Sunday afternoon eight road agents were presented to the Court by Special Officer Henry C. Corea and his assistant Samuel M. C. Allen.

The officer reported that the men were found trespassing upon the lands of John Darby and regularly encamped as if for all Winter. Daniel H. Terry, the township collector, rendered his assistance to the officer in locating the camp, and Scott Terry brought them into town in his wagon.

Many and various were the excuses given by the offenders, but it did not avail, for they were ordered to leave the county forthwith on pain of being committed to the county jail. There are now no tramps in Fanwood.

The Court complimented Corea and Allen for their prompt and fearless action in the manner in which they fulfilled their duties, and was in turn thanked by the Fanwood residents for his action in the suppression of disorder.

A Day at the Trenton Fair will do you more good than a week at the shore. There's something catching in the live, pulsating throbbing activity of all really good shows. The Inter-State Fair proves it. You may feel ever so blue; unkind Fortune may have treated you outrageously; everything may be upside down to you—spend a day at the greatest fair in the East, and you will feel like fighting Fate.

Aside from the regular features which are pushed to a higher standard every year, the novelties this year comprise all of the world's greatest sensational attractions, as, for instance: Calverley, the high-wire walker, who has entirely recovered from his awful accident of a year ago; the Davenport Brothers, who give a particularly pleasing exhibition of the manly art of self-defense; Prof. Zeitung, who invented the bullet-proof coat, and who will allow himself to be shot at to prove its efficiency; the Flying Jordans, the famous trapeze artists; Marlow and Dunham, the celebrated triple-bar people recently from Koster & Bial's, New York; Lamonthe and Ducrow, experts on the high-bar; Ramza and Arno, burlesque artists with Primrose & West's show last year; the Buffalo Bill Troupe of Arab Tumblers and Jugglers, etc., etc.

The races are to be particularly attractive.

The fair lasts five days—September 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28, and the place, of course, is Trenton.

Better "take it in"—it's good for "that tired feeling".

CURES OTHERS

M. W. Scott, Esq., of the U. S. Marshall's Office, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "For many years my wife has been a constant sufferer from indigestion, sick headache, nervous prostration and all other complaints that the female sex is heir to, and, after trying many remedies and doctors with but little or no relief, I persuaded her to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She was so out of heart, she returned the answer that it would be like all the rest—of no good; but on my account, she said she would try it, so I got one bottle each; and before she had used half of a bottle she felt that it was benefiting her, and she has continued to improve ever since, and now thinks it the most wonderful remedy on earth for her sex, and recommends it to all suffering females. She has not been so well in ten years.

Miss Scott.

I write this without any solicitation and with a free, good will, so that you may let all who may suffer know what it has done for her." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere.

THEY HAVE A POET.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES ANNOUNCE THEIR CLASS-DAY LIST.

Great Year for the Literary Societies—Hooping Posted on Planets—Athletes Eager for the Daily Press Medal.

The Class of '95 held their first class meeting of the year in the Senior room yesterday, directly after school. As it was the annual election of officers, the attendance was quite large, almost the entire class remaining. T. D. Blair presided. The only business transacted was the election of the officers, which resulted as follows: President, Thomas D. Blair; Vice-president, Edgar I. Serrell; Secretary, Henry B. Drake; Treasurer, Miss Franc Bailey; Poet, John V. Beckman, Jr.; Orator, Miss Etta Raybert; Historian, Miss Laura Emmons; Prophet, Charles B. Morse. The other class meetings will occur very soon.

For the special benefit of the astronomy class, Mr. Allen has posted up on the Kappa Delta Phi bulletin board an article on the positions of the planets during September, and any phenomena that may occur during this month. It should be studied by the other scholars.

There are several new pupils in the school now, and many of the old ones who were out of town have returned during the week.

From all present signs, it looks as if this would be a great year for the literary societies. By the addition of a number of new members, the Lyceum promises completely to eclipse its last year's efforts, while the Kappa Delta Phi is enlarging its membership and has many plans for its advancement on foot. These two societies have decided not to run in opposition to each other, but each is to take a separate line of work. May they both succeed!

Athletics have certainly taken possession of the minds of all the High School boys, for everyone is going to do something, play football, run, jump or join the Cycling Division. The Press medal has brought out a number of the crack athletes who are all certain of making a hard fight. The exact design has not yet been decided, but it will certainly be something well worth trying for; and when won, worthy of the champion all-round athlete of the High School.

The field day will certainly be a success if hard work will make it one, and all Plainfield people should turnout to watch their High School boys show their athletic capabilities. Those wishing to enter any of the events should see F. W. Cornwell, Committee on Entries, immediately. Entries close Saturday, September 29.

There will be no official programme at the field day, but The Press will publish all the entries and handicaps a few days before the games are held. The exact date will be noted later.

A meeting of the P. H. S. A. A. was held yesterday afternoon. But little business of importance was transacted. A few reports were made, and the financial part of the field day was arranged.

Saturday morning was the time appointed for the first football practice of the season. A few were present, and they spent their time in running with and falling on the ball. Yesterday afternoon the football players again met for exercise and a short practice game was played. There are a number of last year's players who are sure of a place on the eleven, but still there is also a great deal of undeveloped talent, especially in the lower classes. Before the season is over some of the older players may have to look alive if they wish to keep their positions. No captain has been selected, but as soon as Manager Horne chooses the candidates for the team the captain will be elected from among them.

After yesterday's meeting of the P. H. S. A. A. the members adjourned to the campus, where they spent the rest of the afternoon in an exciting game of football under Association rules; that is, the real old kicking game. A. B. Crane '97 and VanR. Schuyler '97 were the two captains, and by a warm and close contest Schuyler's team won. Among the boys that engaged in this active sport were E I Serrell '95, G A Horne '95, Elwood Sebring '95, Fred Coriell '95, O B Morse '95, F W Cornwell '96, Webster Littell '97, J V Rittenhouse '97, Ernest Suffrey '97, Henry Brower '98, J Clarke '98, J Miller '98, Alfred Love, George Smith '98, Hazel Craig '96.

The Bicycling Division of the P. H. S. A. A. expects to send a large delegation to the lantern parade of the Crescent Wheelmen. Every High School boy that has or can borrow a wheel should be in line, and all the honorary members who can are also expected to turn out. All those who will be present should hand their names to Capt. C. B. Morse.

The next run will be held tomorrow afternoon, starting from the High School Building at 2. The destination of the run has not yet been selected.

THEY'RE AFTER HIM.

Even His Local Trainer Jumps on the Author of the Leland Fake.

George A. Kelly, of the Union Press Exchange, New York, was in town yesterday afternoon, inquiring for M. F. Elderton, who, he said, wrote the sensational story of catastrophe and mystery about the mishap of the four young men who fell from the road on upper Somerset street Sunday morning. The story was the only one sent from Plainfield about the case, and the New York papers which published it are those served by the exchange. Mr. Kelly said the Exchange would no longer be served by Mr. Elderton.

The Plainfield paper on which Mr. Elderton has been employed last night denied the charge that the author of the fake was one of its employes. It seems heartless for the ring-organ editor to repudiate a hired man for following his own illustrious example. But what can you expect!

NEWS OF NEAR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen.

October 13 will be ladies day at Mr. Schenfle's green. The Boston Club will bowl there September 29.

Miss Paulina Kratzel went to Westfield Sunday morning to visit her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E Eckel. The party then drove to Washingtonville. After spending the day in the mountains, they returned to Westfield, and when driving past a woods between Netherwood and Fanwood they were stopped by two men who came out of the woods. A lively application of the whip by Mr. Eckel put the men to flight, and they were not seen again.

Dr. Brakely's six-year-old son met with a painful accident while playing at his home Saturday. Together with several boys in the neighborhood he had erected what they called a merry-go-round, and while enjoying the fruits of their labors, the little fellow was thrown off. It resulted in the breaking of the right arm above the wrist. His playmates took him to his father's store, where the doctor set the broken member. He stood the operation like a man, and is getting along nicely.

The funeral services of William S. Slape were held Sunday afternoon at 3 from his late home, and the number of friends and relatives attending was very large. Decedent had a large circle of friends, and all joined in the sad and solemn occasion. Revs. A. L. Martine, Frank Fletcher and W. C. Kinsey of Dunellen, and Dr. Searles of Sing Sing, were present, and took part in the service. Their remarks were very helpful, and the spiritual thoughts given were consoling to the bereaved. The pall-bearers were: W. H. Cole, F. H. Gise, W. H. Terry and B. D. Drake of Dunellen, Judge W. A. Coddington of Plainfield and A. H. Watson of Sing Sing. Interment was made yesterday in Salem, Salem County.

New Market.

Arthur Leonard has gone to Princeton College.

The New Market Lawn Tennis Club are going by stage to Fahway tonight.

The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Brokaw was happily celebrated at their home in Piscataway yesterday.

Tomorrow night the band will go to Ellis Campbell's to play at a clambake, the largest of the season.

Mrs. A. T. Hart of Brooklyn, formerly of this place, has been a welcome visitor at the home of Mrs. Foster Sofield.

Mrs. R. Winkler of Newport, who has been spending a month with Mrs. J. Winkler of New Market, will return home tomorrow.

Charles S. Day left Saturday evening on a business trip to Buffalo. Before returning he will visit his sister, Mrs. A. E. Ahrens, in Stratford, Ontario.

Mrs. D. J. Green of Hartford, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Titsworth of this place, presented her husband with a bouncing boy yesterday. Mother and child are doing well.

Miss Sarah Nelson, the popular and faithful postmistress, has gone for two weeks recreation with city friends. During her absence Miss Cora Dayton will have charge of the office.

Scotch Plains.

Hope Division, S. of T., was inaugurated last night under favorable auspices, and the work of suppressing illegal liquor selling and disorder will be actively begun. Howell Division came up from Plainfield and gave the new division much encouragement. Other visitors were from Roselle, Elizabeth, Somerville and Trenton. The collation was excellent, the programme well arranged, and all had a good and profitable time.

Bayonne Hotel Burned.

Bayonne City Hotel, 29 West Eighth Eighth street, Bayonne, was burned early this morning, and adjoining property was damaged. The loss is about $20,000, mostly covered by insurance. Two dozen guests escaped in their night-clothes, losing their personal effects. Two of them were nearly suffocated, and had to be carried out.

THE FAMOUS NEW BOOK.

Darkness and Daylight, or Lights and Shadows of New York Life.

In this new and superbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman tells the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and rescue-work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such ringing words of "God-speed" from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold, its four authors being no less than: Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., Col. Thomas W. Knox, and Inspector Thomas Byrnes, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and "In His Name" spent many years as a city missionary literally "In Darkest New York". What a wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were. It is a story never to be forgotten. This unique volume presents these thrilling experiences of Christian endeavor with the hundreds of pathetic and amusing scenes that were packed into them; it portrays life in a great city by day and by night "As Seen by a Woman"; it shows the power of the Gospel to redeem souls from the lowest depths; it gives striking testimonies of the redeemed; and from all these rich and varied experiences it draws living truths for head and heart that are worth to any reader ten times the price of the book. Mrs. Campbell's account of rescue-work is full of wonderfully touching incidents. Stranger stories are here told than romance ever dreamed of, every one of them drawn from real life by a woman's hand. In every chapter she weaves in anecdote after anecdote, incident after incident, story after story, and the reader's attention is held breathless to the end of the volume. "Strange but most suggestive is the fact", says Bishop Coxe in warmly commending this volume, "that Christ is to be visited in these dens and dives; there are those whom He will bear in mind when He says, 'Ye visited Me'; or when He says 'Ye did it not to Me.'"

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. In his introduction to it he says:

"My interest in these phases of city life dates from my college days. From that day to this—over a third of a century—I have continued the studies then begun, and the subject of this book has been one of the great subjects of my study—sometimes in literature, often in life."

No appeal from temperance advocates can do more to promote the cause of temperance than the thrilling scenes and incidents so well described; at least so says Mrs. Mary A. Livermore and Miss Frances E Willard.

One of the most absorbingly interesting portions of the book is that written by Inspector Byrnes giving the ripe experience of thirty years of detective life. Many of the startling revelations he makes are taken from his private diary. They have never before been published.

This fascinating volume is indeed a wonderful tale of Christian love and faith, all alive with intense and striking reality. The best of it is that it is a pure and elevating book from beginning to end—a volume for the family circle. On this point the words of Rev. Dr. Twichell (who has a family of ten children) and Rev. Dr Magoun, President Iowa College, are worth quoting here: Dr Twichell writes, "My wife says that she is going to set our young people on the book right off, for the good it will do them"; and President Magoun says, "My family finds where other books on our shelves lack interest, this one always holds and rewards attention."

It contains 252 superb engravings, all made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flash-light. Every face is a portrait, every scene a stern reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night by rescue-bands; he is shown strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitor; he is taken into cheap lodging-houses and cellars; into the homes of the poor; into newsboys' lodging-houses; into the police and detective departments, etc.,—nothing seems to be omitted.

We do not know when 740 pages have given us more genuine pleasure. If we speak warmly of the book, it is because it richly deserves it. It is sold only by agents, and is meeting with an enormous sale. Agents who introduce such a work ought to be cordially welcomed. A better work has certainly never come to our table. It will be read over and over again by old and young, with ever increasing pleasure and lasting profit.

The work is published by the old and well-known firm of A. D. Worthington & Co., Hartford, Conn., whose imprint is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of this first-class volume. Royal Octavo, 740 pages, 252 fine plates, portraits, and text illustrations.

THE COL. DIES HARD

Breckinridge Does Not Yet Give Up the Fight.

Latest Figures, However, Show Owens' Plurality To Be Over 300—The Congressman's Friends Stand To Lose About $100,000, and Are Trying To Change the Result.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—The Breckinridge forces did not lay down their arms when the battle ended Saturday afternoon. They have been as busy as bees ever since trying to find some loophole for escaping from the verdict. Desha Breckinridge and several friends went down to Scott county and attempted to enter a protest against certain precincts in that county, but failed. They tried to throw out a precinct in this (Fayette county) that gave Owens about forty majority, because the empty ballot-box after the ballots had been burned was not returned by the officers of election when they brought in the returns. Bob Baker, the well-known turfman and a strong Owens man, got one of the fastest horses in town late and brought the box in. There is no questioning the fact that the Breckinridge followers, many of whom have bet large sums on his winning, are laying the foundation for a contest before the district committee at Frankfort next Saturday. It is currently stated that Breckinridge's friends stand to lose between $100,000 and $200,000, and they will not give up until all means of defeating Owens shall have been exhausted. Last night Milton Young, the well-known turfman, bet $200 to $40 that Owens would be the nominee, and for four hours a placard was posted in the Phoenix hotel offering to bet $1,000 to $800 and to give $25 to any one who would find a man to take the Breckinridge end of it.

President Treacy, of the Owens club, says there is no doubt about Owens' election, and the other Owens men are equally as positive of his election. The best returns that can be obtained at this hour give Owens a plurality over Breckinridge of 330.

ACTOR SCANLAN VIOLENT.

His Condition Makes His Removal to White Plains Necessary.

New York, Sept. 18.—In order to have a judicial adjudication as to the sanity of Actor William J. Scanlan, who broke down on Christmas Day, 1891, and has since been an inmate of the Bloomingdale Lunatic asylum, an inquiry was had before commissioners and a sheriff's jury, in order that a committee may be appointed of his person and property. Dr. Lyon, the medical superintendent of the Bloomingdale asylum, was the first witness called. He testified that the actor's condition now is such that he practically knows nothing. On account of his recent violence he has been kept in bed with some one with him constantly. He becomes violent without any apparent reason, and when in that state will attack any one near him. On account of his present condition Dr. Lyon stated that arrangements had been made to have the actor taken to White Plains at once. He will be sent there in an ambulance for protection, under guard. Dr. Lyon also testified that Mr. Scanlan's case is incurable.

Mrs. Scanlan, the wife of the actor, testified that the only property which Mr. Scanlan had were nine lots in Leavenworth, Kansas, and a few plays and his wardrobe. He had no money in bank. The personal property she did not think was worth over $2,000.

The jury found the actor insane and incapable of managing himself or his property.

WE TAKE PLEASURE

In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Tuesday, Sept. 22 to Saturday, Sept. 28. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks

We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gentlemen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

Don't forget to look at our carpet display on 2d floor while you are at our millinery opening, Sept. 22 to 28.

BOEHM'S, 113 WEST FRONT STREET.

The Baby's and Mother's Friend!
15 cents will buy it. Over a dozen of the leading drug and dry goods stores of Plainfield offer it for sale. Ask any of them for it, and take no other. It is perfect. The best Toilet Powder, Royal Violet Borated Talcum, for infants and adults. The powder is delicately and exquisitely perfumed, and is put up in handsomely decorated 4-oz sprinkler top tin cans, and you pay only 15 cents for it. Prepared by the $500 in Gold Given Away!

Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,
73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.
In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.
CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.
BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.
PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.
PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded, and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.
Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.
STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

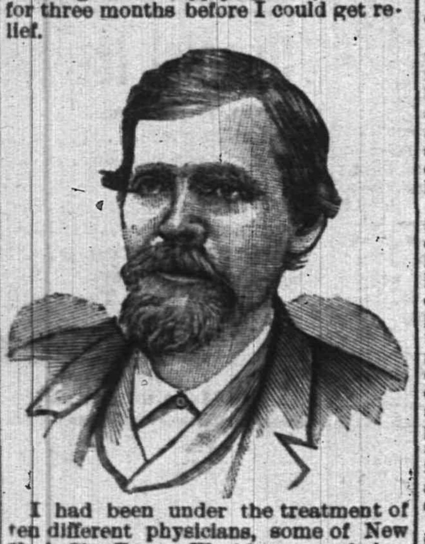
THE CASE OF MR PETER G EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

GETTING BABY TO SLEEP.

The Cradle Out of Date, but Cradle Songs Remain—Better Infant Food Brings Sounder Sleep, With Little Need of Rocking.

In the old New England Cabin at the Midway Plaisance, among the quaint bits of furniture there was an old-fashioned cradle such as busy mothers used to push with their feet while they hummed a soft lullaby.

The cradle is out of date and the tiny, lace-draped crib has taken its place. Cradle songs remain. No better ones have been written since mothers hushed their tired ones to sleep with "Rock-a-bye, Baby," and "Bye, Baby Bunting," but the art of infant feeding has gone far ahead of the old ways.

Mothers no longer give sirups to still babies' cries; little or no medicine is now given, but better food. Lactated food is now known to every mother. In the great majority of homes in this country and in Canada this best of infant foods has found a permanent place.

Next to healthy mother's milk it is the most perfect diet for infants.

Very often it is much superior to the natural breast milk, because it never becomes deficient in nutritive qualities. It cannot contain any source of contagion. It is perfectly prepared to be pleasing to the weak infant stomach. It quickly makes solid flesh and bone and tides sickly babies over summer days and nights when cholera infantum and diarrhea threaten the lives of every poorly nourished child.

The greatest reproach to practical medicine has been the fearful loss of infant lives at every return of the hot weather; the attention of the whole medical world has been directed to this great subject of proper infant feeding, especially during hot weather.

Under the advice of the professors in the medical department of the Vermont university more especially that of Prof. A. P. Grinnell, dean of the university, and Dr. S. M. Roberts, professor of diseases of children, and under the investigation and direct supervision of Prof. C. S. Boynton, the manufacture of lactated food was begun. It has saved thousands of babies lives and enabled thousands more to get up strong and big and blessed with sturdy constitutions.

A host of mothers have to thank lactated food for the joy of seeing their drooping, silent, white-faced little ones turn to bright-eyed, charming babies, that eat and sleep and grow in a way to delight any mother's heart. Great numbers of such mothers have written that nothing else would agree with their children but lactated food.

A trial of less than two weeks will tell its own story in baby's weight, eyes, cheeks and spirits. Nursing mothers find lactated food just adapted to their peculiar needs. It nourishes both mother and child. And this is what one would expect from a knowledge of its rich, blood-making ingredients; using pure milk sugar as a basis, because it is also the basis of mother's milk; there is added the richest gluten flour of wheat and oats; these are subjected to high steam heat under pressure, and while in constant motion and perfectly cooked, the extract of the finest malt barley is added, making thus a partially digested food that is easily assimilated by the feeblest stomach.

Invalids and aged persons find lactated food the most grateful to their weak stomachs of any nutriment they can take.

Here is the experience of the sweet baby girl whose portrait is given above. Her mother, Mrs. E. E. Reynolds of Fair Haven, Vt., writes:

"Our little girl is a perfect picture of health, having used lactated food since she was two months old. She has always been perfectly well and we think it is largely due to the food."

Managers for the Government.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The following board of managers, on behalf of the government, to the Atlantic Cotton States' exhibition, have been designated for the different departments: Agriculture, Charles W. Dabney, Jr., chairman; interior, F. W. Clarke; postoffice, Kerr Craige; justice, Frank Strong; state, Edward I. Renick; war, Capt. Thomas H. Barry; treasury, Charles E. Kemper; fish commissioner, Tarleton H. Bean; Smithsonian instiuation, Prof. G. Brown Goode; navy department, not yet designated.

Iron Puddlers Discharged.

Pittsburg, Sept., 19.—The [illegible] portion of the puddling department of the South Tenth street mill of the Oliver Iron and Steel company is idle through the discharge of 300 of the employes. The only men permitted to continue work are those who took the places of the puddlers who struck a short time ago, and they are reduced in pay to the rate of $3.75 per ton. The discharged men are very bitter over their treatment. No other department of the mill is affected by the reduction.

A Philadelphian's Queer Death.

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—Fred [illegible], a traveling inspector for the Edison Electric company, residing in Philadelphia, jumped out of the seventh story window of the Cosmopolitan hotel here. He struck an electric light wire which parted under his weight, and threw him over a wall on to a shed on Custom House street, where he was found unconscious. He died an hour later at the hospital. No one was in his room with him and opinions differ whether it was accidental or suicidal.

TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT

Fail To Hold Up a Western Express.

Got a Warm Reception from Detectives and Train Hands—Two of the Bandits Supposed To Have Been Killed—A Hot Chase for the Others by a Sheriff's Posse.

Fort Madison, Ia., Sept. 19.—Four masked men attempted to hold up train No. 5, the Utah and Colorado express, on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road, near Corin, Mo., seventy-five miles west of here.

As a result "Dad" Prescott, the engineer of the train, is probably fatally wounded, two of the bandits are believed to lie dead or wounded in the woods that surround the track. The attempt to rob the train failed completely.

The plot was formed three weeks ago, and the railroad and express officials have had a spy in the camp of the bandits ever since. From the time the train left Chicago at 5 Monday evening, railroad and express detectives, all walking arsenals, climbed on at every station. Chief Detective J. J. Kenney, of the Santa Fe, with G. C. Montgomery, his righthand man, boarded it at Joliet. At Streator they were joined by two more men, who had been patrolling the line for twenty days. J. A. Matthews, who has been acting the spy for the last two weeks, put in an appearance at Galesburg.

The train reached this place shortly after midnight. Then a council of war was held and a plan of campaign was adopted. Detectives Kinney and Montgomery boarded the train. Superintendent Stockton and two of his good shots tarried in the express car. But it was on the forward end of the smoking car the forces were massed. A partition and door inclosed half a dozen seats and shut off the rest of the car from it.

There was only one passenger in that compartment, and he was requested by the brakeman to take a seat in the chair car as "they were going to sweep." Pullman car conductors and porters sought places of safety, and the trainmen did not expose themselve unnecessarily.

Ten minutes before the time set for the curtain to rise the little compartment in the baggage car was filled with armed men. The lights were out, the windows were up. In each seat were two men, sitting sideways, the muzzles of their guns protruding just a trifle over the sills. Behind them stood others, with Winchesters at half cock resting on their arms.

Out from between two high embankments, just one mile from Gorin, sped the train. Then came the crack of a railway torpedo. A moment later a shrill, sharp whistle gave token, the engineer had heard and almost before his hand had left the valve, across the track, not fifty yards away, swung a red light. Within twenty seconds from the explosion of the torpedo the train was at a standstill.

Out from the dense undergrowth north of the track came four forms. The face of each was hidden by a black mask. One more agile than the rest rushed to the engine almost before his companions could reach the express car. He carried a rifle and when within ten feet of the tender brought it to his shoulder, pointed it at "Dad" Prescott, the white-bearded engineer, and as he shouted "Hold up your hands!" pulled the trigger.

His aim was true and "Dad" fell to the floor of his cab with a bullet in his right breast. With one bound Detective Kenney gained the top of the tender, and, bringing his gun to his shoulder, sent a shower of shot almost into the face of the masked individual. The fellow sprang from the engine and made for the woods. The shot which laid Engineer Prescott low was the signal for the fusilade, and was echoed and re-echoed from bank to bank and through the woods. It was also the signal for a hasty retreat to the shelter of the timber on the part of the robbers.

After the failure of the would-be robbers and their hurried escape, Sheriff Saling, together with his posse, and the railroad and express officials and officers, secured teams and started for the section of the country from whence the amateur bandits hailed.

The persons who undertook the job were Charles Abrams and Lincoln Overfield, living about eight miles northeast of Memphis, Mo. There were others in the plot but it appears they weakened at the last moment. When the sheriff and posse reached Abrams' home they found him secreted behind a dresser and though dangerously wounded, he was inclined to show fight. The officers had the drop on him however, so he surrendered and was landed in jail at Memphis.

The posse then went to the farm of Mrs. D. Tull and surrounded the premises. Here Overfield, who was also inclined to make resistance and who denied having been absent from the place Monday night, was taken. Mrs. Tull and daughters also made a like claim in his behalf but his horse was found badly jaded and still quite wet with sweat from the long and hard ride of sixteen miles with its burden of over 200 pounds. Overfield was jailed at Memphis within an hour after Abrams was locked up.

Abrams' wound was made with a load of buckshot fired at close range and from above, striking him in the right shoulder and ranging downward. Doctors say there is only a little chance of his recovery. Abrams claims that Overfield refused to render him any assistance in getting away after the affray, and as his horse was shot he was compelled to walk all the way to his home, a distance of sixteen miles, a feat that seems almost an impossibility and beyond belief considering the frightful and painful wound from which he was suffering.

After Abrams and Overfield had been taken into custody by the sheriff and posse, two brothers of Overfield and another young man, whose name had been mentioned in connection with the plot, were found and brought to Memphis. However, as they had not taken any part in the attempt at train robbery they were not placed under arrest, but are being held as witnesses to appear before the grand jury.

THE POLITICAL FIELD

Morton Nominated for Governor of New York.

Gov. Flower's Refusal of Renomination by the Democrats a Surprise—Connecticut Republicans Meet in Convention—Owens' Plurality over Breckinridge.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Republican confidence in the success of the grand old party in the empire state made the convention here one of the largest and most enthusiastic since the war. Men of brains and ability, as well as men prominent in politics transformed this town of summer fashion and gaiety into a busy scene of business that may have a marked effect upon the history of both state and nation.

Convention hall was filled to its utmost capacity, at the three sessions that were held between noon and midnight. Delegates who took part in the proceedings on the floor and enthusiasts who looked on and cheered every prophecy of victory in November numbered 4,000. Between sessions half a dozen brass bands and bodies of marching men in the streets kept the excitement at white heat.

Factional fights for nominations were numerous, but once the nominations were made there was nothing but union and a hurrah for the coming campaign. The influence of Thomas C. Platt was ever present, but it apparently caused no friction. The convention may, perhaps, be considered the triumph of Mr. Platt's political life. J. Sloat Fassett, Cornelius N. Bliss, Stewart L. Woodford, Leslie W. Russell and Gen. Daniel Butterfield who opposed Mr. Platt's selection by allowing their names to be presented for governor, one and all pledged fealty to the nominee which they were snowed under in the convention.

A lively battle for lieutenant governor was waged and Senator Charles T. Saxon, best known as the author of the Saxon ballot reform bill, was the winner.

The candidates for the governorship were named by the following gentlemen:

Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, ex-secretary of the navy, placed in nomination the Hon. Levi P. Morton. When Gen. Tracy named Mr. Morton there was cheering and handclapping for over a minute.

Then Col. Archie Baxter, of Chemung, was recognized. He spoke from the platform and placed in nomination J. Sloat Fassett.

When Senator Fassett's name was first mentioned by Col. Baxter there was a hubbub of applause confined mainly to the galleries, and continued, varied with cheers, for three minutes. Every repetition of the name brought fresh applause. The subject of it was not present.

Silas B. Dutcher, of Kings, presented the name of Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, of Kings, for governor. He spoke of the military career of Gen. Woodford.

The Hon. E. A. Nash, of Cattaragus, presented the name of Gen. Daniel Butterfield, of New York. The shouters of the lower end of the state gave the general's name a lively reception.

F. X. Parker, of St. Lawrence, an unintentional humorist, followed with a speech urging the nomination of a man who would attract the farmers' vote and named Judge Leslie W. Russell.

Mr. Parker said it would be a mistake to select a man for governor who had been through the retirement of the vice-presidency. He called Mr. Morton "Governor" and alluded to his having been sent to the war. The convention was convulsed with laughter and Chairman Miller was obliged to rap for order and finally to appeal to the audience to give the speaker a fair show. This finished the nominating speeches for governor.

After the nominations for the various candidates had been seconded there were shouts from all parts of the hall of "Vote!" "Vote!" Roll call was then proceeded with on the ballot for governor.

Morton's total vote on first ballot was 545. The nomination was made unanimous on motion of Silas B. Dutcher, seconded by Col. Archie Baxter.

The candidates nominated by the convention are as follows:

Levi P. Morton for governor.

Charles T. Saxton for lieutenant governor.

Albert Haight for judge of the court of appeals.

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICANS.

The State Convention in Session at Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 19.—The republican state convention opened at Footguard hall, with a very large attendance of the 504 accredited delegates. The convention was called to order by Herbert E. Benton, of New Haven, chairman of the state central committee, who presented ex-Congressman William Edgar Simonds, of Canton, as temporary chairman of the convention. Samuel A. Eddy, of Canaan, and Geo. A. Kellogg, of Rockville, were elected secretaries.

Upon taking the chair, ex-Congressman Simonds made an address. Mr. Simonds was frequently applauded as he spoke and sat down amid general and hearty applause.

The convention adjourned at about 10 o clock, to meet at 10 o clock to-day.

There is a great deal of uncertainty as to the nomination for governor. The candidates mentioned are Col. Frank W. Cheney, of South Manchester; ex-Senator O. Vincent Coffin, of Middletown; ex-Lieut.-Gov. S. S. Merwin, of New Haven; John Addison Porter, of Pomfret, and ex-Mayor W. H. Marigold, of Bridgeport.

Owens' Plurality.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 19.—The official canvass of the vote of Fayette county shows the following results: Breckinridge, 1,974; Owens, 1,769; Settle, 475. Breckinridge plurality in county, 205. The official counts by the county committees makes the plurality as follows: Owens—Scott, 1,184; Franklin, 526; Oldham, 164; Woodford, 115. Total, 1,989. Breckinridge—Fayette, 205; Owen, 987; Henry, 465; Bourbon, 152. Total, 1,719. Owens' plurality, 270.

FLOWER'S WITHDRAWAL.

The Governor Refuses To Say Anything More About It.

Albany, Sept. 19.—Gov. Flower refuses to make any further announcements concerning his withdrawal from the field for re-nomination. Col. T. S. Williams, his private secretary, said that all he could add was that the governor had had the matter under careful consideration for some time and had only reached a decision Monday evening. In conference with Senators Hill and Murphy, Mr. D. G. Griffin, of Watertown, formerly chairman of the executive committee of the democratic state committee, and Mr. A. N. Brady, of this city, he had made the announcement of his withdrawal. Senator Hill still refuses to be interviewed concerning what passed at the conference and said in reply to a query that he had nothing to say concerning the candidacy of John Boyd Thatcher. Senator Murphy says that Gov. Flower's withdrawal was voluntary.

The news that Gov. Flower will not be a candidate for renomination will be a surprise to democratic politicians all over the state. It was conceded everywhere that if he asked for a renomination he would have practically no opposition.

While he had not said in so many words that he wanted a renomination, the politicians have looked upon him as the only man in the race since he started out making speeches to the farmers more than a month ago.

Ohio Democrats.

Columbus, O., Sept. 19.—The adherents of Senator Calvin S. Brice will control the democratic state convention to-day by two to one. This much is certain. But the opposition to the junior senator and which is based upon his anti-administration course in the recent tariff contest, is compact, aggressive and under good leadership, and because it is outnumbered it does not follow that it will accept the peace and harmony programme of the Briceists without putting itself on record.

BANKER PHILLIPS' ARREST.

Held in $10,000 Bail on the Charge of Embezzlement.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—Charles I. Phillips, formerly president of the Columbia Savings bank, of this city, and now a banker in New York city, and who was arrested in the latter place yesterday, charged with embezzling money from the Columbia bank, was brought here in charge of a detective. The charge against Phillips is embezzling $683 of the bank's funds, and was made by John Regan, a former depositor in the bank. Regan charges that Phillips used the bank's money for a stock transaction and that after the failure of the bank in 1887 he fled and has since been a fugitive from justice. Phillips was taken to the district attorney's office on his arrival here, and after some discussion he entered bail in the sum of $10,000. Counsel for Regan claims that the $683 represents only a fraction of Phillips' embezzlement and that the books of the bank will show a shortage of $100,000. Phillips denies that he has ever been a fugitive from justice and that he has been in business in New York for the past five years and has made frequent visits to this city.

LI'S FEATHER GONE

China's Viceroy Deprived of His Peacock's Tail.

Details of the Great Victory of the Japs over the Chinese—Over 14,000 Prisoners Taken—Fairly Well Treated—Eleven Officers and 260 Japanese Soldiers Killed.

London, Sept. 19.—The correspondent of the Central News in Shanhai telegraphs that an imperial edict has been issued depriving Viceroy Li Hung Chang of his three-eyed peacock feather, because of the mismanagement of the Korean campaign.

Taotai Sheng, it is reported, is intriguing against Li Hung Chang through the emperor's favorite teacher.

The Pall Mall Gazette's Shanghai correspondent says the Japanese are rapidly advancing upon Monkden.

The correspondent also says it is reported that Viceroy Li Hung Chang has been deposed.

After the first feeling of surprise at the Japanese victory has worn off, it is admitted by experts who know the respective qualities of the armies that the result is a natural one. Marshal Yamagata, the Japanese commander-in-chief, was trained in European schools and the other Japanese commanders and staff officers were similarly educated. The best friends of the Chinese do not believe them capable of holding the ports on the gulf of Perchili against the Japanese.

THE PING-YANG BATTLE.

Japanese Official Report Calls It a Great Victory.

London, Sept. 19.—The Central News says that an officer of the Japanese legation here has received the following private cable dispatch:

"Our army surrounded Ping-Yang on the 15th inst. and after severe fighting gained a great victory and captured the city.

"The number of the enemy killed, wounded or taken prisoners is immense. The Japanese lost only eleven officers and 260 soldiers killed or wounded."

A dispatch from Ping-Yang says an immense quantity of rifles and stores are stacked in the public square.

The Chinese who were taken prisoners are fairly well treated. They will be sent to Japan in batches of 1,000 each.

A cable dispatch has been received at the foreign office from the British minister at Tokio announcing the victory of the Japanese.

The dispatch, however, gives no details of the engagement.

A dispatch to the Times from Shanghai says that Japanese reports received there place the number of Chinese captured at Ping-Yang in the recent battle at 14,000, including four general officers.

Advices from Chemulpo state that there are 50,000 Chinese between Ping-Yang and Yalu. The Chinese lines are still interrupted.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette telegraphs:

"The Japanese in three divisions attacked Ping-Yang. The assault was entirely unexpected by the Chinese, who, though poorly armed, fought well behind their earthworks.

"After a series of desperate battles the Chinese were completely routed and all their arms, ammunition and stores were taken by the enemy.

"The fighting lasted throughout the night, bright moonlight enabling the Japanese to use their field guns with much execution.

"Three hundred Japanese were killed. The Ping-Yang garrison numbered 20,000."

The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News telegraphs as follows:

"While Chinese transports were landing troops at Yalu a Japanese fleet attacked the Chinese warships convoying the transports. A severe battle followed. The Chin-Yuen and another Chinese warship were sunk and the Chao Yung and Yang Wei went ashore. The Japanese lost three vessels. It is reported that the Chinese admiral, Ting, and Colonel von Hannecken and another foreigner were killed.

Bicycle Record Broken.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 19.—In the bicycle races here E. E. Anderson, of Roodhouse, Ill., broke the world's record for class A, unpaced mile, covering the distance in 2:25, two seconds faster than the best previous time made by Frank Gardner at Syracuse, N. Y., on Labor day.

DEPEW ON CALAMITY HOWLS.

A New Era of Prosperity Opens With the Tariff Settlement.

(Depew's Interview in New York Herald.)

The settlement of the tariff question is the beginning of a new era of prosperity. The country has passed through the most serious industrial and financial distress in its history. The new tariff does not change materially the McKinley law, but we now know what the situation is to be for a long time to come.

There will always be an agitation more or less formidable toward free trade, but the frightful losses in business and investments and the unprecedented number of people thrown out of employment during the past year, all of which is charged in the public mind to so called tariff reform, will prevent any great change in the revenue system for a generation to come.

Confidence is restored—that means everything to us. The industrial energy of the 70,000,000 people in the country, not yet fully developed, is resistless when credit and stability are assured. The consuming and purchasing powers of this homogeneous population make prosperity for every business, regardless of foreign demands.

There is no end of idle money which will now seek active employment. In less than two years the panic of 1893 94 will be forgotten. Mines, furnaces, mills and factories will be in full operation; railroads will be conveying profitable traffic, and the movement of internal commerce and the free circulation of currency or the equivalent in business and wages will certainly increase the demand for everything produced upon the farm or elsewhere.

There will be some setbacks, but only temporary, and they will be followed by greater activity. The next six years will, in my judgment, mark a gratifying advance in the solid prosperity of the country. Beyond that period it would be rash to predict, because of the speculative tendencies which come with expanding credit.

We have touched bottom and scraped along it. We are now off the rocks and away from the breakers. The panic was, in a sense, sentimental, and all that sentiment will soon be practically expressed in unbounded confidence in the future.

These ideas may seem optimistic, but the United States is an optimistic country. Our resources may be temporarily paralyzed, but with certainty as to currency and tariff legislation we are ripe for a long period of prosperity in business, good wages and full employment for labor.

Preserve the Palisades.

[From The Elizabeth Journal.]

The New York Sun thus invites the State of New Jersey to buy and preserve the Palisades:

There is only one practical way to preserve the Palisades, the cliffs which give extraordinary beauty to the Hudson near its mouth, without making the traveler wait until he reaches the Highlands, forty miles up. It is for the State of New Jersey to buy them and to put them in a park.

It ought not to be a very expensive operation. The property adjoining the narrow strip necessary to keep this line of rock intact, ought to become valuable after a guarantee that the rock would be kept. The Palisades constitute a natural feature of such peculiar character and interest that its owner is, to a certain extent, a trustee against their destruction.

Although a Jerseyman has to leave the State to enjoy them to full advantage, nevertheless it is New Jersey's place to guard them for the general good and delectation.

New Jersey ought to do something toward preserving these rocks. But, after all, New Jersey has the least opportunity to enjoy their beauty. New York gets far more pleasure from them, and New York should be willing to advance a large amount of the money necessary to buy them. For, if they were preserved in a park the New York people would visit the Park much oftener than would New Jersey people. Suppose New York leads off with a good round subscription; New Jersey would doubtless follow.

Death of Mrs. Greder.

The death of Mrs. Louisa Greder, wife of Charles Greder, occurred yesterday morning at 8 after an illness of a year. Although a great sufferer Mrs. Greder continued her work as usual after the fatal disease set in and it was scarcely a month ago when she gave up and took to her bed.

Mrs. Greder was in her fifty-third year. Besides her husband there survive her three daughters and two sons, all grown. They are Mrs. Kirkman of Rahway, Charles Greder, Jr., of Dues street, and Lizzie, Amelia and George Greder, who live at home. The funeral will be held from the house, 66 Somerset street, Friday afternoon at 2:30.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The younger riders complain of the omission of the usual boys race among the seven arranged for the next meet.

The shotgun offered as a Class B prize for Sept. 29 is the one which the Pope Manufacturing Company gave the club for an earlier meet when no Class B races were run.

"Jonah", writing in the current number of The Wheel, says: "Plainfield pluck will soon become as proverbial in wheeling as 'Yale luck' in general athletics. Notwithstanding three unaccountable 'knock-outs', the Crescent Wheelmen refuse to permit a 'drag-out', and announce another meet for the 29th. It is to be hoped that by that time the Plainfield plutocrats will have been shamed into an appreciation of the perfect and costly track the enterprise and liberality of their fellow-townsmen on wheels have provided. Crescent Oval needs patronage to make it a formidable rival of Springfield, Denver and Waltham. Is there not enough local pride in plethoric Plainfield for this?"

Following is the prize list of the Crescent Wheelmen's fourth grand race meet to be held September 29: First race, one mile novice—New York Times medal, donated by New York Times, $50; silver medal, $10; bronze medal, $5. Second race, one mile scratch, Class A—diamond stud, $40; diamond stud, $20; gold scarf pin, $10. Third race, two-thirds mile scratch, Class B—high grade bicycle $125; diamond stud, $40; New York Belt and Pack Company's tires, $15. Fourth race, one mile handicap, Class A—silver tea set, $30; silver water pitcher, 15; bicyle lamp, $5 Fifth race, one mile scratch, Class B—high grade bicycle $125; diamond ring, $50; diamond stud, $20. Sixth race, five mile handicap, Class A—gold stop watch, $50; silver watch, $20; gold ring, $10. Sixth race, two mile handicap, Class B—high grade bicycle, $150; double-barrel shotgun, donated by Pope Manufacturing Co., $70; diamond stud $25

In these later days of building bicycle tracks and breaking records, it is considered by the Elizabeth Journal a little surprising that no improvements of consequence has been made in the tracks. Various schemes have been tried. Kite-shaped tracks have been built, oval tracks have been laid; half-mile, quarter-mile, third-mile tracks, are to be found in great numbers. Tracks that are properly banked at the turns are few in number; tracks improperly banked are the rule. In view of the great difficulty in banking, etc., it seems singular that the French system of building perfectly circular tracks has never been tried here. With oval or kite-shaped tracks the rider has to change from a straightaway motion to circular and back again. This always results in disadvantages to some of the riders, and is always more or less dangerous. With a circular track the rider sets his motion and keeps it without change, and it is, say Zimmerman and others, so nearly like riding in a straight line that the difference is unappreciable. The idea is one that appears, at least, to be worthy of a fair trial.

Y. M. C. A. Juniors.

A meeting the Young Men's Auxiliary was held last night in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. This was the first meeting since June, and the programme for next Tuesday's meeting was all the important business transacted. Each member will then speak upon his vacation and what he has derived from it. The officers for the Fall and Winter are:

President—T. Wilbur Cornwell.
Secretary—Irving Smith.
Treasurer—Philip Suffren.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

F. Ludwig Conde is welcomed home from Europe.

Mrs. S. C. Rock is visiting at her husband's old home, Milford, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schuyler, Jr., have returned from their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brower of Watchung avenue have returned from their Summer vacation.

Miss Maud Middleditch of Park avenue gives a tea this afternoon in honor of her guest, Miss Lombdin.

Miss Sadie Grant, daughter of Police Captain Grant, left town for Buffalo this morning to resume her Chautauquan work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A Garrigues have returned to their home, 111 East Sixth street, after a two-months stay at Seabright.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clark of Crescent avenue are planning a trip to Europe, and expect to sail Saturday next in the Campania.

Walter B. Rittenhouse of East Sixth street is expected to return to his home today after spending his Summer at Beach Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Rittenhouse, and children George and Frances, returned yesterday after a short visit to relatives in Morris Plains.

Joseph Lowden, city editor of the Elizabeth Journal, one of the hardest working and most conscientious newspaper men of the State, was a welcome visitor to The Daily Press yesterday.

Miss Gertrude, daughter of A. W. Hatfland of Rockview avenue, has returned from Garrisons-on-the-Hudson to resume her studies at the Plainfield Seminary. She is a guest in the home of J. J. Henderson of Rockview avenue.

A german was given in the Casino last night under the management of Miss Grace Cooley and Miss Maude Van Boskerck. The dance was led by Miss Cooley and Clifford McGee, about 36 of the younger set participating. The favors were pretty. Eisner of Newark furnished the music.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The Young People's Society Endeavor of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church will conduct a harvest festival in their church parlors tomorrow evening. Refreshments, including ice-cream, cake, peaches and lemonade will be on sale during the evening. The committee of arrangements, consisting of Miss Elizabeth Titsworth, Miss Ida Randolph and Mrs. Joseph Miller, have been working energetically to make it a success, and will introduce several novel features. There will be no charge for admittance, and all are invited to attend.

The Union County Executive Committee have elected the chairmen of the various departments. They are to appoint their own assistants, and report the names of the same to the executive committee at the next meeting to be held the last week in September. The chairmen are as follows: Junior Work—Mrs. W. S. Lowry, 1021 Sherman avenue, Plainfield. Missionary Work—Spencer A. Vanderveer, Elizabeth. Temperance and Good Citizenship—Joseph G. Coleman, Elizabeth. Bible Study—Fred G. Williams, Rahway. Evangelistic Work and Church Attendance—George W. Cross, Westfield. Look-out and Prayer Meetings—Chas. T. Bingham, Cranford. Social Work—E. E. Anthony, Plainfield. Flower and Sick Visitation—Miss Louise Mason. Good Literature—F. E Valentine, Cranford. Press—Joseph D. Lowden, Elizabeth.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Owing to the storm on Sunday night Rev. Mr. Thompson of South Plainfield did not lead the Gospel services at the Third Street Mission, but will speak at the meeting tomorrow evening at 9.

Svenek Predikning by Pastor Aldberg of Newark will be held in the Park Ave. Baptist Church on Friday evening, at 7:30. All Scandinavians welcome. Those employing Scandinavians are requested to extend notice.

Uncle Sam's Faithful Servants.

Postmaster Herfield is determined to serve the public. He contemplates various improvements in the matter of letter-box locations, and has already placed two new boxes. He has erected one of the new variety at La Grande and Watchung avenues, and one of the old style at Second and Washington streets. The box that formerly stood in front of the home of J. W. Yates on East Seventh street has been shifted to the corner of Park avenue.

Mr. Homan is building a new mail wagon for the service between the office and the station.

Mail carrier Fissbie will have a new uniform next week, with storm-weather outfit.

Beginning the Sewer Work.

Cook & Co. expected that their horses and a part of the material would reach Plainfield last night, but they did not arrive. The work will therefore not be begun before Friday or Saturday, as the engineers will not allow ground to be broken until the contractors are ready to lay the pipe.

Mr. Prout says that operations will be commenced on Woodland avenue, as it is thought that the trouble caused by water will be the greatest in that neighborhood.

—Twenty scholars are wanted to learn the banjo, mandoline and guitar; also 20 that understand how to play. Call at Hulett's tomorrow.

FIGHTING FOR LIFE.

A Suffering Woman Testifies.

Mrs. Henrietta Burton, of Janvier, N. J., writes: For a long time I suffered from a disordered stomach. My appetite was gone and what little I ate distressed me terribly. My health failed rapidly. I became very weak and feared I should never be well. After reading your "Guide to Health," I was encouraged to try Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure. Its action was so prompt that I soon felt like a new woman, and am now completely cured."

MUNYON'S STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles such as constipation, rising of food, distress after eating, bloating of the stomach, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion. It soothes, heals and invigorates stomachs that have been weakened by over-eating, or where the lining of the stomach has been impaired by physic and injurious medicines. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

Record-Breaking Rain.

The rain storm which began in this vicinity at 6 yesterday morning is a record-breaker, not only for the year 1894 but for several years preceeding. Since old Jupiter Pluvius opened the sluice gates 2 27 inches have fallen, of which 1.18 inches fell between the hours of 8 and 10 this morning.

Court Nodyne.

Justice Nodyne has adjourned the contract case of W. W. Cortell against Adam Fritz to September 28, Brady Brothers against John Vetterlein to September 25 and Baker, Smith & Co. against Miller Brothers to September 25.

Diem's Version.

William Diem, of the wrecked driving party, says he was not drunk that night. He was the driver, and had only soda, lemonade, and cigars. The party did not leave for Pedeflou's till 1 a. m., left there at 4 a. m., and drove very slow.

Counsel Fees in the Stites Case.

Judge McCormick this morning said that he would allow $100 to each of the counsel in the Stites will case, except to Judge W. A. Coddington, and Mr. Marsh could settle with his own clients.

—Leggett sells fresh Huyler's.

—Home-made mince pies? They're choice at Gardner's.

The Result of a Feud.

Kennedy, Tex., Sept. 19.—Sam Bradley and Bill Bosworth, living three miles from town, started home in a wagon. They first met an old man and shot at him. Passing on a few hundred yards they met E. Burris and Theodore and Foster Butler, with whom they had a feud. Bradley opened fire on them, which was returned by Burris and the Butlers and Bosworth fell dead. Bradley survived a few hours. The Butlers and Burris' surrendered.

Woolen Mill Girls Go Out.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—One hundred girls employed at Campbell's woolen and cotton mills at Twenty-fifth street and Washington avenue, are on strike against a reduction of twenty per cent. in their wages. The girls refused to entertain a proposition to compromise. Six hundred other hands are employed at the mills, and work will not be interrupted by the strike.

Three Straight for Elliott.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 19.—J. A. R. Elliott won the final shoot of the series of three between himself and Dr. Carver for the championship of the world, making three straights for Elliott. The score was 96 to 95. The shooting was of a high class throughout and Elliott shot in a form which surprised even his own friends.

Not Affected With Pleuro-Pneumonia

Washington, Sept. 19.—Cable dispatches from Europe, repeating the often exploded rumor that American cattle arriving there were affected with pleuro-pneumonia, were brought to the attention of Mr. Dabney, assistant secretary of agriculture to-day. He said the report was wholly without foundation.

Silver Seignorage.

Washington, Sept. 19.—As a result of the coinage of silver bullion into standard silver dollars by the treasury department during the months of July and August just passed, silver seignorage, to the amount of $337,000 has accrued, which has been paid into the United States treasurer's cash.

Insane from Tooth Pulling.

Plattsburg, N. Y., Sept. 19.—James Farley, the proprietor of the Riverside hotel, who went insane Sunday night after having a tooth extracted, was found wandering in the woods about fifteen miles from here yesterday. He was locked up in jail for safe keeping, being very violent.

Shirt Factory Starts Up.

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 19.—The Puritan Shirt factory has started up after over a year's shut-down. When running at full capacity it employs about 120 hands.

Mills Resume Work.

Hancock, N. H., Sept. 19.—After being idle since the 23d of August, the mills here resumed work. A break was made by the Pembroke and Webster Monday morning, when a few weavers went to work, starting about seventy-five looms. To-day 200 looms were running, and spinners and others are fast returning to work. At the largest mill, the China, nothing has yet been done toward starting up.

Scared To Death.

Vienna, Sept. 19.—A hypnotic seance given last evening in the house of a wealthy landowner named Salomon at Nyiregyhaza, Hungary, had a fatal result. The landowner's daughter Ella was one of the subjects experimented with. While she was in the hypnotic state, the hypnotizer, a man named Nessor, told her that she was afflicted with consumption. The girl shrieked and immediately fell dead.

CROP CONDITIONS.

Generally Favorable Reports Received at the Weather Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 19.—From telegraphic reports received at the weather bureau the following crop conditions for the week ended yesterday are collated:

New England—Weather favorable; little damage from frosts; rains heavy in central and northwest portions, light in east; fall plowing and seeding began and seed starting well; harvesting under way; cranberries very light; corn good; late potatoes better than expected.

New York—Warm and rainy; growth of vegetation almost spring like; late potatoes greatly improved; hop picking about over, quality good; seeding and cutting of corn and buckwheat progressing favorably; no damage from frosts.

New Jersey—Condition favorable for plowing and seeding in all sections; late truck greatly benefitted by well distributed rains; corn will yield better than expected in many localities; meadows much improved; grass, rye and clover growing fast; corn cutting general.

Pennsylvania—Pasturage much improved and late corn benefitted; early corn cut; late buckwheat a fair crop.

WANT WAGES RAISED.

Mill Hands at North Adams Demand the Old Schedule.

North Adams, Mass., Sept. 19.—The employes of the North Adams Manufacturing company whose mill is at Braytonville, and which manufactures high grade woolens, struck for a restoration of wages to the price paid before a reduction of ten per cent. was made last March. The company promised when the reduction was made, to restore the former scale of prices as soon as the condition of trade would permit, and some of the weavers, believing trade has improved sufficiently lately for the company to fulfil this promise, sent a committee to the superintendent to request it. On being told that the company did not feel able at present to restore former wages the weavers at once quit work. All the other employes remained out also. The superintendent of the mill states that his company was one of the last to reduce wages and then did not cut near so much as many others. He further states that his mill will be the first to restore the former scale, but as prices are now it cannot be done yet. The mill employs about 200 hands.

A RIOT IN CHICAGO.

Pinkerton Men Try To Raid a Gambling House.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—A crowd of 5,000 persons massed in front of Varnell's gambling house in Clark street and witnessed a combat between a force of twenty-five Pinkerton detectives and 100 or more gamblers.

Thus far firearms have not been resorted to, but many on both sides have been seriously wounded by clubs, hammers, etc.

The fight was the outcome of an attempt on the part of the Pinkertons to raid the gambling house.

There will be another attempt to raid the gambling house.

Keeping Whale Catches Secret.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 19.—Word has been received in this city that the whaling schooner Ada Babson, of this port, is at Flores, Western Islands, with 550 barrels of sperm oil this season. It is also reported here that the little whaling schooner La Ninfa, which wintered at the mouth of the Mackenzie river in the Arctic ocean, has six whales, making 9,000 pounds of whalebone. If this report be authentic it is thought that the other whalers at the same place have made big catches which are being kept secret on on acount of the bone market, which would be greatly affected by the news of a big catch of bone.

A Husband's Vengeance.

Huntington, W. Va., Sept. 19.—At West Graham, a small town on the line of the Norfolk & Western railroad, Thomas Moses inveigled the wife of August Nida to a vacant building for immoral purposes. The husband learned of this, and arming himself with two revolvers, went to the place, making an attack on the couple. A shot through the heart killed Moses, and the woman was also shot, and it is thought she will die.

WHAT THEY HAVE DONE.

A YEAR OF WORK.

Heads of Departments Review Their Labors—Celebrated Mrs. Matthews Discusses Unfermented Wine.

The afternoon session of the county convention of the W. C. T. U. was made particularly interesting by the reading of detailed reports of the work in the different departments.

The devotions were led with prayer by Mrs. I. H. Demarest. The Executive Committee then made their appointments, and officers were elected as reported fully in The Press of yesterday. Miss Amy Green of Plainfield was chosen county president of the Y. W. C. T. U. The committee urged each union to increase its contribution to the county work.

The first report read was that of Mrs. Hough of Elizabeth, county superintendent of the evangelistic department. The number of gospel meetings held in Plainfield were 104; Elizabeth No. 1, 100; Elizabeth No. 2, 100; Rahway, 62; Westfield, 50. Besides these mothers meetings had been held and charitable work done.

Miss. M. Titus of Westfield reported that but a few unions were at work in her department for the soldiers, sailors, firemen and railroad men. Boxes of papers had been sent to the life-saving stations. The presidents should appoint local superintendents.

The juvenile department report of Miss S. J. Keron of Elizabeth was especially interesting to the members. Dunellen had made no report. Plainfield had enrolled 110 children who had raised and distributed $14.50. Miss Winter was the superintendent. In Westfield the L. T. L., organized August 22, had 51 members who had been instructed by Miss Peck and were at present under the charge of Miss Starr. Rahway's Co. B, L. T. L., had 160 members who raised $13 37 and distributed pamphlets under the direction of the Y's and Miss Underhill, the superintendent. Elizabeth No. 1, Co. D, 75 members, was self supporting under the superintendency of Mrs. Phares, and had raised $75. Elizabeth No. 2, Co. E, with 130 members, had raised $166.25, distributed pamphlets and had an excursion under Miss Keron's care. The South Broad Street branch of No. 2 included 44 children who had raised $2 50, meeting every Monday afternoon. The total county membership was 570.

Mrs. Rarick of Dunellen, department of literature, gave a detailed statement of the number of pamphlets distributed and periodicals subscribed for. Miss Essie Jacques of Westfield, in connection with temperance lessons in schools, urged the unions to take more interest in the public schools and to see that the proper temperance books were used. Miss M. L. Underhill of Rahway presented the individual reports of the flower mission and referred to the good such work accomplished.

Mrs. J. H. Coard of Plainfield was called on for the health and heredity department, but replied that she had understood that her resignation of two years ago had been accepted. Miss Keron said she had taken the place of Mrs. TenEyck of Elizabeth in the prison and almshouse branch. In the jail the Episcopalians held service every Friday morning, and the W. C. T. U. had but a small place to fit in. About 14 women were the most in prison at one time. Among these the local unions worked. Three missions in New York kindly afforded refuge to homeless women after leaving the jail.

Mrs. J. U. Underhill of Rahway had no report of the unfermented wine department. Mrs. Tomlinson said that about all of the churches had introduced the unfermented wine at communion. Mrs. Stephen Matthews of London told of her experience in this line.

Mrs. M. F. Francis of Elizabeth reported the following parlor meetings: Dunellen, 1; Plainfield, 4; Westfield, 3; Cranford, 2; Elizabeth, No. 1, 3; Elizabeth, No. 2, 2. Good results were invariably obtained at these meetings. Seventeen new members were enrolled at parlor sessions. The salute was given to the national delegate of the department of parlor meeting, Mrs. Tomlinson.

Mrs. S. R. Krom of this city gave details of the press work which she had superintended. Of the 15 papers in Union County all published temperance matter when furnished. No religious or temperance papers were published in the county. Most of the work had apparently been done in Elizabeth, no record having been kept in Plainfield.

Mrs. B. F. Carpenter of Roselle, department of purity, said there were two superintendents of social purity. Elizabeth No. 2 had distributed copies of The Philantrophist and had protested against features of the Waverly Fair. In Dunellen a paper had been requested to stop publishing immoral reading, and the editor announced his resolution to comply. Mrs. Tomlinson said that the Plainfield Common Council had been petitioned to prohibit the posting of immoral bills.

Mrs. Tomlinson said the kitchen garden department had been dropped because so few had been established in the State. Mrs. Tomlinson's letter in regard to the Plainfield garden, the only one in the county, was read. During the year 68 sessions had been held, with 52 members enrolled. "Seeds" of neatness, order, thoroughness, gentleness and usefulness were planted. Miss Smith of Bloomfield, formerly of Plainfield, supplemented this with remarks on the temperance movement among the children.

Mrs. T. C. Bodine of Dunellen reported from the tobacco and narcotics department. She told especially of what had been accomplished in her union. Mrs. G. S. Baker began her paper on the country's progress in the suffrage movement with statements of who opposed it and what had been done in New York. There were five superintendents in Union County and the press was liberal on the subject. She read from The Elizabeth Journal an article on woman's political standing in New Jersey, showing that she had been deprived of what had been her right in the early part of the history of the State. The women had been most progressive in Westfield at a school election.

Mrs. L. Using of Cranford, department of work among foreigners, said there were only two superintendents in the [illegible] and Elizabeth [illegible] had been made and pamphlets distributed. She said she was [illegible] born [illegible] all experienced.

The matter of maintaining drinking fountains was discussed. Some had not been established because no one would allow them in front of their property. Mrs. N. E. Kimball remarked that the local C. E. Union had placed one directly in front of Smith's liquor saloon. Miss Peck said that a circular fountain for men and horses both would probably soon be placed on North avenue.

Miss Amy Green's statement of Y. W. C. T. U. work was read by Miss Lulu Lewis. Rahway had four parlor meetings and two socials. The 74 members included 47 active and 27 honorary. The L. T. L. and the flower mission were the principal departments. Miss Charlotte W. Mershon was the leader. Westfield had no report. Plainfield had 100 members who met each week. Lectures were given from the blackboard and the manual. A band of mercy and a penny provident society had been formed among the children. An entertainment in February netted $14. The hospital had been visited weekly and money had been raised for various purposes.

Mrs. F. R. Baker of Westfield, department of colored work, said that Dunellen had done nothing because of the small colored population. Elizabeth No. 2 had two colored members. In Rahway a colored union of 15 members was at work. Plainfield was trying to secure a superintendent. In Westfield an attempt was being made to do something.

Mrs. Matthews spoke for half an hour on the unfermented wine question. She had studied the position of the Bible in the matter for two years in the different languages. She told the story of the miracle of the wedding and made clear the distinction which she said the Bible made between the unfermented juice and intoxicating drink. Rev. W. R. Richards spoke on the prospects of the temperance crusade. He hoped it would be as successful politically as the anti-race-track movement.

Miss Peck told how much good the soup-kitchen had accomplished. Mrs. Tomlinson replied to question-box slips asking about various details of union proceedings.

Mrs. Deland, of the Resolutions Committee, reported resolutions, and on motion they were adopted. By them the convention thanked the local union and the Seventh-Day Baptist Church for their hospitality, referred tenderly to the death of their members, and recommended the founding of a house of refuge for women. The tenth convention was then adjourned.

In the evening Mrs. Matthews, the organizer of the Woman's Temperance Associations of England, made an address to an interested audience. The attendance, in spite of the storm, was larger than had been expected.

Mrs. Matthews presented a view of the temperance question from a British standpoint. She told of how the work there was progressing, with what difficulties they met and how they overcame them. She is a co-worker with Lady Henry Somerset and takes the same stand on the relation of woman to temperance. The association in which Mrs. Matthews labors is composed of white ribboners, who are organized in the same way as the women of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Matthews, who is on a lecturing trip, is now being entertained by W. Jennings Demorest of New York. She will probably speak in other towns in Union County.

The Tariff

has got nothing to do with the Great Inter-State Fair, at Trenton—neither has the "hard times", that bugaboo of the small country fairs. Secretary Muirheid's stream of advertising matter is bigger than ever, and he is spending more money for sensational attractions than any fair ever did before in the history of the country.

Buffalo Bill's Troupe of Arab Jugglers and Tumblers, Herr Zeitung, the bullet-proof-coat man (who will be shot at), the Flying Jordans, the Davenport Brothers, Marlow and Dunham, Lamonthe and Ducrow, Ramza and Arno, and Calverly, the high-wire walker who was nearly killed by his fall last year, comprise some of the features.

Preparations are making now to feed upwards of 70,000 people a day every day of the fair, so as to forestall any possible size crowd.

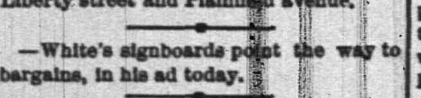
Aside from caring for the creature comforts and the sights to be seen, the management of the Inter-State Fair is such as to make a man glad he went to Trenton to "take it in".

Better go; you'll regret it if you miss it. Trenton, Sept. 24 to 28.

Doing the Right Thing.

The Central Railroad have shipped to Plainfield the mine rock necessary for the improvements on the embankment. The company promises Street Commissioner B. A. Meeker that walls be built to the track level at each bridge in the city, and also along West Second street between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue.

—White's signboards point the way to bargains, in his ad today.



SMALL BUT EFFECTIVE,

Was the little Monitor that met the Merrimac at Hampton Roads. So too are Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, effective in conquering the enemy—disease. When you take a pill it's an important point to have them small—provided they have equal strength and efficacy. You find what you want in these little liver pills of Dr. Pierce. They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge old-fashioned pills. What you want when you're "all out of sorts"—grumpy, thick-headed and take a gloomy view of life, is these Pellets to clear up your system and start your liver into healthful action. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. Put up in sealed glass vials, and always fresh and reliable.

JAMES WILLIAM CRAIG, Esq., of Georgetown, Ky., says: "My wife thinks your little 'Pellets' are the greatest pills out."

ARRESTED AT HIS WEDDING.

Police Sergeant Kiely Captures a Bridegroom Fugitive from Justice.

Sergeant Kiely went to Cranford last night and returned with a prisoner whom he had arrested at his wedding celebration. The man was Charles Kelly, gardener for T. B. Penton, Jr., of Rockview avenue.

Kelly was arrested in the Spring on a charge of assisting a prisoner to escape. As will be remembered his fellow-workman, Coachman Thomas Boohan, was charged with breach of promise by a young woman from New Brunswick. Constable Frank Vanderhoff arrested him and then returned with him to Rockview avenue.

Boohan went into the house and said he would see Mr. Penton in regard to getting bail. He did n't come back and the constable found he had lost his man. In the morning Vanderhoff and Marshal Wilson shot at but failed to catch Boohan as he drove out with Kelley and then left the rig and ran away.

Mr. Penton gave $200 bonds for Kelly's appearance before the Grand Jury this Fall. Then Kelly went back to work and nothing occurred until two weeks ago when he was quietly married to Miss Gaynor of LaGrande avenue. Mrs. Kelly remained at her home.

Kelly moved his trunk away from Mr. Penton's house Monday morning. Mr. Penton feared he was going to lose the $200 and reported to the police. Sergeant Kiely discovered where the trunk was and planned to catch Kelly when he came for it. The man returned from New York yesterday and said he was coming back to work, so the trunk was not watched.

Yesterday Kelly removed his goods from the trunk in bundles and in the afternoon went to Cranford, where he was joined later by his wife. They went to the home of Mrs. Kelly's friend, Mrs. Maloney and began to celebrate the wedding in a jolly way with other friends. Sergant Kiely appeared at 10 and arrested the happy groom and took him to the North Plainfield lockup. Mr. Penton has withdrawn his bond and Kelly will stay in prison till the Grand Jury meets.

DON'T MISS THIS CHANCE.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company's Tour to the South—The Last of the Season.

The last of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's tours to the South, for the season, will leave New York and Philadelphia on September 29.

This tour passes through the most beautiful sections of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, particularly fine at this time of the year, and the specific points covered are Gettysburg, Blue Mountain, Luray Caverns, Natural Bridge, the Grottoes of the Shenandoah, and the cities of Richmond and Washington.

The party will travel in special train of parlor cars, provided exclusively for their use, and the rate for the entire round trip, covering a period of ten days, and including all traveling expenses, is $55 from New York and $53 from Philadelphia.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes, special train service, descriptive notes, etc., apply to or address Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway, N. Y., or Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

The Plainfield Bowling Club.

At a meeting of bowling members of the Board of Trade and the Crescent Wheelmen held in the parlors of the club-house last evening it was decided to organize a team to be known as the Plainfield Bowling Club. Only members of the Crescents or the Board of Trade will be eligible.

Eleven members gave in their names and paid the initiation fee. H. C. VanEmburgh, J. P. Emmons, B. T. Barnes, W. J. Stephenson and C E Vail were appointed to arrange affairs in general. The following officers were then elected:

President and Captain—H. C. VanEmburgh.
Treasurer—C. E. Vail.
Secretary—John Petrie.

It is probable that the new team will enter the Journal League.

Mr. Heege Will Be Funny in Plainfield.

Actors have often had to suffer from the bad taste of friends and patrons, who offer some trifling civilities and expect a gratuitous exhibition in return. Such designs are sometimes pleasantly frustrated be it said to the credit of the actor. Gus Heege was recently invited to a dinner and divining that he had been asked for the special entertainment of the company, the young comedian purposely remained as dull and silent as possible. One of the party finally losing all patience, exclaimed "Come, Mr. Heege, when do you intend to begin to be comical?" "Gad", said the actor, rising, "I forgot my fool's dress, but I 'll go and fetch it if you will be my substitute until I return." This was considered very droll but Heege "Never came back".

A Plainfield Football Crack.

Among the football players who reported yesterday to Captain Trenchard of the Princeton 'varsity eleven for practice was Everett Dwight, son of Rev. M. E Dwight of Rockview avenue. Before his graduation from Leal's School in 1893, Dwight was one of the crack players on the Leal's School eleven. On entering college, he immediately joined the football team, where, on account of his light weight, he was placed as quarter-back, in which position he played several games. This year he is one of the promising candidates, and will probably be one of those selected to defend his college in the championship games.

BY THE SKIN OF ITS TEETH.

The Piscataway School Appropriation Passed by a Majority of Two Votes.

In accordance with the call, which was the second one sent out by District School Clerk M. J. Whitford, this year, the citizens of Piscataway township turned out en masse yesterday afternoon and attended the school election in the New Market Public School which was for the purpose of giving the Commissioners $1,300 to run the schools the coming year. There was considerable opposition in the township, especially among the farmers.

One voter had a petition which he was circulating among those present asking for a repeal of the school law which he claimed was an outrage.

The meeting was called to order at 4 by H. C. Gaskill, who was chosen chairman, and Dr. R. J. Whitford acted as clerk.

Mr. Gaskill appointed Wm. Fitz Randolph as teller, and after Messrs. Randolph and Gaskill had written the object of the election on the blackboard, pieces of paper were passed around and the voting commenced. Considering the inclement weather the attendance of voters from the township was very large. A stage was run from Dunellen, making several trips, and bringing from twenty to twenty-five each time, among them a number of women. Those in favor of the appropriation thought it was outrageous that their children should be kept out of school and thus being obliged to lose valuable time.

The polls closed at 8, and after due time was given to count the votes the result was announced. The total number of votes cast was 200, 99 of which were against the appropriation and 101 for it.

PROGRESS IN CHINA.

The Wheels Move Slowly in the Dragon's Empire.

His Majesty the Emperor of China and the "Son of Heaven" is enjoying a train of miniature railroad cars, presented to him by the French syndicate of capitalists who wish to get contracts for building railways.

In China, they will wonder at its steam engine; and the six thousand electric lights which are now being introduced into the holiest of Chinese sanctuaries, cannot but turn their eyes to our civilization. It will not be long ere a material advancement will be made in the science of medicine, which has for so many centuries remained a blot upon their civilization.

The missionaries are doing much to dispel the mysticism and reverent awe which the Chinaman holds for the concoctions of snakes, toads, lizards, etc., prepared by the native doctors. They recommend standard remedies which have long been favorably known in America and Europe, such as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a remedy for all cases of blood-taints or humors, which has had years of uninterrupted success in the United States and numbers its cures by the ten of thousands. This is a point gained for the future welfare of the Dragomen Empire.

No Privileges for Simmonds.

In the columns of the paper on which he is employed, Albert P. Simmonds last night charged Policeman Cooney with being too officious and exceeding his duty in ordering him to "Move on!"

Complaint was made by Mr. Simmonds to Capt. Grant, who told him to appear this evening before the Mayor.

Capt. Grant says Policeman Cooney did just right, as Mr. Simmonds and others were blockading the Park avenue sidewalk at its narrowest point, so that a man and his wife were prevented from passing. The Chief says no officer has a right to show any partiality, and that the moment Mr. Simmonds refused to move on he became a disorderly person liable to arrest.

Another Chance to Hear Her.

Mrs. Stephen Matthews will address the W. C. T. U. at their rooms, Watchung avenue and East Fourth street, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry, and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

SWEPT BY A TORNADO

Fifty Houses Destroyed and Several People Killed.

Overturned Stoves Set Fire to the Ruins—A Family Supposed To Have Been Lost in Forest Fires—Hunters Burned To Death—Large Prairie Destroyed.

Perry, O. T., Sept. 19.—A tornado from the southwest descended without a moment's warning upon the towns of Jennings and Mining.

Fifty homes were demolished in the two places, and it is known three persons, a young woman and two children are dead and several persons are injured. The wreck was universal, and the injured were exposed for several hours or until rescuers from adjoining towns arrived.

In the town of Mining the overturned stoves set fire to the ruins and the place was entirely swept over. Farmers from the surrounding country flocked in and did all in their power to save property and care for those hurt.

The storm cut down all the wires and leaves no source of information except the first reports of couriers.

LOST IN FOREST FIRES.

A Minneapolis Family Supposed To Have Perished.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Andersen, of 35 Washington avenue, states that Mrs. Haley and family of six children, accompanied by Mr. Collins and Mr. Ruby, all of whom start from Minneapolis for Canada three weeks ago, were lost in the forest fires. They left in a farmer's wagon. It was just possible for them to reach the vicinity of Hinckley in the time which intervened between their departure from Minneapolis and the fatal Saturday's fire. No word has been received from the party since their departure. The party had some provisions with them and $24.50 in money.

Burned To Death.

Buffalo, Minn., Sept. 19.—Jackson Taylor, Lewis Guthrie and a small boy with a team left here about a month ago for a hunt on Groundhouse river. Since then nothing was heard from them until to-day, when word came that Guthrie and the boy were burned to death in the late fire and Mr. Taylor so seriously burned that he cannot live. Mr. Taylor was more than 75 years of age and the first settler in Buffalo.

Large Prairie Fires.

Anoka, Minn., Sept. 19.—Extensive prairie fires are raging east and northeast of Anoka in Grow and Ham Lake townships. The flames can be seen and clouds of smoke extend from due east north as far as the eye can see. A high wind prevails. Large quantities of hay are surely burned.

WE TAKE PLEASURE

In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Tuesday, Sept. 22 to Saturday, Sept. 28. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c., worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks

We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gent'emen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

Don't forget to look at our carpet display on 2d floor while you are at our millinery opening, Sept. 22 to 28.

$500 in Gold Given Away!
Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,
73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.
In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.
CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.
BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.
PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.
PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded, and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.
Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.
STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

REMARKABLE CURES

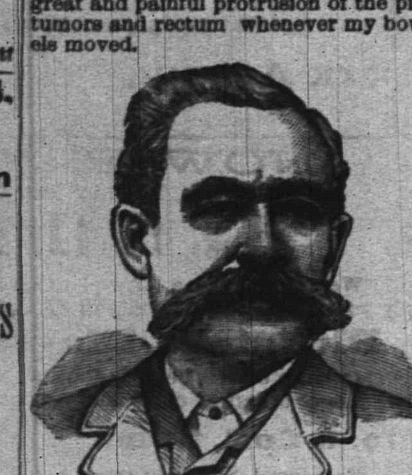
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

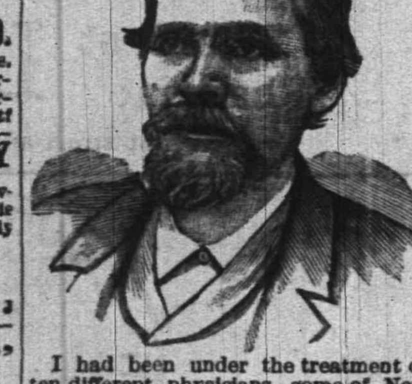
THE CASE OF MR PETER G EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

CHEN YUEN NOT SUNK

The Chinese Warship Badly Damaged, However.

Other Ships Sent to the Bottom as Stated—Comment of the British Press on the Engagement—News of Total Annihilation of the Manchurian Army Received at Washington.

London, Sept. 20.—Dispatches from Shanghai say that despite the previous dispatch stating that the Chinese warship Chen Yuen was sunk in the engagement off the mouth of the Yalu river, it seems certain that she was not sunk, though she is badly damaged. At the same time it seems equally certain that the Chih Yuen and the other Chinese ships mentioned were sent to the bottom as stated.

London, Sept. 20.—A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai, dated at 9:35 o'clock this morning (September 20), states that the Chinese warships which were engaged in the naval battle at Yalu on the 17th were the Ting Yuen, Chin Yuen, King Yuen, Ping Yuen, Lai Yuen, Chih Yuen, Tsu Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chao Yong, Yang Wei, Kuang Chai, Kuang Ping and four torpedo boats. This fleet was conveying six transports loaded with troops which were enroute to reinforce the Chinese army at Yichow. The fleet arrived off the eastern entrance to Yalu on the morning of the 17th, intending to land the troops inside the mouth of the river. At noon on that day a Japanese fleet, consisting of nineteen warships, appeared off the entrance to the harbor and immediately opened fire upon the transports.

The Chinese fought until dark, when the Japanese fleet retired, supposedly on account of a shortage of ammunition. The Japanese warships Abushima and Yoshima and the transport Saikio were damaged, but to what extent has not yet been learned. The Chinese fleet, with the exception of the King Yuen, Chih Yuen, Chao Yung and Yang Wei, returned to Wei-Hai-Wei with the transports. All the vessels were greatly damaged. It is reported that the transport Toon An was lost, but this is regarded as doubtful.

The Chinese fleet has gone to Port Arthur for repairs.

Admiral Ting and Col. Hannecken were slightly wounded but have resumed their duties.

London, Sept. 20.—The Post says the boast of Count Ito, prime minister of Japan, that the Japanese were the next strongest fleet to that of China in the northern Pacific and far more serviceable has been amply justified, but there is no reason to suppose that China will not wipe out the Yalu disaster in subsequent engagements.

The Standard speaks in high praise of the tactics of the Japanese admiral in securing a position of rare advantage and expresses the opinion that it is exceedingly unlikely that China will recover her position in Korea for a long time to come, if ever. "Japan's arrangement of the campaign," the Standard says, "contrasts strikingly with the utter want of definite and decided preparations on the part of China. There is something almost childish in the latter's conduct."

The article concludes by urging that the time is propitious for the powers to intervene, in spite of the failure of their previous efforts to prevent the outbreak.

The daily News, in an article commenting on the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river, says: "We withhold our estimate of the consequences of the battle owing to the fact that the accounts of the fighting are still too meagre to enable us to determine the result of the fighting. It is our opinion, however, that if Gen. Yamagata captured Korea he will lose it again, unless the Japanese fleet gains command of the sea. The war remains primarily a naval one.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Secretary Gresham made public three cablegrams from the American representatives in China and Korea which officially confirm the decisive engagements announced in the United Press dispatches yesterday. Two of the cablegrams reached Washington late last night and one early this morning, but on account of the errors in transmitting the cipher they were not translated for several hours. The first came from Minister Dun at Tokio, Japan, dated Sept. 18, and was as follows: "Sill asks please cable state department Chinese army totally annihilated at Piiang Yung 16th September."

Sill is the United States minister at Seoul, Korea, and Piiang Yung is identical with Ping Yang, the discrepancy in spelling being due to the difference to the Chinese and Japanese pronunciation. As cablegraphic communication is understood to be destroyed between Seoul and Japan this message was probably sent by steamer to Nagaski and thence to Tokio by wire. Officials at the state department think that Japanese in the north of Korea must have established a militia telegraph line with Seoul for their own purposes of communication, for otherwise Minister Sill could not have learned of the battle of the 16th and reported it so promptly.

The second telegram was from Charge d'Affaires Charles Denby, jr., at Pekin, dated Sept. 18, which simply announced:

"Telegraphic communication between Pekin and Chinese army in Korea cut off."

This is taken by the officials of the state department to indicate how thorough was the defeat of the Chinese at Ping Yang on Monday and as corroborating Minister Sill's use of the words "totally annihilated." Of course it is not understood that the Chinese soldiers were annihilated, but that the Manchurian army organization was utterly destroyed including its means of communication with Pekin.

The third dispatch, also from Mr. Denby, was dated Pekin, Sept. 18, and was as follows: "Naval engagement off North Korea 17th. Five Chinese and three Japanese vessels reported destroyed; fleet at Port Arthur."

It is presumed that the Chinese fleet went to Port Arthur and that the news of the battle reached Pekin from there.

No details of any of the battles are expected by cable messages.

FREE SILVER PLANK

Inserted by Ohio Democrats in Their Platform.

Calvin S. Brice Scathingly Denounced on the Floor of the Convention by John H. Clark of Youngstown—The Senator, However, Receives a Vote of Endorsement.

Columbus, O., Sept. 20.—By a large majority the democracy of Ohio, in state convention assembled, reversed the pronunciamentos of all previous state, as well as national gatherings of the party, in declaring unequivocally in favor of free silver. By a vote almost as large endorsement was given through the medium of an indirect resolution to the attitude taken by Senator Calvin S. Brice in the recent reform contest. The debate on these two issues occupied nearly four hours of the continuous session. In twelve minutes more the entire ticket had been nominated and the convention had adjourned sine die.

Probably no more dramatic scene has ever been witnessed in any state or national convention than that which occurred during the debate on the amendment to the platform providing for the future nominations of United States senators by vote of the state convention. Up to the calling of the convention to order it had been understood by all but a few of the uninitiated that the opposition to Senator Brice had been abandoned, and that the majority report of the committee on resolutions would be allowed to go through without amendment or protest. This much, at least, was the understanding of the senator and his immediate circle, and it was with a self-satisfied air and the bearing of a victor that Mr. Brice entered the wings and allowed himself to be escorted by Chairman Crites to a seat on the right of the chair and in full view of the audience.

His appearance was recognized with faint applause, and the convention having been called to order everything went as merry as a marriage bell until the report of the committee on resolutions had been presented. Then the storm-clouds began to gather and the glare of the footlights seemed to bring the form of the junior senator into bold relief. From his seat in the second row of the parquet, Congressman Tom L. Johnson arose, and, ignoring the vociferous demands that he should take the stage, submitted the minority resolutions instructing the incoming state committee to include in the business of the next convention the nomination of a United States senator. This was the formal announcement of hostilities. All eyes seemed to turn instinctively towards the junior senator. For a moment his face flushed and he chewed nervously at a toothpick between his teeth. The representative from the Cleveland district, however, had little to say in addition to the formal presentation of the minority report. It was the seconding speech of John H. Clark, of Youngstown, one of the best orators in the state, and a bitter opponent of the Brice regime, that sent the excitement to fever notch. Standing just beneath the platform, his silvery hair shining in the glare of the footlights, with outstretched arm and index finger quivering, hurling invective after invective, while less than fifteen feet away, with face pale and expressionless sat the object of his wrath and denunciation, the scene was well worthy of the brush and canvas of the painter.

"Who has a claim on the United States senate for life?" he demanded, and the audience shouted in response: "No one."

"No longer is the question," continued the speaker in impassioned tones, "when a senator is to be elected, what he is worth, what are his talents; what service has he done the state. The only issue is how much is he worth. In this republic is a man's head to be measured by the length of his purse? Is it not time that this question rose above men and above party? Do you not know that the United States senate has become a rich men's club; that it is the resting place of trusts and understandings and combines; that in it the sugar trust has raised its hydra-head, and in the name of the community of trusts has seized the democracy by the throat and compelled it to stand and deliver."

And so, to the accompaniment of cheers, hisses, cat-calls, yells and opprobious epithets, the impassioned orator went on, protected time and again by the chairman, until he had concluded of his own free will.

Meanwhile, Senator Brice sat immovable. The accuser was quivering, the accused might be likened to a block of marble. No direct reference to him had been made up to this time. It remained for his first spokesman, Jesse M. Lewis, of Urbana, to make a personal reference to the senator that had been assaulted and to plead that the democracy of Ohio ought not to execute a man first and try him afterward.

"Won't you defer judgment for a year?" he asked, but the answer came in a mighty shout of "No."

Congressman Johnson was then permitted to close the debate.

"I have no ill-feeling toward, or suspicion of Col. Brice," he declared. "He is my friend and I am admitted into his circle. He visits my house and I visit his, and I hope we will long continue to do so. I don't believe that he bought his seat in the United States senate, and I have said so time and again. Nor do I believe that the tariff bill just passed was the best bill for the country, but at the same time I believe that Col. Brice thought so and that he voted for it honestly."

Before leaving for Columbus Senator Brice said to the United Press reporter: "I do not consider myself or my future actions bound by the decision of the convention on the silver question.

"I shall act and I shall vote as I consider best for the financial and commercial interests of my country, regardless of the views of the Ohio democracy."

After the Sugar Trust.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The grand jury has decided to indict sugar trust officials. Although the bills have not yet been brought into court, they are expected within a few hours.

BALTIMORE PROTESTS.

Insists That the Chicago-New York Game of Sept. 18 Be Thrown Out.

Baltimore, Sept. 20.—Harry R. Vonderhorst, secretary and principal owner of the Baltimore baseball club, has sent a letter to President N. S. Young, of the National league, in which he says:

"I herewith transmit to you on the part of the Baltimore baseball club my emphatic protest against the recognition by the league of the game which was played in Chicago on Sept. 18 by the Chicago and New York clubs as a substitute for the game between those two clubs which was played in New York in August, 1894."

He demands that the New York-Chicago substitute game be expunged from the league record as a championship contest, and gives notice should the result of that game affect the championship of 1894, as regards the New York and Baltimore clubs, the Baltimore club will claim and assume the championship. The Baltimore club has never hesitated to sanction the transfer of a game from one city to another, says Mr. Vanderhorst, and while it has frequently played two games for one price of admission, it has never yet played one championship game twice and for two prices of admission.

MEDICAL STAFF VACANCIES.

Few Applicants for the Positions in New York State Hospitals.

Albany, Sept. 20.—The state civil service commission finds great difficulty in securing competitors for positions on medical staffs in the various state hospitals. The statutes provide for the appointment at each hospital of a woman physician at a salary of $1,000 per annum, with maintenance. There are also various positions on the medical staffs of the several hospitals with salaries ranging from $800 to $2,000 per annum, with board. Each hospital also employs an apothecary. Vacancies occur in these positions from time to time, and but few candidates appear for the examinations. There is not an eligible list at present from which apothecaries must be appointed, and the commission has ordered an open competitive examination of all applicants to be held at its offices in the capitol, on Wednesday, Oct. 3, at 10 o'clock. The salary paid in this position is from $30 to $50 per month, together with board.

Victory for Striking Tailors.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 20.—The big strike of the local assembly of the United Garment Cutters of America, was brought to an end last night through the mediation of the state board of arbitration, and on Monday 2,000 employes, who have been idle for two weeks, will resume work. It is a decided victory for the employes as the contractors have yielded every point, even to giving of bonds. The latter question has caused the breach to remain open the last five days.

The Hakes Family Reunion.

Albany, Sept. 20.—The Hakes family reunion at the Delavan house in this city was attended by about 100 descendants of Solomon Hakes, who landed in Westerly, R. I., from Devonshire, England, in 1709, and whose descendants now number 1,500. Among others present were Dr. Harry Hakes, of Wilkesbarre, president of the family, and Judge Hakes, of Hornellsville. Every northern state was represented except Maine and New Hampshire.

High Waters in New Jersey.

Somerville, N. J., Sept. 20.—It has rained heavily throughout the northern part of New Jersey for the last thirty-six hours, and all of the streams and lowlands are filled to overflowing. The Central railroad of New Jersey has sent a force of men to a point on the main line of the road near Valley station, to repair damages to the road which has been weakened by the heavy rain.

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Mr. Robert A. Hadfield, of Sheffield, England, and Miss Frances Belt Wickersham, daughter of the late Col. Samuel Morris Wickersham, of Pittsburg, were wedded last evening in St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, this city. Mr. Hadfield is a prominent iron man in England, and is president of the Hadfield Steel Foundry company of Sheffield.

COFFIN FOR GOVERNOR.

Ex-State Senator Heads Connecticut's Republican Ticket.

Hartford, Sept. 20.—In the republican state convention the first ballot for governor resulted: Merwin, 140; Cheney, 132 1-2; Coffin, 128; Porter, 63 1-2; scattering, 2. The second ballot showed ex-Senator Coffin booming, as follows: Merwin, 151; Cheney, 139; Coffin, 175; Porter, 12; scattering, 1. The third ballot resulted: Coffin, 207; Merwin, 136; Cheney, 128; Porter, 4. Necessary to a choice, 238. New Haven and Meriden men then broke for Coffin, who was chosen on the fourth ballot, which resulted: Coffin, 280; Cheney, 103; Merwin, 89. The nomination of ex-Senator Coffin, who hails from Middletown, was then made unanimous.

Lorrain A. Cook was nominated for lieutenant governor.

While the vote for secretary of state was being counted candidate-elect, ex-Senator O. Vincent Coffin, was presented to the convention, and returned his sincere thanks for the great honor done him. Calls for Lieutenant-Governor Lorrin A. Cooke brought him forward to tender his thanks. Col. F. W. Cheney wrote to the convention tendering his thanks to his supporters and his congratulations to the successful candidate.

The ballot for secretary of state resulted as follows: Charles Phelps, 120; Stiles Judson, jr., 105, and Col. Mowry, 194. On the declaration of the ballot Stiles Judson withdrew his name. A second ballot was then taken. Col. Mowry had 239 votes, and was thereupon unanimously nominated for secretary of state.

For state treasurer, George W. Hodge was nominated by acclamation.

For comptroller, Daniel Kiefer, of Waterbury; George H. Nichols, of Thompson, and ex-Senator B. H. Mead, of New Canaan, were proposed. The ballot resulted in the election of B. H. Mead, and at 5:15 the convention adjourned sine die.

SOUTH CAROLINA DEMOCRATS.

Work of the State Convention at Columbia.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 20.—The state democratic convention was called to order at noon. A large majority of the delegates were Tillmanites, one delegation, that from Charleston, being conservative. The platform endorses the Ocala platform, as well as the Chicago platform; demands the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, and endorses the dispensary law as the best solution of the dispensary question. One section of the platform, as at first drawn, which denounced President Cleveland for failing to carry out his policy, was finally killed and no mention of the president or the national administration was made. The Charleston delegation tried hard to get the convention to come out squarely on the democratic platform and denounce populism, but their efforts were defeated by an overwhelming vote.

The convention then nominated John Gary Evans for governor; W. H. Timmerman, lieutenant governor; W. T. C. Bates, treasurer; O. W. Buchanan, attorney general.

The nominees are all Tillmanites and had no opposition.

IT LOOKS LIKE HILL.

A Belief That He Will Head the New York Democratic Ticket.

New York, Sept. 20.—"Everything today points to David B. Hill as the man who will head the democratic ticket for governor this fall," said a prominent democratic politician this morning. "It is the general belief among democrats that Gov. Flower's withdrawal from the contest for the nomination, after he had had a conference with Senators Hill and Murphy, was for the purpose of clearing the way for Hill's nomination. Hill's ambition is to become president, and the logical candidate of the democracy for president in 1896 will be the democratic governor of the state of New York—if New York elects a democratic governor this fall."

Tarsney Renominated.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 20.—The democratic congressional convention for the fifth district of Missouri met at Lexington and nominated John C. Tarsney for congress. There was little opposition to Tarsney who is now serving his third term in congress.

Sherman's Old Servant Dead.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 20.—Blake H. Durant, familiarly known as "Old Shady," because of his color, is dead. Durant was a faithful servant of Gen. Sherman and has been feelingly mentioned by him in his memoirs of the war. "Old Shady" once received a visit from Gen. Sherman here, and he attended the general's funeral. Durant was a private in the 71st Ohio volunteers and was detailed as cook to Gen. Sherman.

Sudden Death of an Editor.

New York, Sept. 20.—William Ellingwood McDonnell, financial editor of the New York Tribune, died suddenly in the Plaza hotel last night. He was, to all appearances, in perfect health immediately before his death. Heart disease is thought to have been the cause. Mr. McDonnell was born in Portland, Me., in 1841.

The A. P. A. Gets Nearly Everything.

Pittsburg, Mass., Sept. 20.—The results in all the republican ward caucuses here were not completed until nearly daylight. And it now appears that the A. P. A. has swept nearly everything.

Assistant Judge Advocate.

Albany, Sept. 20.—At the request of Judge Advocate General Almet F. Jenks, the governor has appointed Major W. H. A. Cochran, of Brooklyn, assistant judge advocate general.

NOW IT IS 2:03 3-4

Alix Establishes a New Trotting Record.

Wonderful Performance of the Little Mare at Galesburg—The Feat Accomplished Without Urging or a Stroke of the Whip—Believed She Can Do Better Still.

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 20.—Alix clipped a quarter of a second off her record here yesterday afternoon, going the mile in 2:03¾. It was one of the grandest achievements ever witnessed by man. To the quarter she went in 0:30¼ and sped on to the half in 1:01¾. As she neared the three-quarters the watches marked 1:32¾.

When the mare turned into the stretch she fairly flew, and, without a skip, went under the wire in 2:03¾. The crowd went wild, and cheer after cheer went up for Alix and McDowell.

Alix's wonderful performance was made without a break or a falter, and she finished as fresh and strong as when she started. The time for each of the four quarters shows the steadiness and perfection of her work. All the conditions were favorable for a record-breaking mile. The mare was in the pink of condition and the track perfect. Alix got a splendid start on the second score, passing the stand with an easy, machine-like stride, but not until the time for the first quarter was announced did the crowd appreciate the tremendous pace at which she was moving. In the second quarter McDowell allowed the runner to come up alongside the flying mare, as this was the slowest portion of the track. From the half Alix again took the lead and kept it to the finish. Just before reaching the wire the little black trotter made a tremendous burst of speed, but for which she would probably have failed to lower the record. As it was, one of the judges caught the time in a trifle under 2:03 3-4, and several watches stopped at 2:03 1-2.

McDowell was highly elated over Alix's performance and thinks she is capable of even faster work. Said he: "From the start I was confident the mare would do a record-breaking mile. She was never worried during the entire distance, and so eager was she that she needed no urging whatever. I never once spoke to her or raised the whip."

Alix is owned by Morris Jones and Monroe Salisbury, the latter having purchased an interest in the mare a few months ago. Up to that time she was the property of Mr. Jones, who bought her as a yearling and trained her. Her first appearance was at Beatrice, Neb., in 1890, where she started as a two-year-old. Last year she made a record of 2:07 3-4. Her first appearance this year was at Council Bluffs, where she went a mile in 2:11 1-2. Since that time she has been steadily reducing her record.

Want To Cut the Burned Timber.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The commissioner of the general land office, who has been receiving, through the local western land offices, requests from homesteaders in Wisconsin and Minnesota to be allowed to cut the partly burned trees within the districts of the forest fires, and stating that if allowed to remain uncut the pine lands will become valueless, said he had not as yet decided what could be done in the matter. The commissioner, while he recognizes that the timber will waste if allowed to remain uncut, does not believe he has the authority to permit the homesteaders to hew the timber.

Session of United Typothetae.

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—The United Typothetae of America, which is in annual convention in this city, adopted a recommendation that the time-honored system of measurement of type by ems be displaced by a new method of measuring the actual letters in the matter composed. The greater part of the morning session was devoted to consideration of the above topic, and also to the question of government printing envelopes, and the matter of insurance of others' property while in possession of the printer.

Civil Service Not Necessary.

Albany, Sept. 20.—Attorney General Hancock has written an opinion to the effect that state employes engaged for temporary service do not come under the civil service. In his opinion the attorney general says: "I am of the opinion that the appointing authorities may employ persons in cases of emergency and for the performance of temporay service, without the certification of the civil service commission

Negro Murderer Lynched.

Thomasville, Ga., Sept. 20.—David Gooseby, colored, who criminally assaulted and murdered Susan Butler, a 10-year-old white girl, paid the penalty of his crime shortly after midnight by being lynched.

SOME INSIDE FACTS.

SUCH MATTERS ALWAYS LEAK OUT.

This Time it Carried the Great News Far and Wide—Many Families All Over the Land are Deeply Interested in the Matter.

There are many things in the lives of persons and families which when they are known become matters of public interest. People always want to know those things which personally concern them, which add to their welfare, their looks or their comfort. Here is a piece of news which coming from such high authority makes it of more than ordinary interest.

Mrs. Charles H. Heaton, residing at 143 State street, Montpelier, Vt., is a most lovely and accomplished lady. The family has the very highest social standing. Her husband has held many offices of in the city and in politics, and among the Masonic fraternity stand at the head. Her husband's father is president of the Montpelier Savings Bank and Trust Co., the largest bank in the city. Her father is a prominent railroad man. She writes as follows:

"Two years ago we had a terrible experience with la grippe and by overwork in taking care of my children and the results of the disease I was left in a very exhausted condition, in fact was nearly prostrated. I was so weak that upon the least excitement I would feel nauseated. I was as near nervous prostration as any one could be.

"Someone recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to me and I immediately began its use. I am happy to say that it completely cured me. I think it is the best medicine I ever knew of for any form of nervous or chronic disease. I have recommended it to many and shall do so upon every occasion."

This letter is of the utmost importance to you for it tells you just what to do to be cured. If you are nervous, weak, tired, sleepless, if you have headache, indigestion, kidney or liver complaint, poor blood and weak nerves, you can surely regain your health and be as well as you ever were by taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

The strengthening and curative powers of this remedy are wonderful. Use it and you will be made well and strong. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted by all at his office, 35 West 14th st., New York City, free, personally or by letter.

All that's Yellow is not Cottolene
There's hardly a housekeeper in the country but has heard of Cottolene the new vegetable shortening. It is a strictly natural product; composed only of clarified cotton seed oil, thickened for convenience in use with refined beef suet, pure and sweet. So composed,
COTTOLENE
Was bound to win, and to drive out lard from the kitchens of the world. When housekeepers wish to get rid of the unpleasant features and results of lard, they should get Cottolene, taking care that they are not given cheap imitations with vegetable names, spuriously compounded to sell in the place of Cottolene.
It's easy to avoid disappointment and ensure satisfaction. Insist on having Cottolene.

Mrs. Mary S. Adams of Suffield, Conn., is visiting her daughter-in-law, Mrs. L. Adams of East Front street.

Mrs. George Gielbelhouse of Arlington avenue is visiting her sister, Mrs. Dresler, at Glens Falls, for two weeks.

Miss Jennie VanDeventer of Northumberland, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buckman of West Front street.

M. M. Dunham has been elected Township Secretary representing North Plainfield in the Somerset County Sunday-school Association.

J. Allen Sangston, representing the Low Art Tile Fountain Company, was greeted by old friends on a business visit to Plainfield today.

The rain has left the Crescent track with a soft surface and washed-out spots on the turns. It can easily be repaired during the coming week.

Mrs. Von Altenbim of Jersey City Heights, accompanied by a friend, Mrs. VonDrehle, is visiting her son-in-law, Rev. George Hauser of Duer street.

A reception will be given to Mr. and Mrs. John Reed at the home of Mrs. Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cox, West Front street, this evening.

Justice V. W. Nash and Mrs. Nash went today to Atlantic City, where they will remain till September 28. The judge has had a Summer of steady application at hard work, and the rest will do him good.

Charles Hall, expert chemical-constructor of Reynolds's Pharmacy, took advantage of the glorious weather and a half-holiday this afternoon to spin over to Paterson and see the falls after the big rains.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Boys Club Association will meet in annual session in the club-rooms Friday evening, Sept. 21, at 8.

—L. E. Hart today began to lay the foundations for his new building on Park avenue near Fourth street.

—J. F. MacDonald has just the lots you are looking for, handsomely located, and all improved, as his ad shows.

—The furniture for use in the building on the Wadsworth property which is being fitted up as a school arrived today.

—Postmaster Hetfield has established another new letter-box at Front street and Washington avenue. He advertises for bids to paint the fifty boxes bright red.

—Manager Varian has hung a curtain in Music Hall, which, while not as handsome as the new one in preparation, is still a considerable improvement over the old.

—The Mayor was detained from hearing the complaint of young Mr. Simmonds against Policeman Cooney last night, and young Mr. Simmonds withdrew his charge.

—Augustus Rose, the Scotch Plains lockjaw patient, is steadily improving in the hospital. Although he is not yet out of danger, his prospects for recovery are considered very favorable.

—Reed & Coddington are moving into their elegant offices in the Babcock Building today, and Attorney George DeMeza is preparing to occupy his new offices in the First National Bank Building.

—Swain of East Front street invites your attention to his beautiful stock of oil paintings, etchings, photographs, etc., feeling sure that a visit to his store will give pleasure to all who may call.

—John Becker is improving the appearance of his property at the corner of Somerset and Harmony streets, next to the Cracker-barrel Club's headquarters, by the erection of a new fence.

—A heavily-laden wagon of the Ice and Cold Storage Company got stalled in the mud in the yard at West Front street and Grant avenue this morning, and had to be relieved of its load and dug out.

—Mr. Depew says better times are on the way. We should all get ready for them, putting our houses in order. The price of wall-paper will probably be higher with better times. All who can should paper their rooms and give the good times a cheerful welcome. Go to Love's, corner of North and Watchung avenues, where prices are now at rock-bottom. He will give you a choice out of 30,000 pieces, which he wants to close out this Fall.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

HEAVIEST RAINFALL FOR YEARS.

Over Four Inches Fell From Tuesday Morning to Last Night.

Yesterday was the wettest day in twelve years. The uninformed said it was the so-called equinoctial storm, but Weather Observer Dunn, who knows everything in the weather line, from a zephyr to a blizzard, declared that there was no such thing in the weather catalogue, and that the storm was merely the usual September disturbance of the elements, and had nothing to do with the sun. He said he was not willing to admit that the sun's approach to the equator was responsible for any such drenching as this section of the globe received yesterday.

The rainfall was the heaviest since Sept. 22 and 23, 1882, when it was 6.16 inches. It was 1.18 inches between 8 and 10 a. m., when the rain descended in torrents. The total rainfall between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. was 4.18 inches. The grand total fall during the storm beginning at 5 a. m. Tuesday to 8 p. m. yesterday was 5.27. During the storm of Aug. 17, 1893, the rainfall in one hour was 1.60 inches.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Monte Scott will ride in Philadelphia Saturday.

The Lantern Parade Committee of the Crescents will meet tomorrow night.

A. H. Chamberlain of the Union County Roadsters has been asked to start the 25-mile road race over the Elizabeth-Rahway course Oct. 6, and also to act as referee at the postponed meet of the Mercury Wheel Club at Flushing Saturday.

The New York Times says: "Some of the best racing of the Fall is expected at the fourth meet of the Crescent Wheelmen at Plainfield Saturday, Sept. 29, as the one-third-of-a-mile track is very popular with all who have seen it, and fast time can be made over it with a degree of safety that the cracks will appreciate. This will commend itself to the racing men, and a large list of entries is looked for."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The monthly consecration meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist Church will be held tomorrow evening at 8 in the church parlors.

A good time awaits all at the harvest festival of the Seventh-Day Baptist C. E. society in the church parlors this evening. Admission is free, and everyone will be welcome.

The Christian Endeavor society of Warren Chapel will hold an old-fashioned social and musicale in the chapel tonight. The old style in costumes will be followed by those who participate.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Ralph Gillam will begin preaching in Hope Chapel tonight.

The Westfield churches will observe next Sunday as Young Men's Sunday. W. D. Murray, president of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., will be a leading speaker. The project to organize a Westfield Y. M. C. A. will be furthered.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Iona Council met last night and entertained visitors from Minnehaha Council, whose reservation is in eastern Pennsylvania. One candidate received the degree of Pocohontas. A collation was served and talks upon various matters of interest to the Council were much enjoyed.

North Plainfield Appointees.

The Somerset County Board of Registration has confirmed the following election officers:

NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

First District—Lewis A. Barkalew, Alfred R. Vail, John T. Case, George Stewart.

Second District—J. Worth Coddington, Edgar C. Schenck, David D. Smalley, Harry Conkling.

First District—Henry H. Brokaw, Fred N. Brown, D. E. Godown, George B. Stewart.

Second District—Newton B. Smalley, John A Goodwin, Edward C. Morse, David Bodine.

Lots of Chance for Plainfield Men.

Cook & Co. received their horses, lumber and tools by freight today. The pipe has not yet arrived. It is possible that work will be begun at Park avenue and Ninth street or Central avenue and Third street instead of on Woodland avenue.

Mr. Prout says he will put on four gangs of about 25 men each. The agent of the Citizens Organized Aid Association has furnished him with a list of unemployed men. The understanding is now that no outside laborers will be engaged on the job if Plainfield talent proves acceptable.

A Lanternless Cyclist.

Samuel Conway, colored, son of Spencer Conway of West Fourth street, rode a wheel without a light on Liberty street the night of September 15. Policeman Vanderweg told him to appear in the City Court the next morning, but he did not show up. Sergeant Kiely arrested him today, and City Judge Coddington fined him $3 with an alternative of 10 days imprisonment. He sent word from the lockup for his father to come and pay the fine.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

Last Chance.

Thursday and Friday of this week only, will be at 206 East Front street. If you want to see the great book described in our issue of Tuesday, 18th inst., send a postal to him tonight.

—When trade is slack what there is of it goes to those who have the courage and energy to ask for it.

FIVE MEN BURNED.

Moore and His Helpers Found a Sea of Fire in the Cellar.

The sudden explosion of a can of turpentine, supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, caused a fire in a two-story frame building at 4,526 Third avenue, New York, occupied by William Moore as a dwelling and paint shop, at 6:30 this morning, which damaged the building badly and burned Moore and four helpers severely.

The injured men are William Moore, proprietor; Charles Goodwin, 25, of 182 East 113th street; Oscar Goodwin, 19, of 727 Park avenue; Frederick Edmiston, 47, of 2398 Arthur avenue and Kingsbridge road, who were burned about the head and hands. They were attended at at Fordham Hospital, and afterward left for their homes.

FOUGHT A BURGLAR.

A Jersey City Woman Dangerously Stabbed.

Mrs. Louise Hill of 126 Union street, Jersey City, had an encounter with a murderous burglar at 2 this morning. The woman was stabbed in the leg and thigh, and her condition is serious.

Wet Weather Tantrums.

The city fire-gong blew 23 for a time signal at 5 last evening. The clock-work was crippled by the contraction of one of the brass rods.

At 6 the North Plainfield time signal was given by one short blow and another long one. The electric current did not work well because the wires were tangled during the work of elevating of the telephone system on Somerset street.

Don't Miss Trenton Next Week.

While most people who have the management of large enterprises would be inclined to see how near they could come to avoiding loss in "hard times", Secretary John Guild Muirheld shrugs his shoulders at croakers and—goes to work. He knows how to work. Ask any of the corps of energetic young men who efficiently help him make the fair a success every year greater than the year before. They will tell you that for weeks before the opening day he is up before 4:30 stirring up the roosters with the din he makes waking up his helpers, who with him have been living at the fair grounds, where everything is convenient for the quick dispatch of business. Nor are they done at 6. The midnight oil burns oftener than not in the little office just off the quarter stretch, where so many people go for free passes, only to be refused in a way that makes them swear that "John Guild" is a gentleman.

A reporter visited the grounds yesterday afternoon and found everything buzzing. The office was busily engaged in preparing advertising matter for shipment, and the Secretary struggling with an immense mail. Having done with his letters for the moment, he fell back in his chair and resigned himself to be questioned.

"Going to have a big fair this year?"

"That's what we're here for."

"How about the hard times? Think you'll have the people?"

"I do; we are ignoring hard times out here in every way except to make the fair better, the races more attractive, and the sensational novelties and features of startling importance. Young man, if there's enough money in three States to fetch people to Trenton fair week, you can write it down that the Great Inter-State is going to be an eye-opener even to people who seem to think because it is 'us' we are bound to succeed."

TALMAGE'S SUMMER HOME.

It is at East Hampton, and Was Built to Suit Mrs. Talmage.

Down on Long Island there is a lovely little spot which is fast becoming known as Clergymen's Retreat. It is filling up with beautiful villas, built by the wives of clergymen for luring their spouses away from the heat and fatigues of the city, before it becomes time for the annual trip to Europe or the mountains.

Mrs. De Witt Talmage was the discoverer of the spot, or the originator of the name, and here she last summer built one of the loveliest suburban homes to be found anywhere.

If you go to East Hampton you will have no trouble finding the Talmage villa, and if you go to Sag Harbor you will find it an easy journey of seven miles by coach right to the door. Heber Newton has a pretty home near the Talmage place, and another clergyman already located there is the Rev. J. E. Steele, of Trinity. Others purpose coming, and soon all New York will be invited to come down to East Hampton if they would hear the famous clergymen of the country preach.

The Talmage home is a big rambling house, with plenty of bay windows and many chimneys, making it possible to have all the open fires which so near a proximity to the Atlantic make pleasant and comfortable. Mrs. Talmage has two fads. One of these is for chimneys and the other is for bay windows. She has lived often in leased country homes, and these did not satisfy her cravings for these things, but the new house at East Hampton is all that can be asked.

Mrs. Talmage, who, with her husband is traveling abroad this summer, has also another fancy, and this is for what she calls a "vista." By a vista she means the open space which so delights visitors in English country homes and which Waldorf Astor paid so much to secure in his new home at Cliveden. In the plans for the house, which were submitted to Mrs. Talmage by the very swell architect, J. Greenleaf Thorpe, there were ample provisions made for this open space.

As you enter the front door of the East Hampton house there is a big staircase hall, very broad and almost as deep as the house. It runs back and around and through the rooms, and is furnished with a big fireplace, and is fitted out with all sorts of comfortable reclining chairs for Mrs. Talmage and her daughters to spend a series of delightful mornings there.

Dr. Talmage has a large room on the second floor and a very spacious room on the first which is a combination of reception room and library. In this are crowded curios gathered from every where, for Mrs. Talmage has a great fondness for the things the Doctor has collected, and always furnishes her house with them even if the stay be a short one.

The front windows of the house look out upon the Atlantic and down to Sag Harbor Lighthouse, while from the verandas around the house can be seen long glimpses of the beautiful scenery which takes the four hundred to Long Island for two or three months every year. The drives too, are grand, and all in all Clergymen's Retreat is a very goodly place.

THAT MAPLETON GHOST.

A Real Ghost, Hunted to His Aery Lair by Flatbush Boys.

A real ghost, one that could be seen floating ghostily through the air, has been disturbing the little village of Mapleton, Long Island. It baffled the police, filled the servant girls for miles around Mapleton with horror, and, generally and specially, was the most authentic and ghostly ghost seen for a long time in any part of this country. Its fame spread so far that the scientists, recently in session in Brooklyn, are said to have noticed it, even if they did not hunt it. Several ghost hunters of renown went after it, but either failed to find it, or ran away when its terrifying paleness was encountered. The ghost was in part identified as the restless spirit of a girl who took her own life; and it was accused of running for some distance beside a Coney Island Railroad train, making horrible faces at the passengers, and finally disappearing in the woods alongside of the track with a blood-curdling yell and a hollow, fiendish laugh. This accusation was not proved, and good lawyers asserted, before the happening of events now to be related, that an alibi could probably be established.

This was the situation when W. T. Tibballs, and seven other young men of Flatbush went after that ghost, determined to have it or know the reason why. A veracious historian gives the following account of what occurred during the hunt:

The walk to Mapleton is not a long one, and was covered in a short time. As the spot where the ghost had been in the habit of making his appearance was approached, some of the young men began to get nervous, a fact which Mr. Tibballs took advantage of to chant in low and sepulchral tones, a dismal ditty about ghosts.

"Wow!" suddenly yelled Otto Siegman. "What's that?"

The rest of the party huddled closely together and listened as out on the night air came a long-drawn sigh, followed by a series of moans.

"It sounds ——" began Tibballs in a deep voice.

"Like what?"

"Like the voice of that hot tamale man," shrieked Tibballs, and then the others withdrew and held a consultation, which resulted in Mr. Cross approaching the disturber of nerves and saying:

"Now look here, Tibbs, you've got to take a drop. We're here to get that ghost, and you're scaring the life out of the boys before they've seen it."

"All right," said Tibbals, "I'll not say another word—gee whiz, what's that?"

A series of piercing shrieks rang out on the air, followed by terrible moans. The ghost hunters turned pale and stood huddled together in a group, their knees quaking and their teeth chattering. Tibballs seemed to be worse off than any one:

"It's g'good b'by, b'boys. We're all g'goners. It's the ghost, and we might as well die here. Oh! Oh! Oh!" and the entertaining Mr. Tibballs let out shrieks far worse than those of the ghost.

"Get your guns and clubs ready, boys, for our lives," shouted Cross, and the frightened Flatbushians fumbled wildly for their weapons. Four had pistols and the rest clubs. The four with the pistols had just got them out of their pockets when Tibballs, who had been saving himself for a final effort, suddenly pointed his finger to the woods beside the track, and in a voice that could have been heard at Coney Island shrieked:

"My God, look ahead there."

The rest, following the direction of his finger, saw a sight which froze the blood in their veins.

In midair, not fifty feet away, and gradually approaching them was a huge white figure. The figure swayed gracefully to the right and the left as it approached. The young men, who had been rooted to the ground, finally began to recover themselves. The four with the pistols began firing recklessly in every direction, while those with clubs hurled them fiercely at the approaching demon. But nothing seemed to stop it. On it came, slowly but surely, and the young men, completely rattled, fired a few last shots and then turned on their heels.

But not so Tibballs. That enterprising young man darted forward, and, as the ghost reached him he grabbed it, gave it a punch in the eye, threw it to the ground, and kicking it six feet in the air, landed it on the railroad tracks ten yards away. Then he made a grab at the air, clutched something, and with a broad grin on his face, exclaimed:

"I thought so."

Then he fired his pistol in the air, and as he did so two figures, closely muffled, rose out of the bushes a short distance off and began running rapidly away. No one chased them, unfortunately, and so the two scamps who are responsible for the Mapleton ghost scare will probably never be known. On seeing the ghost lying prostrate on the track the others came running back, and in about five minutes were telling each other how hard it was to fool any one from Flatbush with a bogus ghost.

For the ghost was nothing but a cross made of sticks, thickly padded with straw and covered with a sheet. It was operated by a wire, and, dangling in the air, really looked ghostly and dangerous.

The Model Son-in-Law.

The New York Recorder's prize of five dollars in gold to the writer of the best letter stating the qualifications of the model son-in-law was awarded to Casper Brooks, of Athens, N. Y. This is the essay:

In the beginning God made man in his own image and pronounced him good; therefore, I should like my son-in-law to be a good man. Whether he be a millionaire or mechanic would matter very little to me, if he were capable of providing for and making my daughter happy.

I would like him to be a domestic man, helping to bear the burden of responsibility, guiding her with firm and gentle hand into the path that leads to prosperity and happiness for both. I would like him to be temperate, considerate and kind, shielding her from temptation, looking out to the honor and glory of his own household, loving and respecting my little girl while life should last. Such a man would not fail to make any girl happy, and be happy himself.

Mr. Depew Explained It.

While in Germany recently Chauncey M. Depew explained to the satisfaction of all Americans there the cause of the Vigilant's centreboard incident. He said that he had discovered that, owing to the keen rivalry between the Old Country and the New, and the strained relations between them caused by the tariff bill, the British Government wilfully and maliciously ordered a hidden reef to be placed in the course of the Vigilant, so as to strike the centreboard and cripple her at the most critical moment.

THEIR NEW PASTOR.

NORTH PLAINFIELD GERMANS HAVE AN INSTALLATION.

Rev. George Hauser Well Received by the Reformed Church Congregation—Presentation of a Handsome Pastoral Gown.

Rev. George Hauser of Jersey City Heights was installed as the pastor of the German Reformed Church last night. He has been conducting services in the church since the last part of July, and so he was installed not as a stranger, but as a man who had shown his fitness for the place and was therefore worthy of formal acceptance.

The visiting clergymen and the consistory arrived at the church early in the evening and were entertained at supper in the basement by the women of the church. At 8 they went upstairs and found a large congregation awaiting them. Besides those who participated there was present Rev. C. Schenck.

The services were opened by singing and the reciting of the Apostles' Creed by the congregation. Rev. Dr. Daniel H. Martin of Newark, the president of the classis, read from the Scripture and prayed. The installation sermon was then preached in German by Rev. Dr. John H. Oerter of New York, the founder of the church. He spoke very earnestly, and the members of the church were especially interested by his remarks because of the connection of the church with his early efforts in this part of the classis.

After the 20 members of the Saengerbund present had rendered a hymn, the ritual of installation was read by President Martin. The constitution of the church was then signed by Mr. Hauser. The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. Dr. J. N. Jansen of Newark, who offered helpful advice and expressed his desire that great good might result from the work of the new pastor.

President Martin made the charge to the congregation. He pointed out the way in which harmony of action could be attained. In concluding he asked the members of the church to average the work of their pastor. They should not expect him to immortalize himself every time he delivered a sermon. The lack of preparation which might at some services be evident in his sermon would not indicate that he had shirked his duty. Pastoral visits and other church cares might encroach on the time he had set aside for the writing of the sermon. The people should average his work and aid him by their own faithfulness and evidence that they had full confidence in him.

The congregation and the Saengerbund sang and Pastor Hauser pronounced the benediction. As the congregation started to leave the church the pastor was presented with a handsome gown of black henrietta cloth. He thanked them with a few hearty words. The ministers of the classis were also remembered with bouquets of roses.

The Merry Wives.

Everything is in readiness for the revival of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at the Star Theatre on the 24th inst. Mr. Crane, who is an indefatigable worker, has been devoting all of his time to rehearsals, and an artistic production is assured. Shakespeare's comedy has not been seen in New York in many years—the last performance of it having been given by Mr. Daly shortly after he took possession of his present theatre. About eight years ago Mr. Crane revived "The Merry Wives" and was seen in it throughout the large cities for one season. Like most of Shakespeare's plays, the "Merry Wives of Windsor" has an interesting history. Its principal character, Falstaff, figures in "Henry IV", and Queen Elizabeth seeing that play desired the story of Falstaff continued and commanded Shakespeare to write a comedy showing the fat knight in love. It is said the bard completed the play in fourteen days, and during the Christmas holidays of 1601 it was given before the Queen at Windsor Castle.

Scenically, the revival will be very beautiful. Marston has painted the scenery and the costumes have been made from designs furnished by E. Hamilton Bell. The incidental music is by Henry Widmar, and is expected to be one of the features of the production. In the closing act, there is to be a large chorus. The company to support Mr. Crane is the best with which he has ever been surrounded.

Try Their Low-Price Excursions.

The ships of the Old Dominion Steamship Company leave New York every Tuesday and Thursday at 3 p. m., and Saturday at 4 p. m. for Old Point Comfort and Norfolk, where they arrive early the next morning. Leaving Norfolk at 7 at night, the ships make connection with the Sound boats and all evening trains for the various Autumn resorts. The "Old Dominion" ships are elegant, new and safe. Further information may be had upon application to W. L. Guillaudeau, the passenger traffic manager, Pier 26, North River, New York.

Last of the Tennis Season.

The last tea of the Hillside Tennis Club will be given next Saturday afternoon, and at the same time the last round of the inter-club tourney will be played. The Hillside Club will make a strong effort to win both their matches, and both visiting clubs will send their best players. Some good tennis playing may be looked for, although who Plainfield's representatives will be has not yet been decided.

Changing the Wires.

The irregular signalling of the North Plainfield fire-gong at 8 this morning was caused by changes in poles at the head of Race street. The telephone wires were raised on a new pole ten feet above the electric light wires, and the fire alarm wires were handled during the operation.

HYMENEAL.

Morrison—Meeker.

Miss Molly T. Meeker of Asbury Park and George W. Morrison of Plainfield were married last evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Asbury Park. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Widdemer, pastor of the church. He was assisted by Rev. W. A. Allen of the First Methodist Church. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony. The church was elaborately decorated with flowers and rare plants.

Miss Meeker marched to the altar with Fred Emerson Brooks, who gave her away. She wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with point lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Henry Morrison of Plainfield, brother of the groom, was the best man. The maid of honor was Miss Jackson of Plainfield. The bridesmaids were Miss Jeliffe, Miss Martin, Miss Mitchell, and Miss Thompson of Asbury Park. Miss Morrison of Plainfield, Miss Darby of Philadelphia, and Miss Elsie Harvey of Asbury Park were the flower girls. The ushers were the Messrs. Minot, Miller, Rue, Dayton, and Davis of Asbury Park. After the ceremony a reception was given to the relatives of the bride and groom at the bride's residence, in Fourth avenue. Mrs. Morrison is the daughter of Mrs. Kate Turner Meeker of New York. The late ex-Gov. Washburne of Massachusetts was her uncle. She is a well-known contralto singer of much musical ability.

The Great Curtis Success.

"An Intra-Mural View", a very artistic brochure, has been received from The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia, publishers of The Ladies Home Journal. As the title indicates, the booklet gives us glimpses of the interiors of the Journal's offices, and some idea of the work carried on there. The main building, entirely occupied by the editorial and business offices, was designed by Mr. Hardenbergh, the architect of the Hotel Waldorf, New York, and was completed in January, 1893. The exterior is attractive and the interior elegantly appointed and admirably planned. The numerous illustrations, showing the commodious and well fitted offices, and the accompanying text, giving us some insight into the work in the different bureaus, requiring a force approximating 400 employes, indicate the wonderful success which The Ladies Home Journal has achieved in an almost incredibly short time. The first number was issued in December, 1883, so that less than eleven years have passed since Mr. Curtis conceived the idea which has developed into so vast an enterprise. In this short time its merit and steady improvement in all departments have received such recognition that its circulation has reached the enormous average of about 700,000, the largest magazine output in the world. The brochure also describes at some length the work of printing and binding the Journal, which is carried on in a separate building. "An Intra-Mural View" will be sent to anyone who will address The Curtis Publishing Company, and inclose four cents in stamps for postage.

America's Leading Monthly.

The complete novel in the October number of Lippincott's is "A Question of Courage", by Francis Lynde. It deals with a feud in the mountains of Tennessee, and the question of the northern hero's courage, after sundry doubts and adventures, is settled to the hero's own satisfaction and that of the heroine, Mr. Lynde is a recently "discovered" author, but he knows how to tell a story.

"Coals of Fire" is a military tale by LeRoy Armstrong, who here shows himself no unworthy follower of Captain King. "At the Little Bed House", by Kate Jordan, has a railway subject. Margaret Langdon writes "A Tragedy of Trade". "An Hour before Death" is a brief yet extremely strong and pathetic sketch by Elizabeth Knowlton Carter, a new writer of whom great things may be hoped.

Gertrude Atherton, in "Famous Rivalries of Women", recalls many moving tales of the past. George J. Varney traces the progress of "Telegraphy up to Date", and David Graham Adee identifies "The Ballad of the Drum", which Alexander Hamilton sang at the banquet of the Cincinnati, shortly before his death. Saburo Arai speaks with authority of "Japanese and Chinese Porcelains and their Imitations".

The sentiment and the philosophy alike of "The October Woods" are given by James Knapp Reeve. In "The Snub", Kate Milner Rabb shows that essay-writing is not yet a lost art. Felix L. Oswald supplies another good essay, on "Localized Virtue".

"A Garden Quest" is a specimen of Harrison S. Morris's forthcoming book of verse. Besides quatrains by Margaret Gilman George and L. Worthington Green, the other poems of the number are by Florence Earle Coates, Celia A. Hayward and Emma J. Gompf.

It's an Underground Lake.

The screen is being placed in the second of the new wells of the water company today. The first well is being used steadily now. Superintendent Amos Andrews says that the fact that the recent rains have not increased the depth of water in the wells is proof that the company is not dependent on the surface water for their supply.

CURES OTHERS

A prominent clergyman of Mississippi recommends "Golden Medical Discovery" to suffering humanity everywhere. The "Discovery" builds up the strength and solid flesh when reduced below a healthy standard.

DYSPEPSIA AND GENERAL DEBILITY.

Rev. A. H. Mayo, of Friar's Point, Coahoma Co., Mississippi, writes: "Having suffered for a number of years with dyspepsia, torpid liver and general debility, and having tried several physicians with little or no benefit, I resolved, as a last resort, to consult your specialists at the World's Dispensary. Being advised by them to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I did so, and after using several bottles, I feel entirely restored to health. Now, I take great pleasure in recommending your medicines to suffering humanity everywhere."

Rev. A. H. Mayo.

WHY NOT YOU?

New Market.

A dancing class is likely to be held here this Winter.

Friendship Band has made over $150 this Summer.

Miss Annie Gaskill of Rahway is visiting her brother Wesley.

Justice Storms has had the stoop repaired in front of his office.

J. Y. Wilson of New Market is on the Middlesex County Grand Jury.

Aaron Brower is able to be out again after several weeks of illness.

Dr. Edwards of Newark, formerly a resident here, has been visiting in town.

Miss Bertha Giles is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Giles, on Fairview avenue.

Lloyd Nelson has sold his horse Watch-Eye to Wm. Corlell, the popular painter.

Howard Snowden has another horse, which he purchased in Martinville Saturday.

Charles Ward is the proud possessor of a new horse and surrey. He is said to be going to run a country grocery route for V. L. Frazee.

Mrs. James Dunham had the misfortune to slip on a board in the cellar recently and sprained her ankle. She is getting along as well as can be expected.

Friendship Council will hold an entertainment Wednesday evening, October 3 Clam-chowder will be served to all present, and each member has the privilege of bringing two friends.

Frank Runyon of Stelton and C. F. Dayton of New Market have returned from a trip to Washington, D. C., on their wheels. They left home last Thursday and spent two days at the capital.

Brother Hartpence and son of Somerset Council, No. 104, J. O. U. A. M., of Plainfield, and Brother Parks of Council No. 26, of Philadelphia, were welcome guests at Friendship Council Monday evening.

The street lights in this place have been so great an improvement that Messrs. VanNuis, Blue, Banson, Harris and Nelson have decided to put them in front of their residences. Let the good work go on. We need a few more in some of the dark spots.

Dunellen.

Walter Runyon is visiting friends in Philadelphia.

Wm. Carman and family spent Sunday in East Millstone.

Miss Ida King of Somerville is the guest of Mrs. Madison.

A. Kinsey of Hoboken is visiting his brother, Rev. W. C. Kinsey.

Harry Swackhamer has returned from a visit in the country.

Bert Fletcher has fully recovered from an attack of hay fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Watson are spending the week in Point Pleasant.

Harvey Davis of Flemington has been visiting relatives in Dunellen.

John Rhinehart is having the rooms of his house handsomely papered.

G. M. Tingley of Summit called on his brother, John Tingley, yesterday.

Mrs. Bertels of Pennsylvania is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Sisty this week.

Miss Jessie Haynes sang a very pretty solo in the New Market Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Louis Hilderbrandt, who recently moved to Flemington, was in Dunellen last evening calling on friends.

Sam Wing, a Chinaman from New York, has rented a store of Paul Kretzel, and will open a laundry next week.

Miss Hasbrouck of Plainfield resumed the teaching of her private class at the home of Mrs. W. A. Batchelor today.

B. F. McGovern has purchased a fine Irish setter dog in Elizabethport. It is claimed to be one of the best in Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. George Abel have returnee to their home in Easton after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Teel.

Phillip Smith of Dunellen, a brakeman on the Newark branch of the Central Railroad, has been confined to his home by illness.

Some unknown men made a raid on Mr. Lyons's watermelon patch Monday night, and were shot at by Mr. Lyons. He says he knows who the parties are, and will give them a lively chase if they don't stay away.

It is claimed by several men in Dunellen that certain persons go out hunting every day and make a practice of shooting game out of season. If this is so, it should be stopped, and if the men are caught they should be prosecuted.

On account of the school election in New Market, everything about Dunellen election day had the appearance of Sunday. The result of the previous election stirred the citizens up to a sense of their duty, and they left their business long enough to vote.

Joel Giddis bestowed a great kindness on the citizens of Dunellen election day, when he got his team and stage out and made several trips to the New Market public school, making it possible for a large number to vote who otherwise would not have been able to.

William Riker, manager for Mr. Lee, on the old Hunt farm, was using a hay cutter in the barn, when the forefinger of his left hand caught in the blade, mashing the finger considerably and tearing the nail off, making it very painful. He will lose nothing, however, except the nail.

Sylvester Dixon, the New York millionaire, who purchased the old Rice farm last week, has been in Dunellen this week. He brought Mr. Hubbard of New York with him. The latter will oversee the extensive improvements to be made about the place. It is Mr. Dixon's plan to make it one of the finest country residences in this section.

The following women of Dunellen secured Joel Giddis's stage and went to New Market for the purpose of voting: Mrs. T. C. Bodine, Mrs. John Apgar, Mrs. T. J. Todd, Mrs. Robert Pierce, Mrs. Bofield, Mrs. H. Vail, Mrs. F. H. Gise, Mrs. S. Richardson. This is the first opportunity they have had to vote on school matters, and they voted with a will. At the school-house they were received with much surprise and respect.

The manner in which the small boys about Dunellen follow up a certain aged man, teasing and tormenting him, is going so far that people are beginning to think it's about time the thing stopped. The man in question has through age become rather childish, and the boys never cease to take advantage of his feebleness. The parents of these boys should take the matter in hand, and teach them to be courteous to their elders.

The death occurred Tuesday evening of Mrs. Lydia A. Doolittle, widow of the late Horace F. Doolittle, in her seventy-first year. Mrs. Doolittle had been a sufferer a long time, and her death was not unexpected. Three daughters survive her, Mrs. John Milliken, Mrs. Mary Coriell, and Miss Mary Doolittle. Rev. A. I. Martine will conduct the funeral services, which will be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30 from the house on Prospect avenue, and interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, Monday afternoon. The body will be taken on the 11:38 train from Dunellen.

A SCORCHER ON THE FAIR.

Here's an Editor Thinks Somerville Ought to Have Shared Sodom's Fate.

Der Somerset Bote, the German newspaper of central New Jersey, publishes a strong article on the Somerville fair, of which the following is a partial translation:

THE COUNTY FAIR A FRAUD—GAMBLING HELLS, ROBBERIES, SHARPERS, FATAL FALL FROM A HORSE, MADE UP THE PROGRAMME

Translated by The Daily Press from Der Somerset Bote.

The county fair this year has exceeded all preceding ones in swindles and lawlessness. We had predicted this to our readers, and those who would not hear had to feel as they saw their hard-earned money go to the devil.

Living in a fanatic State, one would think it to be impossible that under the eyes of the police, senators, assemblymen, sheriffs, directors of the fair association, the privileges for gambling hells and houses of assignation were sold to the highest bidders. Seeing that the public still had enough of the last fair, and fearing that the financial success would also remain much behind the record this year, the committee had but one alternative, to seek refuge behind the sin-money of criminals. Against payment of a corresponding tribute, professional gamblers, celebrated pickpockets, women of the lowest class, and all sorts of swindles, gained admittance, and were let loose upon the hayseeds, etc., whom they worked with great success. Arriving home, with empty pockets, without watch and chain (one of them had his hat stolen from his head), the victims found their families sitting around the empty flesh-pots.

On the race-track bets were made, just as in the good old times under the Duke of Gloucester, Guttenberg, etc., for what did the lawless mob care about the law! They were in Somerville on the fair grounds, and not in Trenton engaged in the manufacture of laws, these senators, assemblymen and sheriffs!

And in this crush, mingled with the cries of the fakirs, the bellowing of oxen, the squealing of pigs and the howling of some half-starved beast of prey (for Wallace, the lion, was there too), a brass-band on the platform was nearly working itself to death with its miserable instruments. Suddenly the people crowd together, and out of the dense mass of people the lifeless body of a young man is carried on a stretcher. It is the jockey, John Herrick of Long Branch, who was thrown from his horse and stamped to death by the hoofs of the infuriated animal. The tumult continues, and under the screeching horns and the deafening bang-bang of the music the jockey takes his last breath. One life less—what matter is it! With undiminished force the wild carousing is continued, a genuine repetition of the epoch of Nero in heathen times.

We doff our hats to you, oh, seat of the county! If you had existed before the times of Christ, surely you would have shared the fate of Sodom and Gomorrha!

That Dreadful Woman.

The leading story in the September number of that sprightly publication, "Tales from Town Topics", is entitled "That Dreadful Woman", which title is evidently used in a satirical sense, the "woman", whom society stigmatizes as "dreadful", as a matter of fact, proving herself something little short of a saint. There is another character, Tottie Spanglefoot, a dancing-girl, whose conduct proves that women of her class are occasionally afflicted with the possession of a heart that persists in remaining in the right place. Some of the characters may possibly be recognized as having been drawn from the types to be found in the "upper ten thousand" of a large western city. The story bears the imprint of a cynicism perhaps too marked to be enjoyable, but the heroism with which Mrs. Vendergriffe bears her burdens, and the pathos and nobility of the sacrifice she makes for the man she loves, cannot fail to awaken the sympathy of the reader. The remainder of the book is made up of the customary bright stories, poems, sketches, burlesque and snappy witticisms from former numbers of Town Topics. Town Topics Publishing Co., 208 Fifth avenue, New York city.

Tonight in Music Hall.

"Yon Yonson" is the euphonious title of the play which will be seen for the first time in this city in Music Hall tonight. For the past three years the piece has toured the principal cities of the north with continuous and almost unbounded success. The work is the creation of Gus Heege, who assumes the title role, and treats of the adventures in America of an honest-hearted but extremely guileless emigrant from Sweden. As a character study alone, would "Yon Yonson" prove of great value, but added to this is a charming story elaborated with faithful scenic investiture and several ingenious effects quite new to the stage. The breaking of a huge log-jam with the accompanying incidents is pronounced the climax of realism on the stage.

WHAT A MISTAKE!

Mrs. Wilcox Suffered Years Thinking There Was No Relief.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

One night in a terrible snowstorm a man walked in a circle till daylight because he thought that he was lost.

He had been tramping all night within a stone's throw of his home.

There is a woman in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, local inflammation, and a frequent desire to urinate.

All this time relief was close at hand, and she had only to accept it with the same faith that has saved thousands of others. Every druggist had it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West Street, who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it and be cured. It cures kidney trouble in either sex, expels tumors, removes backache, and invigorates the system.

KING BLUE ON A RAID

Leading a Band of His Negro Indians.

All Manner of Depredations Being Committed—White Men Whipped and Women Subjected to Many Indignities—Indian Police in Pursuit of the Marauders.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 20.—King Blue, ruler of the negro Indians in the neighborhood of Stonewall, Chickasaw nation, is out on a marauding tour at the head of a band of his people, and is terrorizing the whole country. The band attacked the residence of George Truax, postmaster at Stonewall, and taking Truax, who is a white man, and his squaw wife they bound them with cords and proceeded to destroy everything they could find about the premises and the adjoining farms. They then whipped their prisoners and treated the woman to all kinds of indignities. Other citizens, both Indians and squaw women have been maltreated, and several women have been assaulted.

King Blue and his negro followers are interlopers in the nation and have no legal right to lands. The king was crowned soon after the war and his control of his people is autocratic. The Chickasaw government has often threatened to deport them, and this last outbreak will probably lead to a breaking up of alien community.

The Indian police are now after them and a meeting of the two forces will probably result in a bloody conflict.

SARGENT RE-ELECTED.

To Continue as Grand Master of the Firemen's Brotherhood.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 20.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen re-elected Grand Master Frank P. Sargent by acclamation. He had no opposition. Three vice-grand masters were also elected. They are: John J. Hannahan, of Englewood, Ills.; Chas. A. Wilson, of Philipsburg, N. J., and Chas. W. Maier, of Parsons, Kas. They will be under the direction of the grand master.

The most important change in the constitution is that which changes the insurance feature of the beneficiary department. It requires every member to go into the $500 class and he may subsequently, by paying his pro rata share, enter the two other classes, $1,000 and $1,500.

Are Animals Tools of Trade.

New York, Sept. 20.—J. Magnon, a snake charmer, and Arthur Kalshem, a circus rider, have applied to Judge Lacombe, of the United States circuit court, for a judicial opinion as to whether or not live animals can be classed as tools of trade, when these animals are used solely by their owners to aid them in their vocation. The animals under dispute are twenty-eight snakes, a tiger, a horse and a dog, which arrived here on March 30 last, and which Collector Kilbreth classified as live animals subject to a duty as such, but which the owners say are tools of trade, not subject to duty.

Killed by Electric Shock.

New York, Sept. 20.—Daniel Mullane, of Brooklyn, 17 years old, was shocked to death by electricity while standing on the steps of a tenement on Christie street. In the basement of the tenement is a saloon and restaurant and electrical wires from a pole standing in front of the building run to an electrical supply box which rests on a tin cornice over the basement. The end of the cornice touches both hand rails of the stoop. It was the contact of the tin cornice with the iron rail that caused Mullane's death.

Man and Pay Roll Missing.

Boston, Sept. 20.—Geo. H. Wheeler, former assistant bookkeeper in the employ of Chandler & Co., dry goods dealers, is accused of being a defaulter in the sum of $2,200. Wheeler, though but a comparatively short period in the employ of the firm, was implicitly trusted. He was sent to the bank with a check for $2,200 drawn by the firm to pay salaries. Wheeler received the money and neither he nor the funds have been seen by the firm since.

Frank Ives Challenged.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Dick Roche has posted a $500 forfeit with J. Harry Ballard, in this city, on behalf of Jake Schaeffer, with a challenge to play Frank Ives two games of billiards, $2,500 each a game. The first to be held in Chicago, 600 points each night for six nights, and the second at cushion caroms in New York, 400 points each for two nights.

Killed Himself To Escape Arrest.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The body of Leonard Blodgett, who murderously assaulted Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whittemore, an aged couple and their young daughter Dora, at Luzerne, Saturday, was found in the Hudson river at Palmers' falls, twenty miles north of here. He drowned himself to escape capture.

Costello Loses His Libel Suit.

Rockville, Conn., Sept. 20.—The jury in the Tolland county superior court rendered a verdict in the case of John Costello vs. A. E. Burr, of the Hartford Times, in favor of the Times. Costello claimed damages in $10,000 for libel. The jury was out twelve minutes. Costello pays all costs.

WE TAKE PLEASURE

In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Tuesday, Sept. 22 to Saturday, Sept. 28. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks

We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gentlemen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up.

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

Don't forget to look at our carpet display on 2d floor while you are at our millinery opening, Sept. 22 to 28.

REMARKABLE CURES

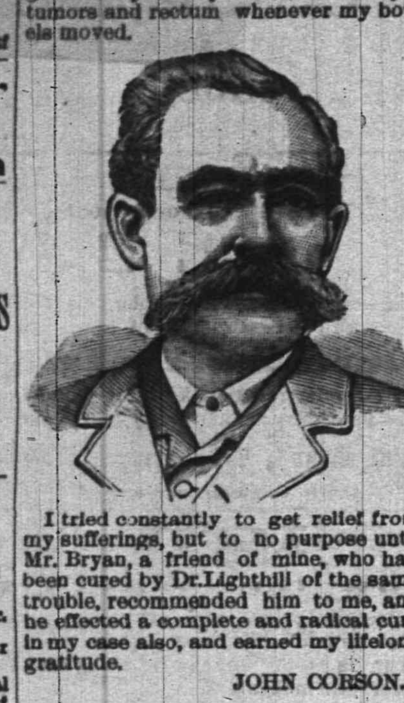
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

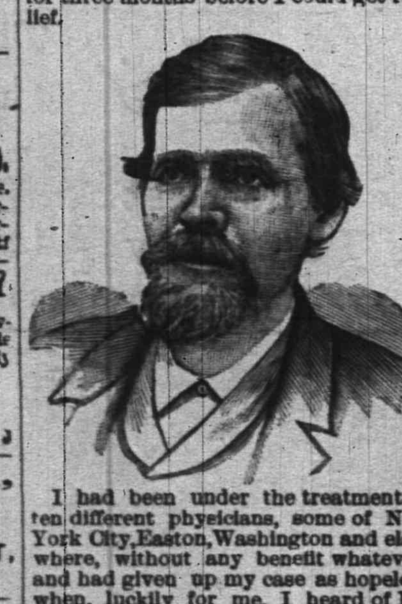
THE CASE OF MR PETER G EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

ANOTHER STRIKE THREATENED

Missouri Pacific Employes Much Exercised at the Company's Action.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 21.—As the last smoke of the recent railroad strike dies away another ominous cloud appears on the horizon. Since Saturday the Missouri Pacific is said to have discharged fourteen firemen and six engineers at this end of the line, and eight or ten firemen at Van Buren, on the charge of being implicated in the strike or expressing sympathy with it. There are said to be twenty-five more names on the list of men who will be decapitated soon. The majority of the men refused to go out in the last strike but some of them had casually expressed sympathy with the strikers and for this reason are being decapitated. The railroad men are very much exercisd over the action of the company, and it is stated on good authority that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Locomotive Engineers has issued an ultimatum to the effect that unless the company reinstates the men thus far dismissed by September 26, a general strike will be declared.

An ex-railroad man stated this afternoon that a list of 125 names was taken to headquarters at St. Louis last Monday and that all of them will be discharged. Most of them run on the Fort Smith branch. Several Little Rock firemen have laid their grievances before the firemen's convention now in session at Harrisburg and some action may be taken upon the matter there. Superintendent Rose, of the Iron Mountain is absent from the city and every one connected with his office refused to discuss the subject.

A FIEND EXECUTED

Murderer Schmouse Pays the Penalty.

He Killed His Wife and Children To Get Insurance on Their Lives, but Permitted His Son and an Infant To Live—The Inhuman Father Convicted on the Boy's Evidence.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—Until Tuesday of this week it was expected that there would be two executions upon the same scaffold in the Allegheny county jail yard yesterday. A reprieve for George Dukovic was granted by the governor on the ground of insanity, and George Schmouse died alone.

The triple murder for which Schmouse was convicted in September, 1893, tok place on the morning of July 26, 1893.

Schmouse committed one of the most horible crimes ever heard of, and all to secure the paltry insurance on his wife's and children's lives. For some unaccountable reason he permitted Johnny, aged eight years, and an infant to live. Johnny was the chief witness against his father. It was on his evidence that the inhuman father and husband was found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Early on the morning of the crime the Schmouse residence, on the hillside overlooking South Pittsburg, was discovered in flames. The firemen recovered from the house the partly consumed bodies of Mrs. Schmouse and her two little girls. The heads of all three had been battered with a hammer that was found in one of the rooms. The house had been set on fire to conceal the crime.

The case was appealed to the supreme court, but the decision of the lower court sustaining the verdict, was affirmed.

The stolid demeanor which had characterized Schmouse since his convction continued until Tuesday last, at which time the first sign of emotion occurred when his son Johnny, for the first time, visited him in his cell. The two embraced and affectionately kissed each other repeatedly, and amid a shower of tears each bid the other farewell for ever.

The murderer's haughty demeanor was completely broken, since which time his mind has been greatly troubled.

When Schmouse was arrested he was haggard in appearance. He soon fattened up, but within the past few days he has lost much in weight, and presented a pitiable appearance when brought to the scaffold. All of his friends forsook him, and none but priests and sisters of mercy called to inquire concerning his welfare. The terrible nature of his crime resulted in a universal desire that the law be vindicated. Throughout his incarceration Schmouse has eaten heartily slept well and smoked a great deal. Schmouse was a Bavarian, 37 years of age. He came to this country ten years ago.

Colored Girl Witnesses the Execution of Her Father.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 21.—William Woodly, colored, was hanged in the jail yard here at 12:30 p. m. His neck was broken, and he was pronounced dead in six minutes after the trap was sprung.

His daughter sat on the scaffold, and without a tremor witnessed her father's execution. Just before the black cap was lowered over his face the condemned man exclaimed: "I am innocent."

Woodley, in company with five companions, last February murdered Edward Grant, a wealthy farmer of this county. Three of the murderers have been hanged and the others are serving life sentences.

THE BASEBALL WAR

Two Organizations in the Field for Next Year.

The American Association Formed with Several National League Cities on Its List—Schedule To Be Arranged so as Not to Conflict, Says Mr. Scandrel, of the Opposition.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—The dispatch telegraphed from here by the United Press in regard to the new baseball association that is to be in the field next year, and the fact that the National league had already taken steps to blacklist any player that has already joined or would join the new association, has created a sensation in baseball circles.

Ex-Manager A. C. Buckenberger, of the Pittsburg club, and A. K. Scandrel, ex-secretary of the same organization, state that the new league has already been organized, and that the premature publication of the plans can in no way interfere with the arrangements already made.

From these gentlemen it was learned that the circuit is to be made up of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Detroit, Providence and Chicago or Buffalo, and that the new organization is to be known as the National association. The admission to its games will be 25 cents.

It is not the intention to fight the National league, but to arrange the schedule of games so as not to conflict with the latter. Mr. Scandrel continued: "The story is correct in many particulars and misleading in others. It is not true that certain National league players have been approached by agents of the new league with a view of inducing them to leave that organization. The latter does not own the earth, neither can it prevent other people entering the baseball business and stirring up a lively competition. The clubs will all be backed by capitalists and the players will be paid salaries as is done in the National league.

"The Pittsburg club will have unlimited financial backing and Mr. Buckenberger will manage the team. A meeting of the new league will likely be held some time next month, when the officers will be elected and everything put in readiness for the opening of the season early next spring."

Manager Buckenberger declined to make any statement further than to corroborate what Mr. Scandrel had said.

President Kerr, of the Pittsburg league club, did not appear to be in the least disturbed when told of the new born organization. "We have known for some time that such a scheme was on foot," said he, "and we believe that some of our players have been tampered with."

Mr. Kerr admitted the truth of the report that some of the National league clubs favor the plan of maintaining two clubs in each city, the second to consist of young players, and to play games while the regular teams are away from home. It would render a severe blow to the new organization.

THE VICTIM OF SHARPERS.

The Land Scheme Successfully Worked at Warwick, N. Y.

Warwick, N. Y., Sept. 21.—This county is greatly excited over a swindle coming to the surface entailing $80,000 loss to its citizens. Five years ago a number of persons were induced to purchase western securities in amounts from $500 to $2,000, purporting to be first liens upon land worth four times that amount and paying 8 per cent. Each lien was accompanied by search and clerk's certificate. The interest was paid until July last. Suits were instituted which brought out the fact that forgery had been committed. No persons lived in Dekalb county, Missouri, as alleged, and at the registration office there no entries were to be found. John M. Quackenboss, through whom the loans were obtained, is a heavy loser and doubtless the victim of sharpers.

Six Cents Conscience Contribution.

Washington, Sept. 21.—A six cents conscience contrbution from a boy, who addresses his letter "His Majesty, President Cleveland," has been received at the treasury department. The boy states that he reused United States stamps and was now sorry for it.

A Murderer Hanged.

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 21.—John P. Poynter was hanged here yesterday afternoon for the murder of William Holding and Edward Vankier, his traveling companions, last February. He died protesting his innocence.

IRON AND STEEL TRADE.

Market Seems To Be Waiting for Higher Rates.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—The American Manufacturer in its editorial comment on the iron and steel trade says:

The present status of the iron and steel trade shows to the closest observer very few changes from the conditions presented last week. In nearly all lines the volume of business is increasing and more is being done, but at the same time values appear to be getting weaker. The raw iron market shows increased activity. Consumers who ordered supplies some time ago are anxious for deliveries, but in placing contracts lower figures are demanded by the purcahsers. There is a great hurry to get the material already ordered, but for future business there is nothing like a rush. In the finished iron trade there is more doing. Structural material is in fairly good demand. The mills are getting more from the railroads, but the demands from that quarter are still very easily met. On the whole the market seems to be rather a waiting one, without one thing agreed upon by all which is that higher rates are not to be expected.

PRINCETON FOOTBALL.

Clever Work Done in the First Practice Game.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 21.—The candidates for the Princeton football team took their first practice yesterday under the direction of Capt. Trenchard, assisted by Chief Field Coach King. The forty-eight men who passed and fell on the ball for nearly two hours did clever work, the almost entire absence of clumsy fumbling being a noticeable improvement over the first practice of previous years.

Of last year's eleven King, Trenchard, Morse, Ward, Lea, Wheeler, Taylor and Brown were present. A game is expected to be played with Lafayette on Saturday, Sept. 29. It is now thought that Holly, of last year's team, will not play this year, owing to sickness. If such proves to be the case center and one tackle, as well as quarter and fullback, will have to be filled. The leading men for these positions are McCormick, Tyler, Fulton, Burt and Cochran for fullback; Poe, Hoagland and Derr for quarter; Crowdis, Rhodes and Riggs for center, and Church and Williams for the vacant tackle.

MURDERED BY TRAMPS.

Two Arabian Peddlers Held Up and One of Them Killed.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 21.—Two Arabian peddlers, John Mikshive and Michael Jones, while returning to their homes in this city last night from a trip to Plymouth, four miles from here, were halted in a lonely part of the road leading from this city to Plymouth, by two unknown men, evidently tramps, who demanded their money. The peddlers refused to accede and one of the tramps then pulled a revolver and fired three shots at Mikshive, two of which took effect in the region of the heart, and he died instantly. The revolver was then turned upon his companion Jones, who received a bullet in the side, which inflicted only a flesh wound. The murderer and his accomplice then ransacked the pockets of the murdered man and secured $130. The two men then fled in the direction of Nanticoke.

The officers are now in pursuit. The murdered man was 18 years of age and came to this city about a year ago.

DEATH FROM YELLOW FEVER.

The Cambria's Boatswain Dies at Galveston—Quarantine Enforced.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 21.—Yellow fever was discovered on board the British steamer Cambria, which arrived here on the 18th from Havana. When the steamer first arrived outside the city sickness on board was reported to the quarantine officer, who ordered her fifteen miles out from the city. The doctor then inspected the vessel and found the boatswain, Ed McDowell, with a well developed case of yellow fever, from which he died and was buried at sea.

In case there should be any spread of the disease the quarantine officers will order the Cambria to Dry Tortugas. Every precaution has been taken by the officers, and there has been no one aboard of her except the doctor since her arrival.

The Osterhout Murder Trial.

Monticello, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The defence in the Osterhout murder trial commenced yesterday. A number of witnesses testified to the general good character of the prisoner. Osterhout was placed on the stand and told a plausible story of his whereabouts on the night of Feb. 21. He flatly denied evidence that had been sworn to by others. The evidence presented by the district attorney was not as strong as was expected.

Collapse of a School Building.

Spinning Mill Hands Strike.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—Over 300 men and women employed by Alexander Crow Jr., at his spinning mill, have gone on strike. The strike was the result of a reduction of about 20 per cent. in wages, which went into effect last October.

THE YALU ENGAGEMENT

Description of the Great Naval Battle.

Japs the Aggressors from the Start—The Chinese Had the Larger Fleet, but Were Compelled To Give Up the Fight—Officials at the Japanese Legation Predict Ultimate Success.

London, Sept. 21.—The Japanese legation here received a dispatch from Tokio stating that the Japanese fleet at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of September 16 met 11 Chinese warships and six torpedo boats 35 miles northeast of Hai-Yang-Tap, and that in the ensuing battle four of the Chinese ships were sunk and one was burned.

It was at first assumed that this dispatch gave the result of another battle than the one fought off the mouth of the Yalu river, but a later dispatch from Tokio to the Central News, though differing somewhat in respect of details, makes it clear that it is the Yalu engagement that is treated of.

London, Sept. 20.—The correspondent of the Central News at Tien-Tsin telegraphs further details of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river, as follows:

The work of transferring the troops and stores from the Chinese transports to the shore was proceeding rapidly when the Japanese fleet was sighted. Admiral Ting signalled to his fleet to weigh anchor and form in line of battle. In obedience to this order the fleet was formed in single line, with the exception of the cruisers Kwang-Kai and Kwang Ting and four torpedo boats, which were formed in a second line at the mouth of the river. The Japanese fleet advanced at full speed while the Chinese columns were forming in line, until they came within range, when the warships formed in line of battle, nine of them in the first column and three gunboats and five torpedo boats in the second column. The firing at the outset of the engagement was of an indifferent order, but the Japanese were creeping gradually closer and closer to the Chinese ships and their gunners were improving their aim by practice.

The Chinese barbetté ship Ting Yuen was the first to suffer severe injury, a Japanese shell bursting in her battery. A ceaseless cannonade was kept up on both sides for an hour and a half, when the Japanese ship Saikio was rendered helpless, and, according to the assertion of a Chinese officer, sank soon afterward. Two of the big guns of the battleship Chen Yuen were disabled, but she continued to use her smaller guns. The vessels of both fleets work very easily under steam, and the Japanese were constantly maneuvering, but the Chinese held their original position. Suddenly two Japanese cruisers, believed to have been the Akitsushima and the Yoshino, endeavored to break the Chinese line. They were followed by three torpedo boats. As the Japanese ships advanced at full speed the Chinese ships Ching Yuen and Chao Yung backed full speed astern to avoid disaster. The Japanese torpedo boats fired, but their projectiles were stoped by nets. The guns of the other Chinese ships were quickly trained on the two Japanese cruisers, and they retired after a short time almost helpless. The Chinese declare they were sunk.

The Ching Yuen was several times pierced by shells. The Chao Yung ran ashore while retreating, and became a target for the Japanese guns until she was set on fire. The King Yuen was in a terrible plight. A shell burst through her decks and she slowly foundered, while the flames burst from all parts of her. The Tsi Yuen withdrew from the first into the second column. The Chinese torpedo boats vainly attempted to put the Japanese on the defensive, but the Japanese remained the aggressors throughout, although two or three attempts to break the Chinese lines were repulsed. The cruiser Yang Wei went ashore stern foremost and met a fate similar to that of the Chao Yung.

After the first three hours of the engagement the firing was intermittent.

The captain of the cruiser Chih Yuen fought bravely when his ship was little better than a wallowing wreck, until the cruiser was sunk by a torpedo and her crew engulfed.

The scene at this point is described as appalling. Many guns on both sides were disabled, the battered ships rolled heavily and their steam pumps were kept constantly at work to keep them afloat. During the last hour of the battle some of the Chinese ships ran out of ammunition and some of the Japanese ships threatened to founder. At dusk the Japanese ships moved slowly southward in double line.

The Japanese warships Matsushina and Hi-Yei were slightly damaged, and one of the armed transports was seriously crippled, but none of the Japanese ships was lost.

The Japanese loss was twenty men known to have been killed and forty-six wounded.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Official confirmation is obtained here of the United Press report that four Chinese vessels were sunk and one burned in the recent naval battle. Naturally elated over the success of the Japanese fleet the officers of the legation predict the ultimate success of the Mikado's forces. And it will be easily seen that the claim is not born merely of enthusiastic belief in the superiority of the Japanese. China has lost five of her best warships. They were undoubtedly the best she had and as good naval vessels are not built in a day the chances for augmenting her naval force are very small indeed. It is safe to assert that by the great victory off Hai-Yang-Tao Japan has obtained full possession of the gulf of Pechile, which is the key to an invasion of the flowery kingdom. A strong Japanese fleet stationed there stands little chance of being routed and Japanese troops can be landed in China and Korea without serious danger. With the Chinese northern fleet crippled and the southern fleet of little use on account of the ancient character of its vessels, the Chinese are not likely to make an advance on the strong force of the enemy in the gulf of Pechile. These are the views of the legation officials, but it will be seen that they are based on actual conditions.

FACTS FROM ABROAD.

THE MARCH OF ADVANCED SCIENCE THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

AND ITS VALUE TO US.

A Declaration Made by the Great Doctor Fothergill for the Benefit of the People of the World Has Aroused Much Attention.

LONDON, Eng., September.—The following statement made by the late Dr. J. Milner Fothergill, the eminent scientist, who was physician for the London Hospital for diseases of the chest, has made quite a sensation. After denouncing oils and similar substances when used as food he said: "Fatty, oily foods cannot be taken by those whose stomachs are weak or whose digestive organs are out of order. What food should such people have? I say they need food which acts as a strengthener and sustainer, as fuel to feed the lamp of life, and that is starch food. A soluble starch food which will be readily assimilated by the digestive organs is the food for people whose digestive organs are weak."

It was only natural that such a statement, coming from so high an authority, should have made a profound impression among the leading physicians and scientists of Europe, and it brings into special prominence the recent discovery of predigested starch food known to doctors, to scientists and the world as Paskola. Comparatively few people outside the highest medical circles know of this wonderful discovery, but it is known to possess the qualities of flesh-forming, strength-imparting, life-giving power which has never been known before in the history of the world.

DR. J. MILNER FOTHERGILL.

Tests have been made upon patients in a weak, pale, run-down condition, accompanied with indigestion and general loss of energy, and the results are truly remarkable. It really looks as though this newly discovered food, Paskola, will take its rank as the most efficient flesh-producer and cure for dyspepsia of the nineteenth century. It is certainly superseding cod liver oil and the fatty preparations which have been used so extensively, and this but confirms the wisdom of the judgment of those who predicted for it unequaled success.

In the treatment of disease, as in all else, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating." The Rev. A. F. Beebe, of Worth Centre, N. Y., is but one of thousands who have been benefited by this ingenious and valuable preparation. He writes, under date of April 14, 1894, as follows:

"I can truly say it is a pleasure to give to the world a testimonial in regard to Paskola, for it has certainly accomplished wonders for myself and wife. We have taken $4.50 worth, less than the price of one visit from our physician, and it has done for us what no doctor's prescription or patent medicine has ever done. For twenty-five years I have suffered untold miseries through a disordered stomach. For years I have had to abstain from meats, but after one dose of Paskola, have eaten meat or any other food my appetite craved, with no evil results.

"In regard to my wife I hardly know how to write. It certainly appears like a miracle. Months passed with her with no appetite, and so reduced in flesh and vitality was she that we were looking for nothing short of a speedy death. But Providence appeared in the shape of a little pamphlet tucked under the string of a package brought from a neighboring town and by me placed upon the table with the remark, 'Here, wife, is something to cure your ills and give you an appetite.' She read it, and said to me, 'I have faith to believe that if I had that Paskola it would help me.' The next day I secured a bottle, and she began taking it. That was four weeks ago. Today she can eat anything she craves, something she has not before done in months.

"I regret that we did not weigh ourselves before we began to take Paskola, but the truth is I had no great faith in it, so many things had failed, but you have won our lasting gratitude. You can make such use of this testimonial as you wish. I send it for the simple reason that I have the good of my fellow men at heart."

Such words as these carry conviction.

A pamphlet fully describing Paskola and what it does will be sent free to any address by the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade street, New York.

THE DAILY PRESS.

A. L. FORCE, - - Publisher and Proprietor.
WALTER JESSE CLARKE, - Managing Editor.

Disrespectful flippancy is used by the local rival organ in speaking of spiritualistic mediums. Considering that it was a clairvoyant that christened his paper, and that the same shadowy friend continues to guide him in his faltering way, the sneers of the spectacled editor seem a bit ungrateful to the trance-indulging craft.

The mineral and vegetable kingdom each lend their fibres for clothing of man. Fields, mines and forests supplement the contributions of animals and birds. No man need go either naked or empty because nature made no provision. The world wants cotton, and America can supply its wants. The active cotton trade alone is to be an important feature in renewing business prosperity.

The municipal bond sales of August were $7,449,260, against $2,734,714 in August, 1893, and $4,108,491 in August, 1892. Not a single sale of municipal bonds is reported in the United States at less than par. The interest rate varies from 3 to 6 per cent. Sales of railroad bonds now average about one million dollars a day. The market shows many signs of increasing strength. Better times are here already.

It transpires that the management of the Somerville fair depended on John Gregory to keep the fair free from vice. As John is still the same old Gregory that the New Brunswick police-force and Pennsylvania Railroad records can tell so much about, the fair's virtue was in a bad way. The Somerville papers tell of Gregory's intimacy with the fakirs and collusion with the gamblers. Somerville must be way behind in local history if she did n't know John Gregory any better than to expect Ocean Grove piety from the ex-policeman whose favorite Sunday diversion used to be cockfights in Jonas Hagerty's barn.

When any cause or interest in central New Jersey wants a leader, eyes centre on this community for the man. The Republicans of the Third District are in need of a nominee, and their organ, The Unionist-Gazette of Somerville, points out a respected and esteemed North Plainfielder, with this complimentary editorial:

The name of ex-Mayor Charles Place, of North Plainfield, has been mentioned to us for the Congressional nomination. Mr. Place is a gentleman eminently fitted for such an office. He is a thorough Republican, and has positive views upon the tariff question. He is a business man who understands the needs of the district, and would never vote for measures that would prostrate all our industries, and throw laboring men out of employment. He can be trusted not to betray his constituents, no matter what might be the temptation, or how strong might be party ties. He is a man of the people. Somerset County is entitled to name the nominee this year. Monmouth had the honor two years ago, and Middlesex has already agreed not to interfere with Somerset this time. Every one of the Somerset delegates should insist upon having the candidate named from this county, and we have heard of none better than Charles Place.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

William J. Boome and wife are back from Old Point Comfort.

Lemuel Sertell and Miss Maud Chilton are to be married Oct. 24.

Charles Keller of Denver, Col., is visiting his old home in North Plainfield.

Charles Fisk and family are home again from their Summer at Jefferson, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Radford of West Front street are visiting in Spring Valley, N. Y.

Mrs. A. H. West and daughter have gone to Spruce Cabin House, Canadensis, Pa.

Mrs. E. T. Dunn of West Fourth street has returned from a visit in Hunterdon County.

Miss Schenck of Bonhamtown is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vall of Elmwood place.

Charles Hyde of East Front street contemplates making a trip to Europe within a few weeks.

Mrs. Alex. Fisk and mother arrived in England today. They expect to be gone several months.

Marshal Lines returned from Pittsburg this afternoon, 13 days from the beginning of his five-days leave.

Mr. and Mrs. David Allen of Delevan, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. Allen's brother, Elias Allen, Washingtonville.

B. E. Garland and mother, nephew and sister of Dr. Lightfull, are guests of the doctor and his estimable wife, at 144 Crescent avenue.

R. P. Craig and family will occupy one of the houses on College place, near Eighth street, on their return from Hightstown, where they have been for the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Martin and daughter are stopping for a few days at the home of Mrs. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Radford, West Front street, while the latter are visiting relatives. Mr. Martin and family intend moving to Plainfield soon.

J. H. Burchill, senior clerk at Leggett's Pharmacy, resigns his position October 1, much to the regret of his employer, to go into business for himself in a neighboring city. His position will be filled by a competent person and Mr. Leggett will further increase his clerkship by employing Ward Moody as junior clerk. Mr. Moody is now in the employ of E. J. Shaw.

REVIVING THE WORK.

REV. RALPH GILLAM BRINGS HIS MESSAGE TO PLAINFIELD.

Earnest and Effective Evangelism Inaugurated Among the People of the West End—May Sweep the City as in the Days of Mills.

The spirit of revival, which wrought so effectively among the souls of the people during the ministry of Rev. B. Fay Mills, is again awake and active in Plainfield, fostered by a pupil of both Mr. Mills and Mr. Moody, Rev. Ralph Gillam, who began a series of evangelistic meetings in Hope Chapel last night.

Mr. Gillam is a stout young man of shining countenance and cordial fellowship, and his gospel message is told calmly, pleasantly, earnestly and effectively. He was glad to find so considerable a number of people gathered at the service.

Taking it for granted that most of his hearers were already believers, as is naturally the case of a first-night congregation, he addressed himself particularly to church people, stirring them into renewed activity and urging them to honor the name of Christ and win souls to Him.

As a true evangelist, Mr. Gillam believes in the power of song. The sweet singer that usually accompanies him is ill of typhoid fever, and his place during the Hope Chapel services is supplied by F. H. Andrews, who directed the hearty singing that preceded and followed last night's preaching. Pianist Newman and Cornetist Guest led the congregational music, and a choir of 20 voices strengthened it. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of the chapel, invoked the blessing of God on the work; and by their presence on the platform and subsequent activity among the people, Superintendent H. C. Squires and Chief Usher Donald McInness proved their hearts in the work. Under the direction of Mr. McInness a faithful band of ushers gave welcome and parting greetings to the worshipers, and Mr. Squires enlisted the assistance of a corps of teachers. The labors of the revival have been systematized and divided, and as in the case of the Mills meetings large results are expected. The meetings will continue to Oct. 1, and possibly beyond. The evening hour is 7:45; and the afternoon is 3:30, preceded by a 2:30 prayer meeting for women only. There will be such service today and tonight, but none tomorrow. Special topics will be treated Sunday, at hours to be announced, and the hours of service next week will be as just told.

Without sensationalism of any sort, but with the earnest feeling of heartfelt sincerity that accompanies all true preaching, Mr. Gillam began his ministry.

He expressed pleasure that he was enabled to hold the meetings steadily under one church roof and that he was not to be forced to change from one meeting-house to another. It would enable him to get acquainted with the people.

Mr. Gillam read as a Scripture lesson the seventeenth chapter of John, and impressed on his hearers that Christ had given us His name, word, joy, glory, place, love, and life. He said that Christ had no need of sanctification, yet had He sanctified Himself that we also might be sanctified.

The sermon was on the text Proverbs xi: 30—"He that winneth souls is wise". The marginal reference put "taketh" for "winneth", and to win souls was to take souls to Christ. Were we as Christians, he asked, engaged in soul-winning? That brought up the question What is a Christian? He answered it by the definition A Christian is one who accepts Christ in all His power and purity and goes forth to live that Christlike life to all the world.

As the Christian lived, so Christ was judged by the worldly minded. And it was improper for us weakly to say Don't look at me, look at Christ. We ought so to live that we would honor the name and life of Christ, and ought to be living examples of His goodness.

We ought to win souls, and like Peter and John to the lame man at the gate Beautiful we ought not to be content with mere exhortation but ought as they did to stretch forth the hand and uplift. The saddest of hymns was "Must I go, and Empty-handed?"

The preacher showed how easy it was to win souls, and told of the work done even by little children who in their simplicity had brought kindred to the Saviour. One incident especially affecting was related of his work in the West. Among those who had signed his cards signifying their desire to lead a Christian life was a lad on whom he went to call three days after the meeting. He asked of a tearful woman at the door of the humble dwelling if he might see the lad. She took him into the darkened parlor, and there lay a casket, and in it a lifeless boy. "There he is"—she said, and with tears streaming down her cheeks she said "But after the meeting where he was converted, and before he died, he brought three souls to the kingdom".

Mr. Gillam told fervently of the death of his own father, and of his last words "Follow Christ, obey your mother, meet me in Heaven". Death was real, eternity was real. It meant much to have fast hold of the faith of Jesus Christ.

One thought which Mr. Gillam hoped the Holy Ghost would impress upon the hearts of his Christian helpers was that each would get out of the meetings all he put into them.

After the preaching service he met the choir and ushers, explained details of their work, and urged their self-consecration.

Tonight's sermon will be to those not within the fold. It will be an interesting and profitable talk for all; and the singing, beginning at 7:45, will be a feature.

All people are urged to attend. Last night's quiet and effective meeting was an awakener. There are live times for Christ's work just ahead in Plainfield.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

A Netherwood Avenue Home the Scene of Social Gayety.

The home of John McCann, on Netherwood avenue, was the scene of a brilliant social gathering last evening.

The occasion was the sixteenth anniversary of Miss Jennie McCann's birthday.

The house and premises were well lighted, and, thanks to the untiring energy of Mrs. McCann, the affair was a success in every particular. The rooms were crowded, and music, vocal and instrumental, furnished amusement for the guests.

Particular merriment was excited by Thomas Hovell's original and humorous performance as judge in a forfeit game.

Supper was served at 11, and all agreed that as an entertainer Mrs. McCann has few equals. After supper the fun was resumed until a late hour, when the guests departed offering sincere congratulations to Miss McCann.

Miss McCann, who was beautifully attired in a lavender dress, with white slippers, her hair hanging down the back and tied with a bow of the same color as the dress, made a very beautiful picture.

Among those present were: Miss Grace Meeker, Miss Ida Coles, Miss Edith DuBoise, Miss Lulu Bolby, Mr. and Mrs. Hovell, Mrs. and Miss Scull, Miss Hovell, Miss Grace Adams, Miss Josie Banks, Albert Coles, Mr. Collins, Jesse Mettler, Oscar Campbell, Ralph Campbell, Jacob King, Fred Adams, Arthur McCann, Harry and Walter Williams, and Clarence Brower of New York.

A GLORIOUS WORK.

Proposed Fair for Furnishing the New Y. M. C. A. Building.

In response to an invitation from the Young Men's Christian Association of Plainfield, the ladies propose holding a fair for the purpose of securing money to furnish their new building, that is near completion. The fair will be held in the new building, corner of Front street and Watchung avenue, Tuesday evening, November 27, Wednesday afternoon and evening, November 28, Thursday evening, November 29, Friday afternoon and evening, November 30, and Saturday afternoon and evening, December 1. Out of a mass of plans suggested, the following features have been decided upon: A miniature midway plaisance, reformed; the sale in an attractive way of fancy articles, refreshments, flowers, toys, books, stationery, baskets and groceries; music and entertainments each evening, and side shows for the amusement and delectation of old and young. At the present time, the executive committee, consisting of Mrs. J. K. Myers, Mrs. Henry A. McGee and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, are formulating plans and appointing committees for future work.

We bespeak for this fair the cordial interest and hearty co-operation of all the residents of Plainfield and vicinity, for the work done by the Y. M. C. A. is a noble one, appealing to hearts of all interested in the welfare of young men.

HER EIGHTEENTH BIRTHDAY.

Pleasant Celebration at a Central Avenue Home.

The cozy residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Kip, 303 Central avenue, was the scene of a delightful party last night, in honor of the eighteenth birthday of their daughter, Miss Florence Kip.

Miss Kip is a favorite with all who know her, and this occasion was enjoyed by friends from her old home, Jersey City, as an opportunity for a reunion, and many of them attended. The young hostess is a member of the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, and they were present.

The evening was charmingly spent in singing, dancing, piano playing and reading. A poem "Birthday Greeting", written by a Jersey City young man, cousin of Miss Kip, was read by Miss Kip's father. A gorgeous birthday cake was cut by Miss Kip and generously distributed. Little Jessamy, a sister of Miss Kip, gave several recitations. Many gifts were bestowed. All were reluctant to part. The Jersey City guests left by the 11:28 train.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS.

His Suffering Ended After Using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. George Smith, of Tacony, Pa., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for 30 years, and had so many severe attacks that some of my joints were twisted out of shape. At times I suffered terrible pain, and, although I tried many remedies, I never obtained any permanent relief until I procured Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. The action of this remedy was wonderfully quick, and although I have only taken a small quantity, I consider myself permanently cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp, shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back, and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

MEDDLESOME MRS. PETERSON.

She Stripped a Home of Its Belongings while the Mourners Were at a Funeral.

Charles Bonny, colored, of West Third street, had his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Jeanette Peterson of East Third street and Mrs. Anna Potter of Plainfield avenue, in Justice Mosher's Court this morning, charged with stealing furniture and household belongings. The case was laid over until Tuesday morning, when a multitude of colored witnesses will be present to make the trial interesting.

Bonny's wife died early in the week. The funeral was held from the house Wednesday afternoon. It is alleged that while the mourners were at the cemetery Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Potter stripped Bonny's home of all its contents and took them away. For this they will have to answer next Tuesday.

Mrs. Peterson is said to be notorious for her meddlesome connection with the affairs of dead colored folks, and when her sister died she discovered an excellent chance to make herself prominent. She claims she has a will in which Mrs. Bonny gives all her property to the two sisters.

Without going to the trouble of having the surrogate pass upon the will, the women hastened to seize the property. Mrs. Peterson, who is by far the bolder of the two, even tried to collect the insurance policy which had been made out in the name of the decedent's husband, but the undertaker straightened out this part of the matter.

Lights Out All Night.

One of the wires of the Edison Electric Light Company grounded in a tree on Manning avenue last evening. The boys of the neighborhood soon became engaged in the sport of touching the tree and receiving the shock.

The street lighting system was affected by the flaw in the circuit and had to be cut off. The streets were illuminated by moonlight during the rest of the night. The commercial and Dunellen systems were in operation as usual.

Profitable Investment.

ISN'T IT LOVELY!

GEORGE'S PAPA WRITES ABOUT THE WEDDING.

Excuses Himself by the Plea that He Has a Head on—Singular Illustration of What Comes from Being Too Promiscuous in Bestowing Invitations.

(T. W. Morrison, in The Evening News.)

The wedding of Mr. George W. Morrison of Plainfield and Miss Mary T. Meeker of Asbury Park, which occurred in the Presbyterian church of that place last evening, was a notable one in several respects. It was the first large wedding in the church, which is undoubtedly the finest edifice along the coast. The wedding is said to have been the most largely attended ever witnessed at Asbury Park, the bride being a young lady of great popularity, always conspicuous by her accomplishments and activity in the many religious and social events in that famous seaside resort. Despite the pouring rain every seat in the handsome edifice was filled with most devoted friends, composed of the most prominent people of the place.

The sweetness of the bride was accentuated by the loveliness of the bridesmaids, who were, taking all together, referred to by several of the many elegantly gowned guests among the ladies at the church as conspicuously beautiful. At the home there were general expressions of regret that some one had not thought of a camera to photograph them all together.

The ushers were an exceedingly fine-looking company of men, who did the honors most graciously, and were envied as each escorted a bridesmaid, by the many less fortunate young men among the guests.

The ceremony as performed is said to have been the first of its kind ever performed there, and won most cordial and general praise because of its impressiveness and beauty, which were calculated to make the event more memorable. It occurred at a time when the sun was crossing the equator and was making a great time over it; the son of the writer also crossing the equator of single blessedness to a life, it is to be hoped, of married bliss, although the young lady, they say, went into the edifice somewhat Meeker than she went out, for she had become Mrs. George W. Morrison. This is given on the testimony of Mr. Fred. Emerson Brooks, a cousin of the bride, who gave her away, at the ceremony, performed by Rev. Mr. Widdemer, the pastor of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Allen, pastor of the Methodist church.

Mr. Brooks gave further evidence at the reception at the bride's home, which occurred later in the evening, when at the wedding supper, he recited between courses some of his own poems which have won him world-wide fame. This further evidence was that he well deserved the title of being probably the greatest living humorist in his particular line of reciting, whereby he provoked almost continuous roars of laughter. He is said to be equally powerful in pathos, but never indulges in it on such occasions.

One large room in the bride's beautiful and spacious home was literally filled with most costly and tasteful presents, and, in fact, everything about the affair (excepting the weather) was all that a bridal couple could wish to make the occasion one to excite in coming years the most pleasant memories.

The festivities of the occasion did not terminate until long after the bride and groom had slipped away from the merry-making to start on the journey of life together with at least plenty of rice, which was showered on them by the watching company as the couple hurried into a cab, and disappeared.

After such a festive night, with such a head, 'tis hard to write.

PROCRASTINATION JACKSON.

If His Wife's Charge Is True, William's a Thief of Time.

The troubles of a colored couple, William Jackson and his wife, will be ventilated in the City Court tomorrow morning at 9.

Jackson was arrested by Policeman Cooney last evening on the complaint of Mrs. Jackson, who charged him with using improper language. His employer, Robinson Pound, went his bond for $100 for his appearance in court.

Jackson, who is of tall stature and strong build, has not lived with his wife for some time. The present trouble started over the purchase of a clock. It was a handsome one, and cost $8 by the instalment plan.

The man says he has a receipt for it made out in his name, and the woman claims she has one which proves that she owns the clock. Thursday night at 12 Jackson went to his wife's home on Cottage place and took the clock away. This caused a row and resulted in the complaint and the arrest.

Defective Surface Drainage.

Residents of South Second street complain of the lack of drainage on the street, the water remaining deep in the street after heavy rains. Some say they are often compelled to go to Plainfield avenue or Grant avenue to get across from one side to the other.

Fruits of the Fair.

The Somerset County jail now holds 33 prisoners. Twenty-seven have been committed since the beginning of the fair. Of this number 19 were arrested for drunken and disorderly conduct, and sentenced for terms ranging from 10 to 60 days, while seven are held to await the action of the Grand Jury.

"Sunshine Will Come Again."

Chas. T. Ellis will introduce that wonderfully popular ballad, "Sunshine Will Come Again", in his revival of his pretty play, "Casper the Yodler", which will be seen in Music Hall, Monday evening. Sweet memories of the past come at the very mention of its name.

HARVEST-TIME FESTIVITY.

Seventh-Day Christian Endeavorers Entertain Their Friends with Profit to Their Cause.

The harvest festival of the Christian Endeavor society of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, held last evening, was thoroughly enjoyed by all attending. The church parlors, which are especially adapted for entertainments or sociables, were filled with the ringing laughter and gay chatter of the young people. The young women who arranged the entertainment certainly deserve the greatest credit for their work, as nothing could have been more satisfactory.

In the alcoves that branch out of the main room, tables were set where refreshments were served. The young women in charge of the department were Miss Violet Truell, Miss Ida Spicer, Miss Lizzie Allis, Miss Eva Lewis, and Miss Bessie Randolph. On one side of the room a hut was erected, in which Miss Grace Lewis as Madam Zalinska told fortunes and practiced the art of palmistry. In front of her booth was the regulation tripod and kettle of the gypsies.

In another booth Miss Mabel Maxson dispensed lemonade to the thirsty, and to many who though not athirst were glad to pause and quaff drink so daintily served.

A smaller room contained the feature of the evening, the dairy. Here, in a stand trimmed with corn and all the different grains, Miss Jessie Utter, in appropriate costume, had for sale milk, buttermilk, potcheese and other dairy products. In the same room Miss Mabel Potter presided over a candy table. Arthur Spicer, assisted by Sydney Titsworth, attended to the cashier's department, and handled the large amount of coin without an error.

A good musical programme was provided. Miss Mabel Potter sang several times, accompanied by Miss Bessie Titsworth on the piano and Miss Violet Truell on the violin, Miss Lizzie Allis gave a piano solo, and Miss Mabel Maxson delightfully rendered several numbers on the piano. A piano duet by Miss Jessie Utter and Miss Mabel Potter was much enjoyed by all.

The Y. P. S. C. E. is doing missionary work in several fields, and to aid in support of it this entertainment was given. It is the intention of the society to have at least one sociable a month, for in no place can the congregation be brought together to enjoy a social evening better than in the church parlors.

EACH GAVE A DIME.

It Was Worth That and More for the Merry Time They Had.

A dime social with old-fashioned features brought a crowd of merry young people to Warren Chapel last night and induced them to increase the prosperity of the Christian Endeavor Society. The members of the Social Committee, Miss Phebe Herman, Miss Lizzie Dunlap and A. R. Johnson, were in charge, and under their management the following programme was rendered:

Song—"Put Your Shoulder to the Wheel", Choir

Dialogue—"How They Kept the Secret", The Misses Charlotte Happe, Lillie Haberle, Mamie Wilson, Phebe Herman and Lillie Myrax, and Mrs. John Herman and Charles Bryant.

Song—"Then You Will Remember Me, Love, in Your Prayers"........Miss Ida Dunham

Recitation—"The Road to Heaven", Miss Happe

Song—"Don't Take the Left Hand Road", Choir

Dialogue—"Canvassing Agent", Miss Phebe Herman, Miss Cora Burdick, Charles Bryant and Frank Splane.

Recitation—"Elijah Brown".......Miss Happe

Song—"Way Down Upon the Swanee River", All

The choir was composed of the Misses Laura and Minnie Smith, Ida Dunham, Maggie Shepherd and May Stedman, and George Taylor, Bert Honeyman, Bertram F. Tallamy and Thomas Cuming. All of the others who participated in the entertainment were attired in odd costumes of antique design.

After the programme came to an end, lemonade and cake were served and the rest of the evening passed very pleasantly. A dime collection was taken up for the benefit of the treasury.

Shorthand Cheaply Acquired.

The shorthand class at the Young Men's Christian Association will reopen early in October. The Association wishes the greatest possible publicity to be given to this fact so that a large number of young men may be induced to take advantage of this opportunity to study an art of such great practical utility.

The Association points with a great deal of satisfaction to the many young men who, taught and trained in the Association, are now occupying useful and lucrative positions in the commercial world. The whole expense at the Association is simply a small membership fee and the cost of the text books. As the Association is at considerable expense to maintain this class, it is hoped that many young men may enter it.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH, if you're a suffering woman, demands Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There's no other medicine like it, for women's peculiar ills. No matter how distressing your symptoms, it relieves your aches and pains, and if faithfully used will bring a permanent cure in every chronic weakness or derangement, in catarrhal inflammation, and in the displacements of women.

West Liberty, O.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—I can cheerfully recommend your valuable medicine, the "Favorite Prescription," to suffering females. Three years ago my health became so poor that I was scarcely able to help with the household duties. I was persuaded to try your medicine, and I purchased six bottles. That, with the local treatment you advised, made me strong and well.

My sister has used it in the family with like results.

THIS MAN A FRAUD?

CAME TO PLAINFIELD ON A PROFESSED ERRAND OF MERCY.

But the Girl He Was Looking for Says He Seeks to Lure Her Away to an Evil Life—She Is Sheltered in a Borough Home.

An old man with an errand came to town last night. He talked as if his motives were of the most philanthropic character, but people whom he came to seek say that he's a hypocrite.

He was excited when at 7 last evening he entered the borough and went to the house of Justice T. R. Crosley on Duer street. He said his name was Carkhuff and that he came from Newark to rescue a girl who had been enticed away from that city. He admitted that the girl was of age, but said that she was feeble-minded, so that he would be justifiable in swearing out warrants and taking her back to Newark.

The reason of his haste, he explained, was that he feared the girl, "Florence", would leave town and thus be out of the reach of the friends who were seeking to bring her back. The man he accused of harboring her was Samuel Proud of Linden avenue. Justice Crosley asked him about different points of law, but Carkhuff said he must leave to telegraph for Mrs. Delaney, of the Catharine Street Mission, New York City.

Carkhuff promised that when she would arrive he would come to the Justice's house, get out a warrant, and have the girl captured. He went away then, and did n't come back. Mrs. Delaney did not arrive, and Carkhuff disappeared without going to Proud's home at all.

The girl, Florence Richardson, had a different story to tell to a Daily Press reporter today. She came to Plainfield from Newark two weeks ago. Proud's mother, Mrs. J. S. VanHorn, with his stepfather came from White House and moved into the house 10 Linden avenue.

Proud, who left the furniture business, and is now employed in Robinson Pound's fat factory, went to live with them. He brought Miss Richardson from Carkhuff's house in Newark and she had since done the housework for the old people, Mrs. VanHorn being confined to her bed by illness.

Miss Richardson's parents are in England, whence the girl came to this country. She met the family by whom she is now employed in White House some time ago. She says that Carkhuff wishes to take her back to his house in Newark for evil purposes. He has a wife in Elizabeth, but lives himself in the Newark house. Mrs. Delaney is her friend, the girl says, having become interested in her at the mission. Carkhuff, she held, was misrepresenting matters to the mission worker.

RECEPTION TO BRIDE AND GROOM.

A Recent Plainfield Wedding Merrily Celebrated.

A very pleasant reception was given to John Reed and bride last evening by Mrs. Reed's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cox, at their home on West Front street. It was a complete surprise for Mrs. Reed, as she had been induced to go away to spend the day and knew nothing about the party till she returned with her husband about 9:30, and found the guests there.

The evening was spent in playing games, some of which were exceedingly funny. Musical selections also were enjoyed. The bride and groom received many very handsome presents. Those who joined in the festivities were: Rev Herbert Randolph, Mr and Mrs W C Lines, Mr and Mrs E T Bowman, Mr and Mrs J Dawe, Mr and Mrs William Reed, Mr and Mrs Page, Peter Reed, Mr and Mrs Busby, Mr and Mrs J B Higgins, Miss Anna Higgins, Mr and Mrs Firstbrook, Miss Lizzie Stine, Mr and Mrs I H Boehm, Mr and Mrs Edward Hann, Mr and Mrs W Wallace Coriell. Mr and Mrs M C Dobbins, Mrs A H Pope, Mrs Haberle, Mrs G Witlock, Mrs William Boehm, Miss Snyder, Mrs Corwin, Miss May Shultz, Miss May Howlett, Miss Jennie Hargraves, of Plainfield; Mrs A L Mershon, South Bound Brook; A S Cox, Bound Brook; Mrs Hauser, Mrs Berkaw, Easton; Mr and Mrs Middleton, Newark.

ONE SERVANT ROBS ANOTHER.

But Because of Red Tape the Thief May Go Unpunished.

A robbery was committed in the borough of North Plainfield yesterday. A servant girl stole clothing and money belonging to another girl employed in the same house. Yesterday afternoon the thief left the borough and went to a house in the city.

Chief Marshal Pangborn reported the matter to Borough Magistrate Crosley, but the hands of the authorities are tied by the resolution the North Plainfield Common Council passed in private session. Under this act the marshal has the power to arrest a disorderly or intoxicated man in the streets of the borough. For any other crime a warrant from Judge Crosley must be issued only to a constable.

There was no constable in the borough this morning who would take up the case and arrest the thief, so the robbery may be passed by unnoticed. If the marshal had not been prevented by the new decision he would have crossed to the city and caught the girl without delay.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

The Town Committee will hold a meeting in the town-rooms this evening.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs Charles Kramer of Front street is quite seriously ill.

John Cook of Park avenue has a new horse, purchased in Plainfield from the Missouri dealers.

Mushroom gatherers daily spend the early part of the morning in the pastures and on the mountain.

Lynus Walpole, Thomas Paff, Sr., and Edward Wright went today to fish for bass in the Passaic river.

Stone-throwing continues to be a favorite sport with the boys. Street lamps are considered the best targets.

J. Hervey Buchanan of Philadelphia, son of Rev. J. H. Buchanan, has been visiting friends in the Plains.

John B. Marsh, Sr., has set an example for farmers of the Plains by seeding down in grass a field on his Park avenue farm.

The fruit festival which had been arranged by the women of the Baptist Church was not held night because of the storm. It will be held instead next week.

John L. Force of the West Side House received a new Mosler safe yesterday afternoon. It is provided with a desk top which his patrons will find useful in letter-writing.

The Sons of Temperance have arranged to have their weekly meetings in the hall rented by the Knights of Pythias. Socials and entertainments may be held in other quarters.

Mrs. T. M. Paff, Sr., of Park avenue, accompanied by her daughter. Mrs. C. E. Grant of West Front street, Plainfield, is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Charles Westervelt of Spring Valley, N. Y.

The remains of Edward Shaw, who died in Bound Brook, were brought to the Plains late Wednesday afternoon and interred in the Baptist church-yard. Mr. Shaw was 41 years old and was well-known in the vicinity.

The macadamized portions of the roads become dry quickly after the rains, but the water does not soak away readily in the gutters. The mud in front of the business blocks in Scotch Plains is a source of much annoyance.

Vincent J. Sisser has arranged to trot his black mare against one of the horses owned by Mr. Osborne of New Market. If the weather permits the race will be trotted tomorrow afternoon in the Gentlemen's Driving Park south of Plainfield.

The Scotch Plains nine will go to Rahway tomorrow afternoon at 1 to play with Johnson and Ball as a battery. A return game will be played on the local diamond September 29, and a game here with a Wall street nine, October 6, will close the baseball season.

E J. Fitzhugh of New York, leader of Plainfield's Melopoia and organist in the First Baptist Church, Plainfield, will be the leader of the Choral Union. He offers the choice of Wednesday and Thursday evenings and it is probable that the night last named will be selected. Work commences next week.

Almost all of the residents of the twin villages have complied with the ordinance of the Fanwood Township Committee in regard to the trimming of shade trees. The improvement is a noticeable one, and the way in which the people have responded to the committee's request reflects great credit on their public spirit.

Dunellen.

A. A. Lake and family moved to Brooklyn yesterday.

Mrs. James E. Touzeau is visiting Mrs. F. Hawk, in Milford.

Mrs. Alfred Nelson spent yesterday with Plainfield friends.

Jonathan Clawson of Bound Brook visited Dunellen friends yesterday.

The Dunellen public schools will reopen next Monday and all the children are happy.

The Cronin and Brennan case is expected to come before the Grand Jury in New Brunswick today.

Mrs. William Van Middlesworth and her daughter, Miss Lillie, were guests of Plainfield relatives yesterday.

Mrs. Margaret Peters, who recently came over from Germany and has been stopping with her son John Peters, has gone to Nyack to visit her son Ernest Peters.

William K. Hope, auctioneer, will sell the entire personal property belonging to William J. Winges tomorrow noon at 12 sharp. Mr. Winges will take up his residence in Hoboken where he has a large hotel.

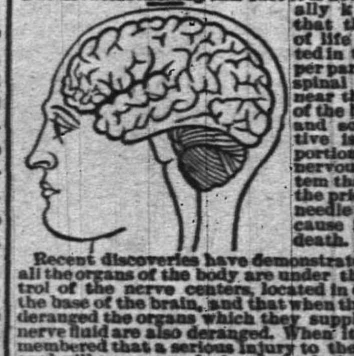
Captain Blisch of New Market, who is very much opposed to the new school law, says that the election held on Tuesday is not legal, because women voted, and it is thought that it may be contested.

A valuable cow belonging to Oscar Libbey of Greenbrook, was drowned Wednesday while pasturing in the lowlands at that place. Mr. Libbey had her tied with an 80-feet rope and when the water commenced to rise she was unable to escape. The water is very high on account of the heavy rains and the roads are almost impassable. Mr. Libby is, as yet, unable to reach the cow and get her out.

MYSTERIES!

The Nervous System the Seat of Life and Mind. Recent Wonderful Discoveries.

No mystery has ever compared with that of human life. It has been the leading subject of professional research and study in all ages. But notwithstanding this fact it is not generally known that the seat of life is located in the upper part of the spinal cord, near the base of the brain, and so sensitive is this portion of the nervous system that even the prick of a needle will cause instant death.



Recent discoveries have demonstrated that all the organs of the body are under the control of the nerve centers, located in or near the base of the brain, and that when these are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centers will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force.

Two-thirds of chronic diseases are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centers at the base of the brain, not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organ rather than the nerve centers which are the cause of the trouble.

DR. FRANKLIN MILES, the celebrated specialist, has profoundly studied this subject for over 20 years, and has made many important discoveries in connection with it, chief among them being the facts contained in the above statement, and that the ordinary methods of treatment are wrong. All headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion, pressure, blues, mania, melancholy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, etc., are nervous diseases no matter how caused. The wonderful success of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is due to the fact that it is based on the foregoing principle.

DR. MILES' RESTORATIVE NERVINE is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

THE PEACE CONGRESS

Doctor Trueblood Pleased With the Outcome.

Says It Was the Most Enthusiastic Gathering He Ever Attended—Well Treated by the Belgian Government and the Antwerp Exposition—New Fields of Labor.

Boston, Sept. 21.—Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society, who arrived from Antwerp several days in advance of the other American delegates to the International Peace congress, in speaking of the international gathering expresses himself as well pleased with the outcome in general, and states that a peace congress has never before been treated as well as it was by the Belgian government this year. The king of Belgium had appointed a commission which should act in connection with the management of the Antwerp exposition, in arranging everything for the holding of the congress.

"On the whole this congress was the most enthusiastic I ever attended," said Secretary Trueblood, "and it is noteworthy for the new men and women that appeared in it from all over Europe, especially Germany, and those that had not taken such an interest in the work before. Another proof of the importance with which it was regarded can be seen from the extended notices that all the Belgian papers gave it. One of these leading journals expressed the opinion that this was the most noteworthy of the many congresses held here during the Antwerp exposition, and the great attention given it by the national government will greatly add in disseminating and fostering among the people at large the new ideas promulgated there.

"In the future a new means of introducing peace literature among the young people will be pushed as never before and that is the introduction of fiction having lessons of peace and arbitration in it. This class of literature has been used in the past, but was made one of the principal topics of discussion at this meeting, and it was agreed that a much larger field of readers could be reached in this way than in any other.

"The war between China and Japan came in for a good share of discussion and a resolution was passed condemning the action of the western nations in loaning money to these two belligerent nations. There can be no doubt that the general interest in the cause of peace and arbitration, and the desire for disarming and decreasing the military burdens that threaten to ruin the nations of the old world are steadily growing, and no better example of this fact is needed than the congress just closed. It is especially manifested in the many new peace associations that have sprung up all over Europe, and more especially in Germany during the past year. For example, the General German Peace society, with its headquarters at Berlin, now has branches in thirteen German cities.

"Another indication of the deep hold which these new ideas are gaining on the European countries was manifested in the inter-parliamentary Peace union, which held its fifth congress at the Hague, Holland, from Sept. 4 to the 6th inclusive, which was attended by 125 delegates, representing fourteen different European parliaments. This was the fifth annual gathering of the organization and there are now 1,200 members, all of whom are present members of parliaments, so to speak, and they will, eventually cast a great controlling influence on the governments. No stronger proof can be found of the rapid and widespread growth of the new ideas than is furnished by this parliamentary union.

"There was a proposal made that all the nations of Europe should be encouraged to hold an international conference with the view of seeing if they could not discover peaceful methods of settling all their difficulties and, in time, of diminishing materially the heavy burdens of the present armaments. The suggestion met with a prompt response in the congress. It was also agreed to consider a proposition for protecting private property on the sea in time of war, and this, too, was favorably received. A French senator introduced a motion asking that in each parliament the members of the union should always seek to induce their governments to act in harmony with the principles of justice and right, as advanced by the congress, and this motion met with universal approval.

"The longer I study the subject and the more I see of European life," said Dr. Trueblood, in conclusion, "the more I am convinced there will never be another European war, for such movements as the International Peace congress and the Inter-parliamentary Peace union are bound to create a public sentiment that will compel the nations to settle their difficulties in peaceful ways. The two are not only creating public sentiment in favor of peace but they are the expression of a sentiment that has been growing for years. This same expression of sentiment is to-day found in the three hundred peace societies in Europe, and it was found in the Antwerp congress just closed, in which about fifty of these societies were represented."

WE TAKE PLEASURE
In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Friday, Sept. 21 to Saturday, Sept. 29. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks
We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gentlemen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up.

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

Paine's Celery Compound Brightening Thousands of Homes!

How hard it is to see the dear ones gradually losing their hold on life and fading away.

No home, however guarded, but has some dear one for whom anxiety never ceases.

Father and mother breaking down under heavy cares, or a sister or a brother gowing thin, pale, and weaker day by day.

Into these sad homes Paine's celery compound comes like a messenger of mercy. There is sure to be some near relative or friend who owes recovery from some debilitating sickness to Paine's celery compound. The family physician, no matter of what school, recommends it and tells of others who become vigorous by its use.

This is the usual story of the entrance of this remarkable blood purifier and nerve strengthener into so many homes in every city and village in the United States.

It restores healthy, nervous action of the heart; sends purer, richer blood into he intricate ventricles and chambers of this vital organ and equalizes its action by regulating the nervous system.

Paine's celery compound cures speedily and permanently all disorders due to impure blood and badly nourished nerves and nerve centres.

Mr. Claud Clary, a picture of whose wife appears above, writing from his home in North Topeka, Kansas, says:

"I have been a sufferer from nervousness for years, and have used several remedies, none of which did me any good This season I had a severe attack, and tried Paine's celery compound. One bottle gave me immediate relief. I used two bottles and am as well today as I ever was.

"My wife has also used the medicine much relief. I have recommended it to several of my friends and am sure that they are satisfied with it."

Try it once and be convinced from personal experience.

STABBED WITH A KNIFE

Desha Breckinridge Tries to Murder a Man.

A Former Friend of the Congressman's Son Is the Victim—Judge G. B. Kinkead Challenged To Fight. Intense Excitement Prevails Over the Affair in Lexington, Ky., and Trouble Is Likely To Occur Between Friends of Both Parties.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 22.—A personal encounter between Desha Breckinridge, son of W. C. P. Breckinridge, and James Duane Livingstone in which a knife was drawn and used by the congressman's son, has stirred the city to its depths. A wordy war with Judge George B. Kinkead occurred earlier in the day, and the men separated, ostensibly for the purpose of arming themselves. The Livingstone episode, however prevented the meeting of the well known antagonists.

Matthew Lane came here from Mount Sterling, and in conjunction with Desha Breckinridge went in search of Owens men who had denounced Col. Breckinridge during the recent campaign. They met Judge George B. Kinkead about 5 o'clock in front of the Breckinridge headquarters. He was halted by the two, and young Breckinridge said: "The election is over now and I want to tell you that you are a liar and a coward." Judge Kinkead replied that he was not armed and that there were two of them, when Lane remarked forcibly: "And this is the Judge Kinkead. Well, I want to tell you that you are a dirty loafer and a liar. You said in one of your speeches that no decent woman would entertain Col. Breckinridge and my sister entertained him. I dare you to resent the insult."

The judge remonstrated with them thta they had the advantage of him, when Mr. Breckinridge cut the interview short by saying that he would give him all the time he wanted to go and arm himself. Kinkead walked off toward his home and Breckinridge and Lane proceeded to the Phoenix hotel, where they saw James Duane Livingstone, financial manager for J. Kennedy Tod, owner of the Kentucky Union railroad, and who has been a strong Owens man. Livingstone was leaning against the news and cigar stand when Desha approached and asked for a package of cigarettes. Livingstone noticed Desha, and, extending his hand, said: "Desha, the election is over; we should be friends."

Young Breckinridge replied: "I think you are a one-horse scoundrel and will not take your hand."

Livingstone asked him what he meant and Desha explained that he thought him two-faced. Livingstone said he had been a constant Owens man and had never professed anything else. Desha said: "You are a liar."

At this Livingstone struck him, knocking his glasses off and staggering him. In an instant Desha flashed a large dirk knife, and, aiming it at Livingstone's heart, made a lunge for his old time friend. Livingstone threw up his hand and the knife pierced it, inflicting a serious wound. Livingstone then got out of the mad man's way. A number of men rushed up and ended the fray by urging young Breckinridge to put away his knife. The news of the attack spread rapidly and in ten minutes the hotel lobby was full of excited people. Lane remained some time, declaring that he had insulted Kinkead, and daring him or any of his friends to resent it. His friends soon saw danger was imminent and took him away.

The Owens men are very bitter in their denunciation of the action of young Breckinridge and his accomplice and declare that they must not keep up the proceedings; that they are defeated and must take the result like men.

To-day the district committee meets at Frankfort to officially declare the nominee and it is expected there will be more trouble, since the Breckinridge forces were in close consultation here yesterday and the Owens men believe they will try to work through some protest whereby they can declare Col. Breckinridge the nominee.

Feeling is running high and all sorts of threats can be heard on the streets by partisans of both sides. Desha is looked upon by Breckinridge partisans as a mere boy and several of them have declared their willingness to help him in any personal difficulty.

The bellicose tendencies of Desha Breckinridge are not of recent development. Ever since he came into public notice last March as one of the counsel for his father in the notorious breach of promise trial in Washington he has gained his greatest prominence from his disposition to resent by physical means everything that reflected on the Breckinridge side of the case. On March 12 last he was one of the participants in the affray between the opposing attorneys in the lobby of the court where the breach of promise suit was tried. Mr. William G. Johnson, junior counsel for Miss Pollard, had made some remarks that day in arguing a disputed point, which were taken up by Major John Shelby, Col. Breckinridge's law partner, and his principal counsel. As Mr. Johnson left the court room at adjournment Major Shelby slapped him in the face. Mr. Calderon Carlisle, Mr. Johnson's law partner and another of Miss Pollard's attorneys, tried to separate the two just as Col. Breckinridge rushed towards him with arms extended. Thinking the congressman intended to assault him, Mr. Carlisle called out: "Keep your hands off me, sir, or you'll suffer for it," and as he said it Desha Breckinridge struck him in the back of the head. Bailiffs interfered at this point and hurried young Breckinridge away.

The next morning Judge Bradley delivered an indirect but sharp rebuke to the belligerent attorneys for Col. Breckinridge and said he had been informed that counsel for the defense had come into court armed.

Major Butterworth, Major Shelby and all the attorneys for the Kentucky congressman, with the exception of his son Desha, entered personal disclaimers to the allegation. When the incident had blown over and the trial was resumed Desha Breckinridge left the court room and remained away a few minutes. It was said at the time that he was armed and had gone out to put away his weapon, but those on Col. Breckinridge's side said that Desha was not actually one of his father's attorneys and was in court merely to give moral support by his presence to his parent.

At the close of the trial Judge Jere Wilson, in his concluding speech for Miss Pollard, made reference to a letter alleged to have been written by his client to Col. Breckinridge and characterized it as a forgery. This was resented as a personal imputation by Mr. Charles H. Stoll, of Lexington, one of Col. Breckinridge's attorneys, and there was an exciting scene in the court room over his assertion that the matter would be settled "in another court." During the luncheon hour that day at a neighboring restaurant Desha Breckinridge rather loudly insisted that the alleged insult could be wiped out only in blood, and he made various uncomplimentary remarks about Judge Wilson.

READING REORGANIZATION.

The Olcott-Earle Scheme Discussed in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—The Reading railroad receivers held a protracted conference with Attorney F. W. Whitridge, of New York, representing the Olcott reorganization committee, Lawyers Johnson and Hulseberger, of Philadelphia, representing the Philadelphia contingent of the same committee, and Samuel Dickson, counsel for the company. The subject discussed was the Olcott-Earle plan for reorganizing the company, and from what could be learned there was just enough diversity of opinion among the conferees to render it impossible for them to come to an early understanding, and several days may elapse before final approval will be given to the plan. What is the actual cause of the delay cannot be ascertained, but it was stated that the obstacles to immediate action are not of such material importanceas to cause any fear of the ultimate adoption of the scheme. It is believed that the plan will be filed in the United States circuit court some day next week.

OSTERHOUT ACQUITTED.

Not Guilty of Murdering Old Jacob Moore.

Monticello, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Hiram Osterhout was acquitted of the charge of murdering old Jacob Moore last spring. When the evidence on both sides was closed ex-Judge Bush, for the defense, moved that the court advise the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty on the grounds that the evidence was insufficient to convict. The court advised the jury to acquit Osterhout and they did so without leaving their seats. Osterhout is still under indictment for the murder of Moore's housekeeper, but the judge let him go upon his own recognizance. It is not at all likely that the indictment will ever be tried. After the verdict Osterhout left with his family for his home near Hurleyville.

Did Not Like Higgins' Speech.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Sept. 22.—The Canadians who listened to the speech of Senator Higgins, of Delaware, delivered here, went home filled with indignation. They resented his imputation that they maintained their allegiance to Great Britain at the expense of their prosperity and although it was dear to their hearts it was dearer to their pocketbooks. His representation that Canadian prosperity could only be secured by continental unity, also aroused resentment. His statement that the feeling of the people of the United States toward Canada as a nation was of neighborly amiability and indifference, failed to sooth their very much ruffled feelings.

For Scientific Research.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The concerted effort of the scientists of this country to have the magnificent astronomical instruments of the naval observatory devoted exclusively to scientific research under the direction of the professional astronomers of the navy, has at last met wth success and the great twenty-six inch and twelve inch equatorials as well as the other famous astronomical instruments belonging to the government will hereafter be devoted to increasing the world's knowledge of the heavens.

Prize Fight in Guatemala.

Panama, Sept. 22.—The Star and Herald prints the following from Guatemala: Fitzgerald and Lewis, two American pugilists, fought a battle at the Hippodrome in the capital a few days ago. The mill started at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, before a very slim audience. Both combatants displayed much skill in the manly art, but after twelve rounds the fight was awarded to Fitzgerald. The stake was $2,000.

A Murderer Escapes from Jail.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 22.—Three prisoners confined in the county jail here made their escape by knocking the jailer down when he came in with their noon meal. One of them, John Goeden, was awaiting trial for murder and the other two were serving out sentences for burglary. They ran through the main streets of the city and made their escape.

Burning Lime in Her Hold.

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 22.—The schooner William Buttman, Thorndyke, from Thomaston for New York, with 1,000 barrels of lime, has a fire in her hold. Her deck load has been landed and attempts are being made to smother the fire. The vessel is now in charge of J. G. Whitcomb.

Northern Pacific Abolishes Offices.

WANT ANOTHER BATTLE

Japanese Ships Preparing for an Attack.

The Late Naval Engagement Lasted Five Hours—Three Chinese Cruisers and a Barbette Ship Destroyed. Commanding Officers of Four Vessels Killed.

London, Sept. 22.—The Central News has received the following dispatch from Tokio regarding the recent naval battle. The dispatch is dated Sept. 22, 8:45 a. m.:

"The Japanese flagship Matsusima, with the first squadron, had a rendezvous at Haiyantau. The fighting lasted five hours. The Chinese cruisers Yang Wei, Chao Yung and Ching Yuen and the barbette ship Lai Yuen were destroyed and the barbette ships Ting Yuen, King Yuen and Ping Yuen were set on fire. When darkness fell the Chinese vessels fled. The Japanese pursued them, reaching Hope Sound at daylight. The enemy, however, escaped, and the Japanese returned to Hatyantau. Of the Japanese' vessels the most damaged were the cruisers Matsusima, Hiyei and Akagi, which were in the thickest of the fight. One of the Matsusima's guns was dismounted, damaging the ship, and she returned to Sasebo for repairs. The other Japanese vessels remain on the station. The total number of Japanese killed and wounded is 180. On the flagship the commander, lieutenant and thirty-four of the crew were killed and four officers and sixty-nine of the crew were wounded. Seventeen men have since died. The cruiser Yayeyama replaces the Matusima. The admiral's flag has been hoisted aboard the cruiser Hasidate."

A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai, dated 6 p. m., Sept. 21, says: "The commanding officers of four of the Chinese warships were killed in the engagement off the mouth of the Yalu river. Admiral Ting was wounded in the cheek and the leg, but in neither case seriously.

"Five of the transport ships are still missing. Three Chinese transports are reported to have been captured. All of the Chinese warships that were not sunk are badly damaged.

"The Japanese ships are preparing for another attack."

The Westminster Gazette says a news agency here has information from Kobe that a cable dispatch received there from Shanghai confirms the Chinese version of the naval battle at Yalu, in so far as the Japanese losses are concerned. This dispatch asserts that three of the Japanese warships, the names of which are not given, however, were lost during the fight.

A dispatch from Tokio says the empress of Japan, as the chief patroness of the Red Cross society, has set the example of preparng lint and bandages for the wounded, the ladies of the court actively co-operating in the work. The lint, bandages and other healing appliances are equally distributed among the Japanese and Chinese wounded soldiers without distinction

Boston Garment Workers' Strike.

Boston, Sept. 22.—It now appears as if the wholesale clothiers of this city would make some concessions to the contractors and that a possibility of settling the great garment workers' strike would develop within a few days.

Tragedy in a Furnished Room in New York.

Actor Del Vecho and Wife Adopt Ingersoll's Suicidal Theories—She Is Dead and He Is in a Precarious Condition—Both Were Victims of Strong Drink.

New York, Sept. 22.—There was a tragic occurrence in the furnished room house kept by Mrs. Emily Arno at No. 84 East Tenth street, kept principally for the accommodation of theatrical people. John Del Vecho, a musical artist, and his wife, Lillian, tried to end their lives according to a mutual agreement. The woman was successful in her attempt, but the man failed to fulfil his part of the agreement. Del Vecho left a letter in which he ascribed his motive for self-destruction to hallucinations and a perusal of Ingersoll's suicidal theories.

Del Vecho and his wife secured a room from Mrs. Arno about three weeks ago. They appeared to be devoted to one another, but each had an overfondness for strong drink. During the present week the husband had been on the verge on dilirium tremens, and it was with difficulty that he managed to fill an engagement he had at a Harlem theatre. He was in a very bad state and wandered about the upper part of the house talking in a rambling manner about people trying to kill him. His wife tried to coax him to go to the meseum, but in vain. He shouted that men were waiting outside to take his life. His wife had been growing daily despondent on account of her husband's actions, which had driven her to the use of liquor. She told Mrs. Arno that she had not much inducement to continue life under her present surroundings, and it is supposed that the couple, while under the influence of drink, agreed between themselves to end life together.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Arno was sitting in the parlor when Del Vecho burst into the room with his eyes glaring like those of a madman. As he caught sight of Mrs. Arno he shouted: "Come quick, come quick, something terrible has happened." He grasped his landlady by the arm and partially dragged her up stairs, crying in piteous tones as he mounted the stairway: "My poor darling wife."

The strong odor of carbolic acid now came to Mrs. Arno's nostrils and she needed no further urging, but hastened up to the top floor and into the room occupied by the Del Vechos. On the bed lay Mrs. Del Vecho. She was unconscious and apparently dying. Without waiting to see more Mrs. Arno rushed down stairs. A few moments previous she had noticed a policeman standing in front of the house. He was still waiting, and she shouted to him.

He learned quickly from her what had happened and sent out a hurry call for an ambulance. Together with Mrs. Arno he then went up stairs, where Del Vecho was found lying across his wife's almost lifeless form, crying and raving like a wild man. His lips were burned with carbolic acid and there was a gash in his throat, which he had inflicted with a razor that the policeman found on the floor. He was in that condition, Mrs. Arno said, when he first burst into her presence but she thought the wound in the neck was caused by an accidental slip of the razor. It was not bleeding much at the time. The crazed man may have drawn the razor across his neck a second time. He was not in a serious condition, however, but could not tell a very straight story of what had occurred. He merely said that he was asleep when he was awakened by his wife falling across him. He said he only had a vague idea of what was transpiring and was not fully roused from his sleep until he heard his wife groaning. He said he had no intention of committing suicide. This denial was disproved, however, by the following letter, which he had scrawled on a rough piece of parchment:

"I was driven to this by my hearing, or thinking I heard, a dirty, nefarious story about myself which was without foundation. I am as honest a man as ever lived. Perhaps it is owing to my oversensitiveness or from reading Ingersoll's suicidal theories, I don't know which, but I know that I have done nothing evil or nothing to merit the reproaches of honest people (except drink). May God forgive me.

J. DEL VECHO,

"Care of my father, School street, Salem, Mass."

He is 29 years old. His wife was a year older. She was not pretty, but had rather attractive features. In form she was short and plump. Her impersonations of masculine parts were most capable. She had lately been giving an original impersonation of Beau Brummel. She had been married to Del Vecho for nearly eleven years. The couple, however, had no children.

Dr. Palitschek Disgraced.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Private cable messages received here from Vienna announce that Dr. Anton Palitschek, late consul general to the United States, located at New York, has been dismissed in disgrace from the consular service of the Austro-Hungarian empire. While acting as imperial and royal commissioner general to the World's fair the ex-consul is said to have compelled Austrian exhibitors to pay for their space in Manufacturers' hall. It was also charged that Dr. Palitschek embezzled $15,000 bequeathed to hospitals by John Ruzitz, a wealthy Hungarian, who died in New York.

GOOD TRADE REPORTS

Indications Point to a Prosperous Fall.

Gains in Volume of Business in the East Maintained—Favorable Reports from the West Continue. Large Sales of Iron and Steel—Failures Show a Falling Off.

New York, Sept. 22.—In its weekly report of the state of trade Bradstreet's to-day says:

The condition of general trade this week is an improvement over one week ago, in that favorable features reported then have been maintained. The surprisingly good reports of business south and, with some exceptions, west, are indicated by our special advices from Baltimore, Nashville, Chicago, St. Louis, Portland, Ore., and San Francisco. Baltimore jobbers in all leading lines report the volume of merchandise distributed in excess of expectations, especially dry goods in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, except in fruit and coal regions. Other southern products being in good supply, orders continue liberal and mercantile collections easy. Nashville, while reporting no improvement over favorable features made last week, notes their continuance and that collections are prompt. One sale is reported of 10,000 tons of southern pig iron this week.

Activity reported in almost all lines at Chicago a week ago is continued, merchants being satisfied with the volume. Far western buyers who used to buy in eastern markets are purchasing stocks at Chicago. Greatest activity is shown in dry goods, clothing, millinery and shoes. Wool, too, is active, one lot of 700,000 pounds having been sold to a Rhode Island manufacturer. St. Louis manufacturers and jobbers of clothing and hats report business heavier than in their preceding experience in like periods. Sales of millinery and dry goods are large, as well as those of lumber. General trade at larger cities on the Pacific coast has improved in leading lines.

The favorable features of trade which characterized large areas are corroborated by the bank clearings total for the week, $900,000,000, or 5.4 per cent. more than last week, 12 per cent. larger than in the third week of September, 1893, but 24 per cent. smaller than in the like week of 1892. Another favorable feature is found in larger sales of steel rails by northwestern mills to western railroad companies, and by increased demands by railroads for car iron and the like.

Prices movement this week is downward, cotton having sold to within two points of the lowest price on record, and wheat having gone off sufficiently to make another "lowest record" for that cereal. Other decreases are shown in hogs and cattle at western markets, based on heavy receipts, of Bessemer pig iron, steel billets, Indian corn, oats, naval stores and refined sugar. In addition, anthracite and bituminous coal prices have been weak; those for lumber likewise, at some eastern markets, and quotations for pig iron generally. Steady quotations during the week are announced for pork and lard at eastern markets, and advances have actually taken place in leather, coffee, and to a relatively small degree in wool, notwithstanding the attendance of many American buyers at London wool sales. There are 218 business failures reported in the United States this week, against 223 last and as compared with 346 in the third week of September, 1893. In that week of 1892 there were only 174 business failures reported, but in 1891 the aggregate for the week was 250.

Gains in volume of business at leading eastern cities in the preceding fortnight are generally maintained. Boston reports less activity in dry goods, with cotton goods firm, due to the strike, and demand for dress woolens active, with mills well employed. Neither Buffalo nor Pittsburg announces gains or reactions, except in prices for metals. Philadelphia textile manufacturers are only fairly busy, relatively active trade in other lines being dry goods and notions. Providence reports improvement in cotton yarn manufacturing, due to the Fall River strike.

Charleston telepraphs that general trade is fair, without new features; Chattanooga, that there has been some slight improvement in business; Memphis, that business is quite active, especially in dry goods and groceries; Atlanta, that collections are freer and trade is improving; Savannah, that the volume of business continues to improve, and that extraordinary heavy dealings in spirits of turpentine have taken place. Dry goods jobbers at Augusta have been doing a larger business than for some time previous, while at Jacksonville local trade has been cut into by heavy rains.

At the west favorable features announced by Cleveland last week are continued, the volume of trade being larger than a year ago; at Cincinnati the tendency to gain is also maintained. Only a fair volume of business is reported by Detroit, although collections are better, but Louisville continues to do a larger business in dry goods, groceries, paints, oils and glassware.

New Companies Incorporated.

Albany, Sept. 22.—The following companies were incorporated with the secretary of state: The New York and Canada Lumber company, limited, to buy and sell lumber on commission or outright, in New York city, capital $25,000; the Menebsha Clay company, of New York city, to mine, wash and ship clay and sand and to manufacture and sell brick, capital $30,000; the Long Island Auxiliary Fire Alarm company, of Brooklyn, to manufacture, sell, lease and operate apparatus for fire alarm and signal purposes, capital $175,000.

Football Practice at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 22.—The second day's practiceat football on the Princeton field was even more encouraging than the first. Ten new men appeared. Of these Righter is a promising quarter. Capt. Trenchard announces his intention to meet both Harvard and Pennsylvania, if possible.

Local Weather Forecast.

Generally fair; southwest winds, becoming variable.

SLEEPLESS AND RUN DOWN.

YOU CAN'T HOLD OUT LONG THIS WAY.

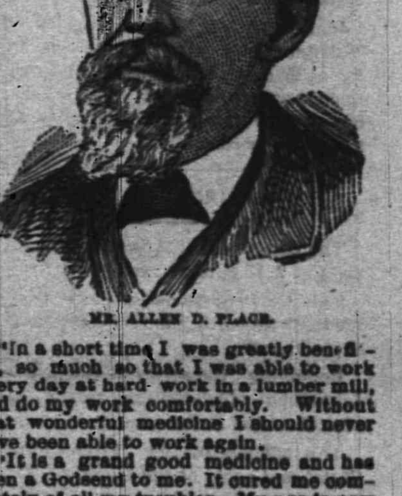
You Are Working Too Hard and You Know It—You Can Get Strong Without Stopping Your Work.

What the people want is to get over that weakness and tired feeling, that nervousness and sleeplessness without stopping their work. They can't afford to be idle. They must work.

And it is not necessary to rest. You can get well and strong without losing a day's work. There is a remedy so great and powerful in building up the system, strengthening the nerves and producing sleep that it never fails. The following letter written and signed by Mr. Allen D. Place, of Hardwick, Vt., will tell you what to do:

"Last spring I was in a very feeble state of health, being all run down. I could only work part of the time as I had very little strength. My nerves were terribly weak and I could not sleep. I had been failing for two years, gradually getting worse.

"I told my wife I must have something to help me right away. Seeing Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy advertised, I had faith enough in it to try it. I had not taken a quarter of a bottle before I felt the good results.



MR. ALLEN D. PLACE.

"In a short time I was greatly benefited, so much so that I was able to work every day at hard work in a lumber mill, and do my work comfortably. Without that wonderful medicine I should never have been able to work again.

"It is a grand good medicine and has been a Godsend to me. It cured me completely of all my troubles. My age is now 60 and I feel as well and young as when 40. And all owing to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I write this for the good it will do others and most heartily recommend this great remedy to all. I am convinced it will do all that is said of it and shall do my best to have everybody take it."

All kinds of nervous, chronic and blood diseases are quickly and permanently cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Try it and notice the chanee in your feelings, for it acts quickly and it will make you well and strong.

Dr. Greene, the well-known physician of 35 West 14th st., New York City, discovered it. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

MME. FURSCH-MAHDI DEAD.

The Noted Opera Singer Dies of Cancer in the Stomach.

New York, Sept. 22.—Mme. Fursch-Mahdi, the noted opera singer, is dead at Warrenville, Somerset county, N. J., of cancer of the stomach. Her husband, son and daughter were at the bedside. She had been in Warrenville for six months since the disease began to show itself. Recently she got much worse, and hope of recovery was given up. Her death was not unexpected. Mme. Fursch-Mahdi was 47 years old. She was a native of France. Her first appearance in this country was at the Academy of Music, under Mapelson, fourteen years ago.

Improvement in Custom Receipts.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The treasury's "ten days" statement was issued to-day for the twenty days of September. It shows a decided improvement in custom receipts in New York. The figures are: Twenty days of September, 1894, $7,411,797. Twenty days of August, 1894, $4,652,982. Twenty days of September, 1893, $5,597,571. Twenty days of September, 1892, $6,644,188. The exact gold reserve is stated at $58,005,027

Confesses to a Murder.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 22.—Will Meyers was arrested in Cincinnati for the murder of Forest Crowley here on Wednesday. This morning he confessed to the murder, and says he was assisted by Ben Allen and John Conley, who are both Atlanta gamblers. Conley is under arrest in Chattanooga. The police are searching for Allen, who has recently served a six months' term of imprisonment for gambling.

A SURGEON'S KNIFE

gives you a feeling of horror and dread. There is no longer necessity for its use in many diseases formerly regarded as incurable without cutting.

The Triumph of Conservative Surgery is well illustrated by the fact that RUPTURE or Breach, is now radically cured without the knife and without pain. Clumsy, chafing trusses can be thrown away! They never cure but often induce inflammation, strangulation and death.

TUMORS Ovarian, Fibroid (Uterine) and many others, are now removed without the perils of cutting operations.

PILE TUMORS, however large, Fistula and other diseases of the lower bowel, are permanently cured without pain or resort to the knife.

STONE in the Bladder, no matter how large, is crushed, pulverized, washed out and perfectly removed without cutting.

STRICTURE of Urinary Passage is also removed without cutting in hundreds of cases. For pamphlet, references and all particulars, send 10 cents (in stamps) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Boys Club Association last night re-elected its standing board of officers.

—The Grand View Hotel, Atlantic Highlands, was destroyed by fire this morning.

—Go to Gardner, the Somerset street baker, to-night, for the best bread, pastry, baked beans, etc.

—Saw you the new styles in Fall neckwear? Hallock sells the W. C. & W. goods; they are the best.

—The 12-inch pipe for the sewers began to arrive today. Ground will accordingly be broken on Ninth street Monday.

—The city fire-gong forgot to blow for time this noon. Chief Doane pulled it twice by hand at 12:10, and it seemed to work well then.

—The Independent Fife and Drum Corps have engaged Central Hall, corner of Park and North avenues, for the Winter and will give a dance every month.

—Genial and athletic Thomas Smith of Edsall's shoe department, will play on the High School football team this year. They met this morning for a practice game.

—This is the time when gentlemen are looking for Fall neckwear. U. B. Crane has just received something fine in the new shape, and invites an inspection. His address is 120 West Front street.

A CONVERTED INFIDEL.

HE PROVES TO PLAINFIELD THE EFFICACY OF PRAYER.

Evangelist Gillam Leading Souls Through Hope, to Heaven—The Stirring Revival of a West End Chapel Enlisting People from All the Town.

Electric effects in evangelism were first used in Plainfield last night. The realism was an accident, and being unplanned was the more emphatic. It was a case of people flocking into Hope Chapel groping in the darkness. It was a case of the light coming to the people through the darkness.

The realism visible was simply a plain illustration of the realism invisible.

Pulsating through the wires in quantity sufficient to keep all the lamps aglow, the electric-light current was greater than the safety-fuse could stand. The fuse was consumed; the lamps were quenched. With the feebler light of oil-lamps the people had for awhile to be content. Then in response to a message to headquarters a fuse that could stand the pressure was put in, and the electric lamps burned bright and steady.

Pulsating through the congregation gathered to hear the Gospel message simply and truly told, the current of God's love and power poured into human hearts with an intensity that seared the sinfulness. Man prayed to be delivered from his blackness, a new heart was given him, and his soul rejoiced in the radiant light coming from the full glory of the dynamo divine.

Hardly could it be called a sermon that Rev. Ralph Gillam gave to his hearers on this the second night of his ministry in Plainfield. Rather it was an earnest plea for the people to devote their thoughts to communion with the Father.

This was his theme: "We will give ourselves continually to prayer".—Acts VI:4 And with simple language he showed the value of prayer and told how to pray. Pray with faith;—he urged—pray with earnestness; pray in the name of Jesus Christ.

He likened a prayer to a bank cheque. The Bible was the book, its every promise was a cheque. We selected the promise of our heart's desire, and sent it up to Heaven. Sitting on the right hand of God, the Son certified the cheque by endorsing it "In My name", and God's answer to the prayer was the payment.

He told of a young man who was an infidel, and president of a society of infidels. An evangelist came to his town, and a young woman who had done him social favors asked him to escort her to one of the meetings. He went. The evangelist appealed for those who were willing to try to be Christians to stand. "That is n't unreasonable: is it?"—said the girl. The infidel admitted it was not. "Then rise"—said she. He struggled with himself, and stood, announcing to the world that he was willing to forsake infidelity and follow Christ. "Oh,"—said his companion—"I believe I should have died had you not arose". She had been praying in her heart for his conversion, and the anguish of her prayer was such that she could not have borne disappointment. Her prayer for that infidel young man was answered. And that young man—said Mr. Gillam—stands on this platform tonight.

Beyond human understanding was the love of God, the sacrifice of Christ, for man. Christ was pure and lovely, yet had died on the cross to save the impure and the unlovely. He had given—not his hand, not his arm, not an eye, not an ear, nor any part of him, but all that he had—Himself. In Christ each one of us had been crucified. In Him each one of us was at God's right hand. God's love, God's salvation, were ours, in Him.

This salvation was free—yet how easy it was to be lost. A mother died; she was a good woman; he knew and esteemed her. She left two daughters, Mamie and Gertrude. Mamie was a Christian, Gertrude a scoffer. Mamie was frail in body, Gertrude strong. Gertrude accompanied the body of the mother to the old home in the South for burial. Three days later Mamie brought to the clergyman a despatch: "Gertrude is dead". Mamie wrung her hands and writhed her body in her anguish. "Oh, Mr. Gillam,"—she moaned—"I could have stood it all, I could have stood it all, if Gertrude had been a Christian!"

Especially appreciated after our own season of protracted drought and prayer-answering rain was Mr. Gillam's brief history of the celebrated case in Maine. His own mother had told him the facts—how the crops were a sun-baked waste because of the rainless Summer; how a day had been set apart to pray for rain; how on that day her mother, setting out for church, seized on her umbrella, unused those many weeks. The sun was the same familiar scorching glare; no welcome clouds were visible. "Why, mama,"—said the girl—"what are you going to do with the umbrella?" "I am going to church to pray for rain"—was the reply. That was faith! And while that congregation knelt that day in the house of God and prayed for rain, down came torrents from the heavens, reviving the thirsty earth, restoring life.

Pray without ceasing. Each day, though in his six years of Christian service his cup of happiness in the Lord had come to overflow with blessing, he felt the power of the simple prayers of children, of the heartpourings of kindred and friends. Each night at his home in the East his wife and household gathered promptly at 8 to pray for the success of his meeting of that night. At the same hour in his mother's home his mother and sisters prayed for the same success. And Thursday night three churches where he had labored during the Summer held special services to pray for the success of his labors in Hope Chapel.

He asked those who wanted dear ones prayed for to state their wishes; those who wanted Christian revival for themselves to stand; those who wanted to be prayed for as earnest seekers after Christ, to raise the hand. There was a host of responses, and prayers were poured forth that brought peace and rejoicing to many a troubled heart. A large number announced their departure from worldliness to Christianity, and signed cards indicating their desire for church affiliation.

So the meeting was blessed with results, and after the benediction the people still lingered and talked of the happiness of their pilgrimage.

As in all the Gillam meetings, there was abundant singing, all joining heartily under the musical leadership of Miss Stewart at the piano, and a selected chorus choir.

In the afternoon Mr. Gillam preached effectively, after the enjoyable prayer meeting for women only, on "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few"—Matthew IX: 37. He dwelt impressively on the fact that Plainfield has only 4,800 professing Christians, and 17,000 population!

Mr. Gillam holds no meetings today or tonight, but all young people, between 16 and 35 years old, are especially invited to hear him tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, in Hope Chapel; and in the evening he will preach again for all.

Special topics are to be treated in Mr. Gillam's sermons next week. Wednesday will be made a special day. Neighborhood prayer meetings will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 a. m. at the homes of Mr. Wild, Manson place; Mr. Head, 322 Stebbins place; Mr. Sprague, Spooner avenue; and Mrs. Sweeney, Fourth street and Liberty. At 10 a. m. Wednesday Mr. Gillam will preach in Hope Chapel, and again at 3:30 p. m. At the evening service Mr. Gillam will address himself particularly to skeptics, and the best seats will be reserved till 7:45 for young men.

BABY'S LIFE SAVED.

Alertness of an Electric Motorman Breaks the Little Fellow's Fall from a Window.

The quick action of Motorman Henry Martin of Car 6 saved a baby's life yesterday afternoon. Although he was on duty when the accident occurred, it was not the trolley that came near causing death. The car brought Martin to the spot where he could save the child.

It all happened just after 3. The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Kavnaugh was playing on a bed in their home on the second floor of the building corner of Grant avenue and South Second street. With him was a little girl who lives in the same house.

The boy rolled over to the window which was on a level with the bed. The shutters were closed but when the baby's weight was thrown against them they opened and Baby Kavnaugh fell out.

Car 6 was coming up Grant avenue just then, and Martin saw the shutters open and the baby's body appear. The child remained on the sill a moment before falling, and Martin cut off the power, jumped from the car, ran ten yards across the street and sidewalk, arriving just in time to break the force of the baby's fall with his arm.

Martin's action turned the child aside and instead of dropping into the area by the cellar window the baby fell on the grass. Dr. Boone was called. He said that no bones had been broken. The baby was badly shocked, however, and cried all night.

Dr. Boone fears that internal injuries may develop.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

A full attendance is desired at the meeting of the Pythian Sisters, Tuesday evening, as the by-laws will come up for consideration.

The committee from the Pythian Sisters met at the home of Mrs. I. H. Boehm yesterday afternoon and decided to give a musical and literary entertainment and a lunch-box sociable. The date will be set later.

The committee appointed to arrange for the complimentary entertainment of John Hand Camp, S. of V., next Friday evening, met last evening to complete arrangements. Admission will be by invitation.

The officers of the Daughters of Rebekah will meet again Monday night to report on their progress for the convention of the Daughters of Rebekah of New Jersey, to be held in this city October 11. The committee consists of Mrs. Kriney, Mrs. Kittering, Miss Ford, Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Rugg, Mrs. VanFleet, and Mrs. Ford.

—With the evidence collected on his trip to Pennsylvania, Marshal Lines will sue in the Chancery Court, Elizabeth, next Wednesday morning to recover the farm he claims his father left him.

James Haley, arrested by Sergeant Kiely for begging this morning, was sent to jail for 30 days.

Dr. and Editor Morse Finds Great Curative Qualities in a Simple Remedy.

(From Westfield, N. J., Leader, Sept. 5, 1894)

We believe in being fair, and if we know ourselves we are fair. The fact of the Editor of the Leader being a physician of the old school encourages some people to ask why we kick quacks and quackery. We do hate charlatans the worst way. That's a fact. But every proprietary medicine is n't a quack medicine. In some of them we believe as devoutly as we do in calomel and quinine. There, for example, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has our faith. We know of its therapeutical value because of knowledge of its efficacy. In this laboratory it has fully approved itself as containing just those ingredients which every physician knows the materia medica to indicate for the disorders for which the remedy is prescribed. In clinical experience its further proof has not been wanting, as we have reason to know. We have no hesitancy in saying that we should prescribe the Remedy in any case where it is really indicated.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has no rival as a blood builder and nerve food. It has met with unparallelled success in the treatment of all diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and the blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, and effectually cures the worst cases of habitual constipation. It has cured cases of Bright's Disease, erysipelas, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, diabetes, bladder and urinary troubles, where all else has failed. It is a certain cure for all the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females and affords great protection from attacks that originate in the change of life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all dealers in medicine at one dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars; which brings a treatment within the reach of all.

THE CHORAL.

Plainfield Has a Jewel in This Society, and It Must Not Lack Support.

The value to an intelligent community like Plainfield of a trained and efficient choral society it is hard fully to estimate. Those who have attended the concerts given annually under the direction of Mr. Fitzhugh know that they have enjoyed a keen pleasure in listening to delightful glees and inspiring oratorios, and are sensible of a moral, and spiritual uplift. The benefit of such entertainments is manifold. They cultivate the general taste of the community for music of an elevated character; they bring together in the large chorus those who have voices to cultivate and possibilities to develop; they enlarge the number of trained singers; they raise the musical standard of the people, and they make Plainfield a more attractive place of residence. It is a matter of pardonable pride to rejoice over the warm tributes paid to the chorus in the closing concert of last season by the distinguished soloists and by members of the famous orchestra. What was done a few months ago can be done even better in the next concerts, for practice and experience and earnest desire, under a capable conductor, lead up to higher achievements. It is to be hoped that the people of Plainfield will give the society hearty support, and show in a practical way their desire that it should become a permanent feature of attraction. People who visit Worcester give their first thought to the reputation of its musical festivals and go to see the hall where they are given, even before they inquire for the great university established there. Plainfield has the opportunity to increase its great attractiveness by developing its talent and taste for music.

THE CHORAL SOCIETY.

Season of 1894 and 1895.

There will probably be room in the Chorus for several new members. Applications should be sent at once to the secretary, stating what part applicant sings and applicant's address. The first rehearsal takes place Monday evening, October 15, at 8 in Vincent Chapel, when we take up the Oratorio of "The Messiah". The members of last season, who propose to sing in the Chorus the coming season, are requested to send the secretary a postal to that effect, without delay, in order that the membership committee may judge as to how many new members can be admitted.

What They Will Sing.

The managers of the Choral Society take pleasure in announcing that all necessary plans have been matured for the season 1894 95, and that the chorus will begin its musical studies Monday evening, October 15

Three Concerts will be given as usual, the first of which in Christmas week (December 27) will be "The Messiah", rendered with the assistance of eminent soloists, and a full orchestra.

At the second concert, on or about March 12, a programme of a lighter character will be offered; and for the third concert, on or about May 14, the Society will present a new choral work never before sung in Plainfield.

CYCLING COMMENT.

F. L. C. Martin has returned from a trip to Rockaway, where he was invited by the Liberty Cycle Company to inspect their factory.

Report was made to the police last night that a Columbia bicycle, No. 3765, had been stolen from a barn on East Sixth street Tuesday night. The bottom bar of the machine is broken. It belongs to a grandson of the late James Jackson.

BY THE WAY.

—Mahlon Vail reports a total rainfall of 9 8 inches since September 8.

—Borough Street Commissioner Stout is today rolling Myrtle avenue.

—The heavy rains caved in a new cesspool at the rear of John Rafferty's.

—An open-air concert will be given by a colored orchestra at the Arlington Hotel tonight.

—Carkhuff, the Newark man with a mission, was in town again last night. He left without accomplishing anything.

—When you are out walking Sunday just look at those lots of J. F. MacDonald opposite Sandford avenue on Front street.

—The local Republican papers are wrong in announcing a date for the Eighth District Republican Convention. No date is yet set.

—The Board of Trade bowlers met last night for practice under the direction of their new captain, Harry VanEmburgh. Some of the young bowlers surprised all with their excellent work. The captain put up the highest score of the evening which was 222.

Fighting Brush Wood Fires.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 22.—Some 200 citizens have been kept busy fighting fires which have been burning up the brush wood about three miles south of the city since Sunday. The city has been filled with smoke all the week. Several stacks of hay and two horses have been burned up since Monday. Fire completely destroyed the house of William Geminder. Mrs. Geminder who was in the house with six children fortunately escaped, but they saved little of their property which was valued at $1,500.

To Revolutionize Cotton Weaving.

Milford, Mass., Sept. 22.—F. P. Sheldon, a mill engineer of Providence, is making plans for a new building for George Draper & Sons, at Hopedale, to have a capacity of making 12,000 looms a year. The total number of hands to be employed, if the mill is run to its full capacity, will be several hundreds, and the total value of a maximum output per year not far from $1,250,000. A new automatic loom will be made, which is expected to revolutionize the cotton and woolen weaving of the country.

Sold for Delinquent Taxes.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—The Lexington hotel at Michigan boulevard and Twenty-second street, said to be valued at $1,000,000, has been sold at delinquent tax sale by the treasurer of the county for the sum of $5,410.75. The purchaser is William Mills, who is said to be a clerk. The Lexington was built and opened in 1892, just before the World's fair. During the months of the fair it had many notable people as its guests.

BLAMES LOGAN CARLISLE.

O'Rourke Says He Was Handicapped by the Secretary's Son.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Supervising Architect O'Rourke is preparing a statement for the public, giving his version of the friction in the treasury department which led to his resignation. He blames Logan Carlisle for the whole trouble. He says he had the secretary's promise when he accepted the post of government architect to give him full control of the office, as a workman could be expected to do good work only with his own tools. He soon found, however, he declares, that the secretary's son controlled all the appointments in the office and that he had no influence in the selection of his own subordinates and that he was on this account unable to maintain an efficient force. His continuance in the position under such circumstances had simply become impossible. He said he would publish his letter of resignation and all the facts in the case for his own vindication. He will leave Washington for his New Jersey home tomorrow afternoon.

WATCH THE INSECT PEST.

Gov. Flower's Advice to the New York Farmers.

Oswego, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Governor Flower had a most enthusiastic reception here. He reviewed a batallion of the national guard in command of Captain A. M. Hall, and spoke to an audience of 15,000 people. His address was devoted wholly to agriculture. Among other things, he said that the farmers and fruit growers should constantly be on the watch for new insect pests. If an unusual one appears they should at once send it to the state entomologist for information. He said that insect pests were far more numerous and abundant in this country than they were twenty-five years ago, almost every year seeing some new and destructive pest introduced in this country from Europe, as a rule coming first to this state. After a review of the different insects which had proven destructive to the crops both this year and in the past, and recommending the utmost vigilance to prevent their spread and to bring about their extermination.

DENIED HIS GUILT.

A Prominent Mason, Convicted of Assault, Commits Suicide.

LaGrange, Ind., Sept. 22.—C. A. Jones, of this city, who was convicted of assault, committed suicide in jail yesterday, using morphine. He left a long letter denying his guilt and severely arraigning the state attorney and all the witnesses for the prosecution. He procured morphine six weeks ago for the purpose for which it was used and had it concealed about his person, with a determination to use it in the event of conviction. Jones was about 60 years of age. He was well connected and a prominent member of the Odd Fellows, Masons and other orders. His victims, several in number, are under 14 years of age and told pitiful stories of his assaults and the means employed by him to accomplish his purposes.

THE CZAR'S ILLNESS.

Believed to Be Affected With a Chronic Malady.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—A dispatch to the Koelniche Zeitung from St. Petersburg says that the czar's condition is such that he is still confined to his room, and that his departure from Spala for the Crimea has been postponed.

The Vossische Zeitung's correspondent in St. Petersburg says that much uneasiness is felt in the capital on account of the czar's illness, the exact nature of which is the subject of many rumors.

It is believed generally that he is afflicted with a chronic and serious malady.

A Moral.

There was a man in a faraway town
Who thought him wondrous wise.
He swore by all the fabled gods
He'd never advertise.

His goods were advertised at last,
And thereby hangs a tale.
The ad was set in nonpareil
And headed "Sheriff's Sale."

IF

The Daily Press were not a good thing, do you suppose so many merchants would advertise in it?

TALES OF THE SEA.

WEIRD YARNS OF THE SUPERNATURAL SPUN BY THE CAPTAIN.

The Skull In the Chain Locker—The Unlucky Bark In the Demerara Trade That Was Said to Be Haunted—The Story of an Exile From Salvador.

We were eating dinner one night on the old cargo ship and talking of the happenings at sea and on shore that are called supernatural when the captain said:

"One sees some things at sea not supernatural which are fit to make a nervous man see ghosts. There was that case in one of Green's liners to the colonies, where a man was sent down to clean out the chain locker. The locker had seemed foul all the passage home, and so they hoisted out the chain and sent this fellow down with his brush and soap and bucket, with a lamp, to clean it out. I'll wager he saw ghosts for a year after that, for when he'd got down on his knees to begin scrubbing he found himself bending over the skull of a dead man.

"It was most likely a man that had stowed away out in the colony and had been caught under the cable when they were running it down quickly, and so had the life crushed out of him.

"However, I did know of a case that seemed supernatural right enough. It was in the Demerara trade, and I was acquainted with the first officer of the bark where it all happened.

"In the first place, while she was out there loaded and ready to sail, the captain had trouble with one of the seamen, who drew out his knife and stabbed him to death then and there. The mate afterward took her home, but on the way a passenger took to ailing in some mysterious fashion and up and died very suddenly.

"Of course she was a haunted ship when she arrived home, and so the owners had her name changed, and she was refitted and painted up entirely different from what she had been. Then she sailed away with a new captain, but on the way out he took to drink, and by the time she reached Demerara he was off his head and killed himself with a revolver.

"Now she was haunted, sure enough, if you could believe the mate. Mind you, after she was refitted the mate said never a word to the new captain about what had happened in her before, and even when a new captain came out from home to take charge of her, believing that the last captain was naturally a drunkard, instead of one who had taken to it after coming on this ship, this first officer never said a word, because he did not believe in ghosts or even in a future state.

"However, the first night the new captain was on board the trouble began. The captain at about 9 o'clock went to his room and retired. An hour later he was calling the mate and telling that he had gone to sleep and then had been awakened by a light in the room. On opening his eyes he saw a short, thickset man, with side whiskers, in the armchair at the desk, leaning over, with his elbows on the desk, holding his head between his hands and saying: 'Oh, my poor head! Oh, my poor head!'

"That was enough for the mate. He left the vessel that night with all hands. This new captain knew nothing of the style or manner of the one who had killed himself, and yet the picture—ghost or what you may call it—in the chair was the image in appearance and dress of the suicide and had complained in precisely the words and voice of the dead man."

This brought out the story of an exile from Salvador whom the narrator met in Guatemala. Having got into trouble with the authorities, Senor Don Sebastian Mojarieta saved his life by fleeing to Amapala, Honduras, as many another exile has done, and there taking a steamer north to San Jose, Guatemala.

A friend of his who was involved in like manner was to have reached Amapala by a different route in time for the same steamer, and to prevent any possible delays Mojarieta engaged staterooms and secured passes from the Amapala authorities for his friend and himself as soon as he arrived. But the steamer day came without his friend, and Mojarieta was obliged to sail alone.

"At the usual hour, on the first night out," the story teller went on, "Mojarieta retired and went to sleep, but had no sooner dozed off than he awoke, hearing his friend's voice, as he says, in the next stateroom, which he had supposed to be empty. Leaving his berth, he went out into the passageway and opened the door to the adjoining room, and there, he says, he saw lying in the berth the body of his friend fully dressed, but with three bullet holes in the breast of his coat and one in the right cheek.

"At that Mojarieta fainted and was found on the deck by the steward and put to bed again. Thereafter it was a most miserable passage, for the vessel touched at both of the Salvador ports and was about a week reaching San Jose. Mojarieta was sure his friend had been shot and expected a force to come off from each of the Salvador ports to demand him. Moreover, he was haunted continually by that picture of his dead friend.

"Once in Guatemala he obtained employment quickly and then began to recover something of his former spirits. He ascribed his vision to his overwrought imagination and was beginning to hope that his friend would yet appear when a letter was received from a relative in Salvador. It not only told that the friend had been shot by the government soldiers, but described the wounds of the body after it was dead. Mojarieta declares that the description accurately portrayed the vision he had of his friend, and he believes that his friend's spirit, being unable to rest or wholly throw off its desire to take passage on the steamer, had come on board and was occupying that berth."—New York Sun.

HOW WE WALK.

The Muscles Used and the Mechanical Work That They Do.

The chief muscles concerned in walking are those in the calf and back of leg, which, by pulling up the heel, also pull up the bones of the foot connected with it, and then the whole body, the weight of which is passed on through the bones of the leg. When walking, the trunk is thrown forward so that it would fall down prostrate were not the right foot planted in time to support it. The calf muscles are helped in this action by those on the front of the trunk and legs, which contract and pull the body forward, and the trunk, slanting forward when the heel is raised by the calf muscles, the whole body will be raised and pushed forward and upward. This advancement of each leg is effected partly by muscular action, the muscles used being (1) those on the front of the thigh, bending it forward on the pelvis; (2) the hamstring muscles, which slightly bend the leg on the thigh; (3) the muscles on the front of the leg, which raise the front of the foot and toes, preventing the latter, in swinging forward, from hitching in the ground.

When one foot has reached the ground, the action of the other has not ceased. There is another point in walking. The body is constantly supported and balanced on each leg alternately and therefore on only one at once. Hence there must be some means for throwing the center of gravity over the line of support formed by the bones of each leg, as it supports the weight of the body. This is done in various ways, and hence the difference in the walk of different people. There may be slight rotation at the hip joint, bringing the center of gravity of the body over the foot of this side. This "rocking" motion of the trunk and thigh is accompanied by a movement of the whole trunk and leg over the foot planted on the ground and is accompanied by a compensating outward movement at the hip. The body rises and swings alternately from one side to the other as its center of gravity comes alternately over one or the other leg, and the curvature of the spinal bones is altered with the varying position of the weight.—London Hospital.

THE POWER OF POETRY.

Scott's Description of the Chase and What the Ordinary Man Would Have Said.

Take, as a single instance of the power of poetry, Walter Scott's opening lines in the "Lady of the Lake," where he describes the chase of the stag. The stag escapes and evades his pursuers, but what a picture the great poet has put into words!

Reduced to prose the ordinary observer and writer would have said, "They chased the stag several miles, but lost him in the Trosachs." He could not possibly have said in prose:

The antlered monarch of the waste
Sprung from his heathery couch in haste,
But ere his fleet career he took
The dewdrops from his flanks he shook;
Like crested leader, proud and high,
Toss'd his beamed frontlet to the sky;
A moment gazed adown the dale,
A moment snuffed the tainted gale,
A moment listened to the cry
That thicken'd as the chase drew nigh.
Then as the headmost foes appear'd,
With one brave bound the copse he clear'd,
And stretching forward free and far
Sought the wild heaths of Uam-Var.

The poet began his picture with an incident that only a poet would have thought worthy of words, but what a picture the few words make!

The stag at eve had drunk his fill
Where danced the moon on Monan's rill,
And deep his midnight lair had made
In lone Glenartney's hazel shade.

—Forest and Stream.

Fire Easily Obtained.

The average civilized man would be hard put to it if he were compelled to start a fire without matches, tinder box or burning glass. But Lieutenant von Hohnel describes an African chief as not only accomplishing this feat, but doing it with quickness and ease. The traveler had asked him to show his skill.

It was really wonderful, in view of the moisture laden atmosphere, with what rapidity he did as I had requested.

The materials employed were such as we saw wherever we went—two simple bits of wood, one flat about six inches long and not quite an inch wide, with a row of grooves on one side, the other about 12 inches long and of the thickness and shape of a lead pencil.

The longer piece, fixed in one of the grooves of the shorter piece, was held tightly between the palms of the hand and whirled rapidly round and round. In a few seconds the wood dust which was produced by the friction, and which fell through the grooves, began to smoke. This dust was carefully nursed into a blaze, which was fed with fine grass and bits of cotton stuff.

The whole thing is done so quickly that our men, even the lazy Wasungu, always employed this method on short halts for lighting their pipes.—Youth's Companion.

No Word Like the Doctors.

Mr. Sydney Holland enlivened the guests at the annual festival of Poplar hospital by relating an incident which occurred within the walls of that institution. A man was brought in who was thought to be dead. His wife was with him. One of the doctors said, "He is dead," but the man raised his head and said, "No, I am not dead yet," whereupon his wife admonished him, saying, "Be quiet; the doctor ought to know best."—London Echo.

Ominous of Unpleasantness.

"Mrs. Blimber is very nervous about there being 13 at the table tonight."

"Does she think something unpleasant will happen?"

"Yes. She only has a dozen knives and forks."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The German empire has no prison of its own. Offenses against the imperial government are enforced by the imperial attorney, who calls into service the state's attorneys of the federal states.

THE LATEST STYLES.

AS REPRESENTED IN IMPORTED AND HOME PRODUCTIONS.

Curious Examples of Mixed Coloring—Black and White Stripes Instead of Checks. Chic Parisian Gowns Described—The Convenient Cape Popular as Ever.

The latest Paris gowns are some of them curious examples of mixed coloring, showing army blue, red and sometimes apple green in one costume. These are designed doubtless to meet the requirements of women on the alert for novel effects. For those of quiet tastes the news that black and white stripes are taking the place of the check so much worn during the summer will be welcome.

PARISIAN PROMENADE COSTUMES.

A very "chic" costume from Doucet, who has the art of combining simplicity with styles and whose gowns are pre-eminently in "good form," has a black satin stripe on a white ground. The skirt is made perfectly plain, its style being in the cut, which is admirable. The black and white silk reaches only to the armpits at the side and is finished heart shaped in front, the extreme point touching the collar, where it ends in a spreading but narrow black satin bow. The upper part of the bodice and sleeves is made of accordion plaited black mousseline de soie over white silk. The sleeves are very much puffed and reach only to the lower part of the armholes, a band of the black and white silk continuing to the elbow, where it is finished with black satin bows. The rest of the arm is bare, to be covered with long black gloves.

The sleeves appear to be smaller, the puffed part being short, while the remainder of the sleeve closely follows the arm, becoming tight at the wrist. In London they have introduced a skirt of a new cut, which rests on the ground and describes a series of vandykes at the foot. They give fullness and fall in flutings, presenting a most elegant and charming effect. They have to be caught together at the back with elastic, which causes the skirt to sway around gracefully. A broad waistband stitched to the skirt and cut to fit the figure does away with the silk belt and holds the blouse firmly in place.

Two imported costumes seen recently furnish details of incoming styles. One was a cloth dress trimmed with flat cross bands, edged with machine stitching. The skirt was cut with a seam both front and back and side darts to better mold the hips. The sleeves, close fitting at the wrists, had their fullness at the top arranged in flat drooping folds; the dark hat ornamented with ostrich feathers and velvet rosettes. The second costume was in gray crepon cloth, with chemisette and chatelaine stripes in butter colored lace. Pretty bows finished off the shoulder slashes of the full bodice and the elbow sleeves, while upright fan plaitings headed the treble godet on each side of the skirt. The hat, bordered with feather trimming, was adorned with lemon colored velvet bows and wings.

The craze for capes has by no means abated, and they are very becoming in these days of large sleeves and save the wearer from presenting a crushed and wretched appearance when there is need of a wrap.

A NOVELTY IN CAPES.

The very latest wraps for driving and evening wear are double capes with turndown velvet collars. While slightly horsy in effect, they are smart and convenient. Another style of the ever necessary cape is circular in shape, with a seam down each shoulder and ornamented with three rows of cloth applied as strap seams. The fronts are kept together by a strap at the throat, and another strap hidden under the revers will keep the cape double breasted when it is closed. A heavy cloth makes up best and takes from 2½ to 3 yards, according to the width.

Scalloped Chicken.

Mince cold chicken and a little lean ham quite fine; season with pepper and a little salt, if needed; stir all together and add some sweet cream—enough to make quite moist. Cover with crumbs, put it into scallop shells or a flat dish, put a little butter on top and brown before the fire or front of a range.

FELL INTO MILLIONS.

The Slip of His Horse Resulted In the Rider Discovering a Great Mine.

One of the most productive mines in California was discovered through an accidental fall of the discoverer. He was one of a hunting party that had gone out from San Francisco during the Christmas holidays. While passing along the side of a steep hill on a narrow trail his horse suddenly slipped, and with his rider went down into the gulch.

Happening to be the last in the line and some distance behind the others, he was not missed for some moments, but when his absence was noticed the party turned back to look for him, fearing some untoward accident. He was nowhere to be seen, but the place where his horse had slipped and fallen over the bank, together with the traces of the fall, was plainly visible. Following the tracks made by the falling horse and man, and when near the bottom, the men suddenly came upon an interesting spectacle. Just behind a clump of bushes which the man and his steed had crashed through on their way down stood the horse, apparently uninjured, while near by, on a slab of rock projecting from the snow, the man was capering like an Indian at a ghost dance.

The first impression of the rescuing party was that the man had gone suddenly crazy, but as he caught sight of them he suddenly ceased his gyrations and shouted for them to approach. They came, when he showed them several lumps of almost pure gold he had hastily knocked from the edge with a stone for a hammer and announced his discovery of a gold mine. The sliding horse had brought up against the ledge, and the restive animal, kicking vigorously in the efforts to rise, had struck off the moss from the stone and disclosed the fact that it was a gold bearing ledge of unusual richness. The find was appropriately named "The Christmas Gift," and a valuable gift it proved to be.—Chicago Times.

KYRLE BELLEW'S VANITY.

How It Was Once Sadly Disconcerted by an American Girl.

There had been lively discussions some years ago over a then seemingly important question theatrically, and indeed socially, "Was or was not Kyrle Bellew possessed of great vanity?"

I believe the matter has never been definitely settled, though in an individual instance I recall it would seem there was valid ground for a decision in the affirmative.

The occasion was an informal "evening" at Mrs. Lester Wallack's, and gathered about one of the tables were two or three young ladies, Mr. Bellew and other men. Bellew had some bits of paper in his hands, from which he was idly fashioning little boats. "I hear," he drawled, addressing no one in particular, "that your American navy is badly in need of ships. I propose to remedy the trouble by presenting you with a few." One girl spoke up quickly in slightly sarcastic vein, "I am sure we all render sincere thanks in the name of the American navy."

The actor favored her by an especially comprehensive glance, and finishing his boat penciled a few lines on it and rather patronizingly tossed it over to her.

The girl picked the boat up slowly (this was the first occasion she had met Mr. Bellew) and read: "My love to you. Kyrle Bellew." A rather vivid flush overspread her face, but looking the young man steadily in the eyes she said in tones sufficiently clear for comprehension, "The sentiment inscribed here (indicating the paper boat) is surely too much of an honor for any one woman to aspire to; so, with your permission, Mr. Bellew, I will take it home, raffle it and—send you the proceeds." She then rose, bowed and left the table, at the same time leaving Mr. Bellew sufficiently disconcerted to bite his lips and permit his brow the shadow of a frown.—New York Herald.

A Unique Affidavit.

The following affidavit was filed in court of common pleas in Dublin in 1822: "And this deponent further saith that, on arriving at the house of the said defendant, situate in the county of Galway aforesaid, for the purpose of personally serving him with the said writ, he the said deponent, knocked there several times at the outer, commonly called the hall door, but could not obtain admittance, whereupon this deponent was proceeding to knock a fourth time, when a man, to this deponent unknown, holding in his hands a musket, or blunderbuss, loaded with balls or slugs, as this deponent has since heard and verily believes, appeared at one of the upper windows of the said house, and presenting said musket, or blunderbuss, at this deponent, threatened 'that if said deponent did not instantly retire he would send his (the deponent's) soul to hell,' which this deponent verily believes he would have done had not this deponent precipitately escaped."—San Francisco Argonaut.

A Calendar Curiosity.

Divide the number expressing the year by four, taking no notice of the remainder. Next find the number of days inclusive from the 1st of January to the date in hand, reckoning February always as having only 28 days. Add together the sum, the quotient and the first numbers and divide this by seven. The figure of the remainder gives you the day of the week, one standing for Sunday, two for Monday, and so on.—Chicago Post.

Another Saw Hacked.

Statistics have upset another old proverb. We must no longer believe that "a green Christmas makes a fat churchyard." The figures for the last 30 years in England prove that a cold winter is unhealthy and a mild winter healthy. A hot summer is always unhealthy and a cold summer healthy.—London Million.

What is
CASTORIA
Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.
"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.
"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.
"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

ABOUT SOFA PILLOWS

SOME NEW DESIGNS FOR THESE NECESSARY ARTICLES.

Frilled Pillows Remain Popular, but Plain Ones Are Also Demanded—Agra Linens Make Desirable Covers—The New Fad of Couching Designs on Denim.

Frills still hold their own. They are shown upon some of the handsomest of pillows made, but there are some restrictions as to their use. Thin silks, soft oriental crapes and all the multitude of lovely art muslins and cotton stuffs are eminently suited to just that finish, and all cushions so covered will be frilled. But heavier materials, such as corduroy, figured velvet and even the much enduring denim are left quite plain and are simply seamed at the edges. There is not much that is really new, but there are some fresh applications of familiar things that have all the effect of novelty, and these are reported on as follows in the New York Times:

Linen, that fabric that has so steadily gained in favor, is to be found in greater variety of colors and qualities than ever before and promises to be a prime favorite for pillows. In white and all the delicate perishable colors these covers are made in slip form and are laced at one end. They are embroidered with silks of absolutely fast dye, and so can be removed and laundered as often as they show soil. The darker colors, of which, by the way, the agra linen shows a multitude both fascinating and tempting, are treated much as silks are. In any color the agra linens can be bought for 50 cents a yard and are 44 inches wide. When to those figures is added the fact that they wear like iron, it is easy to understand the reason of their favor. Their colors are so lovely that they require little decoration. One pillow, which is a model of taste, has a cover of the linen in dull old red. On it are disks in twos, in threes and singly, all of which are tinted a darker tone with dye paint and are then re-tinted with a couching of gold. It is all that the most exacting need ask, yet it is simplicity itself. A frill of india silk of the same shade finishes the edge, but were it left plain it would be sufficiently decorative.

Corduroys and figured velvets and velveteens made after the style of the costly Morris velvets promise to be much in vogue for the pillows of large size and for the library couch as well as the drawing room window seat. They are somewhat severe in style, as suits their dignified use, and they are strikingly handsome in their rich dark tones. One shown was quite 27 inches square, filled with fine feathers and covered with figured corduroy in shades of tan and brown. The very fact that the figures are woven in place of embroidered, and that it is absolutely simple and plain, makes it conspicuous, and it is so strong and sturdy that it seems in its very self to assure you of rest and comfort.

Down is quite the favorite it has been, but is relegated to pillows of small size. The larger ones, that are supposed to support a weary back or make comfortable a wooden backed chair, are filled with feathers, and so are more substantial than would be the down. The softer, more yielding material is reserved for head rests and for the small pillows that fit in so well under the neck and look so tempting piled on top of the larger ones.

A really perfect equipment includes all sorts, but in default of that hair, feathers and down can be used to good purpose. Cotton chintz, art muslin, linen and denim are the best fabrics for the bedroom couch, and many of them require no decoration beyond that of the ample frill. A new fad is that of couching upon denim a somewhat elaborate pattern not unlike those of the old fashioned braiding. It is very effective and makes a handsome cover, with comparatively little work, but as a help to rest and repose it can hardly be commended. The ideal pillow undoubtedly is smooth and grateful to touch, and overorna-mentation in the usable cushion is not to be commended. But fashion has declared in favor of couching, and couching will be used largely. On those pillows, however, that are to be admired, not enjoyed.

How to Make Sugar Cakes.

One pound of sugar, 3 eggs, half a pound of butter or lard, 2 teaspoonfuls of ground mace, a teaspoonful of soda, a gill of sour milk. Flavor with lemon. Use flour enough to make a very soft dough and roll as thin as possible. The last direction is the secret of excellence with this kind of cake.

FIRST AND LAST.

Hope smiles a welcome, though none other smiles
Upon our entrance to this world of pain,
And on each purpose of our youth again,
With an inspiring sympathy, she smiles.

She leads us forth to battle and beguiles
Our anguish, if the long fight proves in vain,
Till, pierced with countless wounds, among the slain
We leave her, while the victor foe reviles.

But, even as we touch at ruin's verge,
And hear the voices of despair, that urge
The fatal plunge to chaos, hope, alone—

How healed and how ransomed none may guess—
Rising again, in pallid loveliness,
Resumes her sway, a thousand times o'erthrown.

—Florence Earle Coates in Cosmopolitan Magazine.

THE LAZY FIRST BASEMAN.

He Was Favored by Rain Until the Manager Drowned Him Out.

The retired left fielder was telling the story. "Hank McGinnis," he said, "was the greatest first baseman I ever seen. He could play the bag outer sight when he was a mind to, but he was the laziest man in 27 counties, and he didn't play no ball when he could git outen it. He was allays turnin up with a spiked foot or a split thumb or somethin of the kind, an ginerally made out to lay off more'n half the time. The summer we were playin in the Western league we struck a manager who was onto Hank's curves. He took him to one side when the season begun an tol him that he wouldn't stand no grafts. He marked out to him that if he didn't play every day he would git laid off an lose his pay. Sore heels an thumbs was barred.

"Hank, bein lazier than ever that year, was considerbul stirred up about this. He didn't have no likin to play, but he was hot after the long green, an he kep' playin along an kickin like a bay steer all the time. Finally he got a couple of days' lay off an went to see his mother, so he said. He got back on time an complained of being sick, but the manager tol him t' git inter th' game or lose 20 cold plunks, an he got in. Nex' day we couldn't play. There was a big rain. Jus' before the time t' call the game on the day after that they was another big rain.

"An it went on like this fer a straight 30 days. It would allays rain jus' before the game, whether we was home or away. Hank he got fat loafin around an was on first rate terms with hisself. Finally the manager had to let out some of the men to reduce expense, an Hank got the run. Then the rains stopped. Now, what do you think that man done so's he could git his money without workin? Seems he knew somethin about rainmakin, an when he took that trip home he got his chemicals together an didn't do a thing but make rain every afternoon jus' before the game."—Buffalo Express.

St. Murphy.

There is in one of the departments in Washington an old maid whom I call St. Murphy, not because she is so saintlike in appearance, for my saint has a jolly face, and in that woman, whose hair is sprinkled with gray and upon whose cheeks the roses of youth have ceased to bloom, I see a beauty that leaves nothing to be desired.

She comes into the dining room accompanied by a little girl and boy. My woman's eye soon detects something a little out of the usual. The children look too young to be hers, so I make inquiries and find that they are hers by adoption. She found these children with a dying mother, whom she made happy by promising to care for them. How faithfully she is keeping her promise! She has taken them to her heart. They show, as children always do, that they have not only food and clothes, but love, and plenty of it. Do you wonder that I call her saint? Here is that woman, at the age when women soonest tire, going daily to her work, no matter what the weather, cold or rain, denying herself that she may make these children comfortable. When I see her in the evening, weary from her day's work, but her dear old face beaming with love, I say to myself, "There is a woman who has won heaven, and I am glad to have known her," and I murmur, "God bless you, Miss Murphy!"—Harriette P. Crabbe in Minneapolis Housekeeper.

Chemical Reaction.

A French chemist has lately made some investigations in a field not hitherto so thoroughly explored as many others, and from them he draws the conclusion that chemical reaction cannot occur between 125 degrees and 150 degrees. Sulphuric acid and ammonia will not react at 80 degrees, while at 60 to 65 degrees the action is sudden and violent. Neither caustic soda nor caustic potash can be made to unite with the same acid below 125 degrees C. nor with carbonates below 80 degrees. With the latter, brisk effervescence sets in about 30 degrees. If nitric instead of sulphuric acid is used in such experiments, the temperature where reaction begins seems to be lowered in every case.—New York Sun.

A Cremation.

Mrs. Alice N. Lincoln thus describes her feelings while watching a cremation:

"As we stood in silence watching the rosy glow which played over the white surface of the retort a feeling came to us of awe certainly, but also of peace and rest. There was something so spiritual, so elevating in the absolute purity of the intense heat that it seemed to all of us who stood there far less appalling than the blackness of an open grave."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Proverbs are the literature of reason or the statements of absolute truth without qualification. Like the sacred books of each nation, they are the sanctuary of its intuitions.—Emerson.

According to careful estimates, three hours of close study wear out the body more than a whole day of hard physical exertion.

SECRET OF THE ARK

IT WAS REALLY CONSTRUCTED JUST LIKE A LEYDEN JAR.

The Fire That Came Out of It Was Electrical—Aaron's Sons Were Electrocuted. Edison and Tesla, Had They Lived at That Time, Could Not Have Surpassed Aaron.

There is nothing new on the face of the earth, and there is no doubt that electricity was well known to the Israelites and probably to the Phoenicians. The first record of electrical phenomena is as old as the Ten Commandments. Moses, when he received the stone tables on which the Ten Commandments were written the second time, built a box out of fir—not the common cedar or any other native woods, but firwood, which had to be imported by Phoenician merchants from the southern part of Europe. Was this choice accidental on account of the great value of the resinous wood, or was it the choice of the best known nonconductor among the great number of various timbers?

Moses had the fir box [illegible]ed inside and outside with beaten gold, which converted the ark of the covenant into a very expensive but very perfect leyden jar or storage battery for electricity. As gold is by 50 per cent a better conductor of electricity than copper, was the choice of gold again on account of its value, or was it an inspiration or revelation? So much is certain—that if Edison or Tesla had lived in those days they could not have improved on the choice of material, and the result was a powerful leyden jar.

How was this leyden jar charged, was the next problem. A fire of material rich in carbon was kept burning on top of the ark of the covenant, and during daytime a tall column of smoke guided the 12 tribes of Israel through their wanderings, and at night a tall flame was equally well seen by them. Now carbon is a good conductor of electricity, and the particles of carbon floating in the smoke would conduct sufficient electricity to highly charge the leyden jar. At least the current of electricty would be amply strong, so that if a hand were held toward the ark of the covenant sparks would result. That this was done by Moses at different times is a matter of record, and that he could always depend that his faithful Levites would obey his instructions to the letter and have the jar always charged.

After Moses' death his brother Aaron took the matter in hand and greatly improved the electrical power of the strange battery. He had the ark of the covenant placed in the temple and had it surrounded by poles 50 ells high, or 150 feet. These poles were covered with beaten gold, and gold chains were hung from poles to the ark of the covenant, which made a very expensive but very complete and powerful electrical connection. In a country where electrical storms are as frequent and as powerful as in Palestine at an elevation of 600 feet and a reach of 150 feet of the best conductor an abundant supply of Franklin's electricity would necessarily always be on hand.

It is very likely that Aaron knew nothing of amperes, ohms or volts; otherwise his two sons never would have monkeyed with this powerful apparatus, and they would not have been killed by fire breaking out of the ark of the covenant and killing them without any wounds or burns appearing on their bodies.

Any coroner's jury of today, if it were to sit on an inquest over the body of Aaron's sons, would at once bring a verdict of death by a discharge of electricity.

Aaron knew this power, and to make it effective all he had to do to deal death from his apparatus was to remove the costly camel's hair carpets, which are almost perfect nonconductors of electricity, and make the culprit stand on terra firma. Death would result instantly by fire breaking out and leave no wounds or burns to account for his death. That several members of revolting tribes of Israelites were thus electrocuted is also a matter of record in the Bible.

Solomon in building his temple advanced one step further. He found that copper would do as well as gold. He had the temple covered with copper, and copper water pipes led into the cisterns inside the temple.

On the temple, or rather on its roof, a number of gilt spears were placed in vertical positions, ostensibly to scare off the birds and to keep them from defiling the temple, but these spears were several cords high, or from 16 to 24 feet. Such a height would hardly be necessary for scarecrows, but it was ample to load the roof, water pipes, etc., with a powerful current of electricity.

Franklin, the electric chair in the state of New York and the discovery of the leyden jar itself in Leyden, Germany, are all back numbers. History only repeats itself, whether recorded or not.—C. B. Warrand in Savannah News.

Why the Dial Has Sixty Divisions.

We have 60 divisions on the dials of our clocks and watches because Hipparchus, who lived in the second century before Christ, accepted the Babylonian system of reckoning time, that system being sexagesimal. The Babylonians were acquainted with the decimal, but for common purposes they counted by "sossi" and "sari," the "sosso" representing 60 and the "saros" 60 times 60—3,600. From Hipparchus that mode of reckoning found its way into the works of Ptolemy about the year 150 A. D., and on that authority it has been perpetuated to the present day.—St. Louis Republic.

The "Venus de Medici" was 5 feet 8 inches in height, and this is held by many artists and sculptors to be the most perfect stature for a woman.

Some evils admit of consolations, but there are no comforters for dyspepsia and the toothache.—Bulwer.

RAIN AND DUST CLOAKS.

Made In New Materials, They Are Light In Weight and Free From Odor.

The conventional rain cloak is an ugly article, suggestive of odorous waterproof and cumbersome to carry, but the latest production in this line is a silk cloak, proof from rain and graceful withal, which seems eminently fitted for protecting the gown underneath and serving the dual purpose of dust and rain cloak. It is usually fashioned with a separate circular cape, which buttons on and hangs in pleasing folds. The general form is quite new, and the remarkably light weight of the whole renders the little cloak conveniently portable. On recollecting the garment of other times which did service as waterproof, one cannot help feeling a sense of surprise and satisfaction when examining these dainty articles.

There are also cloth waterproofs of light weight, with silk linings. Light drab box cloth waterproofs promise to be favorites, though checked tweeds are also employed for making these useful garments.

Some of the cloth waterproofs come in ulster shape, with a deep cape, smartly finished at the neck with a velvet collar. This style is made without sleeves, and the cape, which is lined with silk, can be worn separately. Another new model, made without sleeves, has a cape that buttons straight down, boasting revers and plaited frill around the collar. A new design, giving a rich silk lining, has a double cape, which is detachable.

Baking Bread.

When baking bread, the oven can spoil the best dough. It should be a very moderate oven at the first, increasing in heat until the bread has risen to its full proportions. It should rise gradually and symmetrically. Bread too stiff with flour or too slowly baked will crack. Bread too soft invariably spreads. Bread properly baked will have a fine, firm, but not too thick, crust on all four sides. If such a crust cannot be attained in the pan, take the fully cooked loaf out of the pan and brown one side after another. The value to the keeping qualities of the bread is great enough to warrant the trouble that it may cost.

The Dressy Bodice.

All the art and talent of the dressmaker are concentrated on the bodice, which, in nine cases out of ten, is a dressy affair as compared with the skirt with which it is worn. A model suited alike to day or evening wear may be made in black chiffon pointed on the bust, the square yoke formed of lace and jet, as is also the lower portion of the sleeve, while the upper has two lace frills. It is high in the throat and ends beneath a ribbon waistband. Nothing could be more graceful on a lithe figure.

Things Women Want to Know.

Twin beds are gaining in popularity, and when placed side by side appear to a certain extent as one bed.

Interior woodwork ought to be finished in natural when the character of the wood will permit. A varnished or oiled surface is more pleasing than is a painted one.

A new art material is sold under the name of Worcester cloth, and it is composed of linen and cotton.

Fashion has decreed that the back of an upright piano shall be decorated in some way.

A device is invented for lowering a curtain pole so as to admit air at the top of the window. One end of the rod is hinged, and the other has a catch from which it is released by pulling the tassel on the end of the cord.

For uniting cardboard, paper and small articles of fancy work the best glue is dissolved with about one-third the weight of coarse brown sugar in the smallest quantity of boiling water is good. When this is in a liquid state, it may be dropped in a thin cake upon a plate and allowed to dry. When required for use, one end of the cake may be moistened slightly and rubbed on the substances to be joined.

REMARKABLE CURES

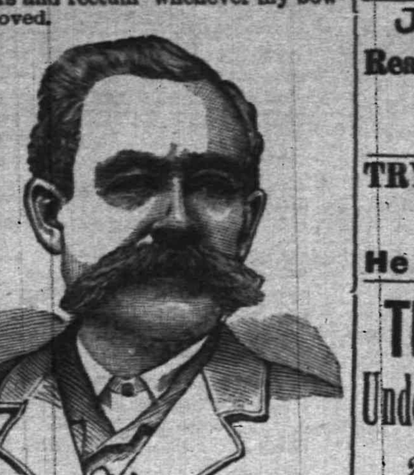
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

To the Public:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

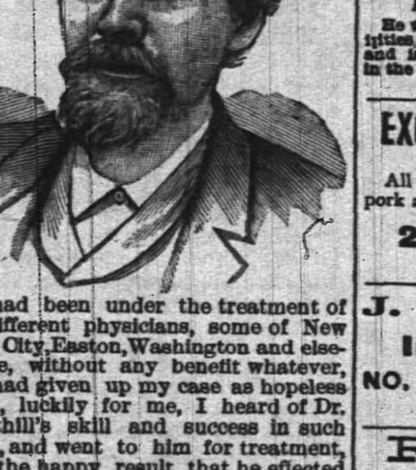
Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

To the Sick, Suffering and Afflicted:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

CHRONICLES OF STUDENT LIFE OUTSIDE THE BOOKS.

Girls and Boys Match Honors in Drilling—Societies Steadily at Work—The Football Fever — Athletes Training for The Daily Press Championship.

The weekly drill which usually takes place Tuesday was postponed this week until Friday, when the company was divided into two platoons, one commanded by Captain Bull, and the other by First Lieutenant Green. That the boys are being thoroughly drilled, is shown by their great improvement over the work of last week. The girls also are improving in marching, and the evenness and precision of their maneuvres is equal to that of the boys.

Tuesday morning a number of photographs, taken by H. Oscar Nightingale '96, at the competition drill in June, were displayed on the Kappa Delta Phi bulletin board. Everybody appreciated Nightingale's kindness in allowing them to be shown. We have been promised some views of the football team by John V. Beekman, Jr., '95.

The Kappa Delta Phi held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon, and a number of visitors attended. Charles B. Morse '95 gave a reading which was followed by a hash debate on the subject "Resolved, that the present war between China and Japan will have more influence on modern warfare than any previous war has had". Arthur B. Crane '97 volunteered for the affirmative, and Charles B. Morse '95 for the negative. Norman Probasco '94 acted as Crane's second, and Morse was seconded by Louis Rand '96. The affirmative argued that there were many new inventions yet to be tried that if successful would change modern warfare, while the negative claimed that nothing that was likely to happen could have as much influence as the change from the wooden man of war to the ironclad, and the substituting of the breechloading rifle for the muzzle-loader. After a very close debate the president decided in favor of the negative.

There has been some talk of publishing a High School monthly newspaper, and a committee was appointed to inquire further into the matter.

At the special monthly meeting it was decided to hold a meeting open to the public October 12, at which several prominent men will give short talks.

The regular meeting of the Lyceum was a debate: "Resolved that liquor does more harm than tobacco". J. Vincent Rittenhouse '97 and F. Wilbur Cornwell '96 ably defended the affirmative, and Ernest Suffren '97 and Llewellyn Bull '96, spoke with equal ability for the negative. The evil brought about by the use of liquor by workingmen was alluded to; and the diseases engendered, as well as the crime-producing qualities, were the chief arguments of the affirmative. The negative supported their position by speaking of the costliness of tobacco, its usual result of bringing the smoker to become a drinker as well, and its evil effects on the human system, stunting the growth and deadening the intellect. A committee, appointed by the president, decided the debate in favor of the affirmative. The only important business transacted was the deciding on a programme for October 5.

Football fever is becoming rampant among the boys, and the association games played on the campus are becoming very popular. After the Kappa Delta Phi and Lyceum meetings, Friday afternoon, two teams captained respectively by Van B. Schuyler, '97, and Lambert Fish, '96, played a very exciting game, while a number of boys who did not play sat on the fence and encouraged the contestants to exert themselves to their utmost. When the game was concluded the score of goals stood 4 to 4. This was followed by a game of handball between the same teams, in which neither side secured a goal.

The candidates for the regular football eleven met Thursday afternoon and under the supervision of Manager Horne practised falling on the ball, tackling and running. A challenge has been received from Leal's School eleven to a match game, but it has not yet been decided whether it will be accepted or not.

The entries for the field day of October 6 are coming on rapidly, and most of the contestants have declared their intention of trying for The Daily Press medal for the all-round championship. As each one will probably contest in most of the events there will be abundant excitement.

The run of the Bicycling Division scheduled for last Wednesday had to be given up on account of the stormy weather. Next Wednesday's run will start from the High School building at 2. The route will be to Springfield and return by way of Elizabeth. All are invited.

The lantern parade is set for next Thursday evening, and all the cyclists of the school are urged to turn out and aid in giving the High School a good representation.

STRANGERS OF OUR LAND.

Christian Endeavorers Spend an Evening Among the Alaskan People.

The Missionary Committee of the Christian Endeavor society connected with the Park Avenue Baptist Church were in charge of a rousing meeting held in the Sunday-school room last evening. The topic was Alaska, and under the leadership of Miss Alice B. Spangenberg a pleasant and profitable hour was spent in learning of the progress and prospects of mission work in that territory.

The programme began with the excellent rendering of an appropriate hymn by a quartette composed of the Misses Laura and Adelaide Runyon, William Stimpson and Fred Fish. Miss Spangenberg read from the Scriptures and offered prayer. A hymn was sung, and then the leader answered questions about Alaska and its people which before had not been clearly understood by inquirers among the audience.

Another hymn followed, and then W. A. Stimpson read a paper on "Alaska—Its Past and Present". The audience was intently interested in the facts he brought out about the peculiar country. The Misses Runyon sang a duet, and Miss E. V. Fish read a paper on "Alaska and the New Work of Our Society", in which she showed what the Endeavorers might do to help the heathen in this home and yet practically foreign mission work.

Miss Lizzie VanWinkle recited very effectively "The Cry of the Alaskan Children". The congregation sang again, and then Miss Grace Bemson read "Only a Little Heathen". With the taking up of the collection the meeting closed, and much information about Alaska was taken home to family circles.

COUNSELORS AT HOME

These the Most Sumptuous Law Offices in All New Jersey.

Reed & Coddington finished moving into their elegant new offices in the Babcock Building Friday. The two safes were the last of the furniture to be moved Truckman Frank Hand accomplishing this by way of the elevator with rigging tackle.

The three offices are most conveniently arranged for the large business which results from the forming of the partnership. The corner office, papered in bright terra cotta, is occupied by Counselor Reed. The middle office, finished in straw color, is a working room for clerks and a waiting room for clients. City Judge Coddington has the next room, which is decorated in a light green tone.

The floors and trimmings of the offices are of Georgia pine. The wall-papering, which is of a quality and design which excites the admiration of all who have seen the rooms; was done by Marsh, Ayres & Co. Among the conveniences which the lawyers have added in the city, the case being a tall and handsome one of antique oak. Large rugs beautify the floors and add to the general appearance of comfort.

Just as Good as the Original Fritz.

Charles T. Ellis, the gifted German comedian and sweet singer, will present his most popular success when he comes to Music Hall, Monday evening. "Casper the Yodler" will then be seen here for the last time, and he will introduce a number of new songs. He has delighted thousands of music lovers throughout the country by his beautiful singing, and lovers of sweet ballads will welcome this opportunity of again hearing his beautiful voice.

Plainfield Vets.

The 30th N. J. Regt. will meet in Elizabeth Sept. 27. The following are the Plainfield members: Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, David R. Weaver, Peter V. Weaver, Tunis J. Carey, Edward C. Mulford, John H. Stryker, Theodore Rutan, Charles H. Randolph, Randolph Thorn, Jerry L. Bilyeu, Jacob Jennings, James L Mundy, David Pangborn, Frank S. Runyon, Nelson Runyon, Theodore J. Runyon, Benjamin Wright, Garret Eick, John Gittus, Samuel Moore.

Si Hung's Lesson.

Si Hung Chang has met with another setback, having been deprived of his three-eyed peacock plume. These eyes are, however, just about as useless as yours will be if you do not have them cared for at the first symptom of weakness. A visit to Collier's, 103 Park avenue, will readily inform you whether you need glasses or not. Examination free. Do not neglect the opportunity.

Saved from the Philistines.

(From The Rahway Democrat.)

It appears that some of Ernest R. Ackerman's Plainfield friends were more in earnest than Ernest was in his candidacy for the nomination for Congressman in this district, as he announces that his business connections forbid his acceptance of the nomination. Hence the Republicans must look elsewhere for the man with a "bar'l".

STOPPED ON THE ROAD.

MIDNIGHT RIDE OF PLAINFIELD'S NORWEGIAN NOBLEMAN.

His Early Departure Calls Out Chas. H. Hand, His Landlord—Elizabeth Proves a Convenient Stopping-Place, Under Pressure.

William Naeser, the Norwegian nobleman who has been running a riding academy in the Crescent Rink Building since April, left town last night. He got together his five horses and all his saddles and harness, and started off with his one assistant at 1:30.

He went quietly up Watchung avenue to Sixth street and went towards Elizabeth by that street instead of taking the county road. Policeman John Flynn saw the men and the horses and went to the house of Charles Hand. He awoke the rink owner and told him what Naeser had done.

Then Mr. Hand thought of how Naeser was situated financially. He estimated that the horse and traps were worth $800. The proprietor of Dickels's Riding Academy, New York, holds a $300 chattel mortgage on them. Naeser owes for rent, according to contract, $272 50. He agreed July 15 to pay $117 50 a month rent until October 15. On this he paid but $80.

This morning at four the Plainfield police heard from the Elizabeth authorities that a man with horses who evidently came from this vicinity had been detained there as a suspicious person. He had not entered Elizabeth by the usual route, but went in from the Rahway road.

Naeser came to Plainfield from Dickels's academy last April well recommended. He is an excellent horseman and instructor, but was not very successful in Plainfield. He is the son of a noted Norwegian general. Among his recommendations was one from the Norwegian Consul in New York.

Court Coddington.

James Brennan, for being disorderly on Front street yesterday afternoon, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or to go to jail for 20 days. He arranged to pay.

William Jackson, the colored man who took the clock from his wife's home, was placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace for a year. Robinson Pound furnished security.

Charles McCann, whose wife has been complaining of his abuse, was released under suspended sentence with a reprimand and a warning.

The case of Mrs. Canary against Mrs. Pickett was finally closed. Judge Coddington said he would put the defendant under bonds to keep the peace

Bickering in the Ranks.

(From The Rahway Advocate, Rep.)

We are somewhat surprised to note that the Plainfield Republicans, now that their candidate for Congress has withdrawn, are "talking of" bringing out a candidate for County Clerk. The Republicans of the county rallied to the support of Plainfield's candidate for Congress with surprising unanimity. Rahway, by a common consent, however, has been conceded the County Clerkship, and Plainfield Republicans should recognize the injustice they would be guilty of in doing anything to interfere with that arrangement.

Fife and Drum Reception.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps gave a reception to Charles Hall of the Canadian Army at the home of George R. Leland on West Front street last evening. About 60 were present. Sam Frazee furnished music for dancing. The affair was a most enjoyable one.

—A team hitched to a wagon owned by Butcher Ainslie of Somerville ran away on Front street and Park avenue last evening. The reins caught in a wheel and stopped the horses after several collisions had occurred and one of Boice, Runyon & Co.'s horses was thrown and lamed. The same team has run away in Plainfield before.

THE RESULT

OF AN AMERICAN WOMAN'S WORK.

Not An Assertion, But a Truth, Proven by the Accumulated Testimony of 20 Years.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

HERE'S a reason for it, when a special remedy for a special disease maintains the first place in the faith of the people for twenty years; when, year after year, the confidence given cautiously at first rolls into a tremendous volume; when one woman's name is known throughout the civilized world; when letters by the thousands come by every mail from all parts of the earth in gratitude and praise; when druggists place this remedy first on the list of standard remedies.

Then there is a reason for it. Lydia E. Pinkham and her wonderful Vegetable Compound, deserve the first place in the hearts of womankind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured more women from all disease arising from irregularity and derangement of the uterus and womb than any remedy known to medical science.

Are you suffering? then profit by the experience of this thankful woman:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham,—Last winter I did not think my little ones would have a mother long. I suffered terribly with female troubles.

I could keep nothing on my stomach, and got so "poor" my friends hardly knew me. I suffered with severe headaches, dizziness, faintness, backache, and the blues.

Thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am now as fat as ever, and have no female troubles.

If you use my letter I hope it may be the means of saving some other poor mother's life as it did mine.—MRS. ELLA VAN BUREN, St. David, Fulton Co., Ill.

MUNYON'S

GREAT FIGHT.

He Wins in Spite of Prejudice, Bigotry and Organized Opposition.

There is no longer a question of Prof. Munyon's complete victory over the old method of treating disease. In spite of the prejudice and bigotry which refused his system a fair trial, and the organized opposition of practitioners of other schools, it has secured the indorsement of the people. Thousands have been cured after having been pronounced incurable by other doctors, and reports from the Boards of Health of various cities show that the death rate has been decreased by the use of Munyon's Remedies.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure never fails to relieve in 1 to 3 hours, and cures in a few days. Price 25c.

AT REST.

Mme. Fursch-Mahdi.

Rev. Father Murphy said a requiem mass in St. Mary's Church at 11 this morning for the repose of the soul of Mme. Fursch-Mahdi. Miss St. Leger officiated at the organ. It was expected that Attalia Claire would sing a solo, but the funeral party did not arrive until about the close of the mass at 11:30.

Beautiful wreaths and bouquets of flowers, the tributes of members of the profession, covered the top of the plain black casket. The burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

A few Plainfield friends were present besides M. Wurtz, Mme. Fursch-Mahdi's husband, and her son and daughter. Among them was Mrs. Hultzemann of Fairview avenue, a pupil of Mme. Fursch-Mahdi. From New York were Mrs. Kayne (Attalia Claire), the opera singer; her mother, Mrs. Smith; Miss Mann, Victor Clodio, the tenor; and L. M. Ruben of the Metropolitan Opera House. Mrs. Kayne kindly paid all of the funeral expenses.

The report of Mme. Fursch-Mahdi's death will be found on the first page of The Daily Press.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 23. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How bodies affect souls.—Dan. 1, 8-17. (Temperance.)

The story of our topical reference is a very familiar one. Daniel and his three friends are captives in Babylon. They are selected to be educated for the king's service. The drink and food of this class are set before them. They decline to drink and eat of them and ask that 10 days be given to prove that by eating the plainer, undefiled and unhurtful food and drink they will be fairer and stronger than the others. The request was granted. The test was made, and at the end of the 10 days "their countenances appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat," and "God gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom, and Daniel had understanding in all visions and dreams."

As a result of abstinence from that which would have defiled and weakened the body Daniel obtained two blessings—strength of mind and strength of soul—for he could understand the things that pertained to God and his dealings with men. These things are of course naturally attributed to God, but God also works through natural means. It was because Daniel had a bright mind and a soul capable of spiritual things that God gave him these blessings. There is no doubt as all but that the body has an important effect upon the mind and the soul, upon the mental powers and the spiritual powers of a man. If we indulge in habits and practices that tend to weaken the body, we may expect at the same time that our mental and spiritual powers will be weakened. The importance of having the best physical constitution today is being emphasized as never before. In all schools and colleges great attention is paid to the education of the body as well as the mind, showing that the world recognizes today as never before the intimate relation that exists between body and mind. The church of Christ should imitate this example. It should emphasize the care of the body for the reason that the spiritual life depends so much upon that. Our bodies are the temples of God. We should take the very best care of them. We should keep from them that which defiles and makes unclean. We should eat and drink only that which pertains to health and strength and engage only in habits that have the same tendency.

Bible Readings—Rev. xix, 28; xxi, 5; Deut. xiv, 1; Math. xxii, 30; Rom. xii, 1; I Cor. vi, 13; iii, 16; II Cor. vi, 16; xv, 13; Phil. iii, 21; Rom. xiii, 13; Joel i, 5; Gal. v, 21; I Thess. v, 7; I Pet. iv, 3.

Home, Sweet Home.

Hardly a face in the audience in a crowded concert hall was unmoved, and many persons were weeping. A great singer had just finished a wonderfully touching and eloquent rendering of "Home, Sweet Home."

"It is a beautiful song," said a young girl to an older woman who sat next to her, wiping the tears from her eyes as she spoke.

"Yes," was the reply, "and the sentiment to which it moves all these people is beautiful. How much happier the world would be if every one had as much principle as sentiment on the subject and followed out a plain, everyday rule of making home sweet!"

The girl turned thoughtfully away. She hardly heard the next song. She was acknowledging to herself that in spite of her love for her home she made it unhappy every day of her life by her willfulness and quick temper.—Exchange.

Canadian Endeavorers.

At the last field day Canada marshaled 1,882 companies. This year their ranks are increased, and they have on their roster 2,243 companies, with an individual membership of 134,580. Ontario still leads with 1,281 companies. Nova Scotia comes next with 391. Quebec has evidently felt some of the benefits of the camp in their midst last year at Montreal, for they report a gain of 80 companies and now have a total of 215. Manitoba has 127, New Brunswick 115, Prince Edward island 46, British Columbia 31, Assiniboia 17, Alberta 18, Newfoundland 5 and Saskatchewan 2.—Golden Rule.

The Endeavor Initials.

A new interpretation of the five initials Y. P. S. C. E. is originated by Rev. T. D. Wallace. He likens them to the five fingers of the right hand. The fingers can only bend inward, and they suggest to him the loyal and loving grip of youthful Christian fellowship in the service of Christ and the church. He names the fingers "Youth, Personality, Sympathy, Conscientiousness and Energy," the last being the strong and stalwart thumb, which closes down over the rest and holds them fast and firm with a mighty Christian purpose.

Floating Endeavorers.

The Japanese junior, on the receiving ship Vermont, Brooklyn navy yard, recently spoke to the sailors, telling his experience and praising God for his new life.

The cruiser New York, upon its recent arrival from Bluefields, had on board a society of about 30 members.

There are now 51 companies of Floating Endeavorers, the largest of which is the one in the Brooklyn navy yard, numbering 350.

Give My Thy Holy Spirit.

O Heavenly Father, thou hast told
Of a gift more precious than pearls or gold,
A gift that is free to every one
Through Jesus Christ, thy only Son.

* * * * * * *

I cannot see, and I want the sight.
I am in the dark, and I want the light.
I want to pray, and I don't know how.
Oh, give me thy Holy Spirit now.

* * * * * * *

On the strength of thy word I come and say,
Oh, let thy word come true today.
For Christ's sake, give it to me.

HOW TO MEMORIZE MUSIC.

Study What You Would Memorize Both With and Without Your Piano.

"It is not not enough to know good pieces with your fingers. You should be able to remember them to yourself without a pianoforte. Sharpen your powers of fancy that you may remember correctly not only the melody of a composition, but its proper harmonies also." These words of Robert Schumann should be impressed on every music student. Study what you would memorize both with and without your piano. Observe its character, the key in which it is written, its rhythm, meter and movement, its harmonies, with their relations—in fact, all its developments, melodious and harmonious. Analyze thoroughly, comparing passage with passage, tracing similarities and points of divergence, thus calling the law of association to the aid of that of attention. Imprint on your mental consciousness the full tonal worth of each note and each chord and see to it that your muscular training is of a kind to make your fingers obedient to the inner voice.

When you can fully orient yourself in the composition, close your eyes, that you may look only within, and try how much you can recall mentally. Then, with eyes still closed, try how much you can play. If your fingers stumble over a passage, repeat this several times, first with eyes fixed on the notes, again with closed eyes, that the muscular sense may contribute toward fixing the impression. Repeated combined action of the inner and outer forces tends to produce clearness and accuracy of image and permanence of possession. Do not give yourself a greater task to memorize daily than can be compliished without fatigue. To overstrain your powers is to enfeeble them. If you study intelligently, you can single out certain phrases, sentences or periods and know where it is proper to stop. It is a good plan to write down from memory what you have committed, even to transpose it at times into other keys, both in writing and at the piano, says the author of the foregoing in Harper's Bazar. A child can readily be interested in music if taught intelligently. Let him build scales, form chords and learn the why and wherefore of each step taken, and memory will be a matter of thorough comprehension. Youth is the time to begin to memorize, but a well exercised memory will continue to strengthen throughout active existence.

A Lamp Screen.

A table screen for keeping the wind from a lighted lamp will be found very useful. The frame of the model, described by Modern Priscilla, is made of heavy millboard. Each panel is made in two pieces, which are covered separately with dark plush neatly glued in place. The Japanese crape pictures are then glued smoothly in place, and after all is dry the front and back of each panel are sewed together. The two completed panels are then jofned by sewing to form a hinge, and large, round brass buttons or gilded wooden balls are attached for feet.

A LAMP SCREEN.

A screen of this kind would be very pretty with panels of painted bolting cloth, or pressed autumn leaves could be used between glass pasels. In the latter case the frame should be of wood, as the glass would be too heavy for a cardboard frame.

Preserved Plums.

The following rule is equally good for either damson or green gage plums, the damsons being particularly nice to eat with meats: Make the sirup for all the plums to be preserved at one time, allowing a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit and a gill of water to a pound of sugar. Boil for 10 minutes; then put in the sirup only enough plums to fill two or three jars. Cook until they can easily be pierced with a straw; then can and put fresh fruit into the boiling sirup. If there is any sirup left over from preserving the plums, put in enough sugar to make it jell and cook a little longer. This makes a delicious jelly.

Maple Sugar Sauce.

A good liquid pudding sauce is made by scraping half a pound of maple sugar and dissolving it in a cupful of cream or rich milk. Let it boil a few minutes at the side of the range until it has the consistency of thin sirup, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Batter puddings, or, in fact, any puddings which have no decided flavor of their own, are much improved when served with this sauce.

Household Brevities.

Try pouring boiling water over tea, coffee and fruit stains before putting the fabric stained in the suds.

Begin grating nutmegs at the stem end in order to keep them solid.

New bread and butter plates of silver are perfectly round but for a little scallop on one side designed for the butter.

The rubber rings of fruit jars will recover their elasticity if soaked for awhile in weak ammonia water.

If oxidized silver be rubbed with any kind of silver powder, it will lose its peculiar beauty. All that is necessary is to wash it with soap and water and polish it with chamois or a dry flannel.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ARTISTIC FITMENTS.

The Present Nomadic Type of Furnishing Compared With a More Abiding Style.

The fashion of furniture fitments seems now to be continually increasing in popularity. The many unquestionable advantages, both of an economical as well as of a hygienic character, which accrue from having one's furniture fitted to the walls are gradually beginning to dawn upon the general public mind, and it is not unreasonable to hope that before many years have passed away it will be quite orthodox for middle class folk to despise the present nomadic type of furnishing in favor of the more abiding and homelike fitments. The very character of fitted furniture seems to convey an air of established homeliness which is destined to continue for many years, while the old fashioned suits of so many pieces, with their decorative accessories, always suggest the unwelcome possibility of leaving an old familiar house which has been endeared to us by all the cherished associations of home life.

Fitted furniture at times is very simple, and sometimes it is of an elaborate character. As a rule, the best and most artistic work is the least complicated and "fussy." Decorator and Furnisher, authority for the foregoing, illustrates a very dainty and convenient draped divan that is in the highest sense a "fitment." There are no "broken up" recesses, with shaped arches and spindles, no entangled fretwork and no useless little open pigeonholes to serve as so many dust traps. Everything is smooth, compact and tasteful, giving that expression of repose that is so desirable in modern furnishings.

General Rules For Jelly Making.

The fruit from which the juice is expressed should not be overripe. Strain the juice carefully, measure and heat before adding the sugar. The usual proportions are a pint of sugar for each pint of juice. The sugar—common granulated—should be heated in the oven before it is put into the boiling juice. Boil gently and skim frequently. Rinse the jelly glasses in warm water before pouring the jelly into them. When filled, place the glasses uncovered in the sunshine and let them be undisturbed for 24 hours. Then cut rounds of paper, wet them with brandy and place over the top of the jelly. Now cut rounds an inch larger, dip them in the white of egg and cover the tops of the glasses, pressing the edges down outside and sealing, thus making them airtight.

A Pocket Table.

A charming little work table, provided with pockets, which is full of suggestions to women who are on the lookout for things out of the ordinary, has a frame in wood either enameled or hidden under plush.

A ribbon torsade connects together the four shaped legs, headed with an arabesque embroidered in silk and further smartened up with bows. Four pockets hang from the square plush cover. Two are circular, and two are pointed and fluted at the top under a chenille cord, being lined with contrasting satin. On the outside are applied sprays wrought in multicolored silks in harmony with the large one in the center of the Oxford frame described, with fancy galon tipped with bows.

Modern Sidesaddles.

The modern woman, with other outdoor exercises, includes that of horseback riding. The question of a costume with divided skirt and the practice of riding astride has been agitated, but women who favor these innovations are in the minority. For the great majority who cling to the conventional sidesaddle is offered a novelty in sidesaddles with a reversible pommel. By the use of this one can use either side of the saddle and thus prevent any danger of becoming one sided by always riding one way. The first reversible pommel, it is told, was used by the Princess of Wales, other English women following the fashion, which has now extended to this country. Doctors advocate the idea and fashion seconds it. Therefore sidesaddles with reversible pommels are likely to have a run.

THE LANGUAGE OF FINGERS.

Their Silent Talk Is Important In Board of Trade Transactions.

Thousands of visitors who yearly go to the board of trade and watch the traders on the exchange floor from the public gallery express surprise at the rapid manner in which business is transacted. As a rule, the wheat pit attracts them, and they do not understand how commodities change hands with such lightning rapidity, and how hundreds of thousands and millions of bushels are bought and sold in an incredibly short space of time is to the novice a profound mystery. They do not know that the brokers do a great deal of their work by finger signs, seldom understood by the outsider.

It requires only the fraction of a second to buy and sell 50,000 bushels of wheat.

"I'll sell 50 'Sep.' at an eighth," cries one of the brokers, and he has hardly finished speaking before another on the opposite side yells "Sold." The trade is put down on the trading card, and the transaction, which involves over $30,000, has been completed.

The number of bushels offered for sale is indicated by holding up one finger for each 5,000 bushels. So in selling 50,000 bushels the broker simply holds up both hands and waves them from him, which explains itself as wanting to dispose of the lot. In addition to this, brokers have a complete finger code by which the condition of the market is communicated. The signs generally used are as follows:

The first finger held up stands for one-eighth of 1 cent, as the traders all know the main price. If, for instance, the first sale of wheat after the market opened was made at 60 cents and the next at 60⅛ cents, the trader simply holds up one finger for the advance of one-eighth of 1 cent. The upward position of the finger is to show the upward course of the market. Should the market be bearish and the price decline to 59⅞ cents, the signal for this would be a closed hand, with the thumb pointing downward. This shows the price seven-eighths of a cent and the status of the market downward.—Chicago Tribune.

AN ABSENTMINDED MAN.

He Went Fishing and Forgot That It Was His Wedding Day.

The Rev. George Harvest, minister of Thames Ditton, a great scholar and skillful fisherman, was one of the most absentminded men of his time. He was engaged to a daughter of the bishop of London, but on the day of his wedding, being gudgeon fishing, he overstaid the appointed hour, and the lady, justly offended at his neglect, broke off the match. With Arthur Onslow, the speaker of the house of commons, Mr. Harvest was on terms of great intimacy. Being one day in a punt together on the Thames, he began to read a beautiful dassage from some Greek author, and throwing himself backward in an ecstasy fell into the river, whence he was with difficulty fished out.

When Lord Sandwich was canvassing for the vice chancellorship of Cambridge, Harvest, who had been his schoolfellow at Eton, went down to give him his vote. In a large company the two were joking together on their schoolboy tricks. The parson suddenly exclaimed, "Whence do you derive your nickname of Jimmie Twitcher?" "Why," answered his lordship, "from some foolish fellow." "No, no," interrupted Harvest, "it isn't some but every body that calls you so."

When this gentleman's mind was not absent, it was, however, very useful to him. Having lost himself at Calais, and not being able to speak a word of French, he managed to convey to the inhabitants that he was staying at the Silver Lion by putting a shilling in his mouth and setting himself in the attitude of a lion rampant.—London Illustrated News.

Indians Tracking.

It was a most strange and interesting experience to see the Indian read all the signs of the different animals in the grass or among the woods with the same ease as we read an open book. The least disarrangement in the grass or sticks, however small, was enough. Glancing casually at it in passing, he would say: "Bear—a week old." "Yesterday." "Deer—this morning." "Very old." "Caribou—last month," and so on. It was wonderful to behold this instinct in a man.

I had for a long time been following this trail of the moose, which I thought was a fresh trail, when I got sick of it and began to cross examine Mr. Big Partridge as to how far off our quarry was likely to be. Big Partridge then showed that he was sick of the imaginary moose hunt himself and owned up, "Old trail; all moose nipoh"—that is, dead. He had only been leading me about in this way to amuse me, knowing it useless the whole time. He exacted $2.50 for that day's sport.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Lovers' Ink.

There are various kinds of invisible inks, but here is a method of making ink which can be wiped off a sheet of paper with a pocket handkerchief without leaving a trace: Dissolve some starch in water until it is as thick as cream. Then add to it a few drops of tincture of iodine, which will turn the starch to a dark red color. Now take a pen and write with this prepared ink upon a sheet of note paper. The ink will dry right away, after which you may erase the whole of your letter by simply wiping the sheet with a pocket handkerchief. It will disappear as easily as chalk from an ordinary blackboard.—Boston Post.

A Unique Will.

Widow—Well, Mr. Brief, have you read the will?

Brief—Yes, but I can't make anything out of it.

Heirs—Let us have it patented. A will that a lawyer can't make anything out of is a blessing.—London Tit-Bits.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

THE LINEN WEDDING.

How This Twentieth Anniversary of Married Life May Be Observed.

The linen wedding furnishes an excellent opportunity for pretty presents in embroidered doilies and all manner of other napery. It is less suggestive to a hostess as a "theme" for an entertainment. A dinner to which only intimate friends and the families of bride and groom are invited seems more appropriate than any more ambitious observance of the day.

The invitations may be written on squares of linen in indelible ink and inclosed in envelopes of the same material. The elaborate folding of napkins is no longer in vogue, but the fashion might be revived on such an occasion when linen is to be made the prominent feature. Any pretty drawnwork or embroidered linen may be appropriately introduced. Napkins folded to represent a succession of scallop shells or fans may surround and conceal the dish holding the flowers in the center of the table. No flowers are so suitable for the occasion as the pretty blue blossoms of the flax plant, but they are hardly vivid enough by themselves to be effective, as the table is so severely white. Bright poppies and yellow hearted daisies mingled among the blue flax make a charming centerpiece. Small squares of fine linen with fringed edges may be embroidered with the guests' names in blue or red—Kensington stitch—in bold English writing, and will answer very well for name cards when made to adhere to squares of bristol board by means of a little flour paste.

Nothing makes a better surface for water color painting than linen, and imagination may run riot if the hostess be an artist, says The Ladies' Home Journal, which makes these suggestions. Upon every dish a round, fringed doily should be placed.

A really dainty flower holder may be made by placing a slender thin glass tumbler in the center of a round piece of fine linen, edged with lace an inch or two wide. This should be drawn up and plaited around the edge of the tumbler and tied with narrow ribbon in many loops. The lace stands out like a ruffle, making a border around the flowers.

The Question of Coiffures.

The question of coiffures used to be a very vexing one, for fashion was once very niggardly, and there was but one prevailing style. Now one can arrange her locks to suit the contour of the head and face and still be in the fashion. The soft, graceful knot, lying low upon the neck, is suited to the long, slender face, and the chic knot, drawn away from the nape and fastened upon the crown, leaving a few little rustling curls on the neck, with a band of velvet around the knot, fastened in a little butterfly bow at the left side, gives a dainty, dignified air to the round face. Then the soft coil carelessly arranged at the back of the head is artistic and graceful. All are equally fashionable.

Will women ever have the courage to brush back the curls about the face? The New York Sun says "probably not." Many efforts have been made unsuccessfully to part the hair and draw it away from the temples, but the soft, wavy locks are too becoming and soften the lines of the face too much to allow of sacrificing them to the whim of the few blessed with broad, low foreheads. So the curly bang holds its own and is a blessing to the community.

Care of First Teeth.

The child's temporary teeth do not, as a rule, receive any attention, while in point of fact the care of these deciduous teeth has very much to do with the second and permanent set. These teeth should be cleaned with a soft brush and warm water. The child usually retains these teeth until the eruption of the permanent set, the first permanent tooth appearing about the sixth year. The deciduous teeth should be carefully watched, and when the tooth shows decay consult your dentist and have it filled. At this stage the filling is not expensive and will save the child much pain and trouble from an aching tooth. The early extraction of the deciduous teeth often causes the irregularities of the permanent set. They should be retained until the jaw has fully expanded to receive the permanent teeth. Teach the child the necessity of keeping the teeth clean and pure. The early use of the toothbrush will establish a habit that will in after years be considered a necessity to health and personal cleanliness.

Stuffed Turnips.

Peel and boil in slightly salted water until half done. Take them out, slice off a bit from the bottom to make them stand firmly. Cut a slice from the top. Scoop out the middle and fill with a stuffing of minced meat (veal, if possible), onion and parsley, and mushrooms, if they can be had. Tie the slice onto the top. Place the turnips in a saucepan, pour over them some boiling gravy or stock, add a bit of butter, season with salt and pepper. Simmer gently until tender. Arrange in a deep dish, thicken the sauce with the yolk of an egg, pour over the turnips and serve hot.

Renaissance lace is at present in high favor as a means of dressing up the plain glass doors. It acts as a shield, and yet in no way obscures the light.

WE TAKE PLEASURE

In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Friday, Sept. 21 to Saturday, Sept. 29. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

BARGAINS. Just received 10 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.

BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.

BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.

Cloaks

We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS in gent'emen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up.

BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

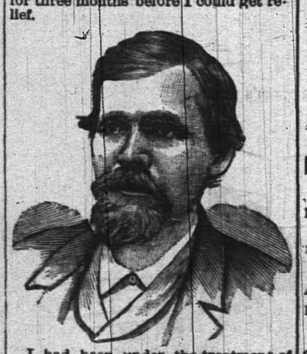
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK, Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill

PRAISES THE KAISER

Bismarck Commends the Action of the Emperor.

Says the Polish Nobility Are Revolutionary—The Reichstag To Be Opened in the New Parliament Building on the Anniversary of the Birth of the Emperor's Mother.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—Fifteen hundred persons from West Prussia visited Prince Bismarck yesterday at Varzin. When he appeared upon the veranda he was most enthusiastically cheered.

The ex-chancellor made a long speech to his visitors, dwelling upon the Polish question, reviewing history, legislation and other matters pertaining to the subject. He approved the emperor's speeches at Konigsberg and Thorn, seeing in them proof that West Prussia is in no danger from the Poles. He feels that the emperor shares his opinion that the aims of the Polish nobles' party are directed at party revolution, which must be combatted.

"God keep the emperor in this mind," Prince Bismarck concluded, "and give him counsellors ready and able to carry out his majesty's programme. In this hope I desire to join my voice in the cry of 'Long live the emperor. Hoch! God keep him."

The deputation responded with enthusiasm, and the band of music accompanying the party played the national anthem.

One woman presented to Prince Bismarck a bouquet and a poem addressed to Princess Bismarck. Another woman kissed the prince's hand, which salutation he returned by chivalrously kissing the lady upon the lips.

The ex-chancellor conversed with members of the deputation for a time, then excused himself on the ground of his health.

Berlin, Sept. 24.—Apparently with a desire to associate the opening of the Reichstag in the new and splendid parliament building in Liepzigerstrasse with the imperial house, the kaiser has ordered that the session begin on Nov. 21, the anniversary of the birth of his mother, the ex-empress Frederick. The builders of the edifice protest against this declaring that it will be impossible to complete the inside decoration and other work by the date mentioned. Part of the work is being done by contract and the men are working night and day, endeavoring to finish their work in the time allotted to them.

It is the expectation of a majority of the high officials of the empire that the coming session of the reichstag will be dull, and that the government's proposals increasing the naval estimates will be accepted by the chamber without much opposition. The bills for this purpose are the only ones that have yet been submitted to the bundesrath. There will be a great deal of insurance legislation and bills will be introduced regulating emigration, reforming the code of criminal procedure and dealing with the question of the taxation of tobacco. The last named measure is the only one over which there is likely to be any party contention. The budget is expected to show that even the expenditures under the increased naval estimates the total increase will be very small.

The king of Saxony, Prince Regent Luitpold of Bavaria, the king of Wurtemberg and every head of the federal government will attend the opening of the session in the new building, but the urgent invitaions of the emperor to Emperor Francis and several others have been declined for various reasons.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

Late Mail Advices Brought in by Steamer Victoria.

The Plans of the Japanese Forces in Korea, Outlined by Cable Dispatches, Confirmed—Capt. Galsworthy, Commander of the Famous Kow Shing, One of Her Passengers.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 24.—The steamship Victoria, which arrived from the Orient last evening, brought among her passengers Capt. Galsworthy, commander of the famous Kow Shing, who is returning to England, and also the very latest mail advices of the war in the far east. These confirm the plans of the Japanese forces in Korea, outlined in the cable advices. So far these plans have not been disturbed by any serious reverses and the victorious Japanese will, if they adhere to their commander-in-chief's arguments, push on to Moukden, the most important city in Manchuria.

The Chinese on the 5th of September were gradually drawing back further inland, following Gen. Wolseley's advice of other years. Their hopes seem to be to detain their more active enemies until winter, in a climate which means death to them, and thus terminate the campaign as well. Moukden is being rapidly and strongly fortified, while at the same time thousands of Chinese troops are being poured into it. So it is anticipated, that the next battle there will be one of the most important engagements of the war now in progress.

In Moukden the Chinese emperor is supposed to have at his command about 1,200,000 Tens, which in itself is a great inducement to the enemy. Estimating Chinese losses at the highest limit in killed, wounded prisoners and deserters at about 40,000, she has still 950,000 troops in Korea and 100,000 in Manchuria.

She has yet to suffer defeat on her own territory, though undoubtedly she has been badly worsted in several important battles on neutral ground. It seems now almost a certainty that the Japanese will accept the gauntlet thrown down by China for winter invasion of Manchuria.

The war department is forwarding winter stores to Korea to provide against the increasing rigors of the climate as the march northward proceeds and will fight on the agressive as long as possible.

Though Japan's losses have been lightly passed over in press dispatches, owing to the fact that they have been sustained in the securing of victories they have not been by any means insignificant. In the great battles of the last fortnight their dead are set down by her own press at 5,000 men, while nine good battle-ships, including the Yoshina Kan, Matchsima Kan have gone down. The Japanese losses have been scattering and not by general defeat which was to have been expected from a contemplation of the Chinese policy of warfare. When the Victoria left Yokohama very conflicting reports were being received from Fort Arthur.

In regard to the Japanese feint and retreat from Wei-Hai-Wei the Tokio press fully confirms the story already published that the presence of the Japanese ships were revealed to the Chinese forts and men-of-war, through the unusual action of the English war vessels firing night salutes. Concerning the attitude of the foreign powers during the war, Great Britain is reported to have squeesed promises out of China not to concede Formosa to any other power. The possession of the island by another power would seriously threaten both Heng Kong and Shanghai, but it is difficult to accept the assertion that an agreement has been concluded in the fulfillment of which England will at once revoke her neutrality in the event of Japan attempting to occupy Formosa, and give active assistance to China.

Tokio papers report that at the instance of the British and Russian ministers in Pekin, Viceroy Li recently agreed to the suspension of hostilities with a view to a possible settlement. The intervenors then applied for Japan's consent, but were met with a firm refusal even to entertain the idea. As to Russia, the Tokio Asahi announces as official information "That 2,000 Russian convicts have escaped from their work on Siberian railroads and have crossed the Korean frontier. Immediate application was made to the authorities in Seoul for their arrest, but so far no satisfactory reply having been made, a body of fifty Russian troops has entered Ham Kiung, the most northern province of Korea, in pursuit of the convicts.

Among the last notes of war may be given as follows:

The Victoria in passing through the straits of Shimiocaski sighted seven troop ships bearing Japanese reinforcements to Korea, those being the first of an additional force of 25,000 troops.

The United States steamer Concord has arirved to join the American force on the scene of hostilities.

The captains of the Japanese warships engaged at Wei-Hai-Wei recently, report the forts more powerful than they anticipated, their volleys being effective at 1,200 metres, but their shots passed over the man-of-war.

The Kow Shing affair has been settled by the Japanese government, apologizing and paying an indemnity of $75,000.

Steerage Rates Again Reduced.

THE CYCLONE'S WORK

Death and Destruction in the Northwest.

Fully One Hundred People Numbered in the Death List—Portions of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin in the Path of the Storm—Conservative Estimates the Loss at $1,000,000.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 24.—Reports of the destruction wrought by Friday night's cyclone indicate that the loss of life will be in the neighborhood of seventy-five, while the injured will nuber several times as many. Some of those hurt are expected to die and it is likely that fully 100 persons will be numbered in the list of the cyclone's fury. The property loss is very heavy and it is almost impossible at this time to obtain anything more than rough estimates of the damage.

As indicated in dispatches the storm originated near Emmettsburg, Ia., and passed east and north to northern Iowa and southern Minnesota, finally passing over into Wisconsin. No reports of serious damage have been received from this section and the fury of the elements seems to have been spent with the destruction of Spring Valley. Here four persons are dead, some severely hurt, while the property loss is estimated at $85,000, the residence portion of the town lying directly in the path of the cyclone. At Leroy, lying southwest, four are dead and several fatally injured. The destruction of property amounts to about $75,000. This is a heavy blow to the village, for its chief business houses lie in ruins.

Five miles north of Osage, Ia., six persons were killed and a large number hurt, the destruction of farm property is quite heavy, but no estimates have been made. East at Lowther, a town of about 100 souls, on the Chicago Great Western, three persons were fatally hurt, and the whole country for miles around laid in ruins. The loss in this vicinity will probably be not far from $100,000.

Fifteen miles north of Mason City, Ia., four persons were killed outright and as many more probably fatally hurt, while all the buildings struck are total wrecks, the loss being in the neighborhood of $50,000. West of Mason City, near Britt, two persons were killed outright, while north of this town some half dozen lost their lives.

Three miles north of Wesley, Kossuth county, J. Bingham's house was overturned and caught fire. The inmates had a narrow escape. The killed in this vicinity are M. Castle and wife, J. W. Dingham, Mrs. Tweed, mother of Thomas Tweed; two children of Thomas Tweed; M. Schweppe and two children; Fred French and two children; infant of Mr. and Mrs. Eden, and Mr. and Mrs. Rockaw.

North of Algona seems to have been the scene of the greatest harvest of death, more persons being killed in Kossuth county than in any other one county through which the tornado passed. Nineteen funerals were held at Algona yesterday.

North of Emmettsburg, which seems to have been the point where the cyclone first assumed dangerous proportions, two lives were crushed out. From here the deadly storm went tearing across the country demolishing everything in its path. For the most part of its course it travelled through a farming district, Leroy and Spring Valley, Minn., being the only two towns of any consequence that were damaged, but even here the deaths were comparatively few. The fact that the storm went tearing through a portion of Spring Valley and the greater portion of the residents were not aware of its work of destruction until the fire bells were rung, shows what a narrow strip of country was swept.

As the storm traveled through the country and avoided villages and towns, the property loss is largely confined to farm buildings, and these being badly scattered render even an approximation of the loss impossible, but conservative estimates place the damage at not less than $1,000,000.

THE TRAINMEN MEET

Eleventh Anniversary Celebrated at Baltimore.

The Meetings Held Yesterday Were of a Religious and Social Nature—Important Topic for To-Day Will Be the Question of Federating the Six Organizations.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 24.—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen which began a two-days' celebration here yesterday of the eleventh anniversary of the organization of that body, were represented by several thousand railway employes from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Order of Railway Telegraphers and the Switchmens' Mutual Aid association.

All the meetings held yesterday were of a religious and social nature, and last evening the Hon. L. S. Coffin, of Iowa, addressed the meeting at the William street Methodist church, taking for his topic "Sunday Rest." Mr. Coffin is a sort of railway mens' good Samaritan. He was formerly a railway commissioner of Iowa and became much intreested in railway men. He is the god-father of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the principal supporter of the bill which recently became a law requiring railroads to adopt automatic couplers, thus reducing the risk of railroad men going between cars to couple and uncouple.

This morning there was a parade of the railway men and in the afternoon a secret meeting of the six organizations will begin at Hazaszer's hall. Besides taking steps toward the federation of the various orders represented, the questions of compulsory arbitration, Sunday rest and proper hours for work will be considered.

The most important topic for discussion will be the question of federating the six organizations, and it is possible that a new organization of railway men will be formed soon which will rival the organization with which the lamented Mr. Debs caused so much fruitless trouble a few weeks ago.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen was originally organized as the Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen at Oneonta, N. Y., Sept. 23, 1883, with thirteen members, employes of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company.

It was known by its first name until Jan. 1, 1890, when on account of many of its members who had been promoted to the position of conductor, and others who had accepted various positions in the train service, the more fitting name, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, was adopted.

The grand lodge headquarters are now located at Galesburg, Ill. Sept. 1, 1894, it had 556 subordinate lodges in the United States and Canada. It is represented in every state and territory in the union. Its membership of over 28,000 is made up principally of conductors, brakemen, train baggagemen, train flagmen, yardmasters, yard foremen and switchmen. It pays $1,200 for loss of one hand or foot, or portions of each, when such loss renders the insured unfit for train service; pays $1,200 at death. It had in force Sept. 1, 1894, policies of assurance amounting to about $24,000,000, and had paid $2,610,468.64 in death and disability claims.

BIG FIRE AT PORTLAND.

Property to the Value of Over $2,000,000 Consumed.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 24.—Fire here last evening destroyed property to the value of over two million dollars. The fire originated in the Pacific Coast company's elevator about 4 o'clock. The elevator was completely destroyed. Loss $1,500,000. Three men are supposed to have lost their lives. The coal bunkers of the Northern Pacific Terminal company and the Oregon Railway & Navigation company's wharf, 400 feet long, and the steamboat Williamette Chief were also burned.

Will Not Give Up Korea.

London, Sept. 24.—The Times this morning will publish a dispatch from Berlin stating that in an interview a member of the Chinese legation in Berlin declared that China cannot, dare not, and will not give up Korea, though the war should last thirty years. Viscount Aoki, the Japanese minister, with whom the times correspondent also had an interview, is quoted as saying: "The Japanese cannot go backwards. It is useless to talk about a cessation of hostilities."

Another Trolley Victim.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 24.—Edward, the 4-year-old son of Victor Kleinsmist, of No. 21 Campbell street, was killed by a trolley car on the Washington street division of the Consolidated Traction company yesterday afternoon. The little fellow was on his way to a near-by candy store and, in attempting to cross the car tracks, was struck and almost ground to pieces. The motorman and conductor were arrested.

Accidentally Shot the Guide.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 24.—While Richards Elkins, son of Hon. Stephen B. Elkins, was hunting at the Cheat Mountain club near Elkins, W. Va., on Friday last, he shot at a deer, the ball glancing and struck his guide, inflicting a serious but not fatal wound.

Started on Full Time.

Ayer, Mass., Sept. 24.—The mills of the Columbian Manufacturing company at Greenville, N. H., started on full time this morning. They furnish the principal industry of the town, and have been running only four days per week, for the past ten months.

THE GIRL STAYS HERE.

PHIL CARKHUFF'S VAIN SCHEME TO GET FLORENCE AWAY.

Matron Delaney of the New York Home for Women Decides Against the Scheming Saw-Filer—The Girl's Own Story—Proud to Sue for Damages.

Samuel Proud of Linden avenue promises to make it warm for Philip Carkhuff, the Newark-Elizabeth man whose suspicious doings Thursday night were exclusively reported in The Press of Friday. It appears that Carkhuff is following up his attempts to have the girl Florence Richardson taken from Proud's home by telling bad stories about Proud to various people.

Proud denounces Carkhuff in the strongest terms; and his story and the assertions of Miss Richardson stamp the Newark machinist as an unprincipled scoundrel as well as a slandering schemer.

According to their statements the girl met Mrs. Delaney in the Catherine Street Mission shortly after she came to this country from England.

She obtained work in New York, and last Winter at a party in that city she was introduced to Carkhuff. The man asked permission to act as her escort when the affair ended. She went with him, and it is alleged by Proud that instead of taking her home he took her to his rooms and chloroformed her.

The girl was ashamed to return to her friends, and went to Newark to keep house for Carkhuff at 83 Commerce street. He had, it is charged, deserted his wife and children in Elizabeth. The girl says that Carkhuff was cruel and beat her, and gave her but two dresses while she was with him. Her only relative in this country is an uncle who lives in Coney Island. From him she received small remittances. Carkhuff took the money, says the girl, and was angry because there was not more. She says he increased his cruelty and starved her to force her to make a living for him.

Proud was a friend of Carkhuff, meeting him often when he came to Plainfield, every Tuesday, to file saws for the butchers. So he went to visit his friend, and at his house he met Miss Richardson. The girl found in him an honorable man. She told him of her troubles, and asked him to try to find a place in Plainfield where she could work.

Accordingly, about three weeks ago, when Proud's mother and stepfather came from White House to live with him on Linden avenue, he thought of the English girl, and wrote to her to come to Plainfield. She left her life in Newark and entered upon her duties here as housekeeper and as a nurse for Mrs. Van-Horne during her illness.

Mrs. Delaney came to Plainfield Friday night, and assured the girl that she was satisfied with her surroundings here, and that she would not assist Carkhuff in his attempt to prove Miss Richardson feeble-minded and Proud wicked. She left without seeing Carkhuff, who watched at the North Avenue station for her that evening. Proud has the support of his friends in his efforts to show up Carkhuff as a slanderer, and they urge him to stick to his announced determination to sue Carkhuff, who has produced no proof to warrant his attacks on Proud and the girl.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

"Good Citizenship" will be the Christian Endeavor subject in Trinity Church tonight. Special music; all are invited.

A conference of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union will be held October 4, at 7:45, in the Seventh Day Baptist Church. Features: "Coming State Convention", Miss Spangenberg. Two open parliaments, ten minutes each, "Lookout Work", "Bible Study for Endeavorers." Short address, "Christian Endeavor and Good Citizenship", Rev. Dr. Lewis.

The Christian Endeavor society of the Congregational Church held a special meeting last evening. They were addressed by Rev. M. E. Dwight, who took for his text "Daniel purposed in his heart not to defile himself"—Daniel 1: 8. He advised all the young people to start out with some object in life; that that was the way to success. He spoke of the different kinds of purposes—power, wealth, and position, and said that the true purpose of life was to start out with the resolve to be a whole-hearted Christian and nothing but a Christian. After the address the meeting was concluded with a solo "Abide with Me", by Walter S. Timmis.

The Court Will Decide.

Mrs. Jeanette Peterson, who is highly esteemed by her many friends, feels that she has been done in injustice in the publication in these columns of a report of the charge against her alleging that she was meddlesome with goods left by a relative. The case will be tried before Justice Mosher tomorrow morning, and The Press hopes that the woman will vindicate the excellent reputation she has borne.

Thieving Thomas.

Edward Thomas, the young man who stole a bicycle from N. C. Mague & Co., is working near Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn. He will be arrested on a charge of stealing $20 from a Greenpoint butcher by whom he was formerly employed. It is thought that he stole the wheel with the intention of leaving this part of the country, fearing arrest for the crime he committed in Greenpoint.

FORSAKE A GOOD HOME.

But for the Fellowship of Auld Lang Syne They'll Often Come a-Visiting.

The hospitable home of Christian Schepflin is no longer the headquarters of the Dunellen Bowling Club, as a new green in Communipaw, beautifully situated on the water front, was formally adopted by the club Saturday afternoon. The change was made for convenience' sake, because most of the members live in Newark and Jersey City. The new green is the third of the kind in the United States. Boston has a club and green, and the Middlesex Club still holds forth at Mr. Schepflin's. The Boston Club will play on the Dunellen green Saturday, in a match game against the Middlesexes.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Victor Wheelmen have been invited to run to Newburgh with the Eagle Wheelmen of Newark next Sunday.

The Bicycling Division of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association will hold a run to Springfield and Elizabeth Wednesday afternoon. The start will be made from the High School building at 2.

The Crescent officials deny the report of another paper that the meet scheduled for September 29 is to be postponed because the Class B cracks will not be able to race here that day. Secretary Teel has already received several entries from Class B men, among them the full Spalding team of four, Fred J. Titus, who holds more world's records than any other man of his class, and two men from the Rambler team. If it rains the meet may be postponed, but nothing else can effect the racing.

The Crescent Wheelmen extend to all local bicycle riders a cordial invitation to participate in the lantern parade to be held Thursday, Sept. 27. Lanterns will be furnished free of charge at the starting point. The route selected is only 4½ miles long, and over excellent roads. Two handsome prizes will be awarded, for the finest decorated wheels in line; one for man's wheel, and one for woman's. The parade will be reviewed by Mayor Gilbert and other prominent citizens at the Country Club-house. Residents along the line of march are kindly asked to decorate. Rendezvous at Crescent square (junction of Watchung and Crescent avenues) at 7:15 p. m. Clubs will assemble in the following order: Plainfield Lady Cyclists, and all unattached lady riders, on Crescent avenue, facing square; Crescent Wheelmen, on LaGrande avenue; Plainfield Bicycle Club, Plainfield Lyceum Cyclers, and Plainfield High School Cyclers, on Seventh street; Victor Wheelmen and all unattached colored riders, on Watchung avenue, between Ninth street and Crescent square. All other unattached riders on Watchung ave., between Fifth and Seventh streets facing the square. The parade will start promptly at 8 over the following route: Watchung avenue to Fourth street; to Park avenue, to Seventh street; to Plainfield avenue; to Eighth street; to Central avenue; to Front street; to Grove street; to Park place; to Jackson avenue; to Westervelt avenue; to Manning avenue; to Franklin avenue; to Sandford avenue; to Front street; to Richmond street; to Fifth street; to Watchung avenue; to LaGrande avenue; to Franklin place; to Watchung avenue; to Crescent square where the parade will disband. It is earnestly hoped that every wheel in town will be found in line on Thursday evening and make this an event worthy of Plainfielders.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

Arrangements are complete for a fine entertainment by the Odd Ladies tonight.

At the latest meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, J. O. U. A. M., nominations were made for officers, and the election will be held next Thursday evening.

The Franklin Council committee on the seventh anniversary exercises, to be held next month, report progress. It is the intention to make it a notable event in Franklin's useful career.

At the meeting of Queen City Lodge of Odd Fellows tonight committees will be appointed to arrange for the celebration of the third anniversary of the lodge. The date is Friday, Oct. 26, but the celebration will probably be held the following Monday.

Miantonomoh expects a big time Friday, Oct. 12, when the tribe's fifth anniversary will be observed. The affair is held that night instead of on the exact date, Oct. 9, because Red Men's Hall is occupied every Tuesday night by Somerset Council. Tribes 193, 107 and 114 and the big men of the order have been invited. For the entertainment of the visitors $200 has been raised by the committee.

CHURCH CHIMES.

September 30 will be rallying day with the Trinity Reformed Church Sunday-school.

Rev. Jocelyn Johnstone yesterday in a very delightful speech accepted the call as rector of the Church of the Redeemer, that prosperous and rapidly growing parish, to which there have been many recent accessions.

Secretary Manning, T. E. Hazell, Robert Love and J. W. Gavett took part in the Y. M. C. A. Day exercises in Westfield yesterday. In the evening President W. D. Murray addressed a large and interested audience in the Methodist Church on association work.

An entertaining and instructive address will be given in the lecture room of the Trinity Reformed Church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, by Mrs. G. B. Horton of Cranford, under the auspices of the Ladies Christian Work Society of the church. No admission fee will be charged, and all are welcome.

—VanEmburgh & Son had a great day Saturday. The volume of trade was immense, and the public got the benefit of the tremendous special bargains.

—D. W. Hyde, whose card appears in another column, will resume instruction Monday, Oct. 1. He is known too widely and well to need any better endorsement than his name.

WEST END REVIVAL.

EVANGELIST GILLAM ACHIEVING PRACTICAL RESULTS.

A Sunday of Great Rejoicing—Wednesday to Be a Mid-Week Sabbath—To Talk to Unbelievers and Skeptics.

When Rev. Ralph Gillam began his ministry in Plainfield, four days ago, the churches of the town claimed in membership only 4,800 of the 17,000 population. When he has completed his work here, the roll will have passed well beyond the 5,000 mark as a result of his ministry. Already nearly two hundred conversions are reported, and most of these people have by signature expressed their desire to live the Christian life within the fold.

This fact is stated to prove to Plainfield at large that there is a great work in progress in the West End. It is practical proof that from Mr. Gillam's embassy for Him, God is getting results.

But as Mr. Gillam says, Don't count noses.

In a work like this the influence of the Gospel simply told, goes out into the everyday life, and its undercurrent touches many souls that are not reached by the direct labor within the chapel.

A case in point:

Last night a man whose heart had been bitter with the affliction of loss of wife and loss of children, told the evangelist that within the hour he had accepted Christ, and he believed that his loved ones had been taken from him to bring him to the cross, and stated that he would live and work for Jesus.

That man—said Mr. Gillam—will do a great work among his associates. He will spread the good news, win new disciples, and multiply the work. And as in his case, so in others.

A blessed day was Sunday in Hope Chapel. In the morning Mr. Gillam preached on the text "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord"—Psalms xxxvii: 23. The preacher traced clearly the steps necessary to take, the first being accepting Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour. He dwelt on the need and blessing of being much in prayer, and by illustration showed the necessity of being at fellowship with one another. He told how he had labored without results in a certain church, till he found that the reason people would not come into it was because in that church a steward and a trustee had not spoken to one another in four years. He effected a reconciliation, and with this bar removed a multitude of souls flocked in.

The sermon was especially directed at faltering church members, and had the effect of strengthening many and bringing wanderers back.

The young people's afternoon service resulted in nearly 60 card-signing conversions. The text was "Whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord shall be saved"—Acts ii: 21. He showed that "whosoever" meant "you, me, or anybody else," and in response to his pleadings many called and received salvation.

Glorious results were again achieved at the happy time in the evening, when the question was dwelt on, "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?"—Matt. xxvii: 22. Mr. Gillam revealed the awful sin of neglect, and by his eloquence burned the cry of Pilate into the heart of everyone; and many, answering it in person, said "I accept Him!"

Tonight Mr. Gillam again preaches in Hope Chapel. Singing begins at 7:45. Be early, to secure seat.

Tomorrow the hours of service are: 2:30, prayer meeting, women only; 3:30, preaching by Mr. Gillam; 7:45, song service, and preaching by Mr. Gillam. Everybody go!

As already announced, Wednesday will be made a special day. Neighborhood prayer meetings will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 a. m. at the homes of Mr. Wild, Manson place; Mr. Head, 322 Stebbins place; Mr. Sprague, Spooner avenue; and Mrs. Sweeney, Fourth street and Liberty. At 10 a. m. Wednesday Mr. Gillam will preach in Hope Chapel, and again at 3:30 p. m. At the evening service Mr. Gillam will address himself particularly to skeptics, and the best seats will be reserved till 7:45 for young men.

WEST END WAR.

Wedding Reception Turned to Riot.

There was war in the West End last night. The Irish and Germans participated, turning a reception into a riot. The matter will be reviewed at length Saturday morning.

Charles Keller married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Neuman of the Boulevard a year ago. The couple went to Colorado to live. They returned last Wednesday. A reception was given in their honor at the home of the bride's parents last evening.

Among the invited guests were Charles Keller's brother Fred and Wm. Barry. The uninvited delegation included Machinist Stephen Murphy and two bartending friends and Policeman Scheimer and Flanagan.

Murphy doesn't like Keller and the two fight every time they meet. They had been parted for a year last night at 12 when Murphy came along with the bartenders and stopped in front of the Neuman residence and said things.

The people inside came out, a general scuffle began and the whole boulevard section was in an uproar when the two policemen arrived.

Murphy had a black eye and he thought he had been thrown down and jumped on by at least half a dozen different persons. Mrs. Neuman and Mrs. Keller had helped matters along. Keller claimed that Murphy had drawn a revolver before being overpowered.

The police arrested Charles and Fred Keller and William Barry. In the City Court this morning Barry and Fred were held under $50 bond to appear Saturday morning and Charles under $100 to come to court at the same time.

Mr. Neuman is under arrest for keeping a disorderly house. Murphy complains against Mrs. Keller also.

North Plainfield Delegates Unpledged.

The Republican congressional primary of North Plainfield Township was held in the basement of the borough school building Saturday evening. About 25 were present.

A. V. D. Honeyman was chosen chairman, and T. W. Morrison secretary. The following delegates to the district convention were elected: Peter A Emmons, Robert A. Fountain, Andrew J. Lutkins and F. A Long. The four were sent to the convention unpledged by resolution.

Opening of White's Millinery.

COULD HARDLY BREATHE.

Catarrh of the Nose, Throat, and Stomach—Life Made Miserable by Headaches, Pain and Cough.

Lida McCandless, No. 1230 South Thirtyfifth street, Philadelphia, in conversation with a reporter, said: "I had a very bad case of catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, with frequent headaches, pain under the shoulder blades and a horrible cough. I had to keep my mouth constantly open day and night to breathe, and felt as miserable as one possibly could. I was advised to try Munyon's Catarrh Cure. I am happy to say that from the beginning I felt relieved and continued to grow better until now I am entirely well. I am so thankful that this remarkable remedy was ever discovered, and hope others will take advantage of my experience."

Have you Catarrh? Are you willing to investigate a treatment that cures Catarrh by removing the cause? If so ask your druggist for a 25c bottle of Catarrh Tablets. The Catarrh Cure will eradicate the disease from the system, and the Tablets will cleanse and heal the affected parts and restore them to a natural and healthful condition.

Fursch-Madi's Funeral.

PATHETIC IN ITS EVIDENCES OF THE OPERA QUEEN'S POVERTY.

Fursch-Madi, the famous opera singer whom Verdi chose to sing the title rôle in "Aïda," died in the depths of poverty. The news of her death Thursday was a shock to those who had known her in the days of her triumphs, accompanied as it was with a partial disclosure of the straits to which she had been reduced. She died almost alone in the bare room of a cabin which is buried in the woods at Mt. Bethel. Saturday she was buried in the Catholic graveyard, Plainfield, and her body will rest in an unmarked grave unless some of her old associates contribute to a fund for a head-stone.

Her funeral was pathetic. Not one of the legion of former friends was present. Some were out of town and others too busy to attend. Many had forgotten her.

There were only twenty-nine in the church to hear the last mass said for Mme. Fursch-Madi, the dead. Many times that number have often been turned away from the doors of the opera house because they could not secure seats to hear her sing. She made much money, at $400 a night, but it disappeared, no one knows where.

The Press is indebted for these excellent pictures of Fursch-Madi and her home, to the New York Sun, America's best newspaper, which published them in connection with a highly dramatic and correct story of the great artist's death and funeral.

HILLSIDE VANQUISHED.

SHE LOSES HER GAMES IN THE INTER-CLUB TOURNEY.

But She Gave Her Visitors and Other Guests a Royal Good Time at Her First Autumn Tea—Details of the Games, and Who Were There.

Last Saturday afternoon amid the laughter and chatter of the gay throng at the last tea of the season of the Hillside Tennis Club, Smith and Howard of the Bergen Point Tennis Club won the championship of the New Jersey Inter-Club Tennis League.

Only one match was played as the team of the Jersey City Tennis Club failed to appear and forfeited their matches. Shortly after 3 Fred K. Fish, Jr., and Carl Walz, the representatives of the Hillside Tennis Club, faced Smith and Howard of the Bergen Point Tennis Club. By pretty team work, together with continual lobbing Fish and Walz secured the first set 6-3; the Bergen Point players easily captured the next 6-2 and in the final set won by the score of 7-5 after some of the prettiest tennis ever seen in Plainfield. Both sides played very good tennis and the Hillside boys surprised all by the fine showing they made against the champions.

A large number of Plainfield's elite attended the tea in the quaint old clubhouse, which was tastefully decorated with wild flowers, foliage plants and palms, reflecting much credit on those in charge. Mrs. T. S. Martin of Hillside avenue received the guests, assisted by Mrs. James DeGraff, Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy, Miss Marion Bowen, Miss Annie Miller and Miss Elsie Martin. Mrs. J. Evarts Tracy presided at the tea table. Among those present were:

J L Anthony, Wesley Abbott, Mr and Mrs Attlebury, Miss Allen, Miss Bogart, Miss Ethel Bowen, Mrs Bowen, Miss Ethel Bowers, Mrs Bogart, George Bull, Charles Bull, Josiah Brown, Miss Gertrude Baker, Mr and Mrs Baker, Warren Church, Archibald Cox, Mr Chase, Miss Cook, James DeGraff, Miss May Evans, Miss Ellis, Lambert Fish, Miss Ethel Finch, Edward Finch, Francis Frost, Rev and Mrs C L Goodrich, Mrs Daniel Ginna, Miss Eda Howell, Fenton Haynes, Harold Hart of New York, the Misses Holly, Mr Hagarty of New York, the Misses Hunter, Mrs DeW C Ivins, Mrs Nellie Kerr, Mrs O B Leonard, Carroll Lord, Henry Lovell, Mr Lowe, Mr and Mrs F S Martin, Mr and Mrs J B Morse, Miss Morse, C B Morse, Miss Lena Morgan, Miss Maria Morgan, Clement Morgan, Charles Murray, J P Murray, Mr and Mrs I L Miller, Miss Mary Miller, Mr Middleditch, James Middleditch, Miss Katherine McClure, Neil McCoull of Chicago, Clifford McGee, Harry McGee, Wm McClure, Miss Newton, Miss Opdyke, Harry Opdyke, Jr, Miss Lucille Pretty, Brereton Platt, Rev Dr W R Richards, Henry Ryder, Mrs Schuyler, Miss Sarah Schuyler, Van Rensselaer Schuyler, Mrs Stimson, Mrs. Sprague, Miss Sprague, Augustus Sheppard, Richard Simpson, D O Tiffany, Mr and Mrs Evarts Tracy, Miss Talmadge, Miss Tracy, Allen Taylor, Edward VanBuren, Miss Maud VanBoskerck, E L Walz, E L Walz, Jr, the Misses White, Henry D West, Sherwood West, Miss Nella Whiton, Miss Mary Whiton, Mr and Mrs Waring, Miss Waring, Louis Waring, David Wotherspoon.

A WAGE-EARNER'S PLEA.

Plainfield's Socialist Candidate States the Workingmen's Platform.

To the Citizens of the Eighth Congressional District of New Jersey:

The Socialist Labor Party has nominated me for Congress—also a full county ticket. As the majority of the people we meet have vague or erroneous conceptions of the aims of the party, the following may help them to know the truth.

The party is composed mainly of persons who are called wage-earners and who believe they are entitled to representation in the legislatures by men of their own kind. A platform, defining the aims, has been adopted. It concerns itself with public affairs only, and is opposed to violence, in any form, as a means of accomplishing its desires. The distinguishing feature is the demand for the public ownership of all means of production, transportation, exchange and communication. This is not an entirely new idea, as our present Government maintains a navy and navy yards, an army and arsenals, a post-office system, a light-house system, etc, besides several bureaus for various purposes. Our States and municipalities maintain highways, schools, water-works, sewers, etc.

Many persons are now employed directly by the various branches of the Government and vacancies are promptly filled, showing that the Government is considered a desirable employer. These employes compare favorably with those of other employers. Socialists seek to extend the industrial features of the Government until every worker shall be a public employe, receiving compensation and purchasing supplies directly from the Administration. It is proposed that all persons able to do so, shall perform a fair share of the total labor needed and be compensated accordingly.

The effects of such a method are expected to be a reduction of the hours of labor to less than three per day; a cessation of importation in competition with home productions; the condition of many to be greatly improved, without making that of any worse; the disappearance of the unemployed, the very rich and very poor. Absolute equality of ability does not and is not expected to exist, but all should have equal opportunity. Socialism seeks to abolish competition and profit by rendering them unnecessary, undesirable and impossible.

JAMES BELL.

Evasive Electricity.

When Grace M. E. Church was opened for the service last night it was discovered that the electric light connection had been broken. The neighborhood was scoured for lamps, and a sufficient number was secured by the time the trouble was remedied and the incandescents were lighted.

A RAP AT TOWN GOSSIPS.

Inconsistency Photographs Depicted by Pastor Richardson.

In the Park Avenue Baptist Church last night Rev. J. W. Richardson had for his text Matt. XXIII: 24—"Ye blind guides which strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel". After an exposition of the text, the speaker said: "Alas, such people live in our age. Those who are always fault-finding and criticising. There is a jealous, peevish class, whose misfortune we ought to pity: but whose example we ought to avoid. They are easily provoked: but they demand that their neighbors practice long suffering. They are quick to anger: but they call their neighbor unchristian if he loses his temper. This class of people like to be caressed and flattered, then everything is well. But if one differs from them, then an insult has been offered, and all is wrong. I pity these sensitive souls, that are ever alert to detect slights; who imagine that everybody is trying to trample on the toes of their dignity. Don't cultivate that disposition; believe everybody your friend till you have proof to the contrary.

Those Pharisees were particular about small things, so fearfully reckless about great things. They would steal a poor widow's all, then offer loud prayers in the synagogue. They would swear, but accused Christ for healing a diseased man on the Sabbath. A similar spirit of inconsistency affects some people today. Like those Pharisees, they overlook their own faults, while watching for something to criticise in another. We say, "Mr. A spoke eloquently in meeting last night"; and they reply, "Yes but he talked through his nose". We remark, "Mr. Q is a gentleman and minds his own affairs"; and they respond, "True, but it is hinted that there is a skeleton in his family history". They keep a sharp watch on Mrs. Z; they fear Mr. Y is acting from an impure motive; as for the X's, they have always had their suspicions of them. All this is unfair. Unjust criticism is a sinful thing. Let us guard our tongues, lest we condemn the innocent without a trial; lest we extract poison from flowers that might have yielded us fragrance and honey. Let us persistently form the habit of looking for the good, the stars and crowns of human nature, rather than its wounds.

Here too, is the picture of people who try to make a good impression, by the liberal use of religious forms. Not long ago a mother cautioned her son, thus, "Robert, the bishop is to dine with us today, and you must be very quiet at the table; show him what a good boy you are". Very much on his dignity Robert ate his dinner in silence, until his plate needed replenishing. "Pa", said he devoutly, "Will you give me some more string beans, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven".

There are older Roberts who try to make a good impression through the use of religious forms. They kneel down on cushions, all the while wondering where Mrs. Jones bought her new bonnet. They sit erect during sermon time. It looks attentive, but their hearts are out in the week planning pleasure or business. They ostentatiously drop a five-cent piece in the mission basket, but paid yesterday five dollars for seats at the opera. So many that make an ado over religious forms, but the spirit of true religion they utterly neglect. We must be careful about this matter. Religious formalism may wofully deceive the soul. We may think because we use religious forms, that we have license on earth, and when we come to die, that those forms will answer to open the gate of heaven. Our affections, our very beings, must go into our religious observances, else the sarcasm of the text applies to us. If we pray in the synagogue, our lives must be prayerful at home. If we are devout on Sunday, we must be devout on Wednesday. We can't be Christians on Sunday, and hilarious worldlings on Monday.

DRIVEN BY DYNAMITE.

Well-Driving Extraordinary on North Plainfield Real Estate.

Dynamite was used Saturday in driving a well by the house of Henry Bodenheimer near Stony Brook. John Philimore, an employe of Well-driver Wm. Miner, of East Front street, was the operator.

Two separate charges of a pound each were exploded 15 feet below the surface in a tube driven but two feet from the house. The obstacle, a mass of rock 2½ feet thick, was shattered so that work with the tube could be resumed. Water and pieces of stones were thrown into the air each time, but the house was not damaged in the least by the blasting.

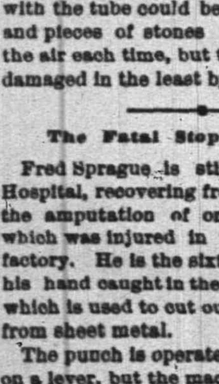
The Fatal Stopper-Puncher.

Fred Sprague is still in Muhlenberg Hospital, recovering from the effects of the amputation of one of his thumbs which was injured in the bottle-stopper factory. He is the sixth employe to have his hand caught in the punching machine which is used to cut out tops for bottles from sheet metal.

The punch is operated by foot pressure on a lever, but the machine has the bad habit of occasionally sending down the punch when the lever is not depressed. A guard has been placed about the dangerous part of the apparatus now and it is thought no more accidents will happen.

CURES OTHERS

A TERRIBLE CASE OF DROPSY CURED.



JOHN MALLON, ESQ.

JNO. MALLON, Esq., No. 21 McLean St., Mt. Adams, Cincinnati, O., writes: "I took sick with dropsy, lost my appetite, could not sleep, became feverish; always thirsty, lost all strength, stomach became painful, breath short and had to give up work. The best physicians in Cincinnati, failed to help me. My limbs and body were swollen to enormous size, and I was suffering terrible agony. The doctors all said I could not get well again, that I was liable to drop dead at any moment. My wife sent for the priest, to prepare me for death. While waiting for death, I remembered reading of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and thought I would try it as a last hope. When I had taken three bottles, I was almost well. The swelling entirely disappeared and I was soon able to resume work. My health is better now than it has been in twenty-five years."

WHY NOT YOU?

FOR THE MONUMENT.

MAJOR MILLER'S PATRIOTIC PLAINFIELD UNDERTAKING.

He Offers Everyone a Chance for Personal Pleasure and Profit, and Contributes His Time and Services for an Enterprise That Must Lag No Longer.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—From a letter recently received from a general who served during the late War of the Rebellion, I make the following extract: "I should like very much to be of your party, (referring to the contemplated excursion from Plainfield to Gettysburg), and take some of the young men of the family along. I have not nor have they yet seen the greatest battlefield of modern times. For that matter it might be considered the greatest and most momentous of all battles."

His estimate of this great battle is a just one. Many years may elapse before this conclusion will be adopted by historians, of whom, however, not a few are leaning towards that opinion at the present time. If intelligent Americans who make a stay of any length in Europe feel it a privilege to visit the renowned battlefield of Waterloo, how much greater is the priviledge to us of visiting Gettysburg, where Americans on both sides demonstrated the possession of valor, courage, and a willingness to die for home and fireside, which has always been a marked characteristic of their ancestors, friends and neighbors.

Don't you want to stand on that spot, where, in obedience to Gen. Hancock's order, (an order probably never before given in action), "Charge by the flank", the illustrious First Minnesota Infantry charged with 250 men and left on the field killed and wounded over 80 per cent. of those engaged. The 20 per cent. were masters of the field, having recaptured our batteries, and put to rout all of the enemy, except those who lay dead and wounded on the field—and "nobody blundered".

I wish to have you go over this battlefield. I wish to stimulate your patriotic zeal so that it will be your ardent desire, as it is mine, to have a monument or an arch erected and dedicated to the memories of those soldiers of Plainfield and its vicinage, who by their magnificent conduct on this and other battlefields of the war helped to redeem our land from the foul blot of slavery and present it to future generations as the finest land upon God's footstool. We do not wish our fair city to be behind smaller towns and cities in our country in emphasizing its love and gratitude to those who dared to die that we might enjoy all the blessed privileges and opportunities which are ours.

From The Tribune of this date I extract: "Williamsport, Pa., September 20. The handsome monument erected by the citizens of Lycoming County to the memory of the sailors and soldiers killed in the Civil War, was unveiled today."

I propose to conduct personally an excursion to Gettysburg leaving Plainfield October 1, and returning October 13. Any profit derived from this trip will be for the Soldiers Monument Fund.

W. D. W. MILLER.

Best Stories of Other Lands.

During the last two months the Free Public Library has added to its circulating department over 100 popular books of travel. Among them are travels in nearly all countries, well written, and with many illustrations. These additions make the library's department of travel fairly complete. The people have access to this department, as they have to all, and are free to make their selections from the books themselves if they prefer. In The Daily Press of August 31 will be found a list of the books added during August, and at the end of this month will be printed the list of September additions, making the list complete.

Settled at Last.

France, England, Germany, and Russia, have not in the history of centuries had to recover from the agitation of a Tariff bill, but we have passed through this tremendous experience twice in the last four years. Every industry stood still waiting the fate of the bill, but now the Tariff is settled, and so are the prices at Love's wall-paper store, corner of North and Watchung avenues, so settled that they have touched rock bottom. All desiring to buy paper this Fall will do well to look over his immense stock.

Successor to "Fritz".

That delightful comedy-drama, "Caspar the Yodler", in which Charles T. Ellis, the sweet-singing comedian, has become the favorite of women and children, will receive its last Plainfield presentation in Music Hall tonight. Mr. Ellis has played this charming production eight years, and intends that this shall be its last season. It will be revived in handsome form, and has the best cast that has ever been given the play. "Caspar" has a lot of new songs, and the occasion will be a notable one.

Civilization's Advance.

Engineer F. A. Dunham has gone carefully over the sewerage question in Westfield, and has submitted to the Town Committee a report on which they will act soon, probably in favor of building a system. Cranford and Roselle also are to have sewers.

Mighty Big Hailstones.

The elevation of the crosswalk above the macadam at the head of Park avenue may cause injury to someone some day. It happens frequently that pedestrians just escape being hit by a heavy cake of ice, thrown out when the rear wheels of an overloaded wagon strikes the stone.

Lyatt Sowed. Others Reap.

The Italians encamped in the vicinity of Berkley Heights are reported to have stored away a large harvest from the fields of Mr. Lyatt. They are accused of also stealing Wm. Laing's crop of lima beans.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Edson Day has accepted a position at the paper-mill.

Carpenter Terence Smith laid off John Reick and his assistant Saturday night.

The first regular meeting of the Choral Union will be held Thursday night.

Manning Badger, an old hand at the paper-mill, is kept from work by illness.

A nine from Wall street will play on the local diamond next Saturday afternoon.

Richard Hart and Duncan Stewart of Brooklyn are visiting John Stiliger of Front street.

John Cook has received another large order for stone and the men at the crusher are accordingly kept busy.

John Trainor has recovered after a week of illness being able today to return to work for J. A. Smith & Co.

William B. Banks of Netherwood spent yesterday with his brother-in-law, Norman Dunn, of Mountain avenue.

The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist Church will hold their postponed fruit festival in the chapel Wednesday evening.

The dampness of the air at night has put an end to the holding of outdoor meetings Sunday evenings by the Baptist Church.

Clerk E. L. Hand is sending out notices to all who have not trimmed their trees in accordance with the ordinance of the township committee.

Commuter McGuire has traded the horse which he bought from Silas Wilcox with Butcher Kessler of Westfield, and now has another gray which he thinks is more desirable.

The colored barber may soon have a rival. Charles Needling of Somerset street, Plainfield, is pricing empty stores about the Plains with the intention of hiring one of them for a shop. His coming will be welcomed by many of the residents and the price of Sunday morning shaves will drop to ten cents under competition.

The Italians who live in the double house on Bartle avenue had a long and noisy wedding celebration Saturday night. Michael Beelard and Marie Vance, who were wedded in Plainfield by Justice Mosher September 4, were wedded again by the priest from the Stony Hill Chapel. Four kegs of beer were consumed during the proceedings, but no trouble resulted.

The Scotch Plains nine went to Rahway Saturday afternoon and defeated a team of Rahwegians. The batteries were Johnson and Hill for Scotch Plains and Knearny and Burns for Rahway until the third inning when Knearny's place was taken by Coles. Up to the fifth inning the score stood 10 to 1 in favor of the Plains. Then Hill was hit in the head by the ball and badly shaken up. The game was stopped by darkness in the eighth inning when the score was 17 to 13 in favor of the Plains. The game was given to the visitors by the score of the seventh inning, 13 to 11. Then the Rahway players who were to pay $3 50 of their visitors' expenses, went away, promising to return at once. They did not come back with the money guaranteed, so the Plains boys returned to await a remittance by mail.

The question of giving a franchise to the Central Jersey Traction Company is again being agitated. The meeting of the Fanwood Township Committee Friday night was called for the purpose of receiving a petition from the company, but during the day Clerk E L Hand was informed by telegraph that the company had determined to wait until the meeting to be held Monday, October 1. The people will then be given a chance to talk upon the question. Fanwood residents generally oppose the scheme, while Scotch Plains people take the opposite side. At the meeting Friday night a protesting petition from Fanwood was filed for inspection next month. John Cook said he could guarantee 200 signatures in favor of having the road go through Scotch Plains. Where the company intends to run is not definitely known. Mountain, Midway and North avenues, and an extension of Second street are all being considered. It is thought the company will try to obtain permission for several routes and then select the one that suits the purpose best. The cost of opening Second street and of grading Midway avenue would be considerable.

Dunellen.

Mr. Hopkins of Newark is the guest of Dunellen friends.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost petrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 589 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

Record Smashing at Johnstown.

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 24.—At the races at this place Saturday there were two record smashing events. Crawford, a brown stallion, owned by R. A. Stratton, Conneaut Lake, in the free for all trot and pace made the mile on a half mile track in the fifth and sixth heats in 2:12 1-2 and 2:12 1-4, being the world's best records in the fifth and sixth heats on a half mile track. What adds more interest to the performance is the fact that the track was at least four or five seconds slow on account of the recent rains. The two heats were made without a break. Crawford has a record of 2:06 1-4 on a mile track.

Death of an Old Baltimorean.

Baltimore, Sept. 24.—Charles J. Baker, of the glass manufacturing firm of Baker Brothers & Co., died yesterday of apoplexy at his country residence, "Athol," Baltimore county. Mr. Baker was 73 years old, and had long been identified with Baltimore's financial institutions, and was widely known in Methodist circles. He acted as mayor of Baltimore during a part of 1861 and '62, and at various times held other public positions of trust and honor.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WE TAKE PLEASURE
In inviting you to attend the opening of our FALL and WINTER MILLINERY from Friday, Sept. 21 to Saturday, Sept. 29. We will then show you the prettiest line of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats ever shown in the city. We have spared no time and expense to make this the grandest display of Millinery. Our prices can not be duplicated in New York or elsewhere. On account of alterations the Millinery Department has been placed on the second floor, where we have plenty of room to show our extensive stock.

Cloaks
We are proud to say that we have the most select line in the city, consisting of all the latest Fall and Winter styles. We have saved the profits of the manufacturers by manufacturing them ourselves. Therefore we can sell them cheaper than those that buy them from the maker. We will be pleased to show them at any time. If you attend our Millinery Opening, don't fail to look at them; it will cost you nothing, and we consider it no trouble to show them.

BARGAINS. Just received 20 pieces of Covert Flannel, suitable for Fall dresses, 1½ yard wide, 75c., worth $1.
BARGAINS in ladies', gent's and children's winter underwear. In these goods we can not be undersold.
BARGAINS in Outing Flannels in colors suitable for school children's dresses, at 8 and 9c, worth 10 and 12½c.
BARGAINS in gent'emen's woolen overshirts. A new and complete line from 50c up.
BARGAINS in ladies' fast black hosiery. A fast black hose for 10c sold elsewhere for 15c.
Don't forget to look at our carpet display on 2d floor while you are at our millinery opening, Sept. 22 to 28.

$500 in Gold Given Away!

Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,
73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.

CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.

BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.

PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.

PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded, and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

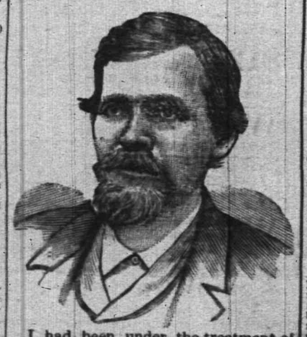
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

OH! FOR STRONG NERVES

WHAT DOES THAT DREADFUL FEELING MEAN!

Can It Be That Insanity is Staring Me in the Face!

That Tired and Exhausted Feeling Heaps More Than You Think.

The nervous system is fearfully delicate. It is easily deranged, and when it is, beware. The symptoms are debility, tired feeling, inability for much work, trembling, anxiety, depression of mind, nervousness and often sleeplessness and dull feeling head in the morning.

These lead to nervous prostration, paralysis or insanity. You run a terrible risk in neglecting any of these symptoms. You can be cured now. If you neglect yourself you will soon become a hopeless wreck, as Mrs. W. A. Tinkham, of Stowe, Vt., did. She writes the following about herself:

"About six months ago I found myself in an extreme nervous condition. This had been gradually growing upon me for several years and I cannot tell what I suffered, it was beyond description. I got no rest or sleep nights and my work was done in constant agony.

"I imagined there was some impending evil constantly hanging over me and could not rid myself of the idea that insanity was in store me. I knew better than to do lots of things that I did do but could not help it.

"I was indeed a wreck and was on the point of giving up in despair. I employed physicians who did me no good and my condition continually grew worse.

MRS. W. A. TINKHAM.

"Finally a friend advised me to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I commenced taking it and before using the first bottle up there was decided improvement. I have now used most three bottles and am entirely cured of all my troubles.

"I sleep well and my work is easily and comfortably done. In fact, I do all my work for a large family, which I was unable to do before and have not done for 5 years before taking Dr. Green's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

"I attribute my cure entirely to this wonderful medicine and most cordially recommend it to all mankind. Please publish this letter for the good of others."

There are countless numbers of persons in different stages of nervous complaints. They are not sick, but are just out of order, have weak nerves and tired bodies. You are one or them and you need Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy It cures all such diseases quickly and permanently. Try it, and feel your nerves grow strong and your health return.

It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street New York City, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS

Opening of the Convention at Saratoga To-Day.

No Work To Be Attempted Until To-morrow, as the Unitarians Retain Possession of Convention Hall—Gaynor's Letter Declining To Accept the Nomination Does Not Deter His Friends' Efforts in His Behalf, and the Brooklyn Man Seems To Be the Favorite at This Hour—Talk of William C. Whitney—Hill on the Ground.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The democracy is here this morning and Saratoga is packed to the roof. The town of conventions, the town of multitudes, the town of vast receptiveness is overcrowded. Broadway is black with people. The hotel corridors are filled with surging crowds. Mobs besiege the dining rooms. Rooms are only to be had at cottages and small boarding houses. Political henchmen from all parts of the state are here, and in the words of one of them, "democratic prospects grow hourly." The Grand Union is the heart of the turmoil. There the state committee has its quarters. There Tammany hall, the state democracy, the Kings county democracy, the democrats of Erie and a score of other counties have their headquarters, and there David B. Hill is stopping. Every room in the vast caravanarie is occupied, and its corridors present a scene of animation equalled but a few times in its history. At the United States are several hundred democrats and nearly a thousand Unitarians, who are here for their biennial conference. More than half of the Unitarians are women and the mixture of democratic politicians and ladies of religious tendencies is amusing to contemplate.

All the special trains have brought in crowds of delegates and democratic shouters. The regular trains have arrived in sections. Bands of music followed by silk-hatted delegates with badges upon their breasts have marched from depot to hotels. Buffalonians came early in the day; Tammany came late, but has made ample amends for tardiness. There was little noise before Tammany arrived. Politicians talked in muffled tones in small groups. Kickers mix with regulars, boomers march with brass bands, and the quiet Unitarians from New England are shocked at the hilarity.

On the morning of the convention, after talking with the party leaders and exhausting every avenue of information, nothing can be predicted with certainty as to its action, further than that it will be democratic in every respect even to the selection of the ticket. Several men will be named and voted for according to the belief of the delegates as to their ability to win in November. Every variety of democrat is in favor of the man who can be backed to win. If there is a slate it is carefully concealed. This morning it is anybody's race.

David B. Hill arrived a little after 6 o'clock last evening. He walked into the Grand Union so quietly that not a dozen men saw him pass through the crowd in the lobby and go to his rooms. Later in the evening he went to the rooms of the Tammany leaders and talked with Mayor Gilroy, Corporation Counsel Clark, Police Commissioner Martin, District Attorney Fellows, W. Bourke Cockran and Delancey Nicoll. After the conference Mr. Nicoll said that Senator Hill discussed the different candidates who had been named and though he expressed a friendly feeling for John Boyd Thacher, he indicated no preference. Senator Hill talked with scores of statesmen, big and little, during the evening, and not one of them seemed to gather any definite idea of who is the choice of the senior senator. The case with Senator Edward Murphy, Jr., was the same and the Tammany men apparently have no favorite.

Judge William J. Gaynor undoubtedly had the strongest support and was regarded as the candidate most likely to win by the influential men of the party this morning. The story regarding the divorce had apparently not injured his chances of obtaining the nomination. Concerning this story Mr. Mirabu L. Towns, of Brooklyn, a delegate to the constitutional convention said: "Judge Gaynor wants me to say to the gentlemen of the press that all rumored statements in circulation reflecting upon the character of the lady to whom he was first married, he condemns and pronounces unfounded and false. Not for all the offices in the gift of the people will he permit a good name to be assailed and remain silent. Whatsoever of blame that may be attached to that divorce he claims for himself and begs his friends, his adversaries and traducers to spare the woman."

Various rumors and stories have been circulated concerning Judge Gaynor, and strong efforts have been made to stem the tide which is fast setting his way. Of the probability of his declining the nomination James W. Hinckley, who is to be chairman of the new state committee and who had a talk with Judge Gaynor two days ago, said: "Judge Gaynor will certainly accept. He will resign from the bench, and will enter the campaign to win.

The conflict over Convention hall, which resulted in the Unitarians holding the hall under prior arrangement, and giving way only for the preliminary organization of the democrats this afternoon and necessitating the postponement of the permanent organization until to-morrow morning, aroused the talk of William C. Whitney for the head of the ticket. As Mr. Whitney is on the Majestic which is due to-morrow morning, it was argued that he could not be consulted and if willing to accept the nomination it could undoubtedly be swung his way. As to Mr. Whitney's present position the most sensible view is that expressed by Mr. John D. Crimmins, a close personal friend of the ex-secretary. Mr. Crimmins disclaimed the right to speak authoritatively as to Mr. Whitney's position and said: "When Mr. Whitney went abroad Governor Flower was understood to be the candidate, and Mr. Whitney would certainly not go into a fight for the nomination. Since then Governor Flower has withdrawn and the conditions are entirely changed. What Mr. Whitney's attitude is now no man can tell until after Mr Whitney arrives and sees things as they are."

The Albany men came in with the John Boyd Thacher boom. They have quarters at the Grand Union. George H. Thacher, a brother of the candidate was in charge. With him are Congressman Charles T. Tracey, ex-Senator Morton Chase and Judge D. Cary Herrick. The supporters of Thacher wear white ribbons with "John Boyd Thacher for Governor" in large type upon them, and are the only boomers here who are whooping up their candidate.

Daniel N. Lockwood is quietly awaiting developments without posing as an ambitious aspirant for gubernatorial honors. Frederick Cook is now mentioned of for second place than for the head of the ticket.

Senator Hill is still talked of in spite of his many positive announcements that he will not accept the nomination.

At a late moment a telegram was received announcing the withdrawal of Judge Gaynor from the race. When it was shown to Senator Hill he expressed no surprise. He had a talk with Shepard, a short time afterward and with other Kings county men. The withdrawal of Judge Gaynor was received with smiles by the Tammany men. They had industriously but quietly worked to put him out of the way and had succeeded. With Gaynor out of the way hope revived in the breasts of the other aspirants and the talk of Whitney increased, but only the action of the convention or some new move upon the political checker-board will determine who is to be the opponent of Levi P Morton.

For lieutenant governor, ex-Senator John J. Linson, of Kingston, is most prominent and there is talk of a Buffalo man, Spencer Clinton, or Judge Titus, for judge of the court of appeals.

The platform will congratulate the country on the returning prosperity following the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman law. It will commend those features of the new tariff law which agree with the democratic principles of free raw materials and in a measure voice the sentiments expressed by President Cleveland to Congressman Wilson while the tariff bill was in conference. It will deprecate and further general revision of the tariff, but will advocate the passage of separate bills for the perfection of certain schedules. It will endorse President Cleveland's administration as conducive to the best interests of the country. The income tax provision of the new tariff bill will be condemned. On state issues it will arraign the republican party for what it terms the intense partisan legislation passed by the republican legislature last year. It will condemn the work of the constitutional convention as being in the special interest of the republican party, especially the new apportionment scheme. The platform will contain a plank strongly endorsing the administration of Governor Flower and express much regret at his determination to decline a renomination. In general the platform will denounce the republican party for various acts of commission and omission. It will also contain a plank deprecating the existence of organizations having for their object the defeat for political preferment of candidates on account of race or religion.

The contesting delegations from New York and Kings county make a formidable showing here, and there will be a bitter fight for recognition.

The state democracy of New York city arrived at 3 p. m., on a special train of six cars. There were 250 men in the crowd and with those who got in earlier in the day swelled the entire representation of the opposition to Tammany to 300. They are sanguine of receiving some recognition in the convention although they do not expect the earth. Their claims will be presented to the committee on credentials by Chas. S. Fairchild this afternoon. The Shepard democrats from Brooklyn are at the Windsor 150 strong. Their claims will be presented by Chas. J. Patterson.

They claim to be the regular democracy of Kings county and will ask for the entire 54 seats. When asked if they would be satisfied with one-third as suggested by Governor Flower in his conciliatory interview Mr. E. M. Shepard said: "We should certainly refuse any such allotment. We represent a strength of 50,000 voters and have shown our strength at the polls. It rests with the democratic convention to say whether they wish to ignore us or not. Certainly we shall support the nominee of the convention for we are democrats."

Mr. Towns has received the following telegram from Judge Gaynor:

"I was elected justice of the supreme court last fall in a district composing nine counties, one fourth of the population of the state. The office came to me not from those in power but from the people and unsought. I was not able to see then that I was entitled to anything merely for having done what I could as a private citizen for honesty, decency and manliness in politics and in government, nor am I able now. Anyhow I cannot at this time lay down the office I hold. I could disregard the effect upon those dependent upon me in the loss of the legal practice I gave up to go on the bench and again in the loss of my present handsome salary, but I cannot again so soon appeal to the splendid individual integrity and intelligence which stood behind the ballots cast for me last fall. I have said all along, privately and publicly, orally and in writing that I should not become a candidate for governor and the above is my chiefest reason, as I am without a representative at Saratoga and very busy here, I ask you to make this public. I am deeply moved by the favor shown me and I never expected it."

Judge Gaynor's name will be presented and, notwithstanding the above letter, his friends still claim that he will be nominated.

TWO BAD HUSBANDS

Before the Courts in Jersey City in Divorce Cases.

The "Swearing Dominie" of Wyckoff, N. Y., Accused by His Wife of Numerous Acts of Extreme Cruelty—Mrs. McDonald Also Charges Her Spouse with Ill Treatment.

Jersey City, Sept. 25.—Two actions for divorce which have been commenced in the court of chancery are of interest because of the parties to them. The first is that of Mrs. Jennie Packer, who wishes to be legally separated from her husband, on the ground that he has been unkind to her, and at times has treated her with cruelty. Mrs. Packer is the daughter of James Van Blarcom, of Wyckoff, N. J., known as the "swearing dominie." In October, 1889, she married Martin W. Packer, the son of a well-to-do farmer at Wyckoff, and all the villagers said what a lucky girl Jennie was. About a year after the marriage a baby was born to the couple. It is from that time that Mrs. Packer dates the commencement of her troubles. Packer didn't believe that his wife should live the idle life of a lady, although her husband was considered a rich man, so he sent her into the field to work with the laborers. In her bill, Mrs. Packer says she had to take her baby out in the field with her and make a bed for it on the ground that she might watch it while she worked. She says that her husband wasn't satisfied with making her dig potatoes and hoe corn, but forced her to drive wagon loads of cabbages to New York to market. She had to get up soon after midnight and sometimes had to be up all night. Packer went along on the wagon but, she alleges, he was often so drunk that she had to do the driving. On one occasion, when they were driving back to Wyckoff from New York, her hat was blown off. She wished to stop and get it, but when she alighted, she says, he drove off without her, and she was compelled to walk seven miles before she reached home. One day while she was out he took a trunk to the house and stripped the dwelling of furniture. Since that time he has not contributed to her support or lived with her.

Counselor Archibold has also commenced proceedings for a divorce in behalf of Mrs. Terrence McDonald. The petitioner's maiden name was Katie Krey, and in April, 1891, she married Terence J. McDonald. When her baby was a few months old, she alleges, he commenced to abuse her. He refused to give her money for medicines that she needed, and once threatened to kill her. About a year ago, she avers, he went out to take a walk and was gone three months. On his return he again ill-treated her and left her to go to Chicago. She says he was jealous because she recognized former acquaintances, and says he is now engaged in gambling schemes in Chicago. She asks for divorce on the grounds of cruelty and desertion.

Rewarded by Pope Leo.

Washington, Sept. 25.—In behalf of Pope Leo, Archbishop Satolli, the apostolic delegate, conferred an appointment as a prelate of the Holy See, with the title of monsignor, on Rev. Father James McMahon, of the Catholic university. The honor was given in recognition of Father McMahon's gift to the university of the McMahon hall of philosophy which will cost between $250,000 and $400,000. Father McMahon is 80 years old and has been a priest nearly half a century. He is very wealthy. Before coming to the university he was pastor of a church in New York city.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

Advices of the Situation in the Disturbed Country.

Li Hung Chang Accepts Terms of Mediation, but the Japs Refuse—Report of a Treaty Between the United States and Japan—Many Persons Drowned and Homes Destroyed by Floods.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—The steamer City of Rio de Janeiro brings the following intelligence from the Orient:

The Asahi, a Japanese paper, says: "We have already stated that a treaty with the United States was in progress and almost completed. We hear now that it has been completed and that the United States government has appointed by cable Mr. Dun, its minister in this country, minister plenipotentiary for the ratification and exchange of ratifications."

"We believe," remarks the Chinese Gazette, "that we are not premature in stating that the formalities have been arranged and everything is cut and dried for the completion of a new set of trading regulations between Great Britain and China which we are assured will be found very advantageous to the former from a commercial point of view at least."

The Shanghai Mercury says it is rumored in Pekin that the emperor has expressed his desire to personally take charge of the operations in Korea and to leave the throne under the regency of the empress dowager. When his majesty made known his desire his hearers are said to have knocked their foreheads and prayed his majesty not to let his anger drive him so far as to engage with so paltry an enemy, but to let his officers drive off the barbarians. The defenses of Moukden, the home of the Thing dynasty, are being strengthened, the garrison having been reinforced by 8,000 trained troops. It was rumored sometime ago, says a Japanese journal, that Chang Tse Tung and others were going to impeach Li Hung Chang, but nothing has resulted. It is even said that the appointment was made to deceive the Pekin government. That government, continued the same paper, considered it most inauspicious that Li Hung Chang should declare war when the empress dowager was about to celebrate her 61st birthday. The emperor was especially angry and threatened to humble the power of Yen Tsi Yamen. Though the emperor could have easily effected this his counselors warned him that in that case the viceroy might do the country infinite harm by allying himself with foreign ministers and advised him to appoint an impeachment commission to keep him in subjection. The emperor, who is afraid of foreign ministers, reconsidered his resolution. Li Hung Chang, who got scent of this change on the emperor's part, communicated with Chang Tse Tung, who was reported to be hostile to himself, so that Li Hung Chang begged permission to form a commission. The reason of Chang Tse Tung's consent to become Li Hung Chang's accuser at the latter's request, is that he possesses the largest cotton manufactory in China, that being short of money and the works being threatened with ruin he means to set them at work again through the viceroy's assistance. The Pekin government is ignorant of all this conspiracy, and has already given two million five hundred thousand taels towards war expenses and will even abolish the empress dowager's celebration to defray the cost of the war.

The foreign consuls at Shanghai, with the Portuguese consul at their head, communicated with the Taotai in connection with the neutrality of the court, but as the Taoti was unsatisfactory they held a meeting. As a result of the meeting the following resolutions were presented the Taotai: "The action of the Taoti at Shanghai is most unfair to a neutral port; and if he continues to act in such a violent manner troops shall be landed from British, French and American men-of-war for the protection of inhabitants of the settlement."

The British and Russian ministers at Pekin lately met Li Hung Chang and offered to meditate for an armistice for the reason that if the Chinese army, which had amassed with so much trouble at Heijo were defeated, it would be a great disgrace to China. Li Hung Chang, who had been frightened by defeats at Fung Tong Tao and Gasan, and had secretly been hoping for mediation, eagerly seized this opportunity and requested the two ministers to mediate. The ministers then made the same proposal to the Japanese government which firmly declined as it had entered upon the war with great determination and was not to be turned away with such a proposal

The case of two Japanese spies arrested on the French concession by the French police and delivered to the United States consul general is still under consideration at Pekin. United States Consul General Jernigan is actively having all Japanese not identified with Shanghai by important business relations returned to Japan and last week about one hundred of them went home. The United States consul general is sparing no effort to rid Shanghai of Japanese whose presence would possibly be made a cause of complaint by China, or a source of danger to the settlement.

The British man-of-war Centurion left Che Foo Aug. 28 with three other men-of-war for Jinsen. The British China squadron is, at the government's orders, cruising in Korean waters to watch the progress of the war and to keep an eye on the movement of Russia and France, but as the squadron is not large enough to watch the Russians at Vladivostock and the French in Toquin, the commander of the squadron has telegraphed home for a dispatch of three men-of-war from the northern Pacific squadron.

Li Hung Chang, says the Yomiuri, is in his seventy-third year. For ten years he has been subject to apoplexy and half of his face is paralyzed. At peace time he never goes to his office but stays at home, but in spite of his age and disease he rides every morning to the parade ground and reviews the troops. This duty he has never neglected.

A Japanese who left Shanghai for home on the third instant says that some of the China merchants S. N. company's steamers are now flying the British flag.

A destructive storm raged in the Akita and Iwate prefectures in Japan, Aug. 25 and 26 and was followed by great floods. Over 300 persons were drowned and more than 15,000 houses were destroyed.

YORKTOWN ORDERED TO CHINA

Uncle Sam Will Soon Have a Big Fleet in European Waters.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Secretary Herbert decided to add the Yorktown to the Asiatic squadron, and has telegraphed orders to the Mare Island navy yard to have her docked at once. He issued directions to have all necessary repairs made as soon as possible preparatory to starting the trim little ship across the Pacific.

The Yorktown reached San Francisco yesterday, having just returned from arduous patrol duty in Bering sea, and her commander, Captain Folger, formerly chief of naval ordnance, is one of the most energetic men in the service and well equipped for duty in China. The Yorktown is a 1,700 ton ship with 2,600 horse power, and can maintain a seventeen-knot speed. She draws only fourteen feet of water, adapting her peculiarly for the shallow harbors of China. It is expected that she can be made ready to leave San Francisco about Oct. 20, and with a short stop for coal at Honolulu should reach Yokohama about Nov. 10 or almost simultaneously with the Machias, which will proceed to the same destination by way of Europe from New York within the next two weeks. The Charleston ought to be at Yokohama before the end of this week.

These three vessels, with the Baltimore, Concord, Petrel and Monocacy, will make the Asiatic fleet the most formidable that the United States has had in eastern waters for many years.

PLUMMER'S SENTENCE.

The Colored Chaplain Will Probably Be Dismissed from the Army.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Captain Henry V. Plummer, the colored chaplain of the Ninth cavalry, will be dismissed from the service of the United States if the president acts favorably on the sentence imposed by a court martial. The record of the court has been received at the war department. This means that Plummer received the extreme penalty, the president having power only to review a sentence of that character where the court is ordered by a department comander, as was done in Plummer's case. Plummer was accused of drunkenness on duty. It is said that he imbibed with the enlisted men and thus spoiled his usefulness as a disciplinary officer. His excuse for mixing with the troopers was that he could not secure their confidence in pursuing his religious work unless he associated with them in their pleasures. Chaplain Plummer was appointed a chaplain in the army from Maryland by President Arthur in 1884. The Ninth cavalry is a negro regiment.

There's nothing so GOOD as Cottolene

The new vegetable shortening. Wherever introduced, it drives lard from the kitchen, and indigestion from the household. It has been tried by every test, and has met every requirement. It is as much superior to lard as the electric light is to the tallow-dip The only question now is, will you give your family the benefits which its use bestows?

There's nothing LIKE Cottolene

In composition, in healthfulness, in flavor, or in economy. Its success has called out a lot of imitations and counterfeits made for the sole purpose of selling in the place and on the merits of Cottolene. Avoid them all. They are made to sell and they are a sell. Get the genuine COTTOLENE.

Herman Schwed, David D. Smalley and Abraham P. Voorhees were North Plainfielders who went to Somerville as petit jurors today.

Miss Edith Chatham, who has been visiting at the residence of Clarence Bond of East Front street, has returned to her home in St. Louis.

Mrs. V. N. Talmage and Mrs. Ege, of 243 East Ninth street, who have been at Poland, Maine, since early in July, returned home today.

Mrs. William G. Anderson of Franklin place has returned after spending the Summer at the cottage of her son-in-law John Mortimer, Asbury Park.

A. F. Carpenter of Plainfield has rented of L. D. Cook & Co., the pleasant dwelling on West Second street, Bound Brook, lately owned and occupied by James B. Chamberlain, who now lives in Newtown, Pa.

Ralph Campbell, of the High School class of '93, will enter the University of New York tomorrow, when the Fall term begins. He will take the classical course, and will probably be heard from in the high jump at the inter-collegiate games. His record is already 5 feet 9 inches.

On the 17th of October, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Doud, corner of Duer and Emily streets, there will be united in marriage their eldest daughter, Miss Nellie, to James Ramsay Blair of 306 East Second street. The young people have already handsomely fitted up a flat on Watchung avenue, where they will keep house. Mr. Blair is in the employ of the Central Railroad of New Jersey at their New York office. All will join in wishing success to these happy young hearts.

The Fall term at Stevens Institute will begin tomorrow, and Plainfield will be represented by Walter B. Rittenhouse of East Sixth street, W. Frank Hyde of Madison avenue, and Warren Church of Craig place. Rittenhouse and Hyde were both students in the High School, but left there in '93. Last year both were graduated with honor from the Stevens Preparatory School, and this year they will become Freshmen in the Institute itself. Church graduated from the North Plainfield Public School, and then passed through the Stevens School. He, too, will become a Freshman.

WHOLESALE BURGLARY

MANY PLAINFIELD PLACES VISITED AT MIDNIGHT.

$100 Worth of Jewelry Stolen from a Craig Place House—Architect Smith Shoots at the Thief—A Crowbar Used at Griffen's Store.

One of the most brazen attempts at wholesale robbery occurred last night between 12 and 1 in the vicinity of Craig place, Grove street and Prospect place, and on Front street, Plainfield.

The biggest haul reported was at the home of Wm. Smalley on Craig place, entered by breaking a window in the rear of the house. The thief ascended the hall stairs, going into several rooms.

Before his presence was known he succeeded in getting about $100 worth of jewelry, which consisted of all the valuable gold rings belonging to Mrs. David King, also those belonging to Miss Lizzie Smalley, and several additional pieces of jewelry.

He was then discovered by Mrs. King standing in her room. But she was powerless, having no means of defense. Her husband was awakened, but before the husband realized the situation the intruder escaped with his plunder.

Several hundred dollars worth of silverware was easy of access in one of the front rooms down stairs; also about $49 in money in Mr. King's vest, which was in his room. The robber carried a lighted candle.

The thief went to 15 Prospect place, a house which has just been rented by Mrs. Collins of Grove street. A portion of her personal property was in the house, having been moved since Saturday. There were still a few things left in the house at 13 Grove street. His visit was very short at this house, and nothing was taken. He went next door to the home of Tunis J. Carey. At this house the front windows had been left open, and the thief found it very easy to gain admittance. Considerable noise was made, however, frightening him, and he made a hasty exit.

Continuing the circuit, the home of Charles Smith on Grove street was the next scene for action. Breaking a cellar window in the rear of the house, he entered and went up stairs.

Mr. Smith awoke and saw a man standing in the bed room occupied by his children, directly back of his room. He carried a lighted candle.

Mr. Smith called out, "What are you doing here ?", to which the man replied, "What's the matter with you ?"

Mr. Smith got up, and the thief went down stairs and made for the cellar. While Mr. Smith was getting his revolver the fellow came back from the cellar and fumbled at the front door. Mr. Smith fired at him, and he went out. Going to a window Mr. Smith fired the remaining five shots after him, the thief crying "stop!" and vanishing through Craig place. Nothing was taken.

The house occupied by John Cathcart and family, next to Smith's, was also visited. Here the fellow broke a large glass in a window in the rear of the house. The noise was heard, and he got away.

No. 13 in the brick row, occupied by Mrs. Collins was visited. In the basement the colored cook had gone to sleep in a chair. On the next floor Mrs. Collins was sleeping, and in the rooms above were two men boarders.

The cook was awakened by hearing a window open, and was greatly frightened. Calling to Mrs. Collins, she said some one was trying to break in, whereupon Mrs. Collins called to one of the men in the room above, asking him to come at once with a revolver. By the time he arrived the robber had gone.

The three then made a search about about the yard, but could not see nor hear anything.

In speaking about the affair, Mrs. Collins said that last Saturday morning a rough looking man entered her front door and walked into the dining room, where she was, and called out "Rags!" She asked him how he dared to enter her house that way. He replied by again saying "Rags!" and left.

The rear of A. M. Griffen's hardware store, 119 East Front street, was entered at 3 this morning. The burglar approached from Fairchild's alley, climbing the board fence and entering the court in the rear of S. E. Flower's store.

He raised a ladder which lay by the building to a second-story window in the store-room above the store.

The window was not fastened, but the thief evidently did not try it, for he smashed in the sash, glass and all. He was then in the room where was stored a quantity of valuable brass plumbing material, but the man seemed anxious to reach the offices and the front of the store.

He went down to the ground floor by the back stairs and was there confronted by a door of double thickness which was hooked on the store side. The door was covered with tin, which showed this morning the marks which the man made with a crowbar in trying to force it open.

He then left by way of the front doors of the rear extension. So much stock is kept in the part of the building where the burglar was that he may have taken away plunder, the loss of which might not have been noticed today.

The noise made by the man was heard by a neighbor, Mrs. Adams, and the Night Watchman George Rockafellow. The watchman went down the alley, but the fence and gate hid his view of the yard and he concluded that nothing unusual was going on.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Church of Christ will hereafter meet Sunday evenings at 7, and Tuesday evenings at 7:45

The temperance subject was eloquently discussed in the Trinity Church Christian Endeavor society meeting last night. The topic was "Good Citizenship". It was one of the best meetings the society had held. A. B. Clemens was the leader. President H. J. Martin, Fred S. Smith and Pastor Schenck made excellent speeches. There was spirited singing.

The special choir, Miss Mattison, Miss Mills, Mrs. Elmer Garretson, Horace J. Martin and Mr. Allen, gave choice selections. The attendance was large.

—"Dolly", the old gray mare belonging to Carney Brothers, slipped her halter recently and became feed-box foundered by devouring a bushel of oats. Under Dr. Pocock's treatment, together with constant night and day nursing, her life has been saved.

—Hannah Stiles, whose son Joseph Stiles was a veteran of the late war and died some years ago in a hut on the mountain-top, is said to be in destitute circumstances, and in great want, at her home on the top of the first mountain. The case needs attention.

Good for Geologist Smock!

It is announced that to the State Legislature when it meets next week there will be presented for consideration some plan to preserve the Palisades, now threatened by the operations of paving stone quarrymen. The State Geologist is desirous that the rugged beauty natural to this historic landscape shall be preserved, and recognizes that the ease with which the rock can be blasted away will tempt other contractors and lead to wholesale destruction. The condemnation of the lands for a public park, the procuring of the property and its sale subject to restrictions, and other plans have been suggested, and it is said that an effort will be made to secure from the Governor indorsement of some scheme of the kind. The land along the Palisades is held at high valuations, and there are difficulties in the way of its acquisition. It would seem a shameful thing to destroy a natural landscape of such interest and beauty. Public sentiment would favor any plan that would save the Palisades at reasonable cost.

FEEL LIKE A NEW MAN!

So says everyone who has used Paskola, the great flesh-forming food. And why shouldn't they? Being artificially digested it virtually forces nourishment upon the system regardless of what may be the condition of the natural digestive organs. Further than this, it possesses the power to digest other foods in the stomach. It is, therefore, little wonder that those who take it not only experience immediate relief from the distress which has heretofore followed their meals, but rapidly gained in weight.

Nothing equals it for building up sound healthy flesh, enriching the blood and imparting new strength. It is just the thing for thin, weak people who get no benefit from the food they eat and who are discouraged by the failure of medicine to help them.

Delicate stomachs cannot stand sickening oils and other fatty mixtures. Paskola has replaced them. It is easily taken and pleasant to the taste. Ask your druggist for a bottle and try it.

The practical results derived from the use of Paskola are well demonstrated by the following statements from a few of the many who have used it with entire satisfaction during the past thirty days.

Mr. A. Alexander, of Taylor Texas, says: "I am now using the second bottle of Paskola and find myself greatly improved. My appetite is better than it has been for years, and since I have been using Paskola I have gained five pounds."

Mrs. Fred Groves, of Miamiville, Ohio, writes under date of August 16th, to the following effect: "When I began to take Paskola I did not think that it would do me any good and had made up my mind to quit using medicines and let nature take its course. I accidently got hold of one of your little books and decided to give pre-digested food a trial. I have taken four bottles and never felt better in my life. I do not know how much I have gained in flesh, but I do know that I can eat anything I want and sleep soundly at night. My friends all remark upon my improved appearance

Dr. Alexander Hunt, of Mud River, Kentucky, has been testing the preparation in the case of his little granddaughter, two years old. The child was nothing but a skeleton when he commenced giving her Paskola, and in two weeks she gained nine (9) pounds, and, in his own language, "is now fat, red and rosy." In fact she enjoys the best of health.

Paskola is kept by all druggists and the Pre-Digested Food Co., No. 30 Reade Street, New York, its proprietors, will be glad to supply a free pamphlet on the subject of food upon application.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

Plucky Place.

It is claimed that ex-Mayor Charles Place will have the delegation to the Congressional Convention of the Republican party from Somerset County in his favor. Mr. Place ran for Congress some years ago when Somerset County was in the Fourth District, and when it was hopelessly Democratic by from 4,000 to 5 000 majority.

BOCK'S CASE LAID OVER

LICENSE CONSIDERATION DEFERRED TILL NEXT FRIDAY.

The Mayor, Council and Leading Citizens of North Plainfield File Protest Against It—Ex-Mayor Place's Grand Jury Charged.

The September term of the Supreme Court Causes of Somerset County was opened in Somerville this morning with Supreme Court Justice Magie presiding and Judge Bartine and Lay Judges Jameson and Wagoner with him on the bench.

North Plainfield was represented in the Grand Jury by the foreman, ex Mayor Charles Place, Township Committeeman George H. Fountain and Borough Clerk James K. Arnold. In his charge to the jury Judge Magie, after the usual exhortations on diligence and secrecy, said that a number of crimes of violence committed in the county remained unpunished, either because the officers were unable to detect the criminals or because grand juries had failed to find indictments against the persons suspected.

In many of these cases intoxication had been the primary cause for the acts of violence referred to. This was no excuse. Liquor sold illegally most frequently led to crime and the regulation of the sales of intoxicants was therefore the more important. The policy of the State was to confine the traffic to properly licensed parties and to make the law effective placed its violation in the list of criminal offenses. The jurors were admonished to investigate carefully the illegal liquor-selling cases which might be brought before them.

It was publicly alleged that the law had been openly and shamelessly violated at the county fair. It was claimed that games of chance had been permitted to go on unheeded by the police until a certain party had lost a comparatively large amount of money. It was also alleged that immoral exhibitions of dancing had been allowed at the fair. He recommended that the jury examine into these charges thoroughly.

The list of causes included several North Plainfield cases which were disposed of as follows:

Aaron D. Thompson against Lewis A Hummer. On contract. Charles A Reed, W. K. Mc Clure. Off by consent.

Aaron D. Thompson against Frank B. Conover, impleaded, etc. On contract. Charles A. Reed, Frank P. McDermott. Off for the term.

Jane DeMott against William E Honeyman. In ejectment. Hance & Powers, Charles A. Reed. Settled.

Among the four licenses for keeping inns granted was that of Jacob Hipp of Somerset street. In regard to Charles Bock's application Judge Magie said that a remonstrance had been presented by the borough authorities, the mayor and the council, besides leading citizens. He ordered the remonstrance filed and postponed the consideration of the case until Friday morning.

The transfer of the wholesale license from Augustus Uzzinger to the Linnet Purveying Company was granted. The similar license of Zeller & Schafer was renewed in the name of the firm of Zeller & White.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Protestant Episcopal Convocation of New Brunswick will hold its quarterly meeting in Grace Church, Plainfield, October 2.

The collection in the First Baptist Church Sunday morning was for the New Jersey Baptist Education Society, and the money contributed will be used to help a young man from the church who is preparing for the ministry in Brown University.

Following the Wednesday evening prayer meeting in the First Baptist Church a business session will be held, at which time Pastor Yerkes will appoint a committee to have charge of the State Convention which meets in the church October 31 and November 1.

The work on Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church on West Fourth street is now going on, and the church soon will be ready for the congregation to occupy. All who are favorable to the progress of Methodism are requested to help complete the work. The pastor and officers are doing all in their power to have the house dedicated before cold weather sets in. The pastor, Rev. T. A. V. Henry, of 438 West Third street, will be thankful for any donations from any friend of the church.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Curt Gotthelf is riding a new wheel.

Volney F. Green of East Fifth street and Sydney R. Titsworth of Watchung avenue made a flying trip to Montclair on their wheels Sunday afternoon. They made very good time both ways.

The New Brunswick Home News says that "some of the prize winners in the recent bicycle carnival will take their wheels to Plainfield next Thursday evening to participate in the parade. They expect to head the line as regards beauty of design."

Monte Scott rode at the meet of the Association Cycling Club in Philadelphia Saturday. He won the second heat of the one-mile open, Class A, in 2:54 2-5. In the final he finished second behind his old rival, W. F. Sims, who rode in 2:20 2-5. Monte had a slight fall in the mile handicap, his wheel slipping and throwing him.

—Lister of North avenue offers bargains in high-grade bicycles, reduced in price.

—The Independent Fife and Drum Corps officers have sent invitations to out-of-town organizations, and hope to have a different band or corps attend and play each night of their fair.

—The North Plainfield committee on streets are determined to have better sidewalks, and the Street Commissioner has been ordered by the street committee to see to it that all old walks are put in good repair and new ones laid where necessary.

ONE OF PLAINFIELD'S JEWELS.

A Black Diamond, Polished in This City, Gives Lustre to the Christian Life Down South.

Alexander Truatt, a colored boy, drifted from Charlottsville, Va., to Plainfield, after the close of the war, and was taken into the employ of Lebbeus L. Manning, the monument maker, and given a home. He was a constant attendant at the First Baptist Church with Mr. Manning's family, and in a few years became converted and joined that congregation.

Mr. Truatt being a particularly bright young man, the parishioners of Dr. Yerkes's church became interested in him, and they furnished the means whereby he received an education. He afterwards studied for the ministry, and in a short time was regularly ordained. Mr. Truatt then settled at his old home, Charlottsville, Va., and became pastor of one of the Baptist churches. He took charge of a small congregation which had only a church partly built. Under his charge the congregation increased, and the edifice was finished.

A few years afterwards Mr. Truatt accepted a call from a Baptist congregation in Steelton, Pa., where he remained three years laboring successfully meantime. The people of his old home prevailed on Mr. Truatt to return to Charlottsville, Va., and he has been there since.

He has recently erected a handsome brick church which is an ornament to the community, and has assisted in every way towards its erection, being his own architect, and superintending its building.

Ex-Councilman C. P. Sebring while on a business trip to that town last week, met and was cordially received by Mr. Truatt, whom he had known when he first came to this city years ago. The pastor said he had turned the first spade of dirt and remained every day assisting the builders until the church was completed.

Mr. Sebring says that the merchants of Charlottsville speak in the highest terms of praise of Mr. Truatt's good qualities. There is a small debt on the church, but Mr. Truatt's perseverance will eventually liquidate that. The pastor wishes to be remembered through this paper to all his former friends in Plainfield.

The New Districts.

A decided change was made in the Eighth District lines by the last redistricting. In 1892 Union County, Bayonne, in Hudson County, and the city of Orange and the townships of Clinton, Millburn, South and West Orange comprised the district. The population was 125,793. John T. Dunn, Democrat, received 14 393 votes, to 13,470 for the Republican candidate, Chamberlain. Dunn's majority was 923. VanOise, Prohibitionist, was credited with 502 votes, and Weigel, Socialistic-Labor, 201. The district as now constructed takes in Union County, Bayonne, and these Essex sub-divisions: City of Orange, and the townships of Clinton, Caldwell, Millburn, Livingston, Bloomfield, Belleville, South and West Orange, Franklin and Verona, boroughs included. The population is 152,486.

The Third District takes in Middlesex, Monmouth and Somerset counties, with a population of 159,193. There were 37,487 ballots polled by the big parties, and Geisenhainer, Democrat, received 20,407 of these to 17,080 for Hoffman, Republican. The Democratic majority was 3,327. Marshall, Prohibition, was credited with 992 votes.

Praise for Place, But Doubt for the District.

(From The Bound Brook Chronicle, Rep.)

While it would be highly satisfactory to the Republicans of this county to vote for Mr. Place and endeavor to have him chosen as our Representative in Congress, still the delegates from Somerset should not allow local pride to outweigh their best judgment. The Third being a strongly Democratic district, we can only win by putting up the best candidate to be found in the three counties. Mr. Place is an able man, and if elected he would represent his constituents in a manner highly creditable alike to his district and himself. Still if a stronger man can be found let us have him.

Eighth District Democrats.

The committee appointed for the purpose at the last Democratic convention of the Eighth District Congressional Convention, consisting of Harmon H. Hart of South Orange, Fred C. Marsh of Elizabeth, and Thomas F. Noonan of Bayonne, has arranged for holding the convention this year in Music Hall, Orange, Thursday, October 11, to nominate a candidate for Representative in Congress from the Eighth New Jersey Congressional District.

They Chipped.

In taking the tiles from the roof of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church it is found that about 30 or 40 per cent. of them cannot be used again because the flanges have been chipped. The inexperienced workmen thought that where a tile did not fit in place exactly it could be improved by chipping the edges. The openings thus left caused the leaks which were noticed when the tarred paper became porous. The new coat of tiles will be laid in an elastic cement.

—Street Commissioner E. A. Meeker has been improving the condition of the streets in the West End.

MOTHERS

and those soon to become mothers, should know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription robs childbirth of its tortures, terrors and dangers to both mother and child, by aiding nature in preparing the system for parturition. Thereby "labor" and the period of confinement are greatly shortened. It also promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child.

Mrs. DORA A. GUTHRIE, of Oakley, Overton Co., Tenn., writes: "When I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription,' I was not able to stand on my feet without suffering almost death. Now I do all my housework, washing, cooking, sewing and everything for my family of eight. I am stouter now than I have been in six years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is the best to take before confinement, for at least it proved so with me. I never suffered as little with any of my children as I did with my last, and she is the healthiest we've got. Have induced several to try 'Favorite Prescription,' and it has proved good for them."

GERMANS ENTERTAIN.

THEY GIVE GOOD PLAYS AND SING GOOD SONGS.

Gesang and Turn Verein Artists Amuse Their Friends—Dancing Follows the Programme.

The Gesang and Turn Verein opened their Winter season of social evenings indoors with a dramatic entertainment and a ball last night. The hall was well filled with the members and their friends among them a large number of children who found much to amuse them in the entertainment.

A change in the order of the numbers on the programme was announced. Then began the play "He Is Not Jealous", by Carl Ely, and throughout the single act the whole audience was kept laughing and applauding. J. Roetzer made a very learned and dramatic physician, Dr. August Hohendorf. His charming wife, Caecilie, married but a year and worried because she thought her husband should show his affection for her more strongly, was impersonated by Miss Frida Sutterlin.

The story began with the determination of Mrs. Hohendorf to send for her mother. She wrote, telling her to come, but in response her uncle, Baumann, came instead. August Wolff played the humorous part of the uncle with excellent artistic effect. The minor part of the doctor's servant was taken by P. Postler.

Uncle Baumann soon found out the trouble and arranged a test for Hohendorf. He attired himself in the uniform of a lieutenant and started a love scene with Mrs. Hohendorf. The doctor found them, of course, and made up a harmless drink with which he threatened to take "poison". As he went away, the uncle returned and drank the liquid. An amusing "dying" scene followed and then came the explanations and final happiness.

Another play of the same humorous character was "Who Will Take Back the Pan". Shoemaker Knickebein was represented by M. Schottlain, and his wife Lieschen by H. Wedemeyer, both good actors. J. Schlick was a playful student, Fink. The couple had been married a week and were not accustomed to the troubles and cares of the household. Their dispute as to which should return a borrowed pan resulted in an agreement that the first to speak after a given time should be the one to take it. Fink came in then and found that the man would do nothing but whistle and the woman seemed able to do nothing but sing. He finally discovered that he could make Knickebein talk by making him jealous. With this the play ended.

"Nach Der Heimath" was sung by the choir, and then the ball began. Dancing occupied the attention of all for the next few hours.

NO DANCING GIRLS.

Secretary Muirheid Excludes Objectionable Features From the Inter-State Fair.

The newspapers did not protest in vain against the dancing girls that were so conspicuous in the side shows of the Waverly and Somerville fairs.

The Inter-State Fair, which opened yesterday, excludes these dancing women. Some of the Board of Directors saw them at the Waverly Fair and decided that they were entirely too loud for the conservative people of Trenton, and Secretary John G. Muirheid was notified to cancel the contracts with several combinations that had secured spaces on the grounds.

These fakirs were disposed at first to be ugly, refusing to cancel their contracts, declaring that they would come to Trenton and exhibit whether it pleased the directors or not, but when they were threatened with arrest and indictment under the disorderly act they soon discovered that it would be cheaper for them to bow to the inevitable and give Trenton a wide berth.

REDUCED RATES

To the Great Mt. Holly Fair via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Mount Holly Fair will be held Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 The management have been untiring in their efforts to have this year's exhibition eclipse all previous ones. Besides unusual representations in every department a large number of new and entertaining features will be presented.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, with its accustomed enterprise, will run a complete schedule of special trains from Philadelphia, Trenton, and other points to the Fair grounds, and excursion tickets will be sold on the dates of the Fair, including admission, from all ticket stations on the United Railroads in the State of New Jersey at greatly reduced rates. The rate from Philadelphia and Trenton, including admission, is fixed at $1, and proportionate reductions will prevail elsewhere. Advertising matter at the stations will afford specific information.

Attorney Angleman Carries His Point.

W. S. Angleman, representing certain stockholders and creditors of the American Chemical Company, yesterday obtained from Chancellor McGill at Jersey City an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed to take charge of the company's affairs. The capital stock of the company is $30,000.

Somerset's Prohibition Convention.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

South Plainfield.

Railroad men think it probable that South Plainfield will have a new station this Fall. It will be built across the road from the one now in use.

The coal-sheds on the southeast side of the track, owned by Manning Brothers, are to be moved to New Market, the local traffic not being heavy enough to make it necessary to use them.

Squirrel shooting has been a favorite sport with a number of local hunters since the season opened.

Three tramps who passed through South Plainfield at different times yesterday afternoon were each inquiring the way to Plainfield and asking about the prospects of obtaining work on the sewers.

After discussing the matter as individuals, the committee on the fire question met in the school house last night. The people are still divided on the subject. A point which is brought out by an old citizen is that the formation of a volunteer fire company in the village would have the same effect as the introducing of the first steamer in Plainfield. The department might really bring with it incendiarism. It has not been proved that the last two fires were started by firebugs.

Tennyson Overbaugh is now living with his brother-in-law, Amos P. Gray of Elmwood place, Plainfield.

George Teeple and Tennyson Overbaugh are proud of a day's work they recently performed while cutting corn on Manley Giles's farm. In eight hours the two cut and stacked 296 shocks.

Daniel Laing was a welcome visitor in Oak Tree Sunday.

Superintendent Harris of the Baptist Sunday-school is arranging appropriate exercises for next Sunday morning, when the New Jersey Baptists Day will be observed in the church. A collection will be taken up for the State educational fund.

Seventeen-year-old Frederick Manning fell from a tree near the residence of Frank Faulks at 5 yesterday afternoon. He was picking early chestnuts when he missed his footing. He struck on his chest and was badly shaken up. It could not be told last night how severely he was injured. Manning has been unfortunate in the accident line, having dislocated an arm and broken his collar bone on previous occasions.

Three men from the Hungarian colony, Charles Smith, Antoine and John Philip, went driving out of town in a light spring wagon yesterday afternoon. A rear wheel was smashed and the return trip was made with a strip from a sign-board and a fence rail supporting the end of the axle.

Last week closed with quite a great combination of social events for South Plainfield. Thursday night an enjoyable party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Soper. Refreshments were served and music was rendered, the affair closing with the singing of "Way Down Upon the Swanee River". Those present included Miss Lillie Soper, Miss Amanda Randolph, William Jones, Miss VanArsdale and William Howe. Friday evening Miss Lena Faulks gave a social at her home at which games, singing and refreshments were enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. D. Bigley, F. Manning, W. Tennyson, Overbaugh, and the Misses Lena, Lida and Emma Faulks. The same evening a strawride to a residence on Seventh street, Plainfield, was given by Miss Amanda Randolph. Those who went as Miss Randolph's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Brantingham, Wm. Jones, Wm. Howe and Charles Jones. Saturday night there was given a watermelon social at the home of Jesse R. Dayton. A pleasant social gathering was the attraction at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brantingham.

Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Applegate of Elizabeth, and Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Sunday, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt Sunday.

Miss Celia Staats spent a very pleasant Sunday with friends in Netherwood.

Arthur Vail has resigned his position with the Metropolitan Insurance Company of Plainfield.

Friendship Cornet Band of New Market gave their last concert for the season at Taylor's Hotel, Saturday night.

William G. Holton Council, J. O. U. A. M., meet this evening, and several applications for membership are expected.

John Tingley had a severe attack of chills yesterday while at his place of business.

Charles Maire went to New York yesterday on business.

Finn Lewis, after a long and severe illness, is able to go out again. He was welcomed by his friends yesterday on the street.

Adam Seader and family contemplate moving soon into one of Mrs. Huldooshe's houses on North avenue.

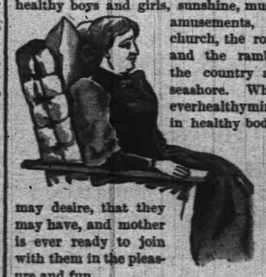
The Foresters met last evening with a very large attendance of members.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE.

A PICTURE FOR WOMEN'S EYES,

With the Hope That It May Do Some of Them Good.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]



To-day there is the happy mother, healthy boys and girls, sunshine, music, amusements, the church, the romp and the ramble, the country and seashore. What-everhealthyminds in healthy bodies may desire, that they may have, and mother is ever ready to join with them in the pleasure and fun.

Years come and go. The boys and girls grow up to men and women. Mother's hair is turning white: her steps are not so elastic, her spirits flag; there is an uneasy look in her dear eyes.

What can be the matter with mother?

She is approaching the most important crisis of her life, "the change of life." Those watchful eyes detect the evidences. Years bring this change demanded by nature. What preparation have you made to carry the brave mother safely through it?

Within a comparatively short time the issue will be decided. Either nature fulfilling the law in proper, healthful manner, or—there is the wreck of a noble woman for you to grieve over.

There is salvation in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will carry the mother safely through the inevitable change in her physical life.

All reputable druggists keep for you this grand remedy. See that "mother" has it, for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was won from the heights of medical science by a woman for all women nearing the change of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Warrenville spent Sunday with friends in Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. Swackhammer are entertaining friends from out of town.

Harry Swackhammer returned yesterday from a short pleasure trip.

The recent school election will stand. County Superintendent Willis was assured by State Attorney Stockton that women had a right to vote, and this puts an end to any question of illegality in regard to the election.

B. F. McGovern intends to give his recently purchased Irish setter dog an opportunity to show what he can do. He expects to make a trip to Mauch Chunk with his friend William Carman for a few days shooting.

The water works question seems to have dropped out of sight for no further discussion of the subject is heard.

At the Winges sale Saturday afternoon Oscar Libbey purchased a carpet, and yesterday morning when he went after the carpet he met Mr. Winges, and in settling for it a dispute arose in regard to the deal. Both felt incensed and in consequence the carpet was left. Mr. Libbey would not take it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kitchen and their son William spent Sunday in Dunellen with relatives.

The Call says: "John Marionshank, who has been in the New Brunswick jail for the past two months awaiting trial for an assault upon his two sons, has been released. His sons were sorry to have their father suffer in jail even though he had ill treated them and with the assistance of several influential citizens of the borough they succeeded in having him released. Mr. Marionshank is very penitent and says he will do better and leave liquor alone."

New railroad ties are replacing the old ones in front of the Dunellen station.

James Quee of Brooklyn has rented Mrs. S. D. Stryker's house on Church street through C. W. Johnson real estate agent and broker. He took possession yesterday. Mr. Quee intends securing a new manager for his farm in a few days.

Edward Herlich, the obliging clerk in Dr. Brakeley's drug store, will give up his position next Saturday. He has secured a place in the Scott Printing Machine Works, and commences Monday to learn a trade.

New Market.

The Sabbath Recorder says: "The saddest event that has happened here since Conference was an accident to Mrs. I. D. Titsworth. She had been feeble for several months, and attempting to walk she fell and fractured her hip. It is doubtful if she can ever walk again. Her daughter, Mrs. R. T. Rogers, has been with her, and kindly administered in every way to her wants. It has been a severe blow to this aged couple, but she has borne it with great patience."

Miss Hannah Larkin has entered upon a college course at Alfred, under the generous offer of the school to furnish a free scholarship to each church.

A meeting of the Republican voters of Piscataway Township will be held tomorrow to elect four delegates to the Third District Republican Congressional Convention which will be held in New Brunswick, Thursday, October 4.

EZETA'S GREAT SCHEME

Plotting To Unite Mexico and Central America.

Said Also To Be Planning for a New and Big Revolution Against His Enemies—The Ex-President of Salvador Skips Quietly Away for Mexico With His Attorneys.

San Francisco, Sept. 25.—Gen. Antonio Ezeta and his attorneys, Messrs. Rubens and De Quesada, have left surreptitiously for Mexico. They had bought their tickets secretly the night before.

Even after they had bought their railway transportation they gave out to the press that they would not leave here for several days. Gen. Ezeta was to stay in San Francisco for a week, and the attorneys said they would not depart till next Wednesday, when they would leave direct for New York. The general, his servants and the two New York attorneys quietly left the hotel in a carriage an hour before the regular time of departure of the train. They crossed to the Oakland pier ahead of the regular passengers and sought the privacy of their sleepers.

Those who some days ago obtained an inkling of the subjects of the telegrams flying between here and Mexico say they gathered that the consolidation of all Central America with Mexico was being considered. Furthermore, that Ezeta's intention was to raise an army there and proceed at once to oust his enemies.

Whether it was to regain possession of Salvador only or to effect a union of some sort, of which he has long dreamed, is not known, but there is little doubt that it is one or the other. He has not hastened away for nothing.

Gen. Colito left here on the 10th inst., and went straight to Mexico City. He at once, apparently, laid the whole matter before certain influential people there, and they formulated these plans, being all the time in close correspondence by telegraph with ex-President Ezeta.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 25.—Lieut.-Col. Juan Cienfuegos, the young Central American refugee, whose extradition to San Salvador on a charge of attempted murder has been ordered by Judge Morrow, spends a lonely time in his cell at the Alameda county jail. He said that he was confident of regaining freedom as soon as his case was brought before the president, and declares that he would commit suicide rather than be extradited.

A Wife-Deserters' Punishment.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 25.—John Dearman returned to his home in Hurley, Ulster county, to ask the forgiveness of his wife whom he deserted five years ago after having assaulted her with an axe. When he learned that for nearly two years she had been the wife of another man he was nearly overcome with grief, but rather than break up a happy home he resolved to live the rest of his life without the wife whom he had so cruelly wronged. About two years ago a man was drowned near Newburgh whom Mrs. Dearman positively identified as her husband. Believing she was a widow the woman sometime later married John Branthover and with the children by her first husband is now living near Albany.

Doings at Gray Gables.

Buzzards Bay, Mass., Sept. 25.—Just before noon the president and Secretary Carlisle left on the Ruth for the fishing grounds off Vingo Neck, returning late in the afternoon. Private Secretary Thurber and family came down from Marion at noon and did not return at night as usual.

Steamer Rodgers sailed down the bay early in the morning, but returned at 4 p. m.

Caleb W. West came on from New York and called at Gray Gables, only to find the president and Mr. Carlisle away. In order to see them he remained here over night.

Chicago Club's Players for '95

Chicago, Sept. 25.—At the request of President Hart the following players called at his office and signed contracts for next year with the Chicago baseball club: Kittredge, Terry, Stratton, Griffith, Abbey, Anson, Decker, Lange, Ryan and Stewart. The remaining members of the club were requested to call and are expected to sign then. This silences the rumors to the effect that some of the best members of the present Chicago team would be found in the Association club next year.

Who Owned the Kow Shing?

London, Sept. 25.—The Central News has information that Captain Galsworthy, the commander of the Chinese transport Kow Shing, has stated under oath that the charter of the Kow Shing to the Chinese government contained a clause, to be kept secret, that in the event of a hostile movement against the ship by the Japanese, the Kow Shing should be regarded as Chinese property.

Shortlidge To Be Tried To-morrow.

Media, Pa., Sept. 25.—Among the cases to be tried by criminal court this week is that of Prof. Swithin C. Shortlidge, of Shortlidge's academy, for the murder of his wife. The case, which is attracting a great deal of attention, will be called to-morrow. The defense will be insanity.

Powderly Admitted to the Bar.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 25.—Terence V. Powderly, ex-general master workman of the knights of labor, has been admitted to the bar of Lackawanna county. It is said that Mr. Powderly may leave Scranton and settle down to the practice of law in New York city.

Britishers Win the Cricket Match.

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—The international cricket match between Lord Hawke's English eleven and the team representing all Philadelphia on the grounds of the Merion Cricket club, at Haverford, was won by the Britishers by 131 runs.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

$500 in Gold Given Away!

Amos H. Van Horn, L't'd,
73 Market st., near Plane st., Newark, N. J.

In order to do better by purchasers than any other dealers in our line, we will give $5 gold to every purchaser of $50 worth of goods, and $10 in gold to every purchaser of $100 worth of goods.

CARPETS—500 rolls just received, consisting of Axminsters, Wiltons, Moquettes, Velvets, Body and Tapestry Brussels, 2 and 3-ply Ingrains, all this Fall's patterns, from 10 to 20 cents per yard less in price than any other house.

BEDROOM SUITS—Two carloads just received by the D., L. and W. railroad, consisting of birch, maple and antique oak, of this Fall's designs, from the Hall & Lyon manufactory, which we are selling at prices from $5 to $10 below any of our competitors.

PARLOR SUITS—Having bought out two parlor suit manufacturers we can sell parlor suits at half prices and then make a good profit. Parlor Suits in coverings of Brocatelle, Silk Tapestry, Plush, Rug and Satin.

PORTLAND RANGES—These are the Ranges we have been selling for 6 years, and over 6,000 now in use; and have stood the test of the courts and decided in our favor. Warranted a good baker or money refunded; and best of all, the only place they can be purchased is at our establishment. Easy terms.

Goods delivered free of charge to any part of the State.

STORING FURNITURE—Do not forget that we have the largest, finest and cleanest storage building in the city at 88 Bank street, and the rates are the lowest. Furniture moved with vans at low rates in city or country. Telephone 580.

REMARKABLE CURES

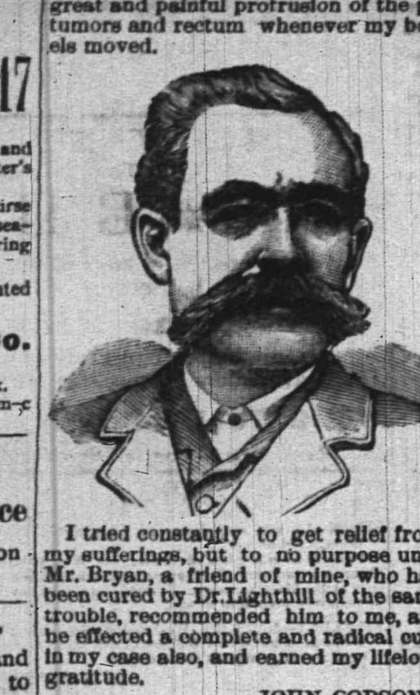
Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

To the Public:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.



I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

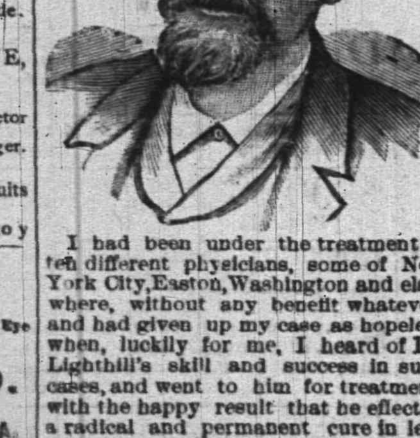
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

To the Sick, Suffering and Afflicted:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

FIGHTING FOR LIFE.

A Suffering Woman Testifies.

Mrs. Henrietta Burton, of Janvier, N. J., writes: For a long time I suffered from a disordered stomach. My appetite was gone and what little I ate distressed me terribly. My health failed rapidly. I became very weak and feared I should never be well. After reading your "Guide to Health," I was encouraged to try Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure. Its action was so prompt that I soon felt like a new woman, and am now completely cured."

MUNYON'S STOMACH AND DYSPEPSIA CURE cures all forms of indigestion and stomach troubles such as constipation, rising of food, distress after eating, bloating of the stomach, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion. It soothes, heals and invigorates stomachs that have been weakened by over-eating, or where the lining of the stomach has been impaired by physic and injurious medicines. Price 25 cents.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

PEARY PA TY HOME

Arctic Explorers Reach Philadelphia Safely.

Mrs. Peary and Infant Well—The Baby Had a Hard Time With the Warm Climate—Several Esquimaux Dogs and Relics Brought Back—A Hearty Welcome Greets the Party.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The members of the second Peary expedition and the auxilliary expedition sent out by the Geographical society of the Philadelphia academy of natural sciences, arrived here on the steamer Falcon which sailed from Falcon Harbor, Greenland, on Aug. 26. All on board were well. Lieutenant R. E. Peary, H. J. Lee and Matthew Henson, a negro servant, remained at Falcon Harbor to complete their explorations next season. The Arctic party was met off Chester in the Delaware river by a tug boat which left Philadelphia with a number of relatives of the explorers and members of the Geographical club on board, among the latter being Prof. Angelo Heilprin, who comanded the Peary relief expedition in 1892.

When the tug steamed alongside the Falcon three cheers were heartily given and the old whaler was saluted by three shrieks from the tug's whistle. Members of the welcoming party jumped on the Falcon, and after numerous handshakings all made their way to the after cabin in which Mrs. Peary and her infant daughter were waiting the visitors. Mrs. Peary greeted each with a smile and a hearty handshake. When the baby had been fondled until it was tired the visitors examined the ship, and petted the dogs, and the 12-year-old Esquima girl, whom Mrs. Peary brought from the Arctic regions

The Peary baby is named Marie Abnighito Peary and she was born at Anniversary Lodge, Peary's headquarters, on September 12, last year. She grew rapidly and never was ill a day, until the ship reached St. Johns, when the change of water and food made her ill for a short time. The Esquimau girl Ac-al-ee-ah, is the granddaughter of Koolotonah, about whom so much has been said in Dr. Hayes work.

In the hold of the vessel were 25 dogs, while four others were upon the deck. They all appeared to suffer from heat; but it is thought they will become acclimated and live. Strewn all about the vesse were momentos of the cruise, consisting principally of snow shoes, spears, horns and tusks, canoes and other ecessary adjuncts of an Arctic trip.

When the Falcon had docked, at Washington street wharf, the members of the party separated, Mrs. Peary going to her home in Washington.

Lieut. Peary in a brief communication transmitted to Prof. Heilprin, says: "Before this reaches you, you will have heard of the year's failure. I have not lost heart and shall try again, and believe I shall yet succeed. I cannot say how deeply I regret that the bright expectations and the preparations for our return are for naught this time. Mr. Diebitch is to join forces with Mrs. Peary in the arrangements for sending a ship next summer, and I know they will both be glad to avail themselves of your expert advice and experience."

MEYERS HELD FOR MURDER

Circumstantial Evidence Against the Accused Very Strong.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 26.—The coroner's jury, which has been investigating Forest Crowley's murder for a week, returned a verdict yesterday, placing the crime on William J. Myers.

The evidence against Myers is wholly circumstantial, but everythingwaf ly circumstantial, but very strong. When arrested in Cincinnati last Friday, he declared that Crowly was murdered by Brown Allen. Myers was brought back here on Sunday. His shoes have been placed in the tracks where Crowley's body was found and they fitted exactly. Myers pawned Crowley's watch and the dead man's pocket-book was found in a bundle of clothes which Myers left behind him in a hotel here. Brown Allen is a myth. Three men who were arrested as accessories have been releasd.

Myers is also suspected of murdering Mrs. Lilly, an old woman who lived on the outskirts of Atlanta and of beating William Callaway to death at Athens. Mrs. Lilly was murdered last March and Callaway was killed a year ago. Myers is only 19 years old. He admits being an accessory to Crowley's murder, but denies that he did the deed alone.

Nominated for Congress.

Corning, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The republicans of the twenty-ninth congressional district have nominated Hon Charles W. Gillett, of Addison, for member of congress.

INDIANA REPUBLICANS

Grand Opening of the Campaign at Indianapolis.

Ex-President Harrison and Gov. McKinley Present and Make Speeches—Their Remarks Confined Entirely to the Tariff Question—Both Warmly Received.

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—Two prospective candidates for the republican nomination to the highest office in the gift of the American people sat side by side on the platform of Tomlinson hall and vied with each other for the plaudits of one of the most notable assemblages in the history of the Hoosier state. It was the opening of the republican state campaign and six thousand men and women managed to crowd themselves into a space usually allotted to half that number. Pretty well every county in the state was represented by delegations of greater or smaller numbers, and thousands of townspeople who were late in arriving had, of necessity, to be content with lining the eastern and southern fronts of the building and from the sidewalks re-echo the cheers that came through the open windows. It was a few minutes after 1 o'clock when, amid a rent of applause, ex-President Harrison and Governor McKinley, arm in arm, appeared upon the platform with the state committee as escort. The ex-president and candidate for the next republican presidential nomination, with his rival, the chief executive of the Buckeye state, and known as the Napoleon of high tariff, were escored to seats immediately above the footlights, and below a banner upon which their portraits, surrounded by those of Lincoln and Grant, looked out upon the multitude.

No time was lost in preliminaries. Hardly had he taken his seat when Benjamin Harrison, as the presiding officer of the day, advanced to the footlights. He was greeted with applause loud and long continued. The ex-president congratulated his hearers upon the fact that he was to be merely a presiding officer and not a speaker, and then continued:

"I noticed in the audience here today with great satisfaction the presence of many of our older fellow citizens. The old men are fond of telling of the 'good old times,' but the times to which they look back with so much delight are glorified in the fact that the processes of nature and of providence have covered the things which were hard and brought out in the memory those things that were sweet and pleasant. But the good old times which I have in mind are not good old times, but very young good times (applause). So young that only the unweaned babes have no memory of them. Only two years ago this country was not only the most prosperous country in the world—for that it had been before—but it stood upon the highest pinnacle of prosperity that it had ever before attained. (Cheers). This is not the verdict of politicians, it is the verdict of the commercial reporter, it is the expressed opinion of those men who make a profession of studying business conditions. The last two years have been years of distress and disaster. The losses of them defy the skill of the calculator. It has been said, I think, not without reason, that they exceed the cost of the great civil war. But the losses of these last two years have no such compensating thought. There is no good to be gotten out of them, except for guidance. They seem to be of retributive nature like the swamp into which the traveler has unwarily driven that have no ameliorating circumstances, except as they teach him to keep on the foot hill and to follow the road that is on the hill tops. Our people seem to be inclined to make the most that can be made out of these years of disaster. But it is not accepted as a settlement. In the very nature of things a bill thus passed and thus characterized cannot be a settlement, and already we have the proclamation from Mr. Cleveland and from Mr. Wilson that this is only the beginning of the crusade against American industries; that the war is to go on. And so this country is to be held in a state of suspense upon this question. It can be ended in just one way and that is by overwhelming republican victory in November. (Cheers). I don't want to detain you. Indiana today gives a royal reception to Gov. McKinley, who, honoring himself, his state and his country, has battled for his flag, and done conspicuous service in high legislative and executive places."

When Gov. McKinley stepped to the footlights the applause was loud and long continued. The ladies waved their handkerchiefs, while many of the male portion of the vast audience stood on benches and chairs and waved their hats, shouting to their hearts content. In the midst of the tumult Gov. McKinley commenced:

"In November 1892 a republican national administration, able and efficient and patriotic, which had managed the government with exceptional zeal and ability for nearly four years—at the head of which was one of our greatest presidents, the illustrious citizen from Indiana, (applause), he who presides over this meeting—was, by the voice of the American people, voted out of power. Those who assisted in that decree and those who were opposed to it have been regretful and unhappy ever since, (applause and laughter). In obedience to that decree the democratic party has been in supreme control of the government for nearly nineteen months and for the greatest part of that time it has been engaged in trying to revise the tariff. It must have been apparent even to congress that long before it had concluded the consideration of the subject, the people had already revised their opinions and were filled with anxiety to pass judgment upon their work. It did not take the people of this country as long to revise their views as it took the democratic party to revise the tariff. (Laughter.)

"This has been a period of sober reflection, steadied by the discipline of adversity and, after all, the form of instruction which is most effective and enduring is experience. And we have had that with great abundance for the last eighteen months; but have been blessed with little else. The country is ready to speak upon the work of the democratic party. There has never been, I think, in the political history of the country a greater revolution in public sentiment than the one which has occurred in the last eighteen months and since the November elections of 1892. Beginning in New York, thence to Pennsylvania, thence to the two congressional districts in the great empire state of New York, thence to Iowa and to Ohio and a half dozen other states in the year 1893, and then coming down to the election of 1894, beginning with Oregon and ending in Maine, gives to the people realization of the wonderful revulsion that has taken place in the sentiment of the country within twenty-four months. What, my fellow citizens, has been the cause of this remarkable change? The democratic party has been running the government for eighteen months during which time little else has been running. (Great applause). We have had very little to employ us but observtation and reflection. Business has been practically stopped, labor has been little employed and when employed, at greaty reduced wages. The waste of wealth and property and wages is beyond human calculation. Government and people have been draining their resources and both have been running in debt. The government has suffered in its revenues and the people in their incomes. Distress has been everywhere universal. No brightness, no hopes have been manifest anywhere and the appeals to the party were never so universal and incessant; and their necessity never more manifest than in the last two years. Congress has trifled with the sacred trust confided to it by the people, has disgusted its own constituents, imperilled their enterprises and investments and the people have been thinking about it. What, my fellow citizens, in all these months have they done? They have given us a revision of the tariff, such as it is, a revision which the presiding officer, Gen. Harrison, has well said, nobody approves of and everybody is ashamed of. Even Mr. Mills, of Texas, declared in open debate that the Gorman-Brice bill, which has just become a law, was not approved by a thousand people within the United States. This is a bill which has received the condemnation of the president of the United States; a bill which he condemned before its passage and when it was passed, under the mightiest pressure of his party, refused to give to it his signature; a law which he declared was the result of party perfidy and party dishonor and which, since its passage he declares the very communism of pelf. And it is this law—it is the tariff legislation—that the people of this country are asked to approve by their votes in November next, and they are asked to return to congress here in the state of Indiana and in other states the men who have helped to make this law. Will you do it? (Cries of no).

The speaker continued by narrating the history of the Gorman-Brice bill and of its final adoption and was repeatedly interrupted with cheers.

Released from an Asylum.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 26.—Marshal R. Smith, the lawyer who lived in this city for a few years and made himself notorious by peculiar actions, and who after a lapse of a year was heard from in Burlington and Bristol where he startled every body by cranky doings, which resulted in his incarceration in the Trenton lunatic asylum, has been released from that institution on a writ of habeas corpus, granted by Vice Chancellor Bird. His counsel set forth that there was nothing to show insanity as far as the legal papers in the case was concerned.

Anthracite Coal Output.

New York, Sept. 26.—At a meeting of the anthracite coal agents it was decided to limit the output of coal during the month of October to three million tons. This is only seventy-five per cent. of the production necessary during the same month in previous years. The committee do not restrict the output, they limit it to what in their minds will be necessary to meet the demand so that they may make arrangements for the moving and transportation accordingly, and in advance.

An Exhortation to Prayer.

Washington, Sept. 26.—An enclyical letter of Pope Leo, addressed to all patriarchs, primates, archbishops, bishops and others having peace with the Holy See, concerning the rosary of the Blessed Virgin Mary, has just been recived at the aspotolic legation here. For the past three years the pope has issued annually to the world an encyclical on this subject. The month of October is observed in the Catholic church as the month of the rosary and this encyclical is an exhortation to prayer.

Money Knocked Her Senseless.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 26.—Katharine C. McLeod, a 17-year-old clerk of the Boston Store corporation, was plaintiff in a $5,000 suit against her employers for personal injury. While she was measuring off some lace not long ago a specie-laden ball from the cash railway jumped the track and striking her in the head, knocked her senseless. She was not able to work afterwards and has become quite feeble.

Death of a Famous Starter.

New York, Sept. 26.—James G. Sheridan, well-known as one of the best starters that ever dropped a flag at a race track, is dead at his home in this city. His death was due to a stroke of apoplexy with which he was attacked on Sunday. He failed rapidly, and the serious nature of his illness prepared his friends, who knew he had been stricken, for the worst. He became famous some years ago as the only man who ever made a strong bid for the laurels won by Starter Caldwell. Most of his triumphs with the flag were achieved in the west and south.

Democrats at Saratoga Not Settled on a Candidate—Gaynor Sends Another Telegram Declining to Accept the Nomination—Talk of Hill Still Heard in Whispers.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The democracy of the empire state are at sea this morning with William C. Whitney. The convention met yesterday afternoon, opened the campaign with a brilliant speech by Senator Hill on the issues, and adjourned until to-day at noon. Now the contesting delegations have been heard, the platform has been prepared, the rink is ready and the Majestic is expected every hour. Democratic leaders do not openly admit that the convention is waiting to hear from the ex-secretary of the navy. But in a quiet way they have dispatched a messenger to New York with a communication to Mr. Whitney. The messenger is J. Sergeant Cram. It is not clear whether he was selected because he was most familiar with the water-ways of New York, being a dock commissioner, or because he is close to both Tammany hall and William C. Whitney. He dropped out of sight quietly last evening without giving up his room at the Grand Union. He told the clerk to charge the room to Mayor Gilroy, but the latter and others who know the particulars of Mr. Cram's mission profess utter ignorance of it. All the drift to-day is toward Mr. Whitney. The withdrawal of Judge Gaynor left him as the only representative of the reform democracy and harmony candidate in sight. Kings county men refuse to believe Judge Gaynor's withdrawal was final, but leaders from other sections accept it as such though its terms were a trifle vague and those who opposed the Gaynor boom declare that if nominated now the attempted withdrawal was a showing of the white feather which would destroy what chance of success at the polls Mr. Gaynor had. The talk yesterday was for John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, Daniel Lockwood, of Buffalo, and Fred Cook, of Rochester. The latter was quietly dropped when a story was circulated that he accumulated most of his wealth through Pullman stock. It was even said that he had written a letter to Senator Hill withdrawing his name. This was denied but rank and file talked no more of Cook when they heard of his stock transactions. With Gaynor and Cook out of it, the Thacher boom took on great strides and Congressman Dan Lockwood was talked of. But the democrats from below the Harlem talked nothing but Whitney and this morning the situation is Whitney, if he will accept the nomination.

It is no secret that some of the Hill democrats are more favorable toward Whitney than Tammany was toward Gaynor but is understood that Senator Hill, who has said all along that he is for any man to win, favors Whitney as an escape from the present situation. There has been several conferences between Gilroy, Cockran, and other Tammany men and Senator Hill and the latter is believed to have acquiesced in their views as to Whitney's being the man for the emergency. Whether he will accept or not is the question. The convention will not name him until he expresses himself, and with the strong sentiment in his favor it is deemed unwise to force any other candidate upon the convention. In case of Whitney's declination there will remain John Boyd Thacher and Daniel Lockwood as the only candidates prominently before the convention. Before either of these is chosen there will be a strong effort made to induce Senator Hill himself to run. It is said that he will be forced to accept or decline the nomination from the platform. There still remains a possible candidate, in Governor Flower. He has been lost sight of during all the talk here, but the gradual narrowing of the lines makes it not at all improbable, that the man who modestly stepped aside to give a clear field, may be chosen. His name is not prominently mentioned, but a declination from Whitney and a further refusal of Hill may make Roswell P. Flower the dark horse of the convention. It all depends upon Whitney.

Ex-Senator J. J. Linson is still most frequently mentioned for second place. Simon N. Rosendale, of Albany, has been put in the race by the Albanians for the judgeship. This is regarded by some as a confession of a lessening of the chances of Thacher for first place, and by others as an attempt by Albany to get in at one end of the ticket or the other. The committee on permanent organization met and decided that the temporary officers be continued as the permanent officers of the convention. The committee on platform met and elected Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan chairman and completed part of their work.

The A. P. A. plank in the platform will be retained, and the Empire state will be the first to lead in an aggressive war against the A. P. A.

Riverhead, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Judge W. J. Gaynor did not leave the bench till 8 o'clock last night. Among the telegrams he then opened was a long one from several delegates at Saratoga asking him to run. Judge Gaynor sent the following answer:

"I know the people of this state and they know me. I was born among them, went through the common schools with them, worked hard with them and grew up with them, and I know that I now speak to you—their voice. It is that everyone among you stop inquiring and making it a subject of commendation or praise, whether this one or that one has chosen to live in the religion or way of his grandfather and great grandfather instead of that of his father and that you proceed to nominate some one, who, when elected, will stand for and with the people—some one who will not, when elected, straightway betray the people; some one who through the control of the prosecuting officers of the state and the absolute power to remove them for neglect of duty given to the governor by the constitution will give the blow of death to the low, base, ignorant and corrupt government prevailing in some of our cities, instead of looking on as though he had no duty in the matter. Some one who will stop the corruption of legislators and the degradation of our official life by presidents of railroad corporations issuing free passes almost without limit, and otherwise by means of inquiries instituted through district attorneys and grand juries in every county of the state, and putting the guilty ones in criminal docks, as it cannot be done otherwise. Some one who will try to lift the government up to the height of the great heart and intelligence of the industrious, patient and unselfish people of the state. This do, and, mark you, the people will not suffer your nominee to be beaten. If your convention speaks the language of the people, they will understand it. Do not nominate anyone only because his station as a private citizen is high or because powerful people or powerful combinations are at his back, nor simply because he has held political office, however high, for, I say to you that it is of more consequence what your candidate has done and is capable of doing for the people than what the people have in the past done for him. I would change my mind and gladly try to be the voice of the people this fall, but, after the disposition betrayed toward me by some of you fellow-delegates, I cannot."

NEW POSTOFFICE, SURRENDER.

Criticism on the Change of the Name of Appomattox.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The criticism made of the action of the postoffice department in changing the name of the Appomattox postoffice to "Surrender" has brought out a statement from Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell. He said there was much confusion over the names Appomattox Station and Appomattox, places only two miles apart, and the patrons of the Appomattox postoffice asked the department to change its name. Suggestions were invited from the petitioners and the postmaster there; Mr. Rosser, suggested that it be called after him. This was not approved by the department as it would be confused with "Rorrer" another Virginia office and more suggestions were asked. Postmaster Rosser thereupon suggested the name Surrender or Surrenderland, and in explanation why the former name was adopted, Mr. Maxwell said: "This suggestion was indorsed by Congressman Tucker of that district and by the people who used the office. The name Surrenderland was not adopted because of its length, and on the 2d of last July Appomattox postoffice was rechristened Surrender and Nebraska postoffice was changed to Appomattox.

"Nothing more was heard of the matter by the department till the subject got into the papers. No protest against the name Surrender has been received by the department. No objection to it has been heard excepting through the press."

A special from Richmond quotes Gov. O'Ferrall as denying indignantly that he had approved the change in name. "So far from being consulted in the matter," he said, "I never heard or even dreamed of such an outrage upon my people, and would not for one moment have given it my sanction."

Drowned Herself and Baby.

Salem, O., Sept. 26.—An empty baby cariage, to which was tied a letter, was found on the bank of the lake at Tolerton's park this evening, and aroused the suspicion of the authorities as to the suicide. One hundred men went to work dragging the bottom to discover the bodies. The bodies were finally recovered and proved to be those of Mrs. Charles Hunt and infant daughter. The child was strapped to its mother's breast. Family troubles are attributed to the cause of the suicide.

Miss Edith Day of Rockview avenue has returned after a Summer on the sands of Asbury Park.

J. J. H. Pollion drove from Spring Lake to Plainfield today. He will leave for his New York home in a day or two.

John M. Duck of Jackson avenue has been slightly indisposed for a few days, but is now able to attend business.

A young hackman arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Guinee of West Fourth street Sunday morning.

The engagement is announced of Miss Maude Agnes Bowers to Theodore Banks of New York. Mr. Banks is a member of the banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons.

Jules Stephany of Summit avenue is home from his European trip. Mr. Stephany visited France for the purpose of assisting in the settlement of an estate in which his family is interested.

Editor Wilson of the Bound Brook Democrat with his wife and Mrs. J. Smith and Mrs. C. Fisher, all of Bound Brook, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Mundy 526 West Fifth street.

John P. Hutchison, a brainy "down-Easter" from Eastport, Me., a graduate of the New York College Pharmacy, and an experienced metropolitan pharmacist, is the new senior clerk at Leggett's Pharmacy.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dreier, who long have been among Plainfield's most active business people, are at last to indulge in one of the modern luxuries that is a due reward of their years of industry, and have accepted plans for a $6,000 home at the corner of West Front and New streets, adjoining Leal's School.

Wm. Wilcox, whose parents reside on Manning avenue, and who was formerly a clerk in the First National Bank in this city, but compelled by ill health to relinquish his position in that institution, is visiting his parents. Mr. Wilcox has been living in the Adirondacks for a long period, and is greatly improved in health.

Miss E. E. Niles of the High School left town this morning for Binghamton, to attend the funeral tomorrow of her father, Henry L. Niles. Mr. Niles was a resident of Plainfield and vicinity 16 years, leaving in 1875. At one time he was editor of the Central Times. He leaves a widow, his daughter, and two sons in Binghamton.

William L. Smalley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smalley, died this morning at 3, aged one year and seven months. The parents lived in Ashville, N. C., for two years until a short time ago, when they came North with the hope of saving the child's life. They have the sincere sympathy of the many friends of the family in their affliction. The funeral services will be held from the house at 3 tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Winn, whose memory will be perpetuated by the good lives of her children, died yesterday after 60 years of usefulness. She was mother of Michael Winn, manager of the upholstery department at Edsall's, of John Winn, Elizabeth Winn, and Edward Ryan, son by her first husband. The funeral is set for tomorrow morning, from the house, 455 West Third street, at 9, and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30.

Alfred Bonnell, of Manning avenue who will be 90 years of age next April, made a business trip to Perth Amboy yesterday via Lehigh Valley Railroad from South Plainfield. When Mr. Bonnell returned in the afternoon to South Plainfield he called on Mr. Scofield, and thereby missed the stage that plys from that hamlet to this city. As it was 90 minutes before another trip, Mr. Bonnell walked home. Any one seeing Mr. Bonnell's active long strides and robust physique homeward bound would hardly believe that he is so near the century mark. Mr. Bonnell enjoys good health.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Hiram Hornish of North avenue, justly celebrated for the excellence of his system of massage and baths, is accorded the patronage of many of Plainfield's best citizens. His treatment for rheumatism is effective and cures obstinate cases.

RAPID TRANSIT HISTORY

EX-COUNCILMAN L. SPANGENBERG GIVES INSIDE POINTS.

He Has Learned by Experience that Corporations Have No Souls—Gives Credit to Those Who Have Worked for the Enterprise.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—When I received the nomination for councilman, Second Ward, in 1889, I promised my constituents that I would use my best efforts (if elected) to get a street railway in Plainfield. To show how I have kept my word with them leads me to write this article—a simple history of facts, to show the public how I met with success. That this railway materialized goes without saying.

A Mr. Platt filed an application for a street railway in the Common Council of 1890. It was referred to the Street Committee. Seymour G. Smith was chairman (he made the best one that Plainfield has ever had). After waiting upon this individual the whole year, the matter ended in talk, and the aforesaid individual retired.

In 1891 I introduced in the Council a resolution to advertise for parties to build, maintain and operate a street railway in the city. When the bids were opened, there were offers to sell the Council cars, railroad iron, etc., and not a company offered to put in a railway. I was the laughing stock of the Council. I said to these gentlemen, "You may ridicule me as much as you like, but I tell you that before 1891 expires I shall have a first-class equipped electric railway in the city".

I went on to Philadelphia and consulted the Philadelphia Traction Company. They said, "Your city is too small; if you had a population of 40,000 people we would entertain it". I then called upon the Edison, Westinghouse, Thomson-Houston & Co, and other parties; but they all said "The city is too small; a railway there will not pay, etc".

I then felt quite discouraged, and, to say the least, very much disgusted with my efforts. Later on, F. A. Dunham, Plainfield's civil engineer, called upon me to say that he had the parties to fill the bill. I said, "Who are they?" He replied, "Thomas Nevins of Orange, and Messrs Riker & Riker of Newark". An interview was arranged for me to meet Mr. Nevins at the Astor House, in New York. He asked me what kind of a railway I wanted in Plainfield. I told him a first-class electric railway—as good as any in the United States, and if he meant business he could have the franchise without consideration, as a party taking the risk of failure could not afford to pay the city anything for the franchise.

I told him to come to Plainfield, and I would introduce him to the majority of the Common Council (called the "Big Six)", who were in favor of the project, and who had Plainfield's welfare at heart; and that he had no politicians to deal with, but honorable men. He came out to Plainfield a short time afterwards, and I introduced him to them; they all reiterated what I had told him; and he then promised to put in a first-class electric railway, to run in the western part of the city and to Netherwood.

Now came the "tug of war". Rights of way were next in order. "Oh, the deadly trolley was coming!" Opposition by those who ride in their carriages (while the masses walk) was tremendous; no one wanted it in front of his door, but perfectly willing to have it on the next street. Great Cæsar's Ghost! What a racket! But this did not phase me any. I still went on with the good work. Dr. J. T. Fritts, one of Plainfield's eminent physicians, was a great assistance to the Company in securing consents, and no one worked harder than he did (free of all compensation for his valuable services). Walter L. Hetfield gave the Company the use of his offices (free of charge), a free excursion was run to Newark by the Company to let the people see the sample road—the "Rapid Transit". When the contract was being discussed between the Council and the Company, I had the run of a concern in New York, who thoroughly posted me in regard to street railway contracts. The result was, I had a memorandum about a yard long, the contents of which all went into the contract. It was then placed in Craig A. Marsh's hands—Plainfield's able Corporation Counsel—to get in the fine "legal points", and in my opinion, it is today one of the best ordinances upon record.

Messrs. Runyon & Moffett, the young and rising lawyers, have shown great tact and judgment, and have been untiring in their efforts to get the rights of way for the Company.

I desire to say that my good friend, Walter L. Hetfield, one of Plainfield's best lawyers, was a great help to me in a legal way, and in his great efforts to accomplish this public improvement, and especially as the leader of the majority in the Common Council; also to the other four gentlemen—Seymour G. Smith, Uncle Dan S. Roberts, A. T. Gallup, Elmore D. Moffett, for their valuable assistance to me in all their efforts for the city's good.

I have heard that some people think that the "Big Six" (and especially myself) must have made money out of the railway company, as we were so persistent to get it in the town. What rot! The company never had the courtesy to invite us to take a ride when the road was opened, nor even to offer us a pass!

I predicted three years ago that when Plainfield had water, sewer, and a street railway, five years thereafter the population would increase to 30,000 people. I am an old Brooklynite, and well know what public improvements have accomplished in that city, and I am satisfied that our beautiful city, with its elegant churches, fine water, sewers, fine police, excellent public schools, splendidly equipped fire department, a panacea for health, shall rise to be in the near future one of the leading cities in New Jersey.

I have made at least 200 visits to the company in Newark, pleading with them to come in the city and make extensions which we ought to have. My idea of a street railway for Plainfield is a road to run east and west, and north and south; this latter one takes in North Plainfield; at the centre—say, Plainfield station, make your transfers, thus for five cents you can ride to any part of the city. Also, a fine Summer garden should be built on the outskirts of the city, where everybody could get a breath of fresh air, and have some innocent amusements—music, etc., to change the monotony of every day life!

Chandler W. Riker has promised me all along that he would put in the Netherwood extension, and went so far as to say that he would buy property, in order to get through a certain street. I trusted all these railway officials, as I believed they were honorable men. I have learned one lesson—that the old saying is as true as Holy Writ, that corporations have no souls!

L. SPANGENBERG,
ex-Member Common Council.

Plainfield, Sept. 25, 1894.

MR. WHITNEY DECLINES.

New York, Sept. 26.—William C. Whitney arrived in this city early this morning by steamship Majestic, and at once announced without reservation that he declined to allow the use of his name before the Democratic State Convention in connection with the nomination for the Governorship.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

The Pythian Sisters met last night and decided to have a lunch-box social October 17. The by-laws were read for the second time.

Somerset Council met and elected officers last night. The regular installation will be made at the next meeting. Public installation exercises will be held in October.

Miantonomoh's Fair Committee met last night and appointed the following sub-committees for work at the fair October 22 and 29: Stock Committee—Mrs. Dencklau, Mrs. W. A. Westphal, William Newcorn. Printing Committee — Mrs. Charles Holstein, Mrs. William Kline. Contest Committee—Mrs. Charles Holstein, Miss Ella Sebring. Decoration Committee—William J. Kline, David C. Allen.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Fred Smith, president of the Christian Endeavor society of Trinity Reformed Church, went to Newark last night and attended as a Plainfield delegate a "Good Citizenship" meeting in the Peddie Memorial Church.

A "Good Citizenship" meeting was held by the Christian Endeavor Society in the Washingtonville Chapel last evening. Rev. Mr. Scudder opened the meeting with remarks on the new movements toward reform. Justice T. R. Crosley made an address on "The Drunkard's Wife's Repeal", and Miss Pack spoke on "Why and When".

CYCLING COMMENT.

FUNERAL REFORM.

AN ASSOCIATION TO PROMOTE SIMPLICITY AND HEALTHFULNESS.

Bishop Potter President of the Association and Many Prominent Clergymen in It. Fewer Flowers, Less Display, and Burials in the Ground Advocated.

The progressive clergy of New York city have been the prime movers in many reforms. Sometimes these reformers have begun crusades as individuals and at other times they have united efforts. In many cases the success has been so marked that, outside of the public school and the newspaper press, the Church and clergy occupy a high place as reform producers.

The burial of the dead has been a question with which the Church has not bothered itself. Simplicity has not been urged, and, strange as it may seem, the styles of caskets, trimmings, and even funerals, have been coupled with fashion, and change almost as often as the modiste's patterns. Now, however, the clergy of New York city have taken the matter up, and they are going to advocate a radical change and reform. It was recognized that the rich, who can afford to do practically as they like, are always imitated, especially in funerals, by the poor, who cannot do as they would like. Therefore the movement originated in the richest of all churches, the Episcopal, but it has already spread to churches of all denominations, including the Catholic.

Nearly every pastor in New York city is in favor of a burial reform, and has consented to advocate the change, which is based upon two points, public safety and economy. It was through travels in England, particularly the visiting of London and the observance of advanced methods brought about by an older civilization, that the clergy have become aroused and thoroughly alarmed at what they consider a public evil. An association was formed nearly two years ago, but it did little work, and not until to-day has it received a progressive impulse.

The officers of the association include Bishop Henry C. Potter, president; Bishop Doane, Bishop Littlejohn, Rev. Dr. Storrs, Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley and many other prominent clergymen. The object of the Burial Reform Association, as stated in its charter, is:

1. To secure simple funeral services.
2. To promote inexpensive funerals for rich and poor alike.
3. To discourage excessive display of flowers, but not their moderate use.
4. To discourage the use of all emblems which suggest pagan notions of death.
5. To secure burials directly in the soil, and prohibit the use of vaults and cemented graves.
6. To discourage the wearing of crape, especially of crape veils.
7. To preach the doctrine that the Christian should not be mourned for as lost, but considered a victor over death, and so in the rites attending the disposal of his body and in the subsequent life of those who are left in sorrow, there should be the light and glory of the Gospel.

By advocating burial reform from the pulpit and discussing it in the church societies, it is expected that within a short time excessive funeral expenses will be avoided, and that other reforms will be accomplished.

MR. CORBETT ON EXERCISE.

He Prescribes a Regimen For Women Who Want to Be Healthy.

Mr. James J. Corbett, whose physical achievements entitle him to consideration when he speaks of exercise and training, tells what he thinks women ought to do to attain health and beauty. He has not too high an opinion of the development of modern women, and he compares them with the women of Greece and Rome, greatly to the advantage of those ancient dames.

A cold dip is the first feature of Mr. Corbett's regimen for women. He admits that it may require some courage on a morning in winter, but he intimates that after a few trials women will become wedded to the practice. It will waken and invigorate them as nothing else can; it will clear their skin and strengthen their muscles, the great champion says.

After the cold dip he recommends some simple exercise with one-pound dumbbells to bring the muscles of the upper part of the body into action, loosen the sinews, reduce superfluous flesh and develop muscular tissues. Then a rub down with a Turkish towel follows and the body is prepared for its day's work. Mr. Corbett also recommends hot water drunk some time before breakfast, or hot tea. Coffee bears the weight of his disapproval. He believes also in mild milk punches and advises the seeker after strength to drink two a day, one between breakfast and luncheon and one between luncheon and dinner. He does not add whether or not he takes this form of nourishment when he is in training.

Mr. Corbett believes thoroughly in lawn tennis, but he does not believe at all in the way women act after they have been playing. They should not stand around, often in draughts, the great man says, and run the risk of taking cold, but they should speed at once to their rooms and take a sponge bath, followed by a vigorous rubbing down. A cold bath, he thinks, should end the day.

Some Handsome Parasites.

The snow plant, which blooms a vivid crimson in California, is a parasite on the roots of the pine tree, and is obtained by digging a little way into the soil after the snow has melted. The flower is in size and structure much like that of a medium-sized pineapple and loses its beauty immediately after removal from the sod. A great variety of pine trees, as well as those of the cedar, madrone, manzanta, are found in California forests, and there are to be seen the strange tree tendrils of the white pine, which project along the body of the tree from its base to its topmost banches assuming diverse and fantastic forms, and clothed with a brilliant golden moss. These tree tendrils remind one in every particular, save that of their gigantic size, of coral formations, and seem aptly to deserve the name of moss coral as they droop their brilliant armlets toward the earth, apparently recognizing an affinity with the coral creations of the deep.

The Busy Bee.

Another tradition has been shattered by the iconoclastic hand of science. The popular impression concerning the bee must be revised, says an investigator of the habits of the honey-makers. The bee has long been praised for its industry and diligence, but it has recently been learned that in these respects the bee is a fraud. As a matter of fact, "the little busy bee" works but about three hours a day, and is a most thorough-going loafer for the rest of the time.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

ORGANIZING A POWERFUL FOOTBALL ELEVEN.

Talk of Combining with Leal's in an All-Plainfield Team—The Daily Press Medal Excites Admiration—Earthworms Among the Books.

The regular weekly military drill was held yesterday morning, but in the period immediately following recess instead of after chapel exercises as during last year. We have had a number of visitors with us during the week. Miss Elsie Horne, '94, and Miss Mary Miller, '94, have been back, and yesterday we saw the familiar faces of Ralph Campbell, '93, and Walter B Rittenhouse, formerly '95, but now freshman at Stevens. The Zoology Class is hard at work studying the earthworm, specimens of which were crawling around the science room yesterday. The Physics Class is busy over parallel forces, and a number of the class come back everyy day to have Mr. Allen kindly explain some difficult portion of the days lessons. The Cicero Class will soon take up the translation of Latin prose.

The Daily Press medal for the all-round championship at the field day of October 6 has been received, and it is a beauty—a silver bar with "Daily Press Medal" enameled in blue, to which is attached a silver scroll with a handsome design with the lamp of wisdom in bas-relief and an appropriate engraving. It will be well worth winning in any case, and just the sight of it has encouraged many more to try. All of the High Schools best athletes will contest, and there is any number of new boys who may become a second Woltmann, Freeman or Plender.

After several days of practice and any amount of consultation, the personelle of the football eleven has about been decided. The centre will be defeaded by Thomas A. Cuming '93, heavy, sure-footed and very quick. A. B. Crane '97 will probably guard Cuming's left, and Van R. Schuyler '97 his right; both are heavy men. Crane is a good tackler, blocks well, and understands interference. Schuyler, who played last year on Leal's School team, is very strong, and can care for his opponent. There are several candidates for the position of tackle. Raymond Carroll is looked upon for one; and Ernest Rapalye, '97, Herbert Richardson '96, and Volney F. Green '96, all have a fair show for the other. Carroll is a good runner, is heavy, and a sure tackler. Rapalje is lighter, but quick at getting through the line, and good as a runner or tackler. Richardson is also quite light, but is one of the best ground-gamers on the team, and always makes a sure tackle. The end positions will probably be filled by Elwood Sebring '95 and George A. Horne '95. Sebring is a plucky player, quick at getting through, a hard tackler, and a ready kicker. Horne is one of the best tackles on the team, and although rather light is always sure of his man. He also is quick at getting down the field. F. Wilbur Cornwell '96 is the candidate for quarter back and fills that position very acceptably. He is rather light, but his quickness makes up for that, and when he has the ball, five yards may be looked for as the game. The halfbacks are Edgar I. Serrell '95 and Fred H. Freeman '94. Serrell is a fast runner, hits the line heavily, and makes a good man back of the line. Freeman also is a very fast runner, and let him have an open field ahead and there are few that can ever catch him. He is very quick and a sure tackler. When Freeman is unable to play Volney F. Green will take his place. Green, though rather small, is heavy, and his dodging qualities are almost equal to those of Freeman. He is one of the best tacklers on the team, and downs his man every time. When not playing half he will act as tackle, as he is too valuable a man not to have in every game. As candidate for full back Thomas Smith stands out alone. Besides being the best drop kicker and punter on the eleven, he is sure in tackling, and almost always gains the required five yards when he has the ball.

There is talk of uniting the elevens of the High School and Leal's School and calling them the All-Plainfield eleven.

The exact number from the P. H. S. A. A. who will join in the Crescent Wheelmen's lantern parade tomorrow evening is not known, but it is estimated that from twenty-five to thirty will turn out. Bugler McGee is expected to furnish music during the evening, but if he is unable to be present Webster Littell will act in that capacity. Littell will serve as bugler in the afternoon's run.

It is hoped that the Crescent Oval can be secured for the field day, as there are trotting races on the Gentlemen's Driving Park every Saturday afternoon, and owing to the distance we would have but a small attendance. The entries and handicaps for the field day will be published in The Daily Press next week Thursday or Friday.

NINETY-FIVE.

Results of the Sunday Row.

Mrs. Michael Newman of the Boulevard was arrested yesterday afternoon for keeping a disorderly house. City Judge Coddington placed her under $100 bond to appear Saturday morning at 9. Her daughter, Mrs. Charles Keller, was also arrested. She was charged with disorderly conduct, and released under a $100 bond given by James Dady to appear in court at the same time. William Barry, who was arrested in consequence of the Sunday racket, claims to be held merely as a witness.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SUIT OVER FURNITURE.

Accused Women Deny the Charge of Criminal Intent.

Justice Mosher's Court was filled to overflowing with a crowd of colored people from 4 to 6 yesterday afternoon. The case on hand was that of Charles Bonney against Mrs. Jeanette Peterson and Mrs. Annie Potter on the charge of removing furniture from his wife's apartments.

S. S. Swackhamer was counsel for the plaintiff, and H. O. Hance for the defendants. The following witnesses testified for Bonney: Sarah Green, Hattie Randolph, Elizabeth Martin, Mary Thomas, Robt and Horatio Randolph. For the defendants were William Manning, Catherine Manning, Mary L Doyle, Elizabeth Martin, Hattie Randolph, Horatio Randolph, J. S. Jones and Mrs. Henry Peterson.

Bonny's claim, as stated by Attorney Swackhamer in summing up, was that the two women had taken the bedding and furniture of the dead woman away when all really belonged to him.

The defendants said that at first they had simply taken the goods upstairs to the rooms of the Randolph's to make room for the funeral. A year ago Mrs. Bonny had quarreled with her husband and given her belongings to her sister and Mrs. Potter's daughter. They had made a memorandum of all the articles.

They had hired Robert Randolph afterwards to take the goods to the house where Mrs. Potter worked. In regard to the insurance policy, it appeared that a dispute about the money was settled by the undertaker, who took it to pay for the funeral. Counselor Hance maintained that the women had acted with no criminal intent, believing that the goods belonged to them. The defendants wished to have the case settled at once, but Justice Mosher reserved decision until this afternoon at 4.

At Rest.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Clara S. Pearson, wife of Z. Pearson, were held this afternoon at 2, at the house, 145 West Second street. Rev. Mr. Alberg of Newark, who preaches at the Swedish services in the Park Avenue Baptist Church, officiated. With a few tenderly spoken words he offered his sympathies to the bereaved relatives and friends and referred to their hope in the future.

The floral tributes were very beautiful. Besides those from members of the family and friends were a wreath of white pinks and white and tea roses presented by the Swedish Thule to which the decedent belonged. The name of the society was inscribed in purple immortelles.

The pall-bearers were Thomas Calin, George Bedford, Claus Verlander, John Johnson, Gustav Widen and Henning Enander. The interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

There Are Others, Too.

The clairvoyant relapsed into a trance of much depth. "I see", she said, "the state of affairs a century hence—all revealed, all clear and pellucid!"

"Tell us", we cried, with anxious voices, "is Plainfield still on the map?"

"Yes", she answered, "yes—and the Choral Society is still singing—"

We rose and clasped our hands expectantly.

Thoughtfully she went on—'Still singing 'The Messiah' and 'Elijah'."

We remembered that our span was but three score and ten and took heart.

Leads the State.

Translated by The Daily Press from Der Somerset Bote

A true translation of that article, "Hocus Pocus", which appeared in the last number of the "Bote", about the Somerset County Fair, was published in Thursday evening's Plainfield Daily Press, the only English newspaper in the State of New Jersey that had the enterprise and knowledge in its office to translate the arguments of its contemporaries in any language.

Congressman Clark Escaped.

Captain Gilbert S. Cook was out for a drive last evening with Congressman Alvah S. Clark, in Somerville, when his team took fright and bolted. The wagon was overturned, and both men were thrown out. Capt. Cook was badly hurt, but Mr. Clark escaped serious injury. Mr. Cook is a member of the New York Straw Board Company.

Light!

Storekeepers should be more careful in protecting their stores against burglary. Stores should be lighted so that the police can see from the street through to the rear door, the weak spot in Plainfield's stores. But few of the places of business about town are properly lighted for protection by the police.

Same Way as About the Sabbath.

The Jewish New Year will be observed next Monday and Tuesday at the beginning of the year 5656. Both days are celebrated because doubt exists as to which is the correct date.

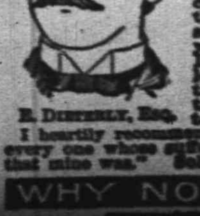
—The Camera Club met last night in G. Thorn's studio to decide upon occupying the new rooms in the Babcock Building, October 1. The architect reported that the rooms would not be ready in time, so no action was necessary.

CURES OTHERS

To purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, and thereby invigorate the liver and digestive organs, brace up the nerves, and put the system in order generally, "Golden Medical Discovery" has no equal.

DYSPEPSIA IN ITS WORST FORM.

ERVIN DIETERLY, Esq., of Gettysburgh, Pa., writes: "Only those who have had dyspepsia in its worst forms know what it really can be. What such a case needs I have found in your kindly encouragement, and your 'Golden Medical Discovery.'



E. DIETERLY, Esq.

Although I can now claim, if any one can, that I have a cast iron stomach, I always keep your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pellets' on hand when settling down from an active summer's vacation, to quiet student life.

I heartily recommend these medicines to every one whose suffering is of the nature that mine was." Sold everywhere.

Getting Ready for Bowling.

Another meeting of the Plainfield Bowling Club was held in Trade Temple last evening. President H. C. Van Emburgh occupied the chair.

New members to the number of 25 were admitted. A committee of three were appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws. The arranging of an individual handicap tournament was left to the Bowling Committee. A challenge was received from a Summit club which desires to play two five-men games, the first in Plainfield and the second in Summit.

The Bock Case Further Postponed.

Charles Bock's application for a license to keep a hotel by the brook will not come up for consideration next Friday morning. The judges have notified the interested parties that they have postponed the matter until some day next week because of the illness of Mr. Bock's counsel, Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed.

—The annual meeting of the Park Club will be held in the club-house Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, when officers and governors will be elected and proposed constitutional amendments considered.

—James DeCamp, the night engineer at W. H. and W. VanWinkle's grocery store on Somerset street, went squirrel hunting on his new bicycle yesterday. He fell in a swamp, broke the gearing of his bicycle, lost his flobert rifle, and says he didn't see even a chipmunk.

—The millinery department of Lederer's for the coming season will be personally conducted by Mrs. H. M. Kutner, formerly of New York city. The designer, Miss Nellie Reger, is an artist of unquestioned ability with several years' experience among high-class millinery establishments. The dates set for opening are Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

WARNINGS AGAINST THE CYCLONE.

Vessels Kept in Port—Violent Gales Expected in This Section.

New York, Sept. 26—All captains, masters, and owners of vessels were warned today by the local United States Weather Bureau not to leave port if they wished to escape the cyclone that is now approaching this region from the Gulf of Mexico. Many vessels, heeding the warning, have postponed their sailing, especially those that intend a southward voyage. The Clyde Line refused to allow its steamer to the West Indies to sail today, the vessel being ordered to lie off Bedloe's Island until the storm had passed.

The storm, which, according to all accounts is a fierce one, is due in this city this evening. Freshening breezes will denote its proximity, and they are expected to increase in strength during the night and tomorrow, for at its present rate of progress it is not likely to be central here until tomorrow evening. The predictions are that it will be a three days' storm, if not longer.

Unless the weather bureau observers are very much mistaken, the storm will be the severest this city has experienced for years, not excepting the great storm of August last year. It was central off the coast of Florida at 8 this morning, and was then moving northeastward directly for this city. The gales that attend the cyclone thus far have blown from thirty to seventy miles an hour.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Birdsall have returned from their visit in Somerville, Mass.

Dr. and Mrs. Brakely started today for a two days visit in Trenton and Princeton, with their horse and buggy.

Mr. Hinebouch, operator at Tidewater Pipe Line, has gone to Pottersville, Pa., and Fred Andrews has taken his place.

Mrs. E. D. GaNun and daughter of Plainfield are spending a few days with Mrs. GaNun's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley.

The Ladies Orchestra of Dunellen and New Market met at the home of Mrs. Buckley on North avenue, Plainfield, last evening.

Paul Kratzel received an order yesterday for a pair of hunting boots, which will measure twenty-nine inches in length when finished.

The trial of Seader against Kratzel did not come off yesterday before Justice Storms. W. A. Coddington and Lawyer DeMeza did not appear. The date has not been fixed yet.

A runaway, which was exceedingly complicated, occurred yesterday afternoon in which a horse belonging to Firman Gise was the principal actor. He started from John Apgar's yard, just after he was hitched to a wagon. No one was standing near at the time. The scene of the accident was in front of Hetfield's butcher shop where the rig collided with another horse and wagon. The latter horse received a severe shaking up. Damage amounting to some broken harness and a shaft was the result. The two animals were separated before any further damage was done.

Staten Island Grand-Stand Burned.

The grand-stand on the baseball grounds of the Staten Island Athletic Club on Bement avenue, West Brighton, was completely destroyed by fire at 4 this morning. The fire was doubtless of incendiary origin.

—Manager Charles Runyon and a gang of men are taking up the slack on the telephone line to New Brunswick.

—The football team of the Crescent Wheelmen have commenced their practice on the Park Avenue field. Louis Darling is in charge.

—The boy in the picture is having fun with the wall-paper, but if you take Marsh, Ayres & Co.'s advice you can get pleasure and profit both.

—Because of his experience and ability, H. E. Gayle of Plainfield has been selected by the insurance company to estimate in replacing a burned barn near White House.

—A brother of Charles Mattison who came from Flemington to visit him fell in a fit on lower Somerset street this afternoon at 1, and was taken to his brother's home on Linden avenue.

—Workmen today shortened the stone abutments by the driveways in front of Charles Hyde's property on East Front street. The ends were cut off to make it impossible for careless drivers to meet with an accident there at night.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy, she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

RUSSIA'S BLOOD IS UP

The Czar's Troops in Hot Pursuit of Chinese.

Japan's New Treaty—Her Offer to the United States to Free Silk and Tea from Tax—Killing of Gen. Tso-Fung at Ping-Yang Causes the Emperor to Issue an Edict of Regret.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—The Cologne Gazette's St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that dispatches have been received there from Vladivostock confirming the report that a Chinese mob had attacked and plundered a Siberian railway station in the province of Ussuri, and that eight Russians, who attempted to defend the station, were killed by the mob.

These dispatches add that Russian troops have started in pursuit of the marauders, who have crossed the Chinese frontier.

London, Sept. 26.—A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that in an imperial edict issued on Sept. 23 the emperor of China expresses great personal regret at the death of Gen. Tso-Fung, who was killed in the recent battle at Ping-Yang, and orders that his remains be given all the military honors due a provincial commander-in-chief, and that his sons be treated with especial favor.

The dispatch further says that Gen. Tso-Fung, though severely wounded, continued to lead his troops until struck by the bullet that killed him.

A dispatch from Shanghai to the Times states that the anti-foreign feeling in Pekin is growing steadily. Foreigners while on the streets of the city are constantly subjected to insult and annoyance by soldiers.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The treaty which Japan seeks to negotiate with the United States, is drawn on practically the lines of the treaty recently agreed to by Great Britain.

It will specifically enumerate the respective rates of duty which will be levied on importations from the United States, and it will provide for the abolition of the export duty on silks and teas, both of which articles are principally exported to the United States.

SULLIVAN TO RETIRE.

After This Year the Pugilist Will Go In for Farming.

Washington, Sept. 26.—John L. Sullivan, who is now appearing in Washington in his new play, announces that he wil give up the stage after this season.

"This is my last year on the road," he said. "I have a little farm of eighty acres, 100 miles out of Boston, stocked with sixteen or eighteen Holstein cattle and four bulls, eight or ten Jerseys and a lot of sheep, and if you ever come out to that farm years from now, you'll se a big fat man enjoying life, with a lot of children running around the yard. That man will be John L. Sullivan, once a noted prize fighter I'm tired of this traveling about the country. How do I know where I'm going when I get on a train?"

Cholera in Europe.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The state department has received the following cable from the consul at Hamburg relating to cholera: "Latest official sanitary bulletin covering Sept. 11 to 17 reports 11 cases, 2 deaths in east Prussia; 13 cases, 5 deaths, Vistutu district, west Prussia; 4 cases, 1 death, district of Nettie and Warthe rivers, Posen. Same bulletin, covering 8th to 14th, reports 56 cases, 24 deaths in Silesia. Consul Opp reports infection in the district of Oppeln, Silesia, and in Vistutu and Nelze, and disease apparently decreasing."

Rockafellow Makes a Statement.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 26.—F. V. Rockafellow, the Wilkesbarre banker who suspended business in February, 1893, and defrauded his creditors out of half a million dollars, has written a letter from the Eastern penitentiary to a local paper in which he undertakes to tell how he lost the money. He says his failure was due to carelessness in business, that he was too liberal to patrons of the bank, was victimized by depositors and gave too much money to politics.

Miss Melton's Assailants Sentenced.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The department of state has received a cablegram from Minister Terrell at Constantinople announcing that the four men, Halil, Fakhi, Abdullah and Jerhomere, who assaulted Miss Anna Melton June 14, 1893, at Daree, near Amadie, Mosul, had been convicted, and on Sept. 17 were sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The accused had already been imprisoned fourteen months awaiting trial.

Cholera Patients Burned to Death.

Warsaw, Sept. 26.—Sixty houses in the city of Biaszki, in the district of Kalish, Russian Poland, where the cholera is making fearful ravages, were set on fire last night and completely destroyed. A number of the inmates of the houses, who were suffering from the dread disease, were burned to death.

Bank President Arrested.

Milwaukee, Sept. 26.—Judge Walber has ordered that a warrant be issued for the arrest of Frederick T. Day, president of the defunct Plankinton bank, and that the exparte examination with regard to William Plankinton, the vice-president, be continued to Oct. 16, for the purpose of taking his testimony.

Fined for Selling Oleomargarine.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 26.—Two grocerymen have been fined $100 each by an alderman for selling oleomargarine. State Dairy Commissioner Reeder preferred the charges.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

"I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

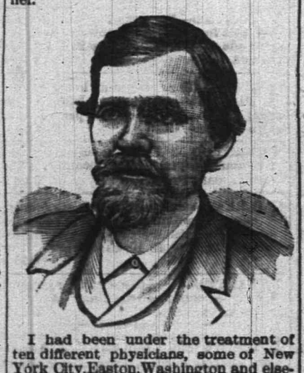
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill

RECEPTION TO HILL

Warm Welcome on His Return to Albany.

He Makes a Short Address and Promises To Express His Views at Length Later in the Campaign—The Nominee for Lieutenant Governor, Daniel N. Lockwood, Also Makes a Short Speech — Justice Gaynor Not Present—Proceedings of the Convention.

Albany, Sept. 27.—Senator Hill was serenaded by the Albany democratic phalanx and several thousands of his enthusiastic fellow citizens at the Hotel Kermore shortly after his return from Saratoga. The senator, accompanied by Col. T. S. Williams, Governor Flower's secretary, and Mr. Hill's private secretary during his term as chief executive, and by Col. J. S. McEwan, of this city, arrived home over the Delaware & Hudson railroad in the "Transit," Supt. Hammond's private engine. They went immediately to the hotel. The phalanx came to town shortly afterward, accompanied by many of the prominent convention delegates. Senator Hill received in his room a constant stream of visitors including Lieut. Gov. Sheehan, ex-Senator William C. Brown, Senator Cantor and ex-Comptroller Frank Campbell. Col. John V. L. Pruyn conveyed to him the congratulation of Hon. John Boyd Thacher.

Upon the arrival of the serenaders the senator candidate was waited upon by representative members of the phalanx and Albany democratic marching club and escorted to the balcony overlooking the entrance to the hotel. His arrival within view of the throng on the street was the signal for great cheering. Collector of Internal Revenue Pratt made the introductory address. He said the democratic phalanx was proud to honor the man called unwillingly to lead the democratic hosts to victory in November next, and he took great pleasure in introducing Senator and to-be Governor Hill. Senator Hill was again heartily cheered. He spoke as follows:

"Fellow democrats and gentlemen of the phalanx: For this generous reception and the compliment of this serenade I tender you my sincere thanks. This demonstration is a part of the unexpected events of a day which to me has been one of mingled surprises and embarrassment. The action of the democratic convention which is the occasion of this assemblage and which was as unforeseen by you as by myself imposes responsibilities and obligations of which I cannot speak to-night. Unwilling as I was to receive the honor which the convention in spite of my protest has sought to confer upon me I am deeply touched by the unusual manifestation of confidence and esteem which accompanies the action of the convention, and to-night I can only express in feeble language a small part of the gratitude which I feel toward the democracy of New York. At some future time I hope to express my views at length upon the issues involved in this most important campaign. I renew my thanks for this demonstration and bid you good night."

At the close of Senator Hill's remarks, Hon. Andrew Hamilton, ex-district attorney, proposed three cheers for "Gov. Hill," and they were given with a will. Calls for Lockwood were next in order and the congressman soon appeared upon the balcony surrounded by Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan, Senator Cantor and prominent Erie county democrats. Senator Cantor presented him briefly as the next lieutenant-governor.

Congressman Lockwood after the applause had subsided, made a short speech in which he said he appeared before them as one representative of the democratic party unexpectedly placed in a position of honor which demanded at their hands loyal, earnest and unqualified support. Democrats throughout the state of New York must come into the campaign equipped for work. He had no idea of placing the issues before them to-night but would say that he stood on the old and tried issues of the democracy. State Assessor William H. Wood, of Poughkeepsie, also spoke eloquently.

PROCEEDINGS IN DETAIL.

Work of the Democratic Convention at Saratoga.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—When Senator Guy arose to address the democratic convention yesterday afternoon a deep stillness settled over the body for it was known by all present that he was about to place in nomination the name of a man who when carrying their standard New York democracy fears no defeat. Mr. Guy stood on a chair while speaking. He said, in part:

"Mr. Chairman: I rise to perform a duty which I have waited for some older democrat from this county to perform. I am about to nominate for governor a man, the mention of whose name warms the heart of every true democrat. He must be our candidate. He is the only man with whom we are beforehand sure of winning. He is the chief democrat in our ranks. He must sink his personal views and again become our standard-bearer. We need his services now and we must demand that he give them to us and consent to lead us on to victory. The situation is grave. The only thing for this convention to do is to assert that we know the meaning of the term 'I am a democrat' and knowing, should proceed to nominate that prince of leaders who presides over our deliberations. He has told us that he cannot accept our nomination. But I tell you, gentlemen, we owe a courtesy to the democracy of the state which is higher than the courtesy which we owe to him. I nominate the one man who typifies what democracy typifies. I present the name of the chief exponent of democratic principles in our party, David B. Hill." (Cheers and wild enthusiasm).

After Senator Guy had finished Bourke Cockran, of New York, arose and, climbing over the reporters' table to the platform, spoke in high praise of the wisdom of selecting Senator Hill.

Col. William L. Brown also spoke, seconding the nomination of Senator Hill for New York county. Half a dozen delegates moved to suspend the roll call for nominations, but Senator Hill quietly remarked that he had some experience with legislative bodies and the rules of the assembly under which the convention was acting would not permit the suspension of the roll call, and directed the secretary to proceed.

The counties of Oneida, Orange, Oswego, Queens, Rockland, St. Lawrence, Schoharie, Steuben, Suffolk, Tompkins, Wayne, Westchester and Yates all seconded Mr. Hill's nomination.

Galen R. Hitt, of Albany, who placed in nomination John Boyd Thacher for governor, then arose and said: "Albany county claims Senator Hill as one of her sons, and when she placed another name before the convention it was with the understanding that Senator Hill would not accept the nomination. Mr. Chairman, there is no county which so gladly recognizes the sentiment of the convention as being for yourself. We have no candidate to stand in your way. I can assure the delegates of this convention that if Senator Hill will accept this nomination old Albany will give him a larger majority than was ever given any candidate. We want him for our standard-bearer and hope he will accept."

This was a signal for another shout of applause. In the midst of it all Senator Jacob A. Cantor shouted that as Albany had withdrawn her candidate, there was but one name before the convention, moved that David B. Hill be nominated by acclamation.

Secretary Charles R. De Freest put the question.

The yells of "aye" shook the rafters and there were no noes. De Freest declared Senator Hill nominated and delegates and shouters cheered and threw their hats in the air. Senator Hill stood calmly, impassively in his place, gavel in hand, and endeavored to restore order. He ignored the will of the convention for the second time and bringing his gavel down with a resounding whack declared the delegates and their spontaneous proceedings out of order.

Mayor Gilroy, Bourke Cockran, James W. Hinckley and other prominent leaders climbed up on the platform and urged Senator Hill to accept. He still refused to recognize the unparliamentary methods of the unterrified democracy. Then Mayor Gilroy got a chance to say a word to the convention. He said: "I only desire to say that there can be no question that it is the unanimous desire of this convention that David B. Hill carry the democratic standard, and he has never yet refused to obey the demands of his party. There can be no doubt now if he is nominated properly he will accept. (Cheers). We should, however, proceed deliberately, so that there can be no charge that this convention was stampeded for any man."

This had a pacifying effect, and the roll call of counties on the ballot for governor was proceeded with. Each county as called voted solidly for Hill. The votes of New York and Kings were cheered. When Monroe was called George Raines, leader of the factions there, arose and said that as the convention had given each of the eighteen delegates of each faction half a vote a piece he was instructed to cast all the half ballots for Senator Hill. He added amid laughter and cheers: "And it is too late for him to teach us a new meaning, for I am a democrat." When the roll call was ended, Secretary De Freest announced in his most ponderous tones "the ballot shows that 333 votes have been cast, and all were for David B. Hill. For the second time I declare him nominated unanimously."

That settled it. Pandemonium broke loose. Delegates climbed over tables and chairs, and upon the platform. They congratulated the presiding officer and would hardly refrain while he pounded with his gavel for order.

A motion was made and carried to proceed with nominations for lieutenant governor. The present occupant of the office of lieutenant governor caught the chairman's eye, and was cheered when the delegates recognized him.

Mr. Sheehan said: "I rise to present the name of a man for lieutenant governor; a man whom you all know, a man of character, a man of purpose, and a man who never fails to get the support of all good democrats. He is a man whose integrity is never questioned and whose ability is recognized on all sides. Gentlemen, I present the name of Daniel N. Lockwood, of Erie." (Cheers).

No other nominations for lieutenant governor were made and Charles Dawson, of Steuben, seconded the nomination of Congressman Lockwood. Mr. Sheehan, by unanimous consent moved that Lockwood be nominated by acclamation. This was done with a hurrah.

Nominations for associate judge of the court of appeals were then in order, and James D. Bell, leader of the Kings county democracy, took the platform and said: "On behalf of the fifty-four delegates of Kings county, I come here to demand a sacrifice of one of Kings county's sons, and as this is a day of sacrifices, I hope and trust that as your chairman has sacrificed himself our distinguished judge will sacrifice himself and become our candidate for judge of the court of appeals. I name a man whose strength, integrity and courage have been demonstrated, and in presenting the name of William J. Gaynor (cheers) I give you a man that will add strength to the ticket. With Hill, Lockwood and Gaynor you will have a ticket which cannot be beaten on the 6th of November. Mr. Bell moved that Judge Gaynor be nominated by acclamation. This was done with a shout, and delegates having completed their ticket began to leave the hall.

On motion of Mayor Gilroy, the convention at 3:45 o'clock adjourned sine die.

One Hundred Guns for Hill.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 27.—One hundred guns were fired here by democrats in honor of Senator Hill's nomination for governor. Local democrats are jubilant over the result of the convention and are preparing for a large demonstration to ratify Hill's nomination.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

SENATOR DAVID BENNETT HILL.

He Has Held Many Offices, and May Yet Hold the Highest.

In his recent speech at Bangor, Maine, Governor McKinley spoke of Senator David B. Hill as "the greatest leader in the Democratic party," and while this estimate will hardly meet with universal approval, it is everywhere admitted that he is a brainy and sagacious man. His speeches in the Senate are among the most notable delivered during the recent session—some would say the most notable—and they attracted widespread attention.

Senator Hill is one of the many self-made men prominent in public life to-day. He was a poor boy, and when he went to Elmira, N. Y., to read law in 1843, when twenty years of age, he had only his ability and his pluck with which to command success. It is said that he published a Democratic newspaper when only eight years old, and made a political speech when seventeen; and it is certain that he took naturally to politics and was yet young when he was a leader in the local affairs of Elmira. He was elected alderman, city attorney and mayor of the city, and also represented the county two terms in the Assembly.

DAVID B. HILL.

In 1882 he had become prominent enough in the State to be named by the Democrats for Lieutenant Governor on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland, and his majority of 196,000 was the greatest ever given any candidate of the State. Upon Mr. Cleveland's accession to the Presidency Mr. Hill became Governor, and at the end of the term he was elected to the place, and in 1888 was elected again. The fact that he carried the State, while President Cleveland lost it, in the national contest led to hard feeling which developed two factions in the party. Mr. Hill and his friends always strenuously denied the charge of bad faith and asserted that they did all in their power for the national ticket.

To keep off a fight in the party, and hold the solid vote necessary to an election, Governor Hill became a candidate for United States Senator during the last year of his Governorship, and was elected. In the Senate he has taken high rank, and his ability has been conceded even by those who condemn his political methods.

Senator Hill celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of his birth Aug. 29 at his handsome home in Albany. He is a bachelor, as Mr. Cleveland was when first elected to the Presidency, and as Tilden was when a candidate. There have been rumors that he was to marry, but they have never been anything more than rumors; and some suggest that the records of the bachelor Governors Tilden and Cleveland confirm him in his celibacy, and that he will remain a bachelor until the Democratic party nominates him for the Presidency.

Pingree Potato Scheme a Success.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 27.—Mayor Pingree's famous potato-patch scheme, by which several hundred acres of unimproved property in the suburbs were last summer, planted with potatoes the crop from which, it was hoped, would help feed the citizens' poor and unemployed during the coming winter, is already an assured success. A rough estimate of the total crop made from digging up a small section of the land planted, shows that it will aggregate fully 15,000 bushels. This would make the Pingree crop worth $9,000. As the total investment for seed, labor in plowing and planting, etc., was but $2,500, there seems to be a good margin of profit for the poor in the scheme.

Old-Fashioned Encounter at Yale.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 27.—The freshmen and sophomore classes at Yale indulged in an old-fashioned encounter last night. The '97 men organized a brass band and paraded the streets, calling for the freshmen who formed to the number of 400 and several impromptu rushes resulted. Wrestling matches were held between representatives of both classes.

DEMOCRATS PLEASED

The Feeling in Washington Over Hill's Nomination.

Administration Democrats Somewhat Disappointed That Mr. Whitney Was Not Selected, But the General Belief Is That a Strong Ticket Was Named in New York State.

Washington, Sept. 27.—The nominations at Saratoga are well received by the rank and file of the democratic officials and others at Washington. Popular interest in the convention's actions has been unusually great and political Washington followed the proceedings with an eagerness second only to that which attaches to a presidential nomination. In the departments about town generally the work of the democrats at Saratoga formed the principal topic of conversation. Every one whose opinion was worth the slightest consideration was questioned as to the probable outcome. The inquiries came from officials of high and low degree; from doctors, lawyers and other professional men as well as laymen generally. The fact is mentioned to show the wide curiosity as to whom the convention would endorse. When it became known that Senator Hill had been nominated by acclamation there was a feeling of relief and the most frequently expressed opinion was that the ticket was not only strong from every point of view, but that it was, all things considered, the best that could be selected. So far as Washington is concerned, Senator Hill may be generally said to be popular. The administration democrats, as the principal office-holding class are denominated, with few exceptions, declined to express an opinion for publication, but from their private utterances they regret that Mr. Whitney or some other gentleman more in sympathy with the president had not been chosen. It is said by these gentlemen that the differences between Senators Hill and Murphy on the one hand, and President Cleveland on the other, might have been settled at the beginning of the administration had the two senators been willing to accept the olive branch of peace as tendered by the administration. More than a year ago overtures of peace were made to the New York senators by a gentleman directly representing the administration. In pursuance of this scheme of reconciliation, it is said, Messrs. Hill and Murphy were invited to the white house to dinner at which time it was purposed to bury the political hatchet forever. The invitation to dinner was coldly declined as were also the overtures for peace. Since then—according to the administration people by whom this chapter of unpublished political history is now given out for the first time—the two New York senators have waged unceasing war upon the administration. They have held up scores of nominations of men who belong to the wing of the party represented by the president and in other ways have used their influence to embarrass the administration.

These gentlemen, however, are frank enough to say that the ticket contains great elements of strength and that it ought to win. It is believed by them that Senator Hill will secure large contributions of funds which will give the state committee all the money necessary for an aggressive campaign. They also say that they believe the ticket will secure the endorsement, with few exceptions, of all the democrats in the state.

NO OPINION TO EXPRESS.

Mr. Cleveland Receives the News of Senator Hill's Nomination.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 27.—A representative of the United Press was the first to notify the president of the result of the democratic state convention in Saratoga. Mr. Cleveland appeared quite anxious to hear, and during a conversation on the veranda was asked if he had anything to say as to the nomination of David B. Hill for governor.

Mr. Cleveland replied: "I am not in touch with the political situation in New York, but no doubt the convention has done the best thing possible."

He asked about the other nominations, and if Senator Hill had consented to run.

Gaynor Anxious to Help Hill.

Riverhead, L. I., Sept. 27.—Judge Gaynor made the following statement to a reporter of the United Press this morning: "I will only say that no one has authority to vouch or speak for me in this matter, and to be certain that I injure no one, I shall say nothing about it until I learn all the facts. My inclination would be to do almost anything to help Senator Hill, whose recent development in the senate satisfies every one that he is a very able man and should silence all bickerings against him."

JERRY SIMPSON ENDORSED.

Action of Kansas Democratic Committee Causes Some Criticism.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 27.—The democratic congressional committee of the Seventh district met at Great Bend and endorsed Congressman Jerry Simpson for re-election. Democrats here say that the committee had no authority to do this and that the Australian ballot law in Kansas would forbid it, so that as there is a large element of the democracy opposed to any endorsement of populism, it is probable that an injunction will be asked, prohibiting the placing of Simpson's name on the ticket, as a democratic nominee.

NOT SEEKING THE POLE

Mrs. Peary Explains Her Husband's Mission.

His Sole Object is to Delineate the Northern Coast of Greenland—Mrs. Peary Anxious to Fit Out a Ship Next Summer and Rejoin Her Husband in the North Seas.

Washington, Sep. 27.—Mrs. Peary, the plucky little wife of the Arctic explorer, who arrived in Washington yesterday and is now at her mother's house, corrected some impressions concerning the Peary expedition to-day.

"I am at a loss to understand the stories being printed about the scarcity of food suffered by the party," she remarked. "There was a plentitude of provisions and only once, in last May, when the weather was too bad for the hunters to go out after deer for two or three days did the supply of deer meat run out. Then we had seal meat. No, it is not so bad when properly cooked, but I shouldn't like it as a steady diet. The sealers consider it excellent, however. We had an abundance of vegetable and farinaceous food and plenty of tea and coffee, and really I cannot overcome my surprise at the ridiculous stories about their shortage. I left Lieut. Peary with a plentiful supply of everything. Together we went over the supply of food and made an inventory of everything and if anything had been needed it would have been furnished from the ship's stores before the Falcon left. I did not want to come back. I regretted leaving very much."

"What kind of a winter did you have?"

"It was terrific. The storms were indescribable. The loss of a portion of our oil supply made our experience harder than it would otherwise have been. We lost half our oil supply, and were compelled to put up with short rations of fuel. This made everyone more or less miserable, and in such a state of nervousness, you know, a person is liable to make mountains out of little things that would not be noticed if good spirits prevailed. It is a mistake to allude to my husband as a seeker for the North Pole. His object has been, and still is, to delineate the northern coast of Greenland. No one can tell how far Greenland extends northward, and Lieut. Peary says if it goes to the pole he will go there too; no matter how high it runs he is determined to follow it."

"Will you return to your husband next year?" queried the reporter.

"That depends upon the American people," responded the energetic woman, with a cheery smile. "My husband and myself have about reached the end of our resources in outfitting the expeditions, and have expended something over $50,000. I have made no plans yet, but will see the president of the American Geographical society in New York shortly. If it is possible I shall fit out a ship next summer and return to Greenland."

She might have been talking of fitting a dress for all evidence of feminine fear or hesitation.

"At any rate no effort will be spared to carry out that intention. The baby," she repeated, with a bright motherly glance in her eyes, when the reporter inquired about Miss Mary, "she was never sick a day in her life until we reached St. Johns, and some of the party jokingly said that civilization did not agree with her. I am inclined to think it was stale condensed milk and the change of water and the warm weather. She is getting along very nicely now."

Re-signed With Pittsburg Club.

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—Patsy Donovan, captain of the Pittsburg's, has re-signed with the home club. This leaves all but four of the old men signed for next season, and of these it is known that at least two of them will not be wanted. The new association officials now refuse to talk for publication. They claim the previous publication of their plans caused them to miscarry, and that hereafter no information will be given out. On the other hand it is stated by those in a position to know that the signing by the home club of the majority of its best men, the pick of the nine, broke a big wheel in the new association, as the latter expected to get most all of them.

Robbed Slot Machines.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Three negroes who have worked the entire eastern country for pennies by working slot machines, the sum total of which amounts to $1,800, were arrested here before they had the chance to pry the backs off of any of the Chicago slot machines. They have confessed to breaking into machines in Philadelphia, New York, Portland, Me.; Jersey City, and Lowell, Mass.

Pittsburg's Law and Order Society.

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—The Law and Order society, which is to be known as the Allegheny County Vigilance league has perfected its organization and is ready for business. A constitution and by-laws, formuated on the lines laid out by Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, were adopted and an executive committee composed of 24 members was appointed.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 27.—There are fully 25,000 people at the Interstate fair to-day and the various attractions are being greatly enjoyed. All the leading politicians in the state are on hand, and they are being treated hospitably regardless of party affiliation.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present to their easy-going doctor, separate diseases, for which he prescribes, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, many times fatal consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have promptly cured the disease.

MRS. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Jefferson Co., Neb., writes: "For two years I was a sufferer. A part of this time had to be carried from my bed. Was racked with pain, had hysteria, was very nervous, no appetite and completely discouraged. A few bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' effected a perfect cure." Sold by all dealers in medicines.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 27, 1894

CITY EDITION, 4 O'CLOCK.

The Daily Press was the only newspaper in New Jersey and New York which in a regular issue yesterday announced the nomination of David B. Hill for Governor. The other Plainfield papers announced "No Candidate Yet" and "Democrats Afraid to Run a Man Against Morton". The news of the nomination was sent immediately direct by wire to The Press, and the forms of the regular City Edition were instantly sent to press with the exclusive news. At the same hour that the Last Editions in Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Jersey City, Brooklyn and New York, all were guessing, The Daily Press told the fact. Commuters who tried in vain to find the nomination in the New York papers, and who had been guessing with the New York papers every man but Hill, were astonished to read of Hill's nomination in The Press. The news brought joy to the Democrats, dismay to the Republicans.

The nomination was great, and worthy of the great achievement of The Daily Press.

The State Liquor-Dealers League in annual session in Orange, this week, decided that there are enough saloons in New York and New Jersey, and demanded of public officials that no licenses be granted except renewals. They also insisted that the license fee be reduced, resolved themselves the hardest-working men in the country, and after announcing that their power and influence was the greatest in the State warned legislators that the liquor interests must be better protected or that power would be exerted to secure their political death. The sayings and doings of the convention indicate a boldness that will be a surprise to many people who had never before heard of the organization.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Many of the Plainfield street lamps were in darkness again last night.

—The gutters along the roof of the First Baptist Church is being repaired.

—Justice Mosher will try the landlord and tenant case of Sheehan against Stevens Oct. 2.

—The Ladies Circle of the Scotch Plains Baptist Church cleared about $18 at an enjoyable fruit festival last night.

—Masons went to work today increasing the height of the abutment walls of the Central railroad bridge on Park avenue.

—The dramatic entertainment of the Gesang and Turn Verein was appreciated so another will be given in about a month

—A dead chicken lying on the track on Somerset street at the corner of Mountain avenue this morning gave evidence of the dangers of the trolley.

—The large front show window in the Two Van's store is cracked clear across. The cause is unknown, but is probably the shrinkage of the wooden frame.

—Genial Gus Smith now wears an overcoat he is not at home in. He grabbed it by mistake at the grocers meeting in Newark. The one he left is better.

—No work was done on the sewers today, a delayed shipment of pipe being awaited. About 150 feet of the line has been laid on East Ninth street. The job will go on as soon as the pipe comes.

—The Plainfield Bowling Club's Committee met last evening and decided to let the roll remain open for new members until tomorrow night. The handicaps will then be arranged for the tournament to begin early next week.

Take Warning.

A TALK TO SKEPTICS.

"MORAL" MEN ALSO SUBJECT OF THE DISCOURSE.

Evangelist Gillam's Labors and Their Blessed Results—He Tells Honest Skeptics How to Pray—He Says Farewell Saturday Night, and Joins D. Fay Mills, Dr. Raymond's Pastoral Successor.

The West End had a midweek Sabbath yesterday, glorious in its holy happiness and soul-winning work. Early in the morning the people gathered in homes set for the purpose, and held neighborhood prayer-meetings, enjoying devotions that prepared them for the good-cheer meeting in Hope Chapel, to which they flocked at 10:30. Mr. Gillam gave the believers a chance to tell briefly some of the happy results of Christian living, and talked helpfully to them. In the afternoon the women had one of their enjoyable prayer meetings, and a blessed service for all was held afterwards, many professing conversion.

REV. RALPH GILLAM.

At night Mr. Gillam talked to skeptics, manfully, earnestly, prayerfully. He showed how easy it was for any reasonable, honest man to find and accept the truth. He emphasized the argument he had used with a celebrated physician who was a skeptic. "You believe in a difference between right and wrong?"—he had asked the doctor. "I do"—was the answer. "You are on the side of right and honest in your desire to know the truth?" "I am." "You are willing to follow the right wherever it may lead you?" "Yes." "Then"—said Mr. Gillam—"take this prayer (writing it on a card) and honestly, earnestly, say it on your knees: 'O God, if there be a God, hear and answer this my prayer, if Thou hearest and answerest prayer. Reveal unto me Jesus Christ as Thy son and my Saviour, if He is such, and I promise to accept and obey Him the rest of my life'."

The doctor took the card, and in the privacy of his home got on his knees and said the prayer. And the revelation he asked for, came; and he has since gone about preaching the Gospel and winning souls.

No one—said Mr. Gillam—could honestly utter that prayer to God without finding the truth.

The evangelist spoke at some length on "moral" men, showing most of them to be merely self-righteous. He pointed out the folly and sin of such "morality", and the cowardice and dishonesty of such skeptics as were continually telling the world what they do not believe, but never were able to tell what they do believe.

He showed that skeptics and infidels were continually seeking to tear down the Bible and God and never gave anything to replace them. A poor old woman at the close of an infidel lecture went to the speaker, H. L. Hastings, and said: 'Sir, I have heard you through, and you have torn my Bible to pieces. It has been my comfort and my guide through tribulation; its precious promises have sustained me. Now it is gone. You have destroyed it all. But oh, sir, give me something in its place." And Infidel Hastings handed her back the Book.

The Bible—it had triumphed through the ages; it proved the divinity of the Son of Man. Scoffers might revile it, but they could not replace it. And no honest man could set forth in honest investigation and retain his unbelief. Doubting Thomas was an honest skeptic; he investigated, and acknowledged Jesus his Master and his God.

Mr. Gillam asked all to stand who felt in their hearts an honest desire to accept the truth, and of all that congregation of nearly 700 people only five remained seated, though some of them had been unbelievers and many had been rejecting Christ.

The number of card-signers was large, and the after-meeting was one of great power and glory, Mr. Gillam's quiet, earnest, solemn self-confession sinking deep with conviction into the hearts of all.

There were many saved, that day.

Plainfield people will regretfully say good-bye to Mr. Gillam Sunday night. He is called to assist Rev. B. Fay Mills in his evangelistic work in the South. Mr. Mills has accepted for one year the pastorate of the Albany church of which Rev. Dr. A. V. V. Raymond, formerly of this city, was pastor; he retains the privilege for 10-weeks of evangelistic work during that year.

Mr. Gillam preaches in Hope Chapel tonight 7:45, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30, and tomorrow night at 7:45. Saturday afternoon he gives his entertaining and instructive blackboard talk to young people, to which every child should go. Saturday night he will talk to Sunday-school teachers; no teacher in Plainfield should miss this service. Sunday morning at 10:30 he gives a powerful sermon on "Consecration"; Sunday afternoon he talks to men only, as man to man, and no man old or young should stay away. Sunday night his topic is "The Unanswered Question". It will be his farewell. Hope Chapel will be filled to overflowing to hear his final message; and everyone in Plainfield ought to attend every service possible before this earnest, consecrated disciple of the Lord concludes his mission here.

SOMETHING UNUSUAL.

IT SENT A THRILL OF WONDER EVERYWHERE.

A Well-known Woman is the Subject of Congratulation—She Has a Peculiarly Interesting Story to Tell the Public.

Such events as this are not often made public but they have occurred so frequently lately that they are attracting attention everywhere. Mrs. C. L. French, of Hardwick, Vt., has long suffered from a nervous complaint which has terribly injured her health.

It was brought on by overwork and that is just the way many of us are weakening our systems. If we do not take some means to prevent the fearful results of hard work and worry, we will surely fall into the same condition that Mrs. French did. Here is her remarkably interesting letter which it will repay you to read:

"Three years ago I was completely prostrated from nervous trouble. I could not do anything. I was confined to my bed much of the time and was unable to attend to my business for three months. I had trouble with my stomach, my food distressing me constantly.

"I could not sleep, for my whole nervous system was prostrated. My trouble was brought on by overwork and loss of sleep. After taking many remedies without avail, I commenced to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and found instant benefit from its use.

"I continued it until now, when I can say that I am as well as I ever was. I certainly think this is the best medicine I ever knew of. I consider it a great thing to say that from so severe a case as mine to be restored to perfect health in so short a time is something quite unusual.

"I heartily recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy to all, and wish every poor suffering person might use it."

It is impossible to express the good which this wonderful medicine is doing suffering humanity. It strengthens the nerves, invigorates the blood, regulates the action of the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, and cures disease. Try it in your own case and see how rapidly it gives you back your health and strength. It is purely vegetable and harmless, and was discovered by Dr. Greene of 35 West 14th street, New York city, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

THE SECRET ORDERS.

The entertainment of John Hand Camp, Sons of Veterans, takes place tomorrow evening in Grand Army Hall.

Paugh Caugh Naugh Sinque Tribe of Red Men raised three members to the chief's degree last night, among them Chief Grant.

Policeman Hit in the Neck.

Fred Randolph, the colored man who attracts attention by carrying a farmer's lantern on his high wheel when he rides about at night, got into trouble last night.

He lives in a back-yard dwelling in the rear of Cottage place. For the past two weeks he has been drinking to excess almost every night. Last evening he became wild and talked about the police and made himself an annoyance to the neighborhood in several ways.

Policeman Mattox began to arrest him shortly before 10. Randolph hit him in the neck with the lantern to start active operations. The two fought in the street and rolled over and over in the gutter. Finally Mattox put the nippers on, and hatless and breathless, brought the Negro to the lockup.

City Judge Coddington talked to Randolph this morning and then sent him to Elizabeth for 60 days.

FOR ATTENDING THE RACES.

Thirty-five Treasury Clerks Reported to Secretary Carlisle.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Thirty-five treasury clerks have been reported to the secretary of the treasury, by name, as having attended the horse races at Alexander Island, Va., about three miles from this city, across the Potomac river, last Saturday. The names of the clerks have been forwarded to the head of each bureau or division, and an explanation, it is said, has been asked of the absence of such clerks from the office.

Whether detectives have been employed for the purpose of "spotting" treasury clerks of a "sporty" inclination, or whether the information has been volunteered by some treasury employes, or official, intimate knowledge of the personnel of the male clerks in the treasury has been shown and has created a commotion at this time, especially as many changes are being made to carry into effect the reorganization that takes place Oct. 1, next.

Breckinridge Men Will Bolt.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 27.—By unanimous vote and without any opposed, Judge George Denny, jr., of Lexington was made the nominee of the republicans for congress by the district convention held here. Scattered through the convention hall were numerous democrats who had supported Breckinridge in the late democratic primary and the interest they took in the proceedings made them the observed of all observers. While the judge cannot hope to poll all the Breckinridge votes he will undoubtedly get a great many.

Margarita Puts Into St. Johns.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 27.—The steam yacht Margarita, owned by A. J. Drexel, four days from New London for Southampton, Eng., where she takes her owner's family aboard for a visit to India, returning to Great Britain next June, put in here short of coal. The Margarita has only one passenger on board, Mr. Houlks, Mr. Drexel's private secretary.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE NEW BOWLING GREEN.

Cheers for Mr. Schepflin, at Its Opening.

The green of the New Jersey Bowling Green Club was opened Saturday last, and under the call of William Low, the secretary, the members with their guests responded.

Upon assembling at the hour stated in the call, 1 p. m., James Stevens, the President, was ready to welcome all who availed themselves of the privilege accorded them. And right royally he did it.

The green is located in Jersey City near the shore of the New York Bay and was pronounced by one and all the finest in the land, barring that of the Dunellen Club.

With many guests present and wishing to accommodate all on the green, the officers of the club formed rinks of the members, then others for visitors.

The rinks of which official records were taken were:

FIRST RINK.

H. McKnight,	William Low,
A. McKnight,	A. Pettit,
D. S. Cockburn,	William Evans,
James Stevens, skip.	John Stone, skip.

Result in this rink, Mr. Stevens, 21; Mr. Stone, 19.

SECOND RINK.

James H. Smyth,	Charles Westervelt,
A. Powelson,	C. K. Moore,
John Young,	Fiek,
William Elliott, skip.	H. B. Willis, skip.

Result in this rink—Mr. Elliott, 20; Mr. Willis, 21.

In the second rink the score stood Elliott 20 to Willis 9, when Mr. Powelson being assured of victory withdrew to take a train. The other rink have finished their game, Mr. Elliott substituted Cockburn, than whom, unless it is James Smyth, no better bowler is on this side of the Atlantic.

After the games ex-Mayor Haynes of Newark congratulated the club upon its successful opening of its beautiful green and predicted a brilliant future.

James Stevens, the president, responded and feelingly remarked the absence of Christian Schepflin whom he stated though not a Scotchman, was even the inaugurator of the bowling green in their part of the county, since old Bowing Green in New York was now utilized for more lucrative though less pleasant pastimes and announced Mr. Schepflin's unanimous election as an honorary member for life of the New Jersey Bowling Green Club.

After the vice-president, Mr. Stone, Messrs. Young and Elliott responded to toasts and Col. Moore, at Mr. Stevens's request, read this telegram:

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Sept. 22, 1894.
JAS STEVENS, Communipaw, N. J.:
I am very sorry I cannot be with you today at opening of your green.
C. SCHEPFLIN.

Cheers were given for Mr. Schepflin.

"Colonel, how did you fellows happen to pull that game away from Elliott when he stood 20 to your side 9?" asked the ex-Mayor.

"Well! Willis told us settle down and we did."

"Well?" queried his honor.

"Oh! then the other fellows settled up. What's yours, Mayor?"

So ended a glorious day.

GALE ALONG JERSEY COAST.

Warnings Received of the Approach of a Tropical Cyclone.

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 27.—Bulletins have been received here during the past twenty-four hours from the weather department at Washington asking that the information be distributed to the effect of a tropical hurricane, which is moving this way from Florida. The wind is quite severe along the entire coast. The surf is runing high and is extremely rough, white caps being visible for miles out on the ocean. The tide is high and they are dashing with great velocity upon the shore. All the life guards are on duty and watching all boats in sight. Hundreds of persons have been upon the beach watching the big breakers. There is a high sea along the shore at Long Branch. The tide is high and the ocean full of white caps, and the huge waves are dashing up against the bluff with tremendous force.

The Cyclone Strikes South Carolina.

Orangeburg, S. C., Sept. 27.—A terrible wind storm struck here and at midnight was blowing at a velocity of 45 miles an hour. Trees and telegraph poles are down; great damage to corn and cotton. Wind blowing from northeast. It is feared the worst is yet to come. No reports from the country.

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 27.—A wind storm with continuous rain is now prevailing. Thus far no serious results are reported.

Messages to Cuba Delayed.

New York, Sept. 27.—The Western Union Telegraph company has issued the following notice: "All messages for the island of Cuba and for points beyond that place will only be received subject to delay as the telegraph lines have been prostrated by the hurricane.

MERELY AS A PROTEST.

Why the Shepardites and Fairchild Followers Left Convention Hall.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The theatrical withdrawal from the convention of the Shepard faction of Kings and the state democracy of New York city caused a mild sensation. As each body was nearly 300 strong, and had many prominent men in their ranks, their departure from the hall upon the adoption of the report denying them recognition, interrupted proceedings and caused considerable talk. They had been given seats with the regular delegates out of courtesy, and were expected to remain there during the proceedings. Their departure was intended as a protest against their treatment, and was not a bolt from the democratic party. They left the hall by the entrance at the right of the stage during the reading of the platform.

Senator Grady arose and moved that a back door be opened so that the proceedings need not be interrupted by their departure. The chair did not entertain the motion. After leaving the hall the Shepardites and Fairchild followers went to their hotel, packed their grips and took a 4 o'clock train for New York. Edward M. Shepard said before leaving that he and his followers are still democrats and will support the state ticket. He added that Senator Hill's nomination was, under the circumstance, probably the strongest that could be made. He said that he did not believe that Judge Gaynor would accept the nomination for judge of the court of appeals. Mr. Fairchild said that he saw no reason why the state democracy will not also support the state ticket.

Will Re-enter Private Practice.

Washington, Sept. 27.—James H. Nixon, of New Jersey, assistant attorney in the department of justice, has informed Attorney General Olney of his desire to re-enter private practice, which will make it necessary for him to sever his official relations with the department of justice. This action on the part of Mr. Nixon is entirey voluntary and unexpected.

THE LYCEUM BAZAR.

IT'S A SCENE OF MANY BEWILDERING ATTRACTIONS.

Catholic Young Men Manage a Successfully Opened Fair, and Their Feminine Friends Make It a Centre of Attraction.

The C. Y. M. L. fair began last night. It started with great prospects for the reduction of the debt of the Lyceum. The young people who attended passed a most pleasant evening together with dancing and conversation. The opening was a promising one, and the committees felt assured at the close that a week of steady work was before them. Among those present were fifteen young women from New Brunswick who made up a merry stage load.

The Lyceum Hall was the main place of business. Across the ceiling and along the walls hung long lines of patriotic bunting. The booths were on the side opposite the entrance, a large space thus being left for dancing. E. M. O'Reilly's orchestra was seated at the end of the hall. Their music kept the dancing going all the evening.

The Children of Mary had the first of the booths. The canopy top was draped in pink. The goods displayed on the shelves within included books, etchings, needlework and fancy articles. The principal attraction was a large crayon of Rev. Father Murphy which every one seemed bent on possessing. In charge were Miss Maggie Carney, Miss Sheehan and Miss Colbert.

About the young men's booth, draped with bright red, were gathered the useful articles donated by Plainfield merchants. Miss Maggie Flanagan controlled the sales. She was assisted by John J. Lynch, John Curren, Thomas Carty, John Whalen, P. Butscher, M. Winn, M. Mack, M. Higgins and Dennis Galbraith.

The refreshment tables were arranged in the pool-room. Here were kept busy Miss Katie Carney and Norie Casey and their assistants, Miss Sharkey, Miss Nellie Casey and Miss Mercie.

Near the musicians were the caneboard and the exhibition booth. This last was a mysterious structure in which was shown a curious spectacle called "Plainfield After Dark". Tonight a series of art views from New York will be used instead. Captain Lynch attended to the visitors. The cane board was operated by Thomas Owens.

The general committee of the fair comprised Chairman J. J. Hibbitts, J. J. Lynch, J. J. Kenney, Wm. O'Connor, J. F. Keenan, D. J. Galbraith and Charles Lang. Under their supervision the following donations had been collected: Seely Edsall, Persian rug; W. J. Tunison, barrel of flour; V. L. Frazee, barrel of flour; Carty & Stryker, box of soap; J. F. MacDonald, barrel of flour; Fred Dunn, box of starch; J. V. Berkaw, pair of shoes; George Hallock, trunk; P. Casey, umbrella; J. J. Kenney, three pairs of slippers; Wm. Newcorn, valise; Putnam & DeGraw, two pairs of vases; Doane & Edsall, a pair of shoes; VanEmburgh & Son, barrel of fancy articles; Dreier Bros., accordeon; Love Bros., box of starch; Sherman Outfitting Company, suit of clothes; Patterson Bros., box of cigars; A. Lusardi, bunch of bananas; W. F. Falper, tea and baking powder; Horace Sherwin, pair of boots; U. B. Crane, hat; Schwed Bros., overcoat; Horsley Barker, six hair brushes; W. H. Sebring, cloth; Fred Hand, ton of coal.

Plainfield's Dead Prima Donna.

(The Saunterer in Town Topics.)

A very gifted and popular songstress passed away when Mme. Emy Furech-Madi died. I know of no dramatic soprano of the period that could be classed with her when she was at her best, and voice and temperament made her work powerfully effective. Much of the stuff that appeared in the columns of the dailies anent her career was rubbish, coming as it did from the pens of men that never heard her in her prime, and that would have not known wherein lay her excellences had they heard her. The impression conveyed by some of my confreres, for example, implying that she was an excellent musician, that she wielded great artistic influence, and so on, was erroneous, and clearly the outcome of respect for de mortuis, or, more probably, of gross ignorance. But that her performances were fine and powerful, thanks to a broad, rich voice, a highly dramatic style, a warm impulsive temperament and great physical strength, was undeniable. As a teacher, too, in the palmy epoch of the National Conservatory, when that institution held out a promise that it has never fulfilled, the worth of her teachings was not to be mistaken. It is useless to dwell upon the story of the dark years that closed with her demise. She earned large sums of money during her career as a prima donna, but she was not provident, and her immediate kinsmen did little to help her make some provision for her declining days.

Teaching Effects of Alcohol.

C. M. Dorman of New Britain, Conn., a temperance evangelist, lectured under the auspices of the young people's society of the First Presbyterian Church last evening. The chapel was well filled with an audience that found his talk very interesting.

Alcohol and its effect on the body and brain was the matter under consideration. Mr. Dorman exhibited a number of paintings which illustrated the points he brought out in his remarks. The action of alcohol on the albumen of the brain was explained with a practical experiment.

—Mrs. Jennie M. Potter is about to form a class in china painting and has opened a studio at 403 Park avenue. She has many warm friends in Plainfield, and her work is artistic and beautiful.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if soreness in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

MRS. PETERSON EXONERATED.

Judge Mosher Gives in Detail His Finding, in This Celebrated Case.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—After a careful review of the evidence which was submitted to me yesterday, I find that Mrs. Peterson was in no way connected with the taking of these goods, nor was it proven that she had any of them in her possession. I, therefore, dismiss the complaint against Mrs. Peterson.

The only evidence produced to show that these goods were taken for any other reason than to make more room for the funeral, on the suggestion of Mr. Runyon, the undertaker, was that of Robert Randolph, who swore that he was hired by Mr. Potter to go down to Mr. Bonney's house and bring some goods which were taken in the rooms of Miss Randolph. It did not appear, by his evidence, nor was it proven by any other witnesses, that Mrs. Potter was present, or gave any orders that these goods should be taken, or where they should be left. I, therefore, dismiss the complaint against Mrs. Potter.

It appears from the evidence of one or two witnesses that about a year or so ago, Mrs. Bonney had said, in the presence of other witnesses, that at her (Mrs. Bonney's) death, she wanted all of her belongings to go to her niece, Edna H. Potter, and from the evidence of Mr. Randolph it would seem that Mr. Potter, upon the strength of this gift, had sent for these goods, and that they were now in the Potter house.

These goods I would suggest be returned by Miss Edna Potter to Mr. Bonney, to await the usual mode of proceedings in such cases, with the exception of the dress goods which, according to Mr. Bonney's evidence, he had no objection to their taking for the reason that he could n't "wear frocks".

FIREMEN'S RECEPTION

New Two-Horse Hose Wagon to Be Welcomed in Style.

At a special meeting of Warren Engine Company, held Tuesday night, it was decided to give a reception to the Plainfield Fire Department Wednesday evening, October 10, in honor of the arrival of the new hose wagon.

The reception will be given in Saengerbund Hall, opposite the engine house. The firemen have several schemes on hand to make it pleasant for their visitors from the city. The committee in charge includes: Chairman David C. Allen, Secretary J. D. Anderson, Frank Kesselring, B. C. Conover, George H. Fairchild.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Captain William Hand has agreed to run a stage to the Crescent track Saturday with a five-cent fare.

But few of the boxes which replace the reserved seats in the Crescent grandstand remained unengaged.

Many out-of-town riders were on the track yesterday afternoon. The surface is in good condition for racing.

The Bicycling Division of the P. H. S. A. A. went on a run yesterday afternoon to Springfield and Elizabeth. The start was made from the High School shortly after 2. The party consisted of Capt. Charles B. Morse '95, Sydney R. Titsworth '97, J. Vincent Rittenhouse '97, Elwood Sebring '95, Charles Noble '96, Fred Green '99, J. Miller '98, Webster Littell '97, Morton Pierson, '96, and Louis Rand. A short distance this side of Springfield, Titsworth's tire flattened out, and a halt was called. The tire was at last repaired, and the party proceeded on their way. After various other adventures, they arrived in Plainfield. Rittenhouse and Noble set the pace all the way.

Monte Scott, C. S. Gotthelf and I. N. Line were in the ten-mile handicap on the Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. Scott rode from scratch with 90 men ahead and, it is claimed, won the time prize. The judges decided, however, that E. A. Bofinger, 30 seconds handicap, had the prize in 29:06 with Scott second in 29:11. Scott entered a protest against the winner of the race, John Warner, claiming he had been paced. Monte returned with a valuable gold watch as second time, a silver ice-pitcher as time for five miles and a subscription to a periodical as nineteenth man. Gotthelf rode well, starting with 60 of the racers ahead of him, and finishing thirtieth in 31 seconds. I. N. Line found too many turns in the course to ride fast.

Extended comment among the bicycle clubs has been aroused by the great improvement of the roads in New Jersey, but it has not been generally noted that with this improvement in the roads has come a revival of prosperity to innumerable old taverns, inns, and country hotels which lined the principal turnpikes of the State before the network of railroads was built. The trolley roads have also exercised a reviving influence on these places, as it is the custom of factory employes in all the manufacturing towns of New Jersey to take a trolley car early Sunday morning and spend the greater part of the day in the country. The persons who have been practically care-takers of the old taverns, and who have spent the greater part of their lives in watching them gradually go to pieces, are now in a state of continual excitement over the increase of business. The coaches which ran between New York and Philadelphia in the Spring also stimulated the tavern proprietors, and now there are several agencies at work on the general scheme of road improvements. A notable thing about the bicycle part of the patronage is that the wheelmen travel such extraordinary distances that the country hotels, which were formerly isolated from active patronage, are now within easy reach. One of the most popular hotels of this character, for instance, is situated twenty-two miles from Newark, and it is the Mecca of scores of wheelmen from the big Jersey towns every Sunday. The Princeton, Trenton and Philadelphia wheelmen patronize a chain of six or eight picturesque old taverns that were built in Revolutionary days. On Saturdays and Sundays these places are bustling with life, providing food and drink for the road athletes.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS.

Fanwood.

O. B. Lightowler leaves his residence on South avenue Oct. 1, and will make his home in New York city.

Mr. Hall, who has been occupying the residence of Robert B. Reilley on Martine avenue, leases the premises of O. B. Lightowler from Oct. 1.

Robert B. Reilley, recently returned from a tour of the emerald hills and his native sod, and who has been sojourning at The Homestead, takes possession of his own residence upon its vacation by Mr. Hall.

Miss Louise Pentz had a very pleasant birthday today. Many and varied were the presents received from her friends, young and—not so young. A beautiful doll was the gift of her parents, and of such size and beauty, that when seated in a chair upon the veranda opposite its little mistress many would have been at a loss to determine one from the other were it not for the vivacity of the happy little girl.

John H. L. Todd arrived home from an extensive European tour Saturday last by steamship La Touraine. He says that any fellows that go to Europe and come home swaggering around and blowing "the continent against America" "is n't in it." "The pleasantest thing I saw"—said Mr. Todd—"was the sign in that great Paris depot printed in French, with an English interpretation immediately below 'Express for Havre, connecting with fast steamer for New York, leaves 10 30 to-night' and you bet I caught that train, if I am sometimes late at Fanwood for New York."

The request of the Township Committee to the residents to trim trees and shrubbery along the streets, particularly where they interfere with the electric lights, has met with hearty and generous response, the consequence being well-lighted thoroughfares. Those having occasion to ride after nightfall between Scotch Plains and Plainfield notice the difference, as while driving along Front street through the city all is in gloom except now and then a streak of light across the roadway where the electric light is unobstructed; when the Terrill road is passed the whole roadway is illuminated, and all on account of the judicious trimming of the trees. It is to be hoped that the authorities of Plainfield will obtain the result that followed the township's action.

Scotch Plains.

Chestnut gathering has begun.

Richard Robison was a successful squirrel-hunter yesterday.

The Choral Union will meet with E. J. Fitzhugh as leader this evening.

Boston Campbell is suffering from rheumatism, brought on by overwork.

A new coat of paint would greatly improve the appearance of Excelsior Hall.

Mrs. Maguire finds driving a pleasure with the new trotter drawing her carriage.

August Scheelen of Baker & Mead's establishment, made a trip to Trenton yesterday.

Frank Allen of the transfer blue line wears a ring containing the biggest "diamond" in town.

The Baptist Church choir will meet for practice at the home of Miss Maguire Saturday evening.

The friends of Augustus Rose are glad to hear of his steady improvement in Muhlenberg Hospital.

Robert Snyder, the enterprising shoemaker, made an important business trip to Elizabeth yesterday.

The Township Committee will meet next Monday night to receive the application of the Central Jersey Traction Company.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clum, Charles Stumpf and Richard Hart visited Howell Division, S. of T., in Plainfield, Tuesday evening.

The remains of Mrs. Edward Willis, who died Sunday at her home on South avenue, were interred in the Baptist church yard Tuesday afternoon.

The Fanwood ticket agent yesterday notified Clerk E. L. Hand that the custom of permitting the posting of township committee notices in the station had been discontinued.

Lewis Morrell and "Doctor" Charles Layton have finished work on Dr. Coles's property. They increased the depth to 83 feet so that new, instead of being dry, the well contains 21 feet of water.

There may be no ball game Saturday afternoon, the Wall street nine having decided not to come. A game may be arranged with Rahway on the no guarantee plan adopted by them at the game there.

At the meeting of Fanwood Council, R. A., Tuesday night one proposition was received. William Corey of Castleton, N. Y., formerly an employe of Seeley's paper-mills, was a warmly welcomed visitor.

Visitors from out of town will install the following officers at the meeting of Hope Division, S. of T. next Tuesday evening: Worthy Patriarch, W. E. Clum; Worthy Associate, Fred. Happel. Recording Scribe, Mrs. Clum. Assistant Recording Scribe, Miss Bankroft. Financial Scribe, Miss Ada Miller. Treasurer, George L. Dunn. Chaplain, Rev. J. S. Braker. Conductor, Miss Cora Loveland. Assistant Conductor, Miss Bertha Clum. Inside Sentinel, Charles Stumpf. Outside Sentinel, Richard Hart.

Dunellen.

David Ward took in the Trenton Fair yesterday.

Paul Feusch went to Philadelphia yesterday on business.

Charles Jennings is having his house painted and papered.

Mrs. Kuldosche is making improvements about her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cole spent yesterday afternoon in Plainfield.

Ramsey Blair of Plainfield spent yesterday with Dunellen friends.

Walter Bodine wheeled a quarter of a mile yesterday in 30 seconds.

Fred Coriell of Bound Brook was the guest of William Carman yesterday.

E. J. Von Minde and family have moved to New Market from the farm which they sold to Mr. Dixon.

The last load of goods belonging to A. A. Lake and family was moved to Brooklyn yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Giles entertained Mrs. Harvey Giles and daughter of Bound Brook yesterday.

Thorn's Laundry of Plainfield has established an agency at Walter Smith's store on North avenue.

The young people are talking of organizing a dancing class this Winter and giving an occasional social.

Several of the merchants found it necessary to have fire in their stores yesterday, the weather being so cool.

A German band in Dunellen yesterday accomplished the marvelous feat of playing two different selections at the same time.

The attendance at the Dunellen schools has been unusually large, and all the pupils cannot be accommodated. Some of the smaller children have been sent home on this account.

Mrs. Dr. Allen and daughter of Trenton, who have been visiting John Case and family for two months past, returned home yesterday. They were accompanied by Mr. Case and family who will visit the Inter-State Fair. The trip was made with a horse and wagon.

Under the direction of Mr. Hubbard, the Dixon country seat is being greatly improved. About thirty men are at work on the place. Firman Giee is doing the mason work, and John Apgar and Sandford Staples the carpentry work. Howard Giles furnished a large amount of supplies.

South Plainfield.

There was no trouble with serenaders at the wedding last night.

Flagman Dorgan was off duty yesterday and today, the wedding of his daughter entitling him to the short vacation.

Fred Manning is about again as usual. The results of his fall from a chestnut tree were not so severe as was at first expected.

Charles Perrine and John Oliver of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and the police captain of the fifth precinct, Jersey City, captured five tramps stealing rides on a coal train at Constable Junction yesterday afternoon.

The exercises which Superintendent Harris is arranging for next Sunday morning in the Baptist Church will be of interest to both the young and the old. It is hoped that a large contribution will be made to the State educational fund of the denomination.

Miss Mamie E. Dorgan, daughter of Jesse Dorgan of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was united in marriage to Francis L. Burke of Princeton at Mr. Dorgan's home last evening. Many friends came to congratulate the happy young couple, and celebration of the event passed off very pleasantly.

New Market.

The marriage of William Winckle of New Market to Miss Mamie Perrine of Spooner avenue, Plainfield, will take place Saturday, October 6, at the home of the bride.

Friendship Council, No. 81, J. O. U. A. M., will give an entertainment and clam-chowder supper next Wednesday evening in their hall. It will be an invitation affair.

Charles Ward, Charles Day and Robert Pierce attended the Inter-State Fair yesterday, and W. J. Davis went today.

FALL CLOTHING.

Watson & Co. Show All the New Styles in Both Their Broad and Market Street Windows.

Watson & Co. open the Fall season with an entire new stock of correct cut and handsome finished garments, all made up as close copies of the most fashionable styles of ordered work, from which they cannot be told when worn. In overcoats and Fall suits and boys' clothing their new stock is particularly attractive and entirely different from the usual run of ready-made work, which from faulty cut or careless make up, is seldom satisfactory to the wearer. As plain, quiet styles will have the lead this Fall and low prices will rule, $15 should buy as handsome a Fall suit or overcoat as any gentleman needs, in which lines Watson & Co. furnish enough garments daily to give you a wide selection of new styles and a perfect fit without the slightest alteration. Pay a little attention to the correct cut of your garments, and see how the close copies of custom made work that Watson & Co. offer will improve your dress appearance; besides, you can save more than twenty per cent. by buying directly from the maker.—Newark Item.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

TOWARDS HER DAUGHTERS.

Suggestions Which May Help to Avoid Many Dangers.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Less than twenty years ago even the medical profession scouted the idea that young girls could suffer from the misery of uterus troubles.

That form of disease, it was claimed, came only to married women.

When Lydia E. Pinkham first sent out the news of her great discovery, there was no lack of harsh speech from those whose practice and opinions she set at defiance.

But when young girls by the hundreds were absolutely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, then the tongues of the traducers were stilled, and truth was allowed to live in the hearts of the people.

Young girls are subject to this trouble. It robs them of the buoyancy of youth. It makes all effort distasteful.

It causes retention and suppression of menses, leucorrhœa, severe headache, sallow complexion, depression, weakness, loss of appetite and interest.

This being the condition of your daughter, what is your duty, loving mother? Certainly you ought to know that these are all symptoms of the one cause of nearly all the suffering that comes to women; and to save your daughter you ought to begin that treatment at once, which for 20 years proved its power throughout the world.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and most natural remedy for women ever compounded. It will accomplish its work with certainty.

LANKY BOB'S VICTORY

Only Two Rounds Necessary To Settle Creedon.

The Fight Was All Fitz's From the Start—Creedon Unconscious for Five Minutes—Bob Issues a Challenge to Corbett and the Olympic Club Offers a $25,000 Purse.

New Orleans, Sept. 27.—Bob Fitzsimmons had an easy time of it with Dan Creedon before the Olympic club. The men fought but two rounds. In the first honors were easy. In the second Fitzsimmons went at his fellow-Australian and knocked him down twice. The second time Creedon was unable to rise and was counted out by Referee Duffy. The men fought for a purse of $5,000.

The winning of this fight is looked upon as meaning a great deal to Fitzsimmons. It is claimed that he has accomplished all that James J. Corbett demanded of him, and there is nothing for the champion to do but consent to a meeting.

Prof. Johnny Duffy entered the ring at 9:12 and announced that the contest was to be a twenty-five round bout for a purse of $5,000 and the middleweight championship of the world between Robert Fitzsimmons, of America, the present champion, and Dan Creedon, of St. Louis, better known as from Australia, at 158 pounds. The Marquis of Queensberry rules were to govern the fight and if both men were on their feet at the end of the twenty-fifth round it would be a draw. Frank Carambat was announced as official timekeeper for the club. Creedon entered the ring at 9:15, accompanied by Tom Tracy, the welter-weight champion, Mick Dunn and Charlie Davis, who were to support him through the fight. He was followed quickly by Fitzsimmons dressed in ring costume of blue trunks with the American colors on his belt. The crowd went wild on the entrance of the champion and he bowed his acknowledgements repeatedly. He was accompanied by his seconds and the party crossed the ring to the lucky corner. Fitz was the first man to step on the scales and tipped an even 155½. The crowd yelled frantically at this announcement of the weight. Creedon got on the scales and tipped the beam at 158. Prof. Duffy called the men to the centre of the ring and explained the conditions of the contest. Fitzsimmons ambled up leisurely with a broad smile on his face.

As Creedon walked up Fitz addressed some jocular remark which brought a smile to the face of Creedon. The rules were explained and the principals resumed their seats. Time was called at 9:15.

First round—Creedon opened with his left but swung wild. He came back and touched Bob lightly with the left on the neck. Bob laughed and thumped his right hard on the jaw. Creedon got in on the stomach but Bob rapped him hard on the chest and neck. Bob landed right and left, and staggered Creedon, repeating the blows with great rapidity. He hammered the St. Louis man hard and often. The round closed with Creedon attempting an upper-cut but going wild.

Second round—Creedon dodged a left hand punch for the stomach. He got in one on Bob's ribs but he caught the left and right on the head and neck and a fearful left on the jaw floored him. He waited for the nine to be counted before rising and Fitz stepped back and gave him plenty of time to get squarely on his feet. Creedon tried to get in close but Fitzsimmons met him squarely with his left in the chest and a terrible right hand swing on the jaw. Creedon went back about fifteen feet and Bob followed quickly and began to use his head for a punching bag. Creedon did not stand a ghost of a chance and vainly essayed to swing his arms. He was bleeding from the nose and mouth. Fitz used his pile driving left for the knock-out. He drew back, sized up the coveted landing place and sent the blood-covered glove in like a shot direct for the mouth. The blow landed with terrific force full on the mouth. Creedon went down like a log and never stirred. Bob strolled over to his corner and quietly observed to Dwyer: "He won't come back."

Referee Duffy counted the ten and out and the crowd went perfectly wild with excitement. Pandemonium broke loose and the referee called vainly for quiet. Creedon's seconds jumped into the ring and carried their unconscious principal to his corner.

The fight lasted just four minutes and forty seconds. It was fully five minutes before Creedon regained consciousness and he hardly realized where he was until long after the fight. After quiet was restored Fitzsimmons issued a challenge to Champion James J. Corbett for the world's heavyweight championship and $10,000 a side before any club in the country.

Within ten minutes after the termination of the fight President Scholl, of the Olympic club, telegraphed to Corbett offering a purse of $25,000 for a meeting between Corbett and Fitzsimmons before the Olympic at any time and any weight. This was in accordance with articles which Scholl had drawn up and which were signed by Fitzsimmons a month ago.

Creedon when interviewed a short time after he regained consciousness, made a manly concession of superiority to Fitzsimmons and did not seek to blame his condition or the tactics of his adversary. "Naturally I expected to beat him," said Creedon, "but Fitzsimmons is the most puzzling fighter I ever fought in my life. I have fought a great many clever and big men, and got in on them, and I got in on Fitzsimmons, too, but he was too big and strong."

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

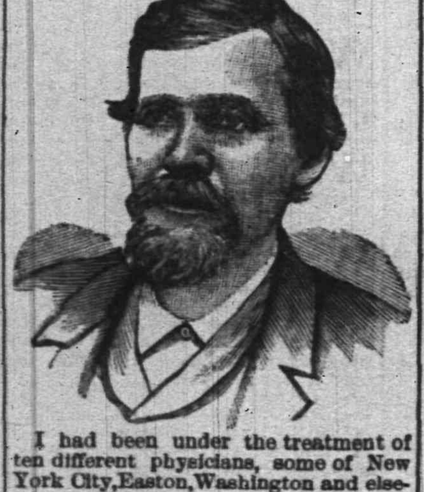
THE CASE OF MR PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill

TIME TO MAKE A CHANGE

PEOPLE EVERYWHERE ARE CUTTING AWAY FROM TRADITIONS.

"RING OUT THE OLD."

What Modern Discovery and Science are Doing for the People of This Land.

"Is it not time to make a change?"

The speaker was connected with the Board of Health of one of the leading American cities.

"Every person," he continued, "who has died of consumption within the past 20 years has left a large legacy of empty cod liver oil bottles. The more advanced of the medical profession do not believe that one single life has been saved or prolonged by the use of cod liver oil. The profession has been sadly disappointed in the result."

"That is doubtless very true," said one of the gentlemen with whom he was conversing, "but what can be used in place of it?"

The doctor spoke very positively as he said:

"For some time the more advanced of the medical profession have been seeking for something upon which to build hope for the rescue of the vast multitude of dying people. It has for some time been conceded that relief would only come in the way of a food that would stop the wasting in this dread disease. In all cases of consumption there is always present obstinate indigestion. Is not this indigestion the cause of the wasting? Consumptives never die when increasing in weight, in other words, when the wasting is stopped."

The listeners exchanged looks of astonishment, but it was plain that they believed what the eminent professor was saying.

"I believe that the discovery of a pre-digested food, in other words, a food that has been artificially digested before it is eaten, has solved the problem. I have seen very many of the effects which it has produced, even with people who were so run down and emanciated as to be almost on the verge of death, and I positively know that in all cases I have observed there has been a surprising and quick recovery. In several instances a gain of over 20 pounds has been brought about wholly by the use of this pre-digested food, which is now known to doctors, scientists and the world as Paskola.

"I have examined this food very carefully, and I find that it is composed of artificially digested starch in the form of maltose, sucrose, etc., and such as maltose sucrose and grape sugar, which, as you know, are the only substances that form fat and flesh, combined with digestive principles. It is because of its purity and chemical value that it produces the results it does, and I, for one, am not surprised that it is superseding the use of nauseous cod liver oil, and fatty substances, which are supposed to produce flesh but which certainly do not do so.

Paskola can be had of any reputable druggist. An interesting pamphlet descriptive of the product will be sent free on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade st., New York.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR HILL.

He Will Announce His Acceptance When Officially Notified.

Albany, Sept. 28.—Senator David B. Hill, when asked why he had not announced his acceptance of the democratic nomination for governor replied: "I have not yet been officially informed of my nomination."

Secretary Charles R. De Freest, of the state convention, said that, in pursuance of the resolution adopted by the convention, he would appoint a committee of five, who are to notify the candidates of their nomination.

Telegrams of congratulation from all over the state and country keep piling up in Senator Hill's law office.

Prof. Shortlidge Acquitted.

Media, Pa., Sept. 28.—The trial of Prof. Shortlidge, for the murder of his young wife, ended in a verdict of acquittal on the grounds of insanity. Expert testimony was the only evidence offered, as the crime was not denied. Shortlidge was returned to the Norristown Insane asylum at once. He will probably have a setback after strain of the trial, but his ultimate recovery is expected, when on application to the court he may be released.

Victory for Boston Garment Workers.

Boston, Sept. 28.—The trend of affairs in the garment workers' strike is all toward victory for the strikers. A number of contractors have signed the new schedule and given bonds for the proper performance of their part of the contract and it is expected that the majority of the contractors in the city will have reached an agreement with the strikers within the next few hours.

Killed Three U. S. Deputy Marshals.

Muskogee, I. T., Sept. 28.—Tom Smith, a negro desperado, shot and killed three colored United States deputy marshals and seriously wounded two white officers while they were attempting to arrest him at the Muskogee International fair. The deputy marshals have organized a posse and are in hot pursuit of the murderer. Smith used a revolver and only fired four times.

A Contractor's Strange Absence.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 28.—George H. Smith, of River Point, a contractor, has been missing from that village since last Monday. He was to have met some people on Tuesday to adjust some financial matters, but he did not keep his appointments. He is past sachem of Narragansett Tribe of Red Men and a prominent Pythian.

TARIFF TALK IN LONDON

At a Dinner Given to Congressman Wilson.

Englishmen Express Their Views—Surprised That High Tariff Should Have So Long Been Tolerated—Both Countries Will Gain—Mr. Wilson Tells of Good Results Expected.

London, Sept. 28.—The London chamber of commerce gave a complimentary dinner in the Whitehall rooms last evening to Hon. William L. Wilson, representative in the United States congress from West Virginia. Sir Albert Kaye Rollit presided and a hundred British and American guests were present, among them being Hon. J. Sterling Morton, United States secretary of agriculture; Congressman Isidor Strauss, of New York; Consul General Patrick A. Collins, Henry Kimber, M. P.; Andrw D. Provand, M. P.; David A. Thomas, M. P.; Sir Courtney Boyle, permanent secretary of the board of trade; W. T. Thompson, treasurer of the chamber of commerce; President Brittain, of the Sheffield chamber of commerce; President Eastwood, of the Huddersfield chamber of commerce, and many other persons of note.

The chairman read letters of regret at the absence of the directors of the Edinburgh and other chambers of commerce, and in proposing a toast to the president of the United States dwelt upon the excellent judgement shown in the selection of ministers to represent the country at the court of St. James. Great good had been done, he said, by such judicious appointments as those of Lincoln, Lowell, Phelps and Bayard. The speech was heartily cheered. Following this was a toast to Mr. Wilson and the other Americans present, in proposing which the speaker referred to his visit to the United States, when he had wondered that with the advanced ideas of the Americans they had so long tolerated a high tariff. The making of nations generally, he said, covered long periods of years, compared with which the period of seeking tariff reform in the United States was extremely short. There was no reason, in his judgement, why the United States and Great Britain should not march abreast in the cause of freedom, with which tariff reform must be associated. When the advantages of the system which Mr. Wilson had had a large share in introducing were fully known, England and America would unite to honor him. (Cheers). Therefore he asked the guests present to accord a special welcome to one of the authors of a tariff enabling freer trade in the United States and so substituting for the fluctuations which had been so disastrous to commerce, sounder business relations which had benefited both countries. Production in England had been stimulated, while in the United States the consumer would reap the advantage. (Cheers).

Mr. Wilson was loudly cheered as he rose to respond. He was heartily grateful, he said, for this manifestation of good will. Nothing less than a full sense of the honor implied by the invitation of the chamber of commerce would have caused him to interrupt the rest he had sought by taking the ocean voyage and his too brief sojourn in this historic country. He felt embarrassed as to how to address such a gathering of experienced business men, and felt conscious that he could not speak upon the subjects within the field of their special knowledge. He preferred to speak solely as an American citizen upon matters with which he was familiar (Hear, hear). For ten years, he said, the United States had been the arena of one of the greatest political conflicts in the history of Americans, and he was confident that the troubles which they had now passed through had given a momentum to a new era in the life of the United States and especially as to the position of the country toward the rest of the world. (Cheers). For twenty-five years the United States had been following the policy that China had adopted. The principles of commercial seclusion had clipped the wings of her enterprise and fettered her own industries. Never before in the history of the world had protection had so fair an arena in which to work out its beneficient results if it had any, and never in the history of the world had it so conspicuously demonstrated its falsity and utter impotence as an economic system and its utter incompatibility with pure government. The whole generation had been taught that national and individual prosperity did not depend upon a free and stable government and the energy and enterprise of the people, but upon acts of congress which taxed all for the benefit of a few. Was it strange then, he asked, that the intelligent people of the United States should in time reject such a policy? Every appeal to selfish interests had been resorted to to bolster the system up. The workingmen of America were constantly told and for a time induced to believe that better wages and a higher standard of living depended upon the taxation of foreign imports; that any reduction in the tariff schedule would bring them into the hopeless condition of the so-called pauper labor of Europe. It was against such arguments that they had been compelled slowly and laboriously to maintain a fight. The American people, however, were not hard to educate when they once gave their attention to the great question of their own taxation, because they had been trained in the great principles of liberty. They quickly learned that industries supported by taxation never became self-supporting, but rather became more clamorous for public assistance. The working people especially learned that while taxation upon competing products might benefit the employers, yet there was free trade in that they themselves had to sell, namely, their own labor. The people generally found that under a protective tariff were growing up trusts, monopolies, etc., which were menacing the government, and that the wealth extracted by taxation was being employed to debauch elections and corrupt legislators.

Mr. Wilson said he believed that he might claim that the protective system was now overthrown. The operation of the new tariff bill, though it had not in itself overthrown protection, marked the first and most difficult step in the revolution which would go forward henceforth by its own impetus.

He concluded by predicting that the nation would be found to be America. At the same time he believed that the progress of the demands of the world would advance upon such a scale that there would be ample room for the commerce of the United States and the United Kingdom as well. (Cheers).

Mr. J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture, who was the next speaker, said that the agriculturists of the United States had learned that they were selling their produce in competition with the agricultural labor of all the world; yet they were compelled to purchase whatever they needed in their industry in a country from which competition was excluded.

As regarded the aims and objects of the tariff reformers, he said, they were seeking to emancipate the industries of the country. He was not sure that he could call upon his hearers to rejoice at the accomplishment of tariff reform in the United States except inasmuch as they approved sound principles more than they valued selfish advantage. (Hear! Hear! and Laughter.)

Well-Merited Compliment.

London, Sept. 28.—The Standard says the chamber of commerce dinner to Congressman Wilson, was a compliment as appropriate as it was well merited. The Americans have learned a sound and wholesome lesson that there is a point even within their limitless natural resources beyond which protection cannot go.

EL DORADO'S ROUGH VOYAGE.

Accompanied By the Cyclone from Florida to New York.

New York, Sept. 28.—Steamer El Dorado, Captain Percy, of the Morgan line, from New Orleans, arrived at quarantine just after sundown last night, 12 hours late. She rounded Florida Keys on Sunday, the 24th, and the hurricane accompanied her to port. Captain Percy's log shows that he encountered a gale from the southeast just after passing Key West, which instead of dying out as usual increased in velocity and effect until he neared Cape Hatteras on the 25th, when it moderated somewhat and canted to the eastward. Yesterday morning the wind again increased until it had attained a speed of fifty to sixty miles per hour. Later in the day it moderated slightly and commenced veering to the northeast.

Captain Percy says the hurricane was one of the most severe he had ever met and that he had a hard tussle with it. He had a raging sea for three days and nights but the El Dorado is a staunch vessel and weathered the storm without receiving any but trivial damages.

He met steamer Cienfuegos, just beyond the lightship in the act of turning back to anchor until morning.

The outward bound steamer, Vigilancia, of the Ward line, after delaying 24 hours in Gravesend Bay, decided to face the storm and heaved anchor at 1 p. m.

HEBREWS GIVEN TO ARSON.

Bold Charges Made at a Meeting of Fire Underwriters.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—There was quite a scene created in the meting of the Fire Underwriters association by the reading of a paper entitled "The Jew in Fire Insurance," by C. C. Hine, editor of the New York Insurance Monitor. Mr. Hine was very outspoken in his views and his statements caused quite an uproar. He charged that property owned by Jews was generally a bad risk. He said that as a race they were given to arson and aimed to make money out of the fire insurance companies. He quoted statistics to prove that his assertions were correct. He selected Hebrew names from firm reports and went deeply into the matter of their proportion as compared with those of other nationalities.

All through Mr. Hine's speech there were signs of disapproval from various portions of the hall, but this did not deter him from finishing all he started in to say. When he concluded several members of the association arose and made brief remarks attacking his arguments and trying to disapprove part of what he had said.

A Hebrew insurance man said that Mr. Hine's statistics amounted to nothing as every Jew who had a hundred dollars worth of goods was insured and therefore the per centage of Jews insured was greater than that of the Christians, hence the loss among them would naturally be larger.

For Indigent Masons.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 28.—The Masonic Charity foundation has purchased of George L. De Forest, the Oneida Community property, at Wallingford, paying for it $17,500. The Masons will establish there a home for aged and indigent Masons, and the property will be conveyed immediately. This action concludes a movement begun twenty years ago for the establishment of the home. The property is located a little west of Wallingford proper, and contains 88 acres

FITZ AFTER CORBETT

Out With an Open Defi to the Champion.

Wants To Meet Him for Scientific Points and Then for $25,000—Olympic Club Threatens To Offer the Heavyweight Championship to Bob if Corbett Is Not Heard From.

New Orleans, Sept. 28.—The visiting sports are getting out of the city. They all claim that the pugilistic carnival was a fine one and think Fitzsimmons a wonder. Many maintain that he is clever enough to defeat Corbett. At 11 o'clock Dan Creedon and his party left for St. Louis. Before his departure, Col. Hopkins, the Australians backer, posted $1,000 in the hands of a prominent sporting man to back a challenge of Creedon to meet any middle-weight, except Fitzsimmons for a purse and $2,000 side bet. Fitzsimmons, accompanied by his wife, son and James Dyer, his trainer, left for New York. Fitz in a letter to Corbett offers to box the champion four rounds for points before competent critics and should they decide that he is not in Corbett's class, he will never again ask for a match. Should he make a good showing all he asks is a meeting. The Olympic club has Fitz's signature to a set of articles caling for a fight with Corbett, and has already offered a $25,000 purse. President Scholl will give Corbett three days to answer definitely. Should he fail to give a satisfactory reply, a special meeting of the directors will be called and a reasonable length of time given the champion to answer. O'Donnell will not be tolerated by either the club or Fitz, and Corbett must either fight or the club will tender the championship to Fitzsimmons, as the title was won and lost in the Olympic club arena.

The letter which went forward, addressed "To Mr. James J. Corbett, Champion of the World" is as follows:

"At every opportunity, when my name has been used in connection with a battle with you for the world's championship, you have endeavored to belittle my claim for a fight on the ground as you put it, that I am not in your class, or that you have not seen the color of my money. I am very well aware of the fact that although I have earned more money than you at fighting since I have become middleweight champion, you can buy and sell me, financially, no doubt, your faculty of saving being better than mine. Therefore I hope that a $10,000 side bet will not stand as a barrier against securing a match with you. The amount of money that I shall put up has decided many a championship contest in the past and I hope you will not refuse, when you sign for a $25,000 purse, such as is offered by the Olympic club at the present time. You will find my name attached without asking for a losers end. In order to show my sincerity to the public at large I will make you two propositions.

"First—That we engage the largest hall in New York city and give a boxing exhibition, four rounds, scientific points only, for the benefit of the poor of New York city. I will give you any pledge that you may demand that I will not attempt to knock you out. In case competent judges decide that I am not in your class, so far as skill and science are concerned, I will never ask for a match with you again.

"Second—I ask to be allowed to formally challenge you to give me a chance to meet you to a finish to decide the world's championship, according to Marquis of Queensbury rules.

"In order to again show my sincerity I hereby deposit the sum of $10,000 as a side bet with the privilege of increasing it later on if my financial standing will allow. I most respectfully call your attention to the fact that I have already signed articles to meet you before the Olympic club for a $25,000 purse, winner to take all, and I trust you will see your way clear to do likewise. Respectfully yours,

"ROBERT FITZSIMMONS,
"Champion middleweight of the world."

CORBETT STILL REFUSES.

Intimates That Fitz's Defeat of Creedon Amounts to Nothing.

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 28.—Champion Corbett said regarding Fitzsimmons' challenge after his victory over Creedon: "Fitzsimmons may keep on fighting middleweights until doomsday, but I will not meet him until he gets into my class. He has been challenged time and time again by O'Donnell and he has got to recognized him before I will fight him. The statement that I said I would meet Fitzsimmons if he defeated Creedon or Choynski is untrue. I have never made any such talk to him or to any one."

Corbett intimated that Fitzsimmons' defeat of Creedon amounted to nothing to a man who is ambitious to meet a heavyweight.

FITZ THE COMING MAN.

Sullivan Not Surprised at the Defeat of Creedon.

Washington, Sept. 28.—"It is just about what I expected," said John L. Sullivan, in reference to the Fitzsimmons-Creedon fight. "I didn't think Fitz could win in two rounds, but it never entered my mind that it would last over eight or ten rounds."

Sullivan said he was positive that Fitzsimmons could whip Corbett. "Fitz is the coming man," he added, "but in my opinion Corbett does not want to fight anybody. I won a hundred and another suit of clothes from Creedon on the fight, but that was the extent of my winnings."

REPLY TO MRS. PEARY

Members of the Expedition Stick to Their Story.

Claim That the Lieutenant Was Autocratic in His Dealings With the Men—Too Much Red Tape for Success—The Menu Provided for Them Not Satisfactory.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—The interviews sent out from Washington with Mrs. Peary, in which she expressed surprise that any member of the expedition to Greenlad under her husband's leadership should have found fault with the purity or quality of the food excited the ire of the dissatisfied members of the party and they vented their feelings somewhat freely. At first Messrs. Entriken, Astrupp, Clark, Davidson and Swain were in favor of drawing up a statement to the public, giving an account of the expedition's winter in Greenland and the causes for dissatisfaction. They considered themselves released from their pledge of silence to Peary by Mrs. Peary giving an interview, and they were in favor of answering her. However, after some further talk among themselves they decided to await any further disclosures by Mrs. Peary before they laid their case before the public. Despite the decision not to make a joint statement, in conversation some of the members of the party could not prevent their feeling of bitterness toward Peary from giving itself utterance. The United Press despatches have already given many of the causes of dissatisfaction existing among the returned explorers, such as bad and usufficient food, suffering from cold, and misjudgment on various matters by Peary, and these additional details were given to-day by one of the party. He said:

"The members of the main expedition went with Peary with the understanding that they were to remain two years. Their experience of his methods of a single year sufficed them, and that experience accounts for their coming back on the Falcon. They found that everything was red tape and that as regards glory, their commander wanted to 'hog' it all. The lieutenant and his wife had their own quarters and every comfort obtainable; the others had to forage for themselves. The fact of the matter is, the expedition was all Peary and nobody else. Peary had given them their option of staying two years, but when the auxilliary expedition arrived he asked for volunteers to remain in Greenland with them. Every soul of them, except his servant, decided to come home, first, because there was not much food and next, chiefly because they did not want another year of red tape and autocracy. Before the Falcon sailed, however, one of the party changed his mind and agreed to stay with Peary, because he said, the lieutenant had agreed to teach him civil engineering. The oil of which Mrs. Peary speaks, was lost through her husband's carelessness. As for scientific work during the ensuing year I dont believe Peary and his two men can accomplish much."

W. T. Swain, who was one of the party, and went out with Peary as his private secretary, said:

"We are under no contract with Peary, as regards dissatisfaction with his management. The only agreement that exists was made by us on board ship, while we were returning to Philadelphia. We then agreed that we would say nothing unless Mrs. Peary opened her lips.

"This I see she did yesterday. I consider myself at perfect liberty to speak. As for my contract with Peary, it has been broken by him repeatedly during the course of the expedition.

"We agreed that we were to be treated as gentlemen, for one thing. I can say that Lieut. Peary himself certainly did not act as a gentleman among gentleman. Mrs. Peary, I see, has something to say about the food. Let me give you our menu during the last two months of our stay, while we waited for the relief party. This menu was the outcome of Peary's arrangements, and was due to insufficient provisioning in the beginning.

"Breakfast—Cornmeal mush, sprinkled by Peary with sugar and a sparing hand; bacon with all the fat fried out of it; an occasional spoonful of Boston beans out of a can, coffee.

"Lunch—Boiled seal meat, tasting like stale mutton flavored with coal oil; corn bread, tea.

"Dinner—Reindeer meat—when we could get it; seal meat when we could'nt; beans occasionally; and—dont omit this—one half a slice of white bread; coffee.

"On Sunday evening as a special treat we had for desert one can of tomatoes among the party.

"What Peary and his wife had we dont know. They lived apart, and no one of us was ever during the whole time, invited to their quarters. Peary treated us to a lot of red tape and autocratic rule, that had serious consequences sometimes. I am lame on account of it. He would order some of us to go on a 75 mile sledge journey to procure food for his dogs, and only give us an hour's warning, when half a day could have been accorded. The hour did not suffice to dry our stockings and we ran the risk of frozen feet. My toe, which lames me, was frozen in just that way. And one thing I can add—no Arctic expedition can ever succeed which takes a woman along to hamper it."

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Crescents distributed 500 Chinese lanterns to the paraders last night.

The Spalding team, four riders and two trainers, reached town last night. Barnett has been a fast and successful racer on the southern circuit.

The New York Times found the portraits of the Crescent Wheelmen officers such an adornment to The Daily Press when published therein that it today beautifies its columns with the same men's likenesses.

William Demarest, the cycling letter-carrier, collided with a delivery wagon from Mrs. D. I. Smalley's meat market at 7 this morning. He was coming down Park place and did not see Driver Edward Mundy turn in from Somerset street. The cycler managed to steer clear of the horse, but struck one of the wheels. The front forks of the bicycle were broken, and the rider cut his hand and wrist slightly.

Monte Scott rode at the meet of the Allen Wheelmen held in connection with the Allentown fair yesterday afternoon. There were three races, all of them scratch; and three riders, Scott, G. F Royce and C. W. Krick, each won first, second and third prizes. Monte was first in the five-mile, second in the one-mile and third in the two-mile. He won the five-mile race with a great sprint the whole of the last half. His prizes are a gold watch, an onyx inkstand and a pair of gold links.

The great $50 Times medal which the novices of tomorrow's races covet, is herewith pictured:

Following are the officials of the Crescent races tomorrow: Referee—F. P. Prial, New York; Judges—C. VonLengerke, Newark, F. W. VanSicklen, New York, J. Hervey Doane, Plainfield; Scorers—G. F. EGYPT OVER THE BROOK.

Electric Lights Quenched by Lack of Water.

There were no electric lights last night in North Plainfield, Dunellen, or any of the territory supplied by the Edison Company. The borough fire-gong blew for over a minute at 6 last night, showing that steam was on as usual then, and the absence of lights during the whole night was a surprise to everyone.

The fault was with the pump upon which the company depends for a supply of water from the old fire-well on Race street. At 2 yesterday afternoon it worked all right, but in the evening when water was needed for the boilers none could be drawn, although the well was not dry and the pump seemed to be in good order.

Today the pump was taken apart and examined, but the cause of the trouble could not be found. Another pipe was laid to the well to connect with a second pump for emergency. Dr. Cooley thinks the engine will be at work tonight. The company lost a $25 payment last night.

SAVED FROM BURNING.

JAMES HIBBITTS RESCUES HORSES AT PERSONAL RISK.

Early Morning Blaze on Fifth Street—Interior Flames Flooded Out by Quick-Responding Firemen—Cigarettes Possibly the Cause.

George J. Tobin of West Sixth street, near Liberty, was awakened at 4 this morning by the reflection of flames in his bedroom. He looked out from the rear window and saw that Daniel Hibbitts's stable, in the rear of the hackman's house on Fifth street, was on fire. Mr. Tobin hurried to the Catholic rectory, obtained Rev. Father Smyth's key and pulled Box 34.

James Hibbitts, son of the hackman, awoke about the same time, and, without stopping to dress, took the two horses and one of the carriages from the barn. As he did so the flames filled the building and kept him and the others who came up from venturing within again.

The firemen found a hydrant near at hand and flooded the stable. The contents and partitions inside were almost totally consumed by this time, and only the charred shell of the structure remained when the flames were extinguished. The property destroyed included a sleigh, two carriages, harness and hay. The barn and contents were insured through William A. Woodruff's agency in the London, Liverpool & Globe Insurance Company for $1,400. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

An odd circumstance connected with the fire is that it was not discovered earlier by the neighbors or the police. Men at the Netherwood pumping-station telephoned to town about 15 minutes before the alarm came in that there was a fire near the Netherwood station. Chief Doane at the fire called out Alert's hose-wagon to send it to Netherwood. He telephoned to the water company's men and was told that the fire they had seen was probably the one at which the firemen were working.

Mr. Tobin does not think, however, that the fire could have been burning 15 minutes before he discovered it. The contents were so inflammable that they must have blazed up at once. He and Mr. Hibbitts and other people of the vicinity believe that the fire was incendiary. There were cracks in the sides of the barn through which the hay could have been ignited. Chief Doane thinks that careless cigarette smoking might have been the cause. The first person Mr. Tobin met when he returned from the box was Fred Willibald, the newsboy who served six months for the robbery committed at the Union newsstand.

TORTURED THIRTY YEARS.

His Suffering Ended After Using Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Mr. George Smith, of Allegheny, Pa., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for 30 years, and had so many severe attacks that some of my joints were twisted out of shape. At times I suffered terrible pain, and, although I tried many remedies, I never obtained any permanent relief until I procured Munyon's Rheumatism Cure. The action of this remedy was wonderfully quick, and although I have only taken a small quantity, I consider myself permanently cured."

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure is guaranteed to cure rheumatism in any part of the body. Acute or muscular rheumatism cured in from one to five days. It never fails to cure sharp shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body in from one to three hours. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back, and all pains in the hips and loins. Chronic rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or pain in the back are speedily cured.

Munyon's Homœopathic Home Remedy Company, of Philadelphia, put up specifics for nearly every disease, which are sold by all druggists, usually for 25 cents a bottle.

THE YALU RIVER BATTLE.

Further Details of the Naval Encounter Between Japs and Chinese.

London, Sept. 28.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio gives further details of the naval battle off the mouth of the Yalu river. The despatch describes the steaming out of the bay of the Chinese to meet the Japanese fleet, the formation of the Chinese fleet when in the open water being that of an accentuated crescent, while the Japanese were in a single line with the Matsushima in the centre. After the first few rounds were exchanged Admiral Ito, commanding the Japanese fleet, signalled his ships to bring their guns to bear first upon one flank and then upon the other of the enemy. The Chinese thereupon altered their formation into a single line. The fighting proceeded the distances varying from 2,000 to 3,000 metres. Only a few of the Chinese shots were effective. After a time the Chinese admiral apparently deemed his position desperate and ordered the formation of his line broken. He sent three ships against the Japanese line at full speed. It was at this time that the Lai Yuen was sunk, followed by the Chin-Yuen and the Chao-Yung. The flagship Matsushima had been the object of the Chinese attack throughout the fight. A Chinese shell struck and dismounted a quick-firing gun and, completing the disaster, the gun was flung violently against the side of the ship. The commander and the first lieutenant of the Matsushima were killed, as were also a number of the seamen. This made the total loss of the crew 120 men. Admiral Ito did not delay a moment in transferring himself and staff to the Hasidate, and in a few minutes he was again in the thick of the fight. She steamed in advance of the Hi-Yei and when the latter was disabled and was backing out of line the Yoshino took the enemy's fire and was hit frequently. First Lieutenant Askagi took command of the Yoshino after the captain and two lookout men were killed, and fought the ship until darkness terminated the action.

SINKING OF THE KOW SHUNG.

Her Captain Arrives at Winnipeg and Describes the Loss of the Vessel.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 28.—Thomas Ryder Galsworthy, captain of the British merchantman Kow Shung, that was sunk by the Japanese cruiser Naniwa over a month ago in the open sea, while enroute to Korea with Chinese troops, arrived here bound for Montreal. He has with him some of the papers of the wrecked ransport which he secreted before jumping overboard in the onesided engagment of July 25, together with a number of charts and sketches showing the relative positions of the ships when the Kow Shung was fired on by the Naniwa. These documents are to be laid before the British board of inquiry now awaiting Galsworthy's arrival.

Captain Galsworthy says the Chinese were in possession of the Kow Shung's decks and there were several collisions between the soldiers and seamen even before he Japanse cruiser was spoken. When the fight began the Chinese blazed away with some obsolete field pieces and not one shot in fifty went within hail of the Japanese cruiser. When the Kow Shung went down 500 Chinese went with her and never came to the surface. Captain Galsworthy says he saw Chinese soldiers cutting each others heads off with their swords, shooting each other and doing everything to prevent falling into the hands of the Japanese.

STORM NEWS MEAGRE.

Communication at Some Points in the South Cut Off Entirely.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 28.—Storm news is very meagre. Jacksonville is still cut off from communication with South Florida and since Tuesday not a word has been received from east coast points where the storm is supposed to have been most severe. All the wires leading to the south are down and no trains from that section have come in since Tuesday. Nothing has been heard from St. Augustine since that day and there are rumors that the ancient city has suffered greatly.

In Jacksonville the damage which amounts to about $75,000 is being rapidly repaired. The wreck of the new Union depot in process of construction was the most serious loss.

Chinese Captain Beheaded.

London, Sept. 28.—The Times will publish a dispatch from Shanghai saying that Captain Fong, of the Chinese turret ship Tsi-Yuen, has been beheaded for cowardice in the Yalu fight. The dispatch aso says that the Chinese cruiser Kwang Kai became stranded on a reef near Talien Bay while endeavoring to make her escape from the Yalu battle and was afterwards blown up by the Japanese. This makes a total loss of five ships to the Chinese, including one ship which was rammed by the Tsi-Yuen while trying to ram one of the Japanese vessels.

Fifty-three Cyclone Victims.

Mason City, Ia., Sept. 28.—A correct list of those who perished in the terrible cyclone of last Friday night residing in this state has been secured. In Kossuth county there were 18; in Hancock county, 22; Cerro Gordo, 4; Worth, 3; Mitchell, 6, making a total of 53. All of the injured in this county will recover.

Judge Gaynor Remains Silent.

Riverhead, L. I., Sept. 28.—Judge Gaynor refuses to talk about the democratic nominees. In discharging the jurors he thanked them for their attention, which, he said, had been better than usual. He expressed himself as much pleased and hoped to hold court in Suffolk county many times. He left by the afternoon train for Bellport.

Killed a Squaw 100 Years Old.

Grantsburg, Wis., Sept. 28.—Peter Anderson and his brother, while out bear hunting yesterday near Mud Pen lake, shot a squaw, mistaking her for a bear. Both shot and both bullets took effect. The squaw was 100 years of age.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

How Bills Are Made and the Cost. Only Three Kinds in Use.

Mr. Maurice L. Muhleman, cashier of the Sub-Treasury, is an expert on Uncle Sam and his money matters. Mr. Muhleman has been the chief, next below the Assistant Treasurers, here in New York for years, and what he doesn't know about currency and bullion is hardly worth knowing. In an interview the other day, he said:

"I observe an article going the rounds of the papers relative to the issue and redemption of Bank of England notes. The number of notes cancelled daily is given at 50,000, and it is regarded as quite a large figure. But Uncle Sam, in the management of paper money, cancels a good many more notes daily. It is quite probable that the number of notes destroyed daily has reached 200,000, since the average during 1893 was over 190,000, estimating 300 working days in a year.

"During the fiscal year 1894 the number of notes of all kinds issued amounted to over 56,000,000 of an aggregate value of $441,000,000. To accomplish this tremendous issue of paper and its redemption when it has done its work among the people requires the labors of many hands and the exercise of great care. First the paper, like that of the Bank of England note, is of a special kind, and made only for the Government at the mills of Crane & Co., Pittsfield, Mass. Only clean linen rags are used, and the distinctive fibre is put in as it is made. For a while this fibre was not used, but it was found advisable to have it restored. A Government representative is stationed at the mill, and sees that no paper of this kind is made except for the United States; to do this he has of course, full supervision. The paper is turned out in sheets of a size to permit the printing of four notes on each. About 14,000,000 sheets, were, therefore required in the past fiscal year. These are forwarded after count from the mill to the Treasury Department, where they are counted and from time to time delivered to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, where the notes are printed from plates kept in the vaults.

"The Treasurer of the United States estimates from time to time what denominations and amount of notes he needs, and the Comptroller of the Currency does the same for the notes of national banks. The paper is then issued to the printers, who receipt for the number of sheets and the plates they are to use.

"The Bureau of Engraving and Printing employs about 1,350 people, but a large part of this force is employed on the work of printing internal revenue stamps. It is estimated that the cost of printing notes and stamps is $25 per 1,000 sheets, say two and one-half cents a sheet; for notes the expense is cosiderably above this, as stamps are printed on only one side. Probably notes cost from four to five cents a sheet, or about one cent apiece.

"Unlike the notes of the Bank of England, our notes which come back to the Treasury in a condition fit for further use are again issued. Thus it is estimated that the average life of notes is about three years. The ones and twos have shorter but the hundreds, five hundreds and one thousands much longer, lives.

"The Government issues at present three kinds of paper money: United States notes, or greenbacks; silver certificates, representing silver dollars on deposit, and Treasury notes, authorized by the law of 1890. No new issues are really made now; only re-issues; substituting new for old notes, and small for large denominations, or vice versa.

"The limit of issue of United States notes, as before stated, is $346,681,016; of silver certificates no more can be issued than there are dollars held in or brought to the Treasury; on June 30, 1894, there were outstanding $327,148,304; and the Treasury notes were on that date limited to no more than $153,584,417. We have thus a total Government paper circulation including the gold certificates of over $902,000,000; besides these the national bank notes issued by banks under direction of the Comptroller of the Currency and secured by Government bonds, which may amount to about $207,000,000, serve to supply the people with abundant paper.

That Australian El Dorado.

Americans who are thinking to try their fortune in the new El Dorado of western Australia, should consider some of the conditions of life in the new gold fields before starting on a fool's errand. Recent letters are full of doleful tales of hardship. Not more than five men in a hundred are lucky enough to strike it rich, and the region is already vastly overpopulated. The lack of water is the greatest drawback. Water commands twenty-five cents a gallon at Coolgardie, thirty-seven at Hannens, and fifty cents elsewhere. In the gold district many horses have died of thirst by the roadside. Five hundred men at Coolgardie are anxious to get work at any wages.—N. Y. Sun.

Paris Roasts Dr. Koch.

The Paris Herald has the following caustic paragraph about the famous German celebrity, Dr. Koch:

This former medical celebrity, subsequently notorious by reason of his scandalous divorce and his hurried marriage with a "belle soubrette," is so overcome and broken up by his senile love affairs that he has had to take refuge in a hydropathic establishment, with a view to recruit his strength. Sic transit gloria mundi. He will probably end his days in a lunatic asylum.

CHARIOTS OF FIRE.

CRESCENT CYCLERS CONDUCT A SPLENDID PAGEANT.

Long Line of Wheels Bright with Colors and Aglow with Lights—Residences Illuminated in Honor of the Paraders—Prizes Awarded.

The lantern parade last night was a great event for the cyclers of the town. Few can ride on the track, and many find the pace too warm or the course too long on the runs of the wheelmen's societies, but all could bring out their mounts and join the Crescents in a ride about the city and borough.

Every kind and class of rider was represented. Old men and small boys were mixed in the predominating element of enthusiastic youths. The wheels were of different styles and ages too, for the owners of the older wheels recognized the fact that a bike of the crop of '89 compares well with one of the '94 brand when both are covered with flags and tissue paper. One thing was noticeable, however, there were no high wheels.

Just about 200 wheels were brought to the square in front of the Crescent Avenue Church between 7 and 8 last evening. Many were elaborately decorated, while others proceeded to adorn theirs with the Chinese lanterns which the Crescents furnished. Shortly after 8 the parade started down Watchung avenue with F. L. C. Martin, Thomas Cuming, John Petrie, C. C. Lister and Bugler William J. Stephenson in the lead. The cyclers rode three and four abreast where the way was wide, and at other places narrowed down to single file. A large crowd lined the sidewalks about the square and discussed the merits of the different decorations.

All of the clubs in the city were represented and there were many unattached riders. The Crescents had a wagon with a large transparency advertising their meet next Saturday. The cyclers of the P. A. S. A. A. were out in force, led by Captain C. B. Morse, First Lieutenant E. I. Serrell, Bugler R. A. McGee and Color Bearer. A neat tranparency with the letters "P. H. S. A. A." printed on it were the "colors". The women cyclers were few in number, the threatening weather keeping most of them away.

At Fourth street the parade passed to Park avenue and turned to the right, leaving the crowd from the business section behind. In front of Dr. J. T. Fritts's residence sky-rockets and red fire were displayed. At the corner of Fifth street the only accident occurred, William Scriven's tire sustaining a puncture. Just above Captain William Hand had colored fire blazing before his house. The cyclers turned at Seventh street and went by the Country Club-house, where Mayor Gilbert and a number of other members of the club reviewed the procession. When Plainfield avenue was reached the parade turned to Eighth street and changed the programme by going to the corner of Arlington avenue. Here George Opdyke's house was illuminated with Chinese lanterns and red fire.

A countermarch was then made to Central avenue, by which Front street was reached. The cyclers crossed to Grove street and entered the darkness of the borough. The crowd about the Grove street bridge had an especially fine view as the cyclers went up the hill to Park place. The house of Rev. C. R. Barnes was illuminated in campaign style with two large candles in each window. Opposite George Worth's house was decked with Chinese lanterns. At the corner of Duer street a solitary light was found in the shape of a barn lantern hung from the temporarily useless electric fixture. It had been fastened there by Fred Koehler, thoughtful ex-carrier of The Daily Press.

The house of A. J. Winkler on Park place displayed a front lined with Chinese lanterns and trimmed with other decorations. On Jackson avenue illuminations and trimmings adorned the houses of A. H. Martin, Ralph Conover, S VanFleet, Peter Emmons and Mr. Smalley. The parade then crossed to Sandford avenue and went up Richmond street to Fifth. Turning to the right the house of F. S. Green was passed. In front was Mr. Green burning green fire. By way of Watchung avenue Crescent square was reached again. By a misunderstanding only a part of the riders made the final turn through Franklin place. Here the houses of J. E. Morse, A. W. Fish and J. T. Vail were prettily decorated in honor of the P. H. S. A. A. On East Seventh street, where the paraders did not go, the homes of J. W. Yates and A. D. Cook were illuminated. On Central avenue the homes of F. T. Clawson, Dr. A. H. Lewis and W. H. Rogers were trimmed with lanterns.

The whole affair was successful, and many who watched the parade regretted that they had not joined. The small boy with the stone was present, but most of the street boys were wrapped in peaceable admiration. William Havens was struck in the back of the head at the Central avenue bridge and had one of his large lanterns smashed with a stick. The minor mishaps of lanterns burning and candles going out were numerous, but the trip was made slowly and there was plenty of time for repairs.

After the parade had been dismissed 50 of the High School boys went through Seventh street to Monroe avenue serenading the people along the way with bugle calls and the Association yell. They were among the most enthusiastic of the riders.

Many of the wheels had been so elaborately decorated and gave such evidence of careful work that the owners deserve special mention. Among these was L. G. Timpson, who carried a large, fantastic canopy of blue and yellow, the club colors. From it hung a dozen large Chinese lanterns. The framework and the wheels were trimmed in the same colors and two small lanterns hung from the frame. J. Hervey Doane was attired in an Indian costume of buckskin and feathers. On his handle-bars was a shield of small feathers and large crane wings. To the small boys he was the greatest attraction in line.

Bugler Stephenson had his wheels filled in with flags and carried two lanterns for illuminations. Tunis J. Carey had a triangular canopy of red, white and blue in front of him with lanterns hanging from the points. His wheel was tied with tasty trimmings. Walter Manning had a novel plan of decorating his high-frame racer. A large black umbrella was raised high above his head, eight lanterns being suspended from the ends of the ribs.

Eck Johnson of South Plainfield had the bars of his mount wrapped with blue and yellow, and tied with bows of ribbons, and carried two lanterns. J. A. Haynes simply illuminated his wheel with seven lanterns. John P. Emmons carried two lanterns and had his frame wrapped with flags. A. R. Johnson's plan of decorating was the highest of all. He swung ten long lanterns, several smaller ones and three large flags from a scaffold which reached a height of 15 feet. The supports were covered with tissue paper in patriotic colors. President W. H. Rogers went in for an illuminating effect, swinging 15 small lanterns from a framework fastened to his light Spalding roadster.

Wm. Bamberger showed a neat wheel with the spokes interlaced with yellow and blue and the bars bound with cloth. George Sanders's wheel had been carefully prepared. Each spoke was bound separately with cloth of red, white and blue. Scarcely any metal work was in sight. Albert Woltmann and Meredith Dryden had wheels and decorations to match. A light horizontal, kite-shaped frame was placed at the level of the upper bar. At the head a mast rose, braced from each corner of the frame. Eleven small lanterns and four large ones made each wheel attractive. The riders were attired in white.

Russell Johnson rode a safety with wheels filled in with starry bunting. Edward Laing's mount was covered with pink tissue paper and carried four lanterns on high cross-bars. Thomas Smith had yellow bunting tied across the frame. There were four lighted lanterns below and 11 unlighted in a circle above beneath a Japanese parasol. Carl Gallup swung 12 lanterns from a circular framework. Edgar Serrell sported a braced mast and bowsprit with an odd round lantern in front and five others along the lines. William Havens's wheel showed heavy wrappings of flags. Three supports held up a line of four enormous lanterns. Irving W. Binninger had his safety arranged after the same fashion with a square framework above from which hung seven small lanterns. His wheels were tied with flags. Robbie Crane, on a 20-inch wheel, was the smallest person in the parade. His wheel was tied with a string to the mount of his brother, S. C. Crane, the racer, Joseph Harrison of Asbury Park and H. B. Scott were in line with their racing wheels. Thomas Cuming's wheels were cleverly covered with blue and yellow. The front spokes were interlaced with broad stripes while the rear wheel had a close cover, the outer edge being fastened beneath the tire.

The prize-winner among the men, Harry Vail, carried seven large lanterns on a fantastic support with plume-like branches. The frame and the attachments were covered with red, white and blue tissue paper. Miss Helen Cuming took the prize in the second division. Her front wheel was trimmed with blue and yellow and a bouquet of roses rested on the handle-bar. From a large lattice-work in the rear ten lanterns hung in rows. The committee met after the parade with Mayor Gilbert and awarded a handsomely engraved souvenir spoon to Miss Cuming and a pair of bicycle shoes to Mr. Vail. This ended the work of the committee. With the other officers busied with preparations for the meet Saturday afternoon, F. L. C. Martin and Thomas Cuming had taken charge of the parade and made it the success it was.

National Drills at the Y. M. C. A.

A special feature of the proposed fair to be held Thanksgiving week, with the worthy object of furnishing the new Y. M. C. A. Building, will be some national drills, accompanying living representations of artistic scenes. These will be under the direction of Miss Margaret McL. Eager of New York. In the Swedish representation will be given a bright glimpse of peasant life with wedding festivities. The Hungarian pictures will represent gypsies in costume and the Venetian scenes will be filled with gondoliers and happy maids of Southern Italy.

Capt. Hubbard Elected.

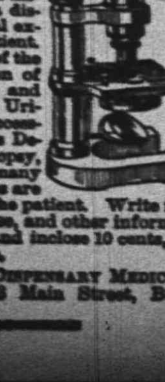
The fourth annual reunion of the Thirtieth New Jersey Volunteers was held in Elizabeth yesterday. An address was made by Senator Foster Voorhees. Following the business session a banquet was held in the Market Hall Armory. Col. F. S. TenEyck of Somerville presided.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Col. F. S. TenEyck, Somerville, President; Capt. J. Frank Hubbard, Plainfield, Vice-President; J. Bowman, South Branch, Secretary-Treasurer.

'T would Be a Great Improvement.

Some wide-awake North Plainfield citizens are urging members of the Borough Council to pass an ordinance to widen Somerset street. They point to the fact that certain property-owners have already widened the street in front of their respective property, and they claim that it is only fair to them that the rest should follow suit.

THE MICROSCOPE.



A careful microscopical examination and chemical analysis of the urine, is a valuable aid in determining the nature of many chronic diseases, particularly those of the nervous system, blood, liver, kidneys, and bladder. These aids make it possible to treat such diseases successfully at a distance, without personal examination of the patient. Thus Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, Gravel, and other Diseases of the Urinary Organs are successfully treated; Nervous Debility, Exhaustion, Dropsy, Liver Disease, and many other Chronic Maladies are cured without seeing the patient. Write for question blanks, treatise, and other information, describing case, and inclose 10 cents, in stamps, to pay postage.

THE STORM STILL IN CHECK.

High Winds at Sandy Hook This Morning—Rain Expected To-Night.

Although the signs of an approaching storm were materially less in this city this morning, the local forecaster of the Weather Bureau still asserted his belief that New York will get a part of the tropical storm which has been moving north at a low rate of speed for the last few days. The storm centre had reached Hatteras at 8 this morning, and the wind had decreased slightly in force. The signal-service officers thought that the storm was held by a bank of high pressure off the coast of Nova Scotia, and that its course might be changed so that it would go further out to sea than was first expected.

The wind was heavy along the coast as far north as Block Island this morning according to telegraphic reports, and at Sandy Hook there was a wind pressure of 30 miles an hour, while during the night the rain reached as far north as Philadelphia. Farmer Dunn thought that the rain would reach this section some time during tonight, but that as it had been held in check so long in the South the fall would not be severe. At 10 this morning the barometer was steady, but at 11 it began to fall slightly. Thus far from 4 to 10 inches of rain have fallen in the Southern States, a precipitation that is not likely to be equalled from this storm in the North.

GORED BY A COW.

A Horn Narrowly Misses Putting Out an Eye.

Andrew Hornhauser, a general utility man employed by W. L. Freeman of Netherwood, met with what might have been a very serious accident Wednesday. While performing his usual labors around the barn he had occasion to approach the cow and in stooping to arrange the feed the cow suddenly moved her head and in so doing horned Hornhauser on the frontal bone just over the eye, giving him a most painful and ugly wound. Had the horn struck half an inch lower down it would undoubtedly have resulted in penetrating the eye and thereby causing his death. As it struck the bone it glanced off, not, however, without leaving a very evident proof of its visit. Hornhauser applied such remedies as were at hand, and is now feeling that he is in one sense a fortunate man to have his two eyes though one is considerably the worse of the wear.

ANOTHER BURGLARY OUTRAGE.

Attack on a Woman in Jersey City—The Thief Recognized and Caught.

Another daring burglary attended with violence by a masked thief was committed in Jersey City at an early hour this morning, and the police arrested an ex-convict, the leader of the once notorious "Red Tiger gang", on suspicion that he was concerned in the crime. The victim was Mary Lenahan, whose husband died three weeks ago. The thief was after $2,000 insurance money, but got only $10 and some jewelry. He brutally clubbed Mrs. Lenahan and left her unconscious.

HOTEL BURNED.

Escape of Elizabeth Boarders From the Flames.

A. W. King's Hotel at Second and Trumbull streets, Elizabeth, was burned to the ground at 2:15 this morning and twenty-nine boarders barely escaped Two adjoining frame houses were also destroyed, one of them a boarding-house, owned by Rudolph Schultz, from which fifteen persons got out with difficulty. The total loss will reach $25,000. An electric wire in the bar-room of the hotel is said to be the cause of the fire.

An Interesting Event.

For the women it is a millinery opening, and they showed their appreciation and interest in the Fall opening of White's millinery parlors, by making it the most successful that this popular house has ever held. All three days, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the department has been crowded with women admiring the many beautiful hats, and leaving their orders. Too much credit cannot be given to Miss Daly, who has charge of the department, for the taste and skill displayed in the combination of colors and the trimmings of the hats.

Many who had attended openings in New York remarked that the styles were in advance of many exclusive New York houses, and, better still, the prices much more moderate. Two styles that were much admired were, a brown flat, trimmed with shaded wings, feather, rosette, and birds, and faced with lace insertion; and a navy braid hat, trimmed with black birds, black coque plumes and cirese roses.

A Police Need.

Every policeman on duty at night ought to be provided with a dark lantern for use in peering into the many dark corners of the business section. The need for dark lanterns is great, as was clearly demonstrated by the attempt to rob Griffen's hardware store a few nights ago. Some of the police might carry them, and some have them stored in convenient hallways for emergency.

To Marry a Host of Friends.

(From The Westfield Leader.)

The announcement is made of the marriage engagement of Louis Franz, a well-known citizen of Scotch Plains, with a host of friends in Westfield, and Miss Mamie E. Bonnell, daughter of the late Nathaniel Bonnell, who was the Sheriff of Union County several years ago.

Postmaster Noel's Lost Patronage.

Ex-Councilman Spangenberg is so much in earnest in his opposition to the inconvenience of having the Netherwood post-office on the north side that he accommodates the south-siders by collecting their mail and carrying it to New York.

GOOD FOOD FOUND FREE.

A Manual Training Student Reveals the Plainfield Home of Edible Delight.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—There are probably few articles affording such an abundant supply of palatable and wholesome food, and of which so little is generally known, as the mushroom Without doubt this neglect is largely due to the popular misunderstanding as to the ease with which the edible may be distinguished from the poisonous species.

The common meadow mushroom (Agaricus Campestris) which seems to be the only variety in general use, may be readily distinguished by its color, it having a pure white stem, white or pinkish cap, and pink gills in the young, changing to dark brown in older specimens. But this is but one in over a hundred varieties to be found in the United States.

As an illustration of the many varieties to be found in Plainfield and vicinity, at the weekly outing of the Plainfield Manual Training School last Thursday, the subject of observation for the day being Fungi, some twelve different varieties were found, half poisonous and half edible. But the edible were far more abundant than the poisonous species.

The ground gone over was between East Front street and the mountain. No doubt if another route had been taken other varieties would have been found. These, however, were distributed over a remarkably wide area.

There is one species to be found in this vicinity, the Lycoperdon or Puff-ball, which should be more widely known, for it is so well marked as to be most readily distinguishable to the most careless observer. There are several varieties of this species, of which all are edible; but only one, the large, smooth-skinned variety, is generally used. It is the largest of mushrooms, whitish or yellowish-brown in color, somewhat globose in form and having a soft white flesh when immature, which becomes yellow and cottony in the older specimens.

Professor Taylor, the Microscop'st of the United States Department of Agriculture, says: "Only such specimens should be used as food as have a firm white flesh."

A most agreeable surprise awaits those who have used only the common variety, if they will only try it in the following manner:

Peel and cut into slices half an inch thick. Have ready some chopped herbs, pepper and salt, (or pepper and salt alone), and dip into the yolk of an egg; then sprinkle with the herbs, etc. Fry slowly in butter twenty minutes, and serve immediately.

It may be of interest to note that the constituent properties of the mushroom are similar to meat, it possessing as much nourishment as beef.

These outings have proved highly interesting and instructive to the scholars, and as a member of the class I cannot speak too highly of the instructor.

PAUL C. HAYNES

To Equalize Representation.

Only twenty-three votes were heretofore necessary to elect candidates in the Somerset County Democratic Convention. A new rule recently adopted by the County Executive Committee requires 33 votes to elect. All conventions hitherto consisted of 45 delegates, while the one soon to be called will contain 65. Many Democrats feel that the representation to the county conventions is not yet right. They hold that there is only one fair method of representation, and that is for every 50 Democratic votes cast in each township there shall be allowed one delegate, and for every fraction over 25 an additional delegate. North Plainfield Democrats are preparing to urge the justice of this.

Aquatorial Nomenclature.

The swimming pools down along Stony and Green brooks, where the borough boys, and some of the city boys, have been wont to go in bathing in undress suits, are queerly named. There is one called "Shoes", because the formation of the brook at that point resembles a shoe. This is situated near Stine's farm. Another, just below the Evona woods, is called "Sixes", being six feet in depth; while the one at the Evona bridge is named "Fourteens" because tradition gives fourteen feet of water and fourteen boiling springs at that point. That's what the boys say, anyway.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

PARDON FOR MORMONS

Proclamation of Amnesty Made by the President.

The Partial Forgiveness Extended to the Polygamists in 1893 Now Made General by President Cleveland, Except to Those Who Have Not Complied With Certain Conditions.

Washington, Sept. 28.—Through the department of state President Cleveland has made a proclamation of amnesty and pardon to all persons who have been convicted of polygamy under the teachings of the Mormon church. It is as follows:

By the President of the United States of America:—

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Congress by a statute approved March 22, 1882, and by statutes in furtherance and amendment hereof, defined the crimes of bigamy, polygamy and unlawful cohabitation in the territories and other places within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, and prescribed a penalty for such crimes and,

Whereas, On or about the sixth day of October, 1890, the church of the Latter Day Saints, commonly known as the Mormon church, through its president, issued a manifesto proclaiming the purpose of said church no longer to sanction the practice of polygamous marriages and calling upon all members and adherents of said church to obey the laws of the United States in reference to said subject matter; and,

Whereas, On the fourth day of January, 1893, Benjamin Harrison, then president of the United States, did declare and grant a full pardon and amnesty to certain offenders under condition of obedience to their requirements as is fully set forth in said proclamation of amnesty and pardon, and,

Whereas, Upon the evidence now furnished me I am satisfied that the members and adherents of said church generally abstain from plural marriages and polygamous cohabitation and are now living in obedience to the laws, and that the time has now arrived when the interests of public justice and morality will be promoted by the granting of amnesty and pardon to all such offenders as have complied with the conditions of said proclamation, including such of said offenders as have been convicted under the provisions of said acts:

Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, by virtue of powers in me vested, do hereby declare and grant a full amnesty and pardon to all persons who have in violation of said acts, committed each of the offences of polygamy, bigamy, adultery or unlawful cohabitation under the color of polygamous or plural marriage, or who, having been convicted of violations of said acts, are now suffering deprivation of civil rights having the same, excepting all persons who have not complied with the conditions noted in said active proclamation of January the fourth, 1893. GROVER CLEVELAND

Kicked on the Attachment.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 28.—At the end of the third inning of the Harrisburg-Pottsville game here, Manager Huston, of the Harrisburg club, left the field and refused to play because his share of receipts had been attached at the instance of Treasurer Smith, of the Shenandoah club, who claims Huston owes him $28 as a part of a guarantee. Umpire Holland declared the game forfeited to Pottsville by the score of 9 to 0. Each club had scored three runs.

REMARKABLE CURES

Of Recent Date.

A Statement from Ex-Mayor John Corson, Esq., of Clinton, N. J.

TO THE PUBLIC:

I acknowledge with the utmost pleasure the wonderful cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

I had been a sufferer from piles, which gave me constant pain and distress, during twenty long years, attended with frequent loss of blood and with great and painful protrusion of the pile tumors and rectum whenever my bowels moved.

I tried constantly to get relief from my sufferings, but to no purpose until Mr. Bryan, a friend of mine, who had been cured by Dr. Lighthill of the same trouble, recommended him to me, and he effected a complete and radical cure in my case also, and earned my lifelong gratitude.

JOHN CORSON.

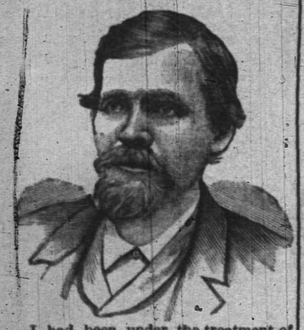
THE CASE OF MR. PETER G. EYCK, OF BISSELL, HUNTERDON CO., N. J.

Dr. Lighthill Effects a Complete Cure Where Ten Physicians Had Failed.

TO THE SICK, SUFFERING AND AFFLICTED:

For many years past I have been afflicted with bleeding piles. Every movement of the bowels was attended with loss of blood and with intense pain which lasted for hours and sometimes all day. My condition was aggravated by a prolapse of the rectum, which greatly increased my suffering and sometimes gave me most agonizing pains.

So great was my distress and so bad my condition that I sold my farm, not being able to work it any longer. At one time the protruding pile tumors became so highly inflamed and swollen that they could not be replaced, and I had to go to bed, applying hot poultices for three months before I could get relief.



I had been under the treatment of ten different physicians, some of New York City, Easton, Washington and elsewhere, without any benefit whatever, and had given up my case as hopeless when, luckily for me, I heard of Dr. Lighthill's skill and success in such cases, and went to him for treatment, with the happy result that he effected a radical and permanent cure in less than four weeks's time; and I am glad to say that the entire treatment gave me neither pain nor distress.

I consider my cure perfectly wonderful, and so do all my friends and neighbors. I am confident that there is no case of piles which Dr. Lighthill cannot cure.

PETER G. EYCK,
Bissell, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

LOSS OF THE BARK AMES

Perils and Hardships of the Unfortunate Crew.

All But Three of Those on Board Reach the Island of Madagascar in Small Boats and Are Assisted to Land Through Heavy Breakers and Cared for by the Natives.

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 29.—Letters received from Tamatave, Madagascar, written by Mrs. Knowles, wife of Captain Knowles, of the New Bedford bark Mary S. Ames, before reported abandoned at sea Sunday, June 17, in the Indian ocean, give interesting details of the loss of the vessel and the subsequent doings of the ship's company. The bark was badly strained in a cyclonic storm in the Indian ocean and sank shortly after those on board had left her in two boats. One boat was in charge of the mate, John Harkult, and with him were the cook, O'Neil; the pilot, Morrison, and Charlie Jenkerson, seaman. The other boat contained Captain Knowles, his wife and the others of the crew, making nine in the captain's boat, which, with water and provisions, brought her gunwale nearly level with the water. During Sunday night the boats parted company and the mate's boat was never seen again.

On Thursday the land of Madagascar was sighted, but in pulling in for the shore it was seen to be fringed with a solid wall of huge breakers extending from the land, over which it seemed impossible to carry a boat safely. Thinking that they might be picked up by a passing vessel, and not knowing their exact position, they pulled slowly along the shore, well outside the line of breakers. The next day their water was all gone and they began to suffer much from thirst. No friendly sail came in sight and the rays of the sun and pangs of thirst were becoming unbearable, so it was determined to attempt to land, the occupants of the boat preferring death by drowning in the breakers to the more horrible and suffering one by starvation and thirst. Selecting as favorable a spot as possible, the boat was headed for the shore, on which could be seen a group of natives watching them and making them signs. Just before reaching the shore the boat was lifted on the back of a huge breaker, which carried it with railroad speed to the land. The natives on the beach rushed into the water and hauled the boat out of the surf.

The natives took them into the interior to their village and treated them kindly. Here they learned that there was a white man living twenty miles away, and a native was sent to bring him. Upon his arrival he was found to be Jenkerson, of the mate's boat, which he said was capsized in attempting to land some miles to the north of where the captain's boat landed, and all but Jenkerson were drowned in the surf. He wandered around in the woods for some days with no clothing but a flannel shirt, subsisting on berries and fruits. When he at last was found by some French soldiers he was in a crazed condition, and it was some time before he could tell a coherent story. Captain Knowles and his party were taken to Tamatave, where they were kindly cared for by the consul and the French inhabitants of the place. The party were unable to leave on the steamer that took the letters, but expected to leave on the next French mail steamer, the last of August, for France.

Is Revolution Brewing in China?

Vienna, Sept. 29.—The Politische Correspondenz says the following information has reached St. Petersburg from China and attracts the serious attention of the government: "The intense excitement in all the provinces of China and the dissatisfaction of the highest officials in the empire have reached points which indicate a probable movement against the reigning dynasty. The spirit animating the regular army is satisfactory, but the discipline has been much relaxed. The irregular troops, upon which the government must now rely, are committing great and frequent excesses everywhere, including the capital. The war chest is as empty as the state exchequer and the government has the greatest difficulty in purchasing the barest necessities for the troops in the field."

Reverend Gentlemen Pass the Lie.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 29.—Rev. Sabin Halsey, the best known Methodist preacher in Wisconsin, and who has married scores of eloping Chicago couples, had a sensational quarrel with Rev. A. L. Benjamin, of Oshkosh, at the Wisconsin Methodist conference at Fort Howard. Halsey accused Benjamin of working in a sneaking way against Bishop Fowler and himself. Benjamin gave Halsey the lie and reverend brothers stepping in prevented a contest in prize ring style.

"Dr." Clark's Understudy Sentenced.

Boston, Sept. 29.—Norris A. Wilson, alias "Dr." Arthur M. Hill, has been sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory for criminal malpractice. Wilson, who comes from a respectable family in Watertown, N. Y., is 25 years of age, and for about four months was an "understudy" to the notorious "Dr." Robert A. Clark, who was sentenced to ten years in state prison.

Convicted of Offering a Bribe.

Pittsburg, Sept. 29.—Richard Armstrong, an ex-councilman and well known citizen of Alleghany City, was found guilty in criminal court on the charge of offering a bribe of $300 to John Born, a councilman in Alleghany, to vote for a certain engineer for the new Alleghany City water works. The jury recommended Armstrong to the mercy of the court.

Baltimore-New York Games.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—It was finally agreed yesterday at the conference by Managers Hanlon and Ward that the first games of the joint series should be played at Baltimore, Thursday, October 4. The second game will be played Friday at Baltimore and the third game Saturday at New York.

Nominated for Congress.

Batavia, N. Y., Sept. 29.—James W. Wadsworth was renominated by the republicans for congress on the first ballot.

ULTIMATUM OF CORBETT

Fitzsimmons Must First Defeat O'Donnell.

No Other Way for Him To Get On a Match With the Heavy-Weight Champion—O'Donnell Ready To Fight for Fun or Money—Sullivan Has a Few Remarks To Make.

Portland, Me., Sept. 29.—Champion James J. Corbett mailed the following letter to Fitzsimmons to-day:

My Dear Sir—I have read in the morning papers your very amusing challenge to me. You say that the "Olympic club" offers a purse. Well may be they do, but I have never heard from them as yet. However, that's not here nor there. I will not accept it unless you prove yourself a champion heavyweight and not a middleweight. I must acknowledge that as a middleweight you have no equal, but all you ever did in the heavyweight class was to defeat Peter Maher and Jo Choynski, two second class heavyweights. I suppose you think that the public will say you are a very brave man to challenge me and fight me. It is just like buying a lottery ticket to win $5,000 for $1—all you have to lose is $1, and it is the same case in fighting me.

All you have to do in the world to fight me for the championship is to prove to me and to the world that you are capable of defeating any heavyweight outside of me. You say that I promised to give you a match if you defeated Choynski or Creedon. When you say that you know you lie. I never even noticed you, and don't intend to unless you prove yourself a champion heavyweight. You want to jump over the heads of all other people and take that dying chance with me, but I will fool you. Mr. Steve O'Donnell, my present sparring partner, an undefeated man, has $10,000 that he can defeat you. He will box you from one round to a finish, for fun or for money. How can you expect me to recognize you when this man stands ready with money behind him to prove to the world that he is your superior? If you will only meet him and defeat him I will accept an offer of $25,000 from the "Olympic club" and I will give you all the fight that you want. Now, if you want to fight me, this is the only way that you can ever get me to make a match with you, for there is no power on earth that will make me notice you until you have defeated Steve O'Donnell, and any further talk from you I will consider and simply put down as a bluff.

I put myself on record in black and white that if you defeat Mr. O'Donnell I will fight you for the championship of the world and all the money you like. This is positively my ultimatum.

Yours Truly,
JAMES J. CORBETT,
Champion of the World.

SULLIVAN TALKS.

Unlike Corbett, He Says, John L. Was Always Ready to Defend His Title.

Washington, Sept. 29—John L. Sullivan was shown the Corbett interview from Portland, Me., in which the ex-champion was charged with having more mouth than courage. At first Sullivan was disposed to pay no attention to the interview, but after a moment's deliberation he said:

"I prefer to say nothing about that matter, but let the American people decide it. I think they will say that John L. was at all times ready to defend the title of American champion until he was defeated. Whatever else may be said of me by the American people, I am sure they will give me the credit of being at all times willing to defend the championship. They cannot say the same of Corbett. What right has he to say that he shall be a dictator as to where and when a fight must take place any more than his opponent? He has some rights, but they are only equal to his opponent. I went to England, to France, and was willing to go anywhere under the sun to defend the title of American champion. Corbett will not go out of this country to fight Jackson, he would not if he were a white man, but I don't blame him for not fighting a colored man. When I went into the ring with Corbett at New Orleans I was as much out of condition as Mitchell was outclassed. But I went there at his dictation. His pretext that Fitzsimmons is out of his class is nonsense. If he is, so much the better for Corbett, for he would win the money just as easily as he did against Mitchell. That is only a bluff that Fitzsimmons must first defeat Steve O'Donnell, who claims to have put out Fitz in the old country. This is a scheme to further advertise the Corbett-Brady combination. The proposition made by Fitzsimmons to Corbett is fair and should be accepted in good faith. My opinion is that Fitzsimmons can give Corbett the best fight he ever had. The American champion should know no country to the extent that he is afraid or refuses to go out of it to defend the title against all comers, and if Corbett does not do so the American people will not regard him as they did me and have since shown it. They look upon John L. as a fighter who died in the harness and he is as popular to-day with the masses as Corbett, the champion, because he was ready at all times and in any place to defend his title. John L. is doing good business in the national capital and the American people have still a warm place in their hearts for the man who never failed to meet an opponent. That's all I have to say."

Fitz Short Reply.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 29.—"If Mr. Corbett will say that he does not want to meet Fitzsimmons I won't bother him any more, but I will claim the heavyweight championship of the world and walk off with it. See? See?"

This was the response of Robert Fitzsimmons, champion middleweight, to Corbett's statement.

Probably Perished in Forest Fires.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 29.—No further news with regard to the forest fires can be obtained. The smoke in the burned districts is so dense that it is impossible to investigate, although fears are entertained that the family of Joe Myers perished, as nothing can be heard of them, and their residence cannot be reached. Prairie fires are raging east and north of Morris.

PIGEONS IN GREENLAND.

Experiments With Them as Messengers Proved a Failure.

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—A letter has been received here from Lieutenant R. E. Peary, in which he says that homing pigeons are not a success as messengers in the Arctic regions. The letter is dated Anniversary Lodge, August 15, and reads: "I regret very much to say that the experiment with homing pigeons as messengers in the Arctic regions has not proven a success, even with our earnest efforts to make it so. Between the Eskimo dogs and the Greenland falcons the number of birds were very rapidly reduced. Some were lost in the confusing wilderness of rocks and ice. The only message successfully carried was from a camp on the ice cap, about twelve miles from the Lodge. A few of the birds survived into the winter night, but became stupid with the cold and darkness, and the last one was decapitated by one of the dogs as he put his head through the bars of the cote. I am led to believe from the year's experience that this region is adapted only for those kinds of life which are found here, and any attempt to introduce others is certain to fail."

French School Ships at New York.

New York, Sept. 29.—The French warships Naiade, Neilly and Rigault de Genouilly arrived here at 9:45 a. m. and after giving the national salute of twenty-one guns passed Governor's Island and up into the North river to a point off Forty-second street, where the commander of the fleet will receive the French consul, M. Thiebout, on the flagship Naiade. The fleet is part of the naval division of instruction of the French navy and the vessels are virtually school ships for the instruction of young men-of-wars' men. Within the next forty-eight hours the formal visit of the commander of the fleet will be made to Major General Howard, at Governor's island.

Lamont on Hill's Nomination.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Secretary Lamont gave his views about the nominations made by the New York democratic convention. "I see no reason," said the secretary, "why Mr. Hill should not be elected. New York is a democratic state and has been for thirty years. Mr. Hill is a vote-getter and the campaign will undoubtedly be an active one. There may be some men of greater or less prominence, with more or less of a following, who will refuse to support him, but he will not be concerned about that. He has his own way of making a canvass and will look elsewhere for his votes."

Gov. McKinley Talks Labor.

Gallipolis, O., Sept. 29.—Governor McKinley's speech here was on the labor question. He enlightened his audience on the decrease of the working people employed in various manufacturing establishments as shown by the bureau of statistics reports. He spoke in the highest terms of Congressman Wilson, but said that gentleman had to go to the old world in order to receive a cordial greeting.

Elmira Reformatory Investigation.

New York, Sept. 29.—The meeting of the committee appointed to investigate the management of the state reformatory at Elmira, which was to take place on October 2 at the Mott Memorial hall, has been postponed to October 11 and the place of meeting changed to the Park Avenue hotel, Park avenue and Thirty-third street.

Big Blaze at Meshoppen.

Tunkhannock, Pa., Sept. 29.—The Carlin block, Harding's jewelry store, a barber shop and the Hallo block at Meshoppen were burned at midnight. Loss, $15,000. The fire originated from a lamp in the jewelry store. Meshoppen has no fire department.

Iron Workers' Wages Reduced.

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 29.—The Penn Iron company, of this city, has posted a notice of reduction of puddlers' wages from $3 to $2.75 a ton. Other employes are reduced 8 per cent.

TWO SAFES BLOWN OPEN.

Cracksmen Put in a Busy Night in the Vicinity of Hudson, N. Y.

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 29.—When the office of the Standard Oil company, located in the suburbs of this city on the river front, was opened for business yesterday it was found that the building had been entered during the night the safe blown to atoms and the contents carried away. In the safe was about $100 in money and some books and papers used at the distributing branch in this city. The office presented the appearance of a terrible explosion, everything being thrown about the place. The job was the work of professionals. The burglars were evidently out for business and must either earlier or later have turned their attention to opening the safe at the Catskill Station postoffice, which is in the depot of the Hudson River railroad about four miles down the track from the office of the Standard Oil company. Edward L. Hallenbeck, the postmaster, and William H. Hart, the station agent, upon entering the building found that the safe had been opened during the night by knocking off the knob and boring a hole into the lock and moving the bolts. The burglars took postage stamps amounting to over $250 from the safe. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

THE STORM IN FLORIDA.

Great Damage to Property Reported, But No Loss of Life.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 29.—Communication with south Florida is being restored and special dispatches are pouring in relative to the damage done by the West Indies cyclone which raged in this state Tuesday and Wednesday. The dispatches all tell the same story of houses wrecked and crops destroyed, but no loss of life is reported.

A dispatch received from Tampa, the first information from the place since Tuesday, says that at that place several large factories and other buildings were wrecked and many others damaged. Reports of vast destruction come also from Fernandina and St. Augustine. Between Green Cove Spring and Palatka, on the St. John's, twelve wharves have completely disappeared. Between Jacksonville and St. Augustine not a telegraph pole was left standing. The loss to the orange growers will be fully 20 per cent. The east coast is still cut off from communication below St. Augustine and Palatka. Dispatches indicate that the storm was as severe in the interior of the state as on the coast. It is estimated that the storm has cost Florida more than a million dollars, but no lives have been lost, unless at Key West, Titusville, Jupiter and other east coast points.

Murdered Woman's Body Found.

Providence, Sept. 29.—The body of an unknown woman with the back of the head crushed in and the features so mangled as to defy recognition was discovered in a lonely cart path in the woods of North Scituate last evening. The murder was evidently committed elsewhere and the body brought there for disposal, for there were no signs of a struggle and the tracks of a buggy to and around the body were plainly discernable. The remains were those of a woman about 40 years old and from her clothes it was judged that she was not a resident of the region where she was found. She wore a black dress with a gold chain and locket around her neck and had on gloves. The body laid in an open place in the sunlight, but it is thought the woman must have been killed some time Thursday, and put in the place where she was found during Thursday night.

Hazing Abolished at Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 29.—The practice of hazing has been formally abolished at Princeton by the unanimous action of the students assembled in a mass meeting in Alexander hall. The motion was made by H. O. Brown, '95, and Captain Trenchard, of the football team. President Johnson, of the junior class, and others spoke in favor of the measure. At the close of the meeting President Patton tendered his thanks and congratulations, saying that nothing could please him more than such an action on the part of the students. Dean Murray also addressed the students. The measure was carried amid great enthusiasm.

70-Year-Old Murderess.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 29.—A special from Dothan, Ala., tells of the killing of a man named Peter Skipper by his wife. The parties are each over 70 years of age and have numerous grandchildren. The old man's mind has been weak for a long time and occasionally he would try to run away. His wife was trying to keep him at home yesterday, when he attacked her. In defending herself she struck him on the neck with a board, killing him instantly. Mrs. Skippers refuses to eat anything and says she will starve herself to death.

New Bedford, Mass., Sept. 29.—The news that the Fall River mills are likely to start up has just been heard here by the spinners' union and many of the spinners now think that the operatives in Fall River will help the New Bedford operatives win the strike here by aiding them.

Typhoid Fever Victims.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 29.—Frank Adams and Henry Blaine, members of company F, Ninth regiment, are dead of typhoid fever, said to have been contracted at the Gettysburg encampment. Fifteen more members are down, and of these three are in a critical condition.

ON LAND AND OCEAN

Two New and Wonderful Speed Records Made.

Johnson Covers a Mile on the Waltham 'Cycle Track in 1:50 3-5, Beating the World's Record by One Minute—The Steamship Lucania Beats All Others in Ocean Records.

Waltham, Mass., Sept. 29.—The biggest 'cycle record of them all, the mile, with pacemakers, has just been beaten all to pieces by John S. Johnson, of Syracuse, on the Waltham 'cycle park, the most sensational piece of riding of this whole sensational year. For months Johnson, Tyler and Bliss have had their eye on figures 151, representing what had been once thought the limit of human speed on a bicycle, and every big man in the country has coveted the prize. But now Johnson turns the cold shoulder to that number, for these figures no longer have any magic in cycling circles, being slow time beside the new record. Until yesterday afternoon the world's record was 1:52 3-5, made by J. P. Bliss at Springfield. The fastest mile ever ridden in the world on a bicycle had been 1:51, by Mike Dirnberger, of Buffalo, but this record was not accepted as official, as he was paced by horses. But the Waltham track now holds a faster record, Johnson's time being 1:50 3-5. Besides breaking the world's mile record, Johnson also beat the three-quarter mile record, doing that distance in 1:23.

Johnson came onto the track shortly before 4 o'clock. Twice he circled the track to limber up his muscles, and an eighth of a mile away from the tape he began to put on steam, until as the starters' pistol sounded, he was whizzing over the cement surface like a miniature tornado. Ahead of him flew two tandems. On the foremost sat Saunders and Mayo, their limbs crossed and seamed all over with fresh cuts, the result of the previous day's terrible fall. Behind them came the Callahan brothers, with Johnson's tire a foot from theirs, yet gliding along without a quiver. Johnson rode with the smoothness and ease of a man on a practice spin, yet when he cut the quarter mile tape in 0:27, gaining greater speed each instant, an audible sign of hope welled from Manager Bradstreet's face. Here Saunders and Mayo drew aside and the Callahans drew on Johnson to the third in 0:38 3-5 and the half mile in 0:55. At this point Murphy and Stenson on the third tandem began to move away along the further turn, gradually gaining momentum, until at the instant Johnson dropped the Callahans and sprang for their tandem, they were going at their full speed. It was magnificently done, and to this latter team is largely due the credit of Johnson's great feat. They struck the two-thirds line in 1:13 3-5, and then began a terrific sprint, yet Johnson would not be lost in his close grip to their rear tire. At the third quarter they had caught and beaten the world's record, making it in 1:23. Faster and faster they flashed down the home stretch and crossed the wire side by side, with Johnson in 1:50 3-5, faster time than man ever traveled before by his own motive power.

5 DAYS, 7 HOURS, 48 MINUTES.

The Lucania Establishes a New Eastwardly Ocean Record.

New York, Sept. 25.—The Cunard steamer Lucania smashes the ocean record again, and came to her dock at 6 o'clock, the earliest arrival ever made Friday night, and the fourth time the Cunard company has docked Friday night. When she made her last record on the westerly trip over, Captain McKay expressed the opinion that it would take a better boat to beat the performance then accomplished of five days, three hours and thirty-eight minutes. Then she made the homeward voyage in precisely the same time, and in doing it surpassed the Campania, which held the eastward record.

On her return to this port she passed Daunt's Rock, off Queenstown harbor, at 12:40 p. m. Sunday last. At 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon she was sighted off Fire Island, and at 3:53 o'clock she was at the Sandy Hook lightship, the point at which the ocean races against time are figured. She had been five days, seven hours and forty-eight minutes, or fifty minutes less time than the previous best record ever made. She had covered a course of 2,782 miles and reeled off an hourly average of 21.77 knots, and a daily average approximating 539 knots. Her daily runs were 531, 542, 541, 529, 552 and 87. She had moderately good weather, though on the second day out she encountered squalls and she had to poke through fresh winds towards the latter part of the voyage. Her best day's run does not equal one in June last, which was over 560 miles, nor does her hourly average come up to that of her last eastward trip.

The Lucania holds all records now, namely, for fastest trip each way, the greatest one day's run, the greatest average daily runs, and the greatest hourly average.

One Will Be Rescued Alive.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 29.—Word received from the Northwest colliery, Carbondale, states that one of the four men buried in the colliery Thursday by a great mass of coal has been found alive on the other side of the great mass of coal, and the workmen have been able to talk with him. He is John Fanning, and the rescuers will be able to release him within twenty-four hours.

Two Murderers Hanged.

Paris, Tex., Sept. 29.—Eugenie Fulks and Tom Moore were hanged here today for murders committed in the Indian territory. The drop fell at 2:05 p. m. Both were pronounced dead in twenty minutes. The men both refused ministerial consolation on the gallows and Fulks died with an oath on his lips.

End of Constitutional Convention.

Albany, Sept. 29.—The constitutional convention will adjourn sine die this afternoon. The delegates presented President Choate with a magnificent punch bowl of silver as a testimonial of their regard for him.

FAILURES IN BUSINESS

Bradstreet's Summary for the Past Nine Months.

Marked Falling Off in the Number Compared With the Like Portion of 1893—An Extraordinary Decrease in the Grand Total of Assets and Liabilities.

New York, Sept. 29.—Reports of actual failures in business just made public by Bradstreet's, those in which assets prove to have been less than liabilities, in commercial, industrial and financial lines, show a marked falling off in number during the past nine months compared with the like portion of 1893, together with an extraordinary decrease in the grand totals of assets and of liabilities. The latter feature was to be expected, considering the panic and depression in financial and commercial lines a year ago and the period of progress toward recovery during the current calendar year. There are 9,251 business failures reported throughout the United States during the past nine months, compared with 13,140 in nine months of last year, a decrease of 1,889, or 17 per cent. While this shows a striking falling off in the commercial mortality rate, the total of 9,251 still remains, with the exception of the total for nine months of 1893, a larger aggregate number of business failures in the United States than in any preceding corresponding period, although in nine months of 1891, which, it will be recalled, immediately followed the disturbance in financial circles due to the Baring crash, the next largest total of business failures was recorded, 8,866.

The total amount of liabilities of failing individuals, firms and corporations in the past nine months is $110,674,854, a falling off from the corresponding total last year of 66 per cent. The significance of this is shown in that while only one-third of what they were last year, they are less than in nine months of 1891, of 1884 and of 1883, and only slightly in excess of the grand total of liabilities reported in nine months of 1889.

The grand total of assets of failing individuals, firms and corporations during the past nine months amounts to $52,707,031, about one-quarter what they were in the like portion of last year, considerably smaller than in nine months of 1891 and in nine months of 1884. The ratio of assets to liabilities is thus seen to have fallen off to 54 per cent., as compared with 70 per cent. last year, which was an abnormal proportion. In years when there is no panic or disturbance in business the ratio of assets to liabilities of those failed has ranged from 49 to 51 per cent., from which it may be inferred considerable progress has been made in the matter of regaining normal conditions in commercial and industrial circles.

The variations in totals, by divisions of states, are of special interest. In the seven groups into which the states and territories are divided, the Pacific states and the territories alone furnish a larger total of failures during the past nine months than in a like portion of last year, while in the eastern or New England states, the middle states, the western states, the northwestern states and the southern states smaller totals are reported for the nine months just concluded, although the grand total for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware is almost as large as it was from January 1 to September 30, 1893. While the decrease in number of business failures in New England this year as compared with last is about 7 per cent., the falling off in liabilities of those who failed is 60 per cent. Out of the forty-three states there are eleven—two in New England, New Hampshire and Rhode Island; Pennsylvania, Delaware, Wisconsin, Virginia, West Virginia, Alabama, Louisiana, California and the state of Washington—which report more business failures during the past nine months than in a like portion of last year. New York city alone furnishes a list of 473 business failures since January 1 last, eighty-three fewer than in a like portion of last year, a decrease of 15 per cent., a somewhat smaller rate of decrease than that reported for the country as a whole. New York's total of liabilities is 55 per cent. less than in nine months of 1893, while the aggregate for the country shows a reduction of 66 per cent.

Changes in Issuing Weather Reports.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Acting chief of the weather bureau, H. H. C. Dunwoody, has issued a circular announcing the following changes to be issued in forecasts beginning October 1, next: Forecasts and warnings will be made in the morning at Washington for Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, eastern New York, the District of Columbia, eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland. The evening forecasts issued at this office will be for all the states east of the Rocky mountains, as heretofore.

Anarchist Sentenced for Theft.

Long Island City, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Otto Eckholdt, at one time a leader of a gang of anarchists at Maspeth, which was broken up about two years ago, has just been sentenced to four years' imprisonment in Sing Sing for stealing a set of harness. Eckholdt's arrest two years ago on a charge of setting fire to Crandall's whiting works in Maspeth and the subsequent confession he made had the effect of cleaning out the gang of anarchists that had headquarters in Maspeth.

Dead Body Found in the Woods.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The very much decomposed body of a man, apparently 60 years of age, was discovered in the woods south from the Excelsior springs. A phial marked laudanum, with the label of a local druggist, lying near the body, furnished the only clue yet obtainable. The man had apparently been dead several weeks. The coroner will make an investigation.

Found Dead in a Hallway.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Sept. 29.—George W. Searles, aged 47 years, a well known and prominent fireman, was found dead in the hallway leading to his apartments in the Morris building. He leaves a widow. Coroner Johnson will make an investigation.

DISSIPATION KILLS.

TOO MUCH PLEASURE THE TENDENCY OF THE DAY.

We Exert Ourselves in Many Ways More than We Ought—A Valuable Guide Which It Will Pay You To Follow.

There never was a time when diseases were so common as now. And we bring them on ourselves by careless living. The system cannot stand everything, and it will surely rebel in time. One of the most common ailments is rheumatism. It indicates bad blood and low vitality.

It may be caused by exposure, dissipation or overwork. It is a dangerous complaint to neglect as it often involves other organs, especially the heart. There is a way to be cured of it and all nervous and chronic diseases and it never fails to cure. Here is a letter giving positive proof of it.

Mr. M. J. Frahill, a well-known man of Waterbury, Vt., writes as follows:

"About three years ago I was attacked by severe rheumatism. It was so bad that when it took hold of me it made me drop down in my tracks and would cause me the most intense suffering. Whenever I was attacked by it I was confined to the house.

"I was fearfully worried over my condition and began to think I should never recover. I consulted eminent doctors, but got no permanent benefit from them. I saw Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy advertised, and concluded to try it as I knew it was highly recommended.

MR. M. J. FRAHILL.

"I am happy to say that since using his medicine I have had no return of my disease. The pains have all left me and I am entirely cured of all my troubles. That was over a year ago I was cured and have had no return since. Thanks to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy I am well and strong. It is a splendid medicine for it cures disease, and I heartily recommend it to everybody.

"Please publish this record of my wonderful cure for the good of others. I believe they can all be cured as I have been by this remedy. It is the best medicine I have ever seen."

Here is the most certain and positive cure for disease known. It is acknowledged by all who have taken it, and why? Because it always cures them.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is a purely vegetable and harmless and is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th st., New York City. He is the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

DRUMMOND PLAYED SHREWD.

Said He Would Have Left No Doubt of the Howgate Case Where He Resigned.

Washington, Sept. 29.—It is said that Detective Drummond, who effected the capture in New York of Captain W. H. Howgate, will be called upon by the treasury officials to explain why no record was left in the files of the secret service in connection with the Howgate case.

Mr. Drummond was the chief of the secret service under the Harrison administration. When the democrats came into power Mr. Drummond was working upon the Howgate case and in consideration of that fact he was retained for a period of eight months. Having accomplished nothing at the close of that period he was replaced by a democrat, Mr. William P. Hasen, of Ohio. Mr. Hasen found no trace in the files of the department of anything concerning the history of the efforts of the secret service to capture Howgate.

The first impulse of the treasury officials was to demand an explanation from Drummond, but this demand, for obvious reasons, was postponed. It is now said that during the early part of September the secret service bureau received information that Howgate was in New York. While they were pursuing the investigations Mr. Drummond made the capture. It is now understood that the department will at once call upon Mr. Drummond for any papers or data bearing upon the Howgate case which may have been in the bureau at the time he resigned. District Attorney Birney says that immediately upon Howgate's arrival in Washington he will be taken before the criminal court and committed to jail to await trial. The district attorney does not believe that Howgate will be able to furnish the bail which will be required, although he could not say at present what amount the government will ask.

Race Horse Killed by a Train.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—While the chestnut colt Buck McCann was being taken from the Harlem to the Hawthorne track he broke away from the boy who was leading him and, running directly in front of a Burlington engine, was instantly killed. Buck McCann won the Latonia derby last year and was valued at $10,000.

Negro Murderer Captured.

Muskogee, I. T., Sept. 29.—Charles Smith, the negro who killed three colored deputies and wounded one white man and a woman, has been captured.

Ordered to Japanese Waters.

Rome, Sept. 29.—The Italian cruiser Piemonte has been ordered to Japanese waters.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Meyers Compton has moved from upper Somerset street to Fritz avenue.

Mrs. Phineas M. French returns this evening from Clifton Springs, N. Y.

Morgan S. Taylor of Rockview Terrace, is seriously ill and is not expected to recover.

The wife of Harry A. Connett is ill with the grip at her home, 303 East Fifth street.

Miss Tillie Giddes of Mt. Horeb is visiting her cousin, George Giddes of Pearl street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Kimball and son Paul returned from Savannah, Georgia, this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Williams have removed from 19 Craig Place to 303 West Fourth street.

Miss Daisy Shepard left yesterday to take her last term in the Misses McMasters' School.

Miss Virginia Fish of Franklin place has returned after a very pleasant Summer at Noank, Conn.

Miss Ida Slater of Marion, Indiana, is visiting at the home of George M. Rittenhouse, East Sixth street.

David Allen, wife and daughter, of Delavan, Ill., are visiting Harrison Coddington of Somerset street.

Miss Gladys Whitin of West Brighton, Staten Island, is spending a week at T. H. Taylor's charming residence, Mountain Farm.

John Madden of Chicago, who is on business in this part of the State, where he formerly resided, is visiting his friend Henry Rogers, and meeting many of his old acquaintances.

Both Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Connett of Watchung avenue have been ill. They are so far recovered as to be about again, but their daughter, Miss Lottie, is now quite ill with the grip.

In the latest news from the Princeton football eleven, Everett Dwight '97, son of Rev. M. E. Dwight of Rockview avenue, is named as the principal candidate for the position of quarter-back.

Charles Dolliver, of Manning avenue, one of the bright young men who was graduated at the North Plainfield public school, has entered the Plainfield High School to continue his education.

Ex-Marshal Job Coddington took time enough away from his huckleberry farm at South Somerville, yesterday, to call on some of his friends in the borough, who were glad to see his smiling countenance once again.

The marriage of Miss Della Conners of Harrison street, North Plainfield, to Johnson Wilson will take place in Westfield next Wednesday evening. Miss Katy Conners, sister of the bride, will be bridesmaid, and Herbert Sutphen best man.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Alradna Coddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew Coddington, to John G. Bicknell, Wednesday evening, October 10, at 7:30 in the Mt. Horeb M. E. Church. A new house has been erected for Mr. Bicknell at South avenue and Central avenue, Netherwood, where the happy couple will reside.

Benjamin Shepherd of South Easton, Pa., was in this city yesterday calling on Comrades Capt. Edward P. Thorn and Marshal W. N. Pangborn. They were all members of the 14th N. J. Regt., belonged to Co. C., and were in the detached service, Capt. Thorn being chief clerk in the Adjutant-General's office, Marshal Pangborn mail clerk, and Mr. Shepherd private orderly to General Truax. The three vets vividly recalled scenes that were enacted over thirty years ago, and passed pleasant hours together. Mr. Shepherd is in the employ of the Central Railroad in South Easton.

OLYMPIA REVIVED.

Tis Bound To Be the Favorite Home For Social Dances and Festivals.

Asa Collier deserves the gratitude of the community for remodelling the Olympia into a perfect place for social events. The noise of the bowling alleys has been stilled forever, and the alleys have been removed. In their place has been laid a hard and smooth waxed floor, where dancing will be a delight.

The size of the floor is 30x110 feet, and the hall is to be handsomely decorated and illuminated. A cozy conversation room, tastefully furnished, adjoins the dancing hall. Two large and complete toilet rooms are provided, and a model kitchen is to be added for use in fairs and festivals.

The Olympia is in the best of neighborhoods, 416 Sycamore street, is easy of access, on the ground floor, and is as complete and desirable a hall as the most fastidious could demand. Mr. Collier will conduct it under his own reputable management, and can be consulted regarding rental at his Park Avenue jewelry store.

Select classes in dancing are to be formed by the celebrated Prof. A. R. Walsh of Brooklyn, who is sought by society leaders for the latest ideas in physical culture, Delsarte, and the german.

Altogether, the Olympia is bound to be a centre of social gayeties the coming season.

SAY HE IS A FIREBUG.

West New Brighton, Sept. 29—The police have arrested John Schouten, a tailor of this place, on suspicion of having caused all the fires which have occurred in this vicinity within the last month.

He was arrested in Port Richmond, the police say, after setting fire to a schoolhouse.

MRS. STILES IS DEAD.

SHE WAS ONE OF PLAINFIELD'S OLDEST RESIDENTS.

Lived in Loneliness and Poverty on the Mountain—Vain Attempts to Get Government Pay for the Life of Her Boy.

Mrs. Hannah Stiles died at her home on the mountain yesterday at the age of 81. Her death resulted from the shock of a fall she had a week ago, when she tripped in hurrying from in front of a wagon in the road. She fell on her face and was severely shaken up. Her age and feebleness prevented her from recovering from the effects of the accident.

Because of her history and her way of living Mrs. Stiles was a well-known character in the township of North Plainfield. Her husband, James Stiles, has been missing many years. Her son, Joseph Stiles, was a veteran of both the army and the navy, who died ten years ago. His record was a good one.

Mrs. Stiles came into some prominence through her long-continued efforts to obtain a pension after her son's death. In this she was opposed by a woman who claimed to be his wife. It was said that the alleged widow broke open the trunk of Joseph Stiles's first wife, long before deceased, and used the marriage certificate she found there to support her own claim as a widow. At any rate the woman received the prize-money for Joseph Stiles's services in the Navy and when the mother tried to get the pension the precedent was against her. Her alleged daughter-in-law, however, was unable to obtain it for herself.

Before the son died he built a hut on the first mountain on the west side of the Notch on what is known as the mine lot. This is a tract of 500 acres which was owned and abandoned by an English copper mining company about a century ago. Here Stiles squatted and made a home for his mother. For several years, Mulford Ross, Mrs. Stiles's nephew, has been living with her, contributing to her support by working among the farmers in the Valley.

Ross has been unfortunate in making a living for himself and his aunt. He was for a time crippled by a weakness of his arm resulting from a fracture. The way in which he came to break his arm was peculiar.

It is related that several years ago he went to New York. He was unaccustomed to visiting the city and when he started to return by the last train Saturday night he felt weary as a result of his trip. He fell asleep on the cars. He woke just as the station Mulford, now Roselle, was reached and heard the brakeman shout "All out for Mulford". Not being fully awake he thought the man was calling to him and ran out and jumped from the moving train. He fell on his arm and broke it and was compelled to walk to his home in that condition.

The township authorities have been caring for Mrs. Stiles for some time, and together with kind neighbors have kept her from starving in her solitary home. The township will bury the remains.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The programme for the County C. E. Conference to be held in the Seventh-Day Baptist Church this city, Thursday evening, Oct. 4, will be as follows:

7:45—Song service, led by D. E. Titsworth, Plainfield.
7:55—Prayer, Rev. J. W. Richardson.
8:00—"The State Convention", (a short talk on the coming New Brunswick meeting), by Miss Alice B. Spangenberg.
8:15—Open Parliament "Lookout Work", conducted by Charles T. Bingham of Cranford, Superintendent Lookout and Prayer-Meeting Department.
8:30—Address, "Good Citizenship", Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Plainfield.
8:45—Open Parliament "Bible Study for Endeavorers", led by Fred G. Williams of Rahway, Superintendent Bible Study Department.

The regular weekly meeting of the First Baptist C. E Society was held last night. It was a temperance meeting led by Col. R. K. Case, and all those who had the privilege of listening to him will not soon forget the earnest manner in which he portrayed the evils of intemperance to his hearers. All who know Col. Case, know well his views on that question which were practically demonstrated when he was a councilman and voted for no license every time, showing that he practices what he preaches. He said the temperance question must be handled by the young. They must be vigilant. For if there is not a temperance sentiment among the young, in a few years in place of the number of saloons we now have it is estimated there will be twenty-five. Our streets are paved with woman's tears. Over three hundred thousand dollars, it is estimated, go into the saloon keepers tills yearly, and only sixteen thousand for the city used for public improvements wrung from the broken-hearted mothers and children of this town. Intemperance prevails among the women as well as the men in our large cities. Nearly as many women are drunkards as men. And this all comes from taking the first glass which leads on the downward path to ruin. He urged his hearers not to take the first drink as it would be to them a risk, and if any had taken it to stop now before it would be too late.

—The wife of Insurance Agent Ball was tendered a happy surprise last evening at her home, 414 East Fourth street. An enjoyable time was had by those present. Sam. Frazee furnished the music in his usual excellent style.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

PROSPERITY AT SCOTT'S.

Getting Ready to Run 24 Hours a Day.

The Scott Printing Machine Works have shipped this month over 200 tons of printing machinery. They have been running the works to 10 at night, and have orders on hand to keep going for at least six months. The electric-light apparatus is being remodeled with a view to running an all-night force if necessary. The business revival is developing such a boom in advertising that the newspapers throughout the country are increasing their capacity.

A JUDGE'S NOVEL SENTENCES.

He Causes Mock Offenders to Entertain a Goodly Company.

The first complimentary entertainment of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, took place in their room on East Front street last evening, and it was a decided success. The large room presented a most attractive appearance, being artistically decorated with bunting and flags. An audience that completely filled the room thoroughly enjoyed the novel entertainment.

The scene was supposed to be in a country court-room, and the wrong doings of the previous night resulted in several prisoners being brought before the court.

Judge Crossmeyer was impersonated by Herbert S. Thatcher, who made a hit with his characteristic German dialect, which kept the audience laughing continually.

Another amusing character was Policeman Pat, who was Wm. Chamberlain well disguised. Everything was on the move when the knight of the club was around, and instead of quietude things presented a lively appearance, as he would always be getting in a tussle with everyone.

Herbert McVoy and W. C. Dobbins took the part of the lawyers, the former for the defense and the latter for the county.

The prisoners were Ed Smith, who stole $10,000, and by dividing with the Judge, was allowed to go; Alfred Ford, who stole a loaf of bread and was given life imprisonment; Mrs. Wm. Chamberlain, a shoplifter, who won the heart of the Judge with a song; and George Whitely, a tough from the boulevard who was arrested for insulting women. By singing a song and giving a dance, he was allowed to depart.

There also appeared a stranded theatrical company, who to secure their release were obliged to give a performance. They were as follows: Miss Mary Graves, who gave two very pleasing piano solos for which she was heartily applauded; E. H. Neal, presenting two excellent recitations which delighted all; and James and George Downey, who with the mandolin and zither rendered several choice selections that brought forth the heartiest of applause.

The Judge then sentenced everyone to go to the room below, where an abundance of refreshments was served. Afterward all returned to the upper room and were entertained by the Downey brothers with music and a sleight-of-hand performance, and a recitation by Herbert Thatcher.

The committee in charge of the event consisted of Chairman H. S. Thatcher, Herbert McVoy, Willard Sutton, Winfield Coddington and Thaddeus Doane, jr. They were assisted by the Women's Relief Corps and members of the Camp.

CYCLING COMMENT.

F. L. C. Martin has received the 26-pound roadster and the light racer, one a Columbia, which will be given as prizes at the meet this afternoon.

Charles N. Rydell, the plucky rider who works daily in a machine-shop and trains at night, has changed his mount. He has bought from Charles Lister a 22 pound Cleveland racer which he says is the fastest wheel he ever was on.

The New Brunswick Home News says: "Several local wheelmen rode to Plainfield last evening to witness the Bicycle Carnival there. The parade could not begin to compare with the recent carnival of the Brunswick Club. There were about 200 wheels in line, but only about a dozen were elaborately decorated. The object was to attract attention to the races of the Crescent Wheelmen tomorrow."

There's very little enterprise in Plainfield progressing that hasn't John J. Kenney in it, and though he's too modest to admit it the bicycle parade success was largely due to his personal faithfulness. He did much of the real hard work, even to such disagreeable details as whittling down 500 candles to fit the Chinese lantern sockets for the club. John J. Kenney's a worker, and a good man in the Crescent Wheelmen.

A number of racers were on the Crescent track yesterday afternoon. Vincent Rockwell rode in great form, and young Will McCutchen hung out with the cracks surprisingly well. Irvington-Millburn Barnett appeared in the best of health, in spite of having been compelled to drink Philadelphia water while riding there. The track promised well for racing today, although the wind was strong and fast time could not be made. Three men have been at work on it during the week.

The Borough's Great Fertility.

A squash grown by Wm. H. VanWinkle in his Park place garden, measuring 28 inches in length and 41 inches in circumference, is on exhibition at his Somerset street grocery. It is conceded to be one of the largest of its variety ever produced in this latitude.

—Bowling on the C. Y. M. L. alleys has been discontinued. Practice will be resumed after the fair is over.

—Edward Smith, son of Wm. C. Smith of Grandview avenue, has launched out in the masonry and jobbing business for himself.

—Ex-Councilman C. P. Sebring is wiring the old Rice mansion in the lower end of the township for Mr. Dixon, the New York capitalist, who recently purchased that place and who intends making it one of the most attractive country residences in New Jersey.

—A board fence has been erected at the brook end of Madison avenue, by the George H. Babcock trustees, which will prevent strangers from diving off the present embankment into the water.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 30. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Consecration. What it is. What it does.—Rom. xii, 1-21.

This twenty-first chapter of Romans is the first part of the practical part of the epistle. The first 12 chapters are doctrinal, the last four practical. Paul has just proved some of the greatest and most important truths of the gospel, and as a practical application of these he calls upon his readers to surrender themselves entirely and absolutely to God. The subject of consecration which is involved in this apostolic appeal is an important one. It is the one great lesson that the church of today needs to learn—the entire consecration of ourselves and our all to God. Well may we consider what consecration is and what it does:

1. What is consecration? (Rom. xii, 1.) Consecration is the setting apart or the dedication of a person or thing sacredly and solemnly to God. The Sabbath day is consecrated to God. It is set apart for Him. It is devoted entirely to Him. The consecration of a person is the same thing. It is the dedication of that person to God and the entire dedication of him. There is no condition attached to it. It is a complete and unconditional surrender of ourselves to God. The characteristic of entirety is seen in the sacrifice to which Paul refers. "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice." Paul undoubtedly refers to the sacrifice of burned offering, one characteristic of which was that the entire offering was consumed. Thus completely and absolutely are we to set ourselves apart for God. This is not unreasonable. Paul calls it a "reasonable service." It is by the mercies of God that he appeals to us. It is God's goodness to us that makes it reasonable for Him to ask for ourselves in return. God has a just claim on us. He asks nothing but what He gives us strength to do. He asks only what is for our good in time and eternity. Have we consecrated ourselves to God?

2. What does consecration do? (Rom. xii, 2-21.) This might be summed up in one sentence by saying consecration makes us willing to do the whole will of God. If we have truly dedicated ourselves to God, we will have but one desire, and that to please and serve Him. We will not be conformed to this world. We will fulfill faithfully our duties in life in whatever sphere of life God has cast our lots. We will at the same time obey all the practical injunctions that Paul exhorts us to obey in the closing verses of this chapter. If consecrated to God, we will live wholly and entirely for God.

Denominational Representation.

Secretary Baer's report contains the following statement in regard to denominational representation in the United States: The Presbyterians still lead, with 6,652 companies; the Congregationalists have 5,488; the Baptists, 3,203; the Disciples of Christ and Christians, 2,895; Methodist Episcopal, 1,287; Methodist Protestant, 963; Lutherans, 851; Cumberland Presbyterians, 744, and so on through a long list. In Canada the Presbyterians lead, with 842; the Methodists are next, with 812; the Baptists have 159; the Congregationalists, 128. In England the Baptists are in the van, with 391 companies; the Congregationalists have 353; the various Methodist bodies, 221; the Presbyterians, 85.

Ten Per Cent For the Church.

It is not rare to hear from the enemies of foreign missions the assertion that the converts are "rice Christians"—i. e., pretenders for the sake of the food they receive. Yet, on the contrary, some of these men, rescued from the thraldom of ignorance and heathenism, could teach a lesson to Christians at home. For example, one of ourself supporting churches in China, whose worldly possessions amount by a careful estimate to about $2,000, gives annually $250 for church purposes. We think well of a man who gives 10 per cent of his income, but these converted heathen give yearly 10 per cent of all their possessions. Is there the equal of that to be found in Christendom?—Christian Intelligencer.

Colored Christian Endeavor.

Christian Endeavor societies have not given as much prominence as they deserve to the societies of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church. Their president, Rev. J. F. Morland, D. D., and their secretary, W. D. Clinton, M. D., report 1,432 Endeavor societies, having a membership of 67,304 and giving to the missionary cause last year $8,749.52.—Exchange.

Christian Endeavor Jottings.

The first delegate registered at the Christan Endeavor convention at Cleveland was a Pueblo Indian.

The society of the First Baptist church of Minneapolis is the largest in the state.

Indiana has 367 junior societies, with a total membership of 13,780. They have given $456 to home missions and $309 to foreign missions.

The banner given to the state that reported the largest proportionate increase of the number of local societies was taken by West Virginia, and the one given for the largest absolute gain went to Pennsylvania.

The Christian Endeavor constitution has now been translated into Hindoo and in this language will reach a large constituency, for it is spoken by fully one-fourth of the inhabitants of India.

How will the magnificent thirteenth International Christian Endeavor convention influence the lives of the 40,000 who attended it and of the 2,000,000 who will hear the reports of the 40,000?

The Way the Capitol Drinks.

"Walk in and call for your number—our hog is a wonder", is the sign exhibited in the window of a Washington saloon keeper. The size refers to the glasses in which liquor is served. The sizes run from No. 1 to No. 9. No. 9 holds about three gallons.

The Two Van's

CHURCH CHIMES.

F. S. Cutter, whose fine bass voice was enjoyed at the First Baptist church last Sunday, will be heard tomorrow in the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Fannie Mattison will sing for the last time in Trinity Reformed Church tomorrow, as she will begin next Sunday to sing with the Church of the Redeemer.

Rev. John Edgecumb, rector of Trinity Church, Cranford, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Dr. Rodman of Plainfield Sunday morning. In the evening the pastors will return to their charges.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell preached the doctrinal sermon at the annual session of the Afro-American Baptist Association in Elizabeth, and was elected vice-president. The Elizabeth Journal speaks of his sermon as an impressive discourse. Rev. F. G. Warnick of Matawan, formerly of Plainfield, ably preached the introductory sermon.

The Congregational Church will observe their fifteenth anniversary tomorrow. There will be special music and an anniversary sermon in the morning and a rally service with special music and an address by Rev. A. H. Lewis in the afternoon. On Tuesday evening there will be a social celebration. Rev. William Manchee, the first pastor will be present. Toasts will be responded to by different speakers. All former members will be especially welcomed at all the gatherings.

At the "Feast in the Wilderness", next Thursday evening at 8 in Bethel Chapel, the following interesting and brief addresses will be made: Rev. H. G. Miller New York city "The Smitten Rock"; Rev. S. P. Gibson Plainfield "The Falling Manna"; Rev. A. J. Henry Brooklyn "The Fight of the Quails"; Rev. W. A. Alexander "The Grapes of Eshcol". These events are also to be represented by appropriate specimens artistically arranged, the whole programme to be interspersed with attractive and suitable quartette music. Rev. W. R. Richards will preside and introduce the speakers.

The successful evangelistic services being held at Hope Chapel will come to a close Sunday night. Rev. Ralph Gilliam has spoken with much power to large audiences. There has been a great many who have been led to express a desire to lead a Christian life. The Christian people of the West End have been aroused, and all the meetings are marked with a spirit of earnestness. The farewell services Sunday are looked forward to with great interest. Mr. Gillam will preach in the chapel at 10:30. Sunday-school will meet at 2:30. Mr. Gillam will conduct a service for men only at 4 p. m. In the evening will be the final service at 7:45. It is expected that great multitudes will share in the blessings of these final services.

Foul Play Suspected.

ELIZABETH, Sept. 29.—The police arrested at 2:15 this morning, on the outskirts of this city, two men who gave their names as Charles and Henry Hunt. They had a bundle which contained a loaded revolver, neckties, a gold chain and silk stockings.

A short distance down the track a necktie, an astrakhan cape, some clothing covered with blood and a loaded seven-chamber revolver were found. There was evidence of a struggle. It is believed that an outrage or murder has been committed. The prisoners have been held for a rigid investigation.

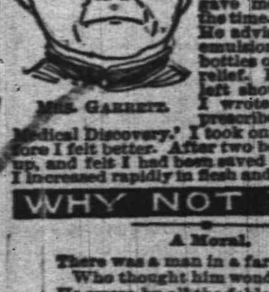
CURES OTHERS

To build up both solid flesh and strength after grip, pneumonia, fevers and other prostrating diseases, there is nothing to equal Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

PROSTRATION FOLLOWING GRIP.



MRS. GARRETT.

MRS. REUBEN GARRETT, King George C. H., Va., writes: "I was taken with grip which finally resulted in pneumonia. Was prostrated for three months. Had a terrible cough and was emaciated and very weak. Was fast drifting into 'quick consumption.' The doctor gave me medicines all the time. I grew weaker. He advised cod liver oil emulsion. I took two bottles of it without any relief. I had pain in my left shoulder and back. I wrote you, and you prescribed your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took only one bottle before I felt better. After two bottles I could sit up, and felt I had been saved from the grave. I increased rapidly in flesh and strength."

MUNYON INVESTIGATED.

Leading Newspapers, After Thorough and Careful Investigation, Report that His Remedies Cure Ninety-six Out of Every One Hundred Cases.

During the past five months such reliable journals as the Boston Post, Philadelphia Times, New York Press, Baltimore American, Washington Post, and equally prominent newspapers in other cities have thoroughly investigated the claims made for Munyon's Homœopathic Remedies with the most astonishing results. Read what they have to say:

The Boston Post says: "Since we began to investigate the claims made for Munyon's Remedies we have received letters and testimonials from nearly every State in the Union, and find that his remedy only fails to cure about 4 per cent of the cases. Some of these cures have been so quick and so thorough that they seem almost incredible."

The Philadelphia Times says: "Out of 1811 reports received from those who used Munyon's Rheumatism Cure, 1744 declare themselves positively cured, and 33 say they have been greatly benefited. This is certainly indisputable evidence, and must place his remedies as one of the great discoveries of the age."

The New York Press says: "We find that out of every 100 who have used Munyon's Remedies 96 have declared themselves cured or greatly benefited. There can now be no hesitancy in saying that Munyon's Remedies may be termed positive cures."

The Baltimore American says: "It will be seen by the testimonials we have published that Munyon's Rheumatism Cure acts almost instantaneously, curing the most obstinate cases in a few hours. This remedy never fails to cure sharp shooting pains in the arms, legs, sides, back or breast, or soreness in any part of the body. It is guaranteed to promptly cure lameness, sciatica, lumbago, stiff and swollen joints, stiff back and all pains in the hips and loins. It seldom fails to give relief after one or two doses, and almost invariably cures before one bottle has been used."

—The young son of Councilman H. M. Stockton was thrown from a horse while riding by his home on Central avenue yesterday afternoon. Fortunately he escaped uninjured.

MARRIAGE IN MANY LANDS.

Curious Facts Collected for the British House of Commons.

Last September the British House of Commons expressed, by means of an address, its desire to be furnished with a return giving details of the marriage and divorce laws prevailing in the most important colonies and foreign countries. Circulars asking for information were sent by Lord Rosebery to the Queen's representatives abroad, while the Colonial Office made similar requests, the result of which has been already embodied in a return presented to Parliament. The reports from foreign countries have now been issued in a Blue Book, which contains some curious and novel facts relating to this subject.

One of the questions especially asked was as to the age at which marriage can be contracted. It seems that in Austria the ability to marry commences with the 14th year, but up to the age of 24 the consent of father or guardian has to be obtained. In Russia the bridegroom must not be younger than 18, nor the bride younger than 16. Persons over 80 are prohibited from marrying at all, while no person is permitted to contract a fourth marriage. The further north we go the later becomes the marriageable age, till in Sweden and Norway, the law is that a man cannot wed till he is 21, nor a woman till she is 18. In America very curious differences exist in different States. "It is extremely difficult to give even an outline of the marriage laws prevailing in this country," remarks our representative, as there are 47 sovereign States, each claiming exclusive control over the matter of the marriage of its citizens. Hence it comes that in Montana and Washington 21 is the earliest marrying age for a man and 18 for a woman, while in New Jersey and Connecticut the ages are respectively 14 and 12. All that a schoolboy in Washington, therefore, has to do in order to wed a schoolgirl friend is to induce her to lay her skipping rope aside for a time and fly with him over the border into a more complaisant State.—N. MISS MAUD ADAMS.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF A CHARMING YOUNG ACTRESS.

Her First Appearance Was Impromptu, at the Age of Nine Months. An Actress Without Fads Who Doesn't Care for Jewels.

Written for New York Press Association.

Very dainty and charming, on the stage or at home, is Miss Maud Adams, leading lady in John Drew's company, or, to be exact, in Charles Frohman's company, in which Mr. Drew stars. She is wholly unspoiled by her career, and in all of her impersonations one feels behind the actress the fine personality of a sweet, refined woman. She plays her roles as one could wish his sister to play them, were she on the stage—and you cannot say anything better than that.

If one sees Miss Adams in her pleasant home on Thirty-second street, near Fifth avenue, he sees something like this: A slender, graceful figure, always modestly and becomingly attired; a fine face lighted with a pair of grey blue eyes, kind and deep, and framed with a profusion of wavy, light brown hair, very fine and soft. Add to these a delicately cultivated voice, and a graceful, courteous manner, and you have some idea of what this popular young actress is at home.

When asked for a little account of her life from her first appearance down to her recent success in "The Bauble Shop," Miss Adams smiled and said there was not much to tell; but after a few questions, she recounted some of the events which have served to make her life interesting to the public.

"My first appearance," she said "was in the play of the 'Lost Child,' in Salt Lake City, where, by the way I was born. I was only nine months old, and my appearance was wholly impromptu. They tell me—my own memory is not quite clear on the subject—that I had been a very bad child and the nurse, after trying in vain to quiet me, took me to the theatre where my mother was playing. The lights, and the music, and the other features of the theatre, surprised me out of my tears, and I became very good and quiet. But a baby that figured in the play took up my role of weeping, and when the time came for her to go on the stage she was crying at such a rate that she was simply impossible. For a moment there was consternation back of the footlights, then I was observed, and a moment later I was carried out on a tray (as the play demanded) and was launched on my theatrical career. They tell me I made a most creditable first appearance, showing neither stage fright nor self consciousness, and that I didn't miss a line.

MISS MAUD ADAMS.

"When five years old, I played various child's parts with Fritz Emmet, in California, and my early appearances were chiefly in California and Salt Lake City. At the age of fifteen, I came East, playing in 'The Paymaster,' Hoyt's 'Midnight Bell, and other plays.'

To a question regarding her favorite roles Miss Adams said: "I am inclined to favor serious parts, but I cannot tell what character I prefer until to-night." That night she achieved what is perhaps the greatest triumph of her life as Jessie Keber, in "The Bauble Shop." Seldom has an actress received such warm and general commendation as greeted her impersonation of this innocent and injured girl—a serious role such as she said she was disposed to prefer the afternoon before her success. The critics were practically unanimous in their praise, and the audience for once agreed with the critics.

It would be interesting to know how many of her professional friends sent congratulations, but the number must have been very large, for she is justly a favorite. Incidentally, in speaking of some play in which she had acted, Miss Adams mentioned an actress who had divided the honors with her in the cast. The unaffected kindness and appreciation with which she spoke of this sister actress told more of her own true character than is sometimes found in a two volume biography.

And there was another little incident that was rather pretty, and that meant something, too. In running over the photographs to select one for reproduction in this article, Miss Adams said: "That was in 'The Masked Ball' and that in 'The Butterflies,' and that—that is just I." And the "just I" one was selected by Mrs. Adams as best calculated to give a correct impression of her gifted daughter, who, with all her histrionic talents, seems more perfectly adapted to a refined home than to anything else.

The autograph, used in connection with the picture, is an exact reproduction of Miss Adams's signature as it was written for me, and it shows that she uses the final "e" on her given name, although it more often appears in the newspapers without it.

In speaking of her part in the "The Lost Paradise," Miss Adams told an interesting little story of a gallery boy, who had managed to see the play, and who had his own notions as to how the play should end. Miss Adams takes the part of Nell, a poor factory girl who loves the foreman of the factory where she is employed, while he is in love with the daughter of the proprietor. In the end the foreman, who is the hero of the play, marries the rich girl, and Nell and her sorrow are lost in some nowhere.

"My friends didn't quite like it," Miss Adams said, laughingly, "it seemed such an unsatisfactory ending for me, although the hero and heroine did get married, and this is what a gallery boy thought who saw the play one evening. When the performance was over, he turned to his companion and said: 'I don't like this play.' 'You don't,' his companion asked, 'what's the matter with it I should like to know?' 'That fellow ought to a-married Nell,' was the verdict of the young critic. And so some of my friends thought, although the conclusion as written was more reasonable.

Perhaps the most striking peculiarity of Miss Adams is that she has no fads and none of the eccentricities which many actresses affect. She doesn't collect foreign stamps or anything else in that line; she doesn't like pigs or poodles or parrots, and even caged birds do not find a patron in her. She likes fine large dogs, but does not carry her liking to the extent of keeping one. Altogether, she is remarkable, if not unique, among actresses in her disposition toward dumb animals.

"While I haven't any fad," added Miss Adams, after replying to some questions designed to illustrate this point, "I do have a fondness for old seals. Jewels I don't care for, but fine seals attract me. This one, with saucy Mercury," she said, showing a fine locket ring, "I am greatly attached to, and have had for some time."

I wondered if there were a romance attached to the pretty ring, and if the locket held the picture of some fortunate man of whom the wearer thought enough to keep his "false presentment" always with her. Perhaps she guessed the question it would have been ill-bred to ask, for she opened the locket and showed, not the face of any young man, but the familiar features of "Master William," as she named the world's greatest poet. The other ring bore the impress of a pen, and had a pretty inscription in French.

There was something refreshing in the frank declaration of Miss Adams that she did not care for jewels. (The discriminating reader will remark that she said jewels and not jewelry). So many actresses revel in diamonds, and flash their jeweled advertisements wherever opportunity offers, that it is pleasant to find one who is careless of these baubles, even when playing in "The Bauble Shop."

It is not easy to sum up in a paragraph the charm of Miss Adams as an actress: but, in taking leave of her, perhaps the best one can do by way of summary and farewell, is to say that her popularity is due to the refined womanliness that shines through all her impersonations, and makes her acting combine, as true acting should, entertainment with what is higher and finer, and appeals directly and sincerely to that which is deep and refining in human life.

LINWARD.

A NICARAGUA ROMANCE.

An American Defends Two Ladies and Wins a Bride.

A romantic wedding was solemnized at Bluefields, in Nicaragua, on Tuesday, August 28, in which a St. Louis boy, widely known in the best circles of the town, Louis D. Peugnet, was united to a young lady whose life and whose sister's life he had protected during the worst times in the recent revolution in Nicaragua.

Mr. Peugnet went to Bluefields sometime previous to the uprising, and was engaged in business for St. Louis houses throughout the isthmus. When the trouble came on, and the rioters seized the town, young Peugnet and several other Americans armed themselves to protect the ladies, who were exposed to the most appalling perils. Gen. Lecayo, who commanded the Nicaraguan troops, had left his wife and her sister in the village, not anticipating any emeute, and it was these hapless women who fell to young Peugnet's charge. He got them safely into a stone house, with a large, well-guarded cellar, on one of the side streets, and there, during the whole of the sack and the fighting, he kept guard over them, gun in hand, permitting none to enter the premises but known friends, and frequently having to face desperate, drunken rioters, who were searching for Mme. Lecayo everywhere.

When order was restored and it was safe for the ladies to reappear, Mr. Peugnet evidently found that the close association of three days with the pretty young donna had sealed his fate, and he proposed and was accepted upon the raising of the state of siege. There were paternal and maternal consents and blessings to be secured both in Nicaragua and Missouri, but the gallantry of Peugnet's defence of the ladies in the one place, and his father's pride in the young man's pluck and endurance in the other, made all of this mere formula.

The new Mrs. Peugnet comes of one of the oldest and wealthiest Central American families. She is an heiress, and is connected in that carefully guarded line of the "gente fine" with most of the Spanish American aristoctacy between the City of Mexico and Bogota. She was educated at New York, at Paris, and at Madrid, and besides the usual accomplishments which young ladies of her station have, she is a finished linguist and a highly trained musician.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WHAT JEFFERSON THOUGHT.

Some Opinions of the Author of the Declaration.

Corruption of morals in the mass of cultivators is a phenomenon of which no age, nor nation, has ever furnished an example.

The introduction of one new culture is worth more to a nation than all the victories of the most splendid battles or their history.

A representative Government, made responsible at short periods of election, produces the greatest sum of happiness to mankind.

I have but one system of ethics for man and for nations—to be grateful, to be faithful to all engagements under all circumstances.

I never appointed a relation to office, and that merely because I never saw the case in which some one did not offer, or occur, better qualified.

The people are the only censors of their governors, and even their errors will tend to keep these to the true principles of their institutions.

I think, myself, that we have more machinery of Government than is necessary—too many parasites living on the labor of the industrious.

Reunited by a Conjuror.

A French conjuror, who was performing in Nantes, announced at a certain stage of the entertainment that his next trick would be to cut off the head of some one present, and he invited volunteers to come up and submit to the operation. Upon this a young man, "who was known to have quarrelled recently with his fiance," presented himself with the resolution of despair, and everything had been made ready for his decapitation, when the lady, who was also present, broke into piercing screams, rushed on to the platform, seized her intended by the arm and dragged him from the hall.

THE SUN'S FASHIONS.

STYLES TO MEET THE CRY OF DISSATISFIED WOMEN.

Dainty Tea Gown of Blue and Mauve and Soft Heavy White Silk. A New, Chic, Tailor-built Costume of Metallic Green Cloth.

We wonder what is in store for us in the way of fashion, but at present there seems no way of gratifying our curiosity. It is a little premature, with the sun fairly scorching us, to speculate on winter styles, but, as to color, a glorious impartiality will be displayed, and individual taste and complexion may be fully consulted. It seems decreed that we shall go on using yards and yards of material for our skirts, and a little more for our sleeves. However, on the whole, Dame Fashion has led us through very pleasant paths during the past year, so we may trust ourselves to her guidance with an easy mind, and wait just a "wee" for the desired end.

A very smart and extremely useful gown is the rainy-day gown, made of gray waterproof tweed, the hem and lapped seams stitched, the jacket close fitting and belted at the waist; hat and overgaiters made of the same material as the gown. The sweater was originally designed for men, but is as much worn now by women, and is similar to the jersey, which was the rage ten or twelve years ago. It is very serviceable and very becoming, and many will greet its return with pleasure.

The graceful and becoming draperies for the bodices, that are really the only trimming the dress possesses for all the skirts, are so extremely plain, and they are so many, it takes an artist to design them. One of silk embroidered mull, very full, opened at the front and confined by velvet bands reaching to the collar and bordered with jets. Another square silk collar edged with a knife pleating of chiffon, and a band of fine bead embroidery upon the collar. One of fine Mechlin lace, brought plain over the shoulders, gathered at the ends, forming two points that reach to the waist, a band of ribbon lying over the lace and heading the points with a bow, and the quaint, but lovely fichu that never grows old. One might go on forever, there are so many ideas to be carried out for the beautifying of the plain bodices.

A very chic tailor-built costume is composed of metallic green English summer cloth. The plain jacket is stitched at the edge of the shawl shoulder collar, forming a deep point in the back. The waistcoat, which hooks invisibly at the side, is made of cream colored silk and has Directoire revers with ornamental buttons. The draped sleeves are all in one piece, fitted to the arm below the elbow. The devant draped to the right hip falls in loose plaits at the side and is lined with silk the same color. The left side of the skirt is buttoned with large buttons.—New York Sun.

Joint Owners.

In sailing from New York to Brest, in 1869, Charles G. Leland saw on the table of the smoking room, before they had left port, a copy of the "Ballads of Hans Breitmann."

"Is that your book?" asked a fellow traveller.

"Yes," Leland replied.

"Excuse me," cried another, "it's mine!"

"I beg your pardon," said Leland, "but it is really mine."

"Sir, I bought it!"

"I don't care if you did. It is mine, for I wrote it!"—Youth's Companion.

FOR THE SHORT WOMAN.

A Tailor-Made Frock Designed to Suit Her Requirements.

The latest product of the woman tailor's skill is as severe as the heart of the tailor-made girl can desire. It is appallingly neat and tolerably masculine, but there is no doubt that it gives a sawed-off look to its wearer which very few wearers will appreciate.

The skirt is perfectly plain. The vest single-breasted and is free from the suspicion of revers. It ends abruptly at the waist line. The jacket ends a very few inches below and is cut in front on an absolutely straight plan, which is striking after the long reign of broad revers narrowing towards the waist and pointed openings. The revers are narrow at the top, and they are the same width all the way down. They are fastened back with big bone buttons.

Altogether the gown is one which the woman of ample proportions will do well to shun. If she is tall the distance between her short jacket and the hem of the skirt will be increased. If she is broad she needs the narrowing effect of tapering revers and pointed openings. But for the little woman nothing more suitable in the tailor-made line could be designed.

SOMETHING TO AVOID.

Beware of the Season's Monstrosities in the Neckwear Line.

Fearful and wonderful are some of the new neck arrangements. To be grotesque seems the aim of at least half of womankind.

Here is a cape which shows what a woman who is bent upon making herself hideous can do in that direction. It is of silk. It is accordion plaited. It is cut as stiffly and squarely as possible, and the woman who wears it will have not half so graceful and pliable an appearance as the wooden ladies of the toy Noah's arks.

Almost as strange is the lace arrangement which is worn by the other pictured lady. A buckle which extends across the entire front of her neck confines the lace for that distance. Then it flares out into two stiff, gigantic wings which rival her puffed sleeves in width. Then it is made into jabots that are fastened into the arm seams and finally lose themselves beneath the puffs.

Holman After the Record.

Representative Holman, if he lives to serve out the new term for which he has been nominated, will beat the Congressional record. No man has yet served thirty years in the House of Representatives, although two members, both from Philadelphia, came near it—Judge Kelly, who was serving his thirtieth year when he died, and Mr. O'Neill, who had served twenty-nine.

Kipling Has no Tact.

A neighbor of Rudyard Kipling in Vermont says that the famous novelist and ballad writer is neither a Dr. Jekyll nor a Mr. Hyde. He is simply a brilliant man who lacks tact. His fame came to him while he was still young and it has made him somewhat arrogant. The good people of Vermont were inclined to be very cordial to Kipling, but he deliberately renders himself "impossible."

Helen Dauvray and the Ballot.

Helen Dauvray, the actress, has not changed a bit in appearance within the past ten years. She is not a pound stouter and her movements are as quick and as graceful as when she appeared in "One of Our Girls." She is decidedly opposed to woman suffrage. It is said that she remarked apropos of the subject: "If I had the privilege of voting in a parlor I would not do so. What are men for anyway?" Miss Dauvray has a level head at all times, and has also the courage of her convictions. She is going to star in "That Sister of His," a farce by William Gill.

AMERICA'S ICE AGE.

A PICTURESQUE STORY OF THE FROZEN CENTURIES.

First the Pole Was of Temperate Climate, Then the Temperate Zone Became Frigid. Something Aoout the Great Change.

A great many years ago—exactly how many I could never find out—because the men who have told me piecemeal the story which I am now rehearsing were never very certain themselves whether it was ten or fifty or a hundred thousand years ago, and were withal so pleasantly liberal with their centuries that it somehow seemed mean to urge the matter; but, at any rate, one might have visited unattended the far northern regions toward which Nansen and Peary are struggling, and thought no more of it than as a somewhat long and toilsome summer journey.

The way northward would have led through forests much the same as those which grace New England and the Middle States to-day, or with an aspect even more tropical than these, and many smaller plants, suggesting those familiar to us now, would have brightened his path.

Even over distant Greenland and into those desolate regions where so many brave and hardy explorers have perished he might have wandered, finding all as warm and bright and teeming with life as are our own latitudes to-day.

One thing, however, would have made such an undertaking adventurous, if not dangerous, and that is the hideous and gigantic animals which roamed over the country in those times. Great flying beasts, huge hulks of flesh like overgrown elephants, colossal lizards, and all manner of uncanny breathing things would have relieved the stroll northward of too tame and pastoral a tendency. In a word, a long time ago the temperate regions of our earth, with plants whose families at least still flourish, and monstrous uncouth animals now happily extinct, extended over the Arctic regions.

But, for some reason or other, or for a number of reasons together, reasons which it would lead us too far afield to consider now, this warm, sunny, plant-clad region about the North Pole began to grow colder. And, as century after century passed, gradually, but relentlessly, the snow began to accumulate. At first it didn't melt away as early in the spring as it was wont to do, and there seemed to be more of it, and it got packed into solid masses of ice in the valleys and the cooler places. By and by, there was snow all the year round, and more and more ice formed. The animals were driven southward and the plants died off. Finally snow and ice covered everything and formed great masses hundreds of feet thick.

The worst of it was that this was not confined to the far-away regions about the north pole. The ice sheet crept slowly southward like a white shadow; over Greenland, over British America, over northern Europe. Great bodies of water—lakes, rivers, and inland seas were frozen solid, and still the white terror crept slowly on. Down over New England, over New York State, over the region of the Great Lakes, over Ohio, and into Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and over many of the Northwestern States.

This ice mantle was hundreds, in places thousands, of feet thick. Our great hills, the White Mountains, the Adirondacks, and the Catskills, were either altogether covered up, or just showed their tips, like tiny islands in the great white solid sea.

Now it was so cold over all the northern part of North America that this ice mantle once formed stayed there for thousands of years. And that was the ice age.—

COREA'S SEVEN WONDERS.

Marvels of the Hermit Kingdom Told by a Chinese Writer.

Corea, like the world of the ancients, has its "seven wonders." Briefly stated, they are as follows: First, a hot mineral spring near Kin-Shantoa, the healing properties of which are believed by the people to be miraculous. No matter what disease may afflict the patient, a dip in the water proves efficacious. The second wonder is two springs, situated at a considerable distance from each other; in fact, they have the breadth of the entire peninsula between them. They have two peculiarities—when one is full the other is always empty; and, notwithstanding the fact that they are connected by a subterranean passage, one is bitter and the other pure and sweet. The third wonder is a cold wave cave—a cavern from which a wintry wind perpetually blows. The force of the wind from the cave is such that a strong man cannot stand before it. A forest that cannot be eradicated is the fourth wonder. No matter what injury is done to the roots of the trees, which are large pines, they will sprout up again directly, like the phœnix from her ashes. The fifth is the most wonderful of all. It is the famous "floating stone." It stands, or seems to stand, in front of the palace erected in its honor. It is an irregular cube of great bulk. It appears to be resting on the ground, free from supports on all sides; but, strange to say, two men at opposite ends of a rope, may pass it under the stone without encountering any obstacle whatever. The sixth wonder is the "hot stone," which, from remote ages, has lain glowing with heat on the top of a high hill. The seventh and last Corean wonder is a drop of the sweat of Buddha. For thirty paces around the temple in which it is enshrined not a blade of grass will grow. There are no trees or flowers inside the sacred square. Even the animals decline to profane a spot so holy.—N. Y. Herald.

Mrs. Chatt—I'm so sorry you hurt your fingers, Johnny. How was it the cracker went off in your hand?

Little Johnny—It was all dad's fault. He was coming up the street, and I was going to drop it out of the window on his head, but he walked so slow that the thing went off before he got underneath the window.—Tit-Bits.

Six Great Men.

A Cape Elizabeth schoolboy responded as follows when asked to write the names of any six great men of whom he had heard: "Sampson, John Sullivan, Buffalo Bill, McKinley Bill, Tom Reed and Mr. Barnum.—Lewiston Journal.

Tommy—Paw, When a man commits political suicide does he shoot his head off?

Mr. Figg—No; merely his mouth.—Indianapolis Journal.

Mrs. Breezly—Do you believe those stories about men selling their wives?

MRS. EDITH KINGDON GOULD.

A Successful Actress, But Now A Charmingly Domestic Wife.

When George Gould married in Europe, Edith Kingdon, the pretty actress who was a member of Daly's company, people asked, what will his father say? The great financier evidently said something pleasant, for his son's wife was warmly welcomed to the Gould household, and her first son was named Jay Kingdon, combining the christian name of his grandfather and the family name of his mother.

The marriage has been a very happy one, and Mrs. Gould's tact and beauty have been of social advantage to the Gould family as well as a delight to her husband. To her influence rumor attributes the purchase of the Vigilant, and the successful move upon the English bon ton. Whether this is correct or not, Mrs. Gould is doubtless clever enough, with the millions that she has back of her, to win her way into the exclusive set of New York, either by way of England or directly.

MRS. GOULD.

Mrs. Gould was an actress of remarkable promise, but upon her marriage, she retired from the stage unreservedly, and has seemed much happier in her domestic life with her husband and children than in her successful stage career. She is versatile, as well as beautiful, and is a charming woman to meet socially.

NEVER ENDORSE ANY MORE.

Dr. Depew Has Forty Thousand or More Reasons Why.

I had both money and a friend.
I lent my credit to my friend;
I lost my money and my friend.
—Old Story Revised.

Chauncey M. Depew has been associated all his life, from the very day he left Yale College, with rich men. He was one of Commodore Vanderbilt's "boys," and has been the intimate of the Commodore's sons. The Garretts, the Scotts, the Morgans, and all the kings of the railroad and banking world for twenty years and more have been among Mr. Depew's friends.

All of these gentlemen have been tackled by the fellows who are proverbially "short." There is a class of borrowers who want to exchange checks; that is, the borrower wants the check of a sound man to use immediately, and in return gives a check dated ten or more days ahead, when he expects that his own bank account will be rich enough to meet it. There is in this fraternity a set of downright swindlers, whose checks are returned with that exasperating stamp, "No funds." As Solomon said:

"My son, if thou be surety for thy friend, if thou hast stricken thy hand with a stranger, thou art snared with the words of thy mouth, thou art taken with the words of thy mouth."

Solomon evidently knew something about "hand shakers." Dr. Depew has come to some conclusions also, and here they are:

"Never endorse an accommodation note. If you wish to help your friend, make up your mind how much you can afford to lose, and lend him that. He will consider seriously the repayment of this money, while your name on his paper will not receive a second thought. If his venture is a failure and your money is gone, you will not be greatly disappointed, and your compensation will be an approving conscience and the satisfaction of having done the best you could for one whose appreciation of your effort you value. But your endorsement he regards as a mere formality. He believes in himself and has great contempt for your fears. At each renewal of the note he will want the amount increased on an additional note, on the plea of increasing business and opportunities. When you have become frightened at the sum for which he has made you responsible, and find that you must stop or be ruined, he will say that unless you aid him further he will be forced into bankruptcy and you will be the cause. When he fails, as he inevitably will, you find that the money raised on your notes has paid enemies and strangers who insisted on his dealing with them on business principles, and that you are his largest and perhaps his sole creditor. You are crippled financially for a time, and perhaps for life, by meeting the maturing obligations which you have endorsed, and your former friend, now your bitter foe, is loudly proclaiming in his own justification that you are the author of his ruin. The result of your excursion in the careless lending of your name will be that you have lost both friend and fortune, and have discovered, perhaps too late, that you are a fool. I have had in greater or less degree several such experiences."

It is said on good authority that Dr. Depew lost $40,000 last year by endorsing notes. He'll never do it again, he says.

The Only Col. Pat Donan.

The one and only Col. Pat Donan, the orator of Devil's Lake, North Dakota; the blizzard vocabulary whirler of Washington society, the Pizarro dreamer and word painter of Mexico and Honduras, the bon vivant and hail-fellow-well-met of the United States and the quiet, entertaining conversationalist of Gotham, is now without a scheme and without a fad, but chockful of brilliant ideas. He scintillates and coruscates with wit and bon mots and never once changes the oblique angle attitude of his wide-brimmed fur hat that shades his blue eyes and his pale, high forehead. His air, his very style is Byronic, and yet he never patterns, never imitates, and is at all times sui generis. The Colonel is welcomed heartily wherever he goes.—Commercial Advertiser.

POLICE POSITIONS NOT WHAT THEY WERE BEFORE THE SHAKE-UP.

Tim Campbell's Maine Admirer. Hard Times and "Sweet Marie." All the Way from 'Frisco to See a Thunder Storm. Other News.

There was a time when the way to wealth lay through a police captaincy. Just now the way to humiliation is by the same route. Dr. Parkhurst and the Lexow Committee have given the police department such a shaking up as it has not had in many years, and Superintendent Byrnes has added his share to the load the unfortunate captains, sergeants, ward men and other members of the force are obliged to carry. The outlook is for a cold, lean winter for the police, with many dismissals and few perquisites.

Congressman Tim Campbell, the New Yorker, who astonished the House with his famous conundrum, "What's the Constitution among gentlemen?" is just now surprised by the breadth of his own fame. "Say, do you know they've heard of me away up in Maine," he said wonderingly.

"Fact!" he added, "a man in Bangor, Me., wrote to me the other day asking for my autograph."

Then, after discussing the candidacy of Mr. Miner, the theatrical man, for Congress, and predicting his own success, he said, meditatively: "Funny about that man up in Bangor wanting my autograph."

There is a perennial buoyancy and freshness about Mark M. Pomeroy, who is better known as "Brick" Pomeroy, who lives here and is fighting Tammany with all of his eloquence and vim. Although nearly 70 years old he is the father of a fine baby seven months old, of which he is naturally very proud. "Brick" is baldheaded, has a gray beard, is medium sized, and has a prosperous look, as if his extreme views, and his pungent way of expressing them, had brought him money as well as notoriety.

Hard times, it would seem, should not kill a music box; but it is said that they have been seriously affected by the prevailing depression; and that their makers are greatly embarrassed by the fact that boxes which were made for early sale remained a drug on the market until some of the tunes they were set to play were worn out. The boxes nearly always start out with "Home, Sweet Home," and wind up with "The Star Spangled Banner," but the trouble is that the instruments for this season's trade were adjusted to give the listener as the piece de resistance "Sweet Marie," and by the time the market for music boxes fairly opened this autumn, "Sweet Marie," sweet as it is, had outlived its welcome by reason of its iteration and reiteration, and some music boxes loaded with "Sweet Marie" dropped in price from $400 to $40 apiece.

Here is a story told by M. P. Handy, and if it proves anywhere incorrect, blame him. During a recent severe thunder storm a Californian stopping at one of the uptown hotels seemed to be beside himself. He went to the window, then to the door, and finally rushed into the middle of the street, where he stood in glee, with the rain pouring down. Asked the meaning of his eccentric conduct and general excitement, he said:

"Well, sir, you will hardly believe it, but this is the first thunder storm that I have seen in twenty years. One object of my coming East was to see one. You know we don't have thunder storms in California, and our occasional earthquakes don't begin to fill the bill. I would have given a hundred dollars cheerfully rather than go back to the coast without this treat—the first in twenty years—the first in twenty years!"

One of the sights of the metropolis is the rush to meet incoming steamers, the rush to get off, and the wild hunt for trunks, porters and custom-house officers. Sometimes it is a veritable chunk of pandemonium, and it is always a great and semi-riotous event. The methods adopted by waiting friends to secure the attention of the home comers are sometimes ludicrous. The other day, when the Germanic was coming up to her dock, an excited individual rushed down the pier in evident fear that he was late. When he got to the end of the pier he fished out of his pocket a large heart made out of red cardboard and waved it frantically again and again. After a few minutes a satisfied smile stole over his face and it was plain that he had been answered. When the gangway was let down a very pretty girl came down and was received enthusiastically, to say the least, by the man of heart. After her luggage had passed the inspectors the couple went away in a cab together with three hearts, including the red cardboard creation, beating as one.

Her Knitting Needles Did It.

She was such a demure old lady, sitting at the sunshiny end of the wide balcony at the summer hotel, one never would have suspected she laid the foundation of her husband's fortune with her knitting needles. But she told me herself in a confiding moment that when she took him for better or worse he was merely a manufacturer of hosiery in a small way. A. T. Stewart was his chief patron, and he was only making a good living from his business when Stewart told him a fortune was his if he could produce a stocking with a seamless heel. All such foot gear in that day was woven in a flat piece and then sewed together down the back of the leg and sole of the foot, and it was this heel seam that was bitterly complained of by the tender footed. The young manufacturer took the hint, and yet his every effort failed until his wife came to the rescue. She showed her husband the system by which an expert with the knitting needles turns her heels, and she not only encouraged, but actually aided him in applying something of the same method to his machinery. They worked together at it until he set the yarn to proper running, and from that he became one of the wealthiest New England manufacturers, who always boasted of the service rendered him with her shining needles.

THE GREAT BELL OF MOSCOW.

The "great bell of Moscow," the old story runs,
Stands twenty feet high, and weighs two hundred tons.
The "Tsar Kolokol!" Of all the cow-bells that swing,
This bell of Mos-cow is assuredly king.
Proportion in all things! Will somebody, now,
Just give us the height and the size of that cow?
The bell strap that buckled that bell at her throat,
Till hard jingling cracked it, and ruined its note?
The length of and rings on her famed "crumpled horn"?
Her milkmaid, and is she still "maiden forlorn"?
The bran mash she ate, and the milk pail she'd fill?
The dog that she tossed o'er a neighboring hill?
The mountainous turnips at mouthfuls she munched?
The apples, like hay stacks, she quietly crunched?
The small boy who drove her and let down the bars?
The moon she jumped over to kick at the stars?
The salt that she licked, and the whisk of her tail,
Whose hairs were like ropes, and its blow like a flail?
The gadfly whose bite made her bellow, they tell?
You'll measure all these by the size of her bell.
—Harper's Young People.

A Bit of History.

The invention of the post-office is ascribed to Cyrus, King of Persia, who lived about 600 B.C. Cyrus required all his governors of provinces to write to him exact accounts of everything that occurred in their several districts and armies. The Persian Empire was of vast extent, and some means had to be provided to render that correspondence sure and expeditious. Cyrus, therefore, caused post-offices to be built and messengers appointed in every province. He found how far a good horse, with an experienced rider, could travel in a day without being hurt, and then had stables built in proportion, at equal distances from each other. At each of these places he also appointed postmasters, whose duty it was to receive the letters from the couriers as they arrived, and give them to others, and to give them fresh horses in exchange for those that had performed their part of the journey.—Harper's Young People.

Birds Without Nests.

The cuckoo, though making use of a nest for its eggs, never itself builds one, but invariably deposits its eggs in the nest of some other bird. The goatsuckers and stonecurlews build no nests, but merely lay their eggs on the ground, moving them when necessary from place to place. The same plan of doing without any nest and laying the eggs on the ground or rocks is practiced by many of the aquatic birds, such as the terns or sea-swallows, the common skua, many of the puffins, the black-throated diver and the guillemot. The starling will occasionally deposit an egg on the lawn, from which she will remove it to her nest, but if interrupted will frequently leave it and forget all about it. A number of birds deposit their eggs in holes in trees or in the ground, sometimes providing a lining of moss or other soft substance, and sometimes not.

A ROMANTIC LOVE MATCH.

To Join Her Betrothed a Young Woman Travels 6,000 Miles.

A pretty little romance came to light when the American line steamship British Princess docked at Christian street wharf from Liverpool, on her last voyage, says the Philadelphia Ledger. The romance dated back some time, and started in Grahamstown, South Africa, where, a number of years ago, a man named McCabe, who lived in Ireland, went with his family and earthly possessions. Penetrating the heart of the continent, he settled in Grahamstown, where he engaged in manufacturing.

In the family was a prepossessing daughter named Emma Lucy McCabe. The family took up a residence in the French colony, and while there Miss McCabe became acquainted with Henry M. F. Demitrowitz, who was a subaltern in a crack British regiment stationed there. It was love at first sight, and for a while the young lovers enjoyed all the happiness that young people in such a situation usually do.

As Demitrowitz was in stringent circumstances, however, matrimony was out of the question, and about a year ago he decided to come to America to seek his fortune. Before he left, however, Miss McCabe promised him that when he was ready to receive her she would join him in the land of liberty.

Demitrowitz came to America and settled in Philadelphia, where he engaged in the electrical business. Some weeks ago he wrote his love that he was in a position to care for her, and in return was notified that she would arrive here on the British Princess. In anticipation of her arrival the young man secured his marriage license and made every preparation for the wedding.

When the Princess steamed up the Delaware and put into her dock the most impatient one in the throng to greet her was Demitrowitz. When the steamer was made fast, Miss McCabe, who during the voyage was in the care of Captain Morle, joined her lover, and the two entered a closed carriage and drove to a hotel.

NO BURGLAR THIS TIME

MIDNIGHT CRASH OF GLASS ON NORTH AVENUE.

The Festive Peanut Breaks Out of Its Coop and Has a Merry Time Frightening People Out of Sleep.

The crash of glass sounded through North avenue at 1:05 this morning. With the recent burglaries in mind, a reporter rushed out of The Daily Press office and the Chinamen from their laundry. They were the only wakeful people in the neighborhood.

Investigating, on the dark side of the street where dark-lanterns would have been a blessing, they found Lusardi & Co's peanut and fruit store a partial wreck.

Strewn on the sidewalk were fragments of one of the big front window panes, which had been forced out by an avalanche of peanuts. Several hundred pounds of the popular ground-fruit had been heaped up in the window, and the glass was too thin to stand the pressure.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drake, who live in the flat above the store, were startled from sound slumber by the racket, and came down expecting to have to fight burglars. The Press reporter hunted for a policeman and found Patrolman Vanderweg keeping a drunken Dunellenite from getting his legs cut off at the North Avenue station. As soon as the inebriated individual was safely aboard his train, Policeman Vanderweg inspected the ruin and sought to rouse the owner of the store in his flat over J. M. Dunn's grocery on Park avenue. Even with the reinforcement of Patrolman Frederickson, the attempt to get out the slumberer was ineffectual, and a barrier of boxes was built around the pile of peanuts by the police, aided by The Press man and E. H. Clevely, another fruit and peanut merchant of the avenue, who was just going home. The peanuts stopped frolicking, and snuggled down behind the boxes in shelter, from the cold wind blowing.

Though the fruit was raw, it gave the New York morning newspaper boys a jolly lark and a surreptitious feast. When Mr. Lusardi came down to business and saw the wreck he said:

"What a shame! I spent two hours washing that window yesterday!"

Dean Murray's Words of Wisdom.

When Dean Murray, father of Dr. W. H. Murray of Watchung avenue, opened the 148th collegiate year at Princeton, he took occasion to refer to the smallness of the Freshman class entering the academic department. He said that in his opinion the falling off was due to a considerable extent to the hazing episodes of last year and the publicity which was given them in the newspapers. Not only had this induced a decline in the number of applicants for admission, but, he added, it also operated as a check upon the generosity of those having money to give to the college, who looked upon hazing as childish, or brutal. His advice resulted in the formal resolution of the students to have no more hazing.

Democrats to Get Together.

All loyal Democrats of New Jersey are urged to attend the conference of the members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic Society of New Jersey in Trenton Tuesday, Oct. 2, at 12 noon. Headquarters will be established at the American House, where all reporting will be informed of the place of meeting. A large number of invitations have been sent to Democrats throughout the State, and that invitation is hereby renewed to all true members of the party.

A cordial invitation is given to all Democratic friends in this vicinity to be present at the conference, as it is desirable to have a large and enthusiastic gathering.

As Always, The Press Gave Justice.

The refutation of the wilful and malicious lie of a conscienceless journal of this town, that this paper did not accord to Mrs. Peterson vindication from the charges made against her in a justice's court case in which she triumphed, is the fact that Monday's issue of The Press spoke of the high esteem in which Mrs. Peterson was held and that in Thursday's issue The Press published in full Judge Mosher's righteous verdict, conspicuously headed "Mrs. Peterson Exonerated".

A Literary Monument to a Brave Lot of Men.

James G. Kreider, an experienced compiler of municipal histories, is in town preparing for the publication of a valuable book giving the history of Plainfield's fire department to date, giving the fire-alarm signals and telling how to avoid fires in houses and stores. He is receiving the substantial encouragement his enterprise merits.

A Puzzle.

Here is one of those apparently simple things that are not so simple as they seem. Take a piece of paper and pencil, and without first looking at your watch put down the Roman numerals as they are on the watch-dial. Then compare the result with one of Collier's perfect-movement gold or silver watches. You will find the watch "all right" if your work is n't.

Plainfield's Health America's Wonder.

(From The Somerville Democrat.)

Plainfield has at last commenced on a sewer system. It always has been a wonder why Plainfield kept so healthy with no means to dispose of her sewage.

Wanted, Police Dark Lanterns.

The black darkness in which the peanut-shop collapse last night had to be investigated, again demonstrated the need of dark lanterns for the police.

QUICKWITTED MRS. DRAKE.

She Defeats Newspaper and Railway Train in Their Conspiracy to Wreck Her Rig.

Mrs. Drake of Piscataway proved herself a plucky horsewoman last night. After making purchases on North avenue she started to get into her buggy. Just then a train rushed over the Park avenue bridge, and the wind whisked a large sheet of paper against the horse's legs. The horse started ahead with a jump, but quick and sudden as he was Mrs. Drake was quicker. She leaped into the buggy with the agility of an athlete, wound the reins about her wrists, and tugged the runaway horse to a standstill while bystanders looked on with amazement and admiration. Mrs. Drake coolly turned the horse about and headed him for home. Her feat became a town topic, and she was voted a woman of resource ready for emergency.

PLAINFIELD FIREMEN INSULTED.

An Hysterical Journal Brands Them as Incompetent to Handle Fires Without Police Help.

A journalistic busybody, struggling with a desire to run everybody's affairs, clamors for Police Captain Grant's presence at all fires. This is a high compliment to Captain Grant, but though he is a good man to have on hand in any emergency he is not ordinarily needed at fires, as the Plainfield Fire Department is in splendid form and does as quick and as good work as any fire department in the country. Chief Doane and his assistants are all the heads needed to direct the men, and even so faithful a public servant as Captain Grant would be a supernumerary. The Fire Department is all right, and Captain Grant is all right, each in its place. When needed the Captain is there.

The Lyceum's Success.

Last evening was spent busily and pleasantly at the C. Y. M. L. fair in the Lyceum. The attendance showed an increase, and still greater interest was taken in the dancing. From present indications the young men believe that the proceeds will be much larger than was at first anticipated. Many more visitors from out of town are expected, especially on the closing evenings.

In addition to the donations already mentioned in The Press, there have been received a handsome hat from White's establishment, through Miss Kitty Daley; a ton of coal from Wm. Classen, and a valuable lamp from Charles Daley.

Mayor Saunders's Drills at Work.

As an evidence of prosperity at James Y. Wilson's stone quarry, you can see a new substantial fore-bay made of solid masonry that used up over seventy barrels of cement in its erection. Also on view is a new portable boiler that furnishes steam to the Ingersoll-Sergeant drills that are constantly at work in the mountainside.

Final Sunday Mountain Picnic.

The Saengerbund plans to picnic on the mountain tomorrow for the last time this season. The monthly meeting of the society will be held next Thursday evening, when plans for the social affairs of the Winter will be decided on.

Union's Vote Almost Controls It.

The Eighth District Democratic Congressional Convention will be held in Music Hall, Orange, October 11. The official call is to be published in The Press This county has 47 delegates, and the rest of the district 50.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Advertising is to business what muscle is to the body.

—Hatter Hallock is offering bargains that make men's eyes snap with delight.

—Ground was broken yesterday for the erection of a new house on Summit avenue.

—People are finding great bargains at the assignee's sale of S. E. Flower's elegant art stock.

—If you want to get money in order to advertise on a large scale, advertise now on a small scale.

—A new bridge is to be built over the Greenbrook road near the residence of Uncle Abe Coriell.

—Workmen are ploughing up Linden avenue preparatory to macadamizing that thoroughfare.

—V. L. Frazee, the grocer-councilman, has donated a barrel of flour to the Fife and Drum Corps fair.

—The committee of the drum corps spent last evening in Independent Hall, decorating for the fair which opens Monday night.

—Leal's School football players are getting down to solid work. The candidates practice every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons on the Park Avenue grounds.

—Freddie Jones, the first-baseman of the old Plainfield Crescent team, will henceforth fill that position for the Elizabeth Athletic Club, completing the nine to the queen's taste.

—Henry Bodenheimer, whose house on Somerset street near Mountain avenue was destroyed by fire some time ago, has rebuilt on the same site an attractive residence. Mr. Bodenheimer has also erected a neat cottage on Stone street.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

A COLUMN OF LIVELY NEWS OF THE WIDE-AWAKE STUDENTS.

The Daily Press Medal Brings Out a Big Field for the Athletic Events—Work and Play Doings of Classes and Societies.

For the regular Friday morning High School talk, we were much delighted to hear Rev. Mr. Rapalye of Bound Brook speak on the Chinese. He has been a missionary to China many years, having returned only last June to the United States. The major portion of Mr. Rapalye's address was on the Chinese schools, and he exhibited several school books printed in the language.

The first of the regular monthly essays of the Senior Class is due Thursday. The list of subjects is as follows: "The Legend of the Wandering Jew", "The Recent Development of Japan", and "Aerial Navigation".

Each member of the Astronomy Class has been assigned a subject for an essay due in November. The subjects and those to whom they have been assigned are: "The Calendar", Miss Mabel Force; "Modern Observatories", Miss Etta Raybert; "The Telescope, Spectroscope and Camera in Astronomy", Frederick Coriell; "History of Astronomy to the Sixteenth Century", Miss Grace Berg; "History of Astronomy after the Sixteenth Century", George A. Horne; "The Structure of the Stellar Universe", Charles B. Morse; and "The Nebular Hypothesis", Henry B Drake. The class was to meet last evening to examine the stars together, but on account of the cloudiness of the sky the observation was postponed until some evening next week.

The Zoology Class is now examining the clam; one member of the class sketched the pictures of a number of his classmates on the inside of his clamshell.

The various drawing classes will soon commence. The members of the Free-hand Drawing Class met yesterday afternoon, and the Mechanical Drawing Class will meet Monday afternoon at 2. The Sketching Class is planning fine times, doing pencil sketching of various outdoor scenes this Fall, and working from life during the Winter.

The Kappa Delta Phi held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon at 2 in the Senior room. The programme consisted of a reading by A. B. Crane '97, of a short sketch by Mark Twain, and a hat talk. J. V. Beekman, Jr., '95, spoke on the improvement of bicycles and expressed his opinion that they had reached almost perfection. Charles B. Morse '95 gave his views of the P. H. S. A. A. field day. Louis Rand '96 told of the history of the sweater and its different uses in the past and the present. A. B. Crane '95 spoke of the class time spent in the High School in general and of his class in particular. Charles Noble '96 made a few remarks on the electric car and its development. Henry Eggerding '96 told the story of the invention of Palmer Cox's Brownies. The free-book system was the topic of Ernest Rapalje '97. And to conclude the hat talk Carl C. Gallup spoke on the Chinaman in America, his ambitions, his occupations and his status in society. The business session followed, and in it the practicability of a High School newspaper was discussed.

The High School Lyceum held a random talk on miscellaneous subjects yesterday afternoon. The speakers and subjects were as follows: Llewellyn Bull '96, "The American Eagle"; Lambert Fish '96, "Effect of Military Drill in Schools"; F. Wilbur Cornwell '96, "The Free-Book System"; Ernest Suffren '97, "Mineral Resources of the United States"; J. Vincent Bittenhouse 97, "Should manual training be introduced in the P. H. S. course?"; Edward Clarke '95, "Is the Chinaman more beneficial to the State than the Italian?"; Carl C Gallup '96, "Effect of Military Training in a School"; Thomas D. Blair '95, "The United States Navy and the Naval Academy".

A meeting of the P. H. S. A. A. was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30. There was a large attendance. The committee of arrangements reported the following officials selected for the field day of October 6: Referee—Charles A. Angleman; Judges—J. Winthrop Travell, Lyman W. Allen, Thomas A. Cuming; Clerk of the Course—Charles B. Morse; Assistant Clerks of the Course—Carl C. Gallup, (another to be chosen); Starter and Announcer—S. Clinton Crane; Timers—W. B. Rittenhouse, F. K Fish, Jr., (another to be chosen). It was decided to add the pole vault and the standing broad jump to the list of events, and make them both handicap. The events will close Monday instead of today.

The field day of October 6 will probably be the most successful of any of the field days, especially in the number of entries. As each event is handicaped everyone will have a chance, and The Daily Press medal for the all-round championship has encouraged many to enter who would not otherwise have done so. Green, Smith and Douglass will be among those who will make the bicycle races exciting, while Serrell, Fish, Richardson and Sebring will join in furnishing a hot finish in the running events. The lower class men are very much interested, and '95 or '96 must look to their honors. The entries and handicaps will be published in The Daily Press next Thursday.

Last Wednesday's run of the Bicycling Division was very successful, ten men starting. Next Wednesday the route will be to New Brunswick or Somerville.

The representation of the High School at the lantern parade of the Crescent Wheelmen was very large. Captain C. B. Morse was in command, Bugler R. A. McGee announced their coming with his bugle, and Color-Bearer George Smith carried a transparency bearing the letters P. H. S. A. A. Carl C. Gallup, Thomas Smith, and First Lieutenant E. I. Serrell, were among the prominent decorators; and S. Clinton Crane turned out with his youngest brother in tow, both wheels being prettily decorated. A delegation from the Columbia Wheelmen of Westfield were the visitors of the P. H. S. A. A. and marched within their lines. After the parade was concluded, and the High School yell had been given several times, the High School boys had a little lantern parade on their own account.

THE PLAINFIELD EXCURSION.

Itinerary of the Trip to Gettysburg.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE DAILY PRESS:—Below please find the itinerary of the proposed excursion to Gettysburg. Should any ladies not not provided with escorts wish to take this trip, their comfort will be carefully looked after. They should be of our party as women were the inspiration of the men at the front and bore their part magnificently in the hospital, on the transports, in the field often well to the front.

The old Eagle Hotel in Gettysburg was torn down and rebuilt this year. This hotel is well provided with every convenience, electric lights and bells, bath rooms, etc., all presided over by our old friend and host, Hon. W. T. Ziegler, who assures me every attention to my party, particularly to the ladies without escorts.

Leave New York, Thursday morning, October 11, at 9:10; Elizabeth 9:39; Plainfield 10:03; Harrisburgh 4:15 p. m.; arrive at Gettysburg 6:20.

Friday will be spent on the battlefield. Carriages will be provided for all.

Leave Gettysburg, Saturday, October 13, at 12:50 m.; Harrisburgh 2:53 p. m.; Plainfield 10:10; Elizabeth 10:35; arrive at New York foot of Liberty street at 10:55. Price for the round trip is $13 50, including everything but lunch on the train, going and coming.

JUST LIKE ADAM.

Put the Blame on His Wife.

The Newmans' Sunday Boulevard row was aired in the City Court this morning. Michael Newman and his wife were charged jointly of keeping a disorderly house. They pleaded not guilty and were convicted on the evidence of Policemen Scheimer and Flanagan. Newman laid the blame on his wife, and she tried to excuse herself on the ground that she did n't know it was unlawful to have a party during Sunday. She was fined $5 while Newman was released under suspended sentence.

Charles Keller said he was not guilty of quarreling and fighting. He was convicted on the testimony of Stephen Murphy and Weinwurm's bartender, Conrad. His wife, Annie Keller, Mrs. Newman's daughter, was found guilty of using profane and abusive language and fined $5. Sentence was suspended on William Barry and Frank Keller who were minor assistants in the fight.

A Shingle Thief Caught.

Policeman Saunders at 3:30 this morning caught George Watson of Piscataway Township taking shingles away from the house which John Abbott is building on West Eighth street. He waited until the man had carried three bundles of 250 each to his wagon and prepared to leave.

Before Justice Nash this morning Watson was charged with stealing $3.75 worth of shingles. The Justice held him for the Grand Jury and he went to Elizabeth this afternoon. After the hearing Chief Grant went to Watson's home on the Middlesex side of Clinton avenue and found other building material.

Local Health Culture.

Miss Lindley and Mrs. Hudders, who are remembered for their excellent lectures in Grace Church last Spring, will soon open a Plainfield school for health culture. They will give each applicant a personal diagnosis, and prescribe accordingly. The treatment will be pleasant, inexpensive, and beneficial. A preliminary complimentary lecture will be given in the Y. M. C. A. rooms October 9 at 2:30. All women interested are invited. Mrs. Eaton of 26 Norwood avenue will cheerfully give full particulars to inquirers.

Borough Lights All Right.

The street lighting service in North Plainfield was again in working order last night. Fred Brown says the trouble was caused by a chip which prevented a valve in the well from working. This makes the regular pump useless, and the emergency machine was not in shape for service.

Ed Murphy of South Plainfield and a Mr. Waldron from Dunellen were in town this week. Murphy had a horse he bought for $3. Waldron had a mule. The horse got sick, dropped in the road, was led around awhile, and finally killed by Philip Jennes. The mule disappeared while they were attending to the horse, and was found by Will Carpenter and Bert Pierce. During all this experience someone took a nut off Waldron's wagon, and they never got out of town until midnight. The boys had considerable fun burying Murphy's horse next day.

Burke—Dorgan.

A pretty wedding took place at 4 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 26, in St. Francis Church, Metuchen, when Miss Mamie E. Dorgan, of South Plainfield, and Francis L. Burke of Trenton were united in marriage by Rev. Father Beilly. The bride and her maid looked charming in gowns of pretty white crepon, trimmed with lace. A cousin of the bride, Miss Katie E. Sexard of this city, was bridesmaid, and a brother of the groom acted as best man. A reception followed at the residence of the bride's parents. The happy couple left on the 8 p. m. train from this city on a short tour. On their return they will take up their home in Trenton.

BURIED IN A MINE.

Was I ever down in a coal mine? Yes, once. I will tell you the story.

I had some friends living in the coal mining region of Pennsylvania, and I was induced to pay them a visit. While there I was asked to descend into one of the most famous mines and see how the hard, black fuel which affords us such grateful sensations on a cold winter night is procured from the bowels of the earth.

Now, I have a strong natural desire to see everything new and strange; but then I am also very cautious, and do not care to put my life in peril merely to gratify my curiosity, so I hesitated and reflected a little before I answered:

"I should like to see the miners at work, if it could be done without risk of life."

A pretty, bright, blue-eyed young lady who was present, and to whom I had taken a great fancy, burst out with a ringing laugh.

"Surely you are not afraid, Mr. Maples?" she exclaimed, with a mischievous twinkle of her blue eyes that did more to urge me on than the arguments of all her relations could have done in a month, for no man likes to be thought a coward in the presence of beauty.

"I certainly would not like to be considered afraid, Miss Stuart, merely because I have a repelling sense of danger," I replied.

"Well, I at least am not afraid," she rejoined, somewhat boastingly; "and I have been down there as many times as I am years old."

"A matter of 19!" I observed.

"Exactly 19," she smiled.

"Well, then, make it twenty, and I will accompany you," I said.

"Agreed," was her response.

It was arranged, therefore, that we should go that afternoon, and, accompanied by two gentlemen, we made the descent into the mine. While there the question came up whether we should go on to where some miners were at work.

"If you are satisfied where you are, Miss Stuart, I venture to say I have had enough."

"I am willing to let you have your own way now," she rejoined, with a laugh. "You have braved the danger so far like a gallant soldier, and are now entitled to your discharge."

"I see that in your thoughtless way you are still disposed to make sport of my natural caution," I replied, a little severely; "but I would very much like you to comprehend that reasonable caution is not cowardice."

"I ask your pardon," she said, half penitently, and half saucily.

An exclamation from one of our two companions at this moment drew our attention to him. He was looking down at the miners, and his words were:

"What culpable imprudence! One of the miners has struck a match to light his pipe!"

"Which one?" demanded his companion in a quick, excited tone. "Show me the man and I will have him discharged at once!"

Just as he spoke, and while he was in the act of reaching out his hand for the glass, a blinding sheet of flame was seen to envelop all below; a rush of foul, heated air, threw us down upon the rocks and a crashing explosion, like a thousand thunders, completely stunned us, and shook down the rocks around us like a terrible earthquake.

When I came to my senses all in the blackness of that pitiless abyss I heard a low, wailing moan of terror and despair, accompanied with the words:

"Oh, what has happened, and where am I?"

It was the plaintive voice of Sybil Stuart.

I knew where we were and what awful thing had happened, for my recollection came with my consciousness. Reaching out my hand I touched her, and in a soothing tone said:

"There has been a terrible explosion, Miss Sybil, and I fear that many lives have been lost; but, thank God, we still survive, and I hope you have escaped injury."

"Oh, heaven!" she groaned, "spared, perhaps, for a more terrible death! For how can we ever find our way up through this awful darkness to the world above?"

"We will try, at all events," I rejoined, in a cheerful tone, though with no cheerful feelings, for I thought the chances were all against us.

Taking the hand of my fair companion, that we might not become separated in the awful darkness, I began to carefully grope in the direction which I supposed would retrace our steps.

We soon came to a broad chasm, which was an absolute bar to further progress in that direction.

"Alas! we are doomed to perish here, and it is all my wicked doing!" said the self-accusing girl, when I announced to her the reason that we could advance no further in that direction.

"Nay, dear Miss Sybil; I will not hear you blame yourself for our being here," I replied. "You simply did not see the danger in the same light that I did—or perhaps I should rather say that you did not see the danger at all."

"Only as we see danger when it lightens," she responded; "we know we may be struck, but we can scarcely be said to fear it. Oh, Mr. Maples, if there is any way by which you can save your life, do not give a thought to me, but make the effort alone, and I will pray for your success."

"Ah! now you do indeed wrong me, by assuming in all seriousness that I am a coward," said I reproachfully.

"Oh, no! no! I meant not that; if there is but one life to be saved, I would have it yours instead of mine."

"Oh, dear Miss Sybil, dare I understand that you would save my life at the sacrifice of your own?"

"Yes," she faintly sighed, after a momentary pause.

I quickly drew back from the verge of the dread abyss, and there, in that rayless darkness and awful tomb of death, I caught her in my arms and pressed her to my heart.

"You love me, then, Sybil—dear, dearest Sybil—you love me!" I exclaimed, as I passionately kissed her tremulous lips.

"Yes, here in the presence of death I frankly confess it," she murmured.

"Heaven bless you, darling!" I returned; "it makes me happy to hear these sweet words, even though death be near us both."

We were imprisoned in the mine for three days; but were finally rescued—the only ones who escaped of all that were in the mine. Sybil is now my wife, and she never questions my courage. The experience in the mine was a lesson she never forgot.—True Flag.

MRS. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

She is Vigorous and a Writer of Spirit at Eighty-two.

Two members of the celebrated Beecher family, one a member by birth the other by marriage, celebrated their birthdays the last week in August. One, Rev. Edward Beecher, was ninety-one, the other, Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, was eighty-two. Both are in the best of health, and the weight of their years seems to bear very lightly upon them. Mrs. Beecher has changed but little, perceptibly, since her seventy-fifth birthday, and the friends of the Doctor declare that he has aged still less.

Mrs. Beecher, during the last year, has had many cares, but they seem to have left hardly an additional line upon her countenance. She is a charming old lady and is beloved by every one with whom she comes in contact. She is a woman of great intellectuality, and, despite her age, her magazine articles are much sought after by publishers.

MRS. HENRY WARD BEECHER.

Although abreast of the times on most important topics, her memory likes to dwell on the old days, when, with her husband, she talked over the past and laid plans for the future. Those were the halcyon days of her life, and she has never forgotten them. She worshipped her husband and she now worships the very ground that he walked upon.

All around her parlor are reminiscences of the days when he was with her and portraits innumerable of him grace the walls on every side. Mrs. Beecher has been spending the summer with her daughter, the wife of the Rev. Samuel Scoville, at their country residence in Cornwall, Conn.

THE OCEAN RACERS.

Lucania of the Cunard Line Reduces the Record Held by Her Sister-Ship.

The Cunard giantess, Lucania, recently made the run from Daunt's Rock to the lightship in five days, eight hours and thirty-eight minutes, which, by fifty-one minutes, breaks the best previous western record, which her sister ship, the Campania, made two weeks before. She discounts the best eastern record by two hours and eight minutes, her actual time being five days, eight hours and thirty-eight minutes.

The Campania, wore the double diadem of the seas. She was queen, because she has made the fastest voyages across the Atlantic, both to the eastward and the westward. The Lucania wrested the westward record from her, but a few hours before that the news was sent from Queenstown that the Campania had arrived there, and had reduced the eastern record by one hour and twenty minutes.

Captain Horatio McKay, the veteran commander of the Lucania, was much elated over the fast passage his vessel had made in spite of the fog. He said that he doubted whether the Lucania could make the passage in five days, but he thought that the vessel had not yet shown all that she could do.

Emperor William is credited with the desire to buy the $1,000,000 diamond—the largest ever known—which is in the Bank of England for safe keeping, to place in his new crown.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by all druggists.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good". Price 50c. Sold by all druggists.

Important Facts.

If you have dull and heavy pain across forehead and about the eyes; if the nostrils are frequently stopped up and followed by a disagreeable discharge; if sometimes in the nose and bleeding from the nostrils is often experienced; if you are very sensitive to cold in the head accompanied with headache; then you may be sure you have catarrh; and should immediately resort to Ely's Cream Balm for a cure. The remedy will give instant relief.

CHINA HAS A RECORD.

IT HAS BEEN A CONQUERING NATION AND MAY BE AGAIN.

Genghis Khan, the Invader of Europe, and Timur, the Terrible, were Ancestors of China's Present Governing Race. Europe may Interfere.

In an article published in the New York Herald, John Russell Young, who perhaps understands the Chinese better than any other American does, having been Minister to China under President Arthur, discusses the war between China and Japan in a highly interesting way. He says, in part:

Two events in the Christian era stand out from all others as the most momentous of modern history—the overrunning of Asia and the invasion of Europe in the thirteenth century by Genghis Khan, and in the fourteenth century by Timur, or Tamerlane. These conquerors came from the same Tartar race which now governs the Chinese Empire.

Genghis was a son of a small chief, who lived beyond the Great Wall, head of one of those nomadic tribes who still lead a semi-pastoral, semi-warlike life on the endless stretches of Mongolia. He was to conquer and bring under suzerainty Northern China, overrun Persia and invade Russia, going as far as the Dneiper. Timur was the descendant of Genghis Khan. A century later he crossed the Tigris, captured Delhi, Damascus, Baalbec, and, marching his standards to the very gates of Moscow, cut a wider swath in his conquests than any warrior of modern times.

These invasions were successful because their leaders commanded myriads of soldiers of a warlike temperament and had inexhaustible sources from which to recruit their armies. Nor can we study history, and especially the conditions governing the Tartar conquests, without taking the deepest interest in the outcome of any war which threatens, like that between China and Japan, to arouse the warlike nature of a race which has twice overrun Asia.

EMPEROR OF CHINA.

We have been confronted with no such movement in recent days for the reason that China, secure in herself, has lapsed into the ways of peace. She has put aside the spear and taken up the pruning hook—is content to spin and fish, to dig and delve. We have let the dormant mammoth alone. There has been no modern diplomacy so daring as to summon the spirit which marched under the Tartar's ruthless lead. There have been other invasions, other mighty movements, world changing, and effacing the growths of ages—the taking of Constantinople, the rise of the Ottoman power, the empire of Charlemagne, the Napoleonic episode—but no such widespread conquest as when the warriors of the race which now govern China menaced the capital of Russia and seized the capital of Hindostan.

As to the outcome of the present war, I have no idea that the great Powers will permit it to be fought to a finish. A hurried peace will be imposed by Russia or Great Britain as soon as either combatant has won a decisive victory. There will be a peace with "compensations" to the intervening Powers in the way of land or seaports. The pity of it is that China and Japan are fighting under the very eyes of the ravening eagles who sit waiting in their eyrie, ready to pounce upon one or the other as their prey. It is a miserable, unnecessary business, if only one had the heart to write about it—as I have not—remembering so much that was hopeful and full of promise in those fair, beautiful lands, and seeing in this war the wreck of so much that was hoped for by those who wished them well.

Our own concern is in the fact that within this war may be enclosed the most serious question of the times. By forcing China into the lists as an armed nation we assume a measureless responsibility. China, as I have said, moves as the glacier—silent, vast, grinding, sure—undisturbed through the ages, antedating the most ancient of Western civilization, venerable when Homer sang and before the Roman empire was founded, and Time as yet bringing no decay. But the glacier may have an impulse such as China may receive from this war with Japan. Therein lies the gravity of the problem, which is worthy of study in the lights of Genghis Khan and Timur.

A Delicate Touch.

A recent Homeric critic points out that the most delicate thing in ancient literature, if not in all literature, is the subtle passages in which it is told how Penelope, most faithful of women, could not recognize her returned husband until his identity had been revealed by the deeper instinct and more devoted affection of his dog.

EUCHERED.

We had a small game at the Forks,
And the Parson and Jim took a hand,
And a tenderfoot fresh from the East,
With a countenance open and bland.

The Parson was smilin' that night,
And his manner of dealin' was great,
His luck was a wonder to see—
And the tenderfoot paid all the freight.

Jim drew out at last with a sigh,
And the next deal the game had to stop,
For the Parson, he got all the cards,
But the tenderfoot, he got the drop.

Foiled Again.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"Digging for clams, kind sir," she said,
"Can I go with you, my pretty maid?"
"But you're already dug," she said.

Then the Weeds Wilted.

A year she wore her widow weeds
In quietude, until at last
The proper man, who knows life's needs,
Said, "Wilt thou?" Then they wilted fast.
—Judge.

LINE-LONG CRITICISMS OF POETS.

Sixteen of the Leading Poets Subjected to a Summary.

A writer in The University Quarterly, Chicago, summarizes the leading characteristics of modern poets as follows:

"Matthew Arnold is the poet of doubt, of unsatisfied longing, of man overwhelmed by the momentous and inscrutable. Keble is the poet of piety. Swinburne represents the world and the flesh. Tennyson is the poet of melodious sentiment, of faith in an ornate way overcoming doubt. Holmes is the Laureate of Boston; his proverbs, wit, pathos, thought and imagination, each strive for the mastery. Poe, a brilliant humbug; his verse, though original, could not feed the soul; his poems are the wail of a spirit that has lost both light and love. Byron, broader in culture, bolder in vice than Poe, also failed to comfort and instruct the world.

Longfellow is the priest of simplicity; his poems, if poor in ideas, have the significant power of penetrating and dwelling in the heart. Emerson's verse is thought laden, if not too brilliant. Lowell's verse is crushed with learning. Whittier's genius is direct and homely. Browning is a chestnut burr, with a kernel of Shakespearean flavor within. His grotesque eccentricity, his irritating awkwardness, his uncouth and labored rhymes will deter many from enjoying the insight, the analysis, the dramatic force of his genius.

Bayard Taylor was a magnificent versifier, not a poet. Bret Harte represents the startling contrasts of Western life, spasmodic humor and pathos, the fine traits of rough character. Austin Dobson deals in the comedy of poetry—poetry in a high-toned laughing mood. Bryant was cold and pure like an icicle, a representative Northern poet who could manage his finances like a man of business. Compared with Milton, Shakespeare, Dante and Goethe, these are all small men who have occupied their energies in writing little poems. Yet the world rightly claim examples of individual genius."

Printing on the Clouds.

It was Mark Twain who foresaw a day when the enterprising tradesman would print his advertisements on the clouds. It would seem he was a prophet and not a joker.

A correspondent at Hawarden writes: The fete which has been held here in the Castle grounds has been such a success that it is expected there will be a large sum to hand over to the funds of the institute for the benefit of which it had been held. Amusements and variety shows have been liberally supplied and well patronized. Each evening the greatest interest was created by the powerful search-light working from the Castle roof, which lighted up the grounds, sometimes throwing congratulations on the clouds, trees, &c. One night Mr. Herbert Gladstone, M. P., spent a considerable time on the Castle roof watching its working, and was surprised to see "God bless Victoria, R. I.," "Blessings on the Gladstone Family," and other words clearly written on the clouds in brilliant white letters of immense size.

Not a Post for a Teetotaler.

Coincident with the appointment of C. R. Breckinridge of Arkansas to be United States Minister to Russia appeared the report that he is an adept at making whiskey toddies with Tennessee whiskey and Louisiana sugar. The report is highly credible. The United States Ministers to Russia have frequently been chosen with reference to their ability to mix drinks, internally as well as externally, the climate of Russia, or more properly the climate of St. Petersburg, the capital of Russia, being of such rigor that a total abstinence American Minister might soon succumb, where Breckinridge won't.—N. Y. Sun.

Is the Czar Broken Down?

The Czar has broken down again in health and nerves, and must be taken off on a long vacation of domestic nursing and entire freedom from work if his life itself is to be saved. This Hercules of a man, with his vast chest and blacksmith's muscles, kept his nerve under a peculiarly cruel strain for a dozen years, and then suddenly it gave way last summer. The Russians ascribe it to the effects of influenza, and very likely the collapse may have come, without any physical malady, from the mere crushing weight of his burden. At all events he is prostrate, and St. Petersburg will not see him again for months.

Dr. and Editor Morse Finds Great Curative Qualities in a Simple Remedy.

(From Westfield, N. J., Leader, Sept. 5, 1894.)

We believe in being fair, and if we know ourselves we are fair. The fact of the Editor of the Leader being a physician of the old school encourages some people to ask why we kick quacks and quackery. We do hate charlatans the worst way That's a fact. But every proprietary medicine is n't a quack medicine. In some of them we believe as devoutly as we do in calomel and quinine. There, for example, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has our faith. We know of its therapeutical value because of knowledge of its efficacy. In this laboratory it has fully approved itself as containing just those ingredients which every physician knows the materia medica to indicate for the disorders for which the remedy is prescribed. In clinical experience its further proof has not been wanting, as we have reason to know. We have no hesitancy in saying that we should prescribe the Remedy in any case where it is really indicated.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has no rival as a blood builder and nerve food. It has met with unparallelled success in the treatment of all diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and the blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, and effectually cures the worst cases of habitual constipation. It has cured cases of Bright's Disease, erysipelas, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, diabetes, bladder and urinary troubles, where all else has failed. It is a certain cure for all the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females and affords great protection from attacks that originate in the change of life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all dealers in medicine at one dollar a bottle or six bottles for five dollars; which brings a treatment within the reach of all.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria," and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher is on every wrapper.
